NEW GERMAN OFFENSIVE MOVEMENTS RAPIDLY DEVELOPING EAST AND WEST

CONTINUATION OF WAR UNTIL JUSTICE IS DONE URGED BY DELEGATES

Wings of Dove of Peace Somewhat Ruffled at Conference.

Representatives of Belgium and England Strong for Conflict.

Woman Delegates to Peace Congress Astounded By Remarks.

The Hague, Netherlands, May 1.—The wings of the dove of peace were ruffled yesterday at the session of the international congress of women. At the instance of Dr. Augspurg of Munich, the entire Belgian delegation was invited to the platform. Only two women of the five present came from their box at the side of the stage and made their way to the platform. They were welcomed by the chairman, Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, with both hands, but there was no handshaking with the German delegates.

In moving the final resolution, Mrs. Rosika Aschwimmer, president of the Hungarian Women's Suffrage association, requested that all the delegates present stand one minute in silent prayer for peace. Mlle. Hamer of the Belgian delegation thereupon asked permission to utter a few words. When this was granted, she astounded her audience with the dramatic exclamation:

"I am a Belgian before everything, and I cannot think as you do. There can be no peace without justice. The war must continue until the Belgians' wrongs have been righted. There must be no mediation except at the bar of justice."

ASK INVESTIGATION OF N. Y. PRESBYTERY

Charges to Be Presented to General Assembly Next Week.

New York, May 1.—The Presbyterian general assembly, which meets at Rochester, N. Y., in three weeks, will have before it a request that a committee be sent here to investigate the New York presbytery. This request is part of a protest bearing the signatures of the Rev. Dr. John Fox of this city, a director and trustee of Princeton Theological seminary, and of three other clergymen, which, it was learned today, has been circulated among Presbyterian ministers throughout the country.

The protest charges that the New York presbytery is violating Presbyterian regulations, that it is dominated by the Union Theological seminary and that it disobeys the orders of the supreme Presbyterian body. The signers complained that twenty-one students of Union seminary have been admitted to the Presbyterian ministry through the New York presbytery under protest. They ask "is it not an intolerable scandal? Has not the time come for the general assembly to visit the New York presbytery officially and inquire what is its practice in licensing and ordaining candidates for the ministry?"

A reply to this protest in which the charges were denounced as unjust has been prepared. It was signed by the Rev. Dr. John R. MacKay, pastor of the North church of this city, and by other New York clergymen.

PLEADS FOR ABSTINENCE

Secretary Bryan Urges All to Abstain From Intoxicating Liquors.

Signs Pledges With Hundreds of People in the Audience.

New York, May 1.—Secretary of State Bryan declared in an address under the auspices of the National Abstainers' union here last night that the European war had developed that even patriotism is no match for the appetite which alcohol cultivates in its victims. The secretary was urging total abstinence and referred to restrictive measures which some of the belligerent nations have taken against intoxicants.

"There has been a growing disposition in this country and throughout the world to emphasize the evils of strong drink," he said, "but even the most enthusiastic advocates of temperance have been surprised at the ghastly light which the war in Europe has thrown upon the subject. It has been found that patriotism, that compelling force which throughout the ages has led men to offer their lives for their country, is no match for the appetites cultivated in its victims. Loyalty to Bacchus Gambrinus and Barleycorn is greater than loyalty to king or kaiser or czar. The use of drink has been found to be so destructive of efficiency that the belligerent governments, not on moral grounds, but purely on economic grounds, have been compelled to resort to restrictive measures. AMERICANS ARE WARNED

Germany Again Cautions Travelers to Avoid Her Enemy's Ships.

Notice By Embassy Printed in Many Cities of United States.

Washington, May 1.—In an official notice published by the German embassy in many important cities of the United States this morning, Americans were given renewed warning that they travel on ships flying the flags of Germany's enemies at their own risk.

While the notice was regarded among officials and diplomatists here as nothing more than a reiteration of Germany's first warning given when the war zone about the British Isles was announced, there was much interest in whether it foreshadowed increased activity of German submarines or possibly had to do with movements of the German fleet, which has been various reported of late cruising in the North sea.

Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, was away today, but officials at the embassy said so far as they knew today's published notice was intended merely to remind neutral travelers of their danger and did not indicate new naval operations.

How the state department will regard the notice is a question open to some doubt. When the first notice of the submarine blockade was given the Washington government made representations to Berlin giving notice that American lives and property must not be endangered.

Advertisement Appears.

New York, May 1.—A warning to travelers of dangers involved by traversing the waters adjacent to the British Isles in vessels of Great Britain and her allies is contained in an advertisement signed by the German embassy appearing in newspapers here, and which, it is understood, is to be printed in newspapers in other parts of the country. The advertisement reads:

"Travelers intending to embark on the Atlantic voyage are reminded that a state of war exists between Germany and her allies and Great Britain and her allies; that the zone of war includes the waters adjacent to the British Isles; that in accordance with formal notices given by the imperial government vessels flying the flag of Great Britain or any other of her allies are liable to destruction in those waters and that travelers sailing in the war zone in ships of Great Britain or her allies do so at their own risk."

LAWSON MURDER CASE WILL SOON BE ENDED

Trinidad, Colo., May 1.—Attorneys in the Lawson murder trial began their arguments today under an agreement that the case was to be submitted to the jury before night. In the event of an early agreement upon a verdict, John R. Lawson, prominent leader in the recent strike of coal miners, may know tonight whether he goes free, or is declared guilty of the murder of John Nimmo on Oct. 25, 1913. It was agreed that each side should have three hours for argument.

COUSIN OF THE PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM FOREIGN TRIP

JOHN W. A. WILSON.

John W. A. Wilson, a cousin of the president, has returned to America after a four weeks' trip to England. It was reported at one time that he was on a peace mission for the president, but he says he was not. He thinks the allies are tired of the war, but will fight it to a finish. He also says all the nations at war dislike us, each because we did not join it in the conflict.

RED CROSS BOATS ORDERED READY

Those at Hook of Holland Directed to Be Prepared to Leave.

London, May 1.—Another report having to do with naval activity in the North sea, was contained in a press dispatch received here from Amsterdam. This message said urgent orders had been received at the Hook of Holland for the immediate preparation for service of four Dutch life boats and two Red Cross boats. These vessels were directed to wait with steam up, so that they would be able to leave on a moment's notice.

The message added that there was no explanation of this order or news of a sea fight, but that it was thought the vessels would be instructed to proceed to the North Hinder lightship in the North sea near the Franco-Belgian boundary.

SEVERE EARTHQUAKES OCCURRED DURING NIGHT

Washington, May 1.—Earthquake shocks, described by scientific observers at Georgetown university here as unusually severe and probably destructive, were recorded on the seismographs there today between 12:12 a. m. and 2 a. m. The tremors continued almost two hours and reached greatest intensity at 12:45 a. m., at an estimated distance from Washington of 5,500 miles.

ALLIES CUT OFF TURK TROOPS ON PENINSULA FROM THE MAINLAND

Main Army Held Between Town of Gallipoli and Maidos.

Official Advices Fail to Make Clear Operations of Attacking Forces.

Constantinople Dispatches State That Ottomans Are Making Headway.

The Gallipoli peninsula, which forms the European side of the Dardanelles, is described in unofficial dispatches as being gradually cut off from the mainland by the British and French forces. It is said to be no longer possible for the Turks to pass back and forth between the European and Asiatic sides of the strait. Theoir main forces are reported to be between the town of Gallipoli at the further end of the straits and Maidos, which lies on the straits about two-thirds of the way down the peninsula.

Official advices have not made clear the extent of the operations of the British and French forces. A British statement of last night gave the impression that the fighting has been restricted to the end of the peninsula, across which it is said an entrenched line has been established. From several sources it has been reported that the British also have crossed the upper end of the peninsula, reaching Gallipoli. There is no confirmation of this however, except in an official German statement yesterday, which said there

RUSSIAN SHIP IS TORPEDOED

Steamer Svorono Sent to Bottom By German Submarine.

London, May 1.—The Russian 2,000-ton steamer Svorono, bearing Welsh coal to Archangel, a Russian port on the White sea, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine believed to be the U-23 on Friday at noon near the Blasket islands, on the west coast of Ireland.

The Svorono's crew of 24 men, mostly Russians barely had time to take to the boats when the vessel sank. All were rescued by a patrol boat.

CHANGES TESTIMONY; SAYS J. W. OSBORNE COURTED HER

MISS RAE TANZER.

New York, May 1.—Miss Rae Tanzer, the young milliner, who sued James W. Osborne for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry and later withdrew her suit, saying Mr. Osborne was not the man who courted her under the name of Oliver Osborne, changed her testimony again today and under oath identified James W. Osborne as her admirer, Oliver Osborne.

PRISONERS WELL KEPT

Ambassador Gerard Tells of Conditions of British in German Hands.

Says Considering Circumstances, Their Position Is Quite Tolerable.

Berlin, via London, May 1.—The Lokal Anzeiger prints an interview with James W. Gerard, American ambassador, concerning the treatment of war prisoners in Germany. Mr. Gerard is quoted as follows:

"A diversity of treatment among British and other war prisoners in Germany does not occur. In general, one can say that they are well and abundantly clad. The American embassy here disposes of funds to provide them clothing when the wish is expressed for this, but apart from that, the prisoners also receive everything necessary from the camp commandant. The diet is the same as for the German troops in the barracks.

Do Not Like Bread.

"We receive many complaints concerning the bread, as the prisoners neither like it, nor does it agree with them. However, that can hardly be helped. The meat rations also are declared insufficient by prisoners, but there is nothing astonishing in that, as English soldiers are accustomed to a particularly abundant fare. British officers complain that the sleeping rooms are not spacious enough, and that they are imprisoned in company with other nationalities.

"Apart from all this, I can only say that the fate of war prisoners certainly is not enviable, but considering circumstances, is quite tolerable. The German authorities will take into consideration all representations from us. Regarding the feeding of all war prisoners in Germany, a new order of the war ministry has been communicated to me which adds some new elements for the nutrition of prisoners and thereby makes it considerably more abundant.

FATAL ACCIDENT AS SHIP IS LAUNCHED

French Superdreadnaught Kills Three and Runs Aground.

Bordeaux, France, May 1.—At the launching of the battleship Languedoc today the vessel left the ways with such speed that it struck and crushed a lighter, killing three persons aboard, and was stranded on the banks of the river.

The Languedoc probably will be released at high tide this evening. She is of superdreadnaught type of 24,830 tons. She carries twelve 13.4-inch guns, twenty-four 5.5-inch guns and six torpedo tubes. She is 574 feet long and cost $13,312,000.

OCCUPATION OF DUNKIRK IS DESIRED

British Aviators Discover and Attack Batteries That Shelled City.

Huge Projectiles Were Hurled From Fifteen to Twenty-Eight Miles.

Dispatches Disagree as to Object of German Thrust in the East.

London, May 1.—The developments on the northern extremities of the two fronts, both east and west, the shelling of Dunkirk in France and the new German offensive movement aimed at the Baltic provinces, take precedence in the war news of today.

British aviators have discovered and attacked the German batteries which from a distance variously estimated by English observers at from fifteen to twenty-eight miles hurled great shells at the French port, but it remains to be seen whether the bombs dropped did enough damage to put the guns out of action.

London newspapers say this bombardment of Dunkirk means that the Germans still cling to their cherished idea of occupying the French coast nearest England, and more than one editorial writer today points out that Flanders still remains the critical theater of operations.

German Thrust in East.

Special dispatches from Petrograd disagree as to the purpose of the German thrust at the extreme Russian right. One theory connects it with possible movements of the German fleet in the Baltic looking to the invasion of the Baltic provinces. Another idea is that this advance be aimed at Libau and Riga, the former a strong Russian naval base and the latter one of the most important ports on the Baltic. Or the Germans may intend to strike at the railroad running from Petrograd to Warsaw by way of Duenaburg and Vilna. Further south the Germans have failed in their repeated attempts to get this line.

The official statement concerning the Dardanelles seems to have reassured the British public that their army is fairly well established in the landing operations, but at the same time it indicates much fighting must ensue before a firm grip is established.

HIGH PRAISE FOR CANADIAN TROOPS

"Great and Glorious Feat of Arms" at Ypres, Cables Officer.

Ottawa, Ont., May 1.—The story of what he describes as "a great and glorious feat of arms," the desperate battle fought by the Canadian division to check the recent German advance near Ypres, was told in a cable communication from Sir Max Aitken, the Canadian record officer, given out by the militia department here today. The account describes how the Canadians, the majority of them raw recruits, met the German rush after the latter had released the asphyxiating gases, and how, although greatly outnumbered, they succeeded with heavy losses, in recovering four British guns and much ground by a brilliant dash.

Concluding his account Sir Max wrote "the empire is engaged in a struggle without quarter and without compromise against an enemy still superbly organized, still immensely powerful, still confident that its strength is the mate of its necessity. To arms then, and still to arms! The grave yard of Canada in Flanders is very large!"

PSEUDO BARONET A BRITISH DESERTER

Man Posing as Sir Henry Stirling, Bart, Admits His Identity.

New York, May 1.—An Englishman, who, posing as Sir Henry L. Stirling, Bart, K. G. M. G., arrived at Boston from England in February, telling a romantic story of traveling 12,000 miles to marry the original of a picture he had fallen in love with, and who subsequently came here and said he was commissioned to purchase a submarine detector for Great Britain, has admitted, according to the federal authorities today that he is Henry Carlton Carlyle, a deserter and absconder with funds from the British army.

Carlyle, who was taken into custody on a charge of using the mails to defraud, told the authorities, they say, that he is a bigamist and that when this government is through with him he expects to be surrendered to England and shot by that government for deserting in time of war.

Carlyle is charged with taking money from young women on a pretense of engaging them as a traveling secretary to an English nobleman and companion to a titled lady.

LABOR DIFFICULTIES THROW 125,000 OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

Most Serious Situation in Chicago for Over Fifteen Years.

Outside of Building Trade, Prospects Good for Industrial Peace.

Chicago, May 1.—May 1 was ushered into Chicago today with the most serious labor situation in the building industry in fifteen years. By the addition of 1,200 bridge and structural iron workers, the list of union workingmen on strike or locked out was swelled to 32,600 as follows:

Carpenters (construction), 13,000; carpenters (millmen), 5,000; sheet metal workers, 1,800; lathers, 800; painters, 10,400; structural iron workers, 1,200.

The strike of the iron workers forced idleness upon 5,000 others in allied trades, bringing the number of idle because of strikes and lockouts up to 125,000. The strike of the carpenters is said to be the keystone of the whole situation. If peace negotiations now on with them are successful it is generally believed others will fall in line.

Outside the building trades the prospect is said to be for industrial peace.

Brick Layers Quit.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 1.—For the first time since 1892, union brick layers today laid down their tools to enforce a demand for increased wages. They have been receiving 70 cents an hour and struck for an eight-hour day at $6. About 1,200 men are affected.

STONE DISAPPROVES ARBITRATION AWARD

Says Engineers Have Won Practically Nothing By Decision.

Chicago, May 1.—Disapproval of the arbitration award made to 64,000 locomotive engineers, firemen and hostlers employed on ninety-eight railroads operating west of Chicago, was expressed today by W. S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"The engineers have gained practically nothing by the award," Stone said. "There are approximately 34,000 engines in the western territory, and on not more than 3,000 of these have the engineers gained an increase in wages, and that increase is so slight that it amounts to practically nothing. We had better rules before than the rules granted us by this award."

The award, which becomes effective nine days from today, and is binding for one year only, was signed here last night after a six months' hearing on the question held by the Federal board of arbitration. The two railroad members of the board declined to sign the award, and immediately filed a dissenting opinion on behalf of the Brotherhood of Engineers, branding the arbitration as a failure.

It was declared that the demands of the men would be taken up anew at the expiration of the award twelve months hence.

Judge Jeter C. Pritchard of Richmond, Va., chairman of the board, in a statement explained that he thought the men in certain branches of the service were entitled to greater advances than were awarded, but that he was obliged to make concessions in order that an award might be made.

BIG NEGRESS ADEPT IN WIELDING RAZOR

Lumberjack Robbed and Then Slashed; Victim in the Hospital.

A tall, stout, burly negress and a short, slender one accosted Sam Dahl, lumberjack, near Sixth avenue west and First street shortly after 11 o'clock last night, and after talking for awhile, managed to pick his pockets of two $5 bills.

When Dahl discovered his loss and remonstrated, the burly one returned one bill, but when he insisted on getting both of them, she drew a razor and slashed him about the neck and hands.

Hattie Jenkins and Alice Wright, two negresses, answering the description given police by Dahl, were arrested in Superior about an hour later. They refused to return to Duluth and will be held until extradition papers are secured.

After his struggle with the two women, Dahl was noticed reeling along First street and arrested as a drunk. When taken to headquarters, he was found to be seriously injured, and he was taken to St. Luke's hospital on order of Police Surgeon Klein.

"SNOWBIRDS" ROUNDED UP

Four Boys Held After Entering Doctor's Office for Cocaine.

Said to Be Amateur Burglars; All Sent to Work Farm.

After three boys, all under 21 years of age, had been arrested by police as suspects, one of their jailmates called the jailer and told him that the three, with another, were "snowbirds" and that they had broken into a doctor's office the night before in a desperate attempt to get drugs.

"Shea knows all about it," he said. "Shea," who proved to be Norbert Shea, 20, was picked up yesterday afternoon and admitted being one of the quartet of amateur burglars who were addicted to cocaine.

All four were taken before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting and Shea, with Clarence De Montreville, 20, was sentenced to forty days at the work farm. Ervin Mantafel, 19, and Raymond Anfang, 20, were sentenced to twenty days and paroled for six months.

De Montreville, with the others, went to the office of Dr. George W. Davis, 13 West Superior street, Thursday night and crawled through the transom. They ransacked the office in their search for some drugs, but were unsuccessful.

Since the Harrison anti-drug law went into effect March 1, metropolitan cities, particularly Chicago, have experienced considerable trouble with desperate drug addicts who burglarize drug stores and doctor's offices in their efforts to satisfy their cravings.

The new law requires that druggists register every sale and that they make a statement of every ounce of drug in their possession, and to whom it is sold. This is the first case of the kind that has come to the attention of local police since the Harrison bill became a law.

It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed, and is far superior to a powder puff, as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

SPAWN FOR HATCHERIES

Collections Most Successful in the History of the Work.

Mattson Urges Planting of Pike Fry in Northern Minnesota.

John Mattson of Kelsey returned to Duluth this morning after spending three weeks in the northern part of the county getting spawn for the state fish hatcheries. Mr. Mattson said the season had been one of the most successful in the history of spawning in this section, more than 2,500 quarts having been taken from Pike river near Tower.

The work has been done under the supervision of E. Cobb, superintendent of fish hatcheries for the state. Only experienced fishermen have been employed this year, while during former years game wardens and others, who often had little experience in the work, were employed.

The system of using pounets, instituted some time ago by Mr. Mattson, was used exclusively this year. With this method in use, all waste was eliminated, said Mr. Mattson today.

Mr. Mattson said that some of the settlers were of the opinion that the removing of spawn from the rivers would affect fishing. This, he said, was not so. The fish appear this year to be more numerous and larger in size than ever before. The reason of there being a large amount of legal size fish this year, he said, was that the 17,000,000 fish fry planted there three years ago are now matured.

Mr. Mattson said that sportsmen in this part of the state should make application to the state for pike fry. Northeastern Minnesota, he said, was not getting its share. Unless this is done, he said, it will not be many years before the rivers would be depleted.

Ends Deadlock.

London, May 1.—The conferences which have been going on in London between the mine owners and the mine laborers have ended in a deadlock. Representatives of the latter today definitely rejected the offer made by the owners of a 10 per cent increase and decided to leave the matter in the hands of Premier Asquith, who will appoint an arbitrator to settle the dispute.

D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Worried over the condition of his son, who has evidenced signs of insanity since being hit on the head several weeks ago by a hammer in the hands of an antagonist, John Miller of St. Anthony, Manton county, suffered a stroke of paralysis, dying within two hours.

Venice, May 1.—Throughout Hungary today is being observed as "abstain from smoking" day. Every smoker will be expected to abstain from using either pipe, cigar or cigarette and to give the money thus saved to a fund for invalid soldiers.

MUST PARE PAVING PLAN

City Compelled to Reduce Deficit and Will Cut Improvement Program.

Acting Under Court's Order; Disappointment for Property Owners.

Street improvements planned for this year will have to be cut down, so that the $100,000 deficit in the permanent improvement fund may be reduced at least $30,000.

This announcement was made late yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division, following a conference with Mayor Prince, Commissioners Voss and Merritt, City Assessor Scott and City Attorney Greene. As a result, paving projects may be abandoned on East Ninth street, Colorado street, Central avenue and Exeter street. All these improvements had been planned for this year.

Must Use Pruning Knife.

The cost of paving the intersections must be paid out of the permanent improvement fund and for this reason it was decided at the conference yesterday afternoon that the number of improvements must be reduced in a proportion that will effect a saving of at least $30,000 from this fund. According to the assessment rolls prepared by City Assessor Scott, the city's share in the cost of the above improvements will be $30,028, approximately the amount desired to save. In addition the improvement of Sussex avenue, from Snively road to Kenilworth avenue, and Kenilworth avenue from Vermilion road to Livingstone avenue, may be abandoned for this year.

However, all other improvements planned for 1915 will be carried through, as the city's share for street intersections, it is estimated, will not go over $90,000. The levy made out last fall included $153,000 for the permanent improvement fund.

City's Obligations.

If the entire paving program would be carried out as planned, the city assessor estimates that the city's share of the expense would be approximately $120,000, excluding sidewalk work and improvements to Mission creek. These latter will entail an expense of about $35,000.

"The district court has ordered the city to pay the $100,000 deficit," Commissioner Farrell explained after the meeting, "and some economizing will have to be done. This amount must be paid in four years and many reductions will have to be made. It makes it hard for the owners, who want the improvements, but the public will have to be patient."

ORDINANCE ON JITNEYS

Complete Draft of Measure to Be Submitted Monday Afternoon.

Calls for Insurance, License Fees and Safety Regulations.

Shortly before noon today City Attorney Greene completed the jitney ordinance, several changes having been made in the copy prepared for the special meeting yesterday. It will be introduced at the council meeting Monday evening by Commissioner Silberstein.

The ordinance, as it will be introduced Monday, follows:

"In pursuance of the provisions of Section 11 of the charter of the City of Duluth, the council does hereby define and declare that an emergency exists for the passgae of this ordinance by reason of the large number of auto-cars described in this ordinance now carrying passengers for hire in this city; the number of accidents resulting from their operation; the fact that the owners or managers are in many cases irresponsible and that damages could not be collected from them; and that their operation is rendered negligent by reason of the fact that those operating them are constantly induced to use greater speed than is safe, and to do other negligent acts in order to secure the largest number of passengers; and also that said auto cars are capable of being operated at a great and dangerous speed.

Section 1. Unless it appears from the context that a different meaning is intended, the following words shall have the meaning attached to them by this section:

"The word 'street' shall mean and include any streets, avenue, alley, court, lane or public place in the City of Duluth;

"The word 'auto-car' shall mean and include any motor vehicle engaged in the business of carrying passengers for hire, which is held out, by sign, voice, or other device or advertising to operate or run, or which is operated or run over the streets or avenues of the city of Duluth, indiscriminately discharging and receiving passengers.

"Sec. 2. Whenever the word 'auto-car' is used in this ordinance it shall be considered as meaning any automobile, auto-bus, or motor-bus for hire, as the case may be, such as are in this ordinance sought to be regulated.

Must Have Insurance.

"Sec. 3. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to carry on the business of operating an auto-car in the city of Duluth without first having secured liability insurance in a reliable insurance company, as specified and for the purposes set forth in section 4 of this ordinance, and without first having obtained a permit and license as in this ordinance required.

"Sec. 4. The liability insurance for each auto-car carrying passengers as in this ordinance specified shall be for standard limits of $5,000 and $10,000. The policy designated shall be declared to be a standard limit of $5,000 for any one person killed and a total limit of $10,000 for any number of persons injured in any one accident. The policy shall provide for and be made to cover all injuries to any person or persons that may be caused by such auto-car. Such policy shall be in such form that an action may be brought thereon, to the extent of the liability therein provided, by any person injured by reason of any negligent act of the owner, driver, chauffeur, manager or other person in such operation of said vehicle; or by the representative of any person killed by such negligent act.

Sec. 5. Any person, firm or corporation desiring to run or operate any auto-car shall first procure a permit from the council of the city of Duluth for said purpose. Said permit can only be procured in the following manner: The applicant for such permit shall file with the city clerk an application, in writing, thereof stating:

(a)—The type of auto-car intended to be used.

(b)—The horse power thereof.

(c)—The factory number thereof.

(d)—The state license number thereof.

(e)—The seating capacity thereof according to its trade or factory rating.

(f)—The name of the person to be in immediate charge thereof as driver.

(g)—The age, residence and nationality of the driver.

(h)—The number of the chauffeur's license.

(i)—The "streets" over which such auto-car is to be operated.

"Sec. 6. Upon receiving such application the city clerk shall refer the same to the council, who shall issue a permit theeron if all provisions of the ordinances of the city of Duluth are complied with as in this ordinance or otherwise provided.

License Revocable.

"Sec. 7. Upon the permit being granted by the council the applicant shall present the same to the city clerk, who shall receive and file the same in his office and the applicant thereafter and before a license is issued to him shall present his policy of liability insurance to the city council for approval or disapproval, and when approved the same shall be presented to the city clerk, who shall then indorse the number of such policy, the name of the company and the agent's address and the date of the policy upon each respective permit, and the city clerk shall then, and not till then, issue a license to the applicant in conformity to and with the terms of the permit presented. The license shall contain the same number as the corresponding permit, aside from any other numbers that may be on the license, and the word 'revocable' shall be plainly written or printed upon its face.

"Sec. 8. Each permit shall, among other things, contain a certain number to identify the permit; it shall also state the license fee to be charged by the city clerk and the word 'revocable' shall be plainly written or printed upon its face.

"Sec. 9. The operation of much auto-cars shall be subject to the following restrictions:

"First. No person operating such vehicle shall carry any passengers or permit any passengers to ride on the running boards or anywhere except on the seats of the vehicle.

"Second. No such vehicle shall carry more passengers than can be seated therein; except that children 5 years of age or under may be carried by seated passengers.

"Third. But one passenger shall be permitted to ride on the seat with the driver, besides the driver or chauffeur of such vehicle.

"Fourth. No such vehicle shall take on or discharge passengers while in motion.

"Fifth. All passengers must be received and discharged on the curb—that is to say, not in the roadway used by vehicles, but on the sidewalk or curb at the edge of the roadway. Passengers shall be allowed to alight or board the car only from the sidewalk side of the car or vehicle, and the left rear door shall be kept locked.

"Sixth. No such vehicle shall travel faster than ten (10) miles through the business district, or fifteen (15) miles through the residence district.

"Seventh. No such vehicle shall receive or discharge passengers in the public parks; but this does not prevent a continuous ride on the boulevards.

"Eighth. The rear portion of every such vehicle shall be continuously lighted inside from one hour after sunset until sunrise, if such vehicle is being operated with the top on.

Ninth. The driver of any such vehicle shall bring his car to a full stop at least thirty (30) feet from a steam railroad before going over the crossing of such road.

"Tenth. No driver of any such vehicle shall engage in any unnecessary conversation with passengers, nor smoke a pipe, cigar or cigarette while driving such vehicle containing passengers; nor drink any intoxicating liquors during the hours in which he is engaged in operating; nor shall he solicit passengers by loud calling or shouting, or sounding a horn, bell or whistle.

"Eleventh. The driver of any such vehicle must take to police headquarters all articles left in his machine by passengers within the twenty-four hour period.

"Twelfth. Signs shall be carried on such vehicles indicating the route thereof, and no driver or chauffeur shall refuse to proceed as far as the end of the route.

"Thirteenth. Such car shall not be stopped to let off or take on passengers at any other place except fifty (50) feet from the intersections of streets and avenues in the city of Duluth.

"Fourteenth. No such auto-car shall be operated except by a chauffeur licensed by the state of Minnesota, and who has had two (2) months' experience.

License Fees.

"Sec. 10. The license fee for said license shall be $20 for a vehicle carrying less than seven passengers; $30 for a seven-passenger car, and $40 for a car carrying more than seven passengers, for each year during which such vehicle shall be operated. Such annual license shall expire on the first day of May of each year, and the amount shall be reduced in proportion to the unexpired period of the current year at the time the license is issued; but no license shall be issued for less than $10.

"Sec. 11. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $100, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding sixty days.

"Sec. 12. All ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

"Sec. 13. This ordinance shall take effect at once, as an emergency ordinance; but the provisions of the sections referring to a liability policy and to a license shall not take effect until May 15, 1915."

MORE JOBS FOR THE IDLE

City Will Start Work on Street and Sewer Projects.

Will Begin Minnesota Avenue Paving; Woodland Job to Be Let.

At least 300 men will be employed on street and sewer work within the next three weeks, according to Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division.

Some time next week Mr. Farrell expects the S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis to begin on the Minnesota avenue pavement and he estimates that those contractors will hire at least seventy-five men. Applicants for positions, Mr. Farrell explained this morning, must go to the contractors themselves and not to the public works office.

The contract for the Woodland avenue pavement will be let to A. N. Nelson within the next week and Mr. Farrell is of the opinion that seventy-five men will also be required for that work before ten or fifteen days.

Within the next three weeks Commissioner Farrell expects a number of sewer improvements will be under way, and he estimates that about 100 men will have to be employed throughout the city.

In addition to these, several minor street improvements will be started within the next week, bringing the total number of men working on city streets and sewers close to the 300 mark.

NEW RECORD FOR BUILDING

April Was Banner Month for Number of Permits Issued.

Mark for First Four Months of Year Almost $700,000.

Not only were there more building permits issued during April than during any month in the history of the city, according to Building Inspector Kielley, but the $700,000 mark was almost reached for the first four months of the present year. It had been estimated that the half million-dollar mark would have indicated good building activity for the city.

There were 234 permits issued during the month, the total value being $340,178. During the first three months the total was $338,927 and, including the April figures, the value of the permits up to May 1 is $679,105.

Late yesterday afternoon a permit was taken out for the construction of the new armory at Thirteenth avenue east at a cost of $120,000. This is the largest permit for the month, although many of those issued are for sums ranging from $5,000 to $15,000.

An interesting fact in connection with Mr. Kielley's report is that most of the permits issued were for modest dwellings, showing that men of moderate means are building their own homes.

During this month it is expected that permits will be taken out for the construction of the new junior high school for $115,000, the W. C. Agnew residence for $60,000, the W. C. King apartment row for $50,000, the Wahl Candy factory for $20,000 and the Rust-Parker warehouse for $20,000. Indications are that May will also be a record month in the building history of Duluth, according to Inspector Keilley.

May 1 Sees Very Few Families Moving From the City.

Van Owners Also Say Fewer Are Seeking New Locations.

According to the statement of the moving van owners, there are fewer persons leaving Duluth this first of May than during the last eight years.

The moving people are also authority for the statement that there are fewer families moving into the city.

At least one manager of a house moving company is of the opinion that this year's hustle and bustle connected with moving has not reached the general proportions of last year's. This man believes that more people were moved last year than this.

A year ago the general moving rush began later and did not terminate until about May 6. This season people began moving about April 26 and it looks as if the great bulk of the business of transferring household goods from one house or flat to another, will be about over with on Monday.

"There is one detail connected with this year's moving that should please those interested in the growth of the city," said a manager of one of the companies, "and that is the unusually small number of families leaving the city. There are scarcely any families giving up their homes in the city. Many persons are moving, but it is for the most part to some other part of the city. I venture to say that Duluth has lost fewer families this spring than for a long number of years."

At the present term of court, the Petruschkes secured a verdict for $3,750 from Mr. Frey and M. TESTS GIVEN FOR CITY JOBS

One Out of Six Applicants for Fireman Fails in Physical Test.

Twenty-One Men and Eight Women Apply for Other Positions.

Out of six would-be firemen, one candidate failed to chin himself ten times and lift the seventy-eight-pound bar bell at the physical test conducted by Director Olson of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, and a a result he was barred from taking the mental examination conducted by the civil service commission this morning.

Any applicant for the position of fireman must pass the physical test at the Y. M. C. A. before he will be permitted to take a mental examination, the former including the broad jump, the 100-yard dash, strength of back and legs by means of lifting tests, the lifting of a seventy-eight-pound bar bell and chinning ten times up to a cross bar.

In addition to the five applicants for positions in the fire department twenty-one young men and eight young women were examined this morning for the positions of rodmen and assistant librarians, respectively.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service board, conducted the examination, and in accordance with a ruling made by that body, cannot announce the list of questions asked of the applicants. However, the candidates for the position of rod man were asked questions in arithmetic and composition. Their penmanship was tested, and they were asked to give their experience in work with chain gangs.

Candidates for assistant librarian were asked questions in literature, history and library science.

NOT LIKELY TO BUILD THIS YEAR

Hibbing Not Expected to Have New Courthouse Before 1916.

Although Governor Hammond has approved the 1915 session law-making provision for a courthouse to be erected at Hibbing similar to the one now in use at Virginia, it is not considered likely that the branch courthouse will be constructed this year.

The bill which passed and which has been signed by the governor amends the former law so as to provide that St. Louis county may furnish suitable quarters for the holding terms of the district court at Hibbing. The law permits the erection of a courthouse at the village of Hibbing similar to the one now at Virginia and also provides for the holding of a term of the district court at Ely.

The courthouse at Hibbing, if built, will be paid for out of the county funds and as no provision was made for it in the 1915 levy, it is probable that its construction will be deferred until next year.

MORE MONEY, LESS WORRY

Chief Troyer's Departure Is Not a Kick Downstairs.

Chief of Police Troyer has been kicked upstairs instead of down.

With a salary of $2,500 as head of the Duluth police department and indications pointing to his possible discharge or at least to his being subjected to constant attacks, Chief Troyer has been pensioned by the police relief board at $75 a month and he will become chief at Fargo, N. D., on May 16 at a salary of $2,000 a year. This makes a total income of $3,000 a year and as Bert Williams would say—"I'se sure of duh $3,000."

"I saw I wasn't wanted here," said Chief Troyer yesterday afternoon, "and when this Fargo offer was made, I immediately took it up. I will leave Duluth on May 14 and assume my new duties the following day."

Immediately after taking office two weeks ago, Commissioner Silberstein was besieged with requests that Chief Troyer be discharged and a new head of the police department appointed in his stead. He refused to do this, declaring that Chief Troyer would remain, until he could find a better man to fill the position. However, there was still strong opposition to the reappointment of the chief and he simply took the opportunity and retreated in good order with colors flying.

Hannah of Boone, Iowa, Mr. Hannah's mother; Herry Hannah, a brother, and Mrs. Hannah, also of Boone; Edward Hannah of Omaha, Neb., a brother; and Mrs. Blanche Pecot of Omaha, a sister of Mr. Hannah, will come to Duluth for the services, as will Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Payton of Council Bluffs, Iowa, mother and father of Mrs. Hannah.

FORD

ANNOUNCEMENT!

$60 REBATE

FOR EACH PURCHASER ASSURED

The season of 1914 the Ford Motor Co. sold during the twelve months' period 228,000 cars. Official information at hand advises that for the season of 1915 the output of the Ford factory will be in the neighborhood of 360,000 or 375,00 cars. More than enough orders were received on March 22nd to make up the required 300,000 cars which assures every Ford purchaser who places his order for delivery before August 1st of the $60 profit-sharing rebate, which thereby reduces the cost of a Ford Touring Car, which is $490 f. o. b. factory, to $430; the Roadster, which is $440 f. o. b. factory, to $380.

When a purchaser stops to consider that all cars are fully equipped with top and curtains, cowl dash, windshield, electric lights, side and tail lamps, horn, pump, jack tools, tire repair kit, etc., is no wonder that the Ford Co. will reach the tremendous volume as stated above during a twelve months' period of operation.

Few prospective purchasers realize also the service and advantages in the purchase of a Ford car. In Duluth here we carry a stock of $5,000 worth of parts on hand at all times for the convenience of Duluth purchasers. All Ford cars are guaranteed for one year against defects in workmanship or material, and any defective parts are replaced free of cost to the purchaser within the one-year period after delivery.

THIS MEANS UNINTERRUPTED SERVICE FOR YOUR CAR

In addition to the stock of parts carried in Duluth, the following cities or towns carry a stock of Ford parts ranging in value from $150 to $500:

Two Harbors, Tower, Ely, Grand Marais, Virginia, Chisholm, Hibbing, Marble, Coleraine, Grand Rapids, Forbes, Remer, Hill City, Swan River, Floodwood, Tamarack, McGregor, Cloquet, Moose Lake, Nickerson, Aitkin, Brainerd, Pine River, Walker, Akeley, Park Rapids, Cass Lake, Bemidji, Pine City, Hinckley, Superior, Bayfield, Ashland and Iron River. Any Ford owner touring in this territory which is termed "The Lake Superior Region," can procure any part for replacement, so that no matter where you are touring you can rest assured that a matter of one or two hours only will be your delay in uninterrupted service. This same rule applies as to stock of parts for the use of all Ford owners throughout the entire United States, in every city, town and hamlet wherein a Ford agent exists. It is one of the iron-clad rules of the Ford Motor Co. that all Ford agents must carry a stock of parts for the convenience of Ford owners.

THIS MEANS SERVICE

We are advised by some of our competitors that they have offered to wager $500 with us that the Ford purchaser would not receive the Profit-sharing rebate. To anyone who is advised by our competitors that this wager was made, we make this offer: Accept any wager they desire to make and we will put up the money required, with the understanding that if the Ford Motor company do not pay the profit-sharing rebate advertised, the loser of the wager will pay to the Associated Charities of Duluth the amount involved. We do not make this offer in a spirit of boasting, but only to convince those who may come in contact with our competitors that this is a rare opportunity to do a commendable act by assisting the Associated Charities in carrying out the work of relief for the poor of our city.

We cannot conceive of any of our competitors using this argument in the future, as they certainly have no money to throw away on a losing wager of this kind, neither can they continue to fool the public by false statements and arguments.

This is only the beginning of a series of logical arguments, which we are to present to the public and prospective purchasers in the future, all strictly based on facts, which can be procured by anyone interested. For the above reasons, if you are contemplating the purchase of a medium-priced car, the Ford is the logical car to buy.

IT'S A GAY LIFE THAT DEPUTY ASSESSORS WILL LEAD THIS MONTH

Twenty-five young men, who started out this morning to compile the assessed valuation of the personal property in the city of Duluth, will not have such easy sailing, if the experience of one of the deputies proves to be the lot of the others.

The following conversation might have taken place in an East end home this morning, if one of the deputies were to be believed:

"Good morning, are you the lady of the house?'

"No, of course not. I'm the kaiser reviewing my troops."

"Do you live here?"

"No, I'm just spending my week end with the husband and children."

"Where is your husband?"

"I don't know. He left here about 8 o'clock this morning and if he is the right kind of a husband, he should be at his office right now. But I really don't know."

"Do you own all these articles in the house?"

"Not yet. We bought them on the instalment plan, $3 down and you stall for the rest."

(This is where the assessor had to smile and spoil it all.)

"No joking, lady, but I would like to find out just what you own."

"Who are you?"

"I'm a city assessor."

"Why, I thought you were a reporter by the way you ask questions. Come right in and look around."

(The assessor goes in and points to a large Morris chair.)

"How much is that worth?"

"I really don't know. You see, it was given to me as a wedding present."

And so on, through the entire house.

It really is no fun for the city assessors, who are out to make a complete compilation of all the personal property in the city. They are expected to work for about thirty days, according to Deputy Assessor Fowler.

JITNEY LOOKED UPON AS A JOKE THREE MONTHS AGO HAS COME TO BE RECOGNIZED AS BIGGEST MUNICIPAL PROBLEM OF DAY

Estimated That 20,000 Duluthians Ride in Them Every Day.

Average Number of Cars 150, Costing Traction Co. $1,000 Daily.

Will Jitneys Bring Zone Fares and Crowded Tenements?

Cheap Auto Rides But Suburbanites Are Becoming Fearful.

Is the jitney a joke or a menace?

A four-passenger Ford car operated by J. O. Renning started out Sunday morning, March 14, bearing a "Jitney Bus—Fare 5c" sign, and now 6,000 Duluthians ride to work in jitneys every morning.

Twenty thousand persons, it is estimated, ride in jitneys every day, and this number probably is low, as jitneys get fares in many cases where a passenger otherwise would walk.

The street car company is losing $1,000 a day because of the jitney, and this figure is growing steadily.

Taxi-cab rates have been cut from $5 to $1 an hour.

Tabulated records show that 285 cars have operated as jitneys.

The daily average now is about 150 cars.

There have been more automobile accidents, and violations of traffic rules, since March 15, than for the year previous to that date.

Downtown Duluth likes the jitney, and suburban Duluth doesn't like it at all. Just what the outcome of the jitney "wave" will be, cannot be determined, but experts agree that it presents a far more serious problem than the average citizen imagines.

Big Municipal Problem.

"The biggest municipal problem in a quarter of a century," is what the jitney has been called in Seattle, where it carries between 50,000 and 75,000 persons daily. It can bo called the same thing in Duluth without deviating from facts, say traffic experts, and even real estate men who see in it the possibility of curtailed street car service to the suburbs, zone fares, a fatal blow to the homecroft movement and perhaps crowded tenements.

On the other hand: "It's fine!" says the average citizen who lives within the jitney zone and likes an auto ride occasionally.

"It gives me a chance to get a little fresh air and is the best thing I've seen in a long time."

A man named J. Parsons, in Los Angeles, where the jitney started, is credited with having sown the first seed of the jitney harvest last summer.

He marked a little Ford with a sign reading: "Eighth and Broadway to Rowan street, Boyle Heights, 5c." People laughed, but Parsons prospered, and more jitneys appeared.

Spread to East.

People laughed in other cities when the first man took up the idea, but soon San Francisco, Oakland, Cal., Seattle, Portland, Kansas City, Houston, Tex., and more cities were witnessing the institution of an unforeseen transit service. The idea spread throughout the Middle West to the East, to Baltimore, Philadelphia, Hartford, Conn., Springfield, Ill., and now it literally is impossible to number the cities which have the service on trial, because new ones are added every day.

A New York transportation expert, after a study of the jitney situation, predicted that the height of the tide will be reached this summer, and that after that the pressure of real business conditions which will begin to be realized will force it naturally to recede.

Duluth has the jitney fever as badly as any city of its size in the United States, barring perhaps one or two of the California or Colorado cities where climatic conditions are more favorable. Its geographical construction makes it easy for jitneyists to reap a harvest in the down town sections of the city.

Cream of Business.

Ninety-five per cent of the cars now operating in Duluth run on Superior street between Twenty-seventh avenue west and Twenty-fourth avenue east. Business derived from this part of the city is the "cream" of the transportation income.

"The short haul income makes it possible for us to keep up our so-called accommodation service to the suburbs, which the jitneys cannot supply," says Herbert Warren, vice president of the Duluth Street Railway company.

The jitneys are going a long ways towards depriving the company of the short haul benefits. They are taking the cream of the business and leaving the skimmed milk for their competitor.

"The jitneys have made large enough inroads to present a very serious problem," declared Mr. Warren. "I might almost say that if allowed to continue as they are now, we shall be compelled to curtail our service, as has been done in other cities.

"We have taken no steps as yet, but are awaiting action by city commissioners with a view to regulation. Contrary to current reports, we have not laid off a single employe because of the jitney. As a matter of fact fewer men have been discharged recently than during any corresponding period previous to the inception of the 5-cent bus."

Commissioner of Public Safety Bernard Silberstein will introduce an ordinance in a few days limiting the number of jitneys that may run on Superior street; prescribing a bond for all jitneys; forcing the drivers to report on the routes to be followed; and compelling some of them to run on First and Fourth streets.

The theory is that if the jitneys take the cream of the transportation business, they should at least be placed on an equal basis with the street railway company as far as regulation is concerned, pay a proportionate amount of taxes, give some assurance of continued and regular service, protect their passengers and the general public from accidents, and be responsible for damages when such accidents occur through their negligence.

An ordinance of this kind may prevent curtailments in street car service to Woodland, Lakeside and West Duluth.

Zone Fares and Tenements.

"We'll have zone fares, deserted suburbs, and tenements in Duluth if the jitney is allowed to go unrestricted," says one prominent Duluthian.

With this problem before them, Duluth's city commissioners are investigating the regulations used in other cities, and the result of over-indulgence in the jitney habit.

Here is what has happened in some cities, according to a report issued Feb. 24:

Oakland, Cal.: "Street car company is losing $1,500 daily and has cut service."

San Francisco: "Street car company is losing more than $1,000 daily."

Denver: "None operating. An emergency ordinance required all jitneys to have a franchise similar to the railway company's."

Des Moines, Ia.: "The jitneys are a joke."

New Orleans: "$500 daily loss to street railway."

Omaha, Neb.: $200 daily loss to street railway."

Scranton, Pa.: "$300 daily loss to street railway."

Houston, Tex.: "$1,100 daily loss to street railway."

Fort Worth, Tex.: "Thirty per cent decrease in railway earnings."

Salt Lake City: "$250 daily loss to street railway."

Seattle, Wash.: "$2,448 decrease daily. Jitneys carry 50,000 passengers."

Seattle has a more severe attack of the jitney fever than any other city in the United States, it is said. Eighty per cent of the people in the city favor the 5-cent bus, and no ordinances unfavorable to it have been passed.

St. Louis has the "jitney-down-and-back" habit. Automobile owners pay gasoline bills by putting up a jitney sign when they start for work in the morning, and pick up their neighbors. Coming back at night the process is repeated, and then the sign is tucked out of sight.

Denver's Prompt Action.

Denver saw the jitney coming, and stopped it with an ordinance requiring all jitneyists to have a franchise similar to the one granted the street railway company. Other attempts at regulation have been unsatisfactory, as a rule.

Duluth commissioners may solve the problem of proper regulation in the near future, although a state bill recently was killed in the legislature.

In the meantime:

"Let's take a jitney ride," say shop girls at noon.

"Fine business!" says the average man who thinks only of the present and not of the winter days when a warm street car is welcomed.

"Bad business!" says the traffic expert.

"Where will we come in?" says the suburbanite.

Which opinion is right?

WHAT DOES IT COST TO RUN A JITNEY?

T. F. Grover, a transportation expert of Terre Haute, Ind., makes this estimate:

	Cost Per Day.
DEPRECIATION—
Cost of car	$600.00
Life of car, miles	40,000
Cost, per mile	1½c
Average miles per day 225, at 1½c	$ 3.38
CHAUFFEUR—
15 hours a day at 25c	3.75
TIRES AND TUBES—
Total for tires and tubes, per set	$51.10
Estimated average life at 4,000 miles equals 1.27c per mile. 225 miles per day at 1.27c	2.85
CAR REPAIRS AND STORAGE—
Estimated at 1c per mile	2.25
GASOLINE—
Estimated cost at 12c per gallon and 16 miles to gallon equals four-fifths cent per mile and 225 miles per day	1.80
OIL AND GREASE—
Estimated cost at 15c per quart and 75 miles to the quart	.45
Total estimated cost per day	$14.85

Average cost per mile 6½ cents.

Add to this insurance, accident bond premiums and license fees. Railway men say that the jitney cannot make money in the long run.

These estimates have been substantiated in all parts of the country, as well as in Duluth with a car operated by the Duluth Street Railway company.

DULUTH BOYS PRIDE OF BOXING FANS OF UNCLE SAM'S NAVY

EDWARD CAYO.

CLARENCE CAYO.

Two Duluth boys, who joined Uncle Sam's navy two years ago, are now making a name for themselves in the naval pugilistic field. They are Clarence and Edward Cayo, 620 Seventh avenue west, both of whom are now on the battleship Saratoga, stationed off the Philippine islands.

Clarence, who is said to be a crack boxer, tips the scales at 138 pounds. He has appeared in the ring but twice, so far, but in each case the knockout was so decisive that he is being hailed in naval circles as little short of a "white hope" in the lightweight class.

So rapidly has his fame spread that plans are now being made to bring him to Manila for a sparring bout at a smoker to be held soon. His speed and skill are said to be remarkable. If he shows as much class in this contest as is expected of him, he will undoubtedly be billed to fight Willie Burke, who now holds the lightweight championship of the Asiatic fleet.

Clarence's brother, Edward, is getting into form, also, and is looked forward to as a real comer.

NEW EMPLOYES TAKES OFFICE

Ayres, Bergstrom, Kribsback, Gonska and Others Assume Duties.

Include Appointments Made By Silberstein, Farrell and Greene.

Six newly appointed city employes assumed their new duties this morning.

The appointments were made by Commissioners Silberstein and Farrell and City Attorney Greene immediately after they took office two weeks ago, but the positions were not vacated by the old employes until yesterday. The new employes are: Lyonel Ayres, city engineer; J. B. Bergstrom, street commissioner for the West end district; Bert Kribsback, foreman of sewer work done by day labor; Walter Gonska, second assistant city attorney; Leonard McHugh, law clerk, and Capt. William Hoy, harbor master.

City Engineer Ayres succeeds John Wilson, who has been engineer for the last two years. The latter announced yesterday that he will make his home in Duluth, although he has made no arrangements for the immediate future. Mr. Bergstrom succeeds Alex Kennedy, while Mr. Kribsback assumes the duties of Edward Erickson.

Mr. Gonska will act as city prosecutor, succeeding W. H. Gurnee, who will continue in the practice of law, as will Harvey Hoshaur, law clerk for the last two years. Capt. Hoy succeeds Capt. H. Inman, who was harbor master for two years under Former Commissioner Hicken.

ORE SHIPPING MORE BRISK

April Figures Show Big Increase Over Those of Last Year.

The ore-shipping season of 1915 starts off with a good deal more briskness than last year began. The three docks operating at the Head of the Lakes at this time, shipped in April 309,387 tons more than in the corresponding month of 1914, and last year the Missabe dock did not ship anything in April, the first boat leaving there on May 2.

Shipments in April this year and last were as follows:

	1914.	1915.
Great Northern	62,338	77,311
Dul., Mis. & North..	.....	174,989
Dul. & I. R.	24,548	143,973

SUPERIOR IN NO CONDITION TO MAKE EXTENSIONS

Street Railway Suffering From Decreased Receipts and Jitney Competition.

There will be no extensions of street railway lines made in Superior until business conditions have materially improved, according to information given by Herbert Warren, manager of the traction company, to directors of the Superior Commercial club.

Inroads made on the company's receipts by jitneys as well as the falling off in traffic owing to business depression during the last year are given as the principal reasons for the company not being in position to build this year. Members of various improvement clubs of Superior wanted the company to make several extensions in the near future among which was a line along the bay front and a line to Itasca. Mr. Warren discussed the situation frankly and promised that proper consideration would be given the proposed extensions when the business conditions warranted them. He said that a similar policy would be carried out in Duluth.

More Sidewalks Ordered.

Two miles of new sidewalks will be built in South Superior and another mile in the East end, according to orders of the city commission yesterday. This makes nearly five miles of new walks that have been ordered during the week by the council. The walks will all be built early this year. Contracts for the job will be awarded as soon as bids are received.

Members Reappointed.

The city commission reappointed the three retiring members of the library board at its meeting yesterday afternoon. They are Mrs. Harry Rogers, Mrs. George C. Cooper and J. M. Czerkowski. Nick Mason was appointed curfew officer to take the place recently made vacant by the resignation of S. Boss.

WEATHER MAN AND MAYOR DON'T AGREE

Who said anything about straw hats? Or low shoes either, for that matter?

Recently Mayor W. I. Prince issued a proclamation declaring the season for these articles of summer apparel to be open May 1. Well, May 1 is here, but the weather man and the mayor do not seem to be pulling together very well.

Not a single straw hat was in sight on Duluth's streets today. Perhaps there were a few pairs of low shoes being worn, but only by the more hardy citizens.

The merchants didn't pay much attention to the mayor's challenge to the weather man, and no straw hat window displays are yet to be seen.

Couderay, Wis., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Winter State bank, in the village of Winter, will open up for business on May 3. The bank is capitalized at $10,000 and is controlled by the Hines Lumber company of Chicago. L. J. Aschenbrener of Park Falls will be cashier of the new bank

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

ARRESTED IN JAIL.

Man Sentenced for Trespass Now Held for Grand Larceny.

To be arrested while in jail was the unusual experience of Bruno Reinala, 28, who was brought in from the work farm this morning by Detectives N. U. G. Terry and J. L. Bradley to face a more serious charge than that of trespassing, of which he was convicted in the West Duluth court yesterday. He was charged with grand larceny.

Reinala was identified by a pawnshop proprietor at 715 West Superior street as the man, who several days ago, sold to him a watch stolen from Charles Hill, roomer at the Nicollet hotel.

Jacob Kalliomaki, Hill's roommate, is now in the county jail awaiting grand jury action on a charge of grand larceny, but he says Reinala took the watch. Kalliomaki and Hill went to bed together on the night of April 20 and when Hill awoke his partner had fled and his watch and money were missing.

Just who stole the watch and who should be prosecuted on the charge will be determined in municipal court Monday.

GOES WIFE ONE BETTER.

Husband Says Spouse Is Rough With Children; Smashes Furniture.

BROKEN furniture, a wrecked kitchen stove, shattered mirrors, torn curtains, and empty window sashes greeted Patrolman A. Callahan last night when he went to 421 East Eighth street to investigate a complaint.

Mrs. Anton Broniszewski was standing out in the front yard, holding her two children by the hand, and viewing the wreckage with evident interest. Inside the house Anton was looking around for something else to wreck.

When the officer remonstrated, Anton declared that his wife was rough with the children, and that he didn't propose to stand for it. He paid a fine of $12.50 in municipal court this morning for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

WILL MEET IN EVENING

Custom of More Than Two Years to Be Broken By Council.

Increase in Salaries and Proposed Improvements Will Be Taken Up.

For the first time in more than two years the city council will hold a night meeting at 8 o'clock next Monday evening.

Last week the commissioners passed a resolution changing the meeting hour from 3 o'clock every Monday afternoon to 8 o'clock in the evening and the first meeting under this ruling will be held next week.

In addition to consideration of the new jitney ordinance to be introduced by Commissioner Silberstein, the council will also pass on several important matters and award the contracts for the paving of Minnesota avenue and Highland street. Commissioner Silberstein will introduce an ordinance appropriating $165 for the purchase of a motorcycle for the police department.

Increase in Salaries.

At the meeting Monday the commissioners will take final action on the increase in salaries of Charles W. Cate and W. P. Haig of the water and light department. Last month the pay roll included an increase for Mr. Cate from $110 to $120 a month, and Mr. Haig from $60 to $70 a month, but the council refused to pass on it, in view of the fact that the two employes had not been officially promoted. Commissioner Merritt has asked for action on the matter and it is probable that the council will consider the promotion of A. Beck, repair man at $70 to gas fitter at $75 a month, and R. F. Brown, repair man at $70 to meter reader at $76 a month.

White & Sheltrey are the low bidders for the moving of pipes from the docks to the localities where improvements are to be made this summer, and Commissioner Merritt will ask that they be awarded the contract.

Commissioner Merritt will introduce an ordinance authorizing the purchase of a Ford car for the water and light department. The machine will cost $520.

Contracts for Paving.

Contracts for the paving of Minnesota avenue, from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth streets, will be awarded to the S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis on their bid of $52,897.01, and Highland street, from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-sixth avenues west, to Gilman-Murphy-Peterson on their bid of $22,146.80. In addition, Commissioner Merritt will introduce a resolution awarding the contract for the paving of Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road, to A. N. Nelson on his bid of $17,793.20. The contract for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Ninth street, from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth avenues west, will be awarded to John Hedberg on his bid of $1,009.43.

The resolutions authorizing the vacation of highways and alleys near Highland street will be laid over another week for final action.

The ordinance appropriating $30,000 for sidewalks; $7,000 for storm sewers; $5,000 for lumber, and $2,500 for beautifying the exterior of the armory will be given their second reading.

OBITUARY

Prince Sabah Eddine is dead at Constantinople. The prince was a son of the late Sultan Murad V, and was one of the leaders of the Young Turks' party.

J. Stewart Tupper, 64 years old, king's counsel of Winnipeg, died April 30 at Oxford, Eng. He was the eldest son of Sir Charles Tupper, Bart, who is the only surviving member of the Canadian confederation. He would have succeeded his father to the baronetcy.

BASS ONLY FISH NOW PROTECTED

Northern Minnesota fishermen are now at liberty to catch about any kind of fish they can except bass.

Wall-eyed pike, pickerel, muscallonge, croppies, sunfish, perch, sturgeon and catfish may be caught from now on without fear of punishment by game wardens. Fifteen pike is the limit, and twenty-five is the maximum catch allowed on all other varieties except pickerel, sunfish and bullheads, on which there is no limit. The bass season does not open until May 29.

Fishermen will do well to note carefully the size of their fish as it is unlawful to have in possession sunfish, bullheads or rock bass under six inches in length, wall-eyed pike under fourteen inches in length, muscallonge under thirty inches in length. After the bass season opens, the minimum size on bass is nine inches.

Game fish may be taken only with one line and one bait. This is not to be construed, however, as prohibiting the use of such lures as the wooden minnows.

In Wisconsin the general fishing season does not open until May 30.

Local anglers usually favor live minnows for wall-eyed pike bait, although quite a few find the small artificial Scotch minnow effective and sometimes the medium and smaller sized casting spoons are used. The two best baits for muscallonge are large sized spoons and big frogs.

Several Bayonetted By Guards at Military Prison at Kingston, Ont.

Watertown, N. Y., May 1.—Copies of the Kingston, Ont., Whig, received here today tell of disorders in the military prison at Fort Henry, Kingston, last Thursday night in which, it was said, several German prisoners were bayonetted, two of them being afterwards taken to a hospital, one in a serious condition.

According to the Whig, the trouble began when three German prisoners who had been locked up all day for being unruly and had been given nothing to eat for two meal periods, kicked their food at supper time out of the hands of attendants serving them. Other prisoners, it is said, then began to fight the servants. The thirteen guards, the account continues, thereupon fixed bayonets and charged the prisoners, subduing them after a fight. The prisoners who participated, it is said, were confined in dungeons with the exception of the men in the hospital.

FINDS SHELTER HERE.

Homeless Youth, With Broken Shoulder, Cared for at Poor Farm.

After being shunted back and forth between the poor commissioners of St. Louis and Douglas, Wis., counties, Louis Gloen, 20, will be cared for by Commissioner A. P. Cook until he can be sent to his home.

Gloven, with a badly sprained shoulder, applied to Commissioner Swan S. Hard at Superior, April 29, and asked for aid. He was told to "go to Duluth."

When the youth reached Duluth, he made his way to police headquarters with difficulty, but police could give him no more than temporary help.

Commissioner Cook of St. Louis county at first ruled that the case was not within his province, but later decided to care for the boy until he was well enough to be sent to his home at Ely, Minn.

Smoke Law Observed.

Not one building in Duluth violated the smoke ordinance during April, according to the monthly report of J. W. Schneider, smoke inspector, submitted this morning to Mayor Prince.

During the month Inspector Schneider checked ninety buildings, finding no violations, while but two locomotives permitted dense smoke for periods longer than ten minutes, the maximum allowed by an ordinance. Forty-one locomotives were checked during the month.

In addition to these inspections, Mr. Schneider issued fifty-two permits for the of setting of poles by local telephone and electric companies.

ARBITRATORS MAKE AWARD

Decision in Demand for Higher Wages for Railroad Men Made Public.

Binding Only for Year and Merely Postpones Actual Settlement.

Chicago, May 1.—An arbitration award, advancing to some extent the rates of pay of 64,000 locomotive engineers, firemen and hostlers employed on the 140,000 miles of line of forty-eight Western railroads in the great area of the United States and Canada bounded on the east by the Illinois Central and the Great Lakes, was signed here yesterday.

A dissenting opinion was filed on behalf of the Brotherhood of Enginemen, in which the arbitration was branded as a failure, and the Newlands law, under which it was arranged, was inadequate as a device for the settlement of industrial disputes. The award is binding for one year only, and was frankly declared as merely postponing for twelve months the actual settlement of the differences involved. The railroad members of the board issued a formal statement criticizing features of the regulations governing the arbitration, and remarking that certain concessions regarded as intrinsically unjust were made for the sake of preserving peace with the employes.

Judge Peter C. Pritchard of Richmond, Va., chairman of the board, explained his position, and stated that, while in his opinion the men in certain branches of the service were entitled to greater advances than were granted, he had to make concessions in order that an award might be made, and he found that of a helpful nature in the award.

Members of Board.

Charles Nagel, St. Louis, former secretary of commerce and labor, who, with Judge Pritchard, represented the board of mediation and conciliation on the arbitration board, was the only member who issued no statement.

The brotherhoods were represented on the board by F. A. Burgess of Louisville, Ky., assistant grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Timothy Shea of Peoria, Ill., vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The railroad members were W. L. Park, Chicago, vice president of the Illinois Central, and H. E. Byram, Chicago, vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. As explained by Mr. Burgess, the essential concessions to the men were:

"1—Standardization of rates of pay on the weight of locomotives on drive wheels.

"2—Overtime pay to passenger firemen and engineers, ranging from 44 to 75 cents an hour, respectively.

"3—Enginemen of steam power may be transferred to electric power when installed, without loss of seniority rights after May 1, 1915. The board was unable because of the newness of electric railway service to fix rates of pay in detail, but named $4.30 a day as the minimum for motormen in passenger service and $2.50 for their helpers; $4.75 for motormen in freight service, and $2.75 for helpers.

For Irregular Service.

"4—Enginemen of milk trains, circus trains and other irregular service, such as pusher and helper, receive the rate accorded on through freights, amounting to an increase of from 10 to 15 per cent.

"5—The men will be paid for delay while in their cabs at initial and final terminals and for time in excess of thirty minutes spent in preparing their engines for service.

"6—Switch enginemen will receive an advance in daily pay of 25 cents on small engines and 15 cents on large ones.

"7—Men held away from home terminals shall, after twenty-two hours idleness, receive a minimum day's pay of 10 per cent, based on last service out of each succeeding twenty-four hours until he gets a run.

"8—Through freight rates were advanced 5 to 20 cents, increasing with weight of engine and 25 cents on some of the extremely heavy engines.

"9—Way freight engineers will receive 30 cents a day more than through freight men.

"10—Surprise tests will be conducted in such a way as not to endanger life, limb or nerves.

"11—Firemen will be assisted, where assistance is available in keeping coal forward and the coal shall be broken into pieces at shutes.

"12—Where firemen on big engines deem an assistant necessary, the matter may be adjusted through arbitration.

"13—Firemen will not be required to clean engines, nor will engineers be required to fill grease cups, set up wedges or perform other minor duties about an engine, where others are available to do the work.

"14—The weight on drivers of each engine shall be posted where the enginemen can have convenient access to the information."

Requests Not Granted.

Among the requests not granted were the automatic release, time and a half for over time in freight and switching service, and the five-hour day in passenger service. The award on the surprise test, which was a matter of bitter contention in the course of the four months hearing, was precisely as desired by the railroads, but Mr. Burgess listed it among the results satisfactory to the men. Judge Pritchard's statement follows:

"I deem it proper to say that, in my opinion, the freight rates, as well as the yard rates for firemen and engineers, agreed upon by the board, are not as high as they should be. Nevertheless, the rules as respect weight on drivers, time constituting a day's work, initial and terminal delay, and overtime, passenger rates and rules, and other rules, accord to the men substantial benefits which should not be denied them. Therefore, in order that the provisions of the award may be put into effect and the men permitted to enjoy the benefits accruing thereon, I believe it my duty to join other members of the board in making this award.

"I am satisfied that, as respects many of the propositions submitted, we have approached as near as may be, at this time, a standardization of many important rules and rates which will, in the future, tend to remove many things that have been the cause of innumerable controversies between the railroads and their employes."

Statement Brief.

The statement by Byram and Park was equally brief, saying:

"Any scheme of standardization, or any approach to it, which does not permit of equalization of dissimilar rates and rules, in our opinion, is unsound. The agreement under which the arbitration was held gave no latitude to the board to adjust or reconcile unequal conditions. It was one-sided. It permitted standardization only if upward. Many provisions of the award which confer benefit upon men whose rates merit adjustment, were in hearty accord. To those who, in our judgment, the testimony showed to have been liberally paid and properly treated, we feel that nothing additional is due them and that in agreeing to changes in their rates and rules and to other conditions of the award it was only because it was made apparent that these changes were necessary if we were to have an award at all. It appeared to us that for the maintenance of the principle of arbitration for the adjustment of labor disputes, which is the public interest, our duty lay in this direction, even if additional burdens of expense resulted."

The dissenting opinion of Burgess and Shea was of comparative length, containing much argument and evidence used in the hearing and to which, they contended, the arbitration paid too little attention, or ignored. They held, with respect to the opinion, that the process of arbitration itself was being arbitrated, that it had failed to qualify as a solution of wage disputes.

They asserted that the precedent set by the award in the Eastern arbitration, which they held was impossible to Western conditions, figured too largely in shaping the present award. They charged that much of the railroads' evidence was calculated to mislead and that the advances granted in rates will, as a matter of plain fact, by reason of the tendency toward heavier engines and trains, result in a gradual decrease in the actual earnings of the enginemen.

Belgians caused part of the audience to break into cheers.

On the motion of Miss Florence Holbrook of Chicago, the word "justice" was inserted in the resolution, which reads:

The Resolution.

"The international congress of women, of different nations, creeds, classes and parties, is united in expressing sympathy with the suffering of all, whatever their nationality, who are fighting for their country, or who are laboring under the burden of war. Since the mass of the people of each of the countries now warring believe themselves to be fighting, not aggressively, but in self-defense, and for their national existence, it urges the governments of the world to put an end to this bloodshed and to begin peace negotiations; and it emphatically demands that the peace which follows shall be permanent, and therefore based upon justice and principles which include these adopted by this congress."

Some time before the congress had been considerably upset by Mrs. Amy Lillingston of London, who declared:

"I was a suffragist and I remain a suffragist. I suffered in jail for it. I am just a plain English working woman, but I represent millions of women who favor the present just war as much as do the men. One hundred and eighty women are said to be waiting at Tilbury to come to this congress to talk peace. For every one of those a thousand English women are willing to accompany their sons and husbands to fight. We are tired of the century-old silly platitudes, such as are uttered here."

Ruled Out of Order.

Mrs. Lillingston insisted on continuing her speech until she was ruled out of order.

Elizabeth Glendower Evans of Boston and Rose Morgan French of San Francisco moved and seconded an amendment to the resolution referring to armaments. The amendment urged that all neutral nations immediately place an embargo on the export of arms and ammunition.

Miss Addams said:

"I am glad to agree with Miss Evans' indictment, as much of that has happened in America"—but she ruled that the amendment was out of order.

Miss Addams also was given an ovation for an eloquent speech in which she declared that the present war had evolved a wonderful national consciousness in the warring nations, but that war was too big a price to pay for such a national awakening. Politics, she said, was the only field where international unity did not prevail.

PLEADS FOR ABSTINENCE

aeroplane that drops its bomb from above and the submarine which shoots its torpedo from below are less to be feared than the schooner that crosses the bar."

Drink Leads to Idleness.

Mr. Bryan declared that drink led to idleness and that American business men were drawing the line more strictly against the use of alcohol by employes.

"Why?" he asked. "Because a clear brain and a steady nerve are required in every important avenue of industry and alcohol befuddles the brain and paralyzes the nerves.

"No employer cares to put business in the hands of a tippler; the man who drinks cannot safely be trusted with the care of life or property."

Total abstinence, he remarked, was a virtue even behind the bars.

Mr. Bryan said the amount spent annually for drink in the United States would build 100 macadam highways across the continent, and added:

"The amount now expended in paying the road to perdition would, if spent for good roads, soon lift the mud embargo from the entire country."

Mr. Bryan appealed to all "to take their positions as individuals on the side of total abstinence, for whatever difference of opinion may exist as to the relative merits of different legislative remedies, no one will deny that the total abstainer to the extent of his influence lessens the use of alcohol and by so doing both reduces the evils of intemperance and lightens the task of the legislator."

Hundreds Sign Pledges.

In an hour and a half after the meeting, Mr. Bryan sat at a small table on the rostrum and signed pledges of total abstinence with hundreds of people in the audience. He said if he was unable to meet the demands of the people present, he would spend Sunday signing and returning the cards if his hearers would forward them to him in Washington.

At the close of Secretary Bryan's address, William G. Bennett, a former congressman and chairman of the meeting, announced that among the distinguished persons at the meeting who signed a pledge card, thereby becoming a member of the union, was Dr. Booker T. Washington.

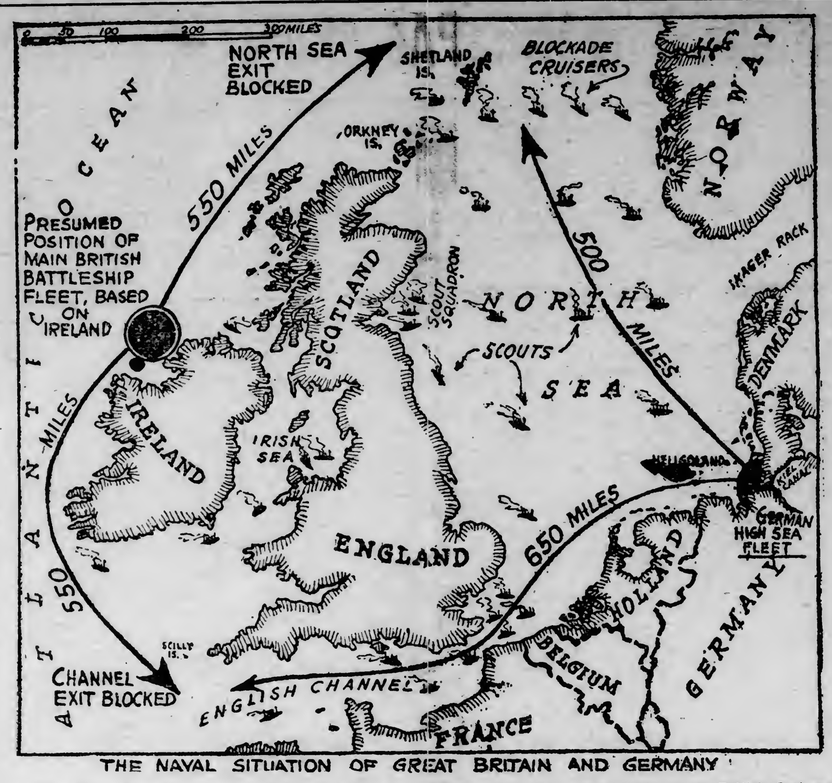
WHERE BRITISH ARE WATCHING FOR GERMAN FLEET



THE NAVAL SITUATION OF GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY

From the outset of the war the British have blocked the northern part of the North sea by a line of cruisers extending from the Orkneys to the Norwegian coast. The distance from the blockading line to the mouth of the Elbe, where the German high sea fleet is based, is approximately 500 miles. It was early thought that this distance would preclude submarine attack, and this has proved true, except in the case of the latest and more powerful of the German under sea vessels.

From the mouth of the Elbe to off Cherbourg, that is to say, a course through the Straits of Dover with the open Atlantic as an objective, would involve a steaming distance of about 550 miles. One hundred miles more would place a German fleet on the Atlantic ocean.

A glance at the chart will show that from a position on the northeast coast of Ireland a main British fleet would be midway, as it were, ready to block in force either the North sea or English channel exits. If the German high sea fleet is seriously determined to engage the main British force it will only be necessary, it is maintained, for the Germans to make an effort to reach blue water. Until such effort is made it is doubted if the British can be maneuvered out of position or coaxed into chasing a retreating force over mined areas.

NEW GERMAN OFFENSIVE MOVEMENTS DEVELOPING

ville, N. Y.—German military headquarters, under date of today, gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading:

"All attacks of the enemy on the west bank of the canal northwest of Ypres and on the east bank of the canal north of Ypres resulted in failure.

"The fortress of Dunkirk was shelled yesterday by German artillery.

"Three aviators of the enemy have been forced to land.

"An engagement near Szawle, in Russian Poland, resulted advantageously for the Germans. The Russians fled hastily after setting fire to the town. One thousand Russians were taken prisoners, and ten machine guns, a great amount of baggage and ammunition carts and a large quantity of ammunition were captured.

"Russian attacks east of Plock on the south bank of the Pilica river and at Kalwarya near the East Prussian frontier, north of Suwalki, have been repulsed. Three hundred and fifty Russians were taken prisoners.

"To the southwest of Augustowo a German vanguard company was surprised by the Russians and suffered heavy losses."

French Statement.

Paris, May 1, 2:45 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out the following official statement on the progress of hostilities:

"No change has been reported in the general situation on the front since the giving out of the official communication of last night.

"Ten more shells fell on Dunkirk during the evening of yesterday (Friday) and there were several victims."

Public Impressed.

London, May 1.—The British public has been greatly impressed by the German bombardment of Dunkirk, which it is believed in military circles here was intended to terrify the people.

ALLIES CUT OFF TURK TROOPS ON PENINSULA FROM THE MAINLAND

had been severe fighting for two days at Gallipoli.

The Constantinople official reports state that the Turks are making consistent headway in their attacks against the land and sea forces of the allies.

The situation in Flanders shows little change, although the French claim a further advance for the allies. The fifteen-inch shells with which the Germans yesterday bombarded Dunkirk, hurling them perhaps twenty miles from one of their huge guns, are said to have blasted in the ground craters in some instances forty-five feet in diameter. Ten more shells fell in Dunkirk last night, killing or injuring several persons.

Fighting continues all along the extended Russian front. Chief interest now attaches to the new German movement in the north, aimed apparently at the Baltic provinces of Russia. Little is known concerning this movement, however, beyond the German announcement of yesterday that they had penetrated more than 100 miles from the Prussian frontier.

Minor Battles in Poland.

Several minor battles in Russian Poland, resulting for the most part to the advantage of the Germans, are reported in the official communication from Berlin today. In one of them near the Prussian border in the vicinity of Suwalki, it is said 1,000 Russians were captured. In another engagement a German reverse is conceded.

The German and French statements show no changes in France or Belgium. The Berlin announcement says all attacks yesterday of the allies against the German positions on the canal north of Ypres, Belgium were repulsed.

A Russian steamer is reported to have been sunk off the west coast of Ireland by a German submarine. It is reported the crew was saved.

A dispatch from Constantinople by way of Berlin adds the British battleship Vengeance to the list of allied warships said by the Turks to have been damaged in the attack on the Dardanelles.

French Expelled.

Berlin, May 1, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—Included in the news items given out today by the Overseas News agency is the following dispatch dated Constantinople:

"The French soldiers who landed on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles all have been expelled. The Gallipoli peninsula also has been cleared of the invaders except at Gaba Tepeh point, where the landing detachment under cover of the guns of the warships, is tenaciously maintaining its position on the coast.

"A terrific bombardment by the allied fleet April 27-28 killed or wounded a few Turkish officers and soldiers while the allies lost several thousand in dead and wounded.

"In addition to the French armored cruiser Jeanne d'Arc, the British battleships Majestic, Triumph and Vengeance were partly set on fire. Aided by tenders, they slowly returned to the island of Tenedos. They were severely damaged. Several transports and destroyers also were sunk."

STALLED MOTOR CAUSED CAPTURE

Engine of Garros' Machine Was Evidently Hit By Bullet.

Milan, via Paris, May 1.—A motor which stalled suddenly while he was 2,000 feet in the air was responsible for the capture by the Germans of Roland Garros, the famous French aviator, according to an account of the incident given the Kriegs Zeitung of the Fourth Germany army and reproduced in the Corriere Della Serra here.

Garros was flying over the Inglemunster-Courtrai railroad when a train passed. He made a wonderful sweeping from a height of 6,000 feet until he was 120 feet from the ground, describing a series of daring circles over the train. When sentries opened fire upon him at a close range he dropped another bomb and rose to a height of 2,000 feet.

Suddenly the motor stopped and the aeroplane swayed dangerously, but Garros volplaned safely down and made a successful landing. He sprang out, set fire to the machine and took refuge in a cottage. Pursuing soldiers found him after a long search crouching in a ditch behind a thick hedge. Asked if he had a companion, Garros gave his word that he had not. He explained that his engine probably had been struck by a bullet.

LASSO PROVED MORE EFFECTIVE

Insane Man Captured By Wild West Methods After Gas Failed.

Paris, May 1. — Asphyxiating gas, which has been used with considerable success along the battle line, failed to assist the authorities materially in their efforts to capture Jean Boutet an insane workman who attempted to kill his wife and then barricaded himself in the cellar of his home at St. Ouen, a town on the outskirts of Paris. A lasso and the adoption of "Wild West" methods proved more effective, however.

Efforts of the police to drive Boutet out of the cellar were futile and an appeal was made to Paris firemen, who were sent from that city with the director of the city laboratory and a supply of the gas, which was pumped into the cellar. One fireman equipped with a smoke helmet entered and tried to seize the mad man, but soon crawled out half suffocated and without his helmet, which Boutet had pulled off. After a somewhat prolonged siege the workman was lassoed and carried off to an asylum.

PRESIDENT ON WAY TO CHRISTENING

Executive Spends Three Hours in New York En Route to Williamstown.

New York, May 1.—President Wilson spent nearly three hours here this morning on his way to Williamstown, Mass., to attend the christening of his grandson, Francis Sayre. He was joined here by Miss Margaret Wilson, his daughter, who has been spending several days in New York. Others in the party were Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the president's naval aide and physician, and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, his cousin.

While the president's train was passing through West Philadelphia early this morning the air brake on the engine jammed and the train came to a sudden stop. Several panes of glass were broken and a water bottle in the president's car fell to the floor with a crash. Everyone on the train was shaken up, but no serious damage was done. The president will arrive in Williamstown at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

GENERAL SUFFRAGE DAY CELEBRATION

Two Hundred Meetings Held By Woman Suffragists in New York.

New York, May 1.—As a part of the general suffrage day celebration throughout the country today more than 200 meetings under the auspices of the woman suffrage party were planned in this city. Other organizations took part in celebrating the day. The exercises were preceeded by an automobile parade through Fifth avenue carrying speakers who scattered to various parts of the city where mass meetings had been arranged. A girl orchestra was assigned to lead the procession and to give a concert in Central park, where Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and others spoke. Simultaneously a suffrage parade with banners in eight languages was arranged to start from Rutgers square and march through the East Side. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and many other suffragists intended to address meetings tonight.

COUNSEL PREPARE FOR NEXT WEEK

Attorneys for Barnes and Roosevelt Arranging New Evidence.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 1.—Counsel for both William Barnes and Theodore Roosevelt were engaged today in preparing evidence for presentation in the supreme court here next week, when the trial of Mr. Barnes' $50,000 suit for libel is resumed.

At the opening of court Monday, Michael Dolan, general manager of the Argus company of Albany, will be questioned further about the printing situation in the state capital. Other witnesses also will tell about printing. The consensus of opinion among attorneys connected with both sides of the case today seemed to be that unless plans miscarry, it would be possible to complete the presentation of testimony before some time week after next. Counsel for Col. Roosevelt said they would not be able to rest the defense before Thursday.

Charles H. Duell, Jr., to whom Governor Charles S. Whitman, when district attorney of New York, wrote about corrupt conditions, and who was ordered from the courtroom yesterday for applauding the testimony of Frederick M. Davenport, a former state senator and Progressive candidate for governor last year, denied that he was under subpoena as a witness. Mr. Duell became enthusiastic when Mr. Davenport testified about describing Mr. Barnes as a "political Nero," who was fiddling just outside the portals of the senate chamber while "Rome burned."

EMERGENCY ACT BLOCKED

Commissioner Merritt Refuses to Sanction Speedy Jitney Legislation.

Scope of Proposed Ordinance Will Be Made Broader.

Commissioner Merritt, head of the public utilities division, blocked an attempt to pass an emergency jitney ordinance yesterday afternoon and as a result the measure will be introduced Monday evening and will go through the regular course of three readings before its passage.

"I am opposed to too rigid regulation of jitneys," declared Commissioner Merritt yesterday, "and do not believe that such a measure ought to be rushed through without the formal readings and proper public discussion. I am in favor of bonding the owners of jitneys, but would also like to see other traffic regulations included."

Special Meeting Abandoned.

In view of his objection to an emergency measure and the presence of a number of jitney drivers in the council chamber yesterday afternoon, the other commissioners decided to introduce the ordinance at the regular meeting Monday evening and to have the three readings before it is finally voted on. An emergency ordinance requires the unanimous vote of the council before it can be passed and as Mr. Merritt was opposed to it, the special meeting scheduled for 4 o'clock was not called.

May Make It Broader.

As a result, Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, plans to go over the ordinance between now and Monday and may make some changes in the measure. It has been suggested that the ordinance be changed to a general traffic code and this matter may be taken up by the council before the meeting hour Monday night.

The ordinance, as it was prepared for the special meeting yesterday, provides for jitney licenses costing $20 a year, a bond of $5,000 for a death and another of $10,000 for injuries resulting from an accident; and a number of traffic regulations, as published in The Herald last evening.

If the ordinance is introduced Monday, it will take three readings before it can be passed and a subsequent period of thirty days before it goes into effect. This means that it will be the middle of June before jitneys can be regulated by law.

"Y" BOYS MOVING INTO NEW QUARTERS

Round of Activities Will Begin Monday; Program Outlined.

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has been closed during the week while being moved into the new quarters at the Central Y. M. C. A. building, where the members will be housed until the new building is erected. Workmen have been busy all week getting everything in readiness for the opening Monday.

The auditorium has been converted into a clubroom and presents a handsome appearance. The club has received a gift of a phonograph from W. J. Olcott. The billiard room has been converted into a Dutch kitchen and will be used as a private clubroom and dining room. Another feature of the new quarters will be that the swimming will take place after the regular gymnasium class. The following schedule will go into effect Monday and will continue until the closing of school. At that time a special summer schedule will go into effect.

The clubrooms will be open every day from 9 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. The high school students' gymnasium and swimming class will meet Tuesday and Friday, 3:15, with a special swimming period Wednesday at 3:15. High school students who cannot come in the afternoon can come at night. The night class will be Tuesday and Friday evening at 7 o'clock; intermediates, Wednesday at 4:15; Saturday morning, 10:15, with a special swimming period Monday at 4:15; juniors, Saturday morning, 9 o'clock. Boys who want special swimming lessons can get them Mondays at 4:45. Friday night will be popular social nights and Saturday afternoon there will be a special outdoor trip.

BEAUTIFUL DESIGN IN BRICK AND STUCCO

The design presented to our readers this week is one that is both fireproof and attractive, being constructed of Dennison Load Bearing Tile veneered with brick. It is what might be termed a semi-bungalow type, having one bedroom on the first floor and two on the second. The interior of the building is well arranged and would make a very practical home for a small family. The building would cost to erect in the city of Duluth about $3,500.

IT'S ONLY A NICKEL.

If you had fifty thousand dollars and you could put that money out at five per cent interest, where you knew it was an absolutely safe investment, with the returns a certainty, you'd be tickled to death at the chance. That fifty thousand would then earn you twenty-five hundred dollars every year—and there are a lot of families that live on a good deal less than twenty-five hundred a year.

Now what actually happens is that every one of those fifty thousand dollars is earning you five cents—a nickel—every year.

EVERY TIME YOU SPEND A NICKEL, YOU SPEND A WHOLE YEAR'S WORK OF ONE DOLLAR. Did you ever think of that?

The proceeds of a whole year's work blown in for a drink or a smoke, or a package of gum or a bit of candy—spent, perhaps, without any particular thought because "it's only a nickel."

How big does a dollar look to you? Do you realize that it only takes twenty nickels to make one? You wouldn't think of virtually throwing away twenty nickels, or even ten nickels. But maybe you aren't half so careful about throwing away one nickel every day for ten or twenty days.

And when you have wasted twenty of them, just stop and think that it would take twenty dollars a whole year to make up to you what you have got rid of so carelessly. It would take more than seven thousand dollars to earn in one day those twenty nickels that you disposed of in twenty days without even thinking about it.

Think what it costs to run a street car system like the one in Duluth. The amount runs up into the millions. AND IT ALL COMES FROM NICKELS.

A friend who walks to work every morning, though others, living no farther away, always ride, maintains that he earns as much in half an hour every morning as a dollar earns in a whole year. He might carry the thing out still farther and say that in three hundred mornings of walkiny to work he earns the annual income of three hundred dollars, wisely invested; and if he also walks home at night, he makes his fresh air earnings equal to what he would get from an investment of six hundred dollars.

There are many other combinations—all impressive—that can be worked out. Try it some time when you've the leisure to do it.

But meantime don't forget that even a nickel is a pretty powerful sum, when you begin to reckon it in terms of dollars.

Hereafter there can be no question but that T. R. would willingly see all political bosses shipped up the River of Doubt.

YOU DON'T NEED TO WAIT.

Once upon a time there was a city block taken up with homes of live, enterprising people. When the spring of the year came around these people all agreed that by a little effort they could make that block the best looking of any in town, so they agreed to make the effort. Just as a matter of form they decided to name a certain week as the time when they should all do that work, but there was a good deal of it to do and several of the people got action in advance of the specified time.

But Smith wasn't that kind. He said they'd agreed to do the work in one certain week, and that week would be time enough to do it. So he leaned over the fence and smoked and talked to Jones and Brown and Robinson and the rest while they were pottering around, and congratulated himself on living in a locality where folks were so enterprising.

After a while the designated week arrived, and with it came a spell of rain. It rained Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday and Wednesday night, but on Thursday it let up a little. Thursday evening Smith got the first chance he had had that week to work around the yard, and he went to it and worked hard. There was so much to do that he even borrowed Jackson's lantern so he could keep it up in the evening, and the lantern attracted the first few mosquitos of the season and they bit Smith.

Still, he made a good showing on the part of the yard he worked in, and figured that by putting in Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening he could finish it all up. But Friday evening some folks from the other side of town came to call, and Saturday afternoon it began to rain again. And Sunday found Smith's yard not half straightened up, but with those on each side of it looking spick and span.

There was another diffrence, too, for in those other yards the rain had given the grass a good start and it was nice and green, while in Smith's yard there had been no stirring of the surface with a rake and no chance to sow seed, and in fact the place looked pretty neglected

The moral of which is that you don't have to wait for clean-up week to get here before you begin work. Do some of it now, and then if it rains in that week you'll have beaten the weather, and if it doesn't rain you'll be that much to the good anyway.

Nearer and nearer comes the question: Will T. R. write a book about the case?

CHIEF TROYER'S RESIGNATION.

We congratulate Fargo. One man's loss is often another man's gain, and the rule applies to communities as well as to individuals. Duluth in the present instance is the loser and Fargo the gainer, for it is to the advantage of any city to secure the services as head of its police department of a man like Chief Troyer.

For twenty-four years Chauncey H. Troyer has been a member of the Duluth police force, first as patrolman, then as detective, and finally, ever since 1902, as chief. In all that time his record has been one of honest, earnest, consistent service under the orders of those who were entitled to give him orders.

Under city administrations that favored policies that are commonly called "liberal," Chief Troyer did his best to keep the city in order and to make its streets safe for travel by anybody, at any time. When the administration favored more strict regulation, Chief Troyer proved his qualifications for office by making the lid fit and fit closely and continuously. In the detection of criminals he has also attained a high reputation.

In all the time he has been connected with the police department, he has never been the subject of even a suspicion of graft or unfair dealing either with the city or its people. That he has made enemies during his incumbency is a matter of course. No man can hold such a position and not make enemies, particularly if he is as faithful in his duties as Chief Troyer has been. But not a breath of suspicion or taint has attached to him personally or to his administration of police department affairs. His is a record that any official could be proud to have made.

Duluth is the loser by the chief's resignation, whatever the reason that prompted his action. Not that the loss is irreparable, for there are good and capable men who can be considered in choosing his successor, and whoever becomes chief will find ready to hand an efficient and trained department that will be invaluable to him in beginning his own administration.

Meanwhile Chief Troyer's friends—and they include thousands of citizens whom the chief does not know even by sight—will rejoice in his success in securing a continued benefit from his services to this city, and will wish him even as great success in his new field as he achieved during his term of office in Duluth.

'Long about this time o' year it is appropriate to recall those good old lines, "If you're waking, call me early; call me early, mother dear."

THAT WAR SUPPLIES SUIT.

It is impossible to get up much enthusiasm over that action brought in Milwaukee to secure an injunction against the manufacture and sale of war supplies to the belligerent powers by American concerns. War is deplorable at any time, and this one more so, it seems, than any other. But it is not our war; we have no part in it; we could not influence either its ferocity, barbarity or length by refusing to sell supplies to the nations engaged, and if we refused to do so now we would be committing a serious and all but unpardonable breach of neutrality.

Failure of ammunition would not stop the war. There would simply be a lull and then it would break out as fiercely as ever. Or if it be argued that our refusal to allow the allies to buy from us would keep them from keeping up their end, that very argument also says that by that refusal we should be giving the other side decisive aid. And we are not in the business of giving aid to either side. Our markets are open to any who will come to buy in them, and they should remain so.

But there is one thing about that application for an injunction that may not be wasted, and that is the plain, blunt, unvarnished language in which it describes war. All the efforts of rhetorical experts to emphasize the cold-bloodedness and the barbarity of war could not surpass these formal, matter-of-fact words:

> One type of ammunition indispensable to the belligerents is a projectile known as a shrapnel shell, designed for but one purpose, the destruction of human life and property, and * * * the intent of the war now being conducted * * * is to cripple the said empire by the destruction of the lives of the citizens and its property, both public and private.

There never was a clearer, more emphatic statement of the intent of war. It is to accomplish the one purpose of destruction, and that by means of the destruction of life and property. Viewed in that light, what becomes of the idea of glory and magnificence in war? It shrinks and shrinks until it drops off into absolute nothingness.

The war supplies suit may not accomplish its object. It probably will not accomplish the object for which it was instituted. But it will not have been vain if it helps bring home to Americans some realization of the truth about war.

Queer that we care less what Huerta does right here in our own country than we did when he was over the border.

A VANISHING SENSATION.

It begins to look very much as if the much-exploited "twilight sleep" method of bringing children into the world is about to be relegated to the twilight of disuse, if not of actual oblivion.

Certain magazines have paid much attention to the Freiburg treatment, and some almost hysterical praises of it and its possibilities have been put before the public. That many women have been misled by these accounts is not to be denied. It is to be hoped that those who have been so active in spreading the false doctrine will be equally ready to stop its spread.

Last and perhaps most impressive of the many discrediting actions and statements regarding the "twilight sleep" is the discontinuance of its use in the New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital and the City hospital on Blackwell's Island. In a statement in the New York World, Dr. George P. Shears, chief of the visiting staff of the wards of the Polyclinic where this was practiced, used these words:

> It is neither necessary nor safe, and it involves distinct danger to the child—a danger that cannot be disregarded. It is universally admitted that it is dangerous to give opium to a new-born baby, yet people want to give it through the mother—enough of it so that the baby will not breathe till five minutes after birth. * * *
> There have been many blue babies under twilight sleep. The treatment is distinctly dangerous to the child, as usually carried out.

Dr. Franklin A. Dorman, who visits the maternity wards at the New York City hospital, also expressed opposition to the "twilight sleep" process, and in explaining its discontinuance at that institution said:

> The disadvantages of twilight sleep outweigh the advantages, in my judgment. There is an extremely limited field where the treatment may be useful. That is the attitude, I think, of all the conservative men I know in the profession.

Dr. Dorman cites the claim that the "twilight sleep" takes the strain off the mother, and asks:

> If that is so, how does it happen that a mother may show great excitement or even dementia under the treatment?

Another interesting statement is that of Dr. Menas S. Gregory, alienist at Bellevue hospital and in charge of the insane patients there. He said:

> Seven cases of women have come under my observation at this institution where their mental trouble was directly due to the twilight sleep treatment. The mental condition of these seven patients was not permanent. Some of them recovered in a few days, others in a few weeks; with some the trouble lasted even longer.

Dr. Gregory also explained that hyocine and scopolamine, used to bring about the "twilight sleep," were formerly used to put the violently insane to sleep, but the after-effects were found to be bad.

Then there is a statement by Dr. Ralph Waldo of the Lebanon hospital, in the Bronx, as follows:

> The drug shows no permanent effect on the baby provided the baby lives. That's the trouble—a twilight sleep baby may die before it gets a chance to live. * * * Anyone who has worked as we have for half an hour over a twilight sleep babe to make it breathe will realize the anxieties and difficulties of the treatment. * * * TWILIGHT SLEEP DOESN'T KILL THE PAIN. THE WOMEN SUFFER PAIN AND THEY ARE CONSCIOUS OF IT AT THE TIME, but the drugs destroy their remembrance of the pain.

And so with one after another of the physicians who have used it or seen it used extensively. A few New York hospital doctors still use it "in special cases," but it is discouraged except in hospital cases, and care is taken in the selection of the patients with whom it is used.

Cincinnati, Cleveland, Washington, Baltimore (Johns Hopkins), San Francisco and St. Louis physicians are quoted by the World in its article on the "twilight sleep," and in almost every instance the expression is the same—that the drugs are too dangerous to use ordinarily.

There are cases, of course, in which the "twilight sleep" has caused no injury. But it is exceedingly significant that its use has been abandoned in so many and such well established institutions.

Anyway nobody ever accused Taft of being a boss.

ONE CITY'S COMEBACK.

It is customary to look for some attempt at a "comeback" when one individual feels that he has been or is being imposed upon by another. The spirit and practice may both be contrary to the highest ethical principles, but they exist just the same. With cities it is different. Their people may fume and fret, but how often is there really anything that is entitled to the name of a "comeback?"

Yet Baldwin, Long Island, has achieved that end, and as a result is getting a goodly bit of notoriety. It was all on account of Baldwin's railway station, which was conceded by everybody to be a disgrace to the town. It was criticized at public meetings, laughed at by the cynical, joked about on the stage, and was in fact a byword and a reproach.

In vain the city authorities and other bodies appealed to the railway company to fix the place up. The refusal was always the same in effect, whether it was made directly or indirectly; whether it came as a rebuff or in the shape of a sugar-coated pill. It was always a refusal, and the city got discouraged.

Then came the stroke of genius, and as a result a huge sign, visible from every train that pulled through the place, was erected, and on it was presented to all who read it a request not to judge Baldwin by the dilapidated shack of a depot, but to judge the railroad by its own property.

Rather a neat coup, and readily applicable to Baldwin's case. But as the New York Times points out, there are many places in the country that are quite as sorely depressed over the appearance of the local depot as Baldwin, but where there is no evidence of civic pride in the other structures in the city to justify any such plan as that adopted by the Long Island town. Then there are others in which the railway station is in fact the best building in town, and in which the company might be justified in erecting a sign asking readers not to judge the town by the excellence of the station.

But granting all possible leeway to the exceptions, Baldwin's move is interesting, and shows that where there's a civic will there is quite as apt to be a way as when that will is purely individual.

Where are those straw hats?

IT NEEDS NO SAGE.

It needs no sage to point out to the American people the credit due the Wilson administration for the present position of the United States in world affairs. The man who keeps ordinary track of day to day events knows something of the debt we owe to the president, even though he may not be able to appreciate all it has meant to maintain the nation's affairs on a sane and steady basis.

So Secretary Redfield may be pardoned if, in his recent speech upholding the administration, he used some rather pointed language regarding those who have been trying to traduce the administration's efforts and their results. The attacks to which he referred are of much the same character as are those of any ingrate who seeks to defame the friend whose forethought and assistance have made his own position possible.

Look back to the beginning of the present struggle in Europe and see in how many different occurrences there was a chance of international complications—nay, a certainty of them, if the government at Washington had for one moment "lost its head." There was the violation of Belgium's neutrality at the very outset, over which some persons less well balanced mentally than the president would have had us make vigorous protest, even to the point of armed intervention, though our treaty relations with all the civilized nations all but prohibited such action on our part.

There was the difficulty with Great Britain over the questions of contraband; there was the difficulty with Germany over the use of the wireless stations; there have been questions regarding seizure of ships by the allies and even the sinking of an American ship by the Germans; there have been the various critical periods in our diplomatic affairs with one or another party to the war. And in all these crises the government at Washington has so conducted itself as to maintain not only peace but an honorable peace, and to strengthen the position of our own country in the world.

Domestic affairs have furnished still more opportunities for an ill-considered action to hurl the whole country into the most distressing of conditions. There never was a better opening for widespread financial disaster than that which came to the United States last fall. Customary channels of commerce were blocked; financial relations with foreign countries became of the most abnormal character; ordinary sources of information on all sorts of important matters were suddenly stopped, and even that much-watched indicator, "Wall Street," got such a thorough scare that it closed down the lid and retired from sight for nearly half a year.

How much would it have taken, in those days, to have precipitated this whole country into the worst, the most disastrous, the most terrible financial and industrial panic that any nation ever endured? There was depression, to be sure; but how much of an error, how much of a lack of caution, how much of a relaxation of the utmost vigilance would it have needed to change that depression into a raging madness of financial and commercial terror?

Very little would have done just that—so little that in looking back over that period it seems almost incredible that that little did not occur. And yet, through it all, the government at Washington conducted public affairs so clearly and so competently, maintained the national credit so perfectly and gave such sound basis for confidence, that we not only weathered the storm, but have come out of it stronger in confidence in our power for the future.

And yet there are political pilferers who are trying to make people believe that all this effort and all this accomplishment was "in spite of" the Wilson administration instead of the result of that body's work. It needs no sage to point out to the American people the truth in the matter. No thoughtful, honest man who will consider carefully the incidents of the last year and the present position and condition of this country, can be deceived by these tricksters.

If Wisconsin really bans tipping, will Pullman porters employed in that state get more pay from the company?

A NATIONAL PROBLEM.

The regulation of the Mississippi river is a national problem. No one state or group of states can or should be expected to undertake the task of keeping the stream within bounds, and yet it is absolutely necessary that some means be adopted to accomplish that purpose. Year after year has seen tremendous damage done by the breaking of the levees on the southern portion of the river, and until some great, definite and scientific effort is made, the territory affected will be liable to still more of the same kind of waste of life and property.

A nation-wide appeal for help is being issued by the Mississippi River Levee association, which describes itself as "an organization whose purpose is to induce congress to enact into law the platform pledges of the three political parties regarding the prevention of floods of the Mississippi river." Those pledges were for the use of Federal funds and the knowledge and experience of Federal engineers to curb the great river.

There ought to be no difficulty in getting action in the next congress on this question. The last congress was occupied with the initial problems of the new administration. Now the way should be clear for the consideration of the needs of these southern communities, which for their high productive qualities are too valuable to be left at the mercy of the recurrent floods.

The campaign of the Mississippi River Levee association is bound to meet with encouragement from all sides, for its campaign is one that cannot but appeal to the whole country, and what it asks is no more than just.

Just think! There are some states where the legislatures still are in session.

Cultivate the Brain

Oregon Journal: The trouble with our brains, says Charlotte Perkins Gilman, is that we do not use them.

Only a very small portion of the mind is ever cultivated. About three-fifths of it lies fallow. When one stops to think that the two-fifths used is chiefly given over to envy, fear, worry, hate and remorse, there is wonder that anything is ever accomplished.

A well-known essayist has said:

"As you wander through your mental pleasure grounds, whenever you come upon an ugly intruder of a thought which might blossom into poisonous emotion, there is only one way to treat it. Pull it up like a weed, drop it on the rubbish heap as if it were a stinging nettle and let some harmonious thought grow in its place."

And it is true.

Spring Twilight.

Singing in the rain, robin?
Rippling out so fast
All thy flute-like notes, as if
This singing were thy last!

After sundown, too, robin?
Though the fields are dim,
And the trees grow dark and still,
Dripping from leaf and limb.

'Tis heart-broken music—
That sweet, faltering strain,—
Like a mingled memory,
Half ecstacy, half pain.

Surely thus to sing, robin,
Thou must have in sight
Beautiful skies beyond the shower,
And dawn beyond the night.

Would thy faith were mine, robin!
Then, though night were long,
All its silent hours should melt
Their sorrow into song.

Seeing America First

By Frod C. Kelly.

From Diary:

When about to hire an automobile in almost any big Western city one may have a great deal of quiet fun in the following manner:

Go to the hotel desk and inquire the cost of automobiles. The clerk will pleasantly offer to get you a car for $4 an hour. Then stroll out of your hotel across the street and you will find plenty of high-grade machines to be hired for $2 an hour—just as good machines and just as good drivers as those for which the hotel would have asked twice that sum. But you must be sure to go and inquire for the auto rates at the hotel desk first—else you will not appreciate the bargain you may find immediately in front of the hotel.

Then, besides the touring cars to be chartered at such reasonable rates, there are the jingling, jolly jitneys. In San Francisco the jitney car seems to have risen to the height of its usefulness. There are so many jitneys in service that it is not necessary to wait any longer than one would for a street car.

One afternoon I was starting down toward my hotel from one of the exposition exits. A taxicab man asked me $1.60 to take me down—about a fifteen-minute ride. I thought it too much, but he said he would lose money if he did it for less. Just then a jitney man came along in a neat, inoffensive, little, cleanly-washed car and offered to haul me right to my hotel door for a dime. Inasmuch as the other man would have lost money at any price less than $1.60, I felt guilty over riding for 10 cents, but the jitney operator assured me it was perfectly all right.

"If I could just keep my car filled," he told me, "I would make a lot of money. And I have no complaint as it is. For the last two months, besides my regular fixed expenses, which includes an allowance for depreciation of tires and the car itself, I have been putting $60 away in the bank each month. And I have allowed myself a living wage for driving the car."

This man also told me that he had an early morning route to call at homes of hard-working mechanics to take them to their work. They paid him a fixed sum by the week to call for them in the morning, and by doing so they were able not only to get a breath of fresh air before going to work, but could sleep a quarter of an hour longer and could avoid the personal discomfort of starting off the day with a stand-up ride in a crowded street car.

I imagine these men will easily increase their earning capacity enough, by their comfortable work, to more than overcome the slightly increased cost of transportation.

A young man, evidently a scion of one of the first families, sat in a costly new Fierce-Sparrow car which stood by the curb as he waited for his parents. There was a great deal of hauteur engraved on his features for one so young. A pedestrian noted this and walked up to the young man.

"Rudolph," said he, in a patronizing tone, "will you haul me out to the fair for a dime, or is your car engaged?"

"This is no jitney!" exclaimed the horror-struck youth.

"Oh, it's engaged, hey?" went on the joker, pretending not to understand. "Well, here's a penny, anyhow, just for luck. Take it home to your wife and little ones."

And the youngster was too busy gasping his surprise to refuse.

Another beauty of the jitneys is the opportunity they afford the lonely passenger to enlarge his acquaintance. In a street car one rarely talks to the stranger at one's side. But in a jitney every passenger talks to every other passenger. The novelty of the thing makes conversation. A great many romances are being hatched in jitneys. Scenario writers will derive more profit from the little cars than the proprietors themselves.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlivan, the Sunshine Man.

Unsoiled by human hands, all pure and white,
On mountain summits lie the wreaths of snow;
But, in the valley, toiling to and fro,
In summer's fiercest glare of heat and light,
Are thirsting men, to whom the snow-crowns bright
Would be but taunts, if, 'neath the ardent glow,
They melted not to gushing streams which flow
To cool and comfort every tired wight,
Like mountain snow, the purest life would seem
But useless, distant, mocking with its gleam
Our thirsting hearts, if—never touched by love
Unglorified by that all-potent light—
It sent no draught of comfort from above
To strengthen those below its shining height.

—Mary T. Earle.

What cares the child when the mother rocks it, though all storms beat without? So we, if God doth shield and tend us, shall be heedless of the tempests and blasts of life, blow they never so rudely.

—Henry Ward Beecher.

I never knew, before, the world
So beautiful could be
As I have found it since I learned
All care to cast on Thee;
The scales have fallen from mine eyes,
And now the light I see.

I never knew how very dear
My fellowmen could be Until I learned to help them with
A ready sympathy;
Their inner lives have made me know
A broader charity.

I never knew how little things
As greater ones could be,
When sanctified by love for One
Who doth each effort see;
But now a daily round of care
May win a victory.

I never knew; and still, dear Lord,
As through a glass I see,
And perfect light can only come
When I shall dwell with Thee;
When, in Thy likeness, I awake,
For all eternity.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Spring Days.

I doubt whether even the sourest pessimist wholly misses the appeal of spring. There is a charm about this season that none can escape. The veriest clodhopper becomes something of a poet and sends in sonnets to the editor. Who can blame him? If autumn stands for thoughtful melancholy, spring stands for exuberance and hope and cheer. That man may be still alive but he is at least getting ready for the undertaker who can gaze unmoved on the faint green film flung like a delicate coloring of woodland flowers, on the fields growing vivid in the sunlight.

The words of Lowell in his "Vision of Sir Launfal" are so beautiful and so true, withal, of May as well as June that today they must be quoted.

Now is the high-tide of the year
And whatever of life hath ebbed away
Comes flooding back with a ripply cheer
Into every bare inlet and creek and bay;
Now the heart is so full that a drop overfills it,
We are happy now because God wills it;
No matter now barren the past may have been,
'Tis enough for us now that the leaves are green
We sit in the warm shade and feel right well
How the sap creeps up and the blossoms swell;
We may shut our eyes but we cannot help knowing
That skies are clear and grass is growing;
Joy comes, grief goes, we know not how;
Everything is happy now,
Everything is upward striving;
'Tis as easy now for the heart to be true
As for grass to be green or skies to be blue—
'Tis the natural way of living.

This yearly renewal of life cannot be lost on anyone of thoughtful mind. There is more to be observed than swelling buds and freshening landscapes

To him who in the love of Nature holds
Communion with her visible forms
She speaks a various language.

She speaks of power. Who can view all this order and design without conviction of a mighty Worker behind it? Who can observe all this evidence of thought without conceding the presence of a Supreme Thinker? The commonest phenomena of nature are wrapped in mystery. Study a single leaf or a single blade of grass. How can earth and air and water combine to produce the wondrous thing? The science of the world can only hint at the answer.

Nature in the spring time speaks of spiritual renewal. That which goes on in the world natural is a parable of what goes on in the souls of men. A few weeks ago the earth was frost-bound. The fields now bursting into bloom were hard and barren. The warm breath of spring is the miracle worker. And not otherwise the breath of God's spirit wakes to new life the hearts dead in trespasses and sins. It is the old yet ever new miracle of grace that helps us to believe that things are not always as bad as they seem and that there is a better day coming for ourselves and for the world.

As a prophecy of something yet to be, spring speaks of immortality. It is a time, not of fulfillment, but of immense promise. Not yet do we see the golden sheaves of grain, nor the red apples on the trees. The coming harvest is only foreshadowed. Is it not so as regards our human careers. "Beloved now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be." Our present state is prophetic. We are made for something better than is now apparent. These years are the spring time of humanity. We come to perfect flower and fruitage in the experiences of a world that lies beyond.

NELSON W. ALDRICH

By SAVOYARD

Washington, May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—This man who died the other day exercised more influence over legislation than any other man who ever sat in either house of the American congress. He earned the title, "General Manager of the United States." He made three complete tariff laws and queered another. He was the autocrat of the American senate for a quarter of a century. So far as shaping the economic policy of the government is concerned, Nelson W. Aldrich was more powerful than Presidents Cleveland, McKinley, Harrison, McKinley and Roosevelt all combined.

He was not a great man intellectually, but his was a vigorous mind. He had no culture from books. Compared with John Sharp Williams or Henry Cabot Lodge he was densely ignorant. If we judge his information by his public utterances it is doubtful if he knew whether Edward III or William III first wore the English purple. Perhaps there never was a speech delivered in any political body that surpasses Burke's on the "Nabob of Arcot's Debts." It would have been dull reading to Mr. Aldrich. He had no imagination and he had no sense of humor and so he was not a great man, however powerful he was. If it had been possible for him to read Dean Swift—and it was not—he would have pronounced it drivel, though it ranks with the finest literature the mind of man has produced. It is doubtful if he enjoyed the finest thrust John J. Ingalls ever gave in debate, for he could not understand it, any more than he would appreciate the stroke of a club of Hercules as delivered by Ben Hill against Kellogg in the senate soon after Aldrich took his seat in that body.

Aldrich, who wielded a greater influence on the American congress than Clay, Calhoun, Webster, Douglas, Conkling and Blaine combined, was far from being a genius. His strength consisted of this—he was a man of considerable talent, strong will, and admirable tact. If he propelled himself through affairs like a cannon ball, he also, with even more facility, could glide through them like a pestilence.

Like his political party, he cared for but one thing—success. He was not a bad man, but it would have been better for his country had he been a rascal, for then his influence would have been small. He was practical in all things. His demeanor was never offensive and he would have been president had he coveted the office, but he had no taste for the center of the stage. He loved power as greedily as Roosevelt, but he was without Roosevelt's vanity and preferred to rule from behind the throne rather than from the throne itself.

Aldrich was a man of a single idea, and it was this—confer privilege on the rich, and the rich will take care of the poor. That is Aldrichism. Woodrow Wilson's idea is to give equal opportunity to all men and the poor will take care of themselves. Those are the two irreconcilable forces that will battle for the political supremacy in this country in 1916. The question is liberty for all as opposed to prerogative for a few.

There is nothing new in the idea of Aldrich. It is nothing but the feudal system. In an elder day when Warwick was the king-maker of England, or when Montmorency was the constable of France, they obtained power by the sword and exercised special privilege as feudal barons. In our country it was the mission of Aldrichism to create feudal barons maintained by the purse—allow Rockefeller to accumulate a billion and he will give employment to tens of thousands. Warwick fed at his own tables daily 40,000 retainers. Where did he get the money? By robbery. How did Rockefeller get his billion? By extortion. The exactions of the usurer and the oppressions of the forestaller may be more respectable than theft, and they are even more ignoble.

But power slipped from the hand of Aldrich and then he left the senate. Insurgency in the Republican party drove him to private life. His last victory wrought his downfall. A Republican senator, Jonathan P. Dolliver, in the debate on Schedule K of the tariff of 1909 made it plain to the most stupid senator that the master of the senate was made of clay, that he was fallible, that he was mortal. Aldrich then saw that his supremacy had vanished and constituted as he was he preferred not to play the game of statecraft at all unless he could command the result, and so he left the senate.

It was meet that Dolliver should be the champion to slay the giant Gath. And thereby hangs a tale. You recollect that after his triumphant election in 1904 Teddy announced a grand octopus chase and the Fifty-ninth congress was the pack set to the sport. Steve Elkins' committee cut out the work after elaborate hearings. Dolliver was a member of the committee—interstate commerce—and enthusiastic in the chase. A bill was cooked up, rather drastic, and Elkins, the chairman, declined to report it. Everybody expected that Dolliver would be chosen to that honor, when, lo and behold! the chase was handed over to Ben Tillman, a vile and reprobate Democrat, to conduct. Dolliver knew from whose quiver that shaft came. He knew that the committee would not have dared to hand that bill over to a Democrat to manage unless it was so ordered by Aldrich, the master of the senate. If at hand I would here quote Byron when he was speaking of the vigil long and the man who treasures up a wrong. Dolliver would have immortalized himself had not Aldrich snatched the opportunity, and he laid for the boss four long years until the Payne tariff was on the hooks and then he put the knife under the fifth rib of Nelson W. Aldrich.

The octopus chase promptly began. All that came of it was a terrific academic discussion, made up of legal gibberish, between John C. Spooner and Joseph W. Bailey over the judicial power delegated in the Federal Constitution. It was a brilliant sham battle and disturbed the octopus not a particle.

By and by the weather got hot. Aldrich wanted to go to Europe, so he went to Wall Street and got from the octopus all the concessions it would make, which was a very little grain in a mountain of verbiage. This he shaped into a resolution. Mr. Allison, the smoothing iron of the senate, presented it, and it was passed.

Tillman was furious. So was Bill Chandler, an ex-senator, who was helping him. Teddy said that the Allison amendment was exactly what he wanted all the time, and put Tillman and Chandler into his Ananias club. And thus the octopus chase ingloriously was concluded.

Before Aldrich left the senate he made the rubber schedule of the tariff. It put millions into the coffers of the rubber trust of which he was a magnate. He was in active politics forty-four years of his less than 74 years of life. He was reputed as many times a millionaire, though he started with nothing.

It is doubtful if a high-minded man would have writ the rubber schedule as Aldrich wrote it under the circumstances that surrounded him.

However that may be, he was an extraordinary man. No doubt of that.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Oertel Diet and Exercise

OERTEL undertakes to so improve the circulation that the fat once eliminated shall not be reformed. Oertel's system of treatment is especially useful for those cases of obesity in which there is evidence of a weak heart and anemia. The patients suffer breathlessness on slight exertion.

A daily allowance of a maximum of two ounces of fat is included in the diet. But the amount of fluid must be restricted, because, Oertel believes, the blood pressure is thereby reduced and the tissue oxidation, so essential in reducing the weight, greatly favored by a better circulation.

The Exercise.

This feature of the Oertel system consists of carefully graded hill climbing. A prescribed distance is covered each day, with the definite purpose of increasing the strength of the heart by improving its muscular tone. It is a well-known fact that mountain climbing is one of the best heart tonics in the world if regulated by an intelligent appreciation of the individual's natural limitations.

Anemia is counteracted by the albuminous and vegetable elements of the diet.

In order to promote the activity of the skin, Oertel suggests that the patient should have a hot pack bath twice a week.

The Oertel menu is something like this:

BREAKFAST.

Cup of coffee or tea with a little milk. Three ounces of bread.

NOON MEAL.

Four ounces soup, eight ounces roast meat, a salad or light vegetable, an ounce of bread or rice pudding three ounces, three to six ounces fresh fruit. The less fluid the better, but six or eight ounces of water may be taken in hot weather.

FIVE O'CLOCK.

Cup of tea or coffee and bread, as in morning.

EVENING.

Two soft boiled eggs, an ounce of bread, small slice of cheese. Salad. Fruit. Glass of skimmed milk. Glass of water.

Then to bed and dream of glorious feasts.

Questions and Answers.

Fumigating Schoolbooks: Would it not be a good idea to fumigate all schoolbooks and library books when diphtheria is present?

REPLY.

Personally, we think that would be absolutely a waste of time and money. Live carriers spread the germs, not inanimate things. Progressive cities have even discontinued the practice of fumigating the sickroom after the recovery of the patient. Personal cleanliness—soap and water and elbow grease—not chemicals.

Conciliating a Bunion: If I can apply a little apparatus which will draw the great toe back toward its proper position, won't that improve my bunion? If it is a partial dislocation of the joint, as you said in one article, this apparatus, it seems to me, ought to help some.

REPLY.

It will. The only trouble is, most of these bunion appliances are apparatus and nothing more.

• • •

Chronic Gingivitis: What would be a good application for chronic sore gums?

REPLY.

Zinc iodide, water, iodine and glycerine made into a solution in the quantities of 10, 15, 25 and 50, respectively. Paint on gums, inside and outside surfaces, every third day.

Chloroforming Sleeping Person: Can a sleeping person be successfully chloroformed for an operation?

REPLY.

Possibly, but only by an expert, and in exceptional instances.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

Girls, Wages and Work.

COMMERCIAL WORK AND TRAINING FOR GIRLS. By Jeanete Eaton, vocational investigator, and Bertha M. Stevens, director of the Cleveland, Ohio, Co-operative Employment Bureau for Girls. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50.

Here is a book that should be read by every man and woman interested in the question of training girls for the task of earning a living. It would be especially helpful for women's clubs that may be taking up such questions.

No theorizing is done in this book. The statements are facts, not guesses, and are reports of actual conditions as they have been found to exist. Here are told some of the reasons why girls who go out to earn their own living in the commercial world fail to get good positions, and often are unable to hold even mediocre ones. And there is no mincing of the matter, either.

One of the points most strongly brought out is the necessity for some sort of supervision and standardization of the work of "business colleges" throughout the country. Anybody, it would seem, can start such an institution in some places, and can take the money paid by the girls who try to learn something there, and never give anywhere near its value in return.

Girls go out from some of these places with the hope and intention of being employed in office work. The first place they try proves them incompetent either from lack of training or natural unfitness, and they go from there to some factory to work, and finally fall into absolute discouragement. In many cases, the writers of this book assert, such a climax could be avoided by intelligent attention to the natural aptitude of pupils in commercial schools, and special personal direction along the lines found best adapted to the individual.

Things the employer has a right to demand of his office help are discussed fully, and tables and charts are given showing the progress made by girls of different degrees of preparation.

This book is bound to attract attention, and its presentation of the facts gathered is certain to be effective in arousing interest in what is every day becoming a more and more vital problem in every city in the country.

A Flirt and Her Husband.

THE TAMING OF AMORETTE. By Anne Warner. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1 net.

Don't waste any time pitying Geoffrey Girard just because he seems to be in love with an ultra-coquettish young widow. He doesn't need any pity—and neither does the widow, though it is she who undergoes the process of being tamed. It takes an Anne Warner to tell a story like this one, and you wonder as you read it how long ago it was written, and whether the author had not planned on touching it up in spots and was only prevented by her death. There is not the hilliarity in this that is so big a factor in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," nor are there the characteristics of the Susan Clegg books. But it is enjoyable, if you like light reading, and if you choose to you can imagine a moral to the story.

The scenes are divided between England and France, and the Americans who appear are not entirely admirable, perhaps; but you don't care about that as you read.

Mother-Love.

THE LITTLE MOTHER WHO SITS AT HOME. Edited by the Countess Barcynska. New York: E. P. Dutton & Co. $1 net.

It is rather too bad that the author of such a piece of work should even appear to hide behind the title of "editor;" and yet that action is only in keeping with the book itself, for it effaces the logical difficulties in the way of accepting the writings as genuine, and helps along the study of sweetness of character that the "story" involves.

The book consists of a series of letters written by a young widow and mother to her son, at intervals between his 5th and 25th birthdays. Some of these letters are taken from his own files; others are from her desk, and these are marked "unposted." These latter are expressions of care and affection and problems that the boy would be unable to understand, though they form almost the whole of life for the little mother. Small intimacies of thought are included in the letters, that seem to open the writer's heart in unusual fashion, and reveal in a most unusual degree the much-praised beauties of mother-love.

At the same time you never forget that the little mother is an English woman, for she looks at so many things from a point of view that would be impossible for an American woman to take.

Things to Eat.

BOHEMIAN SAN FRANCISCO. Its Restaurants and Their Most Famous Recipes. By Clarence E. Edwords. San Francisco: Paul Elder & Co. $1.25 net.

"Written in a style of familiarity" is about all that can be added to what the title says of this book. It tells of some of the places that have made the Golden Gate City famous in the world of epicures, and of the sort of dishes served there and how they are prepared. There are recipes here for many "messes" that are appreciated only by "the elect," and for others that you can fairly taste as you read about them. Not the least valuable to those who care for such things is the information regarding the serving of wines.

By the Author of the Stover Stories.

ARROWS OF THE ALMIGHTY. By Owen Johnson. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

Exactly what inspired the title for this story would be hard to guess. It seems likely that it was chosen before the book was started, and that after the author got to writing he changed the trend and development of the whole story, and then failed to change the title to conform to the new idea.

The story is that of a Southern boy who loses both father and mother in early youth. In spite of a heritage that might have led him astray, he turns out a decent, clean, able fellow, and when the Civil war breaks out is able to do some exceptionally good work for the Federal cause. Meanwhile he marries and his married life, apparently, was intended to show the action of the "arrows," but the troubles that come to him seem to have no connection whatever with the past.

There is a deal of ability shown in the story, but it is disappointing for all that. After reading it you rather have a fancy to go back and read a few of the "Eternal Boy" stories, just as a contrast.

Another "Glad" Book.

POLLYANNA GROWS UP. By Eleanor H. Porter. Boston: The Page company. $1.40 net.

If you got acqusinted with Pollyanna in the first volume in which she appeared—"The Glad Book"—you need no introduction to her now. If you failed to make her acquaintance then, it will do you good to meet her even in this advanced stage of development, and the chances are that after becoming acquainted with her as she is now, you will want to go back and form an acquaintance with the younger self.

Perhaps that wasn't the author's intention, but it seems as if she might have meant us to understand that the same qualities that make a child lovable and helpful will operate to the same purpose if they are practiced by a grownup. That is, that sincerity and gladness and optimism and similar qualities are as good in advancing years as they are in the days of youth. At least Pollyanna keeps these qualities, and is no whit behind her younger self in attractiveness and helpfulness.

The Prize Opera.

FAIRYLAND. (The Book of the Opera.) By Brian Hooker. New Haven: Yale University Press. $1 net.

To try to predict the success or failure, the popularity or unpopularity of a dramatic production is to assume a power not bestowed upon any man. How much more rash, then, it would be to make such an effort regarding an opera, especially when only the libretto is available. We shall make no such foolish effort, and yet it is impossible, after reading the book, to avoid the effect of extreme partisanship in hoping that it will be the greatest possible success. The first production is set for July 1, next, at Los Angeles.

Imagination is constantly appealed to by the lines of the opera, not only through the medium of imagery, but from an unavoidable sense of half-elusive allegory. There is the rivalry of the spheres of ambition, holiness and love, but one seeks instinctively for some still further meaning.

"The Valley of Shadows"—that is, the world in which we live—furnishes the settings for all three acts. The first is at the site of the abbey, and in the distance are visible the royal palace and the village. Here occur not only the first clashes between holiness and love, but between holiness and ambition; for here Rosamund, the novice, shows her interest in King Auburn, and here Myriel, the abbess, and Corvain, the king's brother, begin their strife for the crown of the latter.

Here, too, Corvain strikes the blow which he means shall make his way to the throne clear and unquestioned; but Auburn revives to a vision of Fairyland, where he finds Rosamund as his queen.

Act II takes place at the palace, and shows the strife between ambition and holiness—between Corvain and Myriel for Auburn's throne. The action develops logically into the third act, when Auburn is seized in the village and doomed to die for treason, and Rosamund is faced with the same fate on a charge of witchcraft. As the two stand at the stake and the fagots are ignited, there comes the vision of Fairyland and the interference of the fairies.

Which is the greater—the abstinence and self-effacement of the abbey, the power of the castle or the love of the village home?

Such is the story of the $10,000 prize opera, and its beauty is admirably set out in the words written by Mr. Hooker. If Horatio Parker's music is in the least adequate—and who could doubt that it would be fully so?—it seems out of the question that "Fairyland" should fail. And yet, you never can tell. But whether or not the opera "succeeds," the book is worth reading for the beauty of the story and the excellence with which it is handled.

Surrounded Aphorisms.

A TALE FROM THE RAINBOW LAND. By Katherine M. Yates. San Francisco. Paul Elder & Co. 50 cents net.

A couple of odd little people called "Menehunes" are the chief figures in this brief story. They are a mythical folk, reported to have their existence in the Hawaiian islands and to spend their nights helping humans. A peculiarity of their help was that whatever they began must be finished the same night, or else by the humans themselves, or it would never reach completion.

These particular Menehunes hear some humans talking, and draw near to gather some stray bits of wisdom. They are disappointed in this, and after that spend their time looking for wise sayings. They soon learn to devote their time to those who truly love, and the rest of the story is given up to their reports on their search for wisdom. Following are some of the aphorisms that are worked into a setting of Hawaiian color:

You can't wash up spilled milk with tears—give it a chance to evaporate.

See that the beam in your own eye is a sunbeam.

Loveshine is sunshine—other shine is moonshine.

You know not all of the hidden rocks and reefs upon your brother's chart, nor all of the ports which he must make; therefore, say not that he steereth wrongly.

Travel For Pleasure.

THE SPELL OF SOUTHERN SHORES. By Caroline Atwater Mason. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $2.50 net.

There are ways and ways of writing about travels and foreign countries, but there is no way more pleasant to read (unless the reader is a crank on data) than that employed by Mrs. Mason. She takes you with her and makes you have a good time, not merely through seeing the things of interest, but because you are in pleasant company and are given a view of the human side of the places you visit.

In closing her book, "The Spell of Italy," a few years ago, Mrs. Mason suggested that she might have something to say later about Venice, and here it is. And the word "spell" is used advisedly, for she brings out more than mere pictures of sights and people; she brings out the atmosphere of the place, the human side, the things that make this particular part of the world different from other parts. She takes you with her on the tour of the Southern Shores, and you become acquainted with her and the rest of the party. You enjoy them, and you come to understand the historical settings of what you see.

Dozens of illustrations of the highest type feature the volume, some of them pages of full color work. Even to look at these pictures is to feel something of the "spell," and to read the text that accompanies them is to seem to breathe the air of the land portrayed.

NEW LIFE IN A "DEAD HAND"

Fund for Stranded Pioneers Now Helps Travelers and Immigrants.

By ROGER N. BALDWIN,
Secretary, The Civic League of St. Louis.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau).

At least one great fund restricted by the "dead hand" has been released for twentieth century usefulness through the efforts of St. Louis social workers and an act of the city fathers. A public trust fund of more than a million dollars known as the Mullanphy Emigrant Relief fund, practically inactive for forty years for want of beneficiaries, is now applied to the aid of travelers and immigrants.

Established in 1851 by the will of Bryan Mullanphy, former mayor of St. Louis, it consisted of one-third of his fortune, then amounting to a little over half a million dollars. He placed the funds in the hands of the city of St. Louis as trustee, administered by a board of thirteen members appointed by the city council.

Homeseekers in "Prairie Schooners."

Mullanphy's purpose was to furnish substantial and permanent aid to the great stream of homeseekers passing through St. Louis on their way to the new lands of the West. So great was the need of aiding stranded pioneers that the will was written to apply to this group alone: "Poor emigrants and travelers coming to St. Louis on their way bona fide to settle in the West."

In the early years of the fund thousands were aided. St. Louis was then the Western outpost of the railroads, and hundreds made it their outfitting point for the long journey on horseback, or by prairie schooner, or steamboat up the Missouri.

Development of the railroads and the rapid filling-up of the West caused the great stream to dwindle. Fewer and fewer applied for relief. The funds, formerly overtaxed to meet the need, now were thrown back upon the board for investment.

So thoroughly did the board appreciate that the fund's day of usefulness had passed, that as long as fifteen years ago it made application to the courts for the right to use the income for another charitable purpose. The purpose selected in the application was the erection of a hospital for the indigent poor. The courts, however, declined to permit this use of the funds as not sufficiently related to the intent of its founder. So the fund continued inactive; its large income poured into real estate investments and the improvement of its tenement property—tenements, by the way, are among the "models" of St. Louis.

The New Migration.

It was in 1913 that a group of citizens, sitting as the social service committee of the Civic league, examined exhaustively the possibilities of the fund. The simple discovery was made that still there was a stream of impoverished homeseekers, migrating through and to St. Louis; that in the new migration from the old world there was just as legitimate a field for use of the fund as in the days of the native-born frontiersmen.

So the committee drafted a memorial to the board in charge, arguing their case on the ground that "the stream of settlers, prospectors and other travelers that came to St. Louis fifty years ago to seek their fortunes, no longer comes in prairie-schooners, and their El Dorado is no longer a California goldfield or a quarter section in Kansas or Nebraska; but the stream is still flowing, and the volume is greater than ever. • • • St. Louis receives every year not only between 8,000 and 10,000 immigrants from the old world, but thousands of young people from our own country coming into the big city to earn their livelihood."

Today, to be sure, the stream stops in the big city; the frontier has passed, the land is taken. And it was this changed factor that offered temporarily the one obstacle to applying the fund to the new use; for in the language of the will, the beneficiaries must be "on their way bona fide to settle in the West." But the discovery was then made that the ordinances governing the board had always required its officers to meet "every incoming train and steamboat," in order to reach all immigrants and travelers needing aid.

Travelers' Aid.

This provision had for years been a dead letter because of the impossibility that one or two secretaries could keep pace with the complexities of railroad transportation in a rapidly-growing city and the board never adapted its practices to changed conditions. Also, of course, real estate operations were too engrossing.

So a plan was conceived to breathe new life into the old ordinances by providing that the board's agents should again hunt travelers "on their way bona fide to settle in the West" by meeting every train or steamboat entering the city from North, South or East. An ordinance was drafted to establish a Travelers' Aid Bureau at Union station, the chief point of entry, with three agents at salaries not to exceed $1,800 a year, at least one of whom should be on hand all the time every day in the year.

Backed by the united social agencies of the city, the municipal assembly has just passed the ordinance creating such a bureau. The three members of the Mullanphy board—which the new city charter reduced from an old-fashioned, unwieldly board of thirteen, selected by the city council, to a modern, workable board of three unsalaried commissioners appointed by the mayor—have taken to the new idea with enthusiasm. The board even plans to go to the courts again in order that its funds may be used to aid any poor traveler, whether he stays in St. Louis or moves on.

It seems the irony of fate that there should be a public trust fund to help people get away from St. Louis when the city boasts a Million Population club, attempting to "make St. Louis grow" by means short of bribing the census-taker.

It is possible that the fund will be used for even wider purposes; for instance, assisting in the deportation of immigrants who become charges on the community; establishing new means of employment; assisting city dwellers to establish themselves on farms; protective work among young girls; the furnishing of interpreters; free legal and medical aid to travelers and the development of good temporary lodgings.

As there is no travelers' aid association whatever in St. Louis, and practically no other work is being done for immigrants on arrival, the new application of this old fund is being watched with interest.

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

THE last eight days have been the most interesting of the season from an amusement standpoint in Duluth. Ziegfeld's Follies and Maude Adams provided two of the biggest attractions Duluth has seen in many months, and both were wholly satisfactory to widely differing tastes.

Only one more road attraction is scheduled for Duluth this season. That will be the appearance of Billie Burke next Friday and Saturday.

MANAGER WALTER BALDWIN promises great things for his rejuvenated stock company Three new faces will be seen tomorrow, and with a new leading man, new leading woman, and a new "heavy" the company will be hardly recognizable. Mr. Baldwin says he will have a company which would be of sufficient strength to take out a first class road production, or to present a new play in New York, and since most of the members of the company have appeared in Broadway dramatic productions successfully, he has a good basis for his statement.

Breaking in a new leading man and a new leading woman is a rather hazardous proceeding, but it is also true that changes are necessary from time to time in a stock company, to keep the regular patrons from growing tired of the same faces. Whether the places of Miss Olsson and Mr. Barton will be acceptably filled, will be shown tomorrow.

IT IS not often that Metropolitan song birds are allowed to flutter out over the vaudeville circuits. Generally, when they do, they are not welcomed back to the New York dovecote, and as a rule they do not leave until their career in grand opera is ended, or contains no great promise. Mme. Calve entered the two-a day when her voice had passed it, zenith, and her success was phenomenal.

But such is not the case with Mme. Jeanne Jomelli, who will be at the Orpheum next week. Mme. Jomelli is far from having passed her prime as a singer. While she has never been one of the famous stars of the Metropolitan, she has been well up in the second flight and Duluthians will welcome the chance to hear her next week at Orpheum vaudeville prices. Her name is linked as a headliner with Nat Wills, tramp comedian, for the two-a-day makes no distinctions as to the quality of talent, merely its quantity. Its motto is "deliver the goods," and Nat has at least been collecting for the goods for some years.

In a recent interview in New York, Miss Margaret Anglin talked about her work in the Greek theater at Berkeley. She said:

"I am looking forward with great joy to my Greek productions in the Greek theater at Berkeley. I have not talked much in the East about my performances there, although eventually I hope to repeat them here. But my experience in 'Electra' has made me most enthusiastic over my return in the summer, when I will give not only that tragedy but the 'Medea' and 'Iphigenia in Aulis.'

"I have seen most of the ancient Greek and Roman theaters, and they are interesting as ruins, but none of them can compare with the one at Berkeley for beauty. I visited many of the famous ones in Italy and Sicily and others in Africa, and in most of them I tried the acoustics at dawn with only my husband to hear.

"It would be impossible to duplicate in New York that first performance in Berkeley. California nights happen only in California, and I am not so sure it is not the same with their audiences. The theater seats 10,000 people, and after the play began, except the stage, which was bathed in the soft light of calcium lamps, the great bowl was in darkness. I can't begin to tell how impressive it was to look out on that vast, black wall of people. They sat in deep silence throughout the two hours of the play, and when it was over they remained motionless, although most of them had to take the ferries to their homes twenty miles away. Then suddenly they arose en masse and shouted. They rushed up on the stage and carried away the little trees that formed the setting, and almost swept the actors off their feet. It was a thrilling sight."

MISS BILLIE BURKE,
Who Will Appear at the Lyceum Next Friday and Saturday, Matinee and Night.

"FINE FEATHERS" IS NEW VEHICLE

Rejuvenated Baldwin Players Will Open in Well-Known Drama.

"Fine Feathers" has been chosen as the vehicle for the appearance of the rejuvenated Baldwin Players at the Lyceum next week.

The company, with several new faces, will open Sunday afternoon in this play, and will continue until Thursday night, when it will give way to Billie Burke for two nights. Matinees will be given Sunday, Wednesday and Thursday.

"Fine Feathers" has been seen in Duluth but once before, and then at the usual road scale of prices, and with an all star caste. Harry L. Minturn, the new leading man, succeeded Robert Edeson of the all-star caste in the principal male role, so he should be at home in the part.

Here is what one New York critic said of "Fine Feathers:"

"Mr. Walter has made a great play and has had the courage to drive home with a straight-arm blow the simple theme that the wages of sin is death. From the wretched little hat of a miserably material little Staten Island wife, paid for with $22 that young woman's $25 a week husband had given her for the butcher's bill, down to the suicide upon a suddenly darkened stage of the husband, who had condoned his wife's act, is the abyss of human failure that is bridged in 'Fine Feathers.'

"The incident of the hat may be laughable in the beginning and indeed it is laughed at, but with the relentless advance of a destiny Mr. Walter has given an object lesson in reality. The play coming at the flood-tide of graft exposures, goes steps beyond and shows a certain part of little old New York to herself, and points to the deep root of grafting as germinated and nourished within the desires of those who have forgotten the emotions for the gratification of the lust of things. The hat which first reveals to us an attitude towards life, is worn by the wife of Bob Reynolds. Mrs. Reynolds is dissatisfied with the Staten Island home which her husband is trying to pay for. The more or less stolen trips to matinees in New York and even the not unusual absence of the quarter for the gas meter have disgusted the girl with the simple life. She longs for the opportunity which the young people had dreamed was to save them. This comes soon after the husband has forgiven the wife for her conversion of the tradesman's money, in the person of John Brand, a Cornell classmate of Reynolds, who has succeeded in big business, while Reynolds has remained a conscientious chemist, earning $25 a week with a firm engaged in the construction of public works. Brand's house is to supply the cement used in a big dam of the type at Johnstown. He offers Reynolds $40,000, a part of the $200,000 his firm will make, if a lower grade of cement can be foisted upon the dam builders. He pleads that this is only a shrewd device of a big business, that the lower grade of cement would last under ordinary conditions a hundred years, and the dam would be rebuilt long before that time—so no one would be hurt if Reynolds as chemist, passed the lower grade material. In this specious argument he is ably backed by the wife who has preferred hats to receipted meat bills. But Reynolds knowing the right will do no wrong. A succeeding act shows the wife in league with her husband's tempter to win over Reynolds.

"The whole structure has as its keystone that strange lack of appreciation of the masculine code of honor that is to be seen in many women. Mrs. Reynolds is depicted as a lovable woman, yet so wanting in a sense of common honesty as to be unable to see anything wrong in the cement deal. That lack of common honesty and a natural desire for 'Fine Feathers' work together to be the ruin of her husband who loves her too well to say no to her. It is a fine study in feminine psychology."

BILLIE BURKE WILL PLAY AT LYCEUM

Famous Little Actress Will Appear in "Jerry" Next Week.

In "Jerry," the comedy by Catherine Chisholm Cushing in which Miss Billie Burke will be seen at the Lyceum theater, next Friday and Saturday, matinee and night, Charles Frohman's popular young star has realized a long cherished ambition. In this piece Miss Burke impersonates an American girl for the first time, and it is also the first play of American manufacture in which she has appeared.

Miss Burke is an American girl herself—she was born at Washington, D. C.,—and she is very proud of the fact. Consequently she has always wanted to play an American girl on the stage. Mr. Frohman promised her soon after she became a star that he would give her an American role to play just as quickly as he could find a suitable one. Somehow or other, though, they didn't seem to be writing that kind of parts.

At last Mrs. Cushing brought Mr. Frohman the manuscript of "Jerry." She had written it, she told him, expressly for Miss Burke, having heard of the actress' desire to impersonate an American heroine. Mr. Frohman sat right down and read the play. Then he wired Miss Burke that he had found the American play for her. He put it into rehearsal immediately, and four weeks later Miss Burke appeared in it in New York at the Lyceum theater and scored an enormous success.

The New York verdict was confirmed in Chicago a little later and this season on tour. Miss Burke has been doing "standing room only" business right along. A grand opera company would rejoice if its receipts footed up as high as Miss Burke's have in "Jerry."

The supporting company here will include Shelley Hull, Selene Johnson, Alice John, H. Lawrence Peyton, William H. Sams, Thomas Reynolds, Edwin Burch and Arthur Hurley.

TWO HEADLINERS AT THE ORPHEUM

Nat Mills and Grand Opera Prima Donna on New Bill.

With Nat Wills, the funniest of funny comedians, and Mme. Jeanne Jomelli, classed as one of the best of grand opera prima donnas, as joint headliners, and the balance of the bill made up of standard feature numbers, next week's bill at the Orpheum promises full value and then some.

Nat M. Wills has been a tramp comedian for over twenty years and is well known and a favorite in all parts of the country. Last season he was one of the features of Ziegfeld Follies and his tour of the Orpheum circuit this season has been one of his biggest successes. His tramp delineation is a comedy classic. His monologue and songs are always as timely and as bright as is his method of delivery. Mr. Wills has starred in a number of musical comedies, and it was on his shoulders that rested the burden of the comedy in last season's edition of the Follies.

Madame Jeanne Jomelli is the other headline feature of the bill, and one that will prove a real treat to music lovers. As prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera company she attracted wide attention both in New York and on a tour through the country. The fine dramatic timber of a smooth sonorous voice, a presence that never fails to charm and an art well night impeccable, combine in placing Mme. Jomelli where she now stands, among the foremost of her profession.

"The Partners" is the title of a little act and two-scene playlet that is being offered with great success by George Fisher and Harry Green. The little comedy is a sort of condensed version of Potash & Perlmutter, but the fact that it is a twenty-minute vaudeville sketch instead of a two and a half-hour show does not curtail the many laughs and the good clean comedy contained in the piece.

Fritz Bruch, appearing in vaudeville with his sister, is one of the best known cellists of the American stage, while his sister, Lucy, is a violinist of exceptional ability. As a vaudeville number their act is deemed one of the best of high class musical features.

Mr. Hymack, "The Chameleon Comedian," plays a little skit all by himself entitled "At Missit Junction," wherein he displays an ability in making lightning changes and keeping up a rapid-fire batter of good comedy at the same time.

The Kremka brothers in an eccentric comedy acrobatic offering and the Pantzer duo in a graceful novelty contortion act complete the vaudeville end of the program, while the Orpheum Travel Weekly will take the audience on new interesting trips through foreign lands.

THE THREE HARVEY GIRLS,
Now at the New Grand.

JESS WILLARD WILL COME "NEXT" WEEK

Postponed Film Engagement Arranged; New Grand Bill Pleasing.

It is doubtful if a more satisfactory or pleasing entertainment has been seen at the Grand this season than the present bill at that popular playhouse.

"A Merry Mixup," the offering of Stanfield, Hall and Loraine, has a laugh in every line and leaves the audiences wanting more. All are clever comedians and their happy little skit gives them ample opportunity to display their talent.

The Three Harvey Girls, singers, dancers and comediennes, are artists of exceptional ability. Beautiful gowns and a wide variety of song numbers add to the offering.

An entertainer of rare ability is George Fredo, German comedian, and better known as the "baron of Milwaukee." His sure-fire delivery, his expression and personality distinguish him from the average character comedian.

Smiletta Brothers and Mora have an offering that is a novelty in every sense of the word. They have created a number of unusual acrobatic feats, all of which are accomplished with precision and grace through which there runs a rich vein of humor.

The Hearst-Selig News projects many interesting views, chief among which is President Wilson's visit to the Argentine navy, shipping cavalry horses to the European war and timely war pictures from Russian Poland.

The photoplay feature, "Elsa's Brother," is a two-part drama with an excellent cast headed by S. Rankin Drew and Norma Talmadge. One of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "The Girl Engineer" and "Two Hearts That Beat as Ten," a comedy, complete the bill.

On Monday the new bill will be headed by the Lyric quartet, which comes from the metropolitan theaters of the East.

Hoier and Bogg, in a rich comedy sketch, "The Lunch Counter Girl;" Jeter and Rodgers, comedy skaters and society dancers, and the Levolas, performers on the tight wire, are other acts on the bill.

The new copy of the Jess Willard film has been received by the management of the Grand and will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is the only picture of the new champion in action.

The photoplay feature, "The Return of Richard Neal," is the Ladies' World prize mystery play in three acts. Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are seen in the leading roles. "The Phoney Cannibal," one of the clever "Ham" comedies; "The Needs of Commerce," showing the manufacture of paper money, and a comedy drama, "Hearts to Let," complete the bill.

RUSSIAN ACTRESS AT REX

Many Famous Stars Included in Next Week's Attractions.

Monday and Tuesday, Olga Petrova, famous Russian emotional actress and one of the handsomest women of the stage, will take the lead in "The Heart of a Painted Woman." Mme. Petrova is wonderful in this story. At times there is a tendency on the part of the play to soar to melodramatic heights, but it is held to earth by the beauty of this fascinating woman. There is a genuine heart interest and many little human touches that cause murmurs of approval for the cleverness of handling given this big love story.

Wednesday and Thursday the rollicking comedy "Snob," coming to the Rex from the Strand theater, New York city, will cause many merry laughs and hearty chuckles. Just to give an idea how film folk look at this subject—it was chosen to use for the anniversary week at the Strand theater, New York, from fifty or sixty submitted. Victor Moore, George M. Cohan's favorite star, plays the part of the milkman, who fell heir to the title of an English duke and also his wealth. Mr. Moore brings to the part a buoyant good humor as he attempts to hit "the high spots," aspired to by the newly rich milkman.

De Wolf Hopper, famous as a singing comedian, was a member of the stage production, "May Blossom," which plays at Rex Friday and Saturday, and from this he worked his way into comic opera.

In "May Blossom" are contained many elements of surprise, suspense, romantic and dramatic intensity that have made the name of Belasco synonymous with the greatest genius of the modern stage. The master hand of the great dramatist is seen throughout "May Blossom," and the manner in which he mingles emotions and passions into a gripping story, will enthrall the most blase audience.

AT THE ZELDA

The Zelda theater will offer the theater going public an opportunity to see in the next two or three days, some exceptional picture plays. Tonight the Zelda is showing for the last time, the five-act production entitled "The Governor's Ghost or Did the Woman Sin." This is a picture drama showing the danger of being hasty in any action on domestic troubles. Tomorrow only, Mr. Mistachkin, will present a three-part feature drama entitled, "The Quality of Forgiveness." This is produced by the American Pathe company. The photography, the acting and settings are worthy of mention. The theme is: "To Err Is Human, To Forgive is Divine." The thirteenth episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" will also be shown as well as an exciting comedy that will complete a program that is expected to be superior to anything yet shown at the Zelda. The Monday change will bring what the management of the Zelda claims is the most wonderful picture yet shown at that theater. It takes about two hours to run it through. This production will be shown for six days commencing Monday and ending Saturday night. The admission will still remain the same, but children under the age of 16 will not be admitted. This feature entitled "The House of Bondage" is taken from the book of the same name by Reginald Kauffman, and this production was made with the consent of the author. "The House of Bondage," as the name implies, is a white-slave problem play.

The SUNBEAM

With Charles Chaplin featured in a two-reel production, entitled "Getting the Money," proclaimed to be the best effort put forth yet by this eccentric funmaker, the Sunbeam show for Sunday promises to be up to the standard. Much has been said and written about this star performer, who is one of the latest acquisitions to the moving picture field, but it seems that the critics have still enough publicity left to feature him and one of these is the fact that Chaplin's dancing feet are valued at the sum of $150,000. Without the Chaplin walk, the Chaplin kick and other antics he pulls off with his pedal extremities, they say it would not be a Chaplin comedy. In addition to this feature Miss Alice Joyce, one of the beauties appearing in the films, will appear in a two-act play, "Unfaithful to His Trust" that is now running in serial form in the "Everywoman's World," one of the leading women publications printed in Canada. "Peggy —Fifth avenue," a Vitagraph production, with Miss Lillian Walker portraying the role of Peggy will complete the program. For Monday and Tuesday Miss Ruth Roland is booked in the "Girl Detective" series that has been running for some time past in installment form at the Sunbeam. Pathe News with interesting scenes of what is taking place throughout the land will also be shown.

The announcement was made recently that Mrs. Fiske was to be seen in vaudeville and that she was to appear in a play which would depict one of the terrible phases of the war with regard to women. Now it develops that she had received an offer to appear at the Palace, in New York, and that she was to receive $3,000 per week. Harrison Grey Fiske, her husband, admitted that the offer had been made, but that Mrs. Fiske would not accept.

Three New Members of the Baldwin Stock Company at the Lyceum Theater

HARRY L. MINTURN,
Leading Man.

MISS ANNE BRONAUGH,
New Leading Woman.

MARK ELLISTON,
The New "Heavy."

Three new members of the Baldwin Stock company will make their debut at the Lyceum tomorrow afternoon. They are Miss Anne Bronaugh, the new leading woman, Harry L. Minturn, the new leading man, and Mark Elliston, the new "heavy."

All three come to Duluth with excellent recommendations, and they are expected to become great favorites with the Baldwin patrons. In fact, Manager Baldwin enthusiastically declares that his company would stand comparison with the average New York company assembled for a new production.

Miss Anne Bronaugh is a Kentucklan, who has just closed an engagement of eighty-four weeks with the Winnipeg Stock company. She has also played in stock in Chicago and Des Moines and was leading woman for Sidney Drew and James K. Hackett.

Harry Minturn followed Robert Edeson in the cast of "Fine Feathers" and has been leading man with the strong Denver stock company. He has also played in stock in Chicago and was starred one season in "The Blindness of Virtue." He has also been seen in several Liebler productions and appeared with Holbrook Blinn in "The Boss." He is a native of Richmond, a graduate of the Virginia Military institute and Missouri university.

Mark Elliston, the new "heavy," comes from the Shubert Stock company of Milwaukee, where he played for two years. He has been seen in Duluth with Ezra Kendall and with "The Fortune Hunter."

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Theatrical managers are up in arms against the new railroad rates which the Central Passenger association is asking the Interstate Commerce commission to put into effect. According to the claims of the managers party ticket rates will be increased 25 per cent and the requirements for baggage cars nearly 50 per cent. Managers further claim that, if this is allowed it will make it impossible to carry big productions out on the road. Big spectacles and musical comedies will be the principal sufferers.

There is a likelihood that Alice Lloyd and her husband, Tom McNaughton, may be co-stars in a legitimate production on Broadway next season. It is to be a musical piece. Miss Lloyd finishes her vaudeville season at Detroit May 16. Mr. McNaughton was principal comedian in "Fads and Fancies" at the Knickerbocker.

In the recent war dispatches there appeared a brief mention of the death at the front of Capt. Claude Casimir Perier, the only son of the late president of the Republic of France. He was killed in one of the violent engagements north of Soissons, and was buried by the Germans. Perhaps few in this country who read the news recalled that Capt. Perier was the husband of Mme. Simone, the distinguished French actress, who appeared in this country under the direction of George C. Tyler. Just before the outbreak of the war Capt. Perier was in this country on a business trip. He was under 35 years of age, and had been promoted to a captaincy for bravery in the battle of Marne.

The regular summer course is six weeks, but Dean Lyon explained that it was recognized that six weeks was longer than most active practitioners could attend. An innovation in the curriculum of the session will be the offering of clinics in the city hospital for graduate students and practicing physicians under the direction of the hospital staff.

Administration of the honor system by students of the Academic college the first half of the year resulted in the indefinite suspension of one male student for stealing books and the suspension for varying periods of four men and one woman student. Lesser penalties were imposed upon others for minor breaches of the honor code, applying to examinations. Nine cases were handled by the men's council and three by the women's. Charges included plagiarism, cribbing in examination, cheating in quiz, copying paper of another and book stealing. The councils reported that the trial of the ordinary system proved generally satisfactory, yet they declared against permitting the system to become effective for freshmen as yet.

TERRIBLE BREAKING OUT ON HEAD

Itched and Burned, Child Would Scratch and Cry All Night. Spread Very Fast. Caused Hair to Fall Out. Used Cuticura. Trouble Gone.

Birdsong, Mo.—"When my little daughter was two years old she had a terrible breaking out on her head which annoyed her a great deal. It came in yellow blisters which would break and run and where the matter would go it would break out again. She could not rest at night. It itched and burned. She would scratch and cry all night. The trouble spread very fast. It gave her great distress and caused her hair to fall out.

"I applied various remedies without her receiving any benefit. At last with but little faith I began the use of Cuticura Soap as a shampoo and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. In one week her trouble was all gone and she has never been bothered since." (Signed) Mrs. Lucy B. Utley, June 26, 1914.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning palms, and painful finger-ends with shapeless nails, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders.

Beckstrom was sentenced to pay a fine of $250, and in default of payment be committed to the Stillwater penitentiary for a period not to exceed five years. He was given four hours in which to obtain the necessary amount, but returned in two hours, paid the fine and is now a free man.

Beckstrom was indicted for causing the death of Hans Wanger of the town of Stanchfield Nov. 23 last, during a drunken spree in which others participated.

MOSQUITOES

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

Mosquitoes born now not only live all summer, but each female lays, according to the species, about 150 eggs. These multiplied by the generations of a season, would add up to millions of mosquitoes. As their breeding season has begun we must be diligent in our efforts to destroy their breeding places. Should we fail in our efforts we will be annoyed by their buzzing and their biting and by an increase of malaria fever, and should yellow fever be introduced to our shores it would make for a serious epidemic.

The battle must begin at once. If we have to use rain barrels for our water supply, they should be carefully netted so that the mosquito cannot reach the water and lay its eggs. If fresh pools exist about our places they should be filled up or drains should be laid carrying away the rain water and not permit it to collect and become stagnant. If our swamps are too large to drain and fill up, they should be treated with petroleum so that the oil will prevent the larva of the mosquito from reaching the atmosphere to breed. It will then drown for the want of oxygen.

In country places ducks, particularly mallards, will do much to keep down mosquito pests, as they are very fond of the larva and pupa.

Tomato cans, sardine boxes, broken cups—any vessel that will hold the rain water will afford breeding places for mosquitoes. One tomato can half full of water will be sufficient for the rearing of thousands of mosquitoes.

The saucers under the flower pots in and around our houses offer favorable breeding places. Water vessels that are set out for birds and animals are often found of mosquito larvae. Therefore, such receptacles ought to have the water changed daily, so as to destroy any eggs that may be laid in them. Water pitchers in rooms that are only occasionally used have often been found fertile breeding places and where houses were well screened they were filled with mosquitoes, owing to the fact that may be one or two female mosquitoes had found access to the water in these pitchers of a spare chamber.

EFFICIENCY TEST FOR FRANKLIN CAR

Local Agent Takes Part in Efficiency "One Gallon" Work Out.

This afternoon Duluthians will see the second annual test of the efficiency of the Franklin car.

At 3 o'clock Joseph T. Peacha, Jr., manager of the Interstate Auto company, will start the gallon gasoline test of the Franklin car in connection with a nation-wide program instituted by the factory. About 100 dealers throughout the country will make similar tests with the Franklin and an average run on a gallon of gasoline will be established. Last year the average was 32.7 miles.

The run today will be made on East Fourth street and the test will continue as long as the gasoline lasts. This this test will be authoritative is assured by the governing rules, specifying the use of a single certified gallon of commercial gasoline carried in a special tank connected directly to the carburetor, and the mileage from this gasoline supply to be measured by running the car until the fuel is exhausted. Only a strictly stock model of the Franklin can be used in the test. Mr. Peacha, the local Franklin man, will make his run under the supervision of official observers who will certify under oath to the correctness of the results.

What a widespread demonstration of this kind really shows is the practicability of efficiency in the use of automobiles. As the runs will be made in every part of the country, some places where it is hot, others where it is cold, and with road conditions equally at variance, average results are bound to be obtained.

NEW TRAFFIC LAWS AIM OF AUTOISTS

Chicago Men Would Help Solve Problem in Chicago.

Chicago, May 1.—Agitation to obtain new traffic regulations for Chicago's downtown district, which has become so congested that the police department now prohibits automobiles from remaining at the curb line more than thirty-nine minutes, has been started by the motorists' organizations of this city.

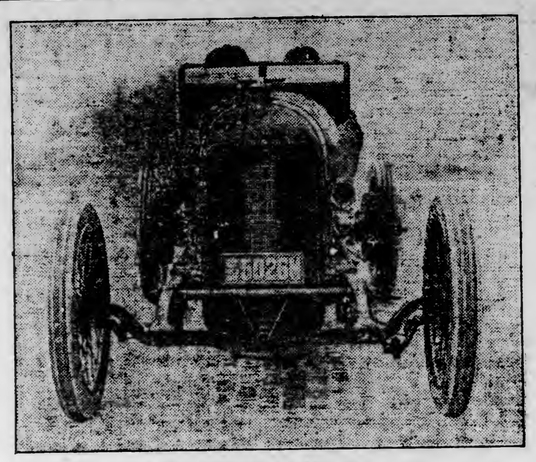
Actual tests under various conditions are being conducted by motor experts to prove the difficulties encountered daily in passing through the so-called "loop" district. The first test along this line established the fact that it costs the average motorist twice as much to drive through the "loop" as it does in less congested parts of the city.

The test was made with a model "41" Marmon six-cylinder machine. After experiments with various motor fuels, the experts accepted Red Crown gasoline, a product of the Standard Oil company, for use in the tests, because it contained greater heat units and showed more power, more speed and more miles to the gallon than the other fuels tested.

The trip through the downtown district was made with the gears sealed in high speed. No shifting of gears was made and the engine was not stopped during the trip. The test began at 1:53 p. m., and despite the fact that but ten and one-half miles were covered, the trip was not concluded until 3:23 p. m.

Traffic at cross streets necessitated sixty-seven complete stops with the engine running continuously. Despite this handicap, careful measurements of the fuel revealed the fact that but one and one-third gallons of Red Crown has been consumed, thereby establishing a new economy record for a six-cylinder car carrying four men under the most excrutiating conditions obtainable.

MAXWELL ENTRY WILL GO 110 MILES AN HOUR



New Maxwell 500 Mile Racer

The first car entered in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race has been completed. After months of arduous painstaking labor, the flier, a Maxwell, has been finished and is now being put through its track trials. A number of new features distinguish this car from those who have gone before. Not the least is a windshield displayed prominently in the above photograph, which makes it comfortable to ride in at any speed. The use of goggles is unnecessary. Ray Harroun, Chief Engineer of the Maxwell Motor Company, who was winner of the Indianapolis Race in 1911, and who built the car believes the absence of wind pressure on the drivers face will leave him in such good condition that he could drive a thousand miles instead of five hundred if necessary. The speed of the car is rated at 110 miles per hour.

MAKE 1,413 CARS DAILY.

During March the Ford Motor company built and shipped 43,413 cars. This is at the average of 1,413 cars per day, and includes the cars which were assembled and shipped from the twenty-one assembling plants in the United States. During the twelve months of the Ford fiscal year, from Aug. 1, 1913, to Aug. 1, 1914, the total output was 221,885 cars. The first three months of the 1915 fiscal year show a total production of 59,507 cars.

If the present production schedule is kept up, the 300,000 cars which Ford announced last year would be made during the present fiscal year will be produced before next August. To make the March output the Ford company employed close to 22,000 men, of which about 16,000 were on the pay roll in Detroit.

STRONG DEMAND FOR 8-CYLINDER CARS

Pioneer Manufacturers Find Them Growing in Their Popularity.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—Various reports have been prevalent over the country on the future of the 8-cylinder motor car. Here in Detroit there seems to be no doubt of its future. Both the Cadillac Motor Car company and the King Motor Car company, the pioneer American manufacturers of 8-cylinder motor cars have a big business. Both factories being taxed to their capacity on production. The latest move to attract the attention of the car industry on the 8-cylinder motor car is the shipment by the King Motor car company of a trainload, over $100,000 worth of their 8-cylinder product to Chicago.

This King trainload is the first shipment of its kind for 8-cylinder motor cars in the history of the industry. Automobile men here are now debating as to whether or not the future of the industry is not to see a big increase in the shipping of automobiles by the trainload.

The Chicago trainload of King eights was contracted for by R. J. Morgan and C. F. Woods of King, the Chicago distributing house. The factory's interest being in the hands of Sales Manager W. L. Daly and Treasurer F. A. Volbrecht. While Buick, Franklin and Reo have in the past sent trainloads of automobiles to the Northwest, the King trainload is the first shipment of its kind to be sent to Chicago.

Reaching Chicago the cars were put under their own power, driven by men and women, they paraded Chicago's business loop. It was one of the most inspiring sights of the return of big business for the Middle West metropolis since the Chicago automobile show.

The King Motor Car company entered into the manufacture of their 8-cylinder product soon after the Cadillac Motor Car company's announcement was made it was generally known that Cadillac had been working on an 8-cylinder motor. The King officials began their experimenting early and had only short delay after the Cadillac announcement before the King 8-cylinder proclamation was circulated. The King Motor Car company today occupy a position all their own in the automobile selling field, being without competition in their class and price.

OPINIONS DIFFER ON POINTS OF CARS

Kissel Company Gets Variety of Replies in Answer to Questions.

In response to questions put to dealers as to their most effective arguments in selling KisselKars, the truth of that old Kentucky maxim that "its a difference of opinion that makes horse races," is illustrated anew.

Analyzing the replies received, the Kissel Motor Car company finds the following percentages in favor of the different leading points: Manufactured car as against assembled car, 85 per cent; reputation of the company, 92 per cent; facilities and experience, 78 per cent; detailed comparison with higher priced cars, 74 per cent; Kissel-built motor, 80 per cent; low repair bills, 77 per cent; appearance and comfort, 90 per cent; the all-year car, 87 per cent.

The most significant results of this canvass were the almost unanimous expression that the appearance and comfort of the car is a vital consideration and the scarcely less preponderent view that the Kissel all-year combination touring car and Sedan is an indispensable talking point.

The following, submitted by a New York salesman, is regarded as a rather complete, as well as compact argument for the KisselKar:

"Chassis—simplicity of motor, quality of material used, engine balance, workmanship, standardization of parts, accessibility in having intake manifold integral with motor, long stroke, helical gears in adjustable differential, adjustable roller bearings, two leakproof Spicer universal joints, both brakes external, preventing grease working from bearings into brake lining, oil-holes in pistons preventing smoking, automatically controlled spark, fuses in sparkproof cases.

"Body—strength, easy-riding, roominess, best leather upholstered cushions, wit heomfortable high backs, two sets of springs, preventing cushions, with comfortable high backs, of gearset and emergency brake levers, adjustable steering wheel and divided seats.

"General—financial standing of both factory and local companies, high quality of repair equipment and service, large quantity of parts carried for replacements, great amount of business secured through satisfied customers, proper weight necessary for safe and comfortable riding, superior workmanship and perfect car balance."

Battle Creek Sanatorium Erects Garage for Fifty Cars.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 1.—The lure of good roads in Michigan has made it necessary for the sanatorium in this city to build a garage with a capacity of fifty cars. Summer guests come here from all over the country and many of them either drive to Battle Creek or have their cars shipped here, and it is to provide quarters for these cars that the new garage is to be built.

LAUDS VACUUM FEED SYSTEM

Turner Declares It Best Improvement of the Last Year.

"The Stewart vacuum gasoline feed system is without doubt the greatest improvement that has been adopted by the automobile industry within the last year, states M. W. Turner, local distributor of the Haynes light six. "Cowl tanks will disappear as the body is lowered and made to conform to the real stream line effect. The cowl tank necessitates a high and bulky cowl so that the pressure system of forcing gasoline to the carburetor from the rear tank was the only choice until the advent of the vacuum system.

"While it has been proved in several tests that the vacuum system is more economical in the use of gasoline than the pressure system, it is a rather difficult matter to explain why such a condition is possible.

"With the pressure system, there is a great variation in the amount of gasoline actually passing into the carburetor. It is generally the case that every ounce of gasoline possible is forced into the carburetor so that the level is carried higher and more gasoline is consumed than is actually used to develop power. The pressure on the carburetor is less when climbing a hill and greater when descending and the mixture of vaporized gasoline and air going into the cylinders varies accordingly.

"The float and consequently the float needle valve vibrates with the road shocks and every time the needle rises from the seat, the pressure shoots the gasoline into the float chamber and raises the level higher for the instant than it should be.

"The vacuum system feeds the gasoline to the carburetor by gravity from the small vacuum tank that is so close to the carburetor that hills have little or no effect on the elevation of the tank above the carburetor. Since the pressure is constant under all conditions, it is simple enough to secure an even mixture of fuel. The gasoline level in the carburetor is kept at the normal height, and fresh gasoline is allowed to enter only as needed."

BENEFITS ACCRUE TO MANY CITIES

Auto Business Employs Thousands in Other Cities Besides Detroit.

"It has been truly said that the automobile industry has showered on Detroit a veritable cloudburst of dollars, but very little has been said and less written about the material prosperity that Detroit's automobile factories have brought to many other cities and thousands of people that live in them. The automobile business is so tremendous in this one city," said E. J. Filiatrault, the local Chalmers dealer, "that most of us are apt to think of the large output, so many thousands of automobiles made in one year, so many thousands more in another year—figures that suggest tremendous turnover, but this alone is not the big vital thing about Detroit and its big industry."

"In other cities, some nearby, some far away, the wheels in thousands of factories are turning, making finished products of a vast array of raw materials. The factories in other cities are sending us each year hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of steel, iron, aluminum, brass, rubber, top material, paints, linoleum, batteries and scores of products too numerous to mention. Detroit is the hub of a great wheel, a great industrial wheel, the spokes of which may be represented by the railroad lines centering here or passing through the city. Scores of freight trains are made up every day and depart for Detroit laden with freight worth thousands, all consigned to some great automobile factories here. The automobile industry of this city is not only of great local significance, but it means much to scores of cities and towns and to thousands of people outside of it.

"One need only look at the trade reports in the prominent financial papers to discover that what I have said here is true. The automobile industry has played a large part in the revival of the steel trade this year. It has played a large part in the revival of the leather business, in the revival of the machinery business, in the tool-making industry and scores of other industries. The whole country owes a debt to Detroit, the automobile city.

AUTO AIDS BANDITS.

Terrorize Chicago and Out-Run Mounted Police.

By the aid of an automobile, four bandits terrorized a section of Chicago a few weeks ago, holding up and robbing in broad daylight no less than fourteen people. In barely three hours, these men drove more than seventy-four miles through city streets, leaving far in the rear two motorcycle policemen mounted on the fastest machines.

As the car figuring in this escapade happened to be a Franklin, the local dealer, Joseph T. Peacha, Jr., was interested in the particulars, finding that the test which such a reckless run placed upon the car was most severe. As one instance, the daring driver, in order to elude the policemen, turned a corner, headed the car directly toward the curb at high speed, shot it over the sidewalk and down an embankment, thence through a vacant lot and into an alley. The fact that the motorcyclists were unable to follow the car over this route, gave the highwaymen a lead that enabled them to escape.

"That the Franklin was damaged only to the extent of broken headlights and a battered door was due strictly to the flexible construction of the car," says Mr. Peacha, pointing out the wood sill, full-elliptic springs, absence of torque rods, all of which contributed to this result.

PRIZE FOR BATTERS ON POLO GROUNDS

Overland Car Will Be Given Player Who Hits Large Sign.

When the curtain was raised on the 1915 National league season at the Polo grounds on April 14, ball fans and players were treated to a new one. Out in left field there flares a forty-foot sign proclaiming that the first New York player who hits it with a fly ball, is to be presented with a new Overland car.

The Overland dealer in the metropolis is the man who hit on this plan to stimulate the New York players in their "swatfests." "Hit 'er out" will be changed from now on to "Hit that sign, kid," by the rabid rooters.

The distance of the big sign from the home plate is 834 feet, and there is every likelihood of one of New York's big hitters pulling down the Overland car which is offered.

EFFICIENCY MOVE BY COLE COMPANY

Will Establish Auditorium for Delivery of Standard Lectures.

The establishment of "efficiency hall"—an auditorium with a seating capacity of 300 set aside in the big Cole factory for standard lectures—is the latest efficiency step taken by the Cole Motor Car company of Indianapolis, makers of the standardized car.

J. F. Richman, factory production manager of the Cole Motor Car company, is a "fiend" on efficiency. He believes that the task of the American manufacturer is to weed out every process in production which does not contribute definitely to the improvement of quality and the reduction of costs.

"There is no question about the value of factory efficiency engineering," says Mr. Richman. "Efficiency engineering does not mean cutting down quality. It does mean cutting out wasted steps, wasted motion, and making every act a positive and productive effort. It means spending money on time-saving and quality-increasing machinery. It means placing material in such a way that everything will be handy. It means maintaining the right attitude toward the men themselves, and making them realize that more important than the pay envelope itself is the intelligence which makes its growth possible."

EXPLAINS FAILURE TO CAPTURE TITLE

American Drivers Averse to Gear-Shifting, Says Dario Resta.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1.—The reason for America's failure to win in recent international motor contests is lucidly explained by Dario Resta, the Englishman who is ruling favorite for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race by virtue of his dual victory in the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize contests this spring at San Francisco.

The American driver, says Resta, is too averse to gear shifting to do really effective work. After he once has his car in high, he lets it stay there, instead of helping it out once in awhile by slipping into third or second. This works a tremendous strain on the motor, with the result that it usually goes to pieces.

Resta himself uses a tachometer on his car which at all times keeps him informed as to his motor speed. The second he sees a drop in this speed he shifts gears to suit, with the result that his motor is turning over freely and easily at every stage of the game. In this way he avoids excessive strain and the usual accompanying breakdown.

KEROSENE CURES FOR MOTOR ILLS

Squirt a little kerosene into each cylinder occasionally and much of the necessity of having carbon removed will be avoided and the cylinders and rings can be kept in better condition.

Especially at the present time when you have been running your motor with a rich mixture during the cold weather this use of kerosene is especially good for the engine.

It is better to apply it two or three nights in succession than it is to apply it four or five times at considerable intervals.

Start in tonight, and when you put the car away, put three or four tablespoonfuls of kerosene into each cylinder of your engine.

In the morning it will smoke badly for a few minutes, but never mind that.

Do the same thing tomorrow night, and again the following night. You will be surprised at the difference in the way your engine will operate.

Next week try it again. Get the habit of doing this three consecutive nights every week or ten days.—Chalmers Clubman.

NEW DESIGN FOR FORDS ANNOUNCED

Changes Are Chiefly in Body and Appearance of Car.

Although the Ford Motor company has been supplying its new type of roadster, touring and town car models for a little over a month, no announcement of the new designs was given out until this week. The shipment of these is now quite general to dealers and branches. Changes are principally in the body and appearance, the model T chassis adhering to standard Ford practice with the exception that the flywheel magneto has been somewhat enlarged to take care of the lighting of the electric headlamps, which are now standard equipment.

This change to electric headlamps is a feature that will be greatly appreciated, as it does away with the acetylene generator, formerly fitted to the cars. Lighting of the new lamps is through a dash switch. The side and tail lamps are also of a new form, of oil-burning variety. They are more compact and better conform to the body lines.

The most notable change is the incorporation of the pressed steel dash in place of the formerly-used flat wood type. The switches and other apparatus are placed under this cowl, on the dash. Other improvements are in the windshield, which is a stronger and more compact type to fit the cowl, and louvres in the hood to give better ventilation to the engine.

Another noticeable change is in the rear mudguards, which now conform to the curve of the wheels rather than running straight back horizontally from the point of greatest height. These guards are made of heavier metal than the former ones, and their form admits of better bracing against rattle or vibration.

There is no change in the prices of either model, the roadster listing at $440, the touring car at $490, and the town car at $690. It will be remembered that when the cabriolet and sedan models were added to the line some time ago, they incorporated the same new features that have now been added to the other three older models.

FOUR-CYLINDER CAR

Runs Smoothly and Is Very Popular, Says Franklin Official.

"If the one-cylinder engine could be made to meet modern requirements, one-cylinder engines would predominate," says Arthur Holmes, vice president of Franklin Automobile company, "because the one-cylinder engine is simple and economical. Every cylinder added to an engine increases complication, cost of operation and upkeep.

"The chief drawback to a single cylinder engine is the weight of the flywheel. In order to overcome vibration, the flywheel must be extremely heavy, and extreme weight is a burden. The four-cylinder engine, with a flywheel of moderate weight, runs smoothly and is the predominating type of automobile engine. Last year about 600,000 four-cylinder cars were sold. The six-cylinder engine goes the limit for smoothness, due to the over-lapping of the power impulses. It is used mostly in the higher priced cars. About 63,000 six-cylinder cars were sold last year."

EVERY TYPE IN DISPLAY.

Cadillac Company Has Varied Exhibit at Frisco.

The exhibit of the Cadillac Motor Car company at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco includes, in addition to a cut-open eight-cylinder chassis, every body type the company is producing this season.

In the front part of the display are the three open models, the seven-passenger and salon touring cars, and the roadster. The salon is the five-passenger type with individual front seats and one door on each side of the body.

On the other side of the space are the company's three enclosed types, the limousine, sedan and coupe. Because of the remarkable flexibility of the eight-cylinder motor and its notable lack of vibration, the Cadillac enclosed cars are proving more popular this year than ever before. The sedan might be termed the family enclosed car, inasmuch as the owner can drive without being separated from the other occupants of the car. The coupe is of the cabriolet type, the top arranged to fold back for touring.

The exhibit is in charge of a representative from the factory and one from the Cadillac California distributer.

ALL-YEAR CAR SUCCESS.

Kissel Company Revises Schedule Three Times to Meet Demand.

"The success of the all-year car is really wonderful," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the KisselKar. "Three times since Jan. 1 the Kissel factory has been obliged to revise its production schedule in order to meet the demand for this model, and we are now informed that more detachable tops cannot be had before May. Nearly every buyer of a KisselKar wants the all-year car, but the best we can do between now and May is to deliver the open touring body, with the top forthcoming later, if desired."

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Not only did Otto Walker win first place in the recent 300-mile grand prize motorcycle race at Venice, Cal., but he surprised everyone connected with the event by spinning his little two-wheeler around the course at an average speed of 68.97 miles an hour. Both promoters and fans predicted that the time for the event would not exceed sixty miles an houur. Not only that, but everyone of the first six riders to finish made better than an average of sixty miles. Just fifteen seconds after the winner, Red Parkhurst crossed the tape. Then came Carl Goudy, Bob Perry, Fred Ludlow and Marty Graves.

MAY RIDE IN LUXURY.

Chicago Has Fleet of Twenty-Five Chalmers Limousines.

Residents of Chicago and visitors to the Windy City can hereafter ride about town in superlative luxury.

The typical taxi has been relegated to its proper place with the superannuated "one hoss shay."

No longer must the itinerary of the temporary traveler be punctuated by bumps and jolts, by wheezes, rattles and squeaks—for James Levy has enabled the Atlas Taxicab company to start with a fleet of twenty-five Chalmers limousines and will furnish more as the business expands.

All the perfect appointments of the 1915 model will stimulate the pleasure of the patrons of the new company. Reading lamp, toilet case, umbrella holder, speaking tube and other equipment strange to those who have indulged in emergency trips or periods of carefully planned extravagance in chartered vehicles strike this new note in taximetered transportation.

And to frame the picture properly Atlas chauffeurs will also be different from the pilots one has met.

Graduates of a service college, faultlessly clothed in spotless livery, they will notify patrons of their arrival by coming to the door instead of insistently sending forth the strident honk-honk or silently waiting to be discovered in an adaptation of the game of hide-and-seek.

Hundreds of men have been added to the working force of the Lozier Motor company, and still other hundreds will be added as it is found possible to obtain skilled labor in Detroit. Indianapolis, May. 1.—The seat sale for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race continues to break all records. Curiously enough, however, the public seems to be showing a preference for some of the newer stands this year, and there is, consequently, still a lot of space available in several of the old favorite locations on the turns and opposite the pits. Some choice parking space is also still to be had.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 1.—Taxicab owners in Cleveland are preparing to fight the present city ordinance licensing their machines and charging $5 per taxicab and $1 for each chauffeur. With the legal struggle in mind, few of the operators have taken out 1915 licenses from the city, and the first arrest for violation of the ordinance is to be made a test case.

"I venture the prediction that at least double the number of automobiles will be driven next winter than in any previous winter," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the KisselKar. "This is due to the success of our All-Year car which fo rthe first time offers a sightly and comfortable combination touring car and Sedan. Most spring buyers see the advantage of a car that can be converted in the fall for cold weather use and we expect that a vast majority of summer sales will carry this feature."

The London omnibus chassis is generally recognized as the finest of its kind in existence, and most admirably suited for work on London streets. Under war conditions it is giving a considerable amount of trouble. Police regulations have caused weight to be cut to the danger line. Although this is not apparent on city streets, it is painfully evident at the seat of war. The motors, which have thermo-syphon cooling, persistently overheat when put to heavy work. The vehicles are incapable of hauling another of equal load and weight. Spring breakages are common.

GIGANTIC JESS WILLARD HAS PUT AN END TO WHITE-HOPING

Right Now the Question Is Who Can Beat Willard; The Defeat of Johnson Has Made the Lumbering Pugilistic Figures Obsolete—Baseball and the Dollar Sign—The Passing of Colored Boxers.

BY BRUCE.

NOW what is going to become of the business of White-hoping? With one ruthless swat, coming at the end of twenty-six rounds of grim battling, Jess Willard of Pottawatomie, Kan., has put an end to the profession. Before Willard stepped into the picture, the managers and promoters figured strength and durability as the chief pugilistic asset; now, with the gigantic Willard custodian of the crown, speed, boxing ability and other of the simon pure rudiments of boxing will probably be called into play.

It was a great revel we had. Every man mixed in the game of boxing became innoculated with the White Hope germ. All of the old precedents of the game were lost sight of in the wild scurry to find a man who could defeat Jack Johnson. And finally a grinning, good natured giant, the largest boxer that ancient or modern ring history wots of, stepped from the windswept plains of Kansas, that bountiful and yielding state, and lo and behold the business of White-hoping was justified.

Right now the question looms large: Who can beat Willard? Let us go back a little, perhaps digress a trifle. Not so many years ago a little French boy was fighting midgets in the mining district of France. This lad held the bantam, featherweight, lightweight, welterweight, middleweight and heavyweight championship of his native country in quick succession. The name of this phenomenon is Georges Carpentier. If the grim fuss in Europe should end and Georges Carpentier should return to the ring, why would not he be considered one of the logical contenders for the crown worn on the shaggy locks of the towering Willard?

Before the big black wore out his powers of endurance and exhausted his store of vitality in the attempt to batter down that human Troglodyte in front of him, the one pugilistic goal among the heavyweights was the defeat of Johnson. Now the horizon of their vision has shifted with the victory of Willard—the hue and cry of the pack has taken on a new and equally venomous sound—Who can beat Willard?

Let us return to Carpentier, the most romantic, heroic and spectacular pugilistic figure before the world. Jim Buckley lugged Gunboat Smith all the way over to London to beat the intrepid young Frenchman. The good people of London and other parts of the tight little isle gave the gunner a reception somewhat like those levees accorded to Peter Jackson and Jem Smith and Mace in the glorious days gone by. Carpentier, a Frenchman, had defeated Bombardier Wells, a Briton, and all of the latent racial feeling was revived in the shifting victory of the prize ring.

Over in this country we have heard of the foul and all that; but we have questioned those in the know, those up in the boxing world, and their verdict is that Carpentier was winning handily, was outboxing and outfighting Smith, when the bout was abruptly terminated by Smith's foul.

Maybe this Carpentier is a marvel. All of us lovers of boxing would like to believe that there was a real heavyweight boxing marvel extant. Visions of the flashing form of the marvelous Corbett, the ungainly but clever Fitzsimmons, or the Jeffries who was converted from an ambling, ungaited bear to a smooth and polished specimen of boxing skill.

Maybe Carpentier is another of the type of Kid McCoy. How he could cut them down! Any boxer who could make the brilliant and successive climb from the bantamweight to heavyweight title of his own country, and encompass this remarkable accomplishment ere he was through the period of growing, deserves, to our method of thinking, the utmost respect as a future factor in the heavyweight ranks.

Jim Coffey is another of the future contenders. More of them will spring up. Let us hope now, that the business of White-hoping has reached its legitimate end by achieving the overthrow of Johnson, that more serious attention will be given to the fine points of boxing, that some recrudescence of the art of Mase, Foley and Professor Watson will be found among the heavyweights that are bound to crop up along the pugilist'c path.

Willard won because he was penultimate of an elimination contest of White-hopism. Carl Morris, Jim Daley, Fred McKay, et cetera, were crowded back into the boiler foundries because of the economical necessities in the case. It was one grand, blazing elimination contest, in which the biggest, strongest and toughest of all the white hones was crowned queen of the May. White Hopery at once received its great vindication and its death, as is the case with many of the other institutions of this world. And, now, gentlemen, let us turn and see if a real fighter is speeding up the lea, armed with the ability to give the present title holder a real battle for the crown.

The Trouble With Baseball.

IN ONE of the current periodicals Cy Sanborn, one of the best informed of present day baseball writers, goes deeply into the question concerning the present ills of base ball.

The article is instructive, illuminating and—most important of all—truthful.

Baseball has degenerated into a dollar madness. The ethics of sport were lost sight of in the mad gambol for the coin of the realm. The Federals scented the chase from afar and resolved grimly to get into the financial feed troughs or wreck the game as an alternative.

Some of the causes for the doleful season of 1914 are given in the Sanborn article. Indifference upon the part of the baseball players themselves and a natural and deep-seated disgust upon the part of the patrons of the game, are the two salient reasons stated.

When the Federal officials sough the injunction against organized base ball, they tipped their mitts. The men behind the Federal league did not enter the game for its moral uplifting, nor to better the condition of the players, but for money. The avidity of the Fed forces was stirred by the stories of the millions made in organized baseball. Then came the wild scramble, the unreasonable raising of salaries, the pushing to the front of the dollar sign, and bingo! the lovers of the real sport sulked in their tents, like Achilles of old.

When the followers of one of the grandest sports in the world begin to hear less of the amount of salary received by the players and more of their ability and willingness to play real baseball for fair compensation, then will baseball be taken more seriously by a large number of persons.

Maybe the magnates have learned—or maybe another lean season is needed to drive home the lesson.

The Colored Boxer Is Through.

GREAT was Peter Jackson. Great was Joe Gans. Great was little George Dixon. Great was Joe Walcott. Yea, great was Jack Blackburn. Great was Jack Johnson and great is Sam Langford. Look over the long line of great colored boxers that the ring has produced—you are bidding them all good-by. In the United States of America, some geographical strip, Bill, the colored boxer is through.

In the majority of states under boxing commission rule the rules governing the sport will not permit mixed matches, or contests between blacks and whites, in other words. Contests between negro boxers lack interest for several reasons. The ring game of the future, as far as the United States is concerned, offers no inducement for even the greatest fighter the black race might produce.

Jack Johnson held the heavyweight crown for a brief and somewhat sordid period; those in control of boxing in general seem determined that no other colored man shall ever be champion of the world.

Jackson and Gans, from all the ring accounts that are wafted back to us, were as gentlemanly as a prizefighter can naturally expected to be. When Lord Chesterfield wrote his quite well known book on etiquette, it is not to be presumed that he had a prizefighter in mind as sitting in with the genteel reminders of social punctiliousness. But Jackson and Gans were really well behaved chaps and never went out of their way to butt into the limelight or endeavor to increase the wrath of the temperance people against the demon saloon.

The new era of the game finds no lodging place for the poor black, apparently.

WHITE SOX LEADER READY FOR THE GONG

DARBY O'BRIEN.

DARBY TO LET HURLERS GO

Weeding Out of Pitching Staff Scheduled for Monday.

White Sox and the Curtis Clan to Clash in Two Games.

Darby O'Brien, manager and fleet second baseman of the White Sox, announced that there would be letting loose of pitchers about Monday. The Dook declared that some of his twirlers might be let out on optional agreements.

Just who will walk the plank, the commander of the good ship is unable to state. There are Jones, Posten, Boley, Barr, Cadreau, Murray, Bryant and Leahy. Which of these will be separated from the pay envelope. Darby says the task of deciding is a delicate one.

Cadreau, the aborigine, is slated to hurl in the game against Superior tomorrow. In the contest of today Darby before the start of the contest had Boley, Barr and Leahy warming up.

Tragic news was received late yesterday by young Herbert Posten. His young brother was instantly killed in a sawmill at Pallsade, Minn. The White Sox pitching recruit left immediately upon the receipt of the news for his home. It is stated that Posten will not join the team until it returns from the first road trip.

The two games with the Fred Curtis club will serve to try out the pitching staff. The performances of the various flingers in the two games may serve to decide the Dook as to who will remain with the team.

FLOCK TO MINNESOTA.

North Dakota Fishermen to Angle in Gopher Waters.

Fargo, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many local fishermen left yesterday for the Minnesota lakes. North Dakota's fishing season does not open until May 15 and then it does not begin to compare with that of Minnesota, so hundreds of fishermen have secured Minnesota licenses and at present Big Pine, near Perham, is the favorite place although many other lakes attracted the local people. Later on some of the other places will prove more popular, especially when the bass season opens June 1.

Baseball Men Will Hold Post-Season Dinner Thursday.

Members of the Temple indoor baseball league will hold a post-season dinner at the Masonic temple at 6:30 o'clock next Thursday evening for the purpose of reviewing the work done during the last winter and making plans for the 1916 season.

A feature of the dinner will be the presentation of a silver loving cup to "Umpire" Irvine, who was the chief arbiter at all the games.

Edward Armstrong is president of the league.

BIG SEASON FOR TENNIS

Two New Courts Will Soon Be Ready at Oatka.

Boat Club Players Plan to Meet Longview Racquet Wielders.

There will be six tennis courts at Oatka ready about the middle of the present month. Work on the construction of the two new courts is going on rapidly. A large scow laden with clay filling has been drawn up to the point shore and the labor of placing the filling in the courts will begin during the coming week.

Not only will two additional courts be constructed, but repairs will be made on the four old courts. The work is expected to make them the equal of any in the Northwest. With the completion of the new courts the tennis officials of the boat club declare that Oatka can boast of tennis facilities equal to any of the large clubs west of Chicago.

May Play Longview.

It was stated today that the boat club tennis team might be pitted against representative players of the Longview club during the season.

The boat club team will play Superior and other clubs during the season, and arrangements are being made for a series of games with the Longview racquet wielders.

Owing to the fact that the National Tennis association has ruled that players participating in the Head of the Lakes tournament shall take ranking from their tournament performances, it is probable that the tourney of this season will be larger, more important and have greater prestige than any of the other local tournaments of the past.

With added court facilities, with a large number of new players, with a systematic plan worked out in advance of the season for the regulation of court time, and with more enthusiasm than ever before, the present season, which will start somewhere around the middle of the month, is expected to be one surpassing any previous year in the local history of the game.

KNAUFF WILL BE RETURNED TO FEDS

New York Alone in Contention That They Have Right to Him.

New York, May 1.—Benny Kauff, the star outfielder of the Brooklyn Federal league club, who caused a furore by jumping to the New York Nationals, may not appear again in a New York uniform. The concensus of opinion seemed to be that in all probability, Kauff will be returned to the Brooklyn Federals at once.

A meeting of all the eastern clubs presidents of the National league was held late yesterday at the National league offices. The Kauff affair was discussed at the meeting, the New York men trying to show the league that they were justified in signing him.

President Tener, however, held that Rule No. 20 of the national commission's code was violated, which says a player jumping a reserve cannot apply for reinstatement until three years after his offense.

Though the New York club still contends that it has legal title to Kauff, President Hempstead of the Giants, wrote President Ward of the Brooklyn Federals that he could have the player back if he could show he had legal title to him.

FIRST DELIVERY OF METZ CARS MADE

Two carloads of Metz cars will be received by M. Obermeyer next week for immediate delivery. Most of the cars were ordered during the winter, but this is the first delivery that the factory could make to this section of the country. Practically all of the cars have been contracted for, it was announced.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH WINS SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET

Stellar Track and Field Performances of Bailey and Williams Enable Methodist Boys to Win Annual Indoor Athletic Competition From Large Field.

Some real competition was furnished and some creditable records for youthful athletes were hung up in the annual indoor track and field meet of the Duluth Sunday School Athletic league, held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

The meet was won by the team of the First Methodist church with a total score of 89 points. The First Presbyterian church team was second with 41 points, St. Paul's Episcopal third with 34, the Second Presbyterian fourth with 19, Endion Methodist fifth with 11, while the First Baptist church Sunday school team finished in last place with but one point to the credit of its team members.

The competition in all of the events was close. All of the events were well filled and the majority of the finishes were so close that the galleries of kid rooters went into mild paroxysms of enthusiasm.

H. Bailey of the First Methodist church was one of the stars of the meet. In the welterweight division this youthful athlete won the 20-yard dash, the shot-put and the 220-yard dash.

J. Williams of the same team was one of the real stars. In the heavyweight division Williams copped off the 20-yard dash, the shot-put and the hop, step and jump event. In fact, it was the stellar work of these boys that assisted largely in swinging victory to the First Methodist church team.

The meet was by far the most successful ever held in the history of the league.

GOPHER NINE OPTIMISTIC

Returns From Conference Games, Ready to Recover Lost Ground.

Track Team Will Meet Iowans; Interfraternity Nines Active.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota baseball nine returned Tuesday morning from its first conference trip. The result of the three games was one victory and two defeats, putting the Gophers in about seventh place in the conference standing. Coach Thomas is not discouraged and expects to regain the lost laurels in the next few games. Minnesota will not meet Chicago again, so there is no chance for revenge on the Maroons, but the Gophers get another crack at Northwestern on Northrop field. Superior pitching on the part of "Shorty" Des Jardienes gave the Maroons a victory over Minnesota, but the defeat at Northwestern was purely the result of errors and slow playing.

Trimming For Carleton.

Minnesota exchanged wallops with Carleton college Wednesday afternoon and received considerably the better of the exchange, as indicated by the score of 10 to 7. The game was long and uninteresting, in the main. The downstaters used three pitchers in an unavailing effort to stop the hard-hitting Gophers. Pennington pitched good ball and with the exception of the sixth inning, kept the hits well scattered. He allowed eight hits, while Minnesota gathered ten off the Carleton pitchers.

On Saturday, the Gopher track teams will meet Iowa in Minnesota's first dual track meet of the season. Through four months of practice, Coach Frank has been gradually working up his men, temporarily stopping on the way to take in the indoor meets and the Drake relay carnival. At these times there has been evidence of material and strength. In the relay races, Iowa was forced to concede to Minnesota the supremacy, but is said to be determined to run the tables on Saturday. Iowa comes here with at least two strong men, Capt. Schrader and Persons, the first in the hurdles and jumps and the latter in the quarter and the half. These men are reinforced by a team of unknown ability, but about which, reports have indicated considerable strength. Against these men Minnesota will base hopes for victory in the runs. Bierman and Molumby in the sprints, Ritter in the quarter, Wallace and Cross in the half, Watson, Anderson, Griffen, Montgomery and Rapacz in the mile and two-mile. Martin will fight it out with Schrader in the hurdles, McKay with the same man in the pole vault, Capt. Molumby in the broad jump and Weis in the high jump ought to keep the Iowa captain busy. Rosenthal and Sprafa will work in the weights. The relay team, each man running a quarter mile, will not be selected until later, but Bierman, Ritter and Cross will in all probability be three of the quartet.

Tennis Players Active.

The last two weeks have been busy ones for the tennis players of the university. The four courts within Northrop field, the courts at Pillsbury hall and those near the Law building have been in almost constant use by the tennis players of the university. The actual tennis season, however, will open with the spring tournament, entries for which are now being made to Selden Smith, captain of the Minnesota tennis team. Forty-four have already entered the tournament, which is open to any one connected with the university, whether of the student body or the faculty. Two members of the tennis team, Capt. Smith and Roger Kennedy, are wielding the racquet daily in preparation for the conference games. The third member of the team will be selected by means of a round robin contest between picked eligible men. The tennis team will play its first game against Illinois on May 10, when vengeance for the football and basket ball defeats will be sought. In the latter part of May the team will compete in the intercollegiate tennis meet in Chicago. The activities of the tennis team will be watched with interest throughout the season, as the skill of its members is expected to bring to Minnesota not a few honors.

Interfraternity Baseball.

The interfraternity baseball schedule has been completed, after seven weeks of arranging and computing at the gymnasium office. Beginning Wednesday, the varsity and parade grounds which have been secured for the interfrat tourney have become the scenes of strenuous contests among the Greek ball players. From now until Saturday, May 15, every day will be marked by the playing of at least two games, while on several days there are at least four games scheduled. Twenty fraternities have entered the tournament: Theta Delta Chi, Delta Chi, Phi Kappa Psi, Chi Psi, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa, St Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Chi, Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Upsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Acacia and Zeta Psi. An interesting feature of the present tourney is the fact that the majority of the games will be played at 6 a. m., which will insure hearty appetites for the participants. The championship will be awarded on the basis of the number of games played and won.

Honors Won in Tryouts.

In the Sigma Delta Psi tryouts on Northrop field Tuesday night, several men came a step nearer to membership in the athletic fraternity. Staadsvold, Taylor and B. E. Johnson each made senior grade in the two events tried—the pole vault and the 100-yard dash. The senior requirement for the pole vault is 8½ feet; two others, Hathaway and Quong, made the junior requirement of 7 feet 9 inches. The 100-yard dash proved easier for the athletes. Altogether eleven made the senior grade requirement, 11 3-10 seconds, and three others, the junior grade, 12 seconds flat. Those who ran in 11.3 or less were Ballentyne, Hathaway, Pribnow, Johnson, Taylor, McVeedy, Staadsvold, Quong, Kleffman, Wyman and Montgomery. Otto, Gilman and Dean ran the 100 yards in 12 seconds.

WENT TO BOTTOM OF CANYON IN METZ CAR

To the bottom of the Grand Canyon and back again is probably the most strenuous undertaking ever carried out in the annals of American motoring, yet this has now, for the first time, actually been accomplished and by a Metz "22."

Full details how, and who accomplished this seemingly impossible feat is very clearly and interestingly told within the pages of a booklet entitled "Through the Grand Canyon."

The booklet is not only graphically written, but portrays actual facts, and photographs are shown of the many obstacles encountered through such an undertaking. The story is of special interest, because not only is it really true, but is profusely illustrated with actual photographs taken at the time by the parties making this strenuous but highly-interesting trip.

THE GOOD JUDGE SPENDS A NIGHT AT HIS CLUB.

"IF HE MISSES IT HE'LL THINK SOME OF THE MEMBERS GOT IT.
LOOK! I TOLD THE VALET TO BRUSH MY CLOTHES, BUT HE'S DOING SOMETHING ELSE.
JUDGE, THE VALET LIKES THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW JUST AS WELL AS WE DO.

FOR years men searched for the Real Tobacco Chew—and you bet they know when they've found it.

Ever since the Real Tobacco Chew first came out its fame has been spreading from one town to another.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

Chicago 4; Pittsburgh 1.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 1.—Chicago defeated Pittsburgh yesterday through the excellent pitching of Zabel. Coombs Wins Initial Game.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Jack Coombs, the former star twirler of the Philadelphia Americans, pitched his first full game as a National leaguer for Brooklyn yesterday and Philadelphia was defeated 2 to 1. Coombs was wild but brilliant fielding by Schultz saved him from being scored on in two innings. In the ninth, with two men out and runners on second and first, Coombs ended the game by throwing to Cutshaw and catching Welser off second. Rixey kept his opponents' hits scattered, one of the visitors' runs being due to a muff by Becker. Score:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Sox Beat Tigers.

Chicago, May 1.—Urban Faber held Detroit to three scattered hits yesterday while his team-mates bunched their hits off Dubuc, and Chicago won a pitchers' battle 4 to 1. Detroit's lone run was a gift. Cobb drew a base on balls, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly. The visitors threatened to score in the sixth inning, but Cobb, who had reached third base, was trapped by a sensational play started by Eddie Collins, and was nipped a few feet off third base, following Crawford's single. This play was the feature of the game. Score:

Chicago	0 1 0 1 0 0 0 2 x —	4	7	0

Senators Take Lion's Share.

Washington, May 1.—Washington made it three out of four games from Philadelphia yesterday by batting Wyckoff hard in three innings, winning 6 to 1. A double and single in the ninth gave the visitors their only run. Boehling was in good form and only two Philadelphia players reached third base. Score:

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Play Tight Game.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—Errors by Berg and Clark put two Minneapolis runners on the bases in the seventh and Altizer was passed. Cashion's triple scored all three and Jennings' single brought in the tieing run. Altizer's double, an intentional pass to Cashion, Jennings' sacrifice and Gooch's single scored the winning run of yesterday's Minneapolis victory in the ninth. Score:

STARS OF DULUTH CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL TRACK TEAM

In preparation for an unusually active season, the Central high school track squad is being put through some hard training by Coach Glyer. The men have been favored by unusual weather and have been out every night for the last week practicing hurdles, the dashes and some of the longer runs. Capt. Hrutiford is leading the squad, having practically recovered from the injury sustained to his knee some time ago. Not all of the men have come out yet, but it is expected that the full squad will be out next week.

The men are especially enthusiastic in their work, in that prospects of going to the state meet on May 29 are at present rather favorable. About five or six of the best men will be sent, and it is expected that they will be able to make a good showing. On May 14 the interclass meet will be held; on the following Friday, May 21, the Central and Denfeld athletes will clash; on June 5 the annual dual meet between the four schools of Duluth and Superior will be held. The Superior Central men have been out for some time, and they expect to win the affair this year. The local men, however, are just as confident. The high-jumping and weight work will be started next week.

SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF ADOPTION OF BASEBALL RULES

Enthusiastic Fan Suggests Event Be Commemorated in September—Australian Cyclist Coming to United States.

New York, May 1.—An enthusiastic baseball fan arises to suggest that on Sept. 23 of this year the baseball magnates commemorate in some fashion the seventieth anniversary of the adoption of the playing rules which form the basis of the present code of the game. These rules adopted by the Knickerbocker Association of New York in 1845, read as follows:

"The bases shall be from 'home' to second base, forty-five paces; from first to third base, forty-two paces, equidistant.

"The game to consist of twenty-one counts, or aces (runs) but at the conclusion an equal number of hands (innings for each side) must be played.

"The ball must be pitched, not thrown, for the bat.

"A ball knocked out of the field, or outside the range of first or third base is foul.

"Three balls being struck at and missed, and the last one caught is a hand out; if not caught is considered fair and the striker bound to run.

"If a ball be struck or tipped, and caught either flying or on the first bound it is a hand out.

"A player running who shall prevent an adversary from catching or getting the ball before making his base is a hand out.

"Three hands out, all out.

"Players must take their strikes in regular turn.

"All disputes and differences relative to the game to be decided by the umpire, from which there is no appeal.

"No ace (score) or base can be made on a foul strike.

"A runner cannot be put out in making one base when a balk is made by the pitcher.

"But one base allowed when a ball bounds out of the field when struck."

Australian Cyclist Coming.

Aubrey F. Taylor, the Australian cyclist, who recently completed a successful season of competition by winning several Antipodean titles, is en route for this country. Taylor left Sydney about the middle of April and will tour the United States during the coming summer and autumn. He has shown excellent racing form this year, winning the five-mile and ten-miles championships from a high class field in March, in addition to several other minor title events.

Cuban Marathon Runner.

An interesting sidelight of the recent Willard-Johnson heavyweight bout at Havana, Cuba, was the appearance of Felix Carvajol, the Cuban long-distance runner, at the ringside. Caravajol's reputation as a runner in the United States is based upon his feat in finishing fourth in the Olympic Marathon held in St. Louis in 1904. Although defeated by Thomas Hicks, Alfred Corey and A. L. Newton, all under American colors, the Cuban ran a wonderful race when his handicaps are considered, and had the honor of being the first of the foreign entrants to finish.

Previous to the race, Caravajol was a mail carrier in Cuba, who jogged over his route at a steady and apparently tireless trot. He first attracted attention when he ran the length of the island in remarkable time. As a result of this feat a few friends raised enough money to send him to the United States for the Marathon in connection with the Olympic games of 1904. Caravajol landed in New York with just enough money to purchase his meals, not realizing that St. Louis was not a part of New York city.

In order to reach the scene of the race he was obliged to spend his food fund and arrived in St. Louis without a penny. He had not eaten for two days previous to the race, which he ran in heavy street shoes, a colorless cotton shirt and his only pair of trousers, cut off at the knees. Without assistance or an attendant, the unknown Cuban dog-trotted along the course, stopping frequently to beg food and water from the spectators. At one point he spent fully half an hour in a roadside apple orchard. Despite these delays, Caravajol finished in fourth place, the freshest of all the runners. It was the general opinion that had he been properly attended and coached, he would have won the 1904 Olympic marathon easily.

Today Caravajol is guide and runner for Havana's leading hotel. Still trim and browned, he can trot mile after mile with little apparent effort, but admits that he is too old to run in the next international marathon. He expresses regret in a casual way that he was not prepared, financially and otherwise, for his St. Louis race, which he still believes he could have won in easy fashion. Caravajol is conversant with athletics in both the United States and Europe, and will spend an evening discussing in broken English the performances of the stars of the cinder track. One chapter of his athletic career is sealed, however, for Caravajol will not tell how he managed to return to Cuba. He simply shrugs his shoulders and changes the subject when questioned on this point of his invasion of the United States.

The English Golfers.

Final decision on the part of a number of the leading English professional golfers relative to participating in the United States open championship is expected within the next few days. Edward Ray and Harry Vardon have already announced their intention of competing in the open title tournament at Baltusrol June 15-18. George Duncan, James Braid and J. H. Taylor have intimated that they will make the trip to the States and should all five compete in the open event it will prove one of the few real international contests of the year.

These five players between them have won the English open championship seventeen times in the past twenty-one years. Vardon has captured the title six times; Taylor five time; Braid five times and Ray once. Vardon also won the United States open in 1900 when the title tourney was played at the Chicago Golf club at Wheaton, Ill. In 1913 Ray and Vardon tied with Francis Ouimet in the final round at Brookline, Mass., being defeated in the play-off by the youthful American golfer after one of the most sensational matches ever played on an American course. Their participation in the United States championship would lift that event to the international plane held by the 1913 tournament when the leading professionals of England and France met the best American amateurs and professionals at Brookline, Mass.

Tour to Be Abandoned.

The proposed tour of Australasia by the Leland Stanford university baseball team is likely to be abandoned for the coming year at least. Advices from Sydney state that owing to the war such a trip would prove a financial failure. The California collegians outlined a schedule providing for a stay of some thirty odd days in Australia with the possibility of a side trip to New Zealand. The New South Wales Baseball association did not, however, feel that conditions warranted the encouragement of the tour. In normal times such a series of games between Stanford and the Australasian university nines would undoubtedly pay all expenses of the trip, but the unsettled affairs of the commonwealths proved a stumbling block in the present negotiations.

Jackson	1	4	.200

Some close and exciting baseball games marked the work of the Duluth Grade School baseball schedule of yesterday. This was true of the games in the western division of the league. In the eastern division some rather one-sided contests were marked up.

The Jackson school team yesterday won its first game of the season, taking the Emersons into camp by the close score of 12 to 11. Brown worked in the box for the winning team, while Strum and Anderson did the flinging for the Emersons.

The Bryants defeated the Monroe team by the score of 14 to 9, thereby climbing into fourth place. The Adams defeated the Irvings by the close and exciting score of 17 to 16. This was one of the most exciting games of the season to date and it was watched by a large crowd of interested spectators.

In the Eastern division of the league the Endion team went down to defeat before the Washingtons, the score being 17 to 11. The Jeffersons put over an annihilating defeat on the Franklins, defeating the hillside boys by the humiliating count of 26 to 1. Cole worked in the box for the Jeffersons and proved a puzzle. Abelson was found freely by the Jefferson hitters.

In the other game of the division, the Salter school team took the measure of the Washburns by the score of 16 to 5.

Jeffersons Have Lead.

In the Eastern division, the Jeffersons have a nice lead on the other six teams of the league. The Jeffs have not as yet tasted the bitterness of defeat, winning all of their five games. The Lakesides are making a fight of it.

The great battery work of Willis and Swanson has kept the Adams in the lead in the Western division. While it is stated that several of the teams in the Western division excel the Adams boys in the point of all-around play, Willis in the box for the Blue and White team and Swanson at the receiving end of the battery have proved an almost unsurmountable object in the path of the other teams.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Bloomington, Ind., May 1.—Wisconsin bunched hits in the first inning and defeated Indiana, 4 to 2, in a Western conference game here yesterday. All of Indiana's hits, two singles and a triple were made in the fourth inning when the local team scored its runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Wisconsin	4	8	1
Indiana	2	8	5

Chicago, May 1.—Pounding Northwestern's pitchers and taking advantage of errors by the home team, Iowa yesterday defeated the Purple in its race for the conference championship, 14 to 4. Coach Murphy used four pitchers while Ingham worked the entire game for the visitors. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Northwestern	4	6	6
U. of Iowa	14	9	4

Hanover, N. H., May 1.—Cornell bunched hits in two innings and defeated Dartmouth, 4 to 2 yesterday.

IOWANS AND GOPHERS IN INITIAL TRACK MEET

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—A team of twenty track athletes from Iowa university will compete this afternoon against the University of Minnesota in the first intercollegiate track meet of the year on Northrop field.

Iowa's team includes several stars who have made a fine showing against Minnesota in previous years. Capt. Schrader of the Hawkeyes made five firsts against Minnesota in the dual meet last year at Des Moines, and Mortimer, Parsons and Dutton have conference reputations.

Among Minnesota's point winners are Rosenthal, Bierman, Molumby and McKay.

A meeting of the Duluth Amateur Baseball league is scheduled for today. All of the managers of the various teams are expected to be present. Arrangements will be made for the opening of the season at Athletic park.

The Fitwells will meet the Solon Springs team at Solon Springs tomorrow afternoon.

Zeniths Defeat Moose.

The strong Zenith team yesterday defeated the Moose Baseball team by the score at 12 to 10. The score was tied in the ninth round, when Anderson came to bat and hit a homer with one man on.

Jutens to Travel.

The fast Juten baseball team will play the Two Harbors team at Two Harbors Sunday. There will be a parade and other festivities incident to the opening of the season.

ROWING RACES ON SCHEDULE

Senior Fours and Bantams Will Be Seen in Action.

The weekly regatta of the boat club oarsmen will be held late this afternoon on the bay course of the club. Jimmy Ten Eyck will send out his eights for a brush over the course. The senior fours will also race down the course, Horak's veteran machine being opposed by a four made out of last year's junior eight. The bantams will also be out.

Followers of rowing are showing considerable interest in the senior four event. This will be the first real opportunity of the season to get a line on the going on the national championship four, also the first opportunity to see the new senior four men in action.

Hard Trip for Metz.

A Metz twenty-two motored to Little Marais early this week, going from Duluth to the north shore village in exactly seven hours. The trip was made without any mishap, although a number of bad stretches were encountered along the highway near the destination.

Pared to the Bone.

Chicago, May 1.—The Chicago Americans cut their roster down to the legal limit last night by releasing Howard Baker, utility infielder, to Little Rock in the Southern league, and William Lathrop to Kansas City in the American association.

THREE RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS OF LIFE

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—Two employes of the Detroit United Railway and a flagman of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad were yesterday held responsible for the recent collision between a street car and a D., T. & I. freight train at a West side crossing when fifteen persons were killed in the accident. A coroner's jury whose investigation of the crash lasted more than a week, made its report last evening. The men blamed for the accident are George Asam and Richard Vallade, conductor and motorman, respectively, of the street car, and Flagman Fred J. Sutton, whose post was the scene of the collision.

PASSENGERS RESCUED FROM DISABLED SHIP

San Diego, Cal., May 1.—Braving seas and a furious gale, a boatload of sailors from the American-Hawaiian steamship American rescued fifteen passengers last night from the Mexican steamer Victoria, disabled and leaking badly, off the Colorado islands just south of this port.

In response to urgent signals of distress from the disabled steamer, Capt. Schermerhorn of the American, who had himself been compelled to seek shelter of the islands, launched a lifeboat and by clever seamanship succeeded in placing the boat alongside the crippled craft.

After her passengers were taken off, the Victoria moved to more sheltered anchorage and, according to lake radiograms, it is believed she will ride out the storm, although her seams are reported to have been opened badly.

INDIAN WOMAN DISAPPEARS

Children Have Claims Worth $25,000; Mother Aided By Charities.

Missing Since Wednesday Night; Husband Fears Foul Play.

Although her four children have land claims on the La Pointe, Wis., Indian reservation valued at nearly $25,000, Mrs. John Van Buren is believed to have left her home at 120 First avenue west because of the husband's failure to provide for the family. They had been married seventeen years.

She has been missing since Wednesday night, and the husband lost a temporary position as rug cleaner at the Zenith Dye works because he was searching for his wife and failed to appear for work Thursday morning.

"She went to a 'movie' theater Wednesday night," said Mr. Van Buren to the police yesterday, "and we haven't seen her since." Police today declared that they believed the missing woman still was in Duluth, as she had been seen on Superior street, near the Zelda theater, Thursday night.

For several weeks the Van Buren family has had a hard struggle, as Mr. Van Buren has been out of work. During the last few days they have been helped by the Associated Charities and before that the Deaconess' home had aided Mrs. Van Buren.

Through Miss Edna Meeker of the Associated Charities, an attorney was secured for them, and an attempt was made to mortgage the reservation claims for enough to provide them with means of living. Mrs. Van Buren was to have made a trip to the La Pointe reservation yesterday to arrange the mortgage.

Mrs. Van Buren is a half--breed Indian, while her husband is one-eighth Indian, he told police. Some time ago the husband was employed on the fire department, and later did special work for the police department.

"I don't think she deserted me," he declared, "I don't know what to think. She always was a good wife and mother. She may come back. Something tells me she has met with foul play, because she was so trustful of everyone."

Mrs. Van Buren is described as 32 years of age, dark complexioned, weight about 135 pounds, and 5 feet 4 inches tall. She wore a gray coat and a dark blue skirt when last seen.

Two of the children are attending the Indian school at Pipestone and two are in Duluth with the father.

WEST END

LOYALTY GROWS WITH ABSENCE

Col. Ives Returs From Coast More Confirmed Duluthian.

"Duluth is, in my opinion, undoubtedly the best city in the country and I am glad to get back," said Col. S. D. Ives, proprietor of the Rex hotel, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, who, with Mrs. Ives, just returned from a two months trip to California and the West coast.

"The Panama-Pacific exposition is great," he continued. "In my opinion it is far ahead of the exposition at St. Louis or any other that has been held in recent years. Its buildings are magnificent and the fair is attracting thousands of sight-seers."

Col. and Mrs. Ives visited in Los Angeles and while there, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Fedji formerly of the West end.

Mr. Ives said that commercially and industrially there was little doing in California or any other part of the West. The parks, he said, are filled, day and night, with idle men and in some of the places the municipalities have begun to feed the idle one meal each day.

"Industrial conditions west of Minnesota are not worth speaking about," said the colonel. "There appears to be nothing doing in the West. Until we got within the borders of Minnesota things were quiet. But here it is different and Duluth is the best spot in the state.

"A trip like that is good balm for the man who is a pessimist in this locality. Knockers in Duluth should visit other cities and note the difference. When they come back they will have a better regard for Duluth, the best city in the country."

READY FOR SUMMER SPORTS NEXT WEEK

Spaa Club Playgrounds Being Cleaned and Enlarged.

The Spaa club playgrounds in the rear of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will be ready for summer activities before the middle of next week. A crew of men has been busily engaged in preparing the addition to the ground during the last few days and with the work of today and Monday it is expected that the job may be completed.

The work has been done principally through volunteers on the part of the young men of the church. The addition to the playground is just east of the grounds that have been used by the club for the last two years and will add a space 50 by 60 feet. This will make the playground 150 by 60 feet.

Indoor baseball will be one of the principal amusements this year. Four teams have been organized among the church members, and these will play on regular schedules. Volley ball and tennis as well as other games will be played.

The Spaa club has developed several good athletes since its organization two years ago. In the inter-church Sunday school meet held last evening at the Y. M. C. A., the local club made an excellent showing, securing several firsts, seconds and thirds in the different events.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN RETARDED BY CITY

Dumping of Rubbish in Vacant Lots Will Be Stopped.

The clean-up campaign in the West end is being retarded by the street cleaning force of the public works department, according to L. A. Simonson, president of the West End Commercial club. Rubbish and dirt taken from the streets are being dumped in vacant lots between Twenty-first and Twenty-third avenues near Superior street, and the result is the undoing of the work started by school children.

Mr. Simonson says that in many instances the rubbish thrown on these lots is becoming scattered about, getting back on the sidewalks and streets, making the lots unsightly and an eyesore to the community.

The complaint is to be investigated at once by Commissioner J. A. Farrell, and he has promised to stop the practice if conditions are as reported.

SWEDISH ATHLETES ORGANIZE CLUB

Are to Compete in Track Events on Midsummer Day.

The formation of an athletic association which will be known as the Swedish Athletic club will be perfected at a meeting of Swedish young men of the city at Sloan's hall, Monday evening. Every young man of the nationality interested in clean sports is invited to attend the meeting.

According to leaders in the movement, the club will promote all kinds of healthy outdoor sports the entire year around. Baseball, and other season's sports will be featured during the summer, association football will be one of the features of the fall activities and skiing, skating, wrestling, and other winter sports will be carried on during that part of the year.

"We intend, if possible, to get together a good track team to enter in the sports program at the midsummer festival to be held June 24 under the auspices of the Swedish American National league," said Ernest Johnson, one of the leaders in the movement, this morning. "If possible we will try to have the midsummer's festival committee arrange for mile, two-mile and five-mile races, as well as relay races of considerable length. Other track events will be welcomed on the program."

Others who are interested in the formation of the club are Henry Nyquist, Gottfred Johnson and John Thor. The principal feature of the meeting Monday night will be the forming of a permanent organization and the election of officers.

SAFETY HEAD AND PARTY MAKE PERSONAL INSPECTION OF CITY'S CONTAGIOUS HOSPITALS

Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division, yesterday morning made a personal inspection of the contagious and isolation hospitals.

According to officials of the health department, the visit of Mr. Silberstein to these institutions yesterday is the first made by a public official in many years. As a result of his visit the commissioner has ordered a number of improvements to both structures, including also the beautifying of the grounds surrounding the buildings.

A trip to the two buildings was made in Chief Randall's automobile, the party including Commissioner Silberstein, Health Director Fahey and Park Manager Cleveland. On arriving at the contagious hospital at Thirteenth avenue west and Third street, Park Manager Cleveland and Chief Randall "backed out" and refused to go into the building. The others, however, donned white uniforms as a protection and went through. They were shown about by Dr. J. R. Manley, assistant health director, and Misses Helen O'Connell and Madeline Cheadle, nurses in charge.

From there the party went to the isolation hospital, adjoining the poor farm, where Nell McDougal took the visitors through the buildings.

MOTHERS' DAY SUNDAY, MAY 9

White and Red Flowers Will Be Worn on This Occasion.

"For mother's memory flowers white, For mothers living, flowers bright."

Sunday, May 9, will be Mothers' day. This is the day on which all the nation pays a tribute to motherhood.

Flowers have been chosen as the most appropriate medium for expressing devotion and affection and many of these floral tokens are expected to be in evidence in Duluth at that time.

Duluth florists are looking forward to a big demand for flowers for Mothers' day. The idea of wearing a red flower if one's mother is living and a white one if she is not is still in vogue.

Mothers living find measureless joy in flowers and it is now the practice on Mothers' day to make a floral gift. Flowers of all kinds are deemed suitable and floral tokens of all kinds will be sent out.

ASKS $10,000 FROM ALLEGED KIDNAPERS

Action Brought By Former Crosby Man Against Eleven Defendants.

Charging he was kidnaped from Crosby, Minn., Theodore Sjogren, now of Amasa, Mich., has brought action in the United States district court for $10,000 damages against his alleged kidnapers.

As defendants the petition names Gerge L. Payne, Peter L. Newman, James Sullivan, W. J. Sullivan, A. C. Anderson, H. J. Kruse, Henry Breen, R. I. Sewell, Rogers Brown Ore company, a corporation of West Virginia; Claude M. Atkinson and Herman Lefko, all of Crosby.

Sjogren declares that he was kidnaped from Crosby, taken in an automobile to Brainerd, kept there seven hours, and then forced to go to Duluth on April 17, 1913. He alleges that he was seriously bruised, and still is afraid to go back to Crosby. He states that he knows no reason for his being kidnaped.

G. L. Payne, Peter L. Newman and W. J. Sullivan he charges to be the ones who actually kidnaped him, but all of the other defendants he alleges were in the plot.

DEMAND EQUAL RIGHTS FOR JEWS

Labor Unions to Take Part in Demonstration Against War.

New York, May 1.—Members of fifty labor unions have promised to take part today in a series of parades and demonstrations here and in New Jersey as a protest against the war and to demand equal rights for Jews in Europe at the end of the conflict. Thousands of girl workers in the garment industry wearing white uniforms with red sashes participated in a parade to terminate in Union Square where speeches demanding equal rights for Jews were to delivered in a dozen languages.

Another parade to include Socialists, German singing societies and Bohemian, Jewish and Slavonic organizations was to start on the East Side and also terminate with speches in Union Square.

LABOR DAY FOR SOCIALISTS

Parade, Address and Other Features Included in the Program.

Morris Kaplan Will Speak on "International Labor."

Although International Labor day is usually celebrated on May 1 by workers in all parts of the world, Duluth Socialists and some laboring men will observe the day tomorrow, Sunday, May 2, with a parade and a program at the Auditorium. The postponement is merely a matter of convenience.

Owing to the war abroad, it is expected that the observance will be largely confined to the United States.

Duluth Socialists are expected to turn out in great force. Features of the program will be a street parade which will start from the postoffice square, down to Superior street and thence to the Auditorium, and an address by Morris Kaplan. The American flag and the red flag of the Socialist party will head the parade and each branch of the organization will appear with their respective banners.

Mr. Kaplan, the speaker for the occasion, will take for his subject the topic of "International Labor." The program at the Auditorium will also include musical selections by various bands which will take part in the parade.

International Labor day was set apart for observance by the International Socialists congress that met in Paris in the year 1889.

The outbreak of European hostilities and the stunning effect of the demoralization of the international organization of the Socialists, is looked upon by the members of the Duluth organization as most important. The turnout on Sunday afternoon, it is said, will demonstrate the true standing of the party members and show to what extent they have adhered to the fundamental principals of the movement.

Tomorrow evening at the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Grand avenue, Rev. Robert Ford will deliver a sermon on "Christianity and Socialism," to which Socialists, laboring men and others are invited to attend. The services will start at 8 o'clock.

The week following May day will be devoted to the solicitation of new members for the party and seeking subscriptions to Socialist publications.

Steps are being taken by the local organization to bring Tom J. Lewis to Duluth immediately following the lecture to be given by Debs in June.

PLEADS FOR HELP IN SEARCH OF WIFE

Willow River Farmer Tells Pathetic Story to Duluth Police.

"My wife began to nag at me because I could not get a better place to stay, and now she's gone, but I want her back and I want the children.

"Won't you please find her for me?"

Reinhard Nortlup, a German farmer living near Willow River, Minn., vencrable with his long white beard and gray hair, pleaded with police yesterday to help him find his missing wife. Holding in lease a shaggy white dog, Nortlup haunted headquarters for nearly an hour yesterday afternoon, and then went out and walked up and down Superior street.

Late in the evening he returned and said he thought he had seen his wife on a street car, and pleaded with the officers to renew the efforts to find her.

He refused to be comforted, or to return to his home as the police suggested, and finally was given accommodations for the night at headquarters.

A story of misfortunes which came to a climax when the Nortlup home burned to the ground, was told Capt. A. G. Fiskett, who promised to try to find the missing woman.

FAVOR CRUSHED ROCK MACADAM

Munger Club Decides on Paving Wanted for East Ninth Street.

If East Ninth street is paved this year, it will be improved with crushed rock macadam, a majority of the property owners along the thoroughfare favoring that material.

Commissioner Farrell has announced that several improvements will have to be abandoned this year in order that the city might be able to reduce the $100,000 debt at least $30,000 and in all probability the East Ninth street pavement will be included. However, in case the owners want it badly enough, he said this morning, the improvement will be made.

A number of the property owners met with the Munger Improvement club at the Munger school last evening and after some discussion, crushed rock macadam was unanimously agreed upon as the most desirable pavement for the thoroughfare. The pavement will extend from Seventh to Fourteenth avenues east.

Commissioner Farrell attended the meeting and explained a number of features relative to the East Ninth street pavement.

LIBERTY DAY FOR THE POLES

Duluthians Will Celebrate Anniversary of Poland's Independence.

Ray Hughes, Mayor Prince and Others Will Give Addresses.

The 121st anniversary of adoption of the Polish constitution of May 3, 1794, will be celebrated by the Polish-Americans of Duluth tomorrow at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, at 3:30 p. m. at a mass meeting of all Poles in the city.

Polish Independence.

The adoption of this constitution is of great importance and significance to every liberty-loving Polish-American citizen, because it is one of the greatest events in Polish history. It established freedom to all classes of the Polish people, and equal rights and privileges before the laws of the country. It is said to have been the first liberal constitution adopted by any of the nations of Europe. It was the work of the greatest minds of Poland, patterned as much as possible after the American constitution, by such men and patriots as Kosciuszko and Niemcuwltz, who returned from the United States, and were the guiding spirits in forming the fundamental principles of this document. But unfortunately the Polish constitution was too progressive in spirit and privileges for the neighboring nations, or rather their rulers, who in fear for their thrones, combined together, overpowered the small army of Poland, and divided the country between them to make it powerless, crushing the nation with their iron hands.

An excellent program has been arranged for the celebration, Mayor Prince and all of the city commissioners will be present. Ray M. Hughes will make the principal address in English.

Other features of the program will be recitations and music by Polish school children, and instrumental numbers by a Polish orchestra. Rev. S. A. Iclek will also be one of the chief speakers. Tomorrow's program follows:

Kindergarten Gives Pretty May Festival Before Large Audience

THE ADAMS SCHOOL "GERMAN CHILDREN."

Every seat in the Central high school auditorium was taken last evening for the May festival given by the kindergarten children and many small members of the audience lined up along the balcony railing, for standing was a mere trifle as long as their friends were real actors and actresses.

For the Woodland scene the stage was decorated attractively with hanging baskets of flowers, around which pink butterflies fluttered. The background was of green with pink flowers.

The part of the child who was lost was taken by Doris Gotkin. After it grew dark she fell asleep and was covered with flowers and leaves by the mischievous elves, Trip, Clip, Snip, Flip, Rip, Nip and Hip, pupils of the Lakeside kindergarten. The fairy queen, Miss Evonne Roberts, gave a graceful dance that was arranged by Miss Nellie Stoughton. The fairy queen was attended by the flower children, Clover Blossom, Daisy, Briar Rose, Violet, Buttercup, Harebell, Dandelion and Forget-me-not, kindergartners of the normal school. The fairy crowned the lost child queen of the May and called on the children of various countries to pay her homage.

Audience Neutral.

Judging from the applause that greeted the appearance of the national flags, the audience was either cosmopolitan or neutral. First on this part of the program were the children of the Jefferson kindergarten, who gave an Irish woodland scene that included a dance and told how a baby and that ventured too far was taken home by a kind firefly. Before the curtain rose on the Irish scene two children who are too young to go to even a kindergarten, Margaret Trever and Pollock Trevor, respectively 4 and 2 years old, danced a jig to the great delight of the spectators.

The children of the Monroe kindergarten wore effective costumes in the Swedish colors, the boys in military suits and the girls representing Swedish flags. They marched and sang the Swedish folk songs, while two of the boys held a large flag of the country they represented.

A quaint folk dance was given by the Adams school children who represented Germany.

The kindergarten children of Salter school were pickaninnies. The boys wore overalls and "jimmy" hats and the girls gingham aprons and sunbonnets.

The French children, kindergartners of the Jackson school, were dainty misses who took their dolls out for an airing in rose-decorated carriages.

Munger school children, who represented England, danced an old-time minuet; those of Franklin school gave a characteristic Japanese scene, and those of Washington school, as American children, closed the program with a May Pole dance.

The festival was arranged by Miss Mabel Culkin, who had the assistance of Miss Emma Ghering, Miss Harriet Shannon, Miss Agnes Buchanan, Miss Alta Owens, Miss Elsie Overman, Miss Dorothy Gordon, Mrs. A. M. Boer, Miss Alesa Leopold, Miss Letitia Nesbitt and Miss Florence Bradley.

The Esther Gomberg orchestra played an enjoyable program before the festival and at intervals durng the evening.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Mothers Should Trust the Future.

A woman writing in a periodical undertakes to give her reasons for not becoming the mother of one or more children and thus fulfilling her duty to the race. Her reasons are built purely upon the financial status of herself and husband, their limitations, and primarily their lack of faith in themselves and the future. At least one of them lacks confidence, and, strangely enough, that one dominates the other in this respect, so that they may both be said to be without confidence in themselves.

Such a woman trusts nothing to the future, and we must do this if we would progress or even live right. She is peculiarly without hope for the future and lacking in confidence in her own and her husband's abilities. She is practical to the point where practicalness becomes a glaring defect. She is the sort of a woman who would have to be guaranteed a competency for life before she would assume a responsibility which would be shirked or avoided.

The woman who wrote this article evidently has a genius for imagination and foresees evils that could befall her husband as well as herself. They might be sick and the earning capacity of one or both curtailed. It would be better, though not as practical, if she would refuse to dwell upon the possibilities of sickness, and if she did do so, she should try and make herself believe that her husband's employer would be just enough to send him a good proportion of his wages during any such illness. This is often done, you know.

She dwells upon the fact that her husband might lose his job permanently, and she be forever deprived of earning a small competence as a writer, and that both would be cast upon the world's mercies. But she would do well to remember that under normal conditions there are other positions open and no man or woman, sober and industrious, need starve to death. Why not look forward to more prosperous times when the war is over than to the present distress magnified greatly because the nations of the old world are at war.

It would be about as sensible for a man or woman to say that they would not take the car for their place of business tomorrow morning for fear that something awful might happen, as to refuse to bring a child into the world for fear of your inability to support it. If we did not trust to the future nothing would be accomplished and the world would stand still.

Today is the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the Bishop's club, that was known for about five years as Our Lady's union. It was organized at the suggestion of Bishop McGolrick, in whose honor it was later given its present name. It has always been primarily a literary organization, but early in its history a committee was appointed to visit the hospitals and the jail and to distribute papers and magazines to the inmates and patients. This year the poor farm was added to the list. A study has been made of the Bible under the direction of Bishop McGolrick, and all the countries of the world have been studied during its twenty years of meetings. Those who have held the office of president are: Mrs. J. F. Dacey, Mrs. L. H. Corcoran, Mrs. J. F. Killorin, Miss Jean Poirier, Mrs. H. F. Ely, now of Minneapolis; Mrs. L. K. Daugherty, Mrs. M. H. Kelley, Mrs. F. R. Kennedy, Mrs. D. McDonald and Mrs. A. V. Kelly. Mrs. Killorin is completing her second term as president.

St. Anthony's guild, a charitable department that was added to the club this year, has done much to relieve suffering during the unusualy trying winter.

Several years ago the club added a department known as the Orphanage Sewing guild. The members meet every Monday afternoon to sew and mend for the children of St. James' orphanage. The sewing guild completed its year's work Monday, at which time the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mrs. George Harkness; vice chairman, Mrs. J. R. McKinnon; secretary, Miss E. Burns, and treasurer, Mrs. P. B. Reilly. Since Oct. 6 there have been twenty-eight meetings, with an average attendance of fourteen. There are twenty-eight active members and three associate members. This year the guild has made 233 garments for children at the orphanage, out of material bought with donations and the proceeds from a cooking sale and benefit party, and has made 445 pieces of bedding from material donated by the Guild of St. James.

Mrs. E. Frank Barker of 2401 Lake avenue south entertained a few guests at tea Tuesday in honor of Rev. John B. Dunlop, who has been a missionary in Kanazawa, in the province of Kago, Japan, for twenty-eight years. Dr. Dunlop was the author of the first articles printed in this country, on mobilization of the Japanese army. These were contributed to the Outlook magazine in 1904. He is keenly in sympathy with the Japanese, after his many years among them. He thinks certain privileged classes, at least, should be permitted to come to America and own land. He said in brief:

"I shall feel happy for the day to come, when the Americans and Japanese understand each other more thoroughly."

He confided to Mrs. Barker the system by which he learned the first 4,000 of the 70,000 symbols in Japanese writing, for her further aid in learning the language. Dr. Dunlop is very enthusiastic over Mrs. Barker's knowledge of the Japanese language, and the Hiroganna Kanji Nipponji (70,000 indographs) and Katakana scripts, as well as the literature, history and costumes of the Japanese people, which he stated was very remarkable.

Dr. Dunlop will leave Wednesday to continue his American trip. He will return to Japan in two months, having completed his leave of absence. He was the first self-supporting missionary in Japan.

Famous Welsh Harpist as Soloist With Orchestra

HENRY J. WILLIAMS.

MEMBERS of the Welsh societies of Duluth and Superior are anticipating with eagerness the appearance of Henry J. Williams, the celebrated harpist, who will be one of the soloists with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, when it appears here under the auspices of the Duluth Curling club, on June 4 and 5.

Henry J. Williams was born in Abergabenny, South Wales, in 1882. The playing of the harp dates back to antiquity in the Williams family, so it was but natural that young Henry James should take up the study of this beautiful but difficult instrument so beloved by the Welsh.

His principal teacher was John Thomas of the Royal Academy of Music at London, and harpist to the late Queen Victoria and King Edward. Graduating with high honors, Williams spent several years as a member of Sir Henry Wood's orchestra in London, and other English organizations, and filling concert engagements throughout England, Wales and Scotland. In 1902 he came to America on a visit to relatives, but was induced to remain, traveling as a concert harpist for five years until 1908, when he was engaged as harpist of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, which position he still holds.

Mr. Williams is the proud possessor of the coveted gold medal carrying with it the title of "Best Solo Harpist in England, Scotland and Wales," won at three successive Estifood, held annually in Wales.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Wallace Cup Defenders Chosen; Planning Commencement Exercises.

Girls Admitted to Lambs' Club; Central Debaters Defeat Denfeld Team.

The finals to select the Central high school oratory and declamatory representatives for the Wallace cup contest with Superior on May 14, were held at the school during the past week. On Monday four were named to compete in chapel Wednesday for the honor of declamatory representatives, and on the afternoon of the following day four were chosen to compete in chapel Friday for the honor of representing the school in oratory.

In chapel Wednesday morning, Roberta Ritchie, with her selections, "Grandmother's Story of the Bunker Hill Battle," won first place. Emanuel Cook presented a sketch entitled, "Experiences With European Guides," and was awarded second place. The other speakers were Ruth Fisher, whose selection was "The Soul of the Old Violin," and Evangeline Trolander, who delivered "As the Moon Rose." This was the oratorical tryout.

The declamatory final tryout was held in chapel yesterday morning, and resulted in Irving Grover, with his "Tribute to John A. Johnson," winning first consideration. Speaking on "War and Peace," Albert Armstrong won second honors. Galen Pearson spoke on "National Honor and Peace," and Max Goldberg's subject was "Alcohol."

The Wallace cup contest will be held this year in either the Central or Denfeld high school auditoriums, probably the latter. The schools competing will be Superior Central, Nelson-Dewey high, Denfeld high, and Duluth Central. The only schools to have won any decisions in the several years during which the cup has been up were the Duluth and Superior Centrals. The latter institution claims the greatest number of wins. The school winning the cup the greatest number of times in ten years takes permanent possession of it. The contest will be held this year on May 14.

The local school hopes to win with such speakers as Irving Grover and Roberta Ritchie. The former is a veteran in interscholastic literary circles. Because of his victory yesterday he was given a great ovation by the students of the school. It is expected that he will make a strong bid for premier honors at the contest. Roberta Ritchie is a sophomore and a newcomer in Central literary prominence. Having two more years yet, she is expected to make a name for herself in interscholastic contests.

During the chapel period Wednesday morning of next week the seniors will meet in the assembly hall to discuss preliminary arrangements for the graduation or commencement exercises. All matters pertaining to this important subject will be taken up. The question of the music, most of which will be furnished by the seniors, will be decided upon. The question of the presentation of the commencement play will be concluded. It is probable that Mr. Rasey will have charge of this, in view of his success with the senior class play. No particular play has been decided upon, and this matter will be left to the English department. "At the End of the Rainbow" has been suggested, but not decided upon. Mr. Rasey will select the cast of the play that is finally chosen. Class night will be June 15. The invitations for commencement were shown to the members of the senior class last week, and orders for them were taken. The measurements of the members of the senior class wer taken by Principal Young and Miss Lydia Woodbridge last week for the caps and gowns that will be worn by the graduates. Miss Margaret Taylor, adviser of the senior class, will be one of the main factors in the preparations for the exercises.

Following the close of school Wednesday, the cadet corps, Companies A and B, engaged in their initial outdoor drill. Having been used to the smooth armory floor for some time, the boys were at first a little at a loss. They soon recovered themselves and performed very creditably. This was in preparation for the outdoor review which will be held on Memorial day. Most of the boys were equipped with uniforms, and those who have not yet received theirs, are expected to do so in the near future. New men will be received but a short time longer, as the boys wish to have considerable practice together before the parade. The lieutenants will conduct a campaign to get back all old members, and some new men will then be taken in. This will be done very soon, and then the boys will drill for their first official appearance.

The second of the popular open dances will be held on the evening of Saturday, May 8. This affair will be participated in by all of the classes. The last dance of this kind was a decided success, and proved very popular among the student body. The seniors decided on Townsend Hoopes and Margaret Johnson to take charge of the affair for their class. The other classes will announce their representatives early next week. This is one of the chief social affairs of the school year, and those in charge say that there is going to be the largest attendance at the dance Saturday night than has ever been present at a similar affair at Central high school.

Those who attended the senior class play were so surprised with the excellent orchestra, that plans are under way for the formation of a permanent school organization. In years before, the orchestra was one of the most important organizations in the school and several unusually good musicians were developed. Prof. Heistand, now at Denfeld high, was the director of the orchestra, and he never failed to have the school represented with one of the first class. An orchestra is considered almost a necessity in a school the size of Central, and several students as well as teachers have expressed their opinion that it is quite regrettable that the organization should be disbanded.

It seems quite possible that even before the school year closes, Central will have a good orchestra. Mrs. Dixon, who has charge of the school music, has determined that one will be formed. It could be used to furnish music on special occasions, for dances, for the commencement exercises, and for innumerable other instances.

The two freshmen debating societies have been making good progress since the organization earlier in the year. The boys are included in the Forum and the girls in a similar club. Next Friday afternoon the representative debating teams of those two societies will meet in their first clash of the year. Elsa Zachow, Alice Hillis and Agnes Elwell will compose the girls' team, which will uphold the affirmative. The boys' team will be composed of Sam Davis, Le Roy Grettum and Raymond Larson.

Dramatic Affairs.

Action on several important matters was decided at a meeting of the Lambs' club, following the close of school yesterday. At the last meeting it was decided that the club would admit girls, and that the membership would be restricted to twenty--five. At the meeting yesterday, however, it was decided that the limit would be the same as that of the boys, which is forty-five. This will place the total membership of the club at ninety. If any one is absent from a meeting without an excuse, he is expelled from the club, and the next name on the waiting list is voted upon. This policy will be retained with reference to the girls' membership also. All of the girls that had put their names on the list were taken into the club. There is room for a few more names. At the next meeting, which is next Friday, the girls will be in attendance.

The most important event for the next meeting will be the election of officers for the club for the ensuing year. This departure was decided upon at the meeting yesterday.

A rehearsal for the play which the club will present at the Lyceum on May 10 was held yesterday, following the regular business meeting. The play to be presented will be "The Great Case of Guff vs. Muff," otherwise known as "The Great Pumpkin Case." This will be for the benefit of the club, the second affair of this kind that has been held this year. In addition to the Lambs club sketch, the regular Baldwin production will, of course, be held. The club considers that it has been especially fortunate in having the stock play such a good one for this week. The Baldwin production will be "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm" and many Dulufhians will undoubtedly wish to see it. Tickets for the club benefit will be placed on sale next week, and the members intend to fill the house again, as they did at their last benefit night. The little sketch which the members of the club will present will be coached by Mr. Rasey, the advisor of the club. It is a comedy courtroom scene. The cast of the main characters will be as follows:

Judge Febb, Russell Duncan; Clark Fizz, Marshall Haines; Lawyer Foozle, Irving Grover; Lawyer Squibbs, Jacob Garon; Whipsaw, a bailiff, Sam Gofin; Hi. Guff, plaintiff, Sam Litman; Ab. Muff, defendant, Donald Alexander; Pike Whiffles, chief witness for plaintiff and owner of a cow, Robert Kerr; Sam Gump, a witness, Menick Altman; Abe Snooks, a witness, Lawrence Moore; Doc Poddle, a witness, Harry Gould; jury (six or twelve), loungers.

Central was victorious in her final debate of the season last evening, when the Denfeld trio went down to defeat before the crack Red and White team. The question was "Resolved, That the armament of the United States is inadequate and should be strengthened," the winners supporting the negative. The judges were Judge Bert Fesler, Watson S. Moore and O. E. Wallace and W. B. Getchell was the chairman. The local team consisted of Irving Grover, Jacob Garon and Max Goldberg, while the Denfeld trio included Reginald Le Faivre, Richard Duffy and Chester Rosborough.

The debate last night brought to a close an exceptionally successful season for the Central team. Beside the three used last night, Emanuel Cook and George Macfarlane have also been used this year. Out of the four more important debates against Minneapolis North high, John A. Johnson of St. Paul and Grand Rapids, besides the one of last evening, Central has won but the first named. The great success of the team is due in a large measure to the efforts of A. E. Null, the coach. Next year it is the plan of the coach to have two teams, one to debate outsiders in their own halls, and one to take care of local disputes. All but Irving Grover will be back next year, assuring a competent team.

MARKET HAS GOOD BULGE

Wheat Strong on Inquiry From Exporters and Eastern Millers.

Flaxseed Gains Slightly, With Steady Bidding By Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 1.—Heavy trading for a Saturday was recorded in the wheat market today, and it was a bullish affair throughout.

Further inquiry from exporters for wheat was reported at the seaboard, and Eastern millers were advised to be displaying more interest. Inquiry from that quarter for No. 2 northern was met with locally, and the putting through of some business in the lower grade stuff remaining in the elevators is expected next week.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.61½, and closed 1⅛c up at $1.62⅝ asked. The feature in the trading was the strength shown in the July future, it advancing 2c to $1.59½ bid. The speedy closing up of the spread between May and July is predicted. September wheat closed ¾c up at $1.26.

May durum closed unchanged at $1.70, and July bulged to the extent of 1½c to $1.69½ bid. The big discount in the September future was unchanged, it closing at $1.25 bid. Operators are now reported to be watching the new crop future closely, as early contracting in it for export is looked for with a bulge in its quotations consequently thought probable.

Deliveries of wheat locally on May contract were not as heavy as had been expected in some quarters. They amounted to 340,000 bu. At Winnipeg, Wheat deliveries were reported at 872,000 bu.; oats at 986,000 bu and flaxseed at 429,000 bu. Chicago reported deliveries of 630,000 bu of wheat, and 3,000,000 bu of oats.

Elevator men say that when the final stock figures up to May 1 come out they will show that the Superior houses are nearly empty. Wheat stores remaining at the Head of the Lakes will be about as forecasted at around 8,700,000 bu. Supplies of coarse grains have been practically cleaned up.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed turned strong at the close after showing weakness early in the session. Crushers are nervous over the question of supplies and they are endeavoring to pick up anything offering as unostentatiously as possible. The expected large shortage in the present season's crop in this country and Canada is a bullish factor under the market.

May flax opened 1¢ up at $1.98, and closed ½c up at $1.98¼ asked. July opened unchanged at $2.01, and closed unchanged at $2.01¼ asked. September ¾c up at $2.01¾ asked. September opened unchanged at $2.03¼, and closed ½c up at $2.03¾.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅞c up at $1.79½ asked, and July ⅝c up at $1.82¾.

Oats were strong at Duluth, closing 1⅜c up at 54@54½c for on the track; rye closed 1c up at $1.16@1.17; barley unchanged at from 67c to 76c, and corn 1c up at 76¾c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½c up at 63½c bid, and July ⅝c up at 64⅞c.

Le Count wired from Fostoria, Ohio: "Wheat never looked better, with splendid stand and the earliest fields will soon be in the boot. Crop needs rain, but it will easily go another ten days without damage. Oats look well but are late. Corn planting has started. It is cool and cloudy and threatening rain."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Favorable American crop advices and easier Indian offers served to cause an easier undertone. Spot market was easier, unchanged to 1d lower with cargo market easier and Plates and winters at 3d decline. The demand was quiet with less urgency from the continent and expectations of larger shipments to the United Kingdom this week. Corn was strong with continued unfavorable weather in Argentina, firmness of Plate offers and parcels 3d. higher.

"Argentine weather is unsettled and warmer with rain in parts. Prospects for settled weather are again remote and much nervousness is displayed among corn merchants.

"India weather is favorable for late harvesting and movement. Offers are liberal and shipments are expected to show an increase.

"In Australia, parts are very dry and rain is needed."

P. E. Olson, president of the North Dakota Grain company, is now making an inspection trip over the Northwest. He expresses himself optimistically regarding early crop prospects.

A letter received from him today read as follows: "Wheat seeding in the vicinity of Dazey and Wullum will all be completed this week. This is thirty days earlier than can be remembered for years. Seventy-five per cent of the wheat seeded is up two inches above the ground. Last Monday night a heavy rainfall extended over the two states, which insures moisture for at least thirty days. Seeding in the valley is only about 65 per cent completed, but the western part of the state is practically finished.

"Business men and farmers are looking forward to a bumper crop. The ground has been in fine condition all spring and it is looking splendid at this time."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Buying Ascribed to Exporters Rallies Wheat After Heavy Start.

Chicago, May 1.—Buying ascribed to exporters rallied wheat today after heaviness at start. The early decline resulted from lower quotations at Liverpool and from scattered showers in the domestic winter crop belt. Deliveries on May contracts were not of a magnitude that seemed likely to prove burdensome. Opening prices, which varied from the same as last night to 1c down was followed by a decided general advance above last night's level.

Subsequently, other gains were made influenced by the outlook for a liberal decrease in the United States visible supply total on Monday. The close was nervous at ¾@1⅞c net advance.

Corn developed firmness owing somewhat to unfavorable weather in Argentina. Strong houses were on the buying side. After opening ⅛c off to ¼c up, the market scored a moderate rise all around.

Some inquiry from the seaboard helped later to cause a further advance. The close was firm, ⅞c to ⅞@1c above last night.

Deliveries of oats were on a big scale, but passed into the hands of shipping concerns. When shorts tried to cover in the pit, they found little for sale.

In provisions the May deliveries turned out to be smaller than expected. In consequence, the market hardened despite lower prices for hogs.

TRADING IN WAR STOCKS

Speculation Again Active in Specialties and Other Issues Neglected.

United States Steel Rises and Falls Within Fractional Limits.

New York, May 1.—Active speculation in war specialties and allied stocks was resumed today, trading in the two-hour session being devoted almost entirely to those issues, while better known investment shares were pushed into the background, where they dropped on moderate selling pressure. Westinghouse Electric was again the spectacular feature, although it failed to repeat its high quotation. Pressed Steel Car, Lackawanna Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and Studebaker made heavy gains of 2 to 4 points, but these were largely lost toward the end. United States Steel rose and fell within fractional limits, and coppers as a whole were inclined to sag. The general list made some recovery in the later dealings with a steady close. Bonds were irregular.

BIG LEDGE

AN OPEN PIT COPPER MINE

in the great BLACK HILLS district of Arizona; only a few miles from the United Verde, which it promises to rival in extent and richness.

TWO HUNDRED SIXTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

SPENT ON THIRTY-FOUR CLAIMS BEFORE THEY WERE BOUGHT OUTRIGHT BY THE BIG LEDGE DEVELOPMENT COMPANY

Over 7,500 feet of development work. More than 100 openings—shafts, open cuts, drifts from eight to eight hundred feet in depth; every one in ore. Rich ore comes to the surface—sulphide ore on surface assaying 15% copper 51% iron with heavy lime content. No stripping required. FIRST STEAM SHOVEL OPEN PIT COPPER MINE carrying worth-while gold and silver values.

Company moderately capitalized—$1,500,000—Dollar shares. Management experienced—conservative; property fully paid for, no indebtedness; equipment on property and PAID FOR; money in treasury.

President Ernest Le Duc and Vice President Chas. Batre left for New York last night. Arrangements will be made for listing of the stock in the East.

Our recommendation:

INVESTIGATE—do it now. BUY if satisfied—but don't delay. Remember—procrastination is the thief of more than time. We believe this a genuine profit-making opportunity. Higher prices seem inevitable. Traded today $1.25 a share. Full information furnished by

SINKING AT CROFT MINE

Third Interest in Property, Sold for $500, Now Worth $150,000.

Thompson Mine of Inland Steel Company Preparing to Ship.

Brainerd, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Croft mine in Crosby has its shaft straightened and Supt. John A. Savage is engaged in sinking operations. This mine has some of the best equipment of any underground mine on the range. C. W. Mowery, assistant engineer of the Northern Pacific railway, is engaged in putting in the extension of the Northern Pacific railway connecting with the Croft mine. Some delay was experienced on the right-of-way, one owner blocking track laying for a time.

To show the fortunes which slip through men's hands one can take the case of Carl Neumann of Minneapolis, well known on the Cuyuna range. Mr. Neumann at one time had a third interest in the Croft mine. He lost faith in it, as the first drilling did not reveal any great values. He sold his interest for $500 cash and thought he was ahead of the game when he sold out. Later drilling touched other sections of the Croft mine, and some of the finest Bessemer ore of the whole range was disclosed. The third interest which Neumann sold so cheap is now considered by some to be worth as much as $150,000. A. F. Gross and other Duluthians have interests in the mine. It is expected to ship this season, the Northern Pacific handling the tonnage. Carl Neumann is also said to have a third interest in the Meacham mine.

Fortunes are sometimes lost in other ways on the Cuyuna iron range and that refers to the drills operated. Black diamonds are used to cut the core and occasionally the bits holding valuable diamonds are lost. One drill crew fished around months 200 feet below the surface until they recovered their lost bit. The Adams interests drilling near Oreland in section 30, township 46, range 28, lost a bit and were lucky to recover it within a few days.

Inland Steel Mine.

The Inland Steel company has work well under way at Crosby, where it is building a concentrator for test purposes. The Armour No. 1 mine of the company is being changed from an underground to a pit mine, the Pennington people doing the work and operating one shovel. The Armour No. 2 mine is hoisting from shaft to cars and shipping, and one cargo of ore has already cleared from the Head of the Lakes. The Thompson pit mine is preparing for shipments. The mines enumerated are all under Inland Steel company's control.

The Hill Crest pit mine property was visited this week by R. R. Hill of Saginaw, Mich., heavily interested in the property. The mine is having its overburden stripped by hydraulic work similar to what is being carried on at the Rowe mine. Water is piped from Blackhoof lake. A fine office building has been erected.

The Rowe pit mine, owned by the Pittsburgh Steel Ore company, it is estimated, will ship a large tonnage this season. Heavy trestle work has been built over the lake, extra trackage laid in the pit, much new machinery ordered and a concentrator is under construction. The Soo line train now runs through Crosby to Riverton.

Preparing for Big Output.

The Wilcox mine is getting in shape for heavy shipments. J. J. Doran and J. J. Mackay of the Soo visited R. W. Seelye. Both are deeply interested in mineral lands and mines throughout the Northwest and Canada. The mining company, said Mr. Seelye, will soon commence the construction of twelve cottages for miners. May will witness increasingly large shipments from the mine. What has been shipped so far came from crosscutting and preparing the mine for big operations. Every pound of ore has been sold in advance before mining started.

Sinking of the shaft to a greater depth was started at the Iron Mountain mine Monday and will be continued, it is reported, until the first level is reached and drifting will then be started. Ore taken from the bottom of the shaft is said to contain a good percentage of manganiferous ore, which will command a ready market. It is reported the mine may ship a tonnage of 40,000 tons. The Seafield Exploration company is continuing drilling for ore on the Duluth Land & Timber company's land in section 29. The Combination Iron company will drill the Aitkin county poor farm and if it calls for a lease will mine at 20 cents a ton royalty. F. A. Edson of Deerwood is superintending operations. Frank Sherp of Minneapolis is reported to have bought an interest in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 3, township 46, range 29.

Kennedy Mine Shipping.

The Rogers, Brown Ore company is now devoting its entire attention to the Kennedy mine property at Cuyuna. A stockpile of large dimensions was accumulated in the winter. The mine is now hoisting and loading into cars and shipping. The stockpile has not been touched. At the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and Cuyuna-Duluth mines the pumps work ceaselessly and keep the mines clear from water. Just as soon as the word is received, mining will be resumed here. Both mines are subsidiaries of the American Manganese Manufacturing company. A 1,820-gallon electric pump was installed at the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine and is giving good satisfaction.

Hole No. 2 has been located 700 feet southeast of Hole No. 1 by John R. Harrington and associates of Hibbing and Duluth, drilling the Holland property bequeathed to the city of Brainerd by the late judge. Ore has been struck in both holes, but of a rather low grade. Better ore is expected with deeper drilling.

Brainerd-Cuyuna.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd, of which Charles C. Jones of Duluth is the managing director, is drifting at 154-foot level and is fifteen feet or more in the crosscut. About 200 gallons a minute are being pumped.

The Barrows Mining company is expected to commence shaft operations at Barrows next week. C. B. Rowley of Brainerd will superintendent the shaft work. His foreman will be Charles Fuller, an experienced miner of the north range.

David O'Brien of Duluth and Superior had seven mining men on the range Tuesday interested in the formation of a new development and exploration company. Additional drilling is soon to be started in the vicinity of Barrows.

NORTH BUTTE OWNS NEARLY AS MUCH GROUND AS ANACONDA

Report of Possible Consolidation of Two Companies Unfounded.

Work Proceeding on New Electrolytic Refinery at Great Falls.

Butte, Mont., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A report current during the past week of a possible consolidation of the North Butte and Anaconda companies is declared by officers of both companies to be entirely unfounded. "If any such movement is on foot I do not know about it, and I think I would know if there were," said a head officer of the Anaconda company. "I think someone must have been mixed up on the reports that Anaconda would supersede the Amalgamated." There are some important matters pending in the affairs of the North Butte but they do not relate to any consolidation, but to an expansion of activity. It is stated officially that the North Butte does not intend to acquire any more mineral ground at present. It now owns almost as much as the Anaconda company does. There are some big things pending for North Butte. It was reported a few days ago that the crosscut from the Granite Mountain shaft had reached the Edith May ore body on the 3,000-foot level, but that story was premature. The crosscut will reach the vein probably during the coming week. It is being driven straight for about the center of the big ore body opened on the 2,800-foot level, and there is little doubt that it will be found as large or better than it is on the 2,800, where it has been opened for nearly 600 feet, the ore having an average copper content of 11 per cent. It is expected that the new electric hoist at the Granite Mountain shaft will be ready for operations about the time that the vein is opened on the 3,000-foot level. All the levels of the Granite Mountain and Speculator are connected except the new 3,000 level, which is the lowest level in the property. The North Butte is planning to increase its output to 90 per cent, and perhaps to capacity, by the time the vein is reached by the new crosscut. In the minds of those familiar with underground conditions and plans of the company there is no longer any doubt that North Butte has "come back," and that it will resume regular dividends in June. Enthusiasts even predict that the stock will again sell at $75 or $100. It is a fact that the mine has been gradually improving with depth and that it is again mining bonanza ore from the same vein that made North Butte famous when its stock sold at $110 per share some years ago.

Mines and Smelters Busy.

Ben B. Thayer and C. F. Kelley, president and vice president of the Anaconda company, have concluded their semi-annual inspection of the company's properties in Montana, and Mr. Thayer will probably remain in Butte to attend the special and annual meetings of the Anaconda company on May 19. In speaking of his inspection trip President Thayer said:

"At Great Falls the new work is going on satisfactorily. The grading for the new electrolytic refinery is more than half done. This will be a busy summer at Great Falls getting the new plant into shape as rapidly as possible and completing some improvements at the smelter. The new reverberatory furnaces are now ready for operation, but they are using the old furnaces yet. The plant will probably run at capacity as soon as the mines are in full blast. Nearly all the mines of the company are again in operation. The Mountain View has considerable work to be done on it before it can be started up. Repairs are also going on at the Belmont and Moonlight, but these are small ones. With the present demand for copper and the high price for the metal, the company will lose no time in putting all the mines in operation at capacity just as soon as it can be done.

"At the smelters in Great Falls and Anaconda the amount of commercial ore that is being offered by individuals is increasing steadily. The company's coal mines at Bear Creek and Sand Coulee are running full blast, and with as large a force as they ever employed. We are using more coal from the Sand Coulee mines, as the Great Falls smelter gets its supply from there. All of the properties of the company were found to be in fine shape. With the return of normal conditions in the mining line it has brought added activity to other lines that depend upon the mines to some extent. At the lumber camps at Bonner and other points there is increase in activity, but it will be some time yet before the commercial lumber business gets up with the rest of our activities. The hard times in the commercial lumber business was not brought on by the war. The causes existed for two or three years. The use of reinforced concrete has hurt the lumber business."

East Butte.

The Pittsmont smelter of the East Butte company has resumed operations and in a few days the company, in mine and smelter, will be running up to normal capacity again. A rumor has been current that a deal is pending by which the East Butte will absorb the Butte-Alex-Scott company on a stock exchange basis, but nothing is known in Butte as to the truth of the story. The Alex-Scott is a small property but it has been shipping some good ore from several levels in the mine and has paid several dividends.

Davis-Daly.

"The "strike" in the Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company, like some many previous strikes that have been reported when it was desired to advance the stock a few points, hasn't turned out of great importance yet. It is believed that a fault was picked up on the 2,500-foot level. It has been drifted on for nearly 100 feet and some good ore found in it, but not of great quantity. The vein was encountered about 350 feet southwest of the shaft and is the first east and west vein found in the property.

Moose Resumes.

Work has been resumed in the Moose mine one of the Anaconda properties. The shaft is being sunk deeper and will be connected with the Badger state mine on various levels, and use the Moose shaft as an air shaft.

EXPECTATION IS EXCEEDED

Mill Test of New Arcadian Is Proving Very Satisfactory.

Mining to Be Resumed at Winona Within Few Weeks.

Houghton, Mich., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—New Arcadian's mill test can be safely said to be running over 40 pounds of mineral, and probably about 32 pounds of refined copper, at the present time. It is at any rate exceeding the expectations of the management. The extension of the openings is greatly interrupted now owing to the necessity of using the whole force in loading the cars. Up to April 29 there had been 26 cars sent to the mill, about 1,200 tons, and it is likely that only about as much more will be sent at this time, as it costs so much to handle it. In a short time improvements will be made at the rockhouse so that the rock will be dumped directly into the cars. When the men can be spared from the work of loading they are engaged in extending the cross-cut east in search of the No. 8 conglomerate for the purpose of correlating or identifying the lodes, the southern drift on the 600-foot level, and the northern on the 750 and 900-foot levels. The last mentioned drift is the best in the mine, as it is displaying the best copper and has widened out to 16 feet. As soon as the mill test is ended, the opening of the mine for production will be pushed as fast as possible both laterally and in depth.

New Baltic.

New Baltic, at the meeting of the board of directors on May 4, undoubtedly will take steps to begin the work of exploration of the New Arcadian lode. In all four drifts that have at the New Arcadian been driven north to this property the disclosures have been very good and in two of them, the 250-foot and 900-foot levels, there has been revealed the best rock of that mine. The exploratory work will be begun by trenching on the outcrop and then probably by sinking a shaft. In order to sink an assesment will have to be called or some of the 30,000 shares in the treasury be sold. If the price of the stock advances as seems likely or remains about $5, it is probable that the later course will be adopted.

Winona.

Winona will probable be opened again for mining operations within a few weeks. The high price of copper and the ample funds in the treasury would seem to warrant this course even if the yield a ton is rather light, according to last year's report. This will be the last of the mines that ceased work before the strike or before the war, to resume.

Quincy.

Quincy has purchased from the Hancock certain lands on the underlay of the Pewable or Quincy lode so as to give a greater area to its No. 2, the souther most working shaft. Hancock has acquired by a lease for five years the use of Quincy's No. 7, which has been idle since the beginning of the war and which has exhausted the rock in its territory. This transaction will enable the Hancock to remove a great deal of its rock at a very low cost. This shaft enters the Hancock at the depth of 5,500 feet at its seventy-first level, and it commands a good deal of the Hancock ground on its way down to that level. There is no doubt but that great advantages will accrue to each company from the two negotiations.

Victoria.

Victoria is now working six drills in driving up the raises from one level to another from the new skipway that will be about sixteen feet from that already in use, this width of ground being left so that the old skipway can be used during the work, but principally as a protection from the ground above, which is naturally weakened to some extent in the old skipway on account of the long time it has been in use. Soon four more drills will be added and it is expected that the whole task will be completed in about four months. With the good ground that has been opened on the various levels and the low cost of the hydro-pneumatic power a profitable tonnage can soon be shipped and the development work carried on at the same time. The beginning of Victoria's career as a paying mine will really date from the completion of this skipway.

Mass.

Mass has just passed through the third of the north or so-called Evergreen lodes of the South lake with a width of eight feet and heavy mineralization evenly distributed throughout. It is considered certain by the management that the four south lodes of the South Lake extend south into their property, but it is deemed a wiser policy now to develop and explore the north lodes than to make a cross-cut of over 1,600 feet at the present time for the south lodes. These three north lodes seem to be all commercial in their values, as the first, which carried light copper when opened as the new Mass three years ago. In the crosscuts just made possesses good grades. Drifting will soon begin on the third lode.

Michigan.

Michigan will hold its annual meeting May 4 and it is thought by some of the stockholders that the question of financing the company and of resuming the exploratory work may be taken under consideration. Supt Samuel A. Brady has been desirous of completing the diamond drill cross section of the property and of examining the Ogemah lode which was passed through by a diamond drill at the depth of 300 feet and which was explored by a shallow shaft with a very promising showing of copper in each place. When the great "finds" in the way of most productive lodes of the past twenty years are recalled it does seem that a property, comprising 4,870 acres of mineral territory, which on its main has an extent east and west of three miles and north and south of four and one-half and which completely crosses the mineral belt, is worthy of a most thorough exploration.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale will have one stamp ready the third week in June. In fact th's stamp is about in place now, and its jigs and tables are all in position, but the turbine which runs by the exhaust stem of the stamps, and furnishes all the electricity for all the work except stamping including a big pump for the water from the lake, the motors are yet to bet set up, and the water and stempiping with all the electrical connections have yet to be put in place. The stamps were not much damaged, the new legs and the valve rods being the only new parts. The other two stamps will soon follow the first. The tonnage average a day has fallen back this month from 2,100 to 2,000 tons.

Houghton.

Houghton Copper has given a contract to Smith, Byers & Sparks for the building of the road bed of 1,400 feet for the connection of the shaft with the Isle Royale railway at Superior. On account of considerable filling the work will require three or four weeks time. The mill test at Franklin mill will then take place and if it is favorable of which result there is no doubt, the mine will be at once reopened. The contractors commenced work on April 28. The stockpile is thought to be very good by those who understand this kind of rock, which on account of its discolored copper does not at the first glance look to be of any value. The first shipments of the Superior greatly fooled the old timers here and one of them after looking the stockpile over sold the stock short and this error of judgment cost him $500 before he could cover.

Tamarack.

Tamarack began operations for mining operations at shaft No. 2 on April 29, and will in a few days begin to hoist rock. Nos. 3 and 5 are shipping 600 tons daily, all of which is coming from the Calumet conglomerate. This lode has been almost wholly exhausted at No. 2, and there the rock will be all from the Osceola amygdaloid, which about six or stven years ago was opened up by drifts from the eighteenth to the thirty-third levels inclusive, for quite a long distance on the level, but no stoping was done until about a year before the strike when it was found to average about in yield just about the same as the two and one-quarter of the Osceola amygdaloid at the Calumet & Hecla, fifteen pounds a ton. This shaft is much higher up on the lode than the others, but it would seem likely that the mineralization will continue at depth as at the Calumet & Hecla, it is better than at any other place on these very bottom level, the twenty-seventh, and that some day the whole extent of the amygdaloid will be worked at this property. Of course, in order to do this at a proper cost the system long ago discarded here of hoisting two tons of rock in a car by means of a cage and which requires a large number of men, would give way to the Kimberly hoist by which skips of eight tons or more are hoisted and automatically dumped very rapidly. These improvements will come in time, when both lodes are thoroughly tested out so that they can be installed at the proper places.

South Lake.

South Lake with one drill is still opening one drift and then the other on the second of the South lodes, which is the Lake lode, slowly but with the same monotonous, but nevertheless very welcome report of good copper. The other two drills are being employed in extending the first and third to the North lodes, those cut by the shaft, with this ever pleasing monotony of report. It would appear that six of these seven new lodes, counting both the North and South lodes, and possibly the seventh are quite profitably mineralized.

North Lake.

North Lake has just entered a third lode by its cross-cut from tht shaft and its showing for the few feet opened is excellent. This is supposed to be one of the Evergreen lodes, but until further work is done and the other lodes are passed through, it will be impossible to identify it clearly. Its richness evidently warrants drifting for a reasonable distance.

Hancock.

Hancock is shipping about 200 tons daily as compared with 260 tons at the beginning of the war. About fifteen men, the same number as at that time are being employed. The increase has been and will be very gradual and steady and in a very short time the earnings will equal expenses.

Centennial.

Centennial is advancing the drifts which extend under the South Kearsarge and Wolverine from the thirty-first to the thirty-seventh levels inclusive in good ground that is fully equal to the average of that passed through so far, and better than that followed for some time past. Very little stoping is being done here, as the purpose of the management is to open up the mine for production and the quality of the rock encountered in the development work is high enough to more than make this work pay for itself.

Ahmeek.

Ahmeek will increase its tonnage from all four of its shafts about 1,000 tons, when the two new stamps, the fifth and sixth, are put into commission inside of sixty days. A considerable part of this will come from Nos. 1 and 2.

Will Be Developed.

Superintendent S. A. Brady of the Michigan has gathered together over 3,000 acres north of the White Pine and on the strike of the same formations. It is probable that some development work will be done here during the summer. A very careful examination has been made of the property, and it is believed that the holdings are of good value. The formations seem to be faulted in much the same way as those at the White Pine.

SUPERIOR & BOSTON IS LOOKING GOOD

Ore Shipments Now Netting the Company a Substantial Profit.

Referring to the Superior & Boston property in which Duluth investors are largely interested, the Boston News Bureau says:

"In common with many other properties in a similar stage of development, the Superior & Boston found it expedient after the upheaval in the metal market last year temporarily to suspend work on this property in Arizona and conserve its assets. Operations were resumed the middle of March and both development and production are now aggressively pushed. Practically all recent underground development work thus far has been confined to but one vein, the Great Eastern, which has been opened laterally on the 600 and 800-foot levels for a distance of 1,000 feet. From within a limited area on and between these levels the company has shipped, at various times, oxidized copper ores to the value of over $1,500,000 and its ore shipments today are coming from these upper levels. The company owns additional ground to the east of its present workings on these levels which gives it an additional 3,000 workable feet on this vein and practically unlimited possibilities for the development of new reserves of ore laterally and in depth.

"Ore shipments are now netting the company a very substantial profit of from $8 to $10 a ton and will be increased so that from and after June 1 the management expects to bring the monthly production up to 2,000 tons. The company has on hand today a working capital of $30,000 and the profits of these shipments will greatly increase in making the calling of an assessment entirely out of the question. Aside from the ore reserves above the 800 level considerably more important developments are expected with depth. With geological conditions similar to Old Dominion and Arizona Commercial, and with practically unlimited territory there is a strong probability that large bodies of sulphide ore will be disclosed below the 800-foot level. In fact sulphides are now coming in on the 1,000 level. This deeper development work will be taken up later in this year for the present ore shipments will be pushed and new development work will be confined to the 600 and 800-levels. The pioneer work at Superior & Boston has been done. It is less of a prospect and more of a mine today than at any time since, as virgin mineral ground, it was first opened.

"Its geology now has been pretty well worked out so that future development work can be prosecuted with a larger degree of certainty than heretofore. The company has made a new three-year smelting contract with the American Smelting & Refining company for treatment of ores at El Paso. It is interesting in this connection to know that this contract was made only after examination of the Superior & Boston property by the smelting people.

RETURNS HIGHER THAN ESTIMATE

Rumors That Barnes-King Will Begin Paying Dividends Soon.

Butte, Mont., May 1.—The official returns from the Denver mint for the March output of the North Moccasin mine have been received by President C. W. Goodale of the Barnes-King Development company. They show that the estimates given out earlier in the month, while close to the figures, fell short by a little more than $400. The exact amount realized was $56,413.77. This was from 4,807 tons of ore, making the average yield per ton $11.53, or the best showing that has even been made at the North Moccasin in any one month.

Work is going steadily forward on the power line between Great Falls and Deer Lodge, and the officers of the Montana Power company are still confident they will have the line through to Marysville by May 1. The line from the Piegan-Gloster mill of the Barnes-King company down to the point where the connection with the main power line is to be made has been put in and is in readiness to connect up.

The installing of the last machinery required for the supply of the power at the mill is now going forward and shortly after May 1 the mill will be ready for testing out. It is probable that most of the month of May will be required for testing and adjusting and that the first real month of operations at the new Piegan-Gloster mill will be the month of June. This will give the stockholders a good idea of the possibilities at the Piegan-Gloster by July or August.

WORK HAS BEGUN ON AERIAL TRAM

Interstate Company Expects to Complete It Within Twenty Days.

Wallace, Idaho, May 1.—Construction is in progress on the aerial tram at the Interstate-Callahan mine near Wallace, and will be completed within about twenty days. The tram will be 10,500 feet long and will reach from the mill to the station at Sunset, saving the Interstate people approximately $250 per day in the haulage of concentrates from the mill to the shipping point.

Employment will be afforded to be between 70 and 80 men during the building of the carrier. With three men to operate the completed mechanism it will handle about 250 tons of concentrates per day on an average of 25 tons per hour. It is to be the longest tram of its kind in the Coeur d'Alenes and similar to the one used by the Bunker Hill people a number of years ago.

The cable with which the carrier will be equipped will be 1⅛ inches in diameter on the loaded side and one inch on the empty. A point-locked cable will be used and a ⅝-inch, six-strand, 19-wire traction rope.

Twenty-seven towers will hold the carrier in place, with three of them specially made. The wico grip, an invention of the installing company, will be made part of the bucket equipment. This same contrivance has been used on the 13-mile aerial tramways at Saline, Cal., and with much success.

MEDIUM-PRICED BUILDING LOTS AND HOUSES IN DEMAND

Substantial Building Operations Expected on Platted Acreage Lots.

Minneapolis Firm Said to Be Seeking Wholesale House Site.

Inquiry for moderate-priced houses and building lots was active during the present week, according to real estate dealers, and the number of transactions closed up reached a substantial aggregate. Dealers are said to be meeting with good success in effecting sales of unsold lots in acreages platted and placed on the market during the last three or four seasons, and considerable building in them is predicted this year. The persistency shown by purchasers in meeting their installment payments on these lots is commented upon by dealers, the percentage of relinquishments of contracts being reported as remarkably small.

More Wholesalers Coming.

While no special transactions in business properties were recorded during the week, it is understood that investors are coming into the market more freely than at any time since early last spring, and that deals involving desirable frontages are likely to be consummated.

Under that category is mentioned negotiations by Minneapolis interests for a warehouse site. It is said that the principals in the transaction contemplate the building of a $150,000-plant, and that it is on the cards to embark in the venture during the present year.

Realty men are sanguine that the recent decision of the Interstate commerce commission in the Duluth freight rate case will result in placing this city more distinctly on the map as a distributing point, and that an increase in the number of wholesale establishments located here may be expected within the next twelve months.

L. A. Larsen company reports considerable activity in rentals, with only one vacancy in its list. The demand for houses too is very marked and there is said to be an unusual demand for homes around $3,000. The office sold a house in the eastern part of the city for $3,650, a lot on East Fourth street near Twenty-first avenue, and several lots in the western part of the city as well as two near the incline on West Fourth.

Mr. Larsen looks for a steady demand for mixed property without any indications of a boom. There is also great activity in acreages, he says.

BUILDING OPERATIONS SETTING HIGH RECORDS

April Permits Reach the Largest Total in History of City.

Addition to Be Built Upon Central Superior Street Block.

Building work to be proceeded with this season is gradually rounding up into large proportions. Several substantial proposals will shortly go out for figures from architects' offices, and considerable other new work is in sight both in this city and through the district.

An interesting feature of the week was the decision of the Massachusetts Real Estate company to proceed with the building of an additional story on the Fargusson block at Superior street and Fourth avenue west. The addition will be 100 by 115 feet in size and the cost of the improvement complete is placed at $30,000. Figures will be received by W. P. Allred, architect, up to May 10.

The contract for the F. A. Cokefair home to be built at Twenty-fourth avenue east and Vista street, has been obtained by the Modern Construction company at $26,000. This was another of the building proposals held over from last season. F. G. German was the architect.

A gratifying economic condition was revealed in the records of the building inspector, S. M. Kielly, for April. Permits issued during the month reached the handsome total of 234, the largest in the history of the city for a single month. The value of the improvements involved was approximately $325,000. This record is regarded with satisfaction by city officials, being taken to indicate that Duluthians are making progress in the direction of owning their own homes. Commenting upon it, Mayor Prince said: "When citizens of small resources are able to build homes, it means that the city is on a solid economic foundation, and that we are making the right kind of progress through an increase in the number of homes. This indicates permanent growth."

Permits for the present week also set a record tally, numbering fifty-five, with the cost of improvements involved placed at $64,775. With only three exceptions the work authorized was in connection with house construction.

The largest permit of the week was issued to W. A. McKay for his new home on London road to cost $15,000. A permit for $10,000 was taken out by the Standard Investment company for four frame dwellings on Thirteenth avenue east, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Want New Housing Code.

Hopes are expressed by builders and contractors that no time will be lost in passing upon the proposed amendments to the housing code and putting a revised ordinance in effect at as early a date as possible. It is pointed out that the amendments suggested have been approved by the Builders' exchange, Commercial club and city architects, and that it now rests with the board of commissioners to pass upon them. Pending their action upon the ordinance it is said that considerable work is being held up, and that many interests are thus being prejudiced.

J. M. Carson, architect, has in preparation plans for three frame houses for the Karon Investment company. Two of them to cost $3,500 each, will be built at Fifteenth avenue east and Third street, and one to cost $5,000 will go up on Twentieth avenue east. Plans are also being prepared by him for a $5,500 frame home for James McGhie in Kenilworth Park.

Plans for a four-room frame school to be built at Birchdale in Koochiching county, will go out next week from the office of W. P. Allred, architect. It will contain manual training and domestic science departments, and its cost is estimated at $15,000. The same architect also has plans in hand for a one-room school to be built in the Koochiching unorganized district.

Kelly & Williams, architects, are receiving bids upon the proposed new Cloquet firehall. It is to be a brick structure, and is estimated to cost $12,000.

Jacobson Bros., the general contractors for the John Wahl Candy company's new factory building on Michigan street in the West end, are making progress on the job. The heating and plumbing contract has been awarded to the E. S. Farrell company. That work in the M. S. Cook and S. E. Gittelson building on Superior street west has also been awarded to that company. J. J. Wangenstein was the architect for both jobs.

The tile and marble work contract in the new M. L. Fay home in the East end has been awarded to Thomson & Williams, and the hardware contract to the Kelley Hardware company. Plans for a garage there are being prepared by F. W. Perkins, architect.

The American Heating company has obtained the plumbing and heating contract for the new W. C. Agnew home in Congdon Park, and the electrical work contract went to the Duluth Electric company.

F. W. Perkins is taking bids upon a brick garage at the George A. French home on First street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues east. The same architect is making progress with the plans for G. H. Spencer's proposed home in Congdon Park.

Jacobson Bros., contractors for the Lincoln high school, have broken the ground for it, and will be ready to start upon the foundation next week.

Homesites in Glen Avon

We have some of the finest lots in Duluth located in Glen Avon and Hunter's Park, overlooking Waverly Park, Crescent View Park, and within two blocks of Congdon Park. Superb view of the lake and the Wisconsin shore in the distance. These lots are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They are surrounded by splendid homes, close to church and school and street car. Many of these lots have gas, water and sewer. When you buy here you are not buying a new boom addition, where you are a pioneer as it were, but the improvements are there and the type of houses surrounding you is assured. Think of this: Eleven of these lots have the finest paved street in the city of Duluth, which cost $240 for 50 feet. This is fully paid for and does not add a cent to the price of the lots for you. If you were thinking of building a home you can make a 20% larger loan on a house built here than on a house built in a new suburb. We can place the loans for you on houses built here.

These lots lie between Victoria street and Hardy street and between Wallace avenue and Vermilion road, one of the choicest locations in Duluth. The lots are 50x190 and 50x200 feet. Prices vary from $800 to $1700 per lot on five years' time.

Call us up and make appointments to see these lots. Look them over and compare them with any other lots in the city and then you will be convinced of our low prices and desirability of purchasing here. Investigate these.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HAD DULUTH LIQUOR IN DRESS SUIT CASE

Young Man Arrested at Deer River on Charge of "Tilting" Lid.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Special Officer Munro of the Indian department Thursday arrested Peter Rusk, a young man who has been in Deer River for some time, as the latter was stepping off the noon train here on his return from Duluth with a dress suitcase containing booze. Seven pints and one quart of whisky were found in the suitcase. Officer Munro brought his prisoner and the suitcase here. Rusk was lodged in the county jail until midnight, then taken to Bemidji to be given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Simons.

Mr. Munro, while here stated that some of the former saloon keepers of Deer River, whose licenses have not expired are inclined to resent the interference of the Indian agents, and that some have "plants" of booze hidden which the agents cannot locate, and which the saloon men bring in in small packages and sell to trusted friends.

One Saloonman Defiant.

One of them is said to have told the agents that he does not intend to stop selling booze until his license from the village expires.

When asked what would be done in regard to the liquor traffic in Grand Rapids, Mr. Munro stated as far as he could learn, the department is short of funds, and will not get another appropriation until some time in July, and that there will probably be nothing done until that time when more men can be put on to put the order into execution.

IMPROVING THEIR STOCK.

Farmers in Ardenhurst Township See Dairying Benefits.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. E. Guptill of the town of Ardenhurst, who was here Thursday attending the meeting of the assessors of Itasca county, reports that more interest is being taken in farming in his township than ever before, and more land will be cleared this year than has been cleared in the history of the township.

Most of the timber which has any marketable value at this time is gone or is held by the big lumber companies, and the farmers find that they not only have to go more extensively into farming, but that it is more profitable than to depend entirely or almost so, on the logging industry.

Mr. Guptill is enthusiastic over the dairy cattle prospects of his locality, and he says that the farmers are fast coming to a realization of the benefits to be derived from raising high class stock. The community has had a pure bred registered Guernsey sire for several years and is starting to get good results of the first generation of cows.

CASE STILL ON TRIAL.

Action Started at Grand Rapids March 18 Not Finished.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of the Gilbert Land company vs. Minneapolis & Rainy River Railway company, which has been on here in district court for the past six weeks will probably go to the jury early next week, according to the expectations of the lawyers and the court.

The examination of witnesses has been taking a considerable time, owing to the extensive territory covered and the detail with which the matters are being gone into. Samples of brush, wood and soil from the lands claimed to have been damaged are offered in evidence, and each piece of land is checked over by the cruisers who went over the lands, and this has proven very tedious work.

The court has been working on this case continuously since March 18.

His ailment is the result of a physical and nervous breakdown.

RAIN

The clouds are still sticking around in Duluth and the general weather conditions are not at all conducive to good feeling. A little fire in the furnace is not the least bit unwelcome, and this morning in houses where heat was not furnished, people who have to work for a living made things lively in getting into their clothes. Much unplanned exercise was taken in the operation.

A year ago today was fine. The sun rose this morning at 4:52 and will set this evening at 7:18, giving fourteen hours and twenty-six minutes of sunlight. The fifteen-hour day starts on the 13th.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comments on weather conditions:

"Much cooler weather prevails in the Rocky mountain region and extreme southwest. Freezing temperature occurred in Utah, Nevada and Idaho. During the last twenty-four hours precipitation occurred over the Lake Superior region, Eastern Canada, New England, Southern, Central and Western states. Snow fell over Utah and Nevada. Light frost occurred at Toledo, Ohio, and Portland, Or.

HIBBING LOSES TO VIRGINIANS

Various Circumstances Are Blamed for 12 to 5 Defeat.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—Special to The Herald.)—Errors, accidents, complicated incidents and unavoidable catastrophes combined yesterday afternoon to lose the ball game for Hibbing to the Virginia league players by a score of 12 to 5. The cold weather made the contest exceedingly dull, although several thousand fans and two brass bands constantly kept trying to liven things up.

Brady's colts took a Zeppelin ride in the fourth, the one real fatal inning of the game, when the Ore Diggers became exhausted chasing around the bags. Altogether eight runs were made in this inning. This, however, was in no way Pitcher Wilson's fault, as he was poorly supported during the first part of this inning and during the latter part contributed to the general entertainment of the visitors. Virginia made its first run in the first inning when Wilson walked several men. He, however, tightened up and three men died on bases.

Thompson Hard to Hit.

Alex Thompson, who tried out for Duluth this spring, finished the game for Hibbing. Thompson used an effective ball, but was not entirely untouchable by the Ore Diggers, who clouted him hard at times. He was well supported, however. A spectacular bare-handed catch by Ted Carrol in right field when two men were on bases, retiring the side, saved Hibbing from getting a worse drubbing.

For Virginia, Needham pitched the first seven innings. The Hibbing batters at times hit him, but the hits were too infrequent and far between to do Hibbing any good. Cardinal pitched the last two innings for Virginia. Hibbing made two runs off him in the ninth.

Today Hibbing plays at Virginia, while tomorrow the two teams will clash here again. Rivalry between the two villages was never more keen. Nearly all Hibbing stores were closed today during the game.

The accused and complaining witness are rival hot tamale peddlers and had a difference at 3 o'clock in the room of the latter. Shaw was shot in the leg and hit on the head with a club. Freeman and Cooke appeared for the accused and Austin and White for the state.

RANGE JUVENILES BEHAVING SELVES

Fewer Getting Into Trouble, According to Probation Officer's Report.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A decided improvement among the juveniles on the Mesaba range is evidenced in the quarterly report issued this morning by Range Probation Officer C. E. Everett.

There are two less on parole now than at the beginning of the quarter, in juvenile court.

"This is all brought about," Mr. Everett said, "by knowledge of parents that the object of this office is to first prevent, next to correct and least to persecute, that this office is in no way trying to make a large record for prosecutions, but to treat each case individually and give every youth a chance to make good and help him do it."

Two Mothers' Pensioned.

Among the features of the report is the small number of mothers' pensions granted. Two mothers were granted pensions and pension was revoked from one. The number of children involved in the new pension altogether, is seven.

In district court the report shows that at the beginning of the quarter twenty-three offenders were on parole. Four more were received on parole during the term while three were discharged.

In municipal court eight persons under the age of 21 years were arraigned. None were placed on parole during the month.

Forty-three girls and boys were on parole in juvenile court at the beginning of the quarter. Now only forty-one are on parole.

Among the disposition of cases appearing in juvenile court is the committing of four girls to the state school at Sauk Center, three boys to the state school at Red Wing and twelve to the state school at Owatonna. Seven were placed on parole and twelve were dismissed. Seven were discharged from parole.

ITASCA COUNTY SEEDING WELL ALONG

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The seeding of small grains in this vicinity is pretty well along, most of the farmers having finished seeding. The favorable weather of the present spring has left the ground all that can be desired, and has permitted this unusually early seeding, leaving quite a bit of time between seeding and corn and potato planting to get more land ready for those crops.

Clearing School Farm.

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The five acres of land on the South side set aside for a school farm is being cleared. Parents not having gardens at home will send their children to the plot to cultivate and grow various vegetables while vegetables needed for the schools will also be grown. A toolhouse will be erected.

HAWKEYES SEEK LAND.

Many Prospective Settlers Come to North Dakota From Iowa.

Fargo, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Iowa is sending large delegations of farmers into this state to investigate farm lands. Having heard so much about the development of corn and alfalfa in this state, they wish to look over the situation and if they find conditions as favorable as reported they want to make investments while lands are comparatively low in price. Following the rains a week ago the conditions in the state are practically ideal and are such as to make a most favorable impression on prospective purchasers. Many of the Iowans are being taken out of here to see lands, while others went to dealers farther inland.

NAMING THE FARM BECOMING MORE COMMON IN MINNESOTA

J. MOBRATEN'S "PINE GROVE FARM."

Naming the farm is a custom which was imported years ago from England. There individual farms are usually given a specific and permanent name, to be used in addressing the owner and identifying the products which he markets. The custom is steadily growing in favor not only in Minnesota but in other states as well.

"We are endeavoring to educate the farmers in this part of the country to give a distinct name to their farms," declared A. B. Hostetter, district supervisor of county agricultural agents. "It affords a convenient and agreeable means of designating farm property and gives to the place a suggestion of individual distinction."

The naming of a farm also encourages the use of printed letterheads and envelopes and would induce the farmer to cultivate business-like habits. The extra expense involved must be viewed as an investment. The use of the farm name on stationery and in advertising all farm products will produce income in a direct ratio to the expenditure.

Many Farms Named.

In St. Louis county, many farms have been named and some of the larger farms are well known throughout the county and the northern section of the state. These farms, however, are owned for the most part by city farmers and are large estates.

In spite of the fact that some farmers object to naming their farms because it "would be aping the city farmer" or "putting on airs" nevertheless there are others that take a larger view of the matter and choose a suitable name for their places.

J. Mobraten, who has a moderate sized farm near Forbes, belongs to a class of small farmers who are living up to their opportunity in this regard. He has christened his homestead "The Pine Grove Farm."

Mr. Mobraten has twenty acres under the plow and twenty acres in pasture, to which he is adding to at the rate of about three acres per year. He owns ten cows and six young cattle and makes a business of shipping milk to the range towns.

Nine cows at the Pine Grove farm dairy last year produced milk which sold for $943, or an average of more than $100 a cow. In addition to the cows, Mr. Mobraten keeps two horses, two pigs and thirty hens. The cow barn is 24 by 32 feet and the barn for the horses is 22 by 30 feet.

The following is a list of miscellaneous names, a large proportion of which are already in use on successful farms. Many of them have been adopted for farms in Minnesota: Airy Hill, Airy Knoll, Alfalfadalt, Altamont, Alpine, Arden, Arrowdale, Arrowhead, Bannerland, Beechwood, Belle of Minnesota, Blue Spruce, Bonanza, Bonnie Birches, Branching Brook, Breezy Point, Brian Lake, Broadway, Brookdale, Brookside, Cedarcroft, Cedar Lodge, Centennial, Clearbrook, Clover Crest, Cloverdale, Clover Hill, Cold Brook, Come Again, Corn Belt, Crossways, Cuyuna, Dairy Downs, Daisey Meadow, Double Deck, Eagle View, East View, Echo, Echo Glen, Echo Grove, Elmwood, Eureka, Edgewood, El Dorado, Elmendorf, Elmhurst, Evergreen, Evergreen Ridge, Excelsior, Fairfield, Fair Oaks, Fairview, Fairweather, Fanwood, Forest Hill, Forest Grove, Fountain Home, Gainford, Glendale, Gopher State, Grandview, Grassland, Halcyon, Hawthorn, Haycroft, Hazelnook, Hillhurst, Homestead, Ideal, Jerseyland, Lakeside, Lakeview, Lakewood, Lawnview, Lindenwood, Lucky Strike, Lyndale, Maple Grove, Maple Leaf, Maple Shade, Meadowlands, Meadows, Meadow View, Model Home, Morning Glory, Nestledown, North Star, Oak Croft, Oak Grove, Oakland, Orchard Crest, Orchard Hill, Osage, Our Choice, Overview, Paramount, Park Place, Perfection, Pine Grove, Pinehurst, Pine Ridge, Plainview, Pleasant Prairie, Pleasant Valley, Poplar Lane, Red Gate, Richfield, Riverlar Lane, Red Gate, Richfield, Riverdale, Riverside, Rockwood, Rookwood, Rose Hill, Seven Oaks, Shady Lane, South Shore, Spring Brook, Spring Well, Stillwater, Stony Run, Strawberry Hill, Summit, Sunnyside, Sunrise, Sunset, Sweepstakes, Sylvan Border, The Best Ever, The Knolls, The Willows, Trek End, Twin Oaks, Unique, Welcome Home, Westwood, Wildwood, Willowdale, Willow Glen, Willow Lane, Woodland, Woodlawn, Woodside.

HERRMANN THINKS KAUFF UNDESIRABLE

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 1.—The application for re-instatement of Benny Kauff, the Brooklyn Federal league player who on Thursday signed a New York National league contract, was up before Chairman August Herrmann of the national commission today and telephonic communications on the subject were being arranged with both President Tener of the National league and President Johnson of the American league. Chairman Herrmann in discussing the Kauff case today said:

"So far as I personally am concerned you can say for me that a player who has twice violated a contract is not a desirable man for baseball. Kauff violated one with organized baseball and has now, according to reports, violated one with the Federal league. If this is true he should not be permitted to play with any club in organized baseball."

Pending the decision of the commission, Chairman Herrmann announced that Kauff would not be permitted to play with the New York Nationals.

ARE SPENDING THEIR PENNIES

Duluth School Children Are Drawing on Bank Accounts.

Savings of school children of Duluth at the end of April amounted, in the aggregate, to $2,430.94. This is a slight falling off from the previous month, due, it is believed, to the fact that spring and summer outfits for the children are being purchased at this time of the year, which usually causes a drawing against accounts, as many of the children proudly save the money to "provide their own keep."

The deposits are made in the First National bank, which sends collectors to the different schools on stated days, and who receive the deposits. The comparative statements of cash accumulations of the children of the different schools at the end of April and at the end of March follow:

CLAIM STOCK WAS IN ESCROW

Mining Company Officers Explain Refusal to Transfer Shares.

Judge Dancer in district court this morning granted a hearing on the alternative writ of mandamus directed against the Iron Mountain Mining company requiring it to transfer 1,200 shares of stock on its books from J. W. Fee to Edward Downie or show cause why it should not be compelled to do so. The writ was returnable this morning before the court.

Affidavits were read to show that Fee had assigned the stock in question to Downie, a stock broker, but that the company refused to make the transfer on its books. The company filed an answer to the proceeding, setting forth that Fee had violated an escrow agreement in disposing of the stock and that the stock was not negotiable at the time of the transfer.

Judge Dancer will hold the case open for a few days.

Increase Marquette Taxes.

Marquette, Mich., May 1.—The city commission has passed the annual budget, carrying a tax levy of $134,806, an increase of about $10,000 over last year's figures. This increase will mean a slight raise in the tax rate, but just how much higher the rate will be cannot be determined until the total of the assessment roll is ascertained.

GERMAN ADVANCE IN THE EAST IS UNCHECKED; ATTACKS NEAR YPRES REPULSED BY BRITISH

GERMANS SINK MANY BOATS IN NEW CAMPAIGN OF SUBMARINES

AMERICAN TANK SHIP SENT DOWN

Swedish Steamer Sent to Bottom in Less Than Three Minutes.

Several Lives Lost and Some of Crews of Ships Missing.

British Warships Sink Two German Torpedo Boats in North Sea.

Sinking of three more vessels in the North sea by German submarines in their new campaign is reported today. The Swedish steamer Ellida went to the bottom in less than three minutes after she was torpedoed, but the eighteen persons on board escaped. Trawlers reaching Aberdeen report that two vessels in a fishing fleet less than fifty miles off that port were sunk yesterday.

The American tank steamer Gulflight was torpedoed off the Scilly Islands Saturday, the captain dying of heart failure from the shock, and two seamen jumped overboard and were drowned. A number of other vessels were sent to the bottom Saturday and Sunday by German submarines. The British torpedo boat destroyer Recruit was sunk Sunday and the British retaliated by sinking two German torpedo boats.

Swedish Steamer Sunk.

London, May 3.—The Exchange Telegraph company has received a dispatch from its correspondent at Copenhagen saying that the Swedish steamer Ellida, timber laden, from Helsingborg for Hull, has been torpedoed in the North sea by a German submarine. She went to the bottom in less than three minutes.

The sixteen men and two women on board the vessel barely had time to make their escape in one of the small boats. After cruising about for two hours they were picked up by a Danish schooner and landed at Yemvig, Denmark.

OFFERS AID TO SETTLE BIG CHICAGO STRIKE

Mayor Thompson Willing to Give Services to Bring About Peace.

Chicago, May 3. — Mayor William Hale Thompson was ready today to offer his services to bring about a settlement of the union carpenters' strike, which has thrown 125,000 wage earners out of employment and tied up building operations.

Delegates representing the 16,000 strikers and contractors had been invited to meet with the mayor and present both sides of the wage dispute. It was said that a compromise might be reached and that the men would accept an increase of 2½ cents per hour as the basis for a final settlement.

The men were receiving 65 cents an hour and went on strike to enforce a demand for 70 cents an hour.

WOMAN MAYOR OF WARREN, ILL., IS 74 YEARS OLD

MRS. A. R. CANFIELD.

The new mayor of Warren, Ill., is a woman of 74. And she is the first woman mayor ever elected in Illinois. Mrs. A. R. Canfield is her name. Mrs. Canfield defeated her male opponent by four votes. Warren is a town of 1,500 inhabitants.

MRS. CARMAN IS ON TRIAL

Freeport Woman Faces Charge of Murder for Second Time.

State Claims to Have New Witnesses of Great Importance.

Mineola, N. Y., May 3.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman was placed on trial in the supreme court here today before Justice Blackmar for the second time on the indictment charging her with the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey, at Freeport, on the night of June 30 last. The jury in the first trial disagreed, and Mrs. Carman has been at liberty under bond since then.

Mrs. Carman, who was accompanied by her husband, Dr. Edward Carman, appeared in court pale but smiling, and seemed to be in better health than when she was tried before.

Only thirty-six names remained on the jury panel when the first talesman was called, and as each side has thirty peremptory challenges, it appeared certain that the panel would be exhausted before the jury box was filled. Sheriff Petit at once began the selection of another panel of 150 men.

Trial to Last Longer.

District Attorney Smith intimated that the trial would last longer than the first one, which was over in a week. He thought it might require a week to present the state's case alone. Several new witnesses, it is reported, will be called to support the state's contention that Mrs. Carman was the unseen assailant who, through a window, shot Mrs. Bailey to death in Dr. Carman's office.

Selection of the jury proceeded slowly, and out of the first nine men examined, only one was given a place in the jury box.

WANT AWARD INVESTIGATED

Railroad Men Voting on Resolution Demanding Congressional Action.

Charge Charles Nagel as Busch Representative Was Prejudiced.

Chicago, May 3.—Delegates representing 64,000 engineers, firemen and hostlers on ninety-eight railroads operating west of Chicago were to vote today on a resolution demanding a congressional investigation of the wage award of the Federal arbitration board handed down last week.

The resolution, it was reported, will ask congress to investigate the appointment of Charles Nagel, former secretary of commerce and labor, as a neutral member of the board. Nagel, it was charged, is prejudiced in view of the fact that he acted as a trustee of the Busch estate in St. Louis, which was heavily interested in railroads.

Warren S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he expected immediate action on the congressional resolution so it may receive early consideration when congress meets.

KAISER AND BROTHER ON VISIT TO ANTWERP

Look Over Fortifications in Harbor and Return to Luxemburg.

London, May 3.—Telegraphing from Amsterdam, the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company says that Emperor William and Prince Henry of Prussia, his brother, were at Antwerp the end of last week and inspected the harbor fortifications and the submarine yards. Subsequent to this they returned to Luxemburg.

The local newspapers were forbidden to mention this visit until such time as the emperor was back in Luxemburg. The few persons who recognized his majesty say he looked well, but aged.

Son of Late Senator Platt Appears in Suit Against Roosevelt.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 3.—That William Barnes told Him Charles Murphy of Tammany Hall and asked for help in 1911, to defeat a direct primaries bill in the senate legislature and that the chairman of the Republican state committee had answered he would refuse the aid asked and had remarked he would not pull the Tammany leader's chestnuts from the fire, was the sworn testimony given in the supreme ccourt here today by Walter T. Arndt, formerly Albany correspondent of a New York newspaper.

Mr. Arndt was one of several witnesses who were placed upon the stand by the defense. Among them was Edward T. Platt, son of the late Thomas C. Platt, former United States senator, described in previous testimony as the "easy boss," Mr. Platt produced several bundles of musty letters taken from the files kept by his father from 1899 to 1909.

Jacob J. Dickinson of Washington, another former correspondent of a New York newspaper in Albany, testified regarding a conversation he had with Mr. Barnes in which the subject of Governor Hughes and race track legislation was freely discussed.

WIDOW AND FOUR CHILDREN HEIRS

Will of Late John Cudahy, Meat Packer, Filed for Probate.

Chicago, May 3.—The will of the late meat packer and grain man, John Cudahy, filed for probate here today, leaves the entire estate to the widow and four children. The instrument does not mention the value of the estate, but it is estimated to be $1,500,000.

The bulk of the property is to be held in trust for seven years, when all of the heirs except John P. Cudahy of Kansas City, may take it over. He shares equally with the others, except that the trustees will retain his share during his life, giving him the income only in quarterly installments.

Upon his death the will provides that the trustees shall turn over his inheritance to his heirs, providing that John does not die within seven years.

SINKING AMERICAN SHIP BY SUBMARINE IS CONSIDERED SERIOUS

Thorough Investigation Will Be Made By Washington Authorities.

Judgment to Be Reserved Until Details Are Officially Received.

First United States Vessel to Be Sunk By German Submarine.

Washington, May 3.—President Wilson will reserve judgment on the torpedoing of the American steamer Gulflight until full official details are received. The president inquired about the incident when he arrived from Williamstown, Mass., today, but was told that so far as White House officials knew, no official word had come in.

On the face of the news dispatches, officials admit that the attack on the ship is a serious matter, but they intend that a very thorough investigation shall be made and that no hasty action should be taken.

If first reports are borne out, the attack on the Gulflight constitutes the first case of an American ship struck by a torpedo with the consequent loss of lives. Two American vessels have been sunk by mines, the responsibility for which has never been fixed and one American, Leon C. Thrasher, was drowned when the British ship Falaba was torpedoed.

The United States government has just completed its investigation of the Thrasher case, but in view of the direct attack on an American vessel, now reported it is believed both incidents will be dealt with in whatever diplomatic action is taken.

Referred to in Note.

It was generally recalled that in the note sent by the United States to Germany in answer to Germany's proclamation of a war zone around the British Isles and Ireland, the Washington government stated that it would hold the German government to "a strict accountability" for the loss of any American lives or vessels, the phraseology being so drawn as to cover attacks on belligerent vessels on which Americans were traveling. Officials said at the time the purpose of the document was to insist on the right of Americans to voyage on the high seas even on belligerent merchantmen, and upon the observance of previous rules of international law, which provide for the transfer to places of safety of non-

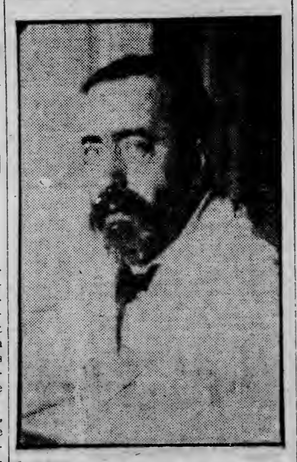
SAYS GERMANY HAS MADE NO PROTEST ON SELLING OF ARMS



—Copyright by the Bain News Service.

DR. BERNHARD DERNBURG.

Philadelphia, May 3.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former colonial secretary of Germany, has raised his voice in protest against a declaration said to have been made that Germany had protested against the right of the United States to sell and distribute arms to belligerent countries.

Dr. Dernburg explained that Germany had only complained of the inequality of treatment that his country is receiving in that foodstuffs are shut out of Germany whereas there is a free transit of arms to Great Britain.

OBJECTIONS TO TAXATION

Protest to English Chancellor's Plan of Penalizing Whole Nation.

Papers Say Trouble With Workmen Should Be Considered By Itself.

London, May 3.—The "white paper" on the drink question brings home to the nation in an impressive manner the gravity of the situation. What causes the greatest indignation in the newspapers is the fact not hitherto realized that drink is hampering the work in the shipbuilding and trades.

Judging from the editorial opinion expressed in this morning's newspapers, however serious as the situation is thus depicted, it is not regarded as justifying David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, in penalizing the whole nation by an excessive taxation of the liquor industry. It is pointed out in the editorials that the trouble arises from the men earning much larger wages than they have

SPECTACULAR MOVEMENT TO RIVER NIEMEN

March Along 100-Mile Front Does Not Disturb Russ to South.

Intention of Germans Is to Cripple Right Wing of Enemy.

British Inflict Severe Losses on Teutons in St. Julien Vicinity.

Petrograd, May 3, by way of London—The spectacular advance of German forces along a hundred-mile front extending from the Baltic sea near Libau in a southeasterly direction to the northern tributaries of the River Niemen continues unchecked. It has not disturbed Russian activity in the region south of the Niemen where, according to information received here, consistent successes are being won by the troops of Emperor Nicholas.

The German movement in the Baltic provinces, which is designed to sever communication with Libau and thus cripple the Russian right wing, is not regarded seriously by the Russians, inasmuch as the flooding of the Niemen entirely separates the Germans from their base and from the other German armies. The two fields of operations, one on each side of the river, are, therefore, as isolated from each other as though they were a thousand miles apart, although actually they are adjacent. Russian observers characterize the German advance north of Niemen as a "comic opera affair," designed to induce the Russians to transfer hurriedly troops to that region.

More Formidable.

At points to the southward, particularly Ostrolenka, Serafin Ednovorits and the whole region between the Rivers Skwa and Pissa, the German offensive has assumed a more formidable character. It is marked by intense and prolonged artillery fire. On Friday the Germans fired 30,000 shells in this district. This was followed by infantry battles, in which the Germans, after suffering heavy losses, reached the Russian trenches, only to be finally repulsed.

Germans Repulsed.

London, May 3.—There was given out today a British official statement dated May 3 and reading as follows:

GAS SUPPLY IN GREAT DANGER

One Pipe Line Into Arkansas Gone; Feared Other Will Break.

Little Rock, Ark., May 3.—With one pipe line across the Red river already broken, virtually cutting off this city's gas supply and the other threatened, officials of the Arkansas Natural Gas company today feared flood conditions would result in a gas famine in the Arkansas cities for perhaps three weeks. Should the remaining main break Hot Springs, Pine Bluff, Benton, Malvern, Guerdon, Hope, Prescott, Arkadelphia and Sheridan would be without gas. No repairs can be made to the pipe line, it is said, until the Red river recedes to normal, which, it is believed, will not be for three weeks. The gas is supplied from the Caddo fields in Louisiana.

ALLIES MAKING PROGRESS IN ATTACK ON DARDANELLES

Believed to Be Well Up to Narrows Under Cover of Guns.

Turks Say Assailants Have Not Improved Position on Land.

London, May 3.—No further official announcements have been made concerning fighting in the Dardanelles, but unofficial dispatches agree that the allies are progressing toward the Narrows under cover of the fire of their naval guns, which are inflicting great damage on the Turkish defenses, including the reported total destruction of the town of Dardanelles.

A late Turkish official announcement claims a victory near Gaba Tepeh, in the Gallipoli peninsula, which is said to have resulted in the retreat of the colonial British troops to the shelter of their warships. This account, however, does not agree with the British official report published Saturday, which declared that the British were resuming the offensive after a stubborn resistance on the part of the Turks.

Only a Raid.

Petrograd continues to assert that the advance of German troops in the direction of Riga is only a raid, but an uneasy feeling is growing in London that these invaders are in force

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

An imposing victory of Austrian arms over the Russian forces in Western Galicia was announced today by the German war office. It is said the Austrians, in the presence of their commander-in-chief, Archduke Frederick, "pierced and everywhere crushed" the entire Russian line.

An attack from this quarter has been predicted in Petrograd dispatches as an offset to Russian efforts further east on the Carpathian front. The direction in which this new and sudden stroke has been made, evidently in great force, lies to the south of Russian Poland. The line along which the Austrian advance was made runs for about sixty miles north and south through Galicia something more than fifty miles east of Cracow.

Sharp fighting has been resumed in Flanders. French, German and British official statements tell of German attacks near Hill No. 60, which the British recently captured and in the vicinity of St. Julien, both in the Ypres region. The Paris and London communications say the German onslaughts failed, but Berlin characterizes the movements as successful and says that a farm southeast of St. Julien was captured.

The Turkish war office announced that the allies who landed on Gallipoli peninsula had been prevented from making headway. It is said the British battleship Vengeance, previously reported damaged, and the French battleship Henri IV, were struck by shells.

A German aeroplane appeared over Dover today, but was driven off. London heard a report that a Zeppelin was flying over the North sea in the direction of the English coast.

It is believed in Rome that Austria and Germany have decided on another effort to prolong the negotiations between Italy and the central empires in the hope of reaching a peaceful settlement of the territorial dispute. For this purpose it is said that Count Goluchowski, former Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, will go to Rome from Vienna.

The Italian cabinet has decided not to postpone the assembling of parliament on May 12 and it is thought in Rome that parliament may assist the cabinet in reaching "a decision which appears now to be almost inevitable."

Information from the Dardanelles by way of London is that the bombardment of the Turkish forts was carried on Saturday and that great damage was inflicted by the warships of the allies. The town of Dardanelles is said to have been destroyed. The Turkish war office, however, states that no action was attempted by the allied fleet on that day. French troops are reported to have made another landing on the Asiatic side and to be advancing rapidly.

IMPROVE THE "MODEL CITY"

Houses Equipped in Most Modern and Sanitary Manner.

Trees and Shrubs Will Help in Beautifying District.

Civic improvements and city planning as carried out in the building of Morgan park have impressed R. J. Morehouse, who is engineering the building of the $400,000 water system under construction at the "Model City." The thoroughness with which the plans are being carried out, will be a revelation to all modern communities, according to Mr Morehouse.

"The city planning at Morgan park," he said, "as to streets, parks and public buildings, is going to be a revelation. Even the homes are more modern than usual for the so-called middle classes. When it is considered that modern laborers are to live there, what the Steet corporation is doing for them can be appreciated only by a study of the plans as they are now preparing to carry them out.

"The homes, ranging in size to accommodate from one to six families, are beautiful from an architectural point of view, and as for sanitation and comfort they cannot be beaten in any town in the country. When the lawns have been sodded and the trees and shrubbery planted the scenic effect will be a wonder.

"Each home is equipped with electric lights, water and gas and sewers."

There are in all 169 houses erected. These vary in size from one-family houses with from four to eight rooms to buildings large enough to accommodate six families. There are enough buildings to accommodate 349 families. Each apartment has its own basement, heating plant, bathroom, gas and water, and electrical connections. The interior finish is thoroughly up-to-date. Hardwood is used exclusively. Every detail has been thoroughly looked after. Screens for the windows are not the ordinary kind that have to be tacked on, but each is fastened on by a groove arrangement, so that it will slide into place. Each furnace can be regulated without the formality of going into the basement.

The planting the shrubbery and trees is fast being completed. Each corner in the village will have a special cluster of rose bushes and other shrubbery plants. The trees have been laid out in a manner that indicates great care. Each row of trees on each side of the various streets is perfect. The sodding and seeding will be started as soon as all of the plants have been set in the ground. There are 5,000 plants to be set out in addition to 1,500 trees.

ALUMNI SOCIETIES' LIFE IS AT STAKE

Abolishment of Upper Grades May End Organizations.

The life of alumni associations of the public schools of West Duluth is threatened. With the withdrawal of the seventh and eighth grades from the Longfellow, Ely and Fairmont schools some of the former graduates are of the opinion that these organizations may come to a quiet death.

For the purpose of determining what action is to be taken in the future to keep its organization alive, officers of the Longfellow school alumni have called a meeting at the school for Wednesday evening. The present officers are Ragnar Larson, president; Mrs. Edith Pollock Nelson, vice president; Miss Grace Pollock, secretary, and Gordon Huth, treasurer.

It was intended to make plans for an annual banquet for the graduating class this year, but owing to the fact that there will be no class to graduate from this institution, it is probable that a "spread" for members of the organization only will be planned. It is also probable that future new members of this organization will be enlisted from among those who leave the institution in the sixth grade and finish the junior high school two years later.

THIEVES KNOCK OUT WATER SYSTEM

Apparatus Taken From Pumphouse to Finnish College.

Thieves Saturday night working at Spirit lake put the water system of the Finnish Work People's college out of business. Some time during the night, the brass fittings, oil boxes, wires and other apparatus required in operating the pump house near the shore were stolen, leaving the big building entirely without a water supply for its boilers and dormitory yesterday morning.

The thieves also stole a three-horse power Detroit gasoline engine out of a boat belonging to George Ritchie of Morgan park. The boat was tied up at the dock near the pumphouse. The engine had been lifted out of the boat. The brass fittings had been taken out previously by Mr. Ritchie.

The theft was not discovered until yesterday forenoon when Mr. Ritchie intended moving his boat from the Spirit lake dock to a point nearer home at Morgan park.

Police of New Duluth were notified of the thefts, but have as yet failed to find any trace of the thieves. The stealing of the apparatus from the pumphouse put the college authorities to a lot of inconvenience. It was several hours before the pump was again in working condition. The loot taken is valued at about $100.

FIRE LIFTS THE "LID."

Firemen Rush to Petruschke's Saloon to Put Out Flames.

The "lid" at C. J. Petruschke's saloon, 414 North Central avenue, was off for a few minutes yesterday. The lifting of the lid was not caused intentionally by Mr. Petruschke, but by firemen from No. 8 fire hall, who were called to the spot by an over-abundance of smoke seen issuing from the building.

A small oil stove had been left in the place to keep it warm. This began smoking heavily, and the smoke attracted men passing the place. An alarm was turned in and when the department arrived, there was a good blaze in progress. Damage was slight.

A call was also responded to by the department at 10 o'clock last night to a grocery store at Fifty-eighth and Grand avenue. A pile of rubbish in the rear of the place had begun to smoulder. The damage was nominal.

FIRE IS PERSISTENT.

Flames Active for Several Hours in Flat Near River.

A stubborn fire in the flat near the river at New Duluth gave the firemen of the suburb had work for several hours yesterday morning. The fire driven by a high wind burned far into the dry cedar bark and strippings of which the flat is largely composed, and for a while threatened to spread well up toward the Thompson Furniture plant.

The blaze is believed to have started from a small fire built by men who were flashing there early in the morning. The entire ground in that vicinity is made from filling in with cedar peelings and sawdust placed there by sawmills years ago.

SUPERIOR

WILL BEGIN BUILDING.

Construction of Parochial School Will Commence This Week.

Construction work on the new $40,000 parochial school to be built by the St. Stanislaus Polish Catholic church, will be begun this week. The school will be erected on Fourteenth street and Birch avenue. It will be three stories high with a forty-foot frontage and be eighty feet deep. The building will be of brick and stone. In addition to the $40,000 cost of construction, it is expected that about $20,000 additional will be necessary to equip it.

"DOPE FIENDS" A NUISANCE.

Doctor's Office Entered; Special Officer to Be Employed.

"Dope fiends" are causing considerable worry among physicians and dentists of Superior. Several attempts have been made recently by men, believed to be victims of the drug, to break into the offices of dentists and physicians in the hope of getting some of the drug.

In the Empire building an attempt was made to enter the office of Dr. John Clark. The door was torn from the hinges. The noise awoke Dr. W. A. McEachern, who was sleeping in his rooms adjoining the office but the men were able to get away before they could be identified. It is proposed to employ a special officer to patrol the office buildings.

Plan Municipal Garden.

A Superior municipal garden, which will be in the nature of a model for the residents to pattern after, will be planned at Ogden avenue and Belknap street. The ground will be platted into several sections and planted with various kinds of flowers, vegetables and shrubery. Miss Dorothy Sheehan is active in the project.

Retires on Pension.

Police Captain A. T. Olson, member of the police department of Superior for the last twenty-four years, retired voluntarily this morning on a pension. He is the second member of the department to leave on a pension, the only other pensioner being George Wheratt, who retired two years ago. Capt. Olson was the third oldest man on the department in the point of service. He will probably be succeeded as captain of police by Sergeant Louis Osborne.

ASSESSOR'S ACTION LOST

Court Dismisses Mandamus Case Against Northern Storage Co.

Involved Taxation on Personal Property Valued at $250,000.

In district court today, Judge Dancer dismissed mandamus proceedings instituted several months ago by J. Allyn Scott, city assessor, against the Northern Cold Storage company, to compel the concern to list with him for the purpose of taxation, about $250,000 worth of personal property, which was held by the company in its warehouse on May 1, 1914. After having had the case under advisement for some time, the court today denied the writ prayed for.

"One rule of law is," the court stated in its memorandum, "that property of a non-resident is not taxable within a state if the custody of the agent is only temporary and for the purpose of transmission. * * * There was no testimony of any property stored with the defendant by, or held for, any person from this locality. The court is unable to find affirmatively that there was anything in the warehouse on the day in question which the defendant should be required to list, although there may have been such property in its possession."

The court found that between 80 and 85 per cent of the property was composed of shipments from other states than Minnesota, consigned to the warehouse to be distributed to other states, and that a part of the property was consigned to the company, for the sole purpose of being stored or forwarded.

W. H. Gurnee, assistant city attorney, appeared on behalf of the city assessor in the proceeding and Crassweller, Crassweller & Blu represented the storage company.

EIGHT MEN "MENTIONED"

Four Police Officers and Four Outsiders Considered for Chief's Post.

Eight men, four of whom are members of the police department, are being prominently mentioned for chief of police to succeed Chief C. H. Troyer, who will retire on May 14 and become head of the police department at Fargo, N. D.

Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division, said this morning that these men are being considered and that the appointment will not be rushed through. He plans to look around and pick the best man possible for the office, he said.

The men mentioned for chief of police are: Guy A. Eaton, John Murphy, Col. F. E. Resche, Robert McKercher, Detective Frank Schulte, Capt. A. G. Fiskett, and Lieutenants Robert McDermott and E. H. Barber. The last four are members of the police department.

Many Duluthians are urging Commissioner Silberstein to appoint some member of the present force, while others declare that the new chief should be an outsider. Mr. Eaton has been chief of inspector of the state for several years and is well known throughout Minnesota. Col. Resche is at present probation officer and at one time was captain of the police department, while Mr. McKercher is the county humane agent. Mr. Murphy is yardmaster for a local railroad and prominent in labor circles.

CELEBRATE LIBERTY DAY

Polish-Americans Lauded for Industry and Love of Country.

Mayor Prince, Ray Hughes and Others Speak at Meeting.

Polish-American citizens celebrated the one hundred and twenty-first anniversary of the adoption of the Polish constitution yesterday afternoon at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. Speakers lauded Polish-American citizens for their patriotism and love of liberty.

Among the speakers were Mayor W. I. Prince, Ray M. Hughes, Rev. S. A. Iciek and Rev. J. F. Cleminski. The meeting was presided over by A. Grabarkiewicz. A musical program given by the choir of the St. Mary's Polish church and the Polish orchestra also featured the program.

Mayor Prince lauded the Polish people for being industrious, home-loving and religious. "These qualities," he said, "merit recognization, and it is decidedly to the credit of the Polish people that despite the loss of their identity as a nation in 1794 that wherever you find Poles you will find hearts filled with love for the homeland.

"I am persuaded that the American citizen who will suffer most to retain his citizenship is not the fellow who considers himself an original American, but the man who has adopted this country as his home. The dominating spirit as reflected in the history of Poland indicates that this spirit is love of liberty and love of country."

Mr. Hughes paid a tribute to the Polish leaders who, he said, were instrumental in inculcating the spirit of independence into the people. "Poland is today," he said, "in the center of the terrible war. There one may find untold instances of hunger, deprivation, death and woe. I hope the time is not far distant when Poland will take its stand again among the nations of the world."

Rev. Mr. Iciek and Rev. Mr. Cleminski concluded with addresses, the former speaking in the native tongue. Rev. Mr. Cleminski spoke in English and Polish. Miss Y. Ressell gave a dramatic reading in Polish.

The audience joined the choir in singing the national Polish anthem, "Eoze Cos Polske."

HOT CONTEST FOR PRIZES

Fully 500 Expected to Enter West End Garden Contest.

The garden contest, the aim of which is to beautify the West end, is starting off more auspiciously this spring than ever before. Four hundred and twenty-six entries have already been made, and it is expected that fully 500 will have entered before the close of the summer. Entries may be made throughout the season.

The work will be quite general this season as five schools, the Lincoln, Ensign, Adams, Monroe and Madison, are listed in the campaign, and the pupils of each will plant gardens. This will insure the co-operation of several hundred young folk, who will be given advice and other assistance from the teachers and school officials.

Each of these schools will be given a prize of $25. Five dollars of this will go to the school itself, and the remainder, $20, will go to the pupils for prizes.

Free seeds will be received from the Federal government soon. Names of prospective contestants were sent in some time ago, and the receipt of seeds is expected now at any time. The contests are in charge of Capt. R. A. Franklin, Dr. O. A. Oredson, and Henry Fares. Contributors to the prize fund will meet in the near future and decide upon the plans for giving prizes.

WOODMEN TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE

June 6 Set Apart for Observance—Duluth Camp Lauded.

Annual memorial services will be held by the lodges of the Modern Woodmen of America on Sunday, June 6. Plans for impressive ceremonies are being made by Duluth camp No. 2341, at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

Duluth camp is the subject of an article that appeared in the last issue of the Woodman, the official publication of the order. The author is James McNamara, the head clerk of the order and was inspired by his visit to this city, about six weeks ago, when he attended the convention of the clerks of the Woodmen camps. He lauds the camp for the energy and says he believes it to be the wealthiest camp in the jurisdiction of the order. His tribute follows:

"Without much doubt, inside of three years from this time, if not right now, Camp 2341, Duluth, Minn., can truthfully boast of being probably the wealthiest camp in the jurisdiction of Woodcraft. On a recent visit to that city, Head Clerk McNamara was surprised to learn of this fact.

"Here is the way it comes about: Several years ago this camp concluded to purchase a fine lot with an ideal situation, close to the municipal line separating Duluth and West Duluth. However, it was not until 1911 that the camp decided to build on the property and shortly after that came the two and a half years of conflict within the ranks of the society which would naturally make the financing of any such project a highly delicate matter, calling for ability of a supreme order. Notwithstanding this handicap, so wisely were the plans laid with a view to future revenue and so effectively were they executed that the finance committee informed the head clerk that the camp expected to be entirely out of debt inside of the next three years, if not sooner. When this happy stage is reached, Camp 2341 will have a property clear of incumbrance that will bring in a revenue of 7 per cent interest on a $40,000 investment. If there is any other camp in the jurisdiction of the society that can make a better showing than this, the head clerk would welcome a detailed report."

Swedish Mission Notes.

The monthly business meeting of the congregation of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will be held this evening in the church. At 7 o'clock a meeting of the church deacons will be held.

The Men's Welfare club will also meet in the church tomorrow evening.

The ladies' aid society will be entertained in the parlors of the church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Oscar Mork will be hostess.

Midweek services will be held at the East End mission on Thursday evening.

"Russellism" will be the subject of a lecture to be given at the church next Sunday evening. Rev. Gust F. Johnson, pastor of the Swedish Tabernacle church of Minneapolis, will be the speaker.

SINKING OF AMERICAN SHIP BY SUBMARINE IS CONSIDERED SERIOUS

combatants aboard unarmed merchantmen.

Course to be Determined.

The course of the United States in the case of the Gulflight is not likely to be determined for several days, some time probably will be required to get the facts.

The possibility of any action other than a demand for damages in the present case, is considered remote, however, because of the belief of officials that the attack on the Gulflight probably will be found to have been accidental and not deliberate.

Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, said he had received no information other than the news dispatches and in the absence of any word from Berlin he declined to comment.

Message From First Officer.

New York, May 3.—The two Americans in addition to Capt. Gunter, who lost their lives when the American steamer Gulflight was torpedoed off the Scilly islands were Charles C. Short of Chicago, the wireless operator, and Eugene Chapaneta of Port Arthur, Texas, a seaman, according to a cablegram received here today by the Gulf Refining company, owners of the vessel.

The message, a brief one, was signed by First Officer Ralph Smith. It said that Capt. Gunther, whose home is in Bayonne, N. J., died of heart disease, and that Short and Chapaneta were lost. These were the two men, it is believed, reported yesterday to have jumped from the vessel after she was struck and who were lost because of the fog which prevailed.

First Trip on Vessel.

Short's home address, according to the company's records, was 108 West One Hundred and Third street, Chicago. He was taken aboard the Gulflight at New Orleans, April 7. This was his first trip aboard the vessel. Chapaneta shipped at Port Arthur. Including her officers, the Gulflight had thirty-eight men aboard, most of them hailing from Gulf of Mexico ports. Ship and cargo, according to James Kennedy, marine superintendent of the company, were valued at $1,000,000.

Mr. Kennedy said he was waiting further advices giving full particulars of the attack on the Gulflight before communicating with the state department. A claim for the loss sustained, including damages for the lives lost, undoubtedly will be filed with the state department, he thought. The Gulflight's cargo, Mr. Kennedy said, consisted of gasoline and oil in bulk and in cases. It was consigned to firms doing business in France and not to the French government, he asserted.

Capt. Alfred Gunter, whose death from heart failure was reported, was 52 years old. Early in the year he took a cargo of cotton into Bremen, aboard the Gulflight. In January of last year he was in command of the steamer Oklahoma, which broke in two in a gale off the New Jersey coast, and was rescued with seven of his crew by the steamer Bavaria.

No Claim at This Time.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 3.—It is not the purpose of the Gulf Refining company, whose steamship, the Gulflight, was torpedoed off the Scilly islands by a German submarine, to press any claim through the United States government at this time, according to George S. Davidson, president of the company.

"I will be in Washington tomorrow, and will call at the state department," said Mr. Davidson. "Our property was covered by insurance in no way connected with the government marine insurance. That, of course, will be paid, and the only matter to be taken up with the government will have to do with relief for the families of Capt. Gunter, the wireless operator and the seaman, whose deaths resulted from the attack."

for three days, today issued a statement in support of their contention that the wage advances granted were very small.

The increases aggregate, according to these figures, $820,498 a year. The figures are for wages alone, and do not include the value of compensatory rules granted, or overtime allowances granted. The railroads contended throughout the case to grant every demand made by the men would cost the ninety-eight Western railroads involved $40,000,000 a year. The men contended that the cost would not run over $10,000,000 a year.

Small Percentage.

The award is said to affect engineers on only 5,767 locomotives out of 23,812 in service. The advances to the engineers totals $311,111.46, according to the brotherhoods.

Firemen on 7,005 locomotives out of 23,661 in service receive a total increase of $509,386.70, it is calculated by the brotherhoods.

Managers of the railroads assert that the cost of the award will be known only after the rules have been put into effect and the payrolls can be analyzed.

Chairmen of the brotherhoods, with their grand officers, were in executive session here today. It was stated that an investigation by congress into the appointment of Charles Nagel, former secretary of commerce and labor, as a neutral member of the board of arbitration, would be requested.

tank steamer Gulflight, which sailed from Port Arthur, Texas, April 10 for Rouen, France, was torpedoed at noon Saturday, off the Scilly islands, according to a dispatch received by the Central News agency.

The captain of the Gulflight, according to the same advices, died from heart failure as a result of the shock. Two seamen jumped overboard and were drowned. The other members of the crew were taken off by a patrol boat and landed. The vessel was towed into Crow sound and beached.

Two German Boats Sunk.

London, May 3.—The British admiralty stated last evening that two German torpedo boats had been sunk in the North sea. The British torpedo boat destroyer Recruit also was sunk.

The text of the admiralty statement follows:

"A series of small affairs took place in the neighborhood of the Gallopre and North Hinder lightships Saturday.

"During the forenoon H. M. destroyer Recruit was sunk by a submarine, four officers and twenty-nine men being saved by the trawler Daisy."

Colors Not Hoisted.

"At 3 p. m. the trawler Colombia was attacked by two German torpedo boats, which approached her from the westward, and commenced an action without hoisting their colors. The Colombia was sunk by a torpedo, only one deckhand being saved by the other trawlers.

"A division of British destroyers, comprising the Laforey, Leonidas, Lawford and Lark, chased the two German vessels and after a brief running fight of about an hour, sank both.

"The British destroyers sustained no casualties.

"Two German officers and 44 men were rescued from the sea and made prisoners of war."

Recruit Sunk.

The destroyer Recruit was on patrol duty Saturday morning when the submarine sank her. According to details received here, she was struck amidships by the torpedo and began to sink. The wounded vessel signaled for assistance and her call was answered by the trawler Daisy, and 30 men out of her complement of 65 were saved.

It is stated that a torpedo was fired at the Daisy which was forced to leave one of her rescue boats behind and that the submarine chased this boat and fired her gun at it, wounding four men.

British torpedo boat destroyers sighting in the distance two German torpedo boats which had sunk the trawler Colombia and apparently were supporting a submarine engaged the Germans at long range in the vicinity of the North Hinder light. The Germans endeavored to run away but the British boats pressed them hard and shortly afterward sank them.

The British boats rescued some of the crews from the Germans, and landed them yesterday.

Part of Crew Missing.

The British steamer Fulgent was sunk by a German submarine northwest of the Skellig rocks in the dark of Sunday morning, says a dispatch to Lloyds from Killrush, Ireland.

A boat containing nine survivors and the body of the captain of the steamer, who had been shot and killed, was rescued by a trawler and landed at Killrush. The trawler was unable to find the second boat of the Fulgent containing the remainder of the crew.

The steamer Fulgent was a vessel of 1,202 tons and was built in 1910. She was owned by J. Westolt of Sunderland. The Skellig rocks, near where she was sunk, lie off the southwest coast of the County Kerry, Ireland.

French Steamer Torpedoed.

London, May 3.—The French steamer Europe, from Barry for St. Nazaire, with a cargo of coal was torpedoed by a German submarine Saturday morning near Bishop's rock and sank, says a dispatch to Lloyds from Penzance. The crew was rescued by a steam drifter.

The submarine signalled the crew of the Europe to leave the ship. When they had done this, the submarine shelled the steamer which failed to sink. Meanwhile, the skipper of the steam drifter Rosevine, attracted by the noise of the gun of the submarine, made an investigation, whereupon the submarine started to chase the Rosevine. The Rosevine sent up distress rockets and was proceeding toward the Scilly islands when a patrol boat, which previously had not been seen, owing to the foggy weather, appeared. Together the patrol boat and the drifter went back to the Europe at which the submarine was still firing with her gun. Half a mile off from the Europe the Rosevine picked up a boat loaded with members of the crew of the steamer. The work of rescue was interrupted by three shells from the submarine, which fell within thirty yards of the drifter.

Then, apparently alarmed at the appearance of the patrol boat, the submarine torpedoed the Europe, which disappeared in a cloud of steam and coal dust.

The submarine carried no number.

Trawlers Sunk

Yarmouth Eng., May 3.—The trawler Barbados has arrived here in a damaged condition as the result of an encounter with a German torpedo boat off the Belgian coast Saturday. The captain of the trawler was wounded in the foot but the rest of the crew escaped uninjured.

The Barbados reports the trawler Colombo was torpedoed and sunk with seventeen hands. One survivor and one German bluejacket, who had fallen overboard, were brought to Yarmouth by the Barbados. The Barbados defended herself against the torpedo boat with two small guns, and the captain says the German was evidently hit, as steam was seen escaping from her. The wheel and funnel of the Barbados were riddled with shot.

ALLIES PROGRESS

sufficiently strong seriously to threaten Russian communications.

Other sectors on the east front record only minor engagements, while the western battle lines evidently are taking a breathing spell after the strenuous activity of the last fortnight.

Turks' Statement.

Constantinople, May 3, via Amsterdam and London.—The Turkish war department today gave out the following official statement:

"In consequence of the attacks proceeding successfully for us, the enemy has not succeeded in improving his position on the coast of the Gallipoli peninsula. The fire of our batteries directed against the enemy at Seddul Bahr shows good results."

The statement claims that the French battleships Henri IV and the British battleship Vengeance have been damaged by shells from the guns of the Turkish forts, and it says that the Russian Black sea fleet demonstrated for an hour off the Bosphorus and then retired rapidly in a northerly direction.

HELP ASKED BY TAMMANY

court and was questioned by John M. Bowers, chief counsel for Col. Roosevelt upon printing contracts awarded by the common council of Albany.

Mr. Dolan explained the repeated use of the same type composition. In some cases, he said, the company figured on a profit of 25 cents a page for printing such documents as the proceedings of the common council. In others, where the bid was $1.25 per page, and the same type composition was used, profits of $1.10 per page was figured upon.

In testifying about reports of the board of education Mr. Dolan said the contract was for printing at $1.55 a page, its regulaar bi-monthly reports. The type for the bi-monthly reports was kept and used in printing one thousand copies of the board's annual report. This report also appeared in the proceedings of the common council.

"So that the report in full or in part was printed on three separate occasions from the same type?" inquired Mr. Bowers.

"That is correct," replied the witness.

Billed for Annual Report.

An item in the books of the Argus company showed that the journal had been billed for the annual reports of the board of education.

"Were you under an agreement with the Journal companyn to give 15 per cent for all orders received from the common council?"

"We agreed to pay 15 per cent if we could get the work of printing their extras."

Mr. Bowers produced a book marked "Printed by the Journal company."

"Who printed it?"

"The Argus company," replied Mr. Dolan.

"In 1908 and 1911, did you pay the Journal company 15 per cent for all moneys you received from the city?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

Practice Discontinued.

Coming down to 1911, the year in which the Bayne committee investigated the printing business in Albany, the books of the company, according to excerpts read from them by Mr. Bowers, seemed to indicate that the practice of entering commissions given to the Journal company was discontinued.

The word "net" began to appear alongside entries for printing billed to the Journal company. The witness was asked: "So the time came when instead of giving the Journal a discount you reduced your charges?"

"I cannot recollect."

After Mr. Platt had succeeded Mr. Dolan on the stand and the letters were produced the court suggested that representatives of both sides go over the letters outside of the court with Mr. Platt so as to expedite matters. Both sides agreed and Mr. Barnum for the plaintiff and Mr. Van Benschoten for the defendant were named to accompany the witness outside with the letters. Mr. Platt said there were 300 original letters. Before Mr. Platt left the room Mr. Bowers asked: "Were any of the senator's letters destroyed?"

Part of Letters Destroyed.

"Yes, they were destroyed in order to reduce the volume of them."

Jacob J. Dickinson, formerly Albany correspondent of the New York Herald and now diplomatic representative for the Panama-Pacific exposition with offices in the state department, was then called. He told of talking in 1909 with Mr. Barnes in Albany.

"Mr. Barnes told me that party success was his paramount aim. Mr. Barnes told me also that he had a talk with Governor Hughes about race track legislation. He said he had reminded Governor Hughes that the race track question had been carefully avoided and had asked him why he had brought the thing up. Mr. Barnes said Governor Hughes told him his conscience had dictated his action. To that Mr. Barnes said if it was an issue between conscience and votes they had no common ground upon which to stand.

Had Hurt Party.

The witness said Mr. Barnes had told him Governor Hughes would not get the race track legislation passed and that he would not be renominated because he had hurt the party. Witness also said that Mr. Barnes had told him about persuading State Senator Grattan to cast his decisive vote against the race track bill.

Walter T. Arndt of New York, Albany correspondent of the Evening Post, was the next witness. He was asked about an interview he had with the plaintiff in 1911 in regard to direct primaries legislation. Witness went on to say:

"I saw Mr. Barnes in the state Republican headquarters in New York in the fall in 1911. We discussed the direct primary bill. Mr. Barnes said he had received a message from Murphy that the primaries bill was likely to pass unless the Republicans were to unite with the Democrats. The substance of the thing was that Mr. Murphy wanted Mr. Barnes to help him defeat the measure. Mr. Barnes told me it was none of his business and that Mr. Murphy could pull his own chestnuts out of the fire."

William Richards, deputy controller of Albany, followed Mr. Arndt upon the stand. He said he had brought with him papers and books called for in a subpoena.

been accustomed to and the suggestion is made that some means should be found for deferring payment of this excess of earnings until after the war.

"Anyone reading Mr. Lloyd George's brief," says the Times in an editorial, "will wonder more than ever what his general prohibition will have to do with the case. Ample grounds are cited for local restriction, but not for the proposed large surtaxes."

Take Same View.

Other newspapers take the same view as the Times article, although the Liberal papers are less frank in opposing the chancellor. The Daily Times which voices the government view, seems to hint that the new taxes will be withdrawn or modified.

"We may be sure," says the Daily Chronicle, "that no attempt will be made to carry them by force on party division.

"The scheme of taxation is not in the least inseparable from the policy of the proposed bill. It would be quite feasible to have one without the other. "Nevertheless, some national forms of prohibition or deterrence in addition to the local forms which the bill contemplates, seem to be very necessary."

The Times in a special article discussing the situation points out that, although new taxes are in operation there are many recorded instances of withdrawals and says there are still many questions on which parliament requires light before a final decision is taken—for instance whether it is proposed to pay any compensation for loss caused by new taxes.

"Why," asks the Times, "are wines of British manufacture exempt from the new taxes, and how is alcohol used legitimately in medicine to escape the increased taxation?"

GERMAN ADVANCE IN THE EAST UNCHECKED

and yesterday evening they attacked in the neighborhood of St. Julien. These attacks were both repulsed. We lost no ground, and we inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy in spite of the fact that he again used poisonous gases emitted both from tubes in the trenches and from especially manufactured shells.

"A German aeroplane yesterday afternoon was chased by one of our machines to within rifle range of our trenches, and then brought down by our fire."

German Statement.

Berlin, May 3, via London, 3:34 p. m.—An important Austrian victory in the eastern campaign is announced in the communication issued today from German army headquarters. The statement is made that the Austrians have pierced and broken the center Russian front in West Galicia.

The text of the official statement follows:

"In the western theater of the war: Yesterday we successfully attacked in Flanders to the northeast of the Poolcappelle-Ypres road and took the farms of Fortuin, southeast of St. Julien.

"In the Champagne district we inflicted considerable damage on the enemy's positions at Orchen, Souain and Perthes by successful mine explosions.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle there were only artillery duels.

"Last night the French made unsuccessful attempts to attack our position on the summit of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf.

"A French flying machine landed yesterday at Hundlingen to the west of Saargemund (in Lorraine). Both occupants were taken prisoner.

"A German airship squadron attacked the airship hangar and railway station at Epinal yesterday, apparently with good results.

"In the eastern theater: During further pursuit of the Russians who were fleeing in the direction of Riga, we yesterday captured four cannon and four machine guns. We also took 1,700 prisoners south of Mitau, so that the total number of prisoners was increased to 3,200.

"The Russian attacks southeast of Kalwarya failed, with heavy losses to the enemy. The Russians were driven back across the Skeainga. They left 330 prisoners in our hands.

"Northeast of Sierniewice the Russians also suffered a heavy defeat, in which they lost a great number in killed and 100 men taken prisoners.

"In the southeastern theater: In the presence of Austrian Commander-in-Chief Field Marshal Archduke Frederick and under the leadership of Gen.-Col. von Mackensen, the allied troops yesterday, after bitter fighting, pierced everywhere and crushed the entire Russian front in West Galicia from the neighborhood of the Hungarian frontier to the junction of the Dunajec river with the Vistula.

"Such of the enemy as succeeded in escaping are in hasty retreat toward the east, closely pursued by the allied troops. The trophies of the victory cannot yet even be approximately estimated."

French Statement.

Paris, May 3, 2:30 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out an official report on the progress of hostilities reading:

"The Germans yesterday made two attacks with asphyxiating gases. One was to the north of Ypres, near St. Julien, and the other was to the south of Ypres, near Hill No. 60. Neither one accomplished anything.

"There is nothing to report from the rest of the front."

THOMAS WELLS DISCARDS CANE FOR FIRST TIME IN THREE YEARS

Popular Duluth Barber Quickly Checks Sciatic Rheumatism With Akoz Mineral.

THOMAS D. WELLS.

Thomas D. Wells, a popular barber in the Fifth Avenue hotel, Duluth, who has a host of friends at the Head of the Lakes, after being practically laid up for three years with sciatic rheumatism, has received what he terms wonderful relief in a short time by using Akoz, the new California mineral rival of radium.

"For the past three years I have suffered severely with sciatic rheumatism," said Mr. Wells. "I have been practically laid up during that period. I have taken nearly all the remedies I have heard of for rheumatism. I have never found anything that has given me the wonderful relief that Akoz has. I have also tried several physicians without results.

"I had severe pains in my neck, knees and feet most all the time before taking Akoz. I am nearly free from them all now. I am walking without my cane—something I have not done for three years. I am feeling improved in every way and will cheerfully be glad to tell anyone about the wonderful remedy."

Akoz is not a patent medicine but a natural mineral that has proven very effective in the treatment of rheumatism, stomach, kidney and bladder troubles, piles, eczema and catarrh. Akoz is now being demonstrated at the Lyceum Pharmacy, Fifth avenue west and Superior street, Duluth. Visit, phone or write the Akoz man at this store for further information regarding this advertisement.

AVOID MAKING ANY DECISION

Purchase of Wilhelmina's Cargo Proves Solution of an Annoying Tangle.

Ruling By Prize Court Might Have Proved Distasteful Later.

London, May 3.—Through the compromise with the owners of the cargo of the American steamship Wilhelmina, the British government avoids a court decision which might have been extremely distasteful to Great Britain in future years. Had the prize court condemned the Wilhelmina's cargo, which was foodstuffs avowedly destined for the use of the civil population of Germany, Great Britain would have been on record as having made food to the civil population of a belligerent country absolute contraband, a position which is directly opposed to the position this country has always held.

Although Germany issued a proclamation under which the German authorities took charge of all foodstuffs in the empire, the German government nevertheless gave its pledge that it would not take over the Wilhelmina's cargo and would permit American agents to give the food over directly to the civil population.

Attracted Marked Attention.

When the Wilhelmina was reported at Falmouth nearly two months ago, the vessel attracted marked attention as her cargo of food destined for Hamburg offered an opportunity to test the British policy on foodstuffs for the enemy. All suspected cargoes had been held up by Great Britain since the beginning of the war, and while food had not actually been allowed to proceed to Germany the British government had not gone on record as making foodstuffs absolute contraband.

The Wilhelmina sailed from America before Germany's policy of making foodstuffs under government control had been promulgated. Consequently owners of the steamship were in an excellent position to make a successful fight for the admission of their cargo to Germany and the dilatory tactics of English officials made it clear from the first that they did not care to test the case in the courts.

Consequently the purchase of the cargo by the British government at Hamburg prices, under agreement to pay the owners what loss they have suffered as a result of the delay, was the solution of the tangle, which had been confidently expected by members of the diplomatic corps, who had followed the negotiations.

THIRD WEEK OF SUIT FOR $16,000,000

St. Louis, May 3.—The trial of the suit attempting to break the $16,000,000 will of the late James Campbell, financier, entered upon its third and probably last week in the circuit court here today. Judge Kinsey, at the last session told the jury the case probably would be given to the jury Wednesday or Thursday.

It is expected Mrs. Florence Campbell, the widow of James Campbell, and Mrs. Lois Campbell Burkham, referred to in the will as his daughter, will go on the witness stand late today or tomorrow. They are the defendants, having inherited the entire estate, which after their death is willed to St. Louis university for the establishment of a medical school.

Nieces and nephews of Campbell who are contesting the will, say that Mrs. Burkham, who as Campbell's daughter, inherited half the estate, was adopted by the Campbells when an infant.

PRODUCE AWAITS THE CONSUMERS

Robinsdale Farmers Ask List of Persons to Take Butter and Eggs.

The farmers around Robinsdale, Minn., are looking for consumers of eggs, butter and other produce and will send such produce through the parcel post to Duluthians if given proper encouragement. An appeal was received by Postmaster William E. McEwen of Duluth today from Postmaster Ludwig L. Johnson of Robinsdale to that effect.

Postmaster Johnson asks for a list of names, including the consumers of Duluth, who would like to make purchases via the parcel post route. Names forwarded to Mr. McEwen will be sent to Robinsdale at once.

This inquiry shows the growth of the system of supplying farm produce direct from the producer to the consumer. Small towns and cities in Northern Minnesota are taking advantage of this opportunity and are working up an excellent patronage in Duluth.

BIG CROWD LOOKED FOR

Many Important Problems to Come Up at Council's Night Meeting.

Jitney Ordinance Will Be Read; Contracts to Be Awarded.

Indications are that a crowded council chamber will greet the city commissioners this evening at their first night meeting in two years. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Because of the city-wide interest in the jitneys a record crowd is expected to be present to hear the reading of the jitney ordinance to be introduced by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division. The jitney drivers of the city propose to be there in a body and according to one of their number, they will probably organize this evening for the purpose of looking out for their interests.

The cold wet weather put a decided damper on the jitney business today, and at 10 o'clock it was reported that only five cars were running, in place of the usual average of 100 or more. The rain drove them all to shelter. The street cars, however, were not profiting much from the jitneys' vacation, for they were running as usual but were almost empty. Nobody who could stay indoors was on the streets during the morning.

Paving Contracts Ready.

In addition to the introduction of the jitney ordinance, the council will award the contracts for the paving of Minnesota avenue, from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth streets, and Highland street, from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-sixth avenues west, the former to the S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis and the latter to Gilman-Murphy-Patterson. Commissioner Farrell will introduce a resolution awarding the contract for the paving of Woodland avenue to A. N. Nelson on his bid of $17,793.20 for one-course concrete with a trap rock surface.

Commissioner Silberstein will introduce a resolution appointing the following poundmasters to work for the six months after May 10: William Zuck, Third District; Joseph Frankowski, Fourth district; N. Erickson, Fifth district; Jacob Mann, Seventh district, and John Carlson, Ninth district. The poundmasters receive $60 a month.

Action on Promotions.

Final action will be taken by the commissioners on the promotion of Charles W. Cate, W. P. Halg, A. Beck and R. F. Brown, all of the water and light department.

The resolutions authorizing the vacation of twenty-two streets and alleys near the Highland street subway will be laid over another week for final action.

Commissioner Silberstein will introduce an ordinance appropriating $165 for the purchase of a motorcycle for the police department and Commissioner Merritt will introduce one authorizing the purchase of a Ford car for the water and light department.

The ordinances appropriating $20,000 for sidewalks, $7,000 for storm sewers, $5,000 for lumber and $2,500 for beautifying the exterior of the new armory will be given their second reading.

SCORE DECIDED TRIUMPH

New Members of Baldwin Company Give Unusual Stock Performance.

Duluth theater-goers "sat up and took notice" yesterday at the Lyceum.

Regular patrons of the Baldwin Players were treated to a revelation in the possibilities of a stock company production, when Mr. Baldwin's rejuvenated company opened in "Fine Feathers."

The theater was filled to capacity at the matinee, and fully 100 persons stood throughout the performance.

The cast of "Fine Feathers" is a small one, and was confined almost entirely to the new members of the company. Of the seven members of the cast, three have but minor roles, and the other four parts were in the hands of the new players. It was a severe test for a first appearance, but within five minutes after the curtain went up they had the situation well in hand, and they gave a performance that for smoothness and precision has not been equaled since the Baldwin company opened here nearly a year ago. The four new members are all veterans of the stock company realm, and they played together as if it were the close of a long season. There was no attempt at "topping" one another; no nervousness evident, although it must have been felt; no uncertainty. Every situation was clear cut; every climax told, and the tragedy moved along to its inexorable end in a gripping, thrilling way. The audience gave the players the most flattering attention, and to say that the play "got across" is putting it very mildly. If there was any criticism to be found, it was in the stage effect of an automobile, which can easily be remedied and doubtless will be. The off-stage ca sounded like a 1903 model of a two-cylinder car.

"Fine Feathers" was seen in Duluth a little more than a year ago, with an all-star cast, so the story is not unfamiliar to many theater-goers. It tells of the effects the love of fine clothes and easy living may have, in breaking down the moral fiber of men and women. It is a powerful lesson in contentment, and a stirring drama with a direct and sure appeal.

Harry L. Minturn, the new leading man, is tall, well proportioned and makes an excellent stage appearance. He has an exceptionally good delivery, and a magnetism and personality that promise to make him a great favorite in Duluth. As Robert Reynolds, the young chemist, his work seemed almost flawless. Whether he will be as good in light comedy roles, remains to be seem, for stock leading men cannot be choosers of their parts, but he established himself beyond question as an intelligent, capable actor in serious parts.

Miss Anne Bronaugh did not have an ideal part for a first appearance. The role of Jane Reynolds is not one calculated to win the sympathies of an audience for the actress, but Miss Bronaugh did not shirk it. She has a wholesome naturalness, and an attractiveness that should quickly establish her in the good graces of the regular patrons, and her gift of getting effects by repression rather than by tearing her emotions to tatters, should make her "wear well." It looks as if Mr. Baldwin has a "find" in his new leading woman.

Mark Elliston, as John Brand, was the third new member of the company to make his debut, and the impression he left was hardly less favorable than that of the two "leads." His easy stage presence, fine appreciation of a situation, and good delivery stamp him as an actor of long training.

A. Romaine Callender, the fourth member of this quartet, had a part very much to his liking in Dick Meade, and he "played up" to the high standard set by the new members.

The three members of the old company who appeared in the cast seemed to catch the spirit of the occasion. Miss Mary Melville did an excellent character bit as Mrs. Collins. Miss Geraldine Blair made the most of a little comedy part as Frieda, the maid, and Miss Margaret Lotus appeared for but a moment in the last act in a "bit" as the nurse, and got such a reception that she was unable to begin her lines for a moment.

"Fine Feathers" will continue until Thursday night, with a matinee Wednesday.

TWO HEADLINERS.

Nat Wills and Mme. Jomelli Top Excellent Orpheum Bill.

Two headliners and an exceptionally well-balanced bill make up the Orpheum offering for this week.

The program as a whole is much stronger than last week, and with the several novelty numbers reaches the standard set by the shows offered during the first two weeks in April. Nat Wills, the happy tramp, is the comedy hit of the bill.

Two musical offerings of a type most unusual in vaudeville are contained on this week's bill. Mme. Jeanne Jomelli and Fritz Bruch and his sister do not find it necessary to resort to ragtime or the so-called popular music, to make an effective appeal, and their reception by the audiences yesterday was ample proof of the growing taste for the best of music.

Mme. Jomelli, recently with the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, is all that might be expected of a singer with such a record. She has a strong, smooth, rich voice, a charming presence and an art that is finished, in the presentation of her song numbers, which included the Jewell Song from "Faust;" "If You Would Love Me," by James McDermid; "L'Ete," by Chaminada, and "Home, Sweet Home." As an encore Mme. Jomelli sang "The Last Rose of Summer."

Fritz Bruch and his sister are both real artists, the former on the cello and the latter with the violin. They played "Mighty Like a Rose," by E. Navin; "Hungarian Dance," by Brahms-Joachim, and "Berceuse de Jocelyn," by Goddard. Mr. Bruch rendered as a cello solo the "Melody in F" by Rubinstein, while Miss Bruch played Hauser's "Hungarian Rhapsody."

Nat Wills is just as funny as ever. He has been playing the same part on the stage for the last twenty years, and the public will evidently never tire of that "happy tramp." His jokes are fresh and right up to the minute, especially those about the war and government officials, while his parodies on popular songs are a hit.

The Hantzer Duo return again to Duluth and they are as popular as ever. The pair are contortionists of the first grade and their feats are marvelous. The young woman is noticeably graceful and her feats are accomplished with ease and finish.

Mr. Hymack has the novelty act of this week's bill. He calls himself the "Chameleon Comedian," but Mr. Hymack changes about a hundred times more than that odd animal, and the audience was kept on the jump last night watching the changes in clothing that this comedian effected right before their eyes. It is a remarkable act and Mr. Hymack stands alone in the art of haberdashery evolutions at the rate of a score a minute. There is a little plot to connect the feats, and it is a most amusing and unusual act.

George Fisher and Harry Green in "The Partners" remind one very much of "Potash and Perlmutter," the sketch dealing entirely with two cloak and suit merchants of New York, who have their differences and quarrels as do the two heroes of Montague Glass' famous yarns. They are both good comedians. Miss De Mont as Miss Parker completes the little company.

"The Partners" is a story of Louis Rosenbaum and Sam Lowenthal, who are unduly excited because a buyer is coming that day from Marshall Field's in Chicago. A handsomely gowned young woman comes in and, of course, she is taken for the buyer. After the partners succeed in signing up an order for several thousand dollars and giving her a beautiful dress as a present, they discover that she is a model, who has come for a position.

Kremka Brothers close the bill with a series of eccentric acrobatic specialties.

The motion pictures this week show scenes along the China coast and at German training schools, where young boys are shown drilling for the German army. The bill will continue throughout the week, with the regular matinees.

Theater Gossip.

Miss Billie Burke will bring her latest success, "Jerry," to the Lyceum Friday and Saturday.

BILLIE BURKE IN "JERRY"

"Jerry" is by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, an American playwright. Its heroine is an American girl and its scenes are laid in America. This is the first time that Charles Frohman has found a vehicle for his charming young star at home. All her other plays—"Love Watches," "Mrs. Dot," "Suzanne," "The Runaway," "The Mind the Paint Girl," "The Amazons" and "The Land of Promise"—were made in Europe, either in England or France. And "Jerry," they say, is the best play she has ever had. At any rate, on tour this season in it she has played the biggest houses she has ever had—and she is known as one of the best audience attractors in America, classing in this respect with Maude Adams and David Warfield.

An entertaining vaudeville and photoplay program is promised at the popular New Grand this afternoon.

GRAND'S NEW BILL

The famous Lyric quartet, direct from the metropolitan theaters of the East, is said to offer a lough of hearty proportions.

Holer and Boggs offer a comedy skit, "The Lunch Counter Girl." The skit is a comedy number.

Comedy skaters and society dancers are Jeter and Rogers. Graceful and clever they offer a repertoire of the latest society dances and many original comedy numbers on roller skates.

The Levolos are sensations on the tight wire. Their work on the revolving wire is original and a novelty out of the ordinary.

The pictures of the new champion, Jess Willard, show the Kansas cowboy in action and from the prowess and skill displayed in the film, it is little wonder that the negro could not stand against his superior strength. Tom Jones, Willard's manager, as well as Dick Curley, the Havana promoter, are prominent on the film.

"The Return of Richard Neal," telling a thrilling story in three reels, is the photoplay feature. Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are seen in the leading roles.

"The Phoney Cannibal," one of the clever "Ham" comedies; "The Needs of Commerce," an educational subject showing the manufacture of paper money; and a comedy, "Hearts to Let" complete the bill.

Olga Petrova was one of the handsomest women of the stage and is now one of the reigning beauties of the screen. She is not a dainty ingenue, most certainly not, but her beauty stands the test of the camera close up and that is the acid test for all who have screen aspirations. In "The Heart of a Painted Woman" she is at her best and the sympathetic appeal made by the character she portrays wins her audiences. The entire plot centers around Mme. Petrova, although some very clever scenes showing the wonderful acting ability of young children are worked into the story very naturally.

OLGA PETROVA IN FILMS.

The events of the week are reviewed by the "Mutual Weekly." Olga Petrova will be seen only Monday and Tuesday at the Rex.

"The House of Bondage," in six acts, opened at the Zelda theater today. The doors opened at 10 o'clock this morning, and the theater was filled at 12 o'clock. This white slave production will play six days at the Zelda, ending Saturday night. It features Mary Pickford's sister, Lottie. The play lasts almost two hours. Children under the age of 16 are not admitted to the theater during this production. The picture play shows conditions that exist in larger cities.

BORGEN GETS PETITIONS

Two Make Protests and Same Number Ask Improvements.

Four petitions were filed with City Clerk Borgen last Saturday, two entering protests to the council and the other two making formal requests for improvements.

One of these is signed by a number of property owners in the two blocks between 500 and 700 Garfield avenue, protesting against the coal hoist used by the Clarkson Coal company at its dock. The petitioners claim that the coal dust covers their homes, ruins clothes hung on the lines and that windows can never be opened during the summer months as a result.

The petitioners ask the council to remedy conditions, as they claim the company refuses to listen to their pleadings. The coal dust has caused their property to depreciate and also ruined the health of their children, they state.

Another petition of protest is filed by property owners along Wicklow street against the grading of that thoroughfare, between Twenty-eighth avenue west and Michigan street. They state that the improvement is not needed this year.

The other petitions ask for improvements, including the construction of a sanitary sewer in Tacony and Olney streets, between Sixty-first and Sixty-third avenues, and the grading of Faribault street, between Allendale and Rendle avenues.

The petitions will be read before the council this evening and then referred to the respective commissioners.

WILL LET CONTRACT FOR WOODLAND JOB

Farrell's Choice of One-Course Concrete Meets General Favor.

Property owners along Woodland avenue favor Commissioner Farrell's plan to pave that thoroughfare with one-course concrete, and as a result he will introduce a resolution at the council meeting this evening awarding the contract to A. N. Nelson on his bid of $17,793.20. Work is expected to begin by the latter part of this week.

Last Saturday evening the property owners along Woodland avenue met with the commissioner at his office, and after a short discussion, a vote was taken, and it was found that one-course concrete was unanimously favored.

Tomorrow evening the commissioner will hold a similar meeting with the property owners along Sixth street between Twenty-first and Twenty-fifth avenues west, for the purpose of deciding on a material for the pavement. Mr. Farrell favors crushed rock macadam, but he will take no action until the owners meet and finally decide. If this material is selected, he will order the work started at once, he said this morning.

James W. Preston is low bidder on the paving of West Sixth street with crushed rock, his proposal being $12,165.85.

"QUEEN OF THE MAY."

Park Manager Receives Floral Offering From Employe.

Park Manager Cleveland was "queen of the May" last Saturday afternoon.

During the afternoon all the girls at the city hall got together and presented Capt. Cleveland with a large basket of flowers. He had been called out on a ruse of some kind and upon returning to his office, found the flowers on his desk.

The captain was delighted with the flowers, which he took home.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Hugh Allen Too Eager to Get Settled in New Home.

As a result of over-exertion while moving into her new home at 20 Twelfth avenue east, Mrs. Hugh F. Allen, 45, dropped dead Saturday afternoon. It was her first day in the residence, purchased recently by Mr. Allen.

In her enthusiasm to "straighten things around" and "get settled" before Sunday, Mrs. Allen overtaxed herself. While working in one of the rooms with Mrs. Mabelle St. Clair, she suddenly collapsed, dying a few minutes later. Heart disease was given as the cause of death. Mrs. Allen had lived in Duluth twenty-five years.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending the arrival of relatives. Mr. Allen is foreman of the Northern Pacific docks. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Allen leaves a son, James B. Allen of Butte, Mont., a daughter, Miss Ruth Allen of Detroit, Mich., and a brother, also of Detroit.

Mrs. Allen came to Duluth from Kincardine, Ont.

THE HERALD'S GOLD-BOND CIRCULATION STANDS THE ACID TEST!

The skilled auditors of the Audit Bureau of Circulations have completed their work in Duluth.

They have analyzed and audited in the most careful and painstaking manner the circulation reports of The Herald and the News Tribune, taking several weeks to the work in each case.

Herewith The Herald publishes a fac simile of the report of the Audit Bureau of Circulations on its net paid circulation for the last nine months of 1914. It would be glad to see the News Tribune do the same thing.

Those interested in such matters will discover, from this report, that the expert auditors of the Audit Bureau have found the circulation figures of The Herald, as issued and published by it from time to time, to be correct in every detail.

The report verifies every monthly sworn statement issued by The Herald, and every report it has made to the government under the federal laws.

It justifies to the letter The Herald's claim that its circulation statements are 100 per cent accurate, and that its circulation is 100 per cent bona fide.

The figures given by the auditors do not include papers sent to employes and correspondents; they do not include papers used for office purposes; they do not include exchanges and complimentary copies; they do not include the thousands upon thousands of war extras issued during the summer; they do not include the 3,000 noon extras published daily.

They include only copies of regular editions bought and paid for by actual readers, not one of whom bought the paper to get a premium or a rebate, or to help a contest, or for any other purpose than to read it.

* * * * * * * * *

The day of inflated circulation claims is ended. The day of actual proved, tested circulations, judged not only by quantity but by quality, is here.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations is an organization formed for the protection of advertisers and publishers—to protect the advertiser against fraudulent circulation statements, and the honest newspaper from the competition of fraudulently inflated circulation claims.

As the News Tribune well said last December: "the report of the Bureau is accepted by advertisers and publishers alike as final."

* * * * * * * * *

The Herald takes pride—pardonable pride, perhaps—in this result of the application of the acid test to its circulation statements.

Particular attention should be directed to several points in this report:

To the steady gain shown by the quarterly statements in 1914:

To the large local circulation—14,453, far more than double the local circulation of The Herald's morning contemporary.

To the report that "no premiums or contests of any kind were used" by The Herald to stimulate its circulation artificially.

To the fact that Less Than One Per Cent of The Herald's subscription list is in arrears for more than one year.

The report shows a circulation gained wholly by merit, and circulation statements based wholly on bona fide paid sales—a Gold-Bond Circulation in Every Sense of the Word.

THAT $500.00 IS DUE THE ORPHANS!

Under the terms of the little controversy between the News Tribune and The Herald last December over The Herald's circulation statement for November, the News Tribune now owes the Children's Home $250 and a like amount to St. James's Orphanage.

The Herald would be glad to see these sums paid at once.

On Dec. 1, 1914, The Herald published its sworn circulation statement for November, showing a daily average net paid circulation of 30,887.

The News Tribune challenged the correctness of this figure, and offered to pay $500 to any charity The Herald might name "if investigation by the Audit Bureau of Circulations proves them correct as presented."

The Herald gladly accepted this challenge, designating that the $500 should be divided equally between the Children's Home and St. James's Orphanage. It also gladly agreed to leave the matter to the Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which the News Tribune said at the time: "The Audit Bureau of Circulations is an organization of advertisers and publishers formed for the purpose of investigating the circulation of its members. All members must be ready at all times to submit to such an investigation, and the report of the Bureau IS ACCEPTED BY ADVERTISERS AND PUBLISHERS ALIKE AS FINAL." This is a correct statement of the character and standing of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

As shown herewith, the circulation of The Herald, as well as of the News Tribune, has lately been audited by this organization.. Its report, so far as The Herald is concerned, is published on this page.

This report shows the daily average net paid circulation by quarters. The figure for the fourth quarter of 1914, covering October, November and December, is 30,946.

That quarter includes December, a light month, and October, when The Herald's circulation ran about the same as in November. The margin between the audited quarterly average, 30,946, and The Herald's sworn statement for November, 30,887, is wide enough to convince anybody that the latter figure was accurate to a dot.

Under the terms of the controversy, therefore, the News Tribune owes St. James' Orphanage $250, and the Children's Home a similar sum.

These amounts should be paid at once.

GODFATHER OF HIS GRANDSON

President Wilson Present at Christening of Francis Woodrow Sayre.

Williamstown, Mass., May 3.—President Wilson became the godfather of his only grandson here yesterday and added to his duties by promising to safeguard the religious welfare of the child, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sayre. Immediately afterward the president left for Washington. At the christening services the child was given the name Francis Woodrow Sayre.

The president came all the way to Williamstown, despite pressing public business, to take part in planting a "baby" tree for his grandson, late Saturday afternoon, and to act as one of the godfathers at the christening ceremonies.

Virtually the entire college population of Williamstown was at the station to welcome the president, who was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Margaret Wilson, his cousin, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, and his naval aide physician, Dr. Cary T. Grayson.

Others here for the christening were John Nevin Sayre of Princeton, Mr. Sayre's brother; Mrs. Robert H. Sayre, his mother, and Miss Agnes Winter of Philadelphia, an old friend of Mrs. Francis Sayre.

Soon after they arrived at Williamstown the entire family party, with President Harry A. Garfield of Williams college and Mrs. Garfield and Rev. J. F. Carter, gathered on the side lawn of the Sayre home and planted a small walnut tree, presented to baby Sayre by Mr. Garfield. It was a happy group and the president joined in the laughter caused when the baby firmly grasped the tree with both hands and tried to take it from his father.

As soon as the tree was placed in the ground the president turned a spadeful of earth around its roots and then all present, including Mr. and Mrs. Sayre, followed suit.

HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DEATH OF GIRL

Lincoln, Ill., May 3.—Daniel Hurley, Jr., was held responsible for the death of Katherine Roller in the verdict of the coroner's jury today and was recommended to be held without bond.

Miss Roller, to whom Hurley had been engaged, died suddenly after her return home from a buggy ride with Hurley. The latter admitted giving strychnine to the girl, according to the police, but said he did so because she had been after him to get it for her for more than a month. Hurley was arrested on the charge of having caused the girl's death and was held without bail.

Rev. Herbert Ford Says Christianity and Socialism Should Co-operate.

Former Broader in Teachings But Each Stands for Justice.

That the relation of Christianity and Socialism should not be one of antagonism but of co-operation, was the keynote of a sermon delivered last evening by Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues. The pastor spoke on "Christianity and Socialism."

"Two of the most significant mass movements of history are Christianity and Socialism," said he. "Both alike originated as protests against oppression. Christianity went farther, in that it had a moral and spiritual content, and brought deliverance from sin, as well as from economic ills.

"Socialism and Christianity have both suffered because they have not understood each other. Too many Socialists have remained away from the church, and have therefore accused the church of teaching that which it did not teach. Many Christians have thought Socialism a wild, destructive force, teaching nothing but atheism and 'grab your neighbor's property.'

Church for All Classes.

"The church does, with some few exceptions, possibly, stand for industrial justice and every other kind of justice. The God we preach is a God of justice as well as of mercy. Standing as she does for all classes, the church cannot be expected to take such a violent stand on particular programs of action as the Socialists might hope for. Christianity preaches against the sins of the rich and of the poor, and holds out the blessings of salvation to all alike on the same terms.

"Both Christianity and Socialism preach the brotherhood of man. Both have preached it more than practiced it. Christianity teaches love, not hate; love not only for the brother who works at the same bench or belongs to the same church or the same club, but love for my brother the Chinaman, my brother the criminal, my brother the emperor, my brother the capitalist.

Christianity in Socialism.

"Therefore the proper relation between Christianity and Socialism is not one of antagonism, but of co-operation. There is much of Christian doctrine in Socialism, more than many Socialists recognize. Let us work together for industrial justice, universal peace and the brotherhood of man. Where we differ, if we do differ, let each grant the other the right to differ. The minister can preach social justice to the man who would disdain to listen to the Socialist on the street corner; and many instances have occurred where it was done with wholesome effect."

RIGHT WILL AND RIGHT THOUGHTS

Two Wings Needed to Carry Man Upward, Says Pastor.

"Socrates—the Enlightener," was the subject of the sermon delivered at the First Unitarian church by Rev. George R. Gebauer, yesterday.

"To Socrates, thought was the way of life, and he humanized philosophy. But while he cared little for the subtleties of metaphysics, he squarely stood upon a religious basis," he said. "Indeed a man, who staunchly believed that he was guided by a divine voice, could not be otherwise but religious. But whatever his faith in a divine providence, Socrates believed that the God of gods in reason had given to man the means to find truth and happiness, happiness through the truth. And as he believed in the goodness of the universe, so he believed in the goodness of man. To him he is not a sinful creature, but only an erring one. All human woe is the result of wrong reasoning. Yes according to Socrates, it is not merely impossible to do right without knowledge; it is impossible not to do right, if what is right, is known.' Thus the happy life after which everybody strives and which is man's destiny, is only for the man of true thought, for the wise man.

"'Wisdom is the principal thing.' He who knows justice is just, and he who knows virtue is virtuous. In all Socrates gives us the enlightenment of a positive religious thinker, and disdains that negative enlightenment of the skeptical sophist, who did not believe that truth might be known. Indeed that idea of wisdom finds its counterpart in the new Testament, where for instance the knowledge of God is identified with eternal life. To Socrates heaven is a thing of the mind, it is the joy of the mind in truth.

"At the same time he did not reject the more earthly conception of happiness, the notion that honesty is the best policy. The good for which we should strive is also the useful. This agrees completely with the pragmatic philosophy of today, where things and men are judged by their efficiency for doing good. Wherever two or three are gathered in the spirit of practical reason, there is Socrates in the midst of them. We can easily see the importance of such teaching; wisdom is indeed a principal thing, if not the principal one. The world for its salvation needs truth as much as love, but truth is not love and mere knowledge is not goodness. Indeed there is such a thing as an evil disposition; just as the mind is prone to err, so is the soul inclined to sin, to do the wrong wilfully. It is not true, that 'no man errs (does wrong) of his own free will.' Indeed it is right here, that the gospel of Jesus sets in its lever. He well knows that man is not only prone to err, but to sin, and he comes to kindle in man a love for goodness which is more than wisdom and higher than knowledge and prudence. Christ represents the idea of regeneration of the soul and not merely the reformation of the mind.

"And we know that Christ's represents the deeper truth.

"At the same time what Christianity needs is that high regard for knowledge and truth, which Socrates preached as the saving gospel. Right will and right thought are the two wings which we need to be carried upward into a higher and better life. Truth gives us the direction in which we must walk, love becomes the impelling power and makes us walk on the way of love to life."

CHRIST NO POLITICIAN

Preferred Personal Regeneration to "Civic Righteousness," Says Pastor.

Activity of Churches in Politics Scored By Rev. Mr. White.

Pastor Stemple White spoke last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, corner of Sixth street and Tenth avenue east, on the subject "Nibbling at the Devil's Baited Hook." Taking for his text, Heb. 12:16, "Esau for one morsel of meat, sold his birthright," he said in part:

Church in Politics.

"In more ways than one, the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, and while Satan dangles many a well-baited hook before individuals, he has ever held before the church the luring temptation of a harmless looking gilded hook, baited with the popularly labeled bait of the fable of a world's conversion. Esau fed has stomach, and lost his soul. The devil tried to seduce the head of the church by offering Him all the kingdoms of his world, but He resisted the tempter and answered him with 'Thus it is written.' The Twentieth Century church has fallen into the trap laid for the Master. The vain vision of a world conquered for Christ, and the enlarging air-bubble of ushering in the kingdom of God through the gateway of politics, has drawn the eyes of her leaders from the light of the plain 'thus it is written' of God's word, and with a carefully planned and federated world-wide organization, she is nibbling at the Devil's baited hook.

Evil Spirits As Leaders.

"Ever since the fall of man, Satan has been the God of this revolted world, and the whole world lieth in the lap of the evil one. In fact, the wicked nations will be marshaled to their Waterloo at Armageddon by wicked spirits. Christ is the head of the church, which is made up of those who are called out of this world. Enmity between heads carries with it enmity between the subjects. We are born in Israel, without God and without hope, but at conversion we are born into the kingdom of God; our citizenship is in heaven; and having been naturalized into the kingdom of heaven, we become, like Abraham of old, pilgrims and sojourners in this present evil world, looking on in hope to Christ's future and eternal kingdom of peace, which He himself declared was not of this world.

Christ No Politician.

"Christianity deals with the individual, and the Good Shepherd sought the lost sheep personally. In spite of the awful depravity of the times, Jesus did not call for 'municipal reform.' He organized no 'law and order leagues,' 'Christian citizenship' or 'civic righteousness' movements. He delivered no political addresses from the pulpit, nor did He disguise Himself and make tours of the dives and dens, and entrap victims into violation of the law. He employed no spies to get evidence of maladministration by which to arraign officials and to compel them to enforce the law, and thus reform the city, regenerate society, and save the state, and so establish the kingdom of God. He well knew that the church must reach the heart and thus regenerate the individual man. Back there the church would force Him to be king, but He refused it.

No Compromise With World.

"The text book of Christianity teaches as plain as A. B. C. that although the church is in the world, it is not of the world; not to be conformed to, but transformed from; not to be fedcrated with, but separated from; not to be in alliance with, but in defiance of, the world. The church has a heavenly citizenship, not an earthly, should petition the throne of God instead of congress, and feeds on the wheat of God's word instead of the chaff of theological dogma. It is more concerned about 'individual regeneration,' 'personal purity,' and the 'Calvary cure,' than those empty, shallow terms, 'civic righteousness,' 'social regeneration,' 'Christian nation,' and 'world betterment.' She will continue to call men out of Sodom, out of Babylon, knowing by the word of God that the world is doomed. The true church will never compromise with the world.

"The first great confederacy was Babel, and to all truth seekers tied up in the last great Babylonian federation, nibbling at the devil's baited hook, God is calling 'Come out of her, my people.'"

EAST TO MAKE ITSELF FELT

Oriental Civilization Will Greatly Influence West, Says Bishop Lloyd.

Episcopal Missionary Head Tells of Changes to Be Expected.

The work of the church in the Far East is already making itself felt, and will eventually cause eastern nations to exert a mighty influence on western civilization, according to Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd of New York city, head of the missionary work of the Protestant Episcopal church of America, in an address at St. Paul's church yesterday morning.

First-Hand Information.

Bishop Lloyd spoke from first-hand information on conditions in foregin lands, as he is a world-wide traveler and missionary worker. His visit to Duluth is included in his tour of Northwestern cities. Fargo, the Twin Cities and other places are on his itinerary. In part Bishop Lloyd said:

"We are living in a time when everybody shares the feeling that the whole nation should be as one in its efforts to improve conditions and get rid of the things that mar our civilization. On all sides are associations of people whose purpose it is to help forward this impulse of civilization. This seems to have been emphasized by the astonishing exhibition in the European war of the horrible monster that civilization may become when the forces that Christianity set in motion part from the power that would make meu use them for their advantage.

"And, under such circumstances, it is realized that the church shall be moved to render the service for which it was sent in a larger way and more efficiently than has been the case in the past.

Perfect Organization.

"With a view to this, there is a movement abroad in the church to perfect its organization more thoroughly and to become able to avail itself of the power that it possesses by greater co-operation. It plans to do this by accounting for every person who makes his communion; by informing him of what is being actually accomplished so as to engage his interest and, as far as he desires, his assistance.

"Equally important is the work that the church is doing to help the old nations who have hitherto found the institutions of their civilization sufficient for them, but are now stirred mightily by the western ideas and are rapidly taking their place as factors in the development of the civilization that will be world wide.

"For the present this seems to be far away, and therefore, less apt to engage the attention of the people, but the nations in the most distant parts of the earth are rapidly becoming our neighbors.

"It is only a question if Christianity, which set loose on humanity its impulse for democracy and righteousness, shall guide and mould the new-birth of the nations, give men more of their own life in the reaction of east upon the west."

Church Help Necessary.

"The general situation seems to indicate that thoughtful men all over the country recognize the essential necessity of the church's assistance if the state is to establish a permanent civilization. Everything indicates that there is good hope that the church will become increasingly a positive influence for betterment in our land.

"The service by which the church can aid the state most efficiently is indicated chiefly by the work that it is doing in newly developed sections of the country, where in the nature of the case, our people are unable to provide themselves with its ministrations. Next among the great multitudes of colored people, who are doing such heroic work in making their children able to take their place as good citizens. And, lastly, among the newcomers to our shores, that they may learn the meaning of liberty and good citizenship.

A short talk was given by Bishop Lloyd at the 5' o'clock vesper service at Trinity cathedral. The bishop left last night for Fargo, N. D., continuing his tour of inspecting missionary work in the churches throughout the Western and Middle Western states.

AMERICAN GUNS BEST IN WORLD

Will Shoot Farther and Straighter and Hit Harder.

Washington, May 3.—Critics who claim the American navy's 14-inch rifles are inferior to the 15-inch type mounted on the Great British battleship Queen Elizabeth, were answered in a statement issued last night by Secretary Daniels, declaring that the bureau of ordnance has developed a 14-inch gun "that will shoot farther, shoot straighter, and hit harder than any gun now in use or known to be designed by a foreign country."

There has been much interest in the matter of the effectiveness of the guns, and Secretary Daniels says:

"Counting volume of fire and probability of hitting, we see that at battle range the number of blows delivered by the Pennsylvania in a given time will exceed those given by the Queen Elizabeth by 70 per cent. The 15-inch gun, it is stated, fires a shell weighing 1,920 pounds. Our 14-inch shell weighs 1,400 pounds. The bursting effect of the larger shell will be greater, of course, but we have little doubt that the destructive effect of the burst of the 14-inch will be quite sufficient for its task. No one can doubt the advisability of delivering seventeen hits to ten of the enemy."

CANADIAN LOSSES EXCEEDINGLY HEAVY

Casualties at Ypres Now Reported to Be Nearly 6,000.

Ottawa, May 3.—Casualties among the Canadian contingent in the fighting at Ypres are now reported to have been nearly 6,000. Of these 2,000 are reported missing, the missing being chiefly the Thirteenth and Fourteenth battalions of Montreal Highlanders, each 1,000 strong.

It is stated that 700 officers and men were killed and 3,000 wounded. The totals thus given would indicate that more than one-fourth of the 21,000 men in the division were put out of action.

As Berlin reported 1,000 Canadian prisoners, it is feared here that 1,000 of the rear guards were killed before exhaustion of ammunition compelled the detachment to surrender.

Another long list of casualties shows heavy loss among Winnipeg and Western Canadian officers.

Among the dead are the son of George R. Coldwell, minister of education in the Manitoba cabinet; Capt. H. A. C. Wallace of the One Hundred and Sixth regiment; Lieut. R. Hoskins, partner of Harry Whitla, K. C., and Lieut. J. C. Reynolds, law student. All four were killed in action. They are members of leading families.

Lieut. William De C. O'Grady is among the wounded and reported missing. Capt. Gerald O'Grady is also wounded.

The casualty lists already in show that the Ninetieth regiment of Winnipeg has lived up to traditions as the most famous regiment in the British empire. Of a total of forty-five officers who went to the front with this regiment, eighteen have already been reported killed, wounded or missing.

YOUNG COE FOUND.

Son-in-Law of Former Duluth Hotel Manager Writes From Alaska.

A New York dispatch gives information that Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., son-in-law of Allen Ainslee, former manager of the St. Louis hotel, Duluth, and now of Boston, Mass., has been heard from in Alaska. Mr. Coe disappeared from his home in Boston three months ago, leaving his parents and his bride of a few months distracted and unable to account for his whereabouts. Foul play was feared, but as no evidence developed to substantiate that theory, it was believed that the young man wandered away while in a state of mental abberration.

Recently it was reported that young Coe had been seen in North Dakota, peddling tinware from farm to farm, and his relatives were about to send detectives to find him. Since then nothing has been heard until today, when the young man's father, Dr. Henry Clarke Coe of New York, announced that he and his daughter-in-law have received word from the wanderer in Alaska, and that somebody will be sent to bring him back to Boston. The messages to his father and his wife contained on explanation of his disappearance.

ODD FELLOWS' ANNIVERSARY

High Tribute Paid Founders of Order By Rev. W. L. Staub.

Varied Program Is Given; All Lodges in City Represented.

Rev. W. L. Staub, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of Thomas Wilding, founder of the Odd Fellows' order of America at the services commemorating the ninety-sixth anniversary of the order, held yesterday afternoon at the Axa building under the auspices of Duluth lodge No. 28. The services were attended by hundreds of members of the order.

The program included in addition to the principal address several vocal and instrumental numbers. Miss Edna McLyman sang "Teach Me to Pray." She was accompanied by Miss Marie Krantz. Two vocal numbers were given by the Westminster Presbyterian choir, and a violin numbers were given by Arthur J. O'Donnell, accompanied by Miss Iva Evered.

"The founder of your organization was not honored by degrees from any university," said Rev. Mr. Staub, "but in the hearts of millions of men and women in America his memory will be forever a perpetual inspiration."

The purposes of brotherhood and benevolence which have actuated the men and women, who, through self-sacrifice and earnest labor, built the great organizations of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges, were pointed out by the speaker, who emphasized the fact that the great joy of life comes to those who have built their characters on the three words which typify the Odd Fellow organization—friendship, love and truth.

The organ, growth and charitable work of the order were outlined by the speaker, who drew a comparative picture between the great love of David and Jonathan and the love and friendship which unite those joined in the brotherhood of the triple link.

Every lodge in the city was represented at the services. Pink and white carnations were distributed to those who attended. The committee in charge of the arrangements included E. D. Brown, E. Anderson, H. Johnson, J. A. Bruff, J. A. MacGillivray and F. G. Hoffler.

WILL READJUST THE RURAL POSTAL SERVICE

Washington, May 3.—Plans for a general readjustment of the rural postal service throughout the country by July 1 so as to provide mail facilities for a million persons not included in the present system, was made public last night by Postmaster General Burleson.

The postoffice department, Mr. Burleson said, had ordered all retrachments of travel by carriers eliminated and unnecessary service, where found to exist, discontinued. Motor vehicles will be provided under the new plan for service where the highways will permit.

During last April changes in the rural service were authorized which reduced the cost of operations by $177,644. This money has been used to establish 263 new routes, serving more than 831,000 families.

"Rural service will be extended to every farmer reasonably entitled to it," said Mr. Burleson, "as rapidly as the new adjustments can be made."

Suspenders, Sandals and Man's Waistcoat Features of Costume of Classic Barefoot Dancer

Miss Yvonne Chappelle of Chicago, who will open a classic barefoot dancing engagement this evening as a feature of the cabaret entertainment at the Holland hotel, affects a strictly mannish costume. She wears sandals all the year, with socks in the winter, but in the summer she wears Grecian sandals with the thong between the toes, and no hosiery. She wears men's shirts, usually with high collars, but sometimes substitutes soft golf shirts. Her black velvet skirt with side pockets, and black broadcloth waistcoat were made by her father's tailor. She wears suspenders, perfectly plain hats, and carries a swagger stick with the handle in the form of a Russian wolf-hound.

Miss Chappelle's early training was gained in the parks of Chicago, where she shot the English long-bow and practiced barefoot dancing on the grass. These exercises took place about 5 o'clock in the morning.

As her dances have been taken from the poses of Greek sculpture and those shown on Greek vases, she wears a Grecian costume. Much of her work is done by suggestion, as her facial expression is made to conform with the motions of arms, feet and body.

Among Miss Chappelle's dances, each of which tells a story, are "The Water Sprite," "The Humoresque," "Hero and Leander," "Song of the Soul" and the "Fox Hunt."

J. Coates Lockhart, tenor, will open his engagement at the Holland this evening in Scotch and Irish songs and ballads. Bowers and McMillan, society dancers, will open their engagement Wednesday evening.

At the meeting held Saturday afternoon at the home of the chairman, Mrs. E. L. Schmied, the program committee for the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra concerts that will be given in Duluth June 4 and 5, made up its list from the compositions receiving the greatest number of requests. Many requests were received from Superior, Virginia, Hibbing, Cloquet, Chisholm, Grand Rapids and other neighboring towns.

The two symphonies that received the greatest number of votes were the Beethoven Symphony No. 5, which received 58 votes, and the Franck Symphony in D minor that received 44 votes. There were 30 requests for Tschaikowsky's "Pathetique Symphony" and 27 requests for Dvorak's "New World Symphony." The decision between the Tschaikowsky and Dvorak numbers will rest with Mr. Oberhoffer to whom has been sent the tentative list made out Saturday.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Some Children Need Spanking.

"Spare the rod and spoil the child," begins to have a significance for me. I have seen more people between the ages of 8 and 8 recently who are evidently being brought up on the theory that a spanking should never be administered. In fact,

I should say that a spanking was just what most of these children needed.

I cannot in justice to the children lay the blame for their actions and behavior on their shoulders. Their mothers, and other feminine relatives, are usually to blame. They do not take a determined stand with them in the first place and show the little folks that they must do as they are told. Instead of making a child mind they coax him into doing as he has been bidden by promising a penny, some candy or a new toy. They practically buy obedience.

This is a very serious condition of affairs and one that impresses itself upon you forcibly. I recently saw a mother and a 4-year-old daughter when the child took it into her head to behave in a way that was embarrassing to her mother. This little girl had always had her own way and the mother's coaxing, scolding and even threats were of no avail. The little girl could not be persuaded to sit up and act as a young lady should. She kicked and screamed and used bold language and all over nothing.

It was anything but a comfortable position for the mother of this child, and I saw her face grow very stern and determined as she very quietly informed the misbehaved one that she would spank her when they got home. As can be imagined, this threat had no effect upon the child, as she had heard it many times before. But I learned afterwards that the mother did soundly spank this girl, and the punishment did good, as she clung to her mother's hand in a very respectful manner after that and seemed much subdued.

It is a shame to punish a child for what is undeniably another's fault. The actions of the little girl I refer to were the natural outcome of her training. The mother has done both the child and herself an injustice in humoring the child's disinclination to mind, and by the system of coaxing and buying and threatening which she has instituted in the place of implicit obedience to her demands. Though I do not believe in spankings myself, I think it is better to give one when promised than not to, under the circumstances.

Children need a firm, wise, kindly hand at the helm to see that they go right. If all mothers could apply that hand, with the child's future in mind, we could well spare the rod.

Contest Shows Many New York Women Bake Their Own Bread

Prizes Are Given in Four Classes---Woman Has Yeast That Has Been "Running" Since 1860.

Housewives' League Magazine: While the attorney general of New York state has been trying to find out the cost of bakers' bread the Housewives' League of Greater New York has been endeavoring to arrive at the same facts in regard to home-baked bread. Incidentally it has discovered, by means of a contest, that the practice of home baking is still widely prevalent, and that the bread that mother used to make is by no means without a rival in modern kitchens. One housekeeper was found who even makes her own yeast, as well as her own bread.

Prizes were offered in four classes, namely: yeast breads—white and whole wheat, and baking powder breads—tea biscuits and breakfast muffins. Each contestant was permitted to submit only one exhibit and was required to wrap it in waxed paper.

UNEXPECTED INTEREST.

The contest awakened the most unexpected interest, and even the women who did not win prizes said they were glad they had sent their exhibits because they wanted to have a part in the good work the league was doing.

The average time required for the mixing of the bread was half an hour, while the baking required from forty to fifty minutes. Sixteen out of the 100 contestants used coal for baking while the rest had gas ranges.

Mrs. Sarah Weekes Hoppin, who won the second prize for whole wheat bread, also exhibited a very interesting yeast garden. She brought along with her loaf a bottle of home-made potato yeast which had been kept "running" continuously since 1860. How much earlier it began its growth is not known. Mrs. Hoppin obtained a starter, or "workings," fifteen years ago from an elderly woman living near Boothbay, Me., who had in turn received it from her family doctor in 1860.

Prize Winning Bread.

Bread made by the following recipes won the first prizes in the four classes:

White Bread.

1 cake yeast..... 2 cts.
1 pint milk ..... 5 cts.
1 pint boiling water.
½ teaspoonful soda.
2 tablespoons shortening..... 1 ct.
3 level teaspoonfuls salt.
3 tablespoonfuls sugar..... 1 ct.
2½ quarts flour (about 10 cups)..13 cts.
Total .....22 cts.
Weight .....52 oz.

The yeast cake is dissolved in warm water, and the boiling water poured over the milk, to which the shortening, salt, sugar and soda are added. When all are dissolved and the mixture lukewarm, the yeast is added. The mass is then put into the bread-mixer and two quarts of flour is added. The mixer is turned until the dough is thoroughly mixed, and then set in a warm place over-night. In the morning it is turned several times to draw the raised dough together, and the mass is turned out on a lightly floured board, cut into four pieces and formed into loaves. Two of these are placed together in a greased pan to form a double loaf, and after rising to double their size are baked for fifty minutes in a moderately hot oven. The soda is used to neutralize any tendency to acidity.

Whole Wheat Bread.

1½ cups water
½ cake yeast..... 1 ct.
1 tablespoonful lard..... 1 ct.
1½ lbs. whole wheat flour..... 6 cts.
2 tablespoonfuls molasses..... 2 cts.
Total .....10 cts.
Weight .....24 oz.

Muffins.

The blue-ribbon muffins were exhibited by Miss May Spinney, who is cook to the commissioner of correction, Dr. Katherine B. Davis, and were compounded from the following ingredients at the following cost:

1½ cups flour ..... 3 cts.
1 teaspoonful sugar ..... ½ ct.
3 teaspoonfuls baking powder. 1 ct.
1 teaspoonful salt
1 egg ..... 3 cts.
1 cup milk .....2½ cts.
1 tablespoonful butter..... ½ cts.
Total ..... 12 cts.
Weight ..... 17 oz.

Miss Spinney puts all these ingredients together in a mixing bowl and beats them together with long even strokes. Housewives who have since tried this method say the results are just as good as when the eggs are beaten separately and the time required for this operation and the washing of the egg-beater is saved.

Biscuits.

2 cups flour ..... 3 cts.
2 rounded teaspoonfuls baking powder ..... 2 cts.
1 teaspoonful salt
1 tablespoonful oil..... 1 ct.
¾ cup milk ..... 3 cts.
Total ..... 9 cts.
Weight .....9¾ oz.

DAN CUPID IS HIMSELF AGAIN

Between April 1 and May 1, 1915, 106 marriage licenses were issued from the office of J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, which goes to show that during the month of April last, Dan Cupid, the mythical matchmaker, was decidedly on the job. In April, 1914, 93 licenses were taken out and for the corresponding month in 1913, 80 permits were granted.

The record for the first four months of the year 1915, however, falls short of that established during the same period in 1914. January, February and March, 1915 show decreases when compared with the first three months of 1914.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guarantee that it has the largest circulation in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities.

The Herald will be glad to have its attention called to any misleading or untrue statement which may appear in its news, editorial or advertising columns.

A NEWSPAPER'S CIRCULATION.

Time was when a newspaper's circulation was whatever its suppletongued solicitors could make the advertisers believe it to be. Padded claims, sometimes even sworn to, were offered; or the press run was given, without eliminations; or the actual subscription list was multiplied by five, the size of the average family, and the public was informed that the newspaper had so many readers.

Since advertising became not only a science and an art but a highly skilled business organized on a high plane of efficiency, that sort of thing goes no longer, however; and the result is the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

This is an organization of advertisers and newspapers, formed for the purpose of testing circulation claims—primarily to determine what constitutes actual paid circulation, secondarily to subject the circulations of its newspaper members to the test of its definition.

A newspaper's circulation today, then, is not what it claims to have, not the press run, but the average number of copies issued and actually paid for by subscribers. If premiums, contests and other artificial ways of stimulating a flagging circulation are used, the Audit Bureau reports it and the advertiser takes it into account in judging the QUALITY as well as the QUANTITY of that particular newspaper's circulation.

The Herald is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. The circulations of The Herald and the News Tribune were recently analyzed and audited by the experts from the Bureau, several weeks being devoted to each newspaper. The work was carefully, scientifically and thoroughly done.

The result of this audit of The Herald's circulation is displayed elsewhere in this issue. Considerable space is given to it, because The Herald is proud of it. It shows The Herald's circulation to be all that it is claimed to be. It verifies and justifies every circulation statement The Herald has published or rendered to the government under the postal laws.

Moreover, it shows that every copy sold was sold because somebody wanted to buy it, and never because it was taken to get a cut rate, to help out a contest or to get a cheap premium. Of this, even more than of the size of its circulation, The Herald is proud—for this is QUALITY.

Therefore The Herald requests its friends to read, analyze and weigh the report of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Incidentally, this report also proves the correctness of The Herald's sworn circulation statement for November, and thereby renders due from the News Tribune $250 to St. James's Orphanage and $250 to the Children's Home.

The Herald has no interest in a "circulation row" with the News Tribune. If the morning paper will publish the report which it has on its own circulation, the reader will understand why. But The Herald has an interest in the fact that its challenged word is thus justified, and in the further fact that this justification makes the above sums due in accordance with the terms of the News Tribune's challenge.

GERARD NAILS A LIE.

There cannot but be more or less satisfaction in the report of American Ambassador Gerard that the charges of cruelty to Britons made prisoners of war by the Germans are unfounded.

He denies absolutely that they are treated differently from French or Russian captives, and adds that they are well and abundantly clad, and are given the same rations as are served to her own army by Germany. He admits that they complain of the food—which shows that complaint about food is not, as had been supposed, a prerogative of the American boarding house patron.

He tells, too, of objection by British officers to being quartered with prisoners of other nationalities. Probably the German reply to this would be that so long as the French and Russians and Canadians and Australians and Hindus and Sikhs are considered good enough to die for the British cause, they should likewise be considered good enough to live with the other supporters of that cause.

"I can only say that the fate of war prisoners certainly is not enviable," says Gerard, "but considering circumstances, is quite tolerable," and he tells of concessions made by the German authorities to the demands for more abundant food.

It is to be regretted that this story of ill treatment ever started, and it is to be more deeply regretted that Kitchener allowed his name to be connected with it. It could have but one result—the fanning of the flame of national hatred, which already was leaping high. But it is not impossible that Kitchener himself was a victim of deception, and merely restated what he believed to be thoroughly reliable information.

As has been said a number of times, if it weren't for lies there'd be mighty little likelihood of there being any wars at all. Every lie nailed is a step toward peace. So let the nailing go merrily on, no matter whose back fence is thereby made to show an unsightly lot of nailheads.

FARGO'S WISDOM.

There's another interesting angle to the Troyer-Duluth-Fargo incident besides the fact that Duluth loses a good man and Fargo gets a good man.

Fargo not only had sense enough to pick a good man when it got the chance, but—much more rare and therefore more interesting—it had the good sense to pass by local place hunters and get its good man where it found him.

Those to whom public office is "patronage"—a sort of plunder to be passed about and traded in—will find this a very shocking thing. No doubt there are men in Fargo today who could have found a use for the salary that goes with the office of chief of police, and who are therefore violently indignant about this thing of going out of town to fill a local office.

Yet the public service generally would be vastly improved if there were more of this sort of thing. Not that being from out of town necessarily makes a man a better official, but that freeing a community from the limitation to a local selection widens the field of choice.

Still more important is the fact that if the Fargo plan spreads—and it should and will—it will help create a class of trained professional public servants, experts in their respective lines.

HOW TO PICK AN ISSUE.

It is undeniable that the Barnes-Roosevelt libel suit is bringing out a mass of information invaluable to the amateur in politics. There has been a full course of instruction in how to handle a boss, what to do to get funds, forms for all sorts of letters on all sorts of political and administrative subjects, the most approved ways of making appointments of judges, not to mention other officers, and in fact, information on nearly every theme connected with campaigns and official conduct.

But more important than any of the rest, more useful than all the rest, is the following bit of dialogue between the examining lawyer and Col. Roosevelt:

> Q. Did you, during that campaign, in any way, in any of your speeches, attack machine politics or boss rule?
> A. Not at all.
> Q. Not at all?
> A. It was not in issue.
> Q. Why wasn't it in issue if there was a machine and there was boss rule?
> A. Because there was no feeling against it at that time in the shape of an important independent movement.

Get that carefully, you who would enter politics. It contains the gist of political purpose and action. Summarized, the several points might be put thus: (1) Don't mention anything in your speeches, no matter how bad it may be, if it isn't a campaign issue; (2) The existence of an evil does not create an issue unless there is "feeling against it" in the shape of an "important movement; (3) The easiest way to get votes is to find out what the people are easily stirred up about, and then proceed to stir them up; (4) The sole purpose of an issue is to get votes to put yourself in office.

Now don't forget those points. They are hot off the bat and the bat is swung by one of the greatest politicians this country or any other country ever saw. Especially don't forget that about picking an issue, and the purpose of having one. It explains a lot of things that otherwise might cause the novice to wonder what becomes of the issue after it has been used to get the votes and the office.

"Crabbed Age and Youth"

E. P. Powell in the New York Independent.

For friends also I am supremely glad today. For eighty years they have been going on ahead, somewhere. It is about the only distressing thought connected with human life. Only this I am sure of, that not one in twenty of them need to have gone so soon. I am vexed at these unnecessary goodbys. But then there is this about it: If one lives right he will face that beautiful procession of young souls that comes toward him from the somewhere, dancing and tripping their way, some of them; but most of them making outrageous blunders, without his help.

It is to my young friends that I owe most, and it is the capacity to win the younger that most pleases me. You see, it keeps one from ever getting out of touch with humanity; it keeps one from getting lonesome. Old age of the right sort does not leave you in a corner. It never ought to do anything of the kind. The boys ought to prattle around you and tell you their troubles. Nobody is ever fit to be a father who cannot find out the inside of a boy's heart.

Yes, today I am most of all grateful for the boys and girls that are filling the world with questions. The multiplication table is an old thing, but it does not cover all the multiples and problems. Get a handful of boys about you and find out. What are you good for if you have thrown away all of your experience and cannot make yourself of any use to someone born one or two hundred years after yourself?

Friendships rarely blossom for fifty years; what of it? They go on bearing fruit all the same. Kissing is in the flower; in the fruit is power, although there may be less sentiment.

Remoteness is hard to bridge with memory. All the same I have those boy loves and brother loves yet; and always will have them. We may not touch hands again, and it may be that many of our visions of eternal cordiality may not be demonstrated; all the same, we have been men by virtue of our good will. This good will remains with us, in our character, forever.

There are some, yet unborn, on the way to the heart. They will need time and thought; others will need that helpfulness which has been my own share at times along the road. This shifting and reshifting of the scenes is after all the glory of human progress. We do not want any one thing to remain. We do not grow fruit trees for this year's crop only.

A Sunlight Code

Omaha World-Herald: The city of Cleveland has adopted a new building code which will prevent the construction of insanitary buildings. It is worked out on strictly scientific principles, based on sunlight and ventilation and can be applied to all climates north and south. In Cleveland the sun is 71 degrees above the horizon at noon the 21st of June, and buildings must be so constructed that the sunlight can reach the bottom of the court yard for at least one minute in the course of the year and any width that would give only reflected light is prohibited. That is established as the legal minimum. The width of the court would increase or decrease as the building is further north or south. That makes the width of the courts a function of the height of the wall; that function to be the tangent of the angle between the sun's rays and the vertical or 19 degrees. This tangent is .34 plus.

Rear yards are worked out on the same principle. In them the direct rays of the sun must shine for at least two months in the year, which makes the depth 50 per cent of the height of the adjacent wall. Under this system it is claimed that any surveyor can tell the owner of a lot just how high he can build his structure, the width of his air shafts and court yards and will prevent the horrid conditions that exist in many cities. Besides that it will do away with volumes of building ordinances that cumber the shelves of the cities, and owners of adjacent property cannot take the value out of lots belonging to others by cutting off the sunlight and air by building high walls.

The Torrens System.

Omaha World-Herald: A discussion in the economic and financial papers of New York has been conducted for several weeks concerning the Torrens land title system and it seems the general conclusion is that it is far superior to the present system and should be adopted. One thing developed is that the lawyers are withdrawing their opposition. In 1893 the World's Real Estate congress, composed largely of lawyers, carried with only two dissenting votes the resolution "That it is the sense of the delegates of the World's Real Estate congress that they should do what lies in their power to call the attention of their various state legislatures to the benefit of the Torrens system, and recommend its adoption, so modified as to suit it to their state constitution and laws."

After that the lawyers changed their position, fearing, it is charged, that the adoption of the system would greatly reduce their business and fees. Now it appears that they have changed again. The reason is very simple. The older type of solicitor or lawyer, a large part of whose professional work had to do with conveyancing, is disappearing. In this country the title companies have so largely monopolized the title and the mortgage business that the younger type of lawyer, except in so far as he is in the employ of the title company, takes less interest in the conveyancing side and can secure little business in that line. It is no longer the financial interest of lawyers to oppose the system.

There is a great deal more interest in the system in the older states than in the new. In the former an abstract of title must run back through scores of transfers to the original treaty with the Indians ceding the land and is a very formidable document, sometimes filling four or five large volumes. The cost of an abstract makes it prohibitive and then the title insurance companies sprang up and did an enormous business. The Torrens system is becoming a very live question in some of the older states.

He Knew Her.

Washington Star: "If you were to be a candidate for office, would your wife vote for you?"

"I am afraid," replied Mr. Meekton, thoughtfully, "that if ever I got so far along as to be a candidate for office, Henrietta would regard the whole political system as a failure and refuse to have anything further to do with it."

Story of First Machine Gun

From "My Life," by Sir Hiram S. Maxim.

"I plead guilty to being a chronic inventor," Sir Hiram Maxim says. "I commenced while I was very young, and have kept it up ever since." His book is the story of all that; the story also, he it said, of a man who shows himself eminently interesting as a "human document." Moreover, if any man's story has point just now, when the cannon are roaring across Europe, it is surely that of the inventor of the Maxim gun.

He tells us that when the kaiser first saw it he exclaimed: "That's the gun. There is no other." When Li Hung Chang saw it he was vastly impressed, but asked what the cartridges cost. He was told. He declared: "This gun fires altogether too fast for China"—$650 a minute.

Another potentate of the Orient, the last shah of Persia, included the Maxim gun among his sightseeing, when he was in London, and Sir Hiram Maxim recalls the incident:

"The grand vizier was as much interested as his majesty, and would persist in leaning over the muzzle of the gun while the shah was working the mechanism, to see how the cartridges were loaded into the barrel. However, by constant vigilance, I succeeded in preventing any accidents, and when the shah had fired a few rounds he was satisfied. In the meantime the prince of Wales had sent word that the shah would certainly ask me to make him a present of the gun, and this is exactly what happened; but I was ready for him, and explained that the gun was not my property, but belonged to the company, and that I had no right to give it away."

The wonderful quick-firing gun is naturally the chief thread of Sir Hiram's book, though many other inventions crowd about it, even a mousetrap, his first piece of work, when he was little more than a boy in America. Necessarily the Maxim was not made in a day, but grew out of incessant thought and labor:

"I saw certain success ahead, so I worked day and night on my drawings until they were finished, and went into the shop and worked myself until I had made a gun. It was finished in due time and on trying it with a belt of cartridges I found that it fired rather more than ten a second. Several of the guns were made, and when it was reported in the press that Hiram Maxim, the widely known American electrician in Hatton Garden, had made an automatic machine gun with a single barrel, using service cartridges, that would load and fire itself, by energy derived from the recoil, over 600 rounds in a minute, everyone thought it was too good to be true—a bit of Yankee brag, and so forth; but the little gun was very much in evidence."

It worked splendidly, it "was a daisy" and it was known as "the little white gun," because the case was not oxidized. At the first news of it, great people, interested in such things, came to see it, among them Lord Wolseley, of whose originality of mind and power of grasping new ideas Sir Hiram Maxim shows a warm appreciation:

"Lord Wolseley said, 'It is really wonderful.' According to his way of putting it, 'the Yankees beat all creation; there seems to be no limit to what they are able to do.' He expressed it as his opinion that it would not be long before someone would turn out a machine that would manufacture 'full grown men and women.' Here I ventured to remonstrate, much to the amusement of the party, saying I certainly would not undertake the job, because it would be extremely unpopular."

Other sorts of people, not so understanding, also invaded Sir Hiram, and he did his best to instruct them all. But there was only one visitor whom he did not manage to satisfy:

"It was while the little gun was on exhibition at Hatton Garden that a tall and dignified gentleman called. He was beautifully gloved, and had a gold-rimmed monocle fixed in his eye. He told me in very stilted language that he had come to see the gun. He looked at it, took out his watch, expressed his doubts about it being able to fire 600 rounds a minute, and said he wanted to see the 600 rounds go off. I said: 'It costs $25 a minute to fire this gun. I will furnish the gun it you will furnish the cartridges.' He was very indignant and he left suddenly. Later on he said that I had insulted him."

While he worked his way upward in one shop after another Sir Hiram studied, read much. One winter—

> I read through Ure's "Dictionary of Arts, Mines and Manufactures." On the back of the book was printed in large letters, "Dictionary," and it amused the girls very much to see me reading a dictionary. They asked me if it was interesting. Was there a murder? What had become of the heavy villain? Were they married? Did they live happily ever afterwards? But this did not stop me. I simply devoured the book.

After he had settled in England, and was launched on the ocean of invention no detail of trouble was too much for him if it promised the result his imagination saw:

> When tools were required for the various machines I forged them out and tempered them myself. The men thought it very exceptional for a man in my position, who was a clever draughtsman, to be a blacksmith. One day, having occasion to use a little glass instrument, I sent out, bought some glass tubes, and did the glass-blowing myself. The men had never seen anything like it before. One of them chucked his cap down on the floor, stamped on it, and said: "There's nothing that the old man can't do."

"Don't go into business," says Sir Hiram, "if you have enough money to live upon." He is thinking of its worries and of the printer who, when asked to print the first office paper for "The Maxim Gun Company," sent it home with the heading "The Maxim Gum Company." But it survived that printer.

Tablet to an Indian Woman.

The Living Church: In the church on the Indian reservation at Oneida, Wis., a tablet has just been erected by the Indian Training association to commemorate Nancy Cornelius, the first American Indian woman to become a graduate nurse. She was a communicant of the church, an efficient nurse and for a long time in charge of our hospital at Oneida.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

Imagine a place where nothing ever happens except the unusual.

Imagine a community whose inhabitants all wear strange costumes, grease paint, penciled eyelids, or false whiskers.

Imagine a place where scarcely anybody is his real self—where everybody is playing a part.

Just such a place is one of the moving picture studios at the edge of Los Angeles. This studio covers more than 450 picturesque acres of hills and dales. More thrilling things, more astonishing things occur on those 450 acres than occur on any corresponding bit of territory anywhere.

If it is interesting to peek behind the scenes of a big theater, it is a thousandfold more interesting to spend a day or so as an innocent bystander at this big movie studio, which is a hundred theaters, a dozen Wild West shows, a couple of wild animal shows and a number of other things, all rolled into one.

The place is a little make-believe world unto itself. A day there is a page from a sort of modern Alice in Wonderland.

From early morn to starry eve you see strange folk strolling about ready for the call to duty—that is, with costumes and grease paint on. Comedy, tragedy and melodrama are being produced all at once, side by side.

Being in a world of their own, the actors do not dash into their dressing rooms to remove their makeup the moment they have played a part. They stick to one makeup until there is occasion to be somebody else. You walk about seeming to find yourself face to face with people from every land and every clime.

Go to lunch in the cafe and you find there harem favorites, society queens, cowboys, bandits and a grand duke or two, sitting together on a basis of perfect amity and accord. Go back at dinner time and the same people may be at the same table, only now everybody is somebody else. The cowboy has become, mayhap, a tired business man or a railroad magnate, and the grand duke is made up for a village blacksmith.

No matter how funny anybody looks, he is so accustomed to looking that way that he gives no sign of self-consciousness, any more than the average Indian sees the humorous side of decorating himself with a lot of 5 and 10-cent store pocket mirrors.

Walk back over one of the hills and you find, like as not, a dog leading an elephant to rescue a girl from a tiger, or a force of Indians about to flood a town by blowing up a reservoir. Or perhaps a desperate battle is in progress between two ferocious film forces of mimic war.

On the first day I visited this trick community, there was some horrible affair taking place in Cairo. They had built a street in Cairo and filled it with natives, camels, cavalry and tourists. The man who sees that film and suspects, without being told, that it was not made right in Cairo, would be suspicious of his own mother.

Carpenters are an important part of the big working force in this little magic world. They are prepared to build a quaint little village street or an African jungle with almost equal dispatch. If the director needs a castle to storm, they build him a formidable-looking big painted canvas castle.

After watching the exciting doings in the Cairo street, I walked to a stage a few yards distant and saw the production of a calm little domestic drama in a New York flat. There are two immense stages at this studio and each one is divided into dozens of scenes which are changed from day to day to fit scenario demands. One may walk three feet from a scene in an Alaskan mining camp and step into the saloon of an Atlantic liner.

The things that occur in these various settings, in one average forenoon, if they really happened, would furnish a city all the gossip needed for ten years.

America.

We lay and smiled, to see our sky
So blue, so luminous with sun;
Lo, far off, wailed an ominous cry;
We heard a thunder of footsteps run

Under a darkness settling there,
Some huge and sinister wing's eclipse;
Some fouled the east; a baleful glare
Lightened beneath; and maddened lips

Took up that cry, while darkness stirred
And heaved, and like a wounded thing
Bled, by the utterance of one word
Which bade a myriad war-swords sing.

What murderous shadow troubled so
Our summer dream? • • • The sunlight ceased.
A sick and fetid wind came slow
From the stale tenements of the east.

Brother to slay his brother rose,
The shambles fell, and from that gloom
Came the hoarse herded cry of those
Who blindly massed to fight for room.

Room! Give us air! A breathing space!
The sunlight and the land for all!
Each lifted up a stifled face,
And battered door, and beat at wall,

And surged against resurgent horde
For space to sow his little seed.
Lo, they would plow the earth with sword,
Strew dead on earth that earth might feed.

And we—where now our summer bliss
From the stale tenements of the east
Stole fear lest we should come to this,
And prove us brother to the beast.
—Conrad Aitken in the Outlook.

Twenty-one to Ten Thousand.

Kansas City Star: A thrill of horror passed over the country at the news of the sinking of a submarine in the harbor of Honolulu with twenty-one men on board. It has seemed a terrible thing that these men should have lost their lives in such an accident.

And then consider the dispatch in the morning paper from Chalons-sur-Marne. Eleven thousand German dead taken from the trenches in the twenty days of fighting in the Champagne country, at a cost of how many French dead! Yet the Champagne country is only one fragment of a battle line a thousand miles long.

Twenty-one dead, in one dispatch; ten thousand dead in another. And the ten thousand were just as full of promises, and just as dear to those at home as the twenty-one!

Saw Her Chance.

She—"Oh, Mr. Toughly, this is so sudden!"

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Verdict a Problem.

Belle Plaine Herald: The legislative session of 1915 has become a thing of the past. Its merits are debatable. In that respect it is unlike some of the previous sessions, which were condemned promptly and with general unanimity by the people of the state. In the case of this year's session public opinion at least is as yet undecided as to whether it should be accorded praise or blame. While little constructive legislation was passed, much destructive legislation was avoided and wasteful appropriations curtailed.

But the House——!

St. Cloud Times: The Minnesota legislature has adjourned sine die, and, as the English judges say in passing death sentence, "May the Lord have mercy on its soul!" The general impression is that it has been the greatest failure as a legislative body ever assembled in the state. This is certainly true as to the house. The senate, on the other hand, has been a fairly respectable and dignified body. Its business was conducted with decorum, and it ended its final session with its calendar cleaned up. But the house—oh, Lord, deliver us from such another!

Charity of Silence.

Waseca Herald: The legislature adjourns, the solons will retire to private life and the home paper will cover their poor record with the charity of silence.

Day of Thanks.

Luverne Herald: Wouldn't it be appropriate for Governor Hammond to now designate a "day of prayer" for thanksgiving over the adjournment of the legislature?

Not as Bad as Expected.

Cambridge North Star: The legislature proved to be a great deal better than anyone would have predicted immediately after the scandalous speakership contest. Lieutenant Governor Burnquist profited by his experience of 1913 and perfected a good working machine in the senate. His scheme of reducing the number of committees and the membership of each proved most successful and the senate proved very efficient. The Dunn road law was strengthened and Elwell law repealed and a few other good things done and no very bad ones.

Henry Rines' View.

Mora Times: The Minnesota legislature will adjourn sine die today. While the 1915 legislature has received much criticism from the state press it has done some pretty good work after all. The house has been an unruly body, due largely to improper organization and lack of leadership. With a capable man like Gordon in its presiding officer the lower body of the legislature would have been able to go a great deal of good, as the house contained much good material. With an organization out of harmony with the sentiment of the majority of its members it was not surprising that the house developed into an obstreperous body. The senate has done most of the real work of the session. This is particularly true of the appropriation bills.

It Certainly Did.

Staples World: Of the late legislature be it said, it "done" what it could.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

It is He that buildeth his stories in the heaven, and hath founded his troop in the earth, he that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: The Lord is His name.—Amos ix, 6.

The prophet in general terms describes the power of God, that he might the more impress his hearers, and that they might not heedlessly reject what he had previously threatened respecting their approaching ruin; for he had said: "Lo, God will smite the land and it shall tremble." This was special. Now as men received with deaf ears those threatenings, the prophet added, by way of confirmation, a striking description of the power of God, as though he said: "Ye do hear what God denounces; now, as he has clothed me with His own authority, and commanded me to terrify you by setting before you your punishment, know ye that ye have to do with God, Himself, whose majesty ought to make you all and all that you are to tremble. Ye exist only through His power, and whenever He pleases He can withdraw His spirit and then His whole world must vanish, of which ye are but the smallest particles. Since, then, He alone is God, and there is in you but a momentary strength, and since this great power of God, the evidences of whole order of nature, is so conspicuous to you, how is it that ye are so heedless?"—Charles E. Edwards.

Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world!—John 1, 29.

Behold Him now where He comes,
Not the Christ of our subtle creeds,
But the Lord of our hearts, of our homes,
Of our hopes, our prayers, our needs.

Cartooning the War of 1812.

James Melvin Lee in Cartoons Magazine: The real cartoonist of the War of 1812 was William Charles. Born in Edinburgh, he came to this country at the beginning of the nineteenth century. The evidence seems to show that he had to leave the mother country because of his caricatures of some of her magistrates. He published his own cartoons and had a print shop first at New York and later at Philadelphia. He died in 1821. More than any other man, till the time of Nast, he recognized cartoon material when the label was absent. His "A Wasp on a Frolic or a Sting for John Bull" probably had the largest sale, though it was by no means his best work. This cartoon grew out of the victory of the American ship, Wasp, over the British one, Frolic. This bit of verse, which appeared under the drawing, gives a description of how Charles dramatized the facts:

A WASP took a FROLIC, and met
Johnny Bull,
Who always fights best when his belly is full.
The WASP thought him hungry by his mouth open wide,
So, his belly to fill, put a sting in his side.

Another popular cartoon by Charles commemorated Perry's naval victory on Lake Erie. Entitled, "Queen Charlotte and Johnny Bull Got Their Dose of Perry," it showed the queen offering John Bull a bottle of medicine labeled "Perry." In the foam coming out of the uncorked bottle appeared the names of the vessels in the American squadron.

Transfers Under Ship Registry Act.

U. S. Commerce Reports: The bureau of navigation states that to the end of March 135 vessels, of 485,586 gross tons, were registered as vessels of the United States under the ship registry act of Aug. 18, 1914. They were valued, according to bills of sale and documents of transfer, at $31,107,270. Most of these vessels were owned by Americans long before the outbreak of the European war, and the values stated in most instances are the values at which the ships were carried on the books of the owners. Had actual sales taken place at current prices of shipping, the total value, of course, would have been greater.

This merchant fleet comprises 103 steamships, of 444,263 gross tons, thus valued at $30,265,300, and 32 sail vessels, of 41,323 gross tons, valued at $841,970.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

DULUTH WRITERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Are there any authoresses among the women of Duluth?—book-length or short-story size. It seems as if there ought to be one or two among the college graduates.

A. FORTUNE.

Duluth, May 1.

There are at least three women in Duluth who write with more or less regularity and have their work published. There may be more the Editor does not know of.—The Editor.

APPLES IN MICHIGAN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to know through the Open Court column if winter apples, such as Baldwins, Northern Spies and Russets, can be grown in the Upper Peninsula.

MRS. T. T.

Iron Mountain, Mich., April 28.

They can be and have been grown there, but it might be well for you to consult some reliable nurseryman on the kind of apple trees best adapted to your particular climate and soil.—The Editor.

PAYING HIS SALARY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please inform me if the state, county or city pays Judge Windom's salary.

Yours truly,

W. E. Z.

Duluth, April 30.

It is taken from the city funds.—The Editor.

"UNCLE SAM."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please will you inform me through the Open Court why the United States government is called Uncle Sam?

Respectfully,

JOHN BANNER.

Duluth, April 30.

It originated in a joke. During the war of 1812 Samuel Wilson was inspector of provisions. He was nicknamed "Uncle Sam." The contractor's supplies would come through marked "John Brown, U. S." and the soldiers connected the initials of United States and "Uncle Sam." They soon began saying all provisions consigned to the United States were for Uncle Sam.—The Editor.

STATE FLOWERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been having arguments with my friends over the state flower of Michigan. Has each state a flower of its own? If it has please let me know the state flower of Michigan through the Open Court.

I am reading the Open Court, and like the questions and answers very much.

Yours very truly,

MISS M. W.

About three-quarters of the states have state flowers. They are generally designated by the state legislature after a vote has been taken by the school children. Michigan's flower is the apple blossom.—The Editor.

QUESTION OF SPEED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly advise a reader of your paper who won the 100-yard dash held in connection with the big athletic meet of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, said meet being held on two days, namely Friday and Saturday of last week, April 23-24. I think, however, that the hundred-yard dash was run on Saturday, if at all. I should also like to know the time made providing the race was run off. I looked in all the papers that I thought would contain an account of this event but I failed to find anything about it. By so advising you will greatly oblige.

THE FIRST PRESIDENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you please inform me through the Open Court, whether a person called Nels Hansen, or George Washington was the first president of the United States? I have heard that there are records in the White House which state that a man named Nels Hansen was the first president. Thanking you for the space and trouble required for this, I remain yours,

O. B. L.

Biwabik, Minn., April 30.

John Hanson was a delegate to the continental congress from 1781 until his death in 1783, and served one year as its president during which time he gave Washington the thanks of that congress for the victory of Yorktown. Washington was the first president of the United States and his administration began on April 30, 1789. The Editor knows of no "Nels Hansen" prominent in the early history of the country.—The Editor.

EDISON REPLIES TO CRITICS OF CONCRETE

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Detroit Brick Manufacturers and Dealers association is distributing throughout the United States a pamphlet entitled "The Edison Fire," the contents consisting of a reprint of an article appearing in a trade journal, "The Clay Worker." The entire purpose of this publication is to discredit, and if possible, retard the use of reinforced concrete in the construction of fireproof buildings.

The results of the fire at my plant on Dec. 9, 1914, are used in an entirely false and misleading manner. Of the seven reinforced concrete buildings none were destroyed. A small section of the upper floor of one of the buildings fell in, but was supported by the lower floors. The pamphlet referred to presents three views of this, the suggestion being that these were three different buildings. The brick administration building to which they refer, which remains standing, was protected by an adjacent concrete building and was not subjected to fire.

Every brick and steel building which was attacked by the fire was completely destroyed, together with all the machinery they contained, while the damage done to the concrete buildings amounted to about 12½ per cent, and of the machinery contained in the concrete buildings 98 per cent was saved and is now in operation. Manufacturing was resumed in some of the old concrete buildings within a few weeks after the date of the fire.

Temperatures were far in excess of those in the ordinary fire, but reinforced concrete showed its superiority over any other fire resisting material.

I regret that any representative of the brick interests should have seen fit to sponsor this publication, the evident purpose of which is to deceive. The millions of dollars of fire losses in this country annually make it a matter of moment that the superiority of reinforced concrete for fireproof structures should be thoroughly understood, and it is for such purpose that I have written this letter. Yours very truly,

THOMAS A. EDISON.

SETTING AN EXAMPLE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The fight against drunkenness in England has of late arrested the attention of the whole world, and the recommendations proposed by the English government yesterday deserve especial attention. The substitution of light beer for strong drink will still leave the laboring classes free to enjoy that which to many is a real necessity, and which, if you choose to call it a luxury, is about the only practically harmless luxury which they can afford.

If it is argued that the average English beer, with its 7 and 8 per cent alcohol, has been too strong for the people, we can now say that David Lloyd George has pointed out the remedy, namely: "Brew Lighter Beer." England can afford to imitate the American beer with its 3 or 4 per cent, or, better yet, imitate the Scandinavian countries, some of which have for years removed all taxes and all license fees from beer with less than 2½ per cent alcohol. It is their avowed policy to substitute such mild beers as landsoel for strong drink, and to provide facilities of easy access.

Eventually the American people will come to such sane and common sense methods. Why not now? The U. S. internal revenue department, which taxes beer for the sake of the revenue, has long ago decided to consider beer with less than one-half of one per cent as non-taxable, because it cannot properly be classed as alcoholic liquor. That also is a point in the right direction, although Minnesota state laws say otherwise. Don't be persuaded that such lighter-beer laws could not be enforced. All laws are enforcible if they are sane, and are backed by good solid public opinion.

The state of Louisiana passed a law years ago which permits the sale of beer with less than 2½ per cent of alcohol to be sold in dry districts where saloons are voted out. Why? Because it holds the same opinion as does David Lloyd George of England.

HOW ABOUT THE ORPHANS?

To the Editor of The Herald:

Some months ago the News Tribune offered to pay $500 to the orphans of Duluth if The Herald could prove its circulation claims. What was the outcome of this? Did the "Morning Disturbance" make good its charge, or did it find it started something it could not finish and live up to its reputation by refusing to pay the orphans the $500?

Yours truly,

SPEEDING ON PARK POINT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been waiting for a long time for some one to make a complaint against the people, who speed their automobiles on the new pavement on Lake avenue, Park Point. I don't know why these people deliberately break a law, but there isn't a day passes that I look out of my window that I do not see some automobile going at a high rate of speed. There are many small children living beside this pavement who cross and recross the street many times a day whose lives are in danger almost constantly. Just to catch the bridge is no excuse for this speeding. They can wait as well as the rest of us have to do. Within the next few days I am going to get a stop-watch to take speed of any automobile which is going faster than it ought to go, and also the number of the machine.

Another thing which has made me angry is the amount of space left for us to pass on the sidewalk when the people who belong to the boat club come down to the main house. I have been forced to get off of the sidewalk a number of times because the gentlemen (?) refused to see me. Those sidewalks were not put there by the boat club. The property owners were assessed for them or else had them put in themselves. We would like the pleasure of walking on them without being pushed off as though we were your inferiors. I do not mean to say that all members are offenders in this way, but later on in the season there are quite a few.

If any of you readers offend in the two ways mentioned, please see that you mend your ways when you make another trip to Park Point.

Thanking the Editor for the space,

I am,

A PARK POINTER.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald ackowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"Only a Brakeman" from Mrs. Joseph Cuskey of Spooner, Wis.

"Only A Brakeman."

Dust grimed features weather beaten,
Hands that show the scars of toil,
Do you envy him his station,
Patient toiler of the soil?
In the rain or in the sunshine,
He must mount his speeding train,
Stand outside the post at duty,
Heeding not the drenching rain.

Then when winter's icy fingers decked the earth in snowy shrouds,
And the north wind like a madman,
Rushes on in shriekings loud,
Then behold the gallant brakesman,
Springs to heed the engine's call,
Running on the icy car tops,
God protect him if he fall.

Speak to him in kinder language,
Though his clothes be coarse and plain,
For in his fearless breast there beats
A heart that feels both joy and pain.
Do not scorn to greet him kindly
He will give you smile for smile,
Only nothing but a brakeman,
Surely do not deem him vile.

He may have a widowed mother,
He may be her only joy,
And perhaps at home she's praying
For the safety of her boy.
How he loves that dear old mother,
Toiling on from day to day,
Always bringing her some present
Every time he draws his pay.

As we scan our evening papers,
Note what each full column says,
One brief line attracts our notice,
One more brakeman killed today.
In her little lonely cottage,
Sitting in the morning light,
Sits that luckless brakeman's mother,
She expects her boy tonight.

Some one brings that fearful message,
God have mercy, hear her pray,
As she reads that fearful message,
One more brakeman killed today.

WIFE BROUGHT BACK HOME

Mrs. Van Buren, Tired of Being Drudge, Fled to Superior.

Husband "Arrests" Man "Who Ran Away With Her."

After seventeen years of married life, Mrs. John Van Buren, 32, ran away from her husband because she wanted to have a good time, according to a story told police yesterday.

Mrs. Van Buren, who is a half-breed Indian, disappeared Wednesday night after leaving her home at 120 First avenue west to go to a moving picture show. She was found in Superior Saturday night.

"Here is the man who ran away with my wife," said Mr. Van Buren Sunday afternoon, as he entered headquarters, dragging a man whose name he said was Smith. "I want you to lock him up."

"Smith" denied the charge, but Van Buren persisted in his allegations and was much disgusted when police refused to arrest him without a warrant, declared officers at headquarters. Mr. Van Buren also is part Indian.

The Van Buren case has attracted considerable attention, as the family has been living with the help of various Duluth charities for two or three weeks, although the four Van Buren children are said to have land claims on the La Pointe, Wis., Indian reservation worth nearly $25,000.

Through a lawyer, charitably inclined persons had arranged a trip to the reservation for the father and mother, so that the land could be mortgaged to provide for their immediate living. Mrs. Van Buren, evidently tired of "doing without," left her home and two children the day before the trip to the reservation was planned.

Two of the Van Buren children are in Duluth with the father and two are attending school at Pipestone, Minn. The wife was brought back to Duluth by Mr. Van Buren, to find the family in even worse circumstances than when she left, as the husband had lost his "job" while hunting for her.

FIRST IN STATE TO CAPTURE TROPHY

Company C, M. N. G., Wins Congressional Shield for Marksmanship.

Duluth's Company C, Third Regiment, M. N. G., commanded by Capt. Walter O. Flodin, is the first military organization in the state to win the congressional trophy for marksmanship.

The trophy was awarded for the rifle season which began May 1 and ended Oct. 31, 1914. The company also won the 1914 Du Pont trophy, which is a handsome shield, for the third time in four years.

The congressional trophy was offered for military organizations in each state and was competed for by infantry companies, cavalry troops and engineers. The company which qualifies the greater number of experts, sharpshooters and marksmen, first and second class, holds the trophy for one year. Another rule of the competition is that at least 75 per cent of the men must qualify as second class marksmen, or better, during the rifle season.

In the Du Pont competition only experts, sharpshooters and marksmen are considered and at least 68 men of the company must have fired the rifle course.

Capt. Flodin started his men at practice for the 1915 season yesterday, with a short session on the rifle range above Twin Lakes, along the Boulevard.

EMERSON UP-TO-DATE

A well-known newspaper advertiser buys space to blazon forth this Emersonian quotation.

"If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

But he has an afterthought—

He takes pains to print his own name, address, and character of business in good sized type.

Of course, Duluth will come—if you tell them about it in the Herald advertsing columns.

DEVELOPMENT FORECASTED

Trustees' Report of Great Northern Ore Shows Extensive Plans.

Amply Equipped With Ready Cash for Carrying Out Policy.

An extended development program is forecasted in the eighth annual report of the Great Northern Ore trustees for the year ended Dec. 31 last, just issued.

For that purpose the trustees are amply equipped with capital, having $3,819,716.36 cash on hand. It has been their policy to accumulate sufficient funds to handle the various mining properties in an active way at the termination of the lease to the United States Steel corporation.

The report sets out that the work of developing mines in lands surrendered by the Great Western Mining company (the operating company of the Oliver Iron Mining company) proceeded satisfactorily during the year. At the Dunwoody mine the contractors expected to complete their contract for stripping 5,800,000 yards of surface material by October next. Up to Dec. 31 last, 4,700,000 yards had been removed. With this stripping completed, it is estimated that 8,000,000 tons of steam shovel ore will be available. The Dean-Itasca mine has been entirely stripped and it has been leased to the Dean Iron company, rendering about 700,000 tons of ore available for mining.

Big Stripping Contract.

An interesting development feature of the year noted in the report, was the letting of a contract last June to A. Guthrie & Co. of St. Paul to strip approximately 8,500,000 yards of surface material at the Hill-Annex mine. This will make available about 4,200,000 tons of ore, the mining of which may be started in 1916.

A site has been arranged for a washing or concentrating plant at Pinacle lake, just south of the Hill-Annex mine, where sandy ore from it and other properties in that district may be treated. At the Thorne mine on the property of the North Star Iron company, a shaft has been sunk and about 400,000 tons of ore has been found tributary to it.

At the termination of the Great Western lease the Iron Ore Properties came into possession of the following mines, which had been operated by the Great Western Mining company: North Star, open pit; Fay, open pit; Mace, shaft; North Uno, open pit; South Uno, open pit; Mississippi, shaft; Leonard, open pit and shaft, and Harold, shaft.

The first five were largely exhausted, but the last three have each a considerable tonnage remaining.

"During the year," says the report, "a very advantageous arrangement was made with the Oliver Iron Mining company, whereby the railway tracks, head frames, boiler and engine houses and considerable other equipment of the mines above set out, were purchased in place. By this purchase an equipment was secured at a price that will not be a burden to the tonnage left in the mines.

"An important advantage in this connection is securing the properties equipped for immediate operation. The shaft mines are all in full operation, with good results. The open pit mines are worked only during the shipping season, which is controlled by the navigation season on the Great Lakes."

Four Mines Leased.

Ore contents of the trustees properties are estimated to reach the enormous aggregate of 308,111,295 tons. A contract was entered into last September for the operation by the Dean Iron company (owned by the Todd-Stambaugh company of Cleveland, Ohio) of the Dean, Itasca and Eddy mines. The Dean mine contains 8,831,671 tons of ore as estimated by the Minnesota tax commission, while the Itasca mine contains 1,469,372 tons and the Eddy mine 5,490,464 tons of iron ore.

Under this contract the Arthur Iron company will receive $1 a ton royalty for all ore shipped from the Dean mine, with the minimum for this year fixed at 150,000 tons, this to increase to 250,000 tons in 1916, and to 900,000 tons during the years 1925 to 1928.

Besides these, the North Harrison mine was leased to Butler Bros. of St. Paul. It is estimated to contain 558,682 tons of iron ore.

Including interest earnings, freight charges and royalties, the Ore trustees received from the Great Western Mining company during the period of its lease from 1907 to Dec. 31, 1914, $45,174,225.30. The ore during that period averaged 58.5622 per cent iron, and the royalty paid was based at 50 cents a ton.

Receipts of the trustees last year were $877,959.40, and disbursements $822,042.64, including a distribution of $750,000 to holders of certificates. Receipts from all sources from Dec. 7, 1906, to the end of last year aggregated $14,162,376.84. Administration of the trust, including salaries and expenses, during that period were $592,661.48, and $9,750,000 was paid to certificate holders. This left a balance of undistributed receipts of $3,820,455.69. The total net current assets under the trust are placed at $17,295,303.30, an increase of $4,149,639.34 during 1914.

The trustees are Louis W. Hill, James N. Hill, Walter J. Hill and Edward T. Nichols.

ALUMNI RE-ELECT ALL OLD OFFICERS

Yale "Grads" Hold Annual Dinner at Kitchi Gammi Club.

All the officers of the Yale Alumni Association of Duluth were re-elected at the annual meeting of that body held at the Kitchi Gammi club last Saturday evening. About thirty-five members were present at the meeting.

The officers elected for the ensuing year follow: John A. Savage, president; Sherman L. Coy of Cloquet, vice president; Cavour Hartley, treasurer, and Fred H. Waldron, secretary. The officers were also named as delegates from the Duluth association to the annual meeting of Yale clubs to be held at Kansas City on May 22.

Following the business meeting a supper was served to those present.

FARMER IS CREMATED NEAR MARSHALL, MINN.

Warren, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nels Hanson, aged 49, a farmer, single, residing thirteen miles southwest of here, was cremated in his own home Friday. The origin of the fire is unknown and at the coroner's inquest the cause of his death was decided as accidental. Many of his friends and neighbors are of the opinion that there was foul play in connection with his death.

APRIL BREAKS MANY RECORDS

Temperature for That Period Was Highest in Forty-Five Years.

Few "April Showers;" Mercury Was 81 Deg. on April 18.

Flowers and vegetables in the family garden are from two to three weeks ahead of the usual season, after the warmest April in forty-five years.

Weather Forecaster H. W. Richardson, in his monthly report shows that the mean temperature of 45.4 deg. was .7 deg above the previous high average of 44.7 deg, made in April, 1900. The weather averaged eleven degrees higher during the month just ended than in April, 1914.

April was an unusual month in several other ways, according to Mr. Richardson's report. It did not live up to its reputation for being "showery," as precipitation was only slightly more than half the normal amount. The ground was free from snow nearly all the time. By April 17 there was no ice of consequence in either the harbor or the lake.

On April 18, when the mercury touched the 81-deg. mark, it was within 1 deg of the highest point reached during April since 1870. The record was spoiled, however, by an 82-deg. registration on April 14, 1908. The lowest point reached during the month was 24 deg. on April 2.

High winds and fogs were not much in evidence during April, as shown by the report. There was a northeast gale April 20 and a west to northwest one on April 28-29. The wind reached a velocity of fifty-two miles on April 29. There were dense fogs on April 5, 23, 24, 25 and 27, and thunderstorms on 15, 23 and 24.

Despite the small amount of rain and the almost absolute lack of snow, there were only twelve clear days in the thirty. Ten were partly cloudy and eight were cloudy. But 0.1 of an inch of snow fell during the month, although the average for April in Duluth is four inches. There was 1.25 inches of rain, the average being 2.14 inches.

"An ideal month for homecrofters" was the way April was described by the weather prophet. Following the warm weather and sun, the rain of the last two days will delight the heart of the gardener. There was no evidence of heavy or killing frost during the month, to scare out sprouts and buds, and in another week or two Duluth will be complexioned as in midsummer.

BUSINESS BETTER IN THE NORTHWEST

Greater Activity Noted in All Lines, Says Federal Bank Official.

Business conditions over the entire Northwest have shown a decided improvement during the last month, in the opinion of John H. Rich, agent of the Ninth district Federal Reserve bank at Minneapolis. The growth of a healthy spirit of optimism is a noticeable feature, he avers. Business men are not only talking more prosperous conditions, he finds, but they believe that improvement is beginning to manifest itself, and are looking forward to a more active condition than has prevailed for many months.

"Banks are in strong condition and are well prepared to meet the more active demands of the spring months. Interest rates are normal and money is easy," says the Federal reserve agent in his monthly report.

Crop Outlook Good.

"Agricultural conditions may be regarded as particularly good," it says. "It was feared that the late spring might have some effect on the planting of small grain, but seeding has progressed so rapidly that wheat is in over the entire district, and is already from two to four inches high in many districts. The seeding of oats is well along toward completion and farmers are busy preparing their corn lands. Southern Minnesota and Wisconsin will show an increase in corn acreage this year. The crop is going into the ground under especially favorable soil conditions. During the past ten days the weather has been warm with light to heavy rains over the whole territory. Western North Dakota, which was the only area in which there was doubt as to proper moisture conditions, has had heavy rains.

"Grain experts and farmers agree that, in spite of the late spring, small grains were as well advanced on May 1 as is usual at that date. Seed has germinated more quickly than in previous seasons and the weather has been favorable to giving the grain crops strong root and a healthy start.

"It is noticeable that there is an increased activity in the land business, over practically all of the district, with a very satisfactory inquiry in Southern Minnesota and the Dakotas, where land business has been depressed for a considerable period, and present conditions are taken as an indication that there will be less hesitation on the part of investors in farm property. Healthy building activities are in progress, but they seem to have little effect, so far, upon the depressed lumber business, which is still far below normal, with no prospect for an immediate improvement.

Merchants' Stocks Low.

"Country merchandise stocks are low, due to the increasing custom of carrying lighter stocks than in former years and due to the apparent desire over the entire district to keep stocks well in hand and depend upon quick delivery from wholesale points to take care of current necessities. There is, however, a healthy activity in spring goods, and buyers are already beginning to show interest in goods for fall delivery. Conditions in the wholesale trade are normal in all lines, except wholesale hardware, which is active and in very good condition.

"Manufacturing conditions in the Ninth district are very good, with the exception of the manufacturing centers in Wisconsin, which, although they show some improvement, are still feeling the effect of the slowing down due to the war.

"The annual lake movement at Duluth has begun in usual volume. Grain and ore are moving down the lakes and coal cargoes are being received at the Duluth-Superior storage docks. Reports indicate that there is an unusually large accumulation of package freight at the lower lake ports for movement to and through Duluth west.

"The iron districts of Northern Michigan are still depressed, although there is a general feeling that conditions will shortly improve. There is increased activity on the iron ranges of Northern Minnesota and the expectation is that, while shipments will not reach a normal level this year, this season will be more active and conditions better than last year. Construction on the new plant of the steel company at Duluth has been resumed.

"The copper district of Northern Michigan is producing every pound of copper possible and the mines are working full shifts. There is no unemployed labor and conditions are very excellent."

"We will go along the south shore to Bark Bay, according to present plans," said Commander Guy A. Eaton today. "The ship will leave Duluth Saturday evening and return the following evening, so that the Pine City men may reach home before Monday morning."

Ship drill and target practice will keep the men busy while they are aboard ship.

Killed by Burglar.

Birmingham, Ala., May 3.—Dr. Chiles Clifton Ferrell, president of the West Pratt Mining company and a noted Southern author and educator, was killed by a burglar with a shotgun yesterday at Praco, a mining camp near here. He is survived by a widow and two children. Bloodhounds were put on the trail and two hours later two negroes were captured about a mile from the camp. One of them had a shotgun.

CANADA CLAMPS LID ON ALL GRAIN SHIPMENTS

Startling Order Issued By Dominion Government at Ottawa.

May Signify Shortage or Preparation for Prolonged War.

Canada has clamped down the lid on shipments of grain from that country, and, according to a dispatch received here today, the closest restriction will be enforced.

Just what the move portends is a problem, but it is expected that it will have a depressing effect on the Canadian grain market for a time at least; while the contrary may be the case on this side of the line.

The dispatch, which was received just at the close of the market here today, came to a vessel concern, and reads as follows:

"Ottawa has just notified shippers that grain cannot leave Canada for the states unless it is for domestic consumption. Exports cannot leave Canada for the United Kingdom unless specified consignees are named; nor to any foreign country unless under Ottawa permit."

"Domestic consumption," as mentioned in the dispatch, is taken as meaning Canadian consumption, the grain merely passing through American ports on its way to Canadian points other than the point of origin.

This being a holiday in Canada, the markets there are closed, so the effect of the order was not felt in the market today, but tomorrow's market is likely to see fireworks as a result.

The Ottawa order is taken as meaning that Canada is either very short of grain or that a long and trying war is looked for, Canada and the United Kingdom needing every bushel that the dominion now has available and can produce.

This is the most sensational order that the grain market has received since the war broke out, and traders here are in a quandary as to just what effect it will have. Some look for a decline in the Winnipeg market tomorrow owing to the fact that under the order trading will be very much restricted; while others are of the opinion that it will cause a rise in prices owing to the fact that the order acknowledges an immense shortage.

about the gentleman who discovered God's true root. It's pretty good, is it not? Do not live a slave when you can find a cure.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 27, 1913.

To Whom it May Concern:

This is to testify that I, Fred Pecotte, after being bothered with my heart for fifteen years, but for the last three years I haven't been able to climb stairs without stopping for breath or to any exertion of any kind; my limbs used to swell and get cold and numb and I could hardly feel my pulse beat and also had chills, but having decided to try Prof. J. B. Fisete's treatment, and at the end of one week ran two blocks without any exhaustion, and at the end of two weeks was completely cured. I also have lost all desire for liquor and feel better than I have in twenty years.

I have doctored with nine or ten doctors and to no avail, as I was condemned by them all. I make this declaration for the benefit of others who are ailing the same as I had been. So do not let any doctor condemn you without seeing Prof. J. P. Fisete of Duluth. I really believe that he can cure you as he did me, as I feel like a purified and new man in the world. NASHWAUK MINES ARE STARTING UP

Married Men Are Given Preference in Work Offered.

Nashwauk, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The married men of this village are given preference at the different mines that are opening up. The Quinn-Harrison mine, operated by the Butler Bros., contractors, is employing between 150 and 200 men. The mine is working three shovels and four locomotives on two shifts. The majority of the men working at this mine were formerly employed by the company at their workings at Buhl and at Wakefield, Mich., and other places, and they take the preference at the jobs here. The mine began shipping ore last Tuesday and the washing plant that is now under construction will be completed within the next two months. Clearings for houses and dams for water power, etc., are also being completed.

The Hawkins mine started one shovel cleaning up the open pit preparatory to shipping ore. In the neighborhood of 100 men are now employed. The men given employment first are the old hands that have worked with the company for years. The addition to the washing plant will be commenced soon, but it is not known definitely when the property will commence shipping.

Crosby Mine Resumes.

The Crosby mine, which has been closed all winter, started working Tuesday with about thirty-five men. Tracks, clearing and pipe lines are being completed and the steel for the washing plant will be here soon, when the work of erection will commence. The married men and old hands are being given the preference.

The La Rue mine is employing about fifty men in remodeling the washing plant and other improvements to the property before shipping time.

ALBORN FARMERS HOLD MEETING

Several Duluthians were in attendance Saturday at the annual meeting of the Alborn Farmers' club which was held at the Alborn school. Among others were H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent, N. A. Young, county superintendent of school, H. B. Hursh, assistant county superintendent of schools, L. A. Ink, principal of the county's unorganized school system.

The meeting was well attended by farmers from the vicinity. In referring to the gathering, County Agent Larson had the following to say today:

"The farmers began to arrive at the school shortly before noon. They were accompanied by their families. The big room in the basement of the school which is used for such occasions was filled to capacity. A fine dinner, that might well be termed a banquet, was served.

"After the meal, Supt. Young, who with his party were on their way to the range, gave a short talk. This was followed by a program presented by the school children after which there was an election of officers. President Gust Truman and Secretary Charles Sahelin were re-elected. The county agent then gave a talk on "Co-operation," after which a debate ensued between Ed Hovis and F. F. Myklebye on the subject, "Is Socialism Better Than the Present Order of Things?"

"This community owns two pure bred Guernsey sires, one threshing outfit, and a gas tractor and separator. The tractor is also used for road grading. The township also has one of the best co-operative telephone lines in the county. A short time ago local talent, aided by two of the Alborn school teachers successfully presented a play which raised the sum of $32.

"At the evening meeting, the social side again predominated. Young and old enjoyed the occasion."

WITNESS INSISTS J. W. OSBORNE WAS THE MAN

New York, May 3.—Frank D. Safford, the aged hotel clerk, indicted on a charge of perjury in connection with his identification of James W. Osborne, a well known criminal lawyer, as the man who registered with Miss Rae Tanzer at a Plainfield, N. J., hotel last October, reiterated on the stand today in his own defense that Osborne was the man he had seen at the hotel with the girl. He said: "I have looked at Mr. Osborne in court since then and the more I have looked at him the more I am convinced that he is the man and I won't take it back. I didn't do it for pay and I have not committed any perjury."

Oratorical Contest Abandoned.

Jamestown, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual intercollegiate oratorical contest heretofore held between North Dakota and South Dakota, under the direction of the Western League of Oratory, will not be held this year, the league having been abandoned. As a result, Bruce Pollock of Fargo college, winner of the state intercollegiate oratorical contest held here, has no further honors to seek this year.

William Landis of Jamestown college, won second, and Clemens Kelsch of the state university, third place in the contest.

CLEAN-UP WORK TO BE PUSHED

General Committee Plans Campaign for Week of May 9-15.

Business Men Interviewed By Committee; Enthusiasm Is General.

The general committee on "clean-up and paint-up" week activities held a meeting during the noon hour at the Commercial club today, and its members grew enthusiastic over the excellent reports received. Further arrangements were made for pushing the campaign for civic improvement during the designated week of May 9-15, and it is found that there is a much greater disposition on the part of business men than ever before to co-operate in the movement.

Frank X. Gravel, chairman of the special committee on personal inspection, made a report to E. W. Russell, chairman of the general committee in which he has changed the subscription to his letters and reports from "boostingly yours" to "yours for cleanliness." Mr. Gravell reported that the committee, which consists of himself, R. D. Annis, C. H. Kelley, F. J. Nixon, and M. R. Bush, have had personal interviews with nearly every merchant from Eighth avenue west to Lakeside and from Mesaba avenue on West First street to Eighth avenue east, also on all avenues and streets in between, and clear down to the aerial bridge. He says that the committee has been much gratified and surprised on the amount of clean-up work already done; and that many merchants are getting in line to paint the fronts of their stores, and some, to improve the interiors. The committee complimented those whom they found keeping neat windows and stores interiors, and urged improvement upon those who were found not so precocious. The committee is today on the work of finishing its campaign, calling on merchants from Fourteenth avenue east on Fourth street to Fifth avenue west and also intervening avenues; and from Eighth avenue west to West Duluth. The committee expects to get through with this work by Wednesday evening. The committee is listing places it finds that need special attention, and, following the week of cleaning up, fifteen auto owners will inspect the city by wards and districts, and will report the names of those who have neglected to answer the civic call for cleanliness.

Slides for Theaters.

The committee today arranged to have slides displayed at every theater in the city showing motion pictures, these slides urging the observers to get busy and help during clean-up week. The street railway company will be asked to carry cards on the rear of cars, urging the same thing, and jobbers and retailers have been requested to enclose, in all local correspondence, cards calling the attention of those to whom they write to clean-up and paint-up week. Retail stores will display in their windows cards prepared by the window trimmers' association, boosting the movement.

West End Work Separate.

The clean-up committee will not interfere in the work of cleaning and painting the West end, owing, it is announced, to the fact that the West End Commercial club has been taking such an active part in the work and that it has it well in hand.

Reports to the committee today show that the best kind of co-operation is being given the movement by the city health authorities, the Housewives' league, the Woman's council, neighborhood clubs and other organizations.

FEW MEN NOW OUT OF WORK

City Jobs Will Give Employment to All, Says Mayor Prince.

Transients Either Given Work or Have Already Left City.

There is no unemployment problem in Duluth at the present time, according to Mayor Prince.

The city executive declared this morning that residents of Duluth, who have been out of work during the last winter and this spring, are now employed and that there are but a few cases of unemployment in the entire city. These men, he said, will be employed within the next week on four or five paving jobs and the construction of several sanitary sewers in various parts of the city.

Transients, who were out of work, he said, are either employed or have left the city, there being very few reported unemployed.

"Conditions at the present time, said Mayor Prince, "are far better than at any time since last fall. From what I have been able to find out, most of the Duluth men, who were out of work, are now employed, while the transients are reported to have left the city, or are working on the lakes and docks.

"Those few, who are still out of work, will find good employment on street paving and sewer construction work after a week or two. June 1 we don't expect to find an unemployed men in the entire city, unless he does not seek work."

WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Ionic Lodge Will Hold Silver Jubilee Friday, May 14.

Members of Ionic Lodge No. 186, A. F. and A. M., will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the formal organization of the local body at a dinner and entertainment to be held at the Masonic temple on Friday evening, May 14.

Harry M. Burnham, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Minnesota, and officers of the body are expected to attend the celebration, while Robert E. Denfeld, past grand master of the state, will also be one of the honorary guests. The entertainment will be open to members of Ionic lodge and their wives.

Ionic lodge was organized in 1889, but the charter was not granted until Jan. 16, 1890. Several weeks ago the members voted to hold a silver anniversary celebration, and Chauncey H. Colton, master of the lodge, appointed a committee consisting of W. D. Underhill, Sheldon H. Fraser and J. Harris Trux to make the necessary arrangements.

Many of the charter members are still living and these will be among the honor guests of the evening. Special invitations are also to be extended to all the past masters of the organization who are now alive.

The celebration will open with a dinner at 7 o'clock, during which time a 25-piece orchestra will play a program of selections. Music will also be furnished by a quartet and several prominent soloists.

During the evening addresses will be made by Grand Master Burnham, Mr. Denfeld and many of the charter members and past presidents of the lodge.

GOVERNMENT WILL CONSTRUCT DREDGE

Secretary of War Approves Order Despite Opposition to It.

The Duluth district of the war department will have a government dredge despite objections, Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war, having decided that it is necessary.

In a letter received here today from Secretary Garrison, this was announced, the secretary saying:

"I beg to inform you that after careful consideration of this matter, I have reached the conclusion that the interests of the government are such as to make the construction of the dredge very desirable and that private interests will not be sufficiently injured thereby to warrant me in withholding my approval. I have, therefore, authorized the chief of engineers to proceed with the construction of the dredge."

When a government dredge was proposed and urged, dredging companies strenuously opposed it, setting forth that the dredge would take care of so much government work on Lake Superior that the remaining government work will be so small in amount that it would be unprofitable for any dredging company to maintain a dredge on Lake Superior and the consequence will be that private interests will have no means of having their dredging done; also there is no necessity for such a dredge and that it would be poor business judgment on the part of the government.

The chief of engineers, Dan C. Kingman, reported favorably on the dredge matter and after setting forth his reasons for it, summarized them as follows:

"No additional authority of congress is necessary for the construction of the dredge and its construction would be entirely in accordance with numerous precedents.

"The claim that the construction of the government dredge will take care of so much of the government work on Lake Superior that the private dredges will be driven off the lake is entirely without foundation in fact.

"There is urgent necessity for the construction of the dredge in order to facilitate navigation, and a large saving to the government in the cost of the work will result from the construction of the dredge.

"The money which would be spent for the construction of the dredge will not otherwise be spent this year and the number of men who will be employed will be increased rather than diminished by the construction of the dredge.

Conditions of employment on government dredges are generally more attractive than on private dredges and the men employed thereon are well satisfied."

REPORT UNFOUNDED.

No Truth in Statement That Belgian Supplies Are Held Up.

London, May 3.—The American commission of Belgian relief says there is no truth in the report published by the Daily Mail in a dispatch from Rotterdam, saying barges loaded with the commission's supplies are being held at Rotterdam because of friction with the German authorities.

These barges have been diverted, the committee explains, because the warehouses in Belgium hold food for one month ahead. The cargoes now being discharged are to be stored in Rotterdam.

BACK TO 1689

It is indeed gratifying to note the return of the furniture manufacturer to the reproduction of the works of the old masters. The early part of the Queen Anne period, or rather the Anglo-Dutch, brought this variation of the English Renaissance in furniture. This design transferred to England from the Netherlands.

Built of solid quarter sawed oak throughout in a beautiful Kaiser gray finish.

Positively nothing better to be had.

GRAND FORKS, N. D. SCHOOL CONTEST

Property Owners Object to to Elaborate Building Plans Proposed.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city is involved in a lively school contest, the result of the board of education's proposed construction of a new high school at a cost of about $100,000, complete.

Bids for a thirty-six-room building, without making provision for either a gymnasium or an auditorium, recognized as essentials to high schools at this time, have been received, the tender by the Grey Construction company of Watertown, S. D., of $169,000, for the general contract, being the lowest offer. In addition to this, the lowest plumbing and heating bid is $33,000, making the total $202,000, with the electric wiring contract still untouched.

This afternoon the board will meet for the purpose of taking final action on the question of acquiring a site for the school, and $61,000 is the price that it is expected will have to be paid for the ground chosen.

Property Owners Object.

With the total cost of $263,000 for the building with auditorium and gymnasium, including the site, and with this building now under consideration, only one unit of a general scheme of construction by which it is expected to create a school center for the city at an ultimate cost of about $1,000,000, property owners are against the movement.

Opposition to the plan is based on the plea that the city is not in need of such an elaborate structure, that the plans contemplated are extravagant, and that depopulation of other buildings would be necessary to fill the new structure.

GIRL'S MOTHER IS HER SISTER-IN-LAW

Matrimonial Mix-up at McClusky, N. D., That Is Being Probed.

McClusky, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—There may be prosecutions here because of the marriage two months ago of a girl who will not be 15 years old until May 15. An official investigation has been started. Pauline Semmlar was married to Jacob Roth several weeks ago. Her mother, who had been twice widowed, is also married to a man named Roth. Her husband and the husband of the daughter being brothers. The state law prohibits the marriage of girls under 15, even with the consent of the parents of the bride.

Too Young to Marry.

Chaseley, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Summerville and Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobson of this place were greatly chagrined when Judge Jansonius of Fessenden refused to issue a marriage license to Summerville to marry the 14-year-old daughter of the Jacobsons. The child is as large as the ordinary 18-year-old girl, but the laws prohibit marriages of children of that age. Summerville first endeavored to secure a license, then came back and secured the consent of the parents without any more success. The prospective bride will not be 15 until in November.

N. D. Action Against Railroad Comes Up May 18.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The temporary injunction granted by Judge Pollock of the district court against the Northern Pacific road to prevent liquor shipments into North Dakota, which was good until today, has by stipulation of the attorneys, been continued until May 18 by Judge Amidon of the United States court to which the case was transferred on application of the attorneys for the road.

The action was brought by Attorney General Linde and is the first test ever made of the Webb-Kenyon law in combination with a state law to prevent the shipment of liquor from a license state to a dry state.

The action is attracting the attention of the prohibition workers all over the United States and especially of this state, who are anxious to see how the law will work out.

Has Another Move.

If all legal proceedings under the injunction proceedings fail, the attorney general has a final trump card. He and the state's attorneys can bring blanket proceedings, seize each liquor shipment and hold it until the consignee satisfies the shipment is purely for private use. This would be expensive and tedious, but would have a tendency to prevent shipments for sale and also to discourage private parties from receiving shipments because of the annoyance and notoriety involved.

All Germs Ordered To Beat it!—Git!

Searching Influence of a Remedy That Works Wonders.

The introduction of S. S. S. is at once a command to blood impurities to find a way out.

And what are blood impurities? They may be the hypersecretions found in the mucous linings of the body; they may be acid accumulations known as rheumatism; they may be boils, pimples, eczema, acne and stubborn, indolent sores.

But examined closely, they are all germs that have gotten the upper hand and it requires the flushing influence of S. S. S. to drive them out. And out they go when S. S. S. begins to circulate in the blood. It only requires five minutes to begin this influence, for it is a fact that in this limited time S. S. S. may be traced in the urine, in the perspiration, in the efflorescence from the lungs to show that it is at work. Germs, mind you, are of various kinds, but all are foreign to health and S. S. S. is no respecter of destructive germs, it drives them all out, of whatsoever name they go by. Just get a bottle of S. S. S. of any druggist and soon you will observe a decided change. And if yours is a stubborn case, write to the Medical Adviser, care of The Swift Specific Co., 167 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. He is a regular physician, proud of his name by virtue of his distinguished family and is recognized as a foremost physician on his own merit.

MAY BE PROSECUTED UNDER FEDERAL LAW

St. Cloud, Minn., May 3.—William Denn, Charles Czarnetski and William Edmunds, Sauk Rapids men, charged with shooting ducks and freed in the justice court, may be prosecuted on a Federal charge if information reaching this city is to be believed. It is understood that warrants have been sworn out for violation of the Federal law protecting migratory birds and that the cases will come up at the Fergus Falls term of the Federal court.

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Every housewife finds the disposition of left overs a most perplexing problem. K C Beef Roll will go a long ways toward helping you out when the family get tired of hash and stews. You really ought to try it for supper tonight or tomorrow night at the latest. 45

Beef Roll, K C Style

Three cups flour; 1 teaspoonful salt; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ cup shortening; sweet milk; 1 cup each, chipped cooked beef and ham; 1 teaspoonful mixed mustard; 2 beaten eggs; grating of onion; ¼ teaspoonful each, salt and pepper; broth or water.

Make a biscuit dough of the flour, salt, K C baking powder, shortening and milk, and roll into a sheet half an inch thick, having the ends even. Mix the other ingredients by themselves, using liquid as needed to make a paste. Spread the paste over the dough and roll like a jelly roll. Bake in a buttered pan about forty minutes. Brush over the outside with a little beaten egg left for the purpose and return to the oven to brown. Serve hot with a rich brown sauce. Other meats, such as chicken or veal, alone, or in combination, may be used. The onion and mustard may be omitted.

SUPERIOR IS MALICIOUS

Red Hose Defeat White Sox By Cruel Score of 16 to 6.

The Early Season Game Is Played in a Howling Gale.

O'Brien's ball club received a fine licking at the hands of the Curtis clan yesterday afternoon at Athletic park, being done, browned and then turned over by the amazing score of 16 to 6.

The well known house painter's crowd just ran all over the Dooks and then packed up their bats and went home. That is about all there was to the game.

Croake, Collins and Williams gathered nine of the twelve hits accumulated during the gale-strewn matinee. The other members of the team failed to shine with the war club. The visitors piled up thirteen nicks, their blows being distributed more evenly among the members of the clan than those of the Dooklets.

Murray, Barr and Jones took turns on the hill and none of the trio showed much. Arnett and Brannon slabbed around a bit for the visitors and kept the hits of the domesticated heroes well scattered.

Quidding, the former Fitwell player, was on third and accepted two chances without a skip, also getting into the hit column.

About 400 fans braved the wrath of the elements and watched from the grandstand. Some wore fur coats and others wore horrid scowls. Life is hard, but we must be brave.

The result in detail:

COMISKEY LOST JUST $13,000 ON THIS BOY

LARRY CHAPPELLE.

This player was bought for $18,000 by Charles Comiskey and sold for $5,000. Some big league finance, that. Just as soon as Chappelle got back on the Milwaukee team he hit the first ball pitched for a home run. Maybe he doesn't like Comny. You never can tell, these days.

WILLARD GOT A LATE START AT CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE

Present World's Champion Is the Oldest, Save Two, of All Modern Pugilists to Win the Highest Honors of Boxing.

Jess Willard is not the youngest man who has ever trod the devious road to the heavyweight championship.

Instead of being one of the youngest men to win the heavyweight championship of the world in modern times, Willard ranks fifth in age among the last seven champions.

Willard is 28 years of age, four years older than John L. Sullivan and James J. Jeffries were when they climbed to the top, two years older than James J. Corbett was when he scaled the big wall and three years older than Tommy Burns was when he slipped his head into the vacated crown.

Jess is two years younger than Johnson was when he defeated Burns and four years younger than the negro was when he won the undisputed world's heavyweight championship by defeating Jeffries. He is seven years younger than Fitzsimmons was when the laurel was laid on his bald pate.

Fits a Real Veteran.

John L. Sullivan was 24 years of age when he knocked out Paddy Ryan in the ninth round of their fight at Mississippi City and won the championship. James J. Corbett was 26 when he knocked John L. out in the twenty-first round at New Orleans.

Fitzsimmons was an old man, comparatively speaking, when he laid Corbett low in the fourteenth round at Carson City. Jeffries was 24 when he knocked Fitzsimmons out in the eleventh round at Coney Island.

Then came a pause in championship history. Jeffries retired the undefeated heavyweight champion and passed the title on to Marvin Hart. What right he had to give the title away has never been unquestionably established. So Tommy Burns fought Hart, and was 25 when he defeated him at Los Angeles in twenty rounds, gaining a referee's decision.

Jess in Few Fights.

Johnson chased Burns around the world and finally cornered him in Australia, and at the age of 30 lifted a disputed championship. It was not until two years later, when 32, that Johnson really slipped into the regal robes by stopping Jeffries in the fifteenth round at Reno.

However, Willard has the distinction of being a fighter who fought fewer fights of even passing consequence before winning the championship than any other man.

The following shows how old the various heavyweight champions were at the time of scoring their titular victories, beginning with John L. Sullivan:

Fighter.	Defeated.	Age.
John L. Sullivan	Ryan	24
James J. Corbett	Sullivan	26
Fitzsimmons	Corbett	35
James J. Jeffries	Fitzsimmons	24
"Tommy" Burns	Hart	25
"Jack" Johnson	Burns	30
"Jack" Johnson	Jeffries	32
Jess Willard	Johnson	28

SENSATIONAL WEEK IN BIG LEAGUES; FIGHT, JUMPS, INJURIES

New York, May 3.—Baseball records would have to be searched to find a stormier week than the one just ended. The weather was none too propitious for the game and postponements were numerous. But the atmospheric disturbances were as nothing to those of other sorts that swirled and eddied over this particular field of sport.

The biggest commotion of the week caused by the jump of Benny Kauff, star outfielder of the Federal league, to the New York Nationals and the subsequent complications ending with the relinquishment of the Giants' claims to him and his indefinite suspension from the Federals, is now largely a matter of history. For a while, however, it looked as if baseball was in for one of the biggest fights in its annals, with raids and possible counter-raids on playing forces threatening to complicate the situation indescribably. The first blows struck this season were on Saturday, the participants being National League Umpire Charles Rigler and Manager Charles Herzog of Cincinnati, a broken nose for Herzog being one reported outcome of the affray.

Broken noses, indeed, were something of a feature during the week. Besides the reported injury to the Cincinnati manager, Pitcher "Poll" Perritt of the New York Nationals suffered a similar hurt in a collision with another player Saturday in Philadelphia, while Birdie Cree of the New York Americans is out of the game with an injury of the same painful sort, recently sustained. Casualties of other kinds included a dislocated arm for Fred Merkle of the Giants and a spiked leg for Third Baseman Lobert of the same team. McGraw's club has a long list of injured just now.

In playing merits of the week, the performance of the New York Americans stand pre-eminent. The Yankees played four games and won them all and the unwonted spectacle was presented yesterday of the Yankees at the top of the standing in the American league with the Giants at the bottom in the National, a condition of affairs that has so often been reversed as to give this season's record so far a topsy-turvy appearance.

During the week the Chicago Americans began fulfilling anticipations and reeled off six victories, as against only one defeat. The six thus worked up to third place, while the Detroits, who fell off notably, lost first position.

The clash between Louisville and Indianapolis, leaders in the American association, resulted in an even break and left the teams on even terms. Northrop's clever pitching gave the Colonels the final game. Milwaukee's champions braced up during the week and, aided by Chappelle, climbed back into the running.

HERZOG, BEATEN UP, ASKS RIGLER PUNISHED

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—Manager Charles Herzog of the Cincinnati Nationals, who on Saturday engaged in a fist fight with Umpire Rigler on the local National league field, announced last night he would not play another game in which Rigler appeared until the umpire had been punished just as a ball player would be for such conduct.

Herzog watched yesterday's game from the players' bench, nursing a badly bruised face.

WARREN BASEBALL CLUB REORGANIZED

TO COMPLETE NEW TWIN LAKES BRIDGE

Work on the new Twin Lakes bridge will be completed within the next few days, and travel will then be resumed on the boulevard, which had been blocked all spring because of the improvements being made by the park department.

The two lakes, lying on either side of the roadway at Thirteenth avenue west, have been restored by Park Manager Cleveland, and a new dam has been constructed, with a culvert under the new bridge joining the lakes.

The two lakes will be stocked with fish, so that the youngsters in that vicinity will be able to fish under proper restrictions.

BILL WENDLANDT IS AFTER NATIONAL HANDBALL TITLE

Plans are under way toward arranging a handball contest between Bill Wendlandt and the best player that can be found in the United States.

Dr. Floyd Clark recently won the handball tournament conducted on the Y. M. C. A. courts. Wendlandt remained out of the play, simply because he wanted to let some of the other players win it.

Saturday Clark and Wendlandt engaged in a contest, Wendlandt defeating the winner of the recent tournament by the scores of 21 to 7 and 21 to 10. So impressed with the form and ability of Wendlandt are all of the Duluth players that they are bent on forcing the best amateur player in the country to meet the doughty Duluthian, and have proposed that a series of contests be arranged on the neutral courts of Chicago.

John Kay, the St. Paul star, defeated Wendlandt a year ago on the St. Paul Y. M. C. A. courts. Previous to that Wendlandt had staked Kay to a decisive beating on the local courts. Wendlandt also defeated George Sudheimer here in a practice game. Kay stoutly refused to be lured, enticed or inveigled into playing. Wendlandt's friends are out with a defi to any player in the country, proposing that a contest be arranged for neutral courts.

There is little question but that the local star is one of the greatest players in the country. His one defeat in recent years is the one received at the hands of the elongated Kay. All overtures to Kay for a return game has been spurned. Now Bill's friends are ready to permit any amateur player in the land come in on the challenge. Local players are not in the same class with old Bill, when he gets steamed up. He has a wizardly ability to cover the court and it is a most difficult ball

DOOKS OFF ON WEDNESDAY

Darby Will Lead His Cohorts to Winnipeg for Opening Game.

Darby O'Brien, the fleet second baseman, will lead his ball players into the land of the enemy during the week. The Northern league baseball season will open on Thursday. On Wednesday evening the Dook and his cohorts will leave here for Winnipeg, where Duluth will play the opening contest.

Yesterday's and Saturday's games with Superior were to have served in the role of tryouts for some of the uncertain pitching candidates. The game of Saturday was not played owing to the fact that J. Pluvius staged a party and the gale and arctic tendencies of yesterday made real pitching both an agony and foolhardy performance.

Right now the Dook does not know which of the members of his flinging staff he will retain. How should he? The L. O. has not had the opportunity of trying them out.

Call for Mr. Sutton.

"Front, please page Mr. Sutton."

It seems that Darby is beginning to get shady regarding the far corner of the diamond. Young Mr. Quidding has been doing fairly well so far, but then you can't tell, etc. So Saturday Darby put in a wire hasten for a lad of the name of Sutton. This buck played in the Kansas State league last year. The league went busted, is defunct, non est, et cetera, and Sutton is on the market. Perhaps as these words are being penned he is on the train.

There is a possibility of another game being staged with Superior. If this contest is played, Tuesday is the day set down on the calendar.

Just before starting for the Wednesday evening train Darby O'Brien may untie some of the cords that bind—in other words, let out some of the pressent members of the squad. It will cost money to lug all of the boys up to the Peg, and if there is going to be releasing or option loosening it might as well be done right here at home.

SMALLWOOD WAS ELECTED

Majority Opinion of District Court Upholds Preferential Ballot System.

Judge Cant Dissents, Holding There Was No Valid Election.

Upholding by a majority ruling the validity of the preferential system of voting as applied to the office of municipal judge, the district court late Saturday afternoon ratified the election of Capt. W. H. Smallwood as the presiding officer of the city court, notwithstanding the claims of W. L. Windom, incumbent, to the contrary.

The court quashed the temporary writ of mandamus secured by Judge Windom against the city council directing that a certificate of election be issued to him instead of to Capt. Smallwood, who was declared elected to the office after a canvass of the votes cast at the last municipal election on April 6.

The action of the court in quashing the writ removes the only legal obstacle preventing Capt. Smallwood from assuming the duties of the office. Capt. Smallwood has already filed his oath of office with the clerk and has otherwise qualified.

Although the three judges who passed upon the mandamus case concurred in the opinion that the writ should be quashed and Judge Windom's prayer of relief denied, the court was divided on the question of whether the preferential system of balloting was the proper method to be followed in the selection of a municipal judge, in view of the fact that a municipal judge is an officer of a state court, or a state officer.

May Adopt Any System.

Judges Dancer and Fesler held to the opinion that the electors of Duluth have the right to elect their municipal judge in any manner not prohibited by the statute or the Constitution, and that the power to determine the manner and method of selecting public officials is inherent in the people. The prevailing opinion also held that the Duluth home rule charter under which the election of municipal judge was held contained nothing inconsistent with the statute which provides for the election of a municipal judge in Duluth.

Judge Cant, in a dissenting opinion, held that there was no valid election of any person as municipal judge. He concurred in the decision of the court to quash the writ, but not for the reason given in the majority opinion.

Judge Windom, who instituted the mandamus proceedings, urged the claim that he was the legal choice of the electorate by virtue of his plurality of first choice votes, he having received more first choice votes cast at the late election than any other candidate in the running. However, when the second and third choice votes were counted, he was third in the race, Capt. Smallwood securing a plurality of all choices.

Judge Windom objected to the canvass of the second and third choice votes on the theory that the preferential system of balloting did not apply to the office of municipal judge, an officer of the state court. His contention was that he should be elected in the same manner as is provided for other state officers, and that only first choice votes should be counted in determining who is elected.

Majority Opinion.

The majority opinion of the court, signed by Judges Dancer and Fesler, is as follows:

"Chapter 102 general laws 1913, provides that the qualified electors of the city of Duluth shall, at the general municipal election to be held on the first Tuesday in April, 1916, elect a municipal judge.

"No provision is made by statute for the manner or method of holding that election. But at the date of the enactment of chapter 102, a home-rule charter existed in the city of Duluth which did provide the method and manner of holding that specific general municipal election. That charter had the status of a statute, and the courts take judicial notice of it. The statute of 1913 and the charter are to be construed together. There is nothing in the charter inconsistent with the statute. Both may stand intact. No statute provides for the election of the municipal judge, except at our general municipal election, and no statute provides any election machinery for such an election.

"The power to determine the manner and method of selecting public officials is inherent in the people. Except as the exercise of that power has been prohibited or restricted by the constitution, it remains in the people. And except as the exercise of that power has been prohibited or restricted by statute, its exercise in determining the manner and method of conducting their own municipal election remains in the people of Duluth. They have exercised their power by the adoption of a charter which contains a complete system for electing officers who are to be elected at their general municipal election, including the judge of the municipal court. That charter was in existence when chapter 102, general laws 1913, was enacted.

Is a State Court.

"It is true that the municipal court is a state court and its judge is a state officer. Yet the legislature, by the provisions of chapter 102, above mentioned, has delegated to the qualified electors of the City of Duluth the right and duty of electing such judge, without naming any restrictions as to the manner of so doing. By that act, the legislature has said to have acted, either having in mind our preferential system of voting and intending that the judge should be elected thereby, or intending impliedly to delegate to the city the right to do all things necessary or convenient to carry into effect the duty so expressly delegated. There is no constitutional or statutory prohibition or restriction against the preferential system of voting.

"In substance, our conclusions are, that the state, represented by its legislature, has delegated to the electors of Duluth the right to elect its municipal judge in any manner not prohibited by the constitution, and that the electors have decided to elect him by the preferential system of voting, in the same manner as they have chosen to elect their own municipal officers.

"We have not attempted to do more in this memorandum than to indicate in a general way our view of the ultimate question to be decided. Some of the other points argued are more or less persuasive, according to the view one takes of the main question.

"In our opinion, W. H. Smallwood has been duly elected to the office of municipal judge of the city of Duluth, and is entitled to assume and perform the duties of that office."

Dissenting Opinion.

Judge Cant's dissenting opinion is contained in a separate memorandum. It is as follows:

"In my opinion—1. The questions here involved may appropriately be considered and determined in mandamus proceedings.

"2. There was no valid election of any person to the office of municipal judge at the late election, and for that reason the writ should be quashed.

"Aside from the foregoing, I respectfully dissent from the conclusions reached the majority opinion herein."

Although Judge Windom declared that he would take no steps to restrain Capt. Smallwood from assuming the duties of municipal judge, he also stated today that he would appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the district court judges and would also prosecute the contest suit case now before the courts. The contest case is one which was brought in the name of John Brown, Jr., against Capt. Smallwood. Judge Windom, however, is the party of interest from the contestant's standpoint.

Capt. Smallwood expressed satisfaction as to the decision. "I was sure I was right in the matter," he declared "and the decision bears me out. Of course, I will have to fight the contest suit filed by John Brown, Jr., but I am confident that I will win that too." Capt. Smallwood is represented in the litigation by Attorney H. H. Phelps. Fryberger, Fulton & Spear are attorneys for Judge Windom.

NEW FARMERS ARE COMING IN

Forty Counties Send Reports to State Immigration Department.

Twenty-Six of Them Give a List of New Settlers.

Out of the forty counties which have reported to the state immigration department up to date, twenty-six report new farmers coming. Martin county leads with 100; Yellow Medicine comes next with from 30 to 40; Big Stone, 25 to 30; Pennington reports 29, and Blue Earth 28; the rest do not give an estimate, but simply say that a large number of new farmers are coming in.

Those just received are as follows:

Mower County.

All small grain and growing nicely. Ground is in good condition, with plenty of moisture. Ground is being prepared for corn, and as seeding conditions are ideal, the corn planting will be rushed. This county was never in such fine condition as at the present season, and the fruit crop promises to be an abundant one. Pastures are in fine condition, and cattle are doing well. The influx of Iowa farmers, both purchasers and tenants is greater than ever in the history of the county.

O. L. DORNBERG, Reporter.

Blue Earth County.

Seeding began about March 28 and the grain is well advanced at this time. Ground is in about a perfect condition. This is a good fruit country and the prospects are good for a large crop this year. No farm hands needed at present. About twenty-eight new farmers came in here this spring.

GEORGE ATCHISON, Reporter.

Dodge County.

Seeding began about April 12 and is coming on fine. All seeds are sprouting fine and early seeding is green. Ground was never in better condition. New farmers coming in.

PETER J. SCHWARG, Reporter.

Yellow Medicine County.

Seeding began about April 1 and is practically all done at this time. Ground is in splendid condition, with sufficient moisture to start grain well. No farm hands needed at present. Thirty to forty families from Iowa, Nebraska and other states came in here this spring.

G. W. ALLEN, Reporter.

Anoka County.

Seeding began April 1 and is all done. Ground is in good condition, with plenty of moisture at present. Farm help needed; wages $1.50 per day with board. Some new farmers coming in.

H. B. MINER, Reporter.

Houston County.

Small grain will all be in by May 1. Ground was never in better condition, with lots of moisture. Everything is coming along good. Grass is coming up thick on account lots of rain last fall, which gave it good roots to stand the winter. Six new farmers came in here this spring. No farm help needed at present.

C. H. MURPHY, Reporter.

Scott County.

Seeding began April 1 and is all done. Ground is in good condition, with sufficient moisture. No farm help needed at this time. Some new farmers coming in.

JOE RING, Reporter.

Hubbard County.

Seeding was finished about April 20. Ground was never in better condition, with just the right amount of moisture. Never had a better prospect for all kinds of crops. My Marquis wheat looks like a green meadow, and oats are up fine. Planted corn April 23. Alfalfa looking fine and is four inches high; clover nearly as high. Many farmers are coming in.

J. H. NIXON, Reporter.

Wabasha County.

Seeding began about April 12 and is all done. Ground is in good shape, with plenty of moisture. Have plenty of farm help at present.

H. V. SAGISSER, Reporter.

Steele County.

Seeding began about April 5 and was completed April 24. Ground was in fairly good condition for seeding, and there appears to be enough moisture for grain, but more would be better for grass. A small number of farmers coming in.

J. B. MORLEY, Reporter.

Winona County.

Seeding began April 18 and is about two-thirds done. Ground is in fine condition, but a little dry for hay and pasture. No farm help needed.

WILL ASSIST IN CLEAN-UP WORK

Farrell Orders Works' Employes to Give Their Aid.

Duluth's clean-up campaign will receive the active support of the public works division.

Commissioner Farrell announced that his department will do everything in its power to help in cleaning the city's yards and alleys and that he has given instructions to all his employes to give assistance wherever possible. In addition, the men on the streets will not dump the sweepings into vacant lots, but will cart them off every night in wagons. This plan will be followed throughout the summer, he said.

The commissioner has requested the public not to dump any rubbish on vacant lots or on the street and to especially refrain from burning this rubbish on the pavements. The fire ruins the surfacing, he said, as some of the pavements contain oil.

Streets are being flushed and swept every day and the city, he said, will do everything to keep public property clean throughout the summer.

In addition to the assistance of the works division, Duluthians will have the co-operation of the health department during the clean-up campaign.

GREAT GERMAN GUN OUT OF COMMISSION

One Used on Dunkirk Believed to Have Become Disabled.

Paris, May 2.—The official report given out by the French war department yesterday says that it is believed that the great German gun which has twice bombarded Dunkirk from a range of twenty-three and one-half miles, has been put out of action.

It also announces the bombardment by the French of one of the German forts at Metz, the Lorraine capital. The text of the statement follows:

There is no modification to report in the situation along the entire front.

Information received from a deserter, is to the effect that for about two months engineers of the Krupp gun works have been directing in the suburbs of Dixmude, where there has been no fighting for several months, the installation of a machine gun capable of firing a shell for a very long range. It is this gun which may have bombarded Dunkirk. The gun is believed to have a range of twenty-three and one-half miles.

"Only nine shells were fired on the second and last bombardment of the French seaport. There is reason to believe that the gun either has been damaged by a method of fire which the most powerful pieces do not resist a long time, or the continual presence of our aeroplanes has had the effect of stopping its fire.

"On our side, we bombarded one of the forts on the southern front of the camp at Metz Saturday."

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSIONS

CHAPTER VI.

In the preceding chapters it was stated that the company desired the people of the Twin Ports to be as well satisfied with its policy regarding extensions as they appear to be with its service. The policy of the company regarding extensions was stated and some facts were given bearing upon the matter.

Is it reasonable to expect the local company under the changed conditions to follow the old ruinous practice with regard to extensions that all other companies have been forced to abandon? Is it not a fact that many of our good people who are perfectly sincere in criticizing the company for what they consider an over-conservative extension policy are simply expressing a wish that this or that locality in which they are interested might have street car service without stopping to consider whether or not there is the least reason to expect it? It would almost seem as if such critics of the company's extension policy had fallen asleep during the time when the reckless building of street car extensions was the fashion and like Rip Van Winkle had awakened after twenty years wholly unmindful of the great change in conditions that had in the meantime taken place.

Up to the present time it has been the practice of street railways in American cities to charge a uniform fare regardless of distance traveled. Under this arrangement every passenger carried to or from the suburbs of the average American city is carried at a loss but this loss is made up to the company by the profit from carrying passengers who ride a shorter distance. This is an unscientific and inequitable arrangement and by reason of it the short riders are taxed to enable the suburbanite to obtain a low rate of fare. The only justification for such an arrangement is that it enables the man of limited means to live in the healthful suburbs and tends to prevent overcrowding in city centers. Few American people realize how much worse conditions might be in the overcrowded tenement districts of our cities had it not been for the American practice of charging uniform fares regardless of distance. The present tendency, however, seems to be very strongly toward the European, or zone, system and this is being brought about by the inability of the companies to get enough profit from their short riders to enable them to carry the load of their unprofitable extensions. The arrival of the "jitney bus," however, will do more to stop the building of extensions and to force American railways to the zone system than any other one thing that has yet happened in this country.

Pneumonia, The House Disease

THERE is by far a greater prevalence of pneumonia, per thousand population, in the southern part of the United States than in the northern part of Canada. Pneumonia is not a disease of cold climates or cold weather, as people commonly imagine; it is most frequent in temperate or warm climates and in the warmer part of the year when people still rely too much upon closed doors and windows and stoves to "protect" them from exposure.

An alarming epidemic of pneumonia in the canal zone among laborers on the Panama canal was thoroughly investigated by Dr. Gorgas, the famous sanitary head of our medical corps there. Gorgas found that men who slept in damp clothes, in drafty bunks, were no more susceptible to pneumonia than those who slept in dry clothes and sidestepped the drafty places. He found that weather conditions had nothing to do with the disease at all. The actual cause, as he demonstrated in a very practical manner, was simply too close crowding in the barracks. So soon as the men were housed in small, detached shacks the epidemic ceased. Dr. Gorgas noted the same result when he was summoned to The Rand in South Africa by the British government to stamp out an epidemic in that tropical district.

Pneumonia reaches its high water mark in March in America, that being the month when people are most susceptible to infection with the pneumococcus (pneumonia and "cold" germ), by reason of the winter's coddling.

"Catching cold," and "exposure," in the ordinary sense of those phrases, have no more to do with pneumonia and the other respiratory diseases than they have with hangnail or senility.

One in every five persons, healthy or ill, harbors virulent pneumococci in his mouth, nose or throat, and is, therefore, a potential distributor of infection.

It must be clearly understood that the pneumococcus, which in one case causes pneumonia, may express itself in another case as coryza ("simple head cold"), and vice versa. Also sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis and middle ear infection (running ear or acute gathering in the ear) must be looked upon as interchangeable expressions of pneumococcus infection in the majority of cases. Hence you never can tell what yours will be when you pick up the much too common "cold" germ.

Contact is the means of infection—personal contact. Kissing, swapping gums, pencils, personal articles of any kind recently contaminated with saliva, especially among children. Open face sneezing or coughing. Licking the fingers to facilitate handling papers or pages, then touching other hands with the contaminated fingers. And last, and least, we believe, expectorating in public places. We think this latter a much overdrawn evil, though common decency demands that expectoration in public shall be prohibited.

BURNTSIDE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Many Visitors Expected to Come to Ely During Summer.

Ely, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ely Burntside Outing company members held their annual meeting and officers were chosen as follows: G. T. Ayres, president; James I. Laing, vice president; Peter Schaefer, secretary; P. T. Brownell, treasurer; M. J. Murphy, director for three years. James Moonan and George L. Brozich are the other two members composing the board of directors.

The offer of the Duluth & Iron Range Telephone company to construct a telephone line to Burntside Lodge was accepted on a guarantee basis.

The Burntside Outing company has constructed a large boat-house, large enough to accommodate four large launches at one time. Mr. Erickson has been hired and is now at the lake prepared to rent out boats and canoes.

A large number of letters are being received by the outing company requesting information. A busy season at the lake is already assured. Hundreds of people are at the lake every Sunday. A large number of the town people make Sunday excursions to the lake. Burntside Lodge does away with the necessity of bothering with the picnic lunch baskets. Besides the city people a large number of tourists spend their summer vacation at the lake.

The opening date of Burntside Lodge has not been announced.

Phone Will Help.

The construction of the telephone line to the lodge will prove a great benefit to the pleasure-seekers. Hugh M. Rodgers of New York was in the city last week and while here made arrangement for the construction of several buildings on the islands he owns in Burntside lake. The buildings will be occupied by Mr. Rodgers and his friends as summer homes. Several other eastern parties will build on their islands in Burntside lake this season.

CHISHOLMITES IN MAY DAY PARADE

Village Trustee Mahan Speaks on Mission of Socialism.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Headed by the Stars and Stripes and the red flag, the Finnish and South Slavic Socialist local members paraded the streets Sunday in celebration of May day.

There were several hundred marchers in line, including many women and children. All were red emblems. At the corner of Lake street and Second avenue the procession halted and surrounded the orator of the day. Trustee Anton Mahan, who delivered an interesting and forceful talk on Socialism and its aid to the working man, urging those interested to do all in their power to spread knowledge of the aims and purposes of Socialism and to try to overcome the false understanding. The address was received with great applause. The Commercial band enlivened the march with music.

FRIENDS URGING THEM.

Two Possible Appointees to Virginia Job Mentioned.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—Friends of Edward Wenzel and E. D. McNeil are urging Mayor Michael Boylan to appoint one of them to the position on the city water and light board, made vacant by the expiration yesterday of the term of J. W. Murphy, who for the past two years has served as secretary of the board. Mayor Boylan has made no definite announcement as to what he intends to do.

Mr. Wenzel is at present connected with the water and light office. He was with the old light, heat and power company before the plant was taken over by the city.

Mr. McNeil has served on the city council and as a member of the police and fire commission.

RANGE ODD FELLOWS GATHER AT VIRGINIA

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city yesterday was the Mecca for several hundred members of the Odd Fellows and allied orders of the Mesaba range for the celebration of the ninety-sixth anniversary of the order in this country.

There was a parade previous to the meeting which was held in the curling rink where the following program was rendered:

Invocation, Rev. Mr. Coolbaugh. Hibbing; the Odd Fellows opening ode, by the lodges; address of welcome, Mayor Boylan; selection, High School orchestra; response, Rev. Schwartz, Eveleth; vocal solo, Miss King; address, Rev. Hans Wolner, Virginia; violin solo, Miss Seberger; address, Dr. P. P. Colgrove; selection, High School Girls' Glee club; address, W. J. Archer; song, "America," by the meeting; benediction, Rev. Mr. Coolbaugh.

By Coleraine Odd Fellows.

Coleraine, Minn., May 3.—Coleraine lodge No. 231 I. O. O. F., celebrated the ninety-sixth anniversary of the order, and the sixth of the local lodge with a banquet and roll call. Eighty members responded to their names and sixteen by letter out of an enrollment of 123. Letters from members were received from Sweden and Alaska and eight states.

Past Grand John Slapp was toast master. Past Grand J. A. Wassen gave the history of the local lodge from its beginning and through each administration to the present. Several others spoke, including Rev. Thomas B. Shorts, whose remarks were especially appropriate. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. J. W. Schenck of Aurora.

Positive Relief For Constipation

The progress of modern medical science is, perhaps, no more forcefully evident than in the simplifying of many of the old time remedies of past generations. For instance, the harsh cathartics and violent purgatives used by our forefathers to relieve constipation are now known to be not only unnecessary but really harmful. Constipation can be more effectively relieved without the discomfort and pain these old-time remedies occasion.

A combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is most effective, yet mild and pleasant. It is absolutely free from opiates and narcotics and equally as desirable a remedy for the tiniest babe as for rugged manhood. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

BRADY'S COLTS ARE AGAIN THE VICTORS

They Defeat Virginia's Northern League Team 4 to 0.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In weather fit for a ski tournament or ice carnival, Brady's Colts yesterday afternoon again demonstrated their superiority to the Virginia Northern league players by bringing them into camp by the score of 4 to 0. Despite the weather, the game was a good one and had not the Ore Diggers weakened, it would have been a pitchers' battle of the most heated caliber.

Cy Reiger, on the mound for the home team, pitched a marvelous game, allowing but six scattered hits and striking men out at will when in the pinches. The Virginians had embryo runs on both the third and second bags in the second inning with no outs against them. Reiger forced Wright to knock him a grounder and tossed him out at first, although Cronin on third was just aching to get home. He fanned out McCabe, heading the Virginia batting list, and took a nice liner from the bat of Fortman, retiring the side with two put outs and one assist to his credit in an inning when a hit would have meant two runs for the Queen City players.

Wright of Virginia had wonderful stuff but lacked the control which marked Reiger's work on the bag. Reiger mixed his fade-a-way and fast ball to such advantage that he had the opposing batters out-guessed at every stage. Prodinski, who pitched the last three innings for the Ore Diggers, had considerable smoke, good curves, but seemed a trifle nervous.

First Earned Run.

Hibbing scored two runs in the fourth inning. In the fifth inning, Hibbing annexed its first earned run. Geiselman struck out, Bert Bingle followed suit, Carroll Booth hit a tight one to the short stop, who picked it clean, shot it to second and forced out Thiebert. Booth, however, anchored safely on the first bag. Dwight Booth, following up tradition, hit out a glorious two-bagger, and his "kid" brother, whose speed around the bases is phenomenal enough to bring admission at a curio shop, entered home. Fantsch knocked a pretty hard single, but Dwight Booth slightly ambitious, although two men were gone, tried to come home on it. The Virginia left fielder, albeit, made a most wonderful peg to Catcher Cronin, who caught the runner fully ten feet from the plate.

The final run was made in the first part of the ninth.

ELY FISHERMAN LANDS 17¾-POUND PICKEREL

Ely, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many local fishermen took advantage of the opening of the pike fishing season Saturday and spent the day at the surrounding lakes and rivers. Charles Rowe of this city landed a pickerel weighing 17¾ pounds and measuring three feet four inches. Jack Gianotti of the same fishing party caught a pickerel weighing 15½ pounds and measuring three feet.

PICNIC AT LONGYEAR.

Athletic Girls of Chisholm to Open New Pleasure Park.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Athletic Girls, an auxiliary of the Finnish Temperance society, met Saturday evening and decided to hold a picnic at Longyear Lake park, probably on May 16. The young ladies intended to have a picnic on Sunday, May 9, but as the boats being shipped in by J. J. Hayes are not expected to be here before next week, they decided to postpone the event. This picnic will open the season at the new park, which promises to be a most popular resort for range picnickers.

VILLAGE EMPLOYES TO WORK IN MINES

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—One hundred and fifty village laborers were laid off last week from work on the construction of the Alice sewers, in conformity with Mayor Power's plan to adjust permanent improvement work for the village with the demand of laborers for mining operations.

"As long as the mining companies want the men," Mayor Power said, "we will not interfere and will hold off as much of the necessary improvements for the village as deemed advisable. As long as the mines, or the majority of them, operate only during the summer, this system, I believe, is necessary here more than other places. Industrial conditons here are unique and demand considerable attention from municipalities on the range as well as industries."

AURORA FISHERMEN REPORT GOOD LUCK

Aurora, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many here took advantage of the opening of the fishing season, and Saturday and Sunday went to the St. Louis river to try their luck. Many fine catches were reported and it is claimed by old fishermen that fishing this spring is better than usual. It is thought that when the weather gets a little warmer there will be many fine catches of walleyed pike made in the lakes and rivers along the range country.

Ely Moose Benefit.

Ely, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A benefit performance will be given at the opera house Tuesday evening by the Loyal Order of Moose. The local lodge intends giving a series of entertainments in the near future for a worthy cause. Four reels of moving pictures and several vaudeville sketches will complete this entertainment.

MILL CITY MAN IS TO BE SECRETARY

J. E. Lawler Will Succeed Secretary Lewis of Hibbing Club.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. E. Lawler of Minneapolis, reading clerk in the late legislature, who has been here two days conferring with Mayor Power and others relative to taking the position of secretary of the Commercial club made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Lewis, went home today and it is generally understood he will be the new secretary. The village council will meet tomorrow afternoon and probably make the appointment. It is legislative gossip that Lawler aided Power and others in fighting the Harrison bill, even going so far, it is reported, as interceding with members to vote against the bill so that he might land the Hibbing position.

SOCIALISTS HAVE MAY DAY SPEECHES

Parade Through Virginia and Spend Balance of Day at Mt. Auburn.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Socialist local had May day exercises yesterday. There was a parade to the picnic grounds at Mt. Auburn park, between here and Eveleth. There were several hundred in line. The stars and stripes were carried ahead of the Socialist red flags. Arriving at the picnic grounds there were numerous speeches while all enjoyed picnic dinners.

Many valuable gifts were received by the couple consisting of various pieces of exquisite cut glass. An address and very appropriate recital most suitable for the occasion was made by Rev. Mr. Strom. At the conclusion of the talking the remainder of the evening was spent in a social time which was certainly appreciated by all. The rooms were handsomely decorated with American Beauties. Friends were present from Knife River, Duluth and other points.

It is announced that a Virginia will have a brass band of forty-five pieces that will be drilled to a proficiency second to none in the state.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Mike" and Mulligan" are two bears the park board has just received from Robertson, a Grand Marais furrier, and the animals have been installed in Olcott park. They were caught in trap along the north shore of Lake Superior. "Mike" is named for Mayor Boylan and is a sprightly bruin.

DULUTHIANS LOSE LOOSELY PLAYED GAME

Two Harbors, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the first game of baseball played here this season the Oaklands of this city defeated the Juten Shoe company of Duluth yesterday afternoon, 8 to 6. The game was rather loosely played, errors and poor judgment being in evidence the most all times. The day was very cold, which was responsible for the many errors.

On account of the weather but a few fans went to the baseball park to see the game and many of those who had courage to undertake the trip returned before the game was over.

Bear River Telephone Meeting.

Chisholm, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stockholders of the recently organized Bear River Valley Rural Telephone company will meet at Woodman hall, Bear River, on Saturday, May 6. Quite a large number of Chisholmites have subscribed to the new line, which is aimed to strengthen business relations between the fertile country north of here and the village. Graham No. 1 to Ship.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tracks are being installed to the Graham No. 1 open pit mine in the Old Mesaba district, preparatory to placing it on the list of shippers from that district. The property was developed a short time ago and the tracks were later taken up. It is expected one steam shovel will be started loading ore at this property next week.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated

An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beneath is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It's a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin; in a week or two the user has the loveliest pinky white complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually is sufficient to complete the transformation. It is put on at night like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.

This remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how muddy, sallow or discolored the complexion. Freckles, moth-patches, liver spots, pimples, blackheads and other cutaneous blemishes, naturally vanish with the discarded skin.

To remove wrinkles, here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½-pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It acts instantaneously and is wonderfully effective.

RAIN

The northeast gale which Duluth is experiencing today was bred yesterday, which was a cloudy, gloomy and chilly period, and by no means the attractive kind of Sunday that Duluth has grown accustomed to during the recent period of exceptionally fine weather. The promise is for a continuation, and precedent, anyway, would convince the experienced Duluthian of this, for "nor-easter" sets three days of it are looked for. There is no need of comment on the weather; "nor-easter" explains it all.

A heavy rain fell a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 4:49 and will set this evening at 7:21, giving fourteen hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over Iowa has caused rains over North Atlantic states, the Lake region and the Northwest, and strong easterly winds on Western Lake Superior during the last twenty-four hours. In the meantime light rains occurred over Pacific states. Heavy rain fell at Dubuque, Iowa, and Moorhead, Minn. Cooler weather prevails in the Rocky Mountain region and greater portion of the Northwest. Freezing temperature occurred in Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Modena, Utah, reported killing frost."

FARRELL SEES BETTER TIMES

Head of Steel Corporation Optimistic Over Immediate Future.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—James A. Farrell, president of the world's greatest industrial, labor employing and tonnage producing organization, the United States Steel corporation, in Minneapolis Saturday on his way to the West, expressed the view that the country is emerging from a long period of hesitation and depression and that a period of construction and general increase in business activity has opened.

Qualifying his statements lest he be misunderstood as forecasting a business boom and inflation, Mr. Farrell said he is conservatively optimistic. His summary of the general business situation was the most favorable that any Eastern man of prominent identification with industrial life has brought into Minneapolis at any time for two years.

"I am willing to go on record as predicting a period of general increase in business, better times, in fact," he said. "I am particularly desirous of not being understood as forecasting a business boom or anything like that. What I mean to say is that my collective information from varied sources makes me an optimist. The main consideration is not the business of the moment, but the general trend. The trend of general business in the United States unquestionably is toward betterment. It is time to be an optimist on the United States."

Mr. Farrell said he could not estimate the size of the war orders that the country has entered, nor would he comment on an estimate of $1,500,000,000 recently heard. "I can only say that there has been a big business in war material," he said. Neither would he forecast the probable ending of the European war.

Mr. Farrell said the United States Steel corporation was operating at 30 to 35 per cent of capacity. Mr. Farrell said. "This rose gradually to 45 to 50 per cent after the year 1915 opened. Today we are operating at 70 per cent of our capacity. I am confident, and willing to predict, that a greater part of our capacity will be in operation in the not distant future. Yes, I am thoroughly optimistic.

"In consequence of business increase and a better outlook we have decided to go ahead and finish up our big Duluth plant."

BURGLARS BUSY DURING APRIL

Total Value of Property Stolen $5,520—Majority Was Recovered.

Burglars were active during April, and aided by fifty-four petit larceny thieves, they brought the amount of lost or stolen property up to $5,520.65, nearly as much as the aggregate for the three first months of the year. Lieut. N. U. G. Terry of the police department, in his report filed today, shows that the department made an excellent record, effecting a recovery of 64 per cent.

There were twelve burglaries during the month and twenty grand larcenies, in addition to petit offenses. There also were two larcenies from the person and two holdups.

Trade Balance Will Be Great.

Washington, May 3.—Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce in a letter to Chairman William J. Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, made public yesterday, declares that unless some unforeseen change in the export movements occurs, the balance of trade in favor of the United States will reach, if not exceed $1,000,000,000 during the current fiscal year.

DON'T BE DECEIVED

If you feel exhausted and weak or tire easily, don't try to brace up on liquor or some patent medicine that will produce the same effect.

It is only temporary, and the reaction leaves you in worse shape than before.

What you want is more strength. Father John's Medicine is a pure food medicine; its ingredients are nourishing and strengthening. Nothing equals it as a tonic and body builder for all throat and lung troubles.

DEFENDS USE OF RED FLAG

Stands for Christianity and Brotherhood, Says Socialist Speaker.

Big Parade and Meeting Mark Observance of Labor Day.

Attempts to prevent Duluth Socialists from using a red flag in their street parade yesterday failed, and the Socialist banner of crimson waved along with the American flag at the head of a procession of 2,000, which marched from the courthouse square to the auditorium via Superior street. The occasion was the annual observance of International Labor day.

At the auditorium, which was crowded to capacity, William E. Towne and Morris Kaplan of Bemidji were speakers. Mr. Towne, who presided at the meeting, took occasion to defend the use of the red flag by the Socialists in their demonstrations, declaring that it was an emblem of universal brotherhood and was the original flag of Christianity.

Champions Red Flag.

In his defense of the use of the crimson banner he scored the News Tribune for its attempts to prevent the red flag from being used in the parade yesterday. He championed the color as a symbol of labor and declared that there was no suggestion of disrespect to the national flag in using the banner.

Mr. Kaplan, who was introduced by Mr. Towne, talked on the growth of Socialism from its inception to its present day organization and urged that the followers of the movement in this city "get behind the leaders" and make the Duluth Socialist local an organization to be reckoned with.

The speaker expressed great pleasure in seeing such a large turnout. "I am proud to see, packed into this hall, so many Socialists followers," he said, "and I am glad to have been permitted to see a procession from five to six blocks long march down Superior street in the full gaze of the city's throng. It showed our strength."

May 1 has been observed as International Labor day since 1889. In that year, the day was fixed by the International Socialist congress, which met in Paris. The local demonstration was postponed one day this year as a matter of convenience to the city's working men.

BUSINESS SHOWS AN IMPROVEMENT

Conditions as Reported From Reserve Bank Districts Are Good.

Washington, May 3.—General improvement in business conditions with "returning confidence" is announced in the Federal reserve board's digest of agents in the twelve reserve districts, into which the country is divided.

Development of a strong active securities market on the New York stock exchange, and considerable activity in certain industries in connection with the war are pointed out.

From the New York district, general improvement with some optimism is reported.

Slight improvement is noted in the Boston district. There business directly affected by the war, is in much better condition than trade not so benefited.

Some improvement in the last few months is reported from the Philadelphia district. Coal, lumber, shipyards, sole and upper leather, paint and various iron and steel industries, have improved.

Business conditions are said to have improved materially in the Cleveland district. The metal industry has been stimulated by foreign orders. Funds for investment are plentiful.

"Improving conditions and promise of continued betterment" is the summary of reports from the Richmond district. Cotton milling is prosperous.

The Atlanta district reports indicate "increased activity of sound and conservative nature in all lines." The Chicago district report shows improvement. Money conditions are easy and there are indications of arbitration and speedy ending of the building trades troubles at Chicago.

In the St. Louis district, demand for general merchandise has improved.

The outlook in the Minneapolis district is said to favor improvement in all lines that are below normal, or dependent on agriculture.

Retail trade is active, though below normal in various lines. Copper mines are working full time. Wheat acreage is the largest the states in this district have ever seen, and other cereals show corresponding increases.

Abundant crops are promised in the Kansas City district, with agricultural and horticultural conditions almost perfect.

Steady and conservative increase for retail trade is reported in the larger cities of the Dallas district.

In the San Francisco district agricultural prospects are reported exceptionally good. Mining has improved.

THE PRICE OF SUCCESS

Many people pay a terrible price for success, sacrificing for it health and happiness. Neurasthenia, a typically American disease, is due to worry over the struggle for success more than to any other one thing.

Neurasthenia is a condition of nervous exhaustion in which the system fails to recuperate after unusual demands upon its nervous energy. Its symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin the treatment today before your condition becomes chronic.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

FLOOD CONDITIONS ARE AGAIN SERIOUS

Houston, Tex., May 3.—With thousands of acres of farming land under water and railway service disorganized, flood conditions in the Brazos river lowlands today were serious, but believed on the eve of improvement. Conditions in the Colorado river bottoms are reported to be improving steadily.

AIRSHIP TRAVELING TOWARD ENGLAND

London, May 3.—It is reported that a Zeppelin airship is traveling in the direction of England from the island of Vlieland, which is on the northern coast of the Netherlands.

The airship passed over this island at 10 o'clock this morning.

A German aeroplane, coming from the direction of Ostend, scouted over Dover and Folkestone at noon today. It was driven off by gunfire.

SURE A SETTLEMENT WILL CROWN EFFORTS

Cleveland, O., May 3.—It may be the middle of the present week before the joint scale committee of operators and miners who are trying to settle the 13-months' old Eastern Ohio coal strike, end their deliberations. The sessions of the committee were resumed today after adjournment over Sunday. Both sides still seem sure that peace will ultimately crown their efforts.

FATALLY SHOT THEN THROWN INTO RIVER

Joseph Labske Victim of Murderers at Fargo, N. D.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald)—Injuries to Joseph Labske, a Pole, 22 years old, proved fatal. He was found wet and with two bullet holes in his abdomen Saturday night. Before his death he claimed that companions shot him twice, robbed him of $20 and threw him into the Red river.

The shock of the cold water revived him sufficiently to enable him to crawl onto the muddy bank, were he was found in an unconscious condition. There is no clew to his murderers.

NORTH DAKOTA NOW GETTING MORE RAIN

Coming Down Slowly and Sinking in Soil to Delight of Farmers.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—General rains, aggregating a total of one inch in some sections, have fallen over the entire state of North Dakota since yesterday afternoon, continuing steadily all last night and this forenoon with no indications of stopping.

Outside the Red River valley counties the farmers are in great glee as the rain fall is the first slow kind that practically all sinks into the soil.

No precipitation was needed in the valley and seeding there will be still further delayed. Practically all the wheat seeding outside the valley was completed last week.

WEAKER TONE IN MARKET

Wheat Declines on Good Crop News and Selling Pressure.

Flaxseed Weakens Near the Close, After Holding Firm Early in Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 3.—The market showed further weakness at the close on increased selling pressure.

May wheat closed 1¾c off; July 1½c off and September 1c off. May durum closed unchanged; July unchanged and September unchanged.

Oats closed 1⅜c off at 52⅝@53¼c for on the track; rye 1c up at $1.17@1.18; barley unchanged at from 67c to 76c, and corn 1c off at 75⅜c.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.50, and calls at $1.54¾.

Business in grain was quiet on the local market today, there being apparently no snap in the inquiry from any quarter. After showing strength at the opening on firm cables, quotations later eased off to below Saturday's close on some selling induced by reports of further rains over the West and Southwest. That led to expressions of optimistic views regarding crop prospects. In Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, it is said that sufficient moisture has fallen to carry the plant through for some time. The gossip has it that stocks in farmers' hands in the Southwest are larger than had been counted upon, and that the present brilliant crop outlook is inducing them to market them more freely.

The market position of old wheat is very strong, and dealers are predicting much higher prices as soon as millers begin to scramble for supplies, as it is thought they must sooner or later. Wheat stocks at Duluth and Minneapolis are now down to 10,880,000 bu, or 17,750,000 bu less than a year ago. Supplies at the Head of the Lakes decreased 2,000,000 bu last week to 4,617,-000 bu of all grades, and with a considerable tonnage yet under contract to go out, it is predicted that not more than 2,000,000 bu will be held in the elevators in ten days from now. Advices are at hand to the effect that Minneapolis millers are now entering the Southwest markets freely. The demand there is reported to have picked up during the last few days.

Clearances today were in liberal proportions, amounting to 1,603,000 bu of wheat and flour.

Winnipeg market was closed, May day being observed. A considerable quantity of wheat is reported to have been sold for export up there on Saturday.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.62⅝, gained ⅝c, and then eased off to $1.62¼ at the noon hour. July opened ½c off at $1.59¾, advanced to $1.60⅝ and then broke to $1.59¾c.

Trading in durum was limited. The May future opened unchanged at $1.70, gained ½c, and then eased off to the same extent. July opened unchanged at $1.69½ and held there.

Flax Off At Close.

Flaxseed market was dull and featureless during the greater part of the session, with trading on the narrowest possible order. Crushers contented themselves with picking up small lots without doing any bidding for it. The market declined at the close on more liberal offerings.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.98¾, and closed ¾c off at $1.97½. July opened at $2.01¾, and closed ¾c off at $2.01 asked. September opened unchanged at $2.03¾, and closed ½c off at $2.03¾ asked.

At Buenos Aires flax closed ½c up at $1.25½, and at London ⅞c up at $1.86¾.

The Paine Commission company had the following from Logan & Bryan at Chicago: "If present winter wheat prospects are maintained I do not think these prices will hold, no matter how large the foreign demand is, as I believe the marketing of the new crop will come with a rush and that it will tax the terminal facilities to handle it. The bear side of wheat looks very attractive to me."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Speculative trade was small in volume, while local interests who were bearishly inclined pressed the selling side in the absence of any material support. Export and cash interests absorbed the May offerings, which were at all times small, the elevator interests taking the July. Crop prospects are perfect; rains have fallen in sections in the Ohio valley where they were most urgently needed. Country offerings of new wheat to arrive are increasing slightly, as the new crop is coming along. Cash markets followed futures with the premiums on No. 2 hard ½c over May. Export demand is quiet, both here and at the seaboard. Any increase in the export demand should result in sharply higher prices for July and September wheat."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Rally Quickly—Some Weakness at Start.

Chicago, May 3.—Although wheat prices today showed weakness at the start, the market quickly rallied. The rapidity with which offerings were absorbed had much to do with changing sentiment from the bear to the bull side, and so also had higher prices at Liverpool and reports of more urgent demand later there from the continent. Rains over a large part of the domestic wheat belt were chiefly responsible for the early sag in values. The opening, which varied from 1¾c lower to ⅛c advance, was followed by a rise to well above Saturday night's level all around.

Increased country offerings and the prediction of further rain led afterward to a fresh setback. The close was heavy at ¾ to 2¼c net decline.

Excellent field conditions put selling pressure on corn. On the ensuing break, though, better inquiry for spot wheat tended to bring about somewhat of a reaction. After opening ⅜@⅝c down, prices recovered to a moderate extent.

The market later showed increased weakness with wheat. The close was heavy at ⅛c to 1⅛@1¼c net decline.

Oats swayed with corn. A feature was rather free selling of September by country dealers, supposedly hedging against purchases of new oats to arrive.

Plentiful receipts of hogs lowered provisions. The volume of trading notwithstanding was relatively small.

FLAX MARKET STILL SLOW

Advances Due to Crushers' Occasional Purchases of Small Supplies.

Argentina Market Is Not Strong Because of Shipping Difficulties.

Conditions in the flax market remain unchanged from a week ago, and what advance there is shown in the accompanying figures represents small activities on the part of crushers, who, once in a while, get in the market for seed to fill immediate requirements.

Aside from that there is little or nothing doing. That there will be nothing happening here for some time is the general belief.

Argentina still looms large, but there is a good deal of trouble getting shipments north from Buenos Aires, and, in consequence, prices are not of the strongest in the Argentina market.

ADVANCES WIPED OUT

Stocks Have Rise But Extensive European Selling Causes Decline.

Steel Falls Off Three Points Under Its Best Quotation.

New York, May 3.—Latest war news in its possible relation to this country formed the basis of a general selling movement at the opening of today's market. Instead of the wide gains which have been the chief characteristic of each new week, there were losses of 2 to 3 points, mainly in equipment and industrial shares. Westinghouse fell 5¼ to 98½, Bethlehem Steel and General Electric 3 and other war specialties as well as motors, almost as much. Coppers yielded more moderately. Canadian Pacific was the weakest railway issue, declining 3 points with 1-point declines in Reading, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific.

Early offerings were absorbed with such confidance today that the stock list soon rebounded sharply. United States Steel led the recovery, repeating its recent high quotation of 60⅞. Other important stocks rose to figures well above last week's final quotations, even specialties like Westinghouse making up most of their initial declines. Selling was resumed before midday, however, on publication of advices from Washington, which intimated that this government intends to make representations to Germany in connection with attacks on American vessels. Prices again fell one to three points in prominent stocks. Bonds were irregular.

The market registered its third decline of the session in the early afternoon when the entire list fell lower than before, war specialties showing losses of 5 to almost 10 points from Saturday's close on heavy selling.

New aspects in the foreign situation, coupled with extensive European selling, caused many material losses in today's active market, especially among war specialties.

Lower prices ruled in the last hour, Steel falling 3 points under its best quotation, with proportionate declines elsewhere. The closing was heavy.

MARINE NEWS

GALE LOCAL IN ITS SCOPE

Lake Superior Not Much Disturbed By Northeaster Now Blowing.

Up-Bound Steamers Not Troubled—Rainfall Is General.

The northeast gale which started last night and is holding sway today is performing solely for the benefit of Duluthians and others at this end of the lake. The wind storm is of local character, but the rain part of it, Weather Forecaster Richardson says, is quite general. The rainfall here up to this afternoon, he estimates, has been about three-quarters of an inch, with more to come.

That the wind part of the storm is a local character is attested by the condition of the lake. When the wind sweeps up the lake for any great distance, old Superior kicks up an awful fuss, and the rollers begin to come in, if not mountain-high, at least hillock-high, and create havoc both inside and outside of the harbor. The waves today are not very great and the wind is said to be confined to the western end of the lake.

None of the boats that left the Sault last night are in any danger from it, and the steamer Hamonic of the Northern Navigation line, which was said to be out in the gale, got into Port Arthur this morning almost on schedule time and without having experienced any trouble.

Only two boats are in this harbor waiting for weather, they being the steamer Renown and her tow, both loaded with oil. The reason of their remaining is that conditions are not the best for a steamer taking a barge down the lakes, and they are in no particular hurry anyway.

There is very little sea in the harbor today.

LOAD EIGHT BOATS IN ELEVEN HOURS

Unusual Record Made Saturday at the Missabe Docks.

Dock men at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern ore docks made an unusual record for boat dispatch Saturday, when they cleared eight large freighters in less than eleven hours.

At 1:05 a. m. Saturday the steamer Sir William Fairbairn of the Pittsburgh Steamship company's fleet passed through the Duluth canal, and shortly after 12 o'clock the last of the eight passed through the canal downbound with a cargo of ore.

Included in the eleven hours is the time required to steam from the entry to the ore dock and back, as well as the delay while being placed by a tug. The schooner Alfred Krupp, also of the Pittsburgh fleet, was in the harbor just six hours, arriving at 4:20 a. m. and passing out at 10:20 a. m.

The boats who helped make this record were the Fairbairn, the Magna, James J. Hill, Alfred Krupp, Howard L. Shaw, P. A. B. Widener, Richard Trimble and General O. M. Poe.

The steamer W. J. Olcott of the Pittsburgh fleet, which cleared Saturday afternoon, also was in the harbor but a few minutes more than six hours.

BOAT RAMS N. P. RAILROAD BRIDGE

Structure Is Out of Alignment for Several Hours.

While backing out of the Great Northern elevator slip at Superior Saturday, the steamer Anna C. Minch rammed the approach to the Northern Pacific railroad bridge, knocking the structure out of alignment and preventing rail traffic for several hours.

Pile drivers and a crew of men were put to work at once and the damage soon was repaired. It was possible to open the bridge to permit vessel passages, but trains were routed over the other bridges for some time.

At the time of the accident the Minch was en route to Elevator H to finish loading a cargo of grain, after taking on some tonnage at the Great Northern. She was not damaged and cleared for the trip down lake a few hours later, as soon as loaded.

WILLARD MACK IS HELD UP AND BEATEN

Former Duluth Actor in Hospital With Concussion of Brain.

Willard Mack, actor and playwright, and former star of the Mack-Lone players of Duluth, was the victim of a hold-up trio in Bridgeport, Conn., last Friday night, according to dispatches received here. He was badly injured and is now in a hospital suffering from concussion of the brain; and was robbed of his watch and considerable money. The dispatch from Bridgeport, says:

"Willard Mack, author of "Kick In," was held up in this city late Friday night on his way to a performance of 'So Much for So Much,' in which he once starred.

"Mack was accosted by a man who asserted he had been a vaudeville performer and who sought work for himself and wife. In the dark section of Housatonic avenue, between the New Haven railroad station and the Lyric theater, Mack was tripped by his companion, while two negroes beat him.

"After robbing him of a gold watch and $176 in cash he was left stunned on the sidewalk, where he was discovered by a pedestrian and aided to his room at the Stratfield hotel. Saturday night concussion of the brain developed and on the advice of his physician, he was sent to Bridgeport hospital. Before lapsing into unconsciousness Mack said:

"'I do not care so much for the money, but, supposedly wise in all criminal matters, this is more a blow to my pride than to my head.'"

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS TO ATTEND CONCLAVE

Grand Commandery Will Meet in Minneapolis on May 18 and 19.

More than 200 Knights Templar from Duluth, accompanied by the Temple band, will attend the conclave of the Grand Commandery of Minnesota to be held at Minneapolis May 18-19.

The entire band of thirty members will be taken to the gathering at Minneapolis, this being the first trip ever taken by the local musical organization. Charles Helmer will lead the musicians.

In addition to the conclave in Minneapolis, the Knights Templars will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Grand Commandery in this state. T. W. Hugo will be one of the principal speakers at the celebration, in which, it is expected, thirty-one commanderies will take part. The Grand Commandery was organized Oct. 23, 1865.

The Duluth commandery will meet at the Masonic temple tomorrow evening to make preparations for the trip to Minneapolis.

Elks Will Give Banquet in Honor of Departing Chief.

Duluth Elks will honor Chauncey H. Troyer, retiring chief of police, with a farewell banquet to be given Thursday evening at the Elks' club. Chief Troyer will leave Duluth on May 14 for Fargo, where he has accepted a position as police chief for that city.

The affair of Thursday evening will be held under the auspices of Duluth lodge, No. 133, and will be open to Elks only. The dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and will be followed by a program of speeches and a vaudeville entertainment.

LAND OPEN FOR ENTRY.

Government Survey Taken of Parts of Isle Royale Group.

Two more islands in the Isle Royale group, Lake Superior, will be opened for entry June 8, next. Plats of a survey of these islands have been filed at Washington, D. C., which describe them as being in sections 2 and 3, township 66 north, range 34. The plats will be filed at the Marquette, Mich., office at 2 o'clock, June 8. The land is on Johnson island and Fryette island.

Form Law Partnership.

Warner E. Whipple and Frank E. Randall, well known Duluth attorneys, have formed a law partnership and have opened offices under the firm name of Whipple & Randall at 606-610 Providence building. Both have been practicing law in this city for a number of years.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

NO ARRESTS FOR THIRTY HOURS.

First of Month Always Orderly—Reason Is Mystery.

Why is it that police arrest fewer persons on the first two days of each month than on other days?

This is the question that Fred Johnson, assistant secretary to Chief Troyer, is trying to answer.

In the twenty-four hours ended at 7 a. m. today there was not an arrest, the "blick" sheet at headquarters being blank. It was not until 10:20 a. m. that Bruno Reinala, 28, was brought from the county jail and held on a charge of grand larceny.

This record of nearly thirty hours of good behavior is a new one, surpassing the showing made Feb. 1, when there were no arrests for twenty-seven and one-half hours.

April was an orderly month, with but 390 arrests, according to Secretary Johnson's report this morning. There were 307 males and twelve females arrested and brought to headquarters, while the West end department was responsible for the arrest of forty-two males and one female.

There were more than 500 arrests in March, and in April, 1914, there were 436.

TWELVE NEW PROBATIONERS.

Officer Hicks Files Report on His Activities During April.

Twelve persons were placed on probation by the municipal court during April, making a total of 349 men and women placed on probation since the system came into use, Dec. 21, 1912.

Probation Officer Frank Hicks, in his report to Mayor W. I. Prince, filed today, stated that 229 calls were made at his office by persons "on their good behavior" and that four persons were released from parole upon his recommendation.

Officer Hicks and his assistants collected $117.62 and paid out $132.62 for probationers.

The free legal aid bureau, also under supervision of Mr. Hicks, handled 278 cases during the month. Collections amounting to $58.96 were made and disbursed free of charge. The cases handled included 110 of drunkenness, forty-three claims for wages, thirty-five concerning public welfare, twelve in connection with employment agencies, and five of vagrancy.

COULDN'T BOOST JITNEY FARE.

Temporary Driver Then Punches Passenger in the Eye.

When he demanded more than a "jitney" as fare for carrying a passenger to the aerial bridge in his automobile, temporarily a "jitney" bus, Ernest R. Rickard was turned down hard, but he retaliated, according to a police report of the affair, by punching William Beatty, 1027 Lake avenue south, in the eye.

He was arrested for disorderly conduct and forfeited $15 bail in municipal court this morning when he failed to appear. Rickard, driving his father's automobile, went into the jitney business Saturday night, but didn't prosper.

WATCH THEFT INVOLVES TWO.

Must Face Grand Jury for Taking the Same "Ticker."

Two men may face the grand jury at the May term for stealing the same watch. They are Jacob Kalliomaki, who has been held at the county jail for two weeks, and Bruno Reinaloa, who was arrested at the work farm Saturday, after he had been sentenced from West Duluth for trespass.

The timepiece, valued at $20, belongs to Charles Hill, a laborer, and was stolen from him April 20, while Hill and Kalliomaki were asleep in the same room at a West Superior street hotel.

Kalliomaki fled before Hill awoke, and later was arrested as the thief. A pawnbroker later identified Reinaloa as the man who had pawned the watch at 715 West Superior street.

Reinaloa was brought into municipal court this morning and will be given a hearing May 7.

SMALLWOOD ON THE JOB

Assumes His Duties as Judge of the Municipal Court.

John G. Ross Will Continue as Clerk Pending Appeal.

"It's a long way to Tipperary," said Municipal Judge W. H. Smallwood this morning as he took his place on the bench beside Judge F. H. Cutting for the first time since his election April 6.

It was the first time since the election that court had convened in the room formerly occupied by Judge William H. Windom, as Judge Cutting has handled both criminal and civil actions, pending the outcome of the suit contesting the election.

John G. Ross, clerk of municipal court during the last twelve years, will remain in charge for some time to come, according to an announcement by Judge Smallwood, although a change may be made when the decision has been handed down by the supreme court on the appeal taken by Judge Windom.

Edward A. Thompson, 2318 West Fifth street, a photographer, had been mentioned prominently as a possible successor to Mr. Ross. There will be no changes in the clerk's staff at the present.

Judge Smallwood did not start work this morning, but devoted his time to familiarizing himself with the details of court activity. The civil calendar for the first two weeks of the month was announced by Judge Cutting.

It includes: Herbert O. Lewis vs. Arthur Miller; Duluth News Tribune vs. Frank L. Kreidler; Adam Takkinen vs. Constant Luama; George De Chambeau vs. John Chisholm et al; Russell De Chambeau vs. Randall Chisholm et al; Theresa Hollenbeck vs. City of Duluth; John Halfpenny vs. Bradley Timber & Railway company; H. D. Mc-Lean vs. John Bendixen; W. F. Bailey, et al vs. John A. Carlson; and W. W. Burlingame vs. Lyceum Livery company.

The election contest case brought by John Brown, Jr., against Capt. Smallwood will be brought on for trial in district court on May 5, according to an order made today by Judge Dancer. The case, although brought in the name of Mr. Brown, is a fight between Judge Windom and Capt. Smallwood. It involves questions similar to those raised in the mandamus proceeding decided Saturday.

"ANDY" THOMPSON DIES IN ST. PAUL

One of Most Widely Known Railroad Men in Northwest.

"Andy" Thompson, known to hundreds of railroad men and sport followers all over the Northwest, and especially at the Head of the Lakes, is dead. The death of the well known traveling passenger agene of the Erie railroad occurred in St. Paul, late Saturday.

Perhaps no man who made Duluth and the surrounding territory was better liked than the man who was known far and wide as "Andy" Thompson. Not only did "Andy" number his friends among the railroad profession, but he was perhaps one of the best known followers of sports in the Northwest.

For years one of the crack amateur baseball players of St. Paul, Mr. Thompson, after his retirement from the game, ever stood ready to lend a helping hand in the organization of amateur leagues and the fostering of movements that would assist in promoting interest in baseball in general.

Not only did Mr. Thompson take an interest in baseball in his home city of St. Paul, but every trip he made to the Head of the Lakes was always productive of a fanning bee with a number of his friends. He apparently took much interest in the sports of every community in his territory, as he displayed in the progress of his home team.

About a year ago Mr. Thompson's mother met with a fatal accident in Cleveland. The death of his mother came as a crushing blow, and it is believed by friends that this was the beginning of Mr. Thompson's breakdown.

Mr. Thompson had represented the Erie in the Northwestern territory for many years. No better liked railroad man ever made the Head of the Lakes territory. Mr. Thompson was a member of the Masonic order. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon in St. Paul. A number of Duluth railroad men will attend.

DINE AT NORTHLAND.

Leading Scandinavians Enjoy Initial Event of Social Program.

A number of leading Scandinavian professional and business men took dinner on Saturday evening at the Northland Country club and afterward enjoyed a program through the courtesy of Manager Smith; and it may result that the affair will turn out to be the initial event of a number of the kind to be given, and perhaps develop into a social organization of permanence. John Uno Sebenius acted as host.

While the affair was in no sense an observation of May day, which is not a Scandinavian fest, those present indulged in stories and reminiscences of the observation of the day in the old land. Decorations of red roses prevailed at the table and about the dining room. Those present were:

John Uno Sebenius, John J. Moe, Capt. Albert Swenson, Hans B. Haroldson, H. Fegraeus, J. J. Wangenstein, Andrew Nelson, A. Ahlen, Dr. Hans L. Hovde, E. Fegraeus, Dr. J. M. O. Tufty, Otto Gafvert, N. A. Bergstrom, Dr. D. E. Seashore, John Brandt, H. B. D. Holmboe, Dr. O. A. Oredson, Alex Oberg, Martin Hokenson, Edward M. Stone, H. A. Nelson, G. M. Jensen, George Sjosellius, Dr. W. H. Olson, Dr. K. E. Bergquist, Otto Johnson and O. J. Larson.

GOPHER WILL SPEAK.

President of Moorhead Normal Going to Grand Forks May 17.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—President J. A. Aasgaard of the Concordia college of Moorhead, Minn., will be the principal speaker at the celebration which will be held in Grand Forks May 17, under the direction of the Grand Forks lodge of the Sons of Norway.

Several other speakers also are being engaged for the affair, and plans under way contemplate making it one of the biggest festivals in the state this year.

SENATOR CLAPP TO SPEAK.

So Will Congressman Steenerson at Polk County Old Timers' Gathering.

Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—United States Senator Moses E. Clapp, Congressman Halvor Steenerson and Judge Watts will speak at the annual meeting of the Polk County Old Settlers association jubilee, which will be held here June 4.

John Carter, president of the association, says plans for the event are well advanced, and he expects to see it the most successful affair of the kind ever held. Old fashioned picnic stunts will be resorted to to make the day one of joy for the old settlers.

Rehearing Refused.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 3.—The Missouri supreme court today overruled the motion for a rehearing in the case in which Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Morris & Co., the Hammond Packing company, and the St. Louis Dressed Beef & Provision company, were fined $25,000 each for violation of the state anti-trust laws.

First Brainerd Ball Game.

Brainerd, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd will open its baseball season May 15 and 16, when the locals play Verndale at Brainerd. The two teams, the fans and the band will parade. Mayor R. A. Beise will throw the first ball. There will be a speech by some minister or county official. Efforts are being made to draw a record crowd to the ball game.

To Read the Ads AND DECIDE WHICH ONES TO ANSWER Is a Fine Test of Your "Practical Sense"—of Your Business Judgment

IF IT'S GOOD ENOUGH FOR YOU TO LIVE IN IT'S GOOD ENOUGH TO ADVERTISE!

You don't want to live in a furnished room that was not good enough to be advertised.

You don't want to buy or rent a house that was not good enough, in the owner's estimation, to be advertised.

Any "worth-while" place to live, or to lodge, or to board is always advertised. You need never "hunt around"—you can simply answer a few ads.

DECISION OF ITALY AS TO PARTICIPATION IN WAR AGAIN POSTPONED

New Offers Have Been Presented in Behalf of Austria.

Decision of King Not to Participate in Unveiling Significant.

Pacificists Again Hope for Peaceful Solution of Italy's Problems.

Rome, May 4, Via Paris.—The decision of King Victor Emmanuel and the members of the ministry not to take part in the ceremony of the unveiling of Garibaldi monument at Sant' Elena is being commented upon today as a step of very great significance.

The presence of his majesty at the unveiling had come to be regarded as virtually tantamount to a declaration of war. Now the change in the king's plans is regarded as meaning that the participation of Italy in the European conflict again has been postponed.

The hope is being entertained by the pacificists that the efforts to arrange a peaceful solution of Italy's problems may ultimately be successful.

Anti-Austrian.

It should be borne in mind that the character of the celebration at Quarto Sant' Elena is eminently anti-Austrian. The presence of the king could only be considered by Austria as in the nature of an unfriendly act.

It seems true that on Saturday Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador to Italy, announced further important concessions from Austria. At the sanne time he said he feared the presence of King Victor Emmanual at Quarto Sant' Elena might bring about some incident that would render the rupture of negotiations inevitable. Consequently the ministry decided, together with the

ATTEMPT MADE TO KILL SEBASTIAN

Candidate for Mayor of Los Angeles Has Narrow Escape.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 4.—An attempt to assassinate Charles E. Sebastian, suspended chief of police, on trial with Mrs. Lillie Pratt for contributing to the dependency of Edith Serkin, was made late last night when two shots were fired through the window of his residence while he was talking with a friend. Neither shot took effect.

The chances of Sebastian for a mayoralty nomination in view of an attempt to assassinate him last night, and of his trial on charges of immorality now in progress, practically monopolized interest in the primary election today.

Had Narrow Escape.

Sebastian had a narrow escape from an enemy's bullets. He was sitting in the front room of his residence talking to J. O. Royer, who was a witness in his behalf at the trial.

About 11 o'clock the telephone bell rang and the chief answered it, talking for about ten minutes. The voice at the other end of the wire professed to be a friend of Sebastian and made inquiries about how to mark his ballot in the election.

Returning to the room where he left Royer, Sebastian was about to sit down when a shot was fired and a bullet crashed through the window, whizzing directly over the chair in which the suspended chief of police had been sitting. Immediately afterward another bullet crashed through the window and lodged in a book lying on a table in the center of the room.

Neighbors attracted by the shots said they saw a man run from the rear of the house.

Witnesses in Barnes Suit Testify as to Awarding Contracts.

Big Crowd Gathers Expecting to Hear Roosevelt and Barnes.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 4.—The prospect of seeing both Theodore Roosevelt and William Barnes on the witness stand drew another large crowd to the courthouse today when the hearing was resumed of Mr. Barnes' $50,000 libel suit.

Although counsel for the defense intimated that they would not question the colonel at any great length, William M. Ivins, chief counsel for Mr. Barnes, was said to be ready to put the colonel through an extended cross-examination.

Edward T. Platt, son of the late United States Senator Thomas C. Platt, was ready today to produce twelve or fourteen letters selected from a large number brought here in answer to a subpoena served upon him on behalf of Col. Roosevelt.

F. D. Roosevelt Arrives.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, former senator and now assistant secretary of the navy, arrived here today in answer to a summons from the Roosevelt counsel. Mr. Roosevelt, it was said, was to testify regarding a deadlock in the senate which ultimately resulted in the election of James O'Gorman as United States senator. Mr. Roosevelt, a Democrat, was the leader of an insurgent movement in the state senate at that time.

State printing contracts were again taken up when the court session

BOMBARDMENT OF THE FORTS ON DARDANELLES IS GROWING HEAVIER

Warships of the Allied Fleets Are Working in Shifts.

Attack on Turkish Forts on Gulf of Smyrna Resumed.

Vali of City of Smyrna Begins Negotiations for Surrender.

London, May 4.—A Tenedos dispatch to the Daily News under Monday date says:

"Fierce fighting continues day and night in the Dardannelles. The ships of the fleet are working in shifts and the bombardment is incessant. In spite of desperate resistance, we have made steady progress both on land and sea. The most vital points of the enemy's defenses are now strongly invested."

A dispatch from Athens filed Sunday to the Daily News says it has been learned from reliable sources that 5,000 wounded Turks have been sent from Gallipoli to Constantinople while four large transports loaded with German reinforcements have been sent to the Dardanelles.

Resumed on Gulf.

Athens, May 4, via London.—The bombardment of the Turkish forts on the Gulf of Smyrna has been resumed, according to messages reaching here from Mitylene, and the warships of the allies continue their lively shelling of the forts on the Dardanelles.

The allies are reported to have effected a landing near the site of the ancient Ephesus, a location thirty-five miles southeast of Smyrna.

Would Surrender Smyrna.

London, May 4.—In a dispatch from Athens received by the Exchange Telegraph company the declaration is made that the vali of Smyrna has entered into fresh negotiations with the allies for the surrender of the town.

NOT A CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Justice Hughes Says He Cannot Permit His Name to Be Used.

Washington, May 4.—In view of recent references to the name of Associate Justice Hughes of the supreme court, as a candidate for the presidency, the following authoritative statement was made today with his approval:

"Justice Hughes wholly disapproves the use of his name in connection with the presidential campaign. Not only has he no desire to re-enter politics, but as a member of the supreme court he is not available. He is not a candidate in any sense, and cannot permit his name to be used."

Altkirch Bombarded.

Basel, Switzerland, May 4, via Paris.—The fortifications of Altkirch in Upper Alsace, were heavily bombarded by French artillery last Saturday, May 1. On Sunday the French cannon continued firing in the direction of Cernay. The result of this activity has not yet been made known.

FRIGHTFUL ATROCITIES

Shocking Story Related By Serbian Agricultural Relief Committee.

Villages Devastated and People Killed or Horribly Tortured.

Washington, May 4.—The following account of "Austrian atrocities" was given out here today by the Serbian Agricultural Relief Committee of America. The committee's statement follows:

"In our campaign to secure relief for suffering Serbia we have refrained from giving out any information that would tend to color sentiment against the enemies of Serbia. We make public the official report of Austrian atrocities during the first invasion of Serbia at this time merely to explain what caused the non-combatants to flee to the concentration camps in the south when the second invasion began.

PLANS FOR BIG ATTACK WELL LAID

Austro-German Army Concentrating for Weeks Before Blow.

Offensive on Russian Front Predicted By Location Kept Secret.

Victory in Western Galicia Considered an Important One.

Vienna, May 4, via London.—War bulletins issued by the Austrian and German army headquarters and posted in Vienna yesterday and today bring news of the Austrian-German victory over the Russians in Western Galicia.

A large Austro-German army has been steadily concentrating before Cracow for the last three weeks, with the idea of making a new offensive movement. All available Austro-Hungarian troops have been quietly transferred during this time to the Dunajec front and for a fortnight past an unbroken stream of troop trains has been pouring eastward from Frankfort, Berlin and other German railroad centers. Thus was warning given that big events were impending in the east. Newspaper correspondents were permitted to telegraph that a new offensive on the Russian front was in prep-

OROZCO MAY HAVE CROSSED BORDER

Leader of Anti-Madero Revolt Disappears From American Town.

El Paso, Tex., May 4.—Gen. Pascual Orozco, leader of the anti-Madero revolt and later a military commander under Former Provisional President Huerta, last night disappeared from the American border town, Fabens, Tex., and is believed to have crossed into Mexico. Gen. Marcelo Carraveo, former lieutenant under Orozco, who has been living in El Paso, last night, also could not be located.

The reported disappearance of Orozco and his former lieutenant and the report received here from American troops of the border patrol of heavy firing last night near Guadalupe, Mex., opposite Fabens, Tex., was taken in well-informed cricles here to indicate the possibility of an incipient counter-revolution.

ULTIMATUM FOR CHINA.

Tokio, May 4, 7:30 p. m.—The Yomiuri, in a lengthy edition, declares that the elder statesmen, after listening to lengthy explanations from Premier Okuma and Foreign Minister Kato, have approved a project to send an ultimatum to China.

London, May 4.—The United States and Great Britain have entered into no formal negotiations on the subject of Japan's demands on China. Announcement to this effect was made in the house of commons today by the British foreign minister, Sir Edward Grey. The foreign minister added that the only communication of the sort between the American and British governments had been a brief and formal conversation in February between Ambassador Page and a representative of Great Britain.

MORE TALESMEN FOR CARMAN JURY

One Hundred Present From Which to Makes Selection of Seven.

Mineola, N. Y., May 4.—One hundred additional talesmen from whose members more jurors were to be chosen to try Mrs. Florence Carman for the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey last June, were in the supreme court room today when the trial was resumed. Five jurors had been selected in the first day's session.

Mrs. Carman spent the night in the jail here. Her active part in the selection of the jury is one of the chief features of her second trial. In the first trial she had little to say about the choice of jurors.

SUCCESSES ARE REPORTED IN FLANDERS

Germans Take Five Positions Where Fighting Has Been Severe.

Large Number of Guns and War Material Taken in East.

Teutons Repulse Russian Attack to the Southwest of Kalwarya.

Berlin, May 4, via London.—The Russians lost 21,500 prisoners to the Germans and to the Austrians in the recent heavy fighting in Western Galicia, according to an official statement given out in Berlin today.

This is the engagement in which the Germans and the Austrians claim a notable victory. In addition to the men captured the Teutonic allies took 16 pieces of artillery, 47 machine guns, and a large quantity of war material.

The Germans yesterday took five positions in Flanders, where the fighting has been hot for many months past.

The same announcement sets forth that in the German invasion of the Baltic province of Russia the Germans have captured more than 4,000 retreating Russians.

Other engagements in Russian Poland are described as having resulted favorably to the Germans.

Text of Statement.

The text of the communication follows:

"In Flanders yesterday we pursued our attacks from the northeast with great success. This morning we captured Zevecote, Zonnebeke, Westhok, the forest of Polygonous and Nonnebosschen. These positions have been hotly contested for many months past. The retreating enemy was under the

EXPECTED CLAIMS TO BE EXAGGERATED

British Correspondent Says Germans Have Reason to Make Them.

London, May 4.—German claims of a crushing defeat of the Russian center, are exaggerated accounts of local successes in the opinion of the Daily Mail's military correspondent who says:

"Such exaggerated claims are to be expected just now, in view of the necessity of influencing wavering neutrals. Nevertheless the German offensive against the Russian center long has been expected. For the past month, the Germans have been moving men to Cracow.

"That such a maneuver as piercing the Russian center was essayed at the same time as serious attacks toward Riga and Ypres shows the resources and amazing audacity of the German staff. If the Russian front has been pierced and a serious reverse suffered, the war will be greatly prolonged, but that any German success, however great, will affect the resistance of Russia, cannot be believed."

VILLA WOUNDED BY ONE OF HIS COLONELS

Olivas Fires Three Shots at Leader; Is Promptly Killed.

It was said three shots were fired and Villa was wounded twice, but not dangerously. Olivas, it is said, was killed by his brother officers. It was said the trouble followed reduction of Olivas to the ranks for disobedience.

AWAITING ADVICE ON GULFLIGHT WRECKING

President Wilson Declines to Comment on the Affair at Present.

Washington, May 4.—President Wilson refrained from comment today on the wrecking of the American steamer Gulflight by a German torpedo, while awaiting advices on all the facts and circumstances. The president said he expected a full report from Consul Stephens at Plymouth, England, as well as from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin.

When asked concerning the case of Leon C. Thresher, an American drowned when the British steamer Falaba was sunk by a German submarine, President Wilson revealed that no representations have as yet been made to Germany, but that very probably it would be treated with the other cases that had arisen, as, in his opinion, they all seemed a part of the war zone circumstances.

Early today the president and Secretary Bryan conferred at length, but it was said they did not discuss any line of policy in the war zone cases, deferring that until a complete investigation of the Gulflight incident has been made.

And Just When He Was Getting His Political Yard Cleaned Up.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Italy has postponed again her decision concerning participation in the war. Rome dispatches say that new offers have been presented on behalf of Austria in an effort to satisfy Italy's territorial demands.

King Victor Emmanuel's decision not to attend the unveiling of the Garibaldi monument is regarded as indicating that no warlike action will be taken in the immediate future, for it was the opinion in Rome that his presence on this occasion would have been equivalent to a declaration of war on Austria.

Information from Vienna shows that the sudden attack on the Russians in Western Galicia was the result of an elaborate plan made by the German and Austrian military chiefs several weeks ago.

Unofficial advices from Russian sources assert the German claims of victory are exaggerated, although it is admitted the movement was an important one.

A London dispatch concedes that if it is true the Russian front has been pierced the war will be prolonged greatly.

Simultaneously with the new attack on the Russian front, Austria has resumed operations against Montenegro. An official Montenegrin statement says Austrian attacks all along the front were repulsed.

Little news comes from the Dardanelles. One unofficial dispatch says fierce fighting is proceeding day and night. Such reports as come from Constantinople continue optimistic.

LOCK DOOR BEFORE HORSE IS STOLEN

Voss Fears Jitney Accidents and Wants Emergency Ordinance.

Commissioner Merritt's successful stand against the emergency jitney ordinance at the council meeting last evening was severely criticized this morning by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division.

"There is great danger of jitney accidents," he declared, "and an emergency does exist at the present time. Those who see no emergency are not aware that a serious injury or death from some jitney accident could happen and that the victims would have no chance to recover damages from the driver or owner of the automobile. It is merely to protect the public at large that such action is absolutely necessary on the part of the council.

"What would be the difference, if the council agrees on the ordinance introduced last night and finally passes it after three readings, than if an emergency ordinance is gone over carefully and agreed upon by the entire commission? No difference at all and we would not be compelled to wait thirty days for the law to go into effect.

"The trouble is that we are going to lock the barn door after the horse is stolen. Now is the time to prepare and not wait until some serious accident happens. Only two days ago thirteen people were injured in a jitney accident in Milwaukee and the people there are clamoring for the most drastic regulations.

"I don't see why Commissioner Merritt should be opposed to regulating jitneys immediately, when we know that regulation is absolutely necessary. It is simply getting down to business right away, that's all.

"I am not playing favorites, nor is Mr. Silberstein, but we want to protect the people of Duluth and to guard against something that might be avoided by acting quickly. The jitney drivers know that regulations are needed and we could easily come to a satisfactory agreement. Just why Mr. Merritt should think that we are too stringent with these drivers, I cannot say, for no such thing is true."

"BATHER" IS RELEASED

Giving Baths to Tuberculosis Patient Not Practising Medicine.

Patient Dies Under Treatment But Lee Goes Free.

Believing that his "massage baths" would help cure an advanced case of pulmonary tuberculosis, Kustaa A. Lee, Swedish "bather," suggested a course of treatment at his "Natural Sanatorium," 5319 East Superior street, for Anton Kotchevar of Ely, according to evidence introduced in municipal court this morning.

Lee was tried before Judge W. H. Smallwood on a charge of practicing medicine without a license, and the case was dismissed, as it was shown that Lee made no pretensions of being a physician.

After Kotchevar had paid $90 for a treatment consisting of alternate hot and cold baths, he collapsed one day while taking a bath under Lee's direction and died a few minutes later, according to a story related by Mrs. Kotchevar.

Although authorities state that they had received several complaints from patients at the Lee sanatorium, criticizing the methods used by the "massage bather," they have failed so far in an attempt to discover a case in connection with which he might be prosecuted successfully.

Late last summer Mr. Kotchevar, then a patient at the Cass Lake state tuberculosis sanatorium, was discharged as incurable, and advised to go home, so that he might enjoy the remaining weeks of his life as much as possible.

In a talk with Lee soon after leaving Cass Lake, the sick man was convinced that a course of baths would benefit him, and began treatment. He was under Lee's care from Sept. 20 until he died, just three months later.

Although the testimony was unfavorable to Lee, and showed that he had prescribed a course and accepted $90 as payment when there was no possibility of effecting a cure, there was no way in which he could have been convicted of practicing without a license, as his treatment did not include drugs of any kind.

MRS. E. L. MILLAR DIES IN CHICAGO

Illness Develops While Former Duluth Woman Is Visiting Daughter.

Mrs. E. L. Millar, for years a resident of Duluth, died a few days ago in a hospital in Chicago, and the burial will take place in Kenton, Ohio. Intestinal trouble developed while Mrs. Millar was making a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Clay Beckwith of Chicago, also formerly of Duluth.

Mrs. Millar had been residing in Columbus, Ohio, since leaving Duluth.

The news came this morning in a letter to Mrs. G. A. Tomlinson from Mrs. Beckwith.

Mrs. Millar, during her long residence here, became one of the best known women of the city and was generally popular. Much grief will be felt among her friends on receiving the news of her death, which will come as a shock, for Mrs. Millar had been in correspondence with friends here since leaving the city, and had been apparently enjoying good health.

PREPARED TO TAKE BLAME

Husband Was Planning to Go to Prison to Shield Wife.

Judge's Questioning of Wife Saves Him From Stiff Sentence.

Rather than blacken the name of his wife with a story that would have proven a good defense to the charge lodged against him, John Swapinski came into district court before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon and in the face of a penitentiary sentence entered a plea of guilty to a charge of abandoning his family.

And but for the chance appearance of his wife on the scene and the confession which came from her lips, Swapinski might be awaiting a trip to Stillwater prison today.

Laughing and tittering until she had to be severely reproached by the court, Mrs. Lilly Swapinski, mother of four and wife of the accused man, confessed to Judge Cant between giggles that she was the real offender. She admitted that there was another man in the case and that a condition had arisen in their home life which made their living together impossible.

The spectacle of a giggling woman standing before Judge Cant relating a story of infidelity which would have brought a blush of shame to the face of a right-living mother, convinced the court and County Attorney Greene that Swapinski had good reason to leave his wife and should not be made to answer to a crime. On the motion of the county attorney, Judge Cant dismissed the case. His plea of guilty was set aside.

Swapinski admitted to the court that he was the husband of Mrs. Lilly Swapinski and the father of her four children and that he had not supported them in five years. In March, 1913, after an absence of three years Swapinski returned to his family with the intention of living with his wife again. After a day or two after he learned of her infidelity, he left her and never returned home. She discovered he was in Duluth last March and had him arrested on a charge of abandonment.

Admits His Guilt.

When arraigned before the court yesterday afternoon, Swapinski admitted the charge of desertion and pleaded guilty. Judge Cant asked him to relate the circumstances and Swapinski related the story up to the point where he deserted her in March, 1913. When asked why he had left her at that time, Swapinski simply stated that there was "trouble" between them. He declined to state what the "trouble" was.

Before the court passed sentence his wife came into the courtroom. County Attorney Greene informed the court of her presence and she was asked to step forward. The court then questioned her about the family relations and up to the point where Swapinski had left off, Mrs. Swapinski told substantially the same story.

When asked concerning the "trouble," Mrs. Swapinski laughed outright. She could hardly contain herself when she confided to the court that there was a man in the case, admitting that she was to blame for Swapinski's departure.

Puzzled at the sudden outburst of mirth, Judge Cant suggested to the woman that the matter was not a joke and that unless her tittering ceased she might be punished for contempt of court.

The court's admonition had little, if any, effect on her. Her attempts to suppress her feelings were ineffectual and she even giggled when she inquired of the court what punishment might be meted out to her if she continued.

"The court might put you in jail for such disrespect," the judge informed her.

Mrs. Swapinski stopped suddenly, looked about her for an instant, and then shaking her head and putting a kerchief to her face, indulged in another outburst assuring the court that she had to have her laugh out anyway, whether she went to jail or not.

The court looked inquiringly at the county attorney. Mr. Greene suggested that the woman was under the influence of liquor.

This remark quieted Mrs. Swapinski and she denied the insinuation.

"I haven't had a thing to drink today," she assured the court "and besides I don't drink anything but beer anyhow!"

The court then gave her a stern lecture on right living and asked her if she was endeavoring to live right at the present time. The woman declared that she was obliged to, because she was living at home with her parents.

CAMPAIGN FOR AMENDMENT

N. M. D. A. Will Begin Work in Behalf of Revolving Fund.

Would Call for $250,000 for Improvement of Unsold State Land.

Although the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to set apart from the state school land funds the sum of $250,000 to be used as a revolving fund for the improvement of unsold state lands, will not be submitted to the vote of the people until the general election in November, 1916, a campaign in behalf of the measure may be started next month when the Northern Minnesota Development association holds its midsummer meeting at Coleraine.

It is not considered unlikely, however, that the boosters for the project may deem it advisable to postpone the launching of a campaign in behalf of the bill until the winter meeting of the association at Bemidji next December. Some of the backers of the project believe that better results would be obtained if the campaign for the proposed amendment is not started too early.

Fund for Improvements.

The 1915 legislature passed a law, which submits to a popular vote a proposed amendment to the constitution by which the legislature is authorized to set apart from the funds derived from the sale of school and swamp lands a revolving fund of not more than $250,000 to be used in constructing ditches, roads and fire breaks through and around unsold lands and for partially clearing the same. The amendment provides that such fund shall be replenished from the enhanced value realized from the sale of lands so benefitted.

The idea of the promoters of the reclamation project is to have the state improve and partially clear state lands for the prospective settler, the cost of the improvement to be added to the price of the land when sold. The cost of the improvement would then be deducted and turned back into the revolving fund to be used again in the same work. Those who are behind the project believe that such a law on the statute books would be of immense benefit to the incoming settlers and effectually serve to develop the country.

Amendment at Next Election.

Senators P. H. McGary of Walker and L. H. Nord of International Falls and Representatives Paul Marschalk of Warroad and L. H. Miner of International Falls performed a valiant service in the legislature in securing the passage of the bill authorizing that the constitutional amendment be proposed at the next general election. St. Louis county senators and representatives also gave the measure good support.

It is probable that when the Northern Minnesota Development association does take the matter up, a systematic campaign in the interests of the proposed amendment will be started. A fund for this purpose will probably be raised. The association fund, which is derived from public funds, is not available for use in a campaign to further such a project, and it will be necessary for a separate campaign fund.

BELIEVE BOTH WERE VICTIMS OF SAME MAN

New York, May 4.—Convinced that Charles Murray, the 4½-year-old boy murdered in the hallway of a lower East Side tenement last night was slain bl a man who on March 19 killed Leonore Cohn, 5-years-old, the police made energetic efforts today to arrest the murderer. Both crimes were "ripper" murders, presenting many similar features.

Several men arrested on suspicion early today were released, but a negro porter in whose clothing were found several rusty razor blades and a revolver, and who was loitering near the Murray tenement, was still under arrest.

BODY OF SEAMAN HAS BEEN RECOVERED

Washington, May 4.—Reports to the navy department state that the body of Albert F. Lewrenz, ordinary seaman on the United States converted yacht Scorpion, who, with Lieut. Commander William F. Commander Bricker's body was recovered immediately after the accident and is to be brought to the United States on a collier, but the other two victims were not found.

Killed By Fall.

Chicago, March 4. — Charles H. Rounds, at one time a wealthy real estate dealer, was killed yesterday when he fell or leaped from the roof of the 20-story Auditorium building, narrowly missing several pedestrians. Rounds had suffered financial reverses, the police said.

President of Venezuela.

Caracas, May 4.—The national congress yesterday by a unanimous ballot elected Gen. Juan Vicente Gomez president of Venezuela, for the term 1915-1922. Gen. Gomez was first vice president of Venezuela, when Cipriano Castro held the presidential office and in 1914 became commander-in-chief of the Venezuelan army.

Court at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., May 4.—Judge B. F. Wright opened district court here today. There are seventy-five cases on the civil calendar. A grand jury was charged and put to work on pending cases. Citizenship cases will be taken up tomorrow morning and the first petit jury case called Thursday.

ANANIAS OR SAPPHIRA?

Bendixen Family Mix-up Convinces Court of Deceit Somewhere.

Man Relates Story of Assault By Divorced Wife and Sons.

Relating a strange story of how he had been lured into the home of his divorced wife and there set upon and brutally assaulted by her and his two children and kept a prisoner for hours, John Bendixen, Park Point fisherman, appeared before Judge Cant in district court this morning in a proceeding in which he sought to have his wife punished for contempt of court.

Mrs. Anna Bendixen came into court to answer an order to show cause why she should not be punished for failing to obey the court's order permitting her divorced husband to visit his youngest child twice a month.

Stories told by Mrs. Bendixen and the children were diametrically opposed to that related by Bendixen. The latter claimed that he called at his former home on Saturday, April 3, a day allowed by the court on which he might visit his youngest son, and was met by his former wife at the door.

According to his story, she invited him to step inside. He did so, he said, and was instantly set upon by Mrs. Bendixen and his two sons, one aged 16 and the other 11. He fought with them for fifteen minutes, he said. When he attempted to leave the house, he asserts, he found the doors locked against him. He declared that it was about 2 o'clock when he called at the house and that he was kept a prisoner there until after 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Bendixen and the children gave his story the lie. Mrs. Bendixen declared that he had called at the home and asked for the boy, who immediately left the premises with his father and went to the latter's shack about a block away where the father and son spent the afternoon. The boy corroborated his mother. The older son testified that he left the house about 1 o'clock and did not show up until supper time and was not present at all.

Somebody Lies, Says Court.

Judge Cant declared that someone was lying; that there was not enough evidence to convince him that it was the woman who was telling a falsehood, and that he would have to do so if he were to punish her for contempt of court. The court denied Bendixen's petition.

The Bendixens were married Oct. 2, 1897, and were divorced by Judge Dancer last December. The court at that time gave the custody of the two children to the mother, with the understanding that Bendixen might visit the younger child on the first and third Saturdays of each month.

MOTHER'S DAY NEXT SUNDAY

Duluth Florists Receive Many Orders for Floral Gifts.

Next Sunday, May 9, will be Mother's day.

It is one day of the year when everybody wishes to pay special tribute to his mother.

On that day every one will wear a flower in honor of his mother. The prevailing method is to send flowers to her if living and wear a red flower in her honor, or if dead, to pay tribute to her memory by wearing a white flower.

The custom has become general through the world. With the separation of families, sons and daughters living away from home as often is the case, the sons and daughters write but occasionally, and a bouquet from the son or daughter is welcomed by the mother.

Florists of the city say that already hundreds of orders have been received for bouquets to be delivered "To Mother" next Sunday. In the majority of instances the orders have been for out-of-town delivery.

INSPECTORS FOR CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

City Divided Into Districts; Work Will Take Two Weeks.

Special health inspectors have been appointed by Health Director Fahey to help the city in the "clean-up and paint-up" campaign all of next week.

The entire city has been divided into five districts, and the men who were appointed yesterday have started out to help clean the city. They will work for two weeks, Dr. Fahey announced this morning.

The men appointed for this special inspection work are R. R. Grant, Harry Silk, Stephen Talkovich, James Bourestson and A. G. Kelly.

Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, proposes to aid the business men of the city during the "clean-up" campaign and he has instructed the employes of the police and health departments to make every effort to co-operate with the public. Policemen are working as health officers and will watch for violations of any of the health laws.

ARRANGING FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Real Estate Exchange Names Committees; Los Angeles Trip.

The Duluth Real Estate Exchange held a meeting and luncheon at the Commercial club this noon and discussed the coming trip of most of its members to the annual meeting of the National Real Estate Exchange, which will be held at Los Angeles, Cal., June 21 to 24. Plans for the annual meeting of the Duluth exchange, which will be held on Tuesday, June 1, were also started, and committees appointed to complete arrangements.

As to the Los Angeles trip, it was announced at the meeting that a special train will leave Minneapolis on June 14, which will take the Twin City and Duluth dealers, and arrangements have been made so that a few people not connected with the exchange may take advantage of the special train privileges.

It was decided that at the annual meeting of the Duluth exchange on June 1, there will be a banquet and entertainment, and the following committees were appointed to make arrangements:

Entertainment—Whitney Wall, chairman; John A. Stephenson and E. P. Alexander.

Nominations—J. E. Cooley, chairman; J. D. Stryker and C. P. Craig.

NOT SO SEVERE AS WAS SUPPOSED

Canada's Restriction on Food Exports Aimed at Allies' Enemies.

The restriction on shipments of wheat, flour and a large number of other products to the United States, the United Kingdom and foreign countries made yesterday by the Canadian authorities, is not quite so severe as at first supposed. The following dispatch from Ottawa explains itself:

"Ottawa, Ont., May 4.—The shipment of wheat, flour and a large number of other agricultural products and commodities to the United States has been prohibited, it was officially announced today, except when such shipments are intended solely for domestic consumption in the United States and not for re-shipment abroad.

"Exportation of Canadian wheat and other farm products to certain foreign countries through the United States is allowed upon permits to be obtained in each individual case from dominion authorities here.

"Another detail of the new restrictions is that all such products shipped out of the dominion must be consigned to specific firms or individuals.

"Reasons for the restriction were not divulged."

The effect on the market today was not marked either way, but the Winnipeg market did not suffer from restricted trade, for it advanced ⅞c in May wheat, and other commodities had proportional advances.

It is believed that the Canadian government wishes merely to keep tab on the shipments, that it may be sure they are not going to feed the enemies of the allies. However, the order is looked upon as an acknowledgment of shortage of grain, and therefore the expectation in this market is for an advance in Canadian products.

BUDGET PRESENTED BY LLOYD GEORGE

Estimates Cost of War for Fiscal Year at $5,682,170,000.

London, May 4.—In presenting the budget to the house of commons today the chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd George, estimated that if the war lasted during the whole of the fiscal year Great Britain's expenditure in that time would be £1,136,434,000 ($5,682,170,000).

Mr. Lloyd George estimated that the total revenue for the year 1915-1916 would be £270,182,000 ($1,350,910,000).

This is an increase of £43,638,000 ($218,190,000) over the total of last year.

Much depended, the chancellor continued, upon the operations of the next two or three months. Experts gave various predictions as to the duration of the war, but the best of them could not tell how long it would last. The operations of the summer alone could give the government a dependable opinion.

The first eight months of the war cost net £307,000,000 he said. The cost is a progressive one. The first four months cost £102,000,000, the second four months £177,000,000.

One of the most important announcements made by the chancellor was that no fresh taxes were now contemplated.

As a result of the year's operations, the chancellor said, the national debt was now £1,165,857,000.

GASOLINE TAMPER AND ROCK CRUSHER

Farrell Negotiates for Apparatus to Facilitate Street Work.

Commissioner Farrell is now negotiating for the purchase of a gasoline tamper to compact the earth after excavations are made for sewers and water mains, and a portable rock crusher for use in improving the streets running into Duluth.

The commissioner's plan is to use the tamper so that there will be no more holes in pavements. At present the workmen are compelled to allow the earth to settle for several months, before the pavement is repaired, and as a result the city streets are practically dotted with these holes. By using a tamper the earth can be fixed as soon as the extensions are built and the pavement installed at once.

The portable rock crusher will aid the public works division in stocking the rocks at points where the streets need improvement. This work, Commissioner Farrell explained this morning, could be done in the winter and will give his department an opportunity of starting improvements on the outlying streets just as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from Boyce Drug store, 321 West Superior street or any druggist and should always be kept handy.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE.

Husband Denied Her Right to Join Sewing Circle.

Because Edward N. Nelson, West end feed merchant, denied his wife the right to join a certain church sewing circle, refused to permit her friends and acquaintances to come into her home and made it an object to vex and worry her, Mrs. Bessie Nelson has been granted a divorce from him.

The decree was ordered by Judge Cant in district court after he had listened to her story. Nelson put in no appearance and judgment by default was taken against him.

Before her marriage with Nelson, she was a widow with six children. They were married in September, 1913.

MADE NO PROGRESS.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Speaking of progression at a recent dinner in Washington, Congressman Robert F. Broussard of Louisiana was reminded of an argument between Smith and Jones.

Smith and Jones were neighbors, and while talking over the garden fence one afternoon they became tangled in a discussion that required some mental calculation.

"I tell you, Jones," declared Smith, in response to an assertion of the other, "that you are entirely wrong in your conclusions!"

"You will pardon me, old man," was the emphatic rejoinder of Jones, "but I am absolutely right!"

"And I say that you are not!" shouted Smith, losing patience. "Didn't I go to school, stupid?"

"Yes," was the calm reply of Jones, "and you came back stupid."

MANICURE SHOPS AND CLEANLINESS.

Buffalo News: Manicure shops and the operators are responsible in a great degree for the spread of felons and various other forms of infection of the hand, according to statements made by Dr. Edward Wallace Lee before the convention of the Medical Society of New York. "I know of over 100 cases that I can trace directly to the careless handling of manicure instruments," Dr. Lee said. "There are a great many manicures who have no idea of the importance of sanitation and sterilization who are so unskilled and careless in the use of their instruments that it is a wonder the cases of infection are not more numerous."

CLOQUET MILLS ARE GIVING EMPLOYMENT

Cloquet, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cloquet Lumber company started its large mill sawing Monday. The smaller mill probably will not start up for some time. The Northern Lumber company started its mills today. With the increased shipping the two will employ in the neighborhood of 350 additional men each, however, they will only run one ten-hour shift. The mills are starting a little later than usual and it is expected that business will pick up considerably from now on.

Ashland Sawmill Starts.

Ashland, Wis., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Schroeder sawmill resumed operations here Monday after the winter shutdown giving employment to 150 men. There are sufficient logs on hand to keep the mill busy until the tug Ashland brings over some more. There were more men on hand ready to go to work yesterday morning than there were jobs.

HOLDS UP BIG PAVING JOB

Farrell Would Give Fair Deal to Minnesota Avenue Residents.

Resolution to Award $52,897 Contract to S. R. Okes Withheld.

Because he believes that property owners of the west side of Minnesota avenue will not get a fair deal if that thoroughfare is paved according to the plans prepared under Former Commissioner Murchison, Commissioner Farrell, head of the works division, at the council meeting last evening, held up the resolution awarding the contract to the S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis on its bid of $52,897.01. It was put over for one week and will be finally acted on next Monday.

Unfair to West Side Owners.

Commissioner Farrell declared that he has been studying the plans during the last week, and that the owners on the west side of the street are not given a fair deal. It would be unjust, he said, to pave the street only on the east side, as is provided for in the plans and specifications prepared by the former administration. This would mean, he explained, that the street car lines will be laid off the center to the right, and that owners on the west side would be compelled to use a narrow strip for driving purposes. The commissioner would like to see the plans changed so that a roadway would be built with the street car tracks right in the center of the avenue.

According to the present plans, Minnesota avenue would be paved twenty-one feet on the east side, with the tracks on the right side of the pavement.

"The plan to pave the avenue only on the east side was broached before I came into office," said Commissioner Farrell. "Car tracks of the Park Point Traction company are being laid altogether on the west side of the street. This is unfair to property owners on the west side.

Would Alter Unjust Condition.

"Switches three blocks long also are being placed so they come within a few feet of west side lots. I know I would protest if I owned a west side lot on the Point. I don't want the contract awarded yet. I want to make some arrangement to alter what I consider an unjust condition."

Commissioner Farrell will endeavor to change the plans this week, so that the tracks can be laid in the center of the avenue. It will require an additional cost for the extra pavement on the right side, but Mr. Farrell hopes to balance the expense by eliminating curbs and gutters, as the water can flow on to the adjoining sands.

JITNEY MEN ORGANIZED

More Than 100 Drivers Meet, Elect Officers and Discuss Traffic.

Routes Will Be Established and Trial Trips Made.

After listening to a lively tilt between city commissioners over the bus regulation ordinance, jitney drivers adjourned to a hall at 18 West Superior street last night and formed an organization. More than 100 drivers were present, and the election of officers followed a fervid three-hour discussion of traffic problems.

Jitney routes to Woodland, Lakeside, West Duluth and Superior will be instituted in the near future, if plans of the executive committee of the new organization are carried out.

A rate committee consisting of J. M. Brown, A. E. Andrews and C. Zauck will work out a schedule of fares after a series of test trips, and arrange the extension of jitney service to accommodate all parts of the city, instead of only the downtown sections.

After figuring out the hour-cost for trips to the suburbs, the association will attempt to establish a schedule of fares for distances beyond the zone now used by the busses.

Edward M. Kelley, 416 East Fourth street, was chosen president of the association. G. Fred Wise is secretary, and R. A. Marsh, treasurer. Members of the executive committee are M. W. Smith, R. A. Marsh, G. Fred Wise, C. Rankin and W. T. Faust.

The executive committee will attend the meeting of the city council next Monday night, when the ordinance comes up for a second reading, to present the drivers' side of the case and urge a "square deal" for the jitney.

The question of appointing a legal adviser for the association was discussed, the name of C. C. Teare, who was present, being suggested. The matter finally was laid on the table until the next meeting, May 7.

"OPEN TO BIG BUSINESS"

City Council's First Evening Meeting Draws Capacity Audience.

Renewal of Carlson License Not Favored; Minor Matters Acted Upon.

A packed council chamber greeted the city commissioners yesterday at their first evening meeting in two years. The crowd filled all the available chairs and lined up alongside the aisles. It was a "turnaway" for the "opening night."

Last week the commissioners passed a resolution changing the weekly Monday meeting from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to 8 o'clock in the evening and the new rule went into effect last night. The purpose of these night meetings, it was announced, is to give the laboring men an opportunity to hear the council proceedings.

Many Matters on Docket.

In addition to hearing the first reading of the new jitney ordinance introduced by Commissioner Silberstein, the council passed the April payrolls, awarded several contracts for street improvements and sanitary sewers and considered many matters pertaining to the welfare of the city. Action on the renewal of Charles Carlson's saloon license at 513 West Superior street was deferred one week.

Commissioner Silberstein announced that he would not recommend the renewal of Mr. Carlson's license and was on the point of asking its rejection but, because of some doubt in the minds of the other commissioners as to the status of the case, final action was deferred until next Monday evening. Mr. Silberstein claims, however, that unfavorable reports have been made to him by the police after a careful investigation and that he is inclined not to renew the license. A renewal was denied several months ago by Former Commissioner Hicken, who claimed that women were arrested upstairs of the saloon and that they had been furnished liquor by the bartenders.

Contract Is Awarded.

The contract for the paving of Highland street, from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-sixth avenues west, was awarded to Gilman-Murphy-Patterson on their bid of $22,146.80. Work is expected to start within the next two weeks.

Commissioner Farrell introduced resolutions awarding the contracts for the laying of plank sidewalks throughout the city to Kiltin & Co., on the bid of $10,940, and for cement walks east of Twelfth avenue west to E. F. Hillard on his bid of $9,594. As these contracts involve expenditures of more than $1,000, the resolutions will have to go over until next Monday before final action can be taken. A resolution was adopted, rejecting the bids on the laying of cement walks west of Twelfth avenue west and authorizing the commissioner of public works to advertise for new bids.

Woodland Paving Contract.

A resolution awarding the contract for the paving of Woodland avenue from Fourth street to Kent road to A. N. Nelson on his bid of $17,793.20, was introduced by Commissioner Farrell. Final action will be taken next Monday. J. R. MacLachlan & Co., are awarded the contract for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Faribault street, from Shakopee to Kolstad avenues in a resolution introduced by Commissioner Farrell. Their bid is $1,274.74.

The contract for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Ninth street from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth avenues west, was awarded to John Hedberg on his bid of $1,009.43.

The April payroll for all the department was passed, a resolution authorizing the payment of same having been introduced by Commissioner Voss.

Sanitary sewers were ordered in Third alley and Devonshire alley, to the sewer in Twenty-ninth avenue west; in Greysolon road, from Twenty-eighth to Twenty-ninth avenues east; in Fifth alley, from Thirteenth avenue east to lot 8, block 102, Portland division.

The contract for furnishing the police department with a motorcycle was awarded to the Motorcycle Repair shop on its bid of $320 for a Harley-Davidson, with an allowance of $155 for the Indian machine now owned by the police. An ordinance appropriating $165 for a motorcycle was introduced by Commissioner Silberstein.

The contract for furnishing the fire department with a carload of oats was awarded to Randall, Gee & Mitchell on their bid of 59¾ cents a bushel. An ordinance authorizing the expenditure was passed last evening.

The council approved the bonds of Health Director Fahey for $3,000 and Harbor Master Hoy for $600. The bonds were filed with City Clerk Borgen yesterday afternoon.

For Utility Employes.

Commissioner Merritt introduced an ordinance appropriating $620 for the purchase of a Ford automobile for the water and light department.

The resolutions authorizing the vacation of twenty-two streets and alleys near the Highland street subway were laid over another week.

Second reading was given the ordinances appropriating $30,000 for the construction of sidewalks during 1915, $7,000 for the construction of storm sewers, $5,000 for maintenance lumber and $2,500 for beautifying the exterior of the new armory.

A plank walk was ordered laid on Winona street, from Woodland avenue to 143 feet west.

City Attorney Greene announced the appointment of Leonard McHugh as collector of wheelage taxes.

Gas and water mains were ordered extended in Fifth avenue west, from 330 feet south of Commerce street to a point 208 feet southerly.

A permit to conduct a shooting gallery at 1827 West Superior street was awarded to J. A. Nelson, and cigarette licenses were awarded to W. H. Wallace, 2805 West Superior street, and the United Cigar stores at 1 West Superior street and 423 West Superior street.

LITTLE ONE RESUSCITATED AFTER BEING UNCONSCIOUS.

Watford, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—After falling into a creek, being rescued in an unconscious condition and remaining that way until brought to town from a farm some distance away, the 2-year-old child of Mr. Mrs. Robert Graham of this county was resuscitated and was apparently little the worse for his experience.

DICKINSON HOLDUP GETS ONLY TWO DIMES

Dickinson, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A masked highwayman, who held up Supt. Littlehales of the city water works department, got only 20 cents. He took Mr. Littlehales' watch, but on being informed it was a present the man restored the time piece to the owner. The revolver the man used was found next morning behind a pile of lumber near the scene of the hold up.

POSTOFFICE REORGANIZED

Centralized System Will Go Into Effect Here on May 10.

Assistant Postmastership Abolished; Several Changes in Staff.

There will be a complete reorganization of the Duluth postoffice to go into effect May 10, according to information received by Postmaster William E. McEwen from the department at Washington, D C., this morning. Greater efficiency and conservation of time and energy will characterize the new system, Postmaster McEwen declares.

With the change, the position of assistant postmaster will be eliminated, and several other important changes will take place. William C. Weld, assistant postmaster since 1908, will take a clerkship at $1,200 a year in place of the assistant postmastership at $1,900 a year. There will also be a new foreman of carriers at $1,200 a year, and his duties will include an inspection of the carrier service outside the office, keeping check on all the carriers. Anton Grabarkiewicz, now foreman of carriers, will become assistant superintendent of mails. Martin A. Meldahl, who has been promoted to postal cashier, will act as superintendent of finance. His salary will be raised from $1,200 to $1,700 a year.

"Working" System.

The entire system at the Duluth office will be a "working" system from the postmaster down. Every employe will have his duties to perform, and there will be as much concentration of time and energy as possible.

Up to a short time ago a large part of the business done at the postoffice was centered in the department of the assistant postmaster, and a great deal of individual work was done in various departments. Since Mr. McEwen went into the office as postmaster, a good deal of that work has been under his personal direction or through other departments working with him rather than with the assistant postmaster. The work will be much more centralized under the new system.

The new duties devolving upon the foreman of carriers will undoubtedly bring about better discipline and much more effective carrier service, and the public will receive much better results, Postmaster McEwen believes.

Will Check Up Carriers.

The foreman will make the rounds of the carrier routes and keep the men checked up that the service may be constantly kept up to a perfect standard if possible.

Nobody has yet been selected for this position, and Postmaster McEwen is considering candidates.

The following Washington dispatch was received by The Herald today:

"Details of the reorganization of the Duluth, Minn., postoffice under the two-division plan were announced at the postoffice department today. The same features of this plan, which have successfully applied in many other large offices, are introduced at Duluth. They include centralized supervision and interchangeable personnel, a scientific arrangement of equipment and additional protection of funds and financial transactions. More expeditious and economical handling of the mails also will result. Under Postmaster McEwen, Thomas E. Considine retains the title and will act as superintendent of mails and Martin M. Meldahl, who has been promoted to postal cashier, will act as superintendent of finance.

'In the division of finance, Ella R. Stringer becomes money order cashier.

"In the division of mails, Anton Grabarkiewicz becomes assistant superintendent of mails. Messrs. Edward M. Barker, Charles A. Ehling and Oscar R. L. Johnson become foremen. Charles C. Salter retains title of superintendent of stations."

king, not to go to Quarto Sant' Elena. It would be an exaggeration to say that the participation of Italy in the war has been averted. Nevertheless it is the opinion of students of the situation that war today is not as near as it was on Saturday.

Creates Sensation.

"In view of the international situation, the king and his ministers cannot leave the capital to be present at the unveiling of the Garibaldi monument at Quarto Sant Elena," was the text of a note issued after the meeting of the cabinet yesterday. Its publication produced a profound effect upon public opinion.

Abandonment of the plan for the participation of King Victor Emmanuel and high government officials in the ceremonies attendant upon the unveiling is believed to have been the result of the call made by Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, upon Foreign Minister Sonnino Sunday night. The details of this conference are supposed to have been presented at the meeting of the cabinet, the call for which was not issued until yesterday morning. The ministers assembled two hours later and the council lasted four hours. All the ministers arrived promptly at 11 o'clock, except Minister of Justice Orlando, who was absent from Rome, and he returned to the city in time to take part in some of the deliberations.

Hastens to German Embassy.

Immediately after the council closed Baron Sonnino, who had called upon the king before the session opened, went to the consulate where the first secretary of the German embassy awaited him. After receiving a verbal communication from the baron, the secretary hastened to the Villa Malta, the private residence of Prince von Buelow, while Foreign Minister Sonnino called upon the king for a second time.

These events are interpreted in many ways in political circles but the censors have forbidden the transmission of all comment. Correspondents are permitted to say, however, that Prince von Buelow made new proposals Sunday night to Baron Sonnino. These proposals were submitted to the cabinet ministers who will hold another council today.

Decisions Not Altered.

The press is unanimous in declaring the abandonment of the king's trip to Quarto has in no way altered the government's decisions. A semi-official note couched in vague terms says:

"Italy's attitude cannot undergo any change from the king's not going to Quarto."

An official of the foreign office is reported to have stated that the government's decision was due entirely to the situation in Tripoli, where "Italy might be forced to extreme measures to protect our colony where German agents are fomenting rebellion."

SUBMARINES STEADILY ADD TO THEIR LIST OF VICTIMS

long. Built in 1903 she was owned by Det Selmerke Rederi of Trondhjem, Norway.

America Torpedoed.

Newcastle, Eng., May 4.—The Norwegian steamship America was torpedoed in the North sea on Saturday. The vessel sank within two hours.

The crew of the America consisting of thirty-nine men was picked up thirteen hours later by the Norwegian mail boat Sterling and was landed at Newcastle.

The America left Sunderland Sunday morning for Bergen. The steamship America was larger than most of the vessels which have been sunk by German submarines. Her tonnage was 2,506. She was engaged in the transAtlantic trade and left Philadelphia March 28 on her last trip from this country.

Sailed From Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 4.—The steamship America was owned by the Sweden-Norway line, and carried a cargo of lubricating oil and general merchandise valued at $240,166. She sailed from this port March 28 for Bergen and Christiania, in command of Captain Endresen.

Laila Sent Down.

Copenhagen, May 4.—The Norwegian steamer Laila was sunk in the North sea on Friday by a German submarine. Her crew was landed at Copenhagen by the steamer Anna, which witnessed the sinking and at the request of the German submarine took the crew of the Laila aboard.

The Laila was a small freighter engaged in the North sea trade. Her tonnage was 445. She was last reported as arriving at Bergen on April 30.

Lands Crew.

Plymouth, England, May 4.—The steamer Lyonnesse last night brought from the Scilly islands to Penzance thirty-three members of the crew and the body of Captain Alfred Gunther, of the American steamer Gulflight, which was torpedoed off the Scilly islands last Saturday.

In an interview at Penzance, Second Officer Paul Bower, of the Gulflight, whose home is in Chicago, said:

"When the Gulflight left Port Arthur we were followed by a warship of some description which kept out of sight, but in touch by wireless, and warned us not to disclose our position to anyone.

"At noon Saturday, we were twenty-five miles west of Scilly. The weather was hazy, but not thick. About two and one-half miles ahead I saw a submarine. I was on watch and notified the cantain and chief officer, who also saw the submarine. It remained on the surface for three minutes and then disappeared.

Struck by Torpedo.

"Twenty-five minutes later we were struck by a torpedo on the starboard side, and there was a tremendous shock. The submarine had not reappeared on the surface before discharging the torpedo.

"Previous to this we had been met by two patrol boats, which accompanied us on either side. The boat on our starboard was so badly shaken by the explosion that her crew imagined that she also had been torpedoed. We immediately lowered the boats and left our ship and were quickly taken on board the patrol boats. But the fog increased and we drifted about all night and did not land at Scilly until 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

"At midnight Saturday, while still on board the patrol boat, Captain Gunther summoned me. I found him in bed and he said he wanted some one to roll a cigarette for him. He then tossed up his arms and fainted. From then until the time of his death, which occurred about 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning, he remained unconscious."

Berlin Admits Loss of Two.

Berlin, May 4, by wireless to Sayville.—The German admiralty has issued an announcement setting forth that on May 1, at noon, a German submarine sank the British torpedo boat destroyer Recruit in the neighborhood of the Galloper Lightship.

On the same day near the North Hinder Lightship there was an engagement between two German patrol boats and several armed English steam trawlers. One trawler was destroyed. A division of British destroyers thereupon entered the action and the German patrol boats were lost. The British admiralty declares that a majority of the crew was saved.

It is in these camps that typhus fever is taking its frightful toll. The incidents given below are selected at random from the report, and are by no means the greatest of the horrors perpetrated, as much of the report is unprintable.

Everything Destroyed.

"Four cities and forty-one towns and villages have been completely or in part destroyed. They have not been pillaged in the ordinary sense of the word; they have been totally devastated. The Austrians have destroyed everything they could not carry away. They have poisoned the wells, have carried off all money and paper of value in the banks and destroyed the books and registers, and have destroyed all material for teaching in the schools. Churches and monasteries have been the particular object of hatred. The church at Yasbitza was turned into a stable. Young girls were dragged into this church and violated upon the holy table.

"Innumerable assassinations among the civil population were committed. In Zoulkovitch were found masses of men, women and children with their throats cut or burned alive. In a ravine lay twenty-seven bodies of men. In one house six sisters were executed.

Houses Set On Fire.

"In Prniavor, the inhabitants were forced at the point of the bayonet into their houses and the houses were set on fire. Fifty charred bodies were taken out of the house of Milan Milioutinovitch.

"In Yarebitza, the throats of a woman and her four infants were cut and their bodies piled together.

"In a field near Krivaya were found fifteen bodies of men and women with their throats cut. The face of a young girl had been transfixed by a bayonet, which had entered the left side of the lower jaw and came out by the upper part of the right cheek.

"In Maova was found a young woman killed, and upon her breast her young nursing baby still living.

'Old men of 80 and infants of 1 year were killed: Peter Panitch 87, Jivko Arsenovitch 70, Ilia Markovitch 58, Simeon Chiourghievitch 70, Milan Ghiourghievitch 54, Dobria Vassillevitch 16, a child of Bobria Vassillevitch 4, and a son of Dragomir Ghiourghievitch 3.

Infants Chopped Up.

'In Tsoulkovitch, infants of 1 year were chopped up with knives.

"In Lechnitsa, all the male children over 8 years were killed.

"In Grouchitch, Bela Reka, Tsoulkovitch, etc., the mayors were shot, to frighten the inhabitants.

"At Tsikote the nose and ears of Illia Aleksitch were cut off; chunks of flesh were then cut from his thighs.

"At Dvorska, Maxime Vassitch was tied to a mill wheel and he was stuck with knives as he turned.

"At Bogossavats, a young woman, who was about to become a mother, was killed, her unborn infant torn from her and spitted on a knife. Most women who were killed here were left naked.

"At Chabats, in a hotel where a number of inhabitants had been held, all girls over 10 years were violated in the presence of their mothers, who were killed with axes if they attempted to defend their children.

Boys Made Captives.

"Young men and boys were made captives and taken to Austria. In order the Austrians said, that King Peter should remain without soldiers during a number of years. All the young men of Grouchitch, Pethovitsa, Ribari and Bola Roka, and twenty boys and young girls from Tsoulkovitch, were carried away. At Prniavor all male children over 12 were taken. Many inhabitants of Chouritsa, Tchokechina, Bastava, Malkovitch, Likodra and Vrbitch were made captives."

OVER 20,000 RUSSIANS

flank of the fire of our batteries to the northeast of Ypres.

"In the Argonne district an attempt was made by French troops north of Four De Paris to recapture the trench which we occupied May 1, resulting in failure.

"Artillery exchanges in the country between Meuse and the Moselle also were continued yesterday.

In Eastern Arena.

"In the eastern arena of the war:

"The number of Russians captured during the pursuit of the retreating enemy in the direction of Mitau has been increased to more than 4,000. A renewed Russian attack to the southwest of Kalwarya, north of Suwalki, in Russian Poland, has been repulsed. We took 170 prisoners. Russian attacks to the southeast of Augustowo resulted in a failure with heavy losses to the enemy. In addition to four officers killed the Russians in this engagement lost two machine guns and 420 men were captured by us.

"Near Jedwalno to the northeast of Lomza, a Russian night attack was repulsed.

"In the southeastern arena of the war:

"The offensive movement between the wooded slopes of the Carpathians and the Upper Vistula is progressing well. The booty of the first day was 21,500 prisoners, 16 pieces of artillery, 47 machine guns and a quantity of war material of all kinds, the exact amount of which has not yet been ascertained."

French Statement.

Paris, May 4, 2:35 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading:

"There was a German attack yesterday evening on the British front to the north of Ypres. The Germans were driven back by our allies.

"In the Argonne near Bagatelle we delivered an attack which resulted in the gaining of ground."

Russian Reverse.

London, May 4.—The reported Russian reverse in Western Galicia took precedence over all other phases of the war today, and even overshadowed discussion on the forthcoming budget. Striking an average between Austrian and German official accounts, London newspapers agree that the Russians must have been pushed back a considerable distance along this front, which runs north and south a distance of about sixty miles from the Carpathians, over Bartfeld, to the junction of the Dunajec and Vistula rivers on the border of Russian Poland.

Petrograd evinces little concern over the situation, although admitting that the Austro-German forces are making strong attacks along the front in which they claim a great victory.

Attacks in West.

German official advices concerning operations on the western front confirm the French and British reports of attacks by the invaders on St. Julien, but nothing is said about the assertion of the allies that Hill No. 60 is again the object of the German offensive.

Russia is again co-operating in the attack on Constantinople by renewing bombardment of the Bosporous forts.

Italy is occupying the center of the diplomatic stage. Latest information is that negotiations between Italy and Austria have once more been resumed.

The crisis in the Chino-Japanese negotiations is attracting much attention here. The press discusses the controversy with reserve.

short time clarify itself. He had heard no word of any ultimatum by Japan to China as reported from Tokio and was not inclined to credit it, pointing out that from time to time since the parleys began there have been similar intimations. Reports that China had appealed to the United States for moral assistance in the negotiations with Japan, the president declared to be untrue.

Okuma Disappointed.

Tokio, May 4.—The Kokumin Shimbun today quotes Premier Okuma as expressing his disappointment with the course of the Chinese authorities.

The Kokumin Shimbun says it is in a position to declare with authority that whatever action Japan takes her course will not disturb the friendly relations with the United States and Great Britain.

There have appeared statements in the Japanese press that the followers of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who are now in Japan plotting to overthrow Yuan Shi Kai, president of the Chinese republic, have issued a manifesto making the charge that Yuan Shi Kai in reality was the originator of the Japanese demands, his ulterior motive being to secure the help of Japan to make himself emperor. These allegations, however, are quite without confirmation.

Minister of Justice Ozaki is quoted by the newspapers as having announced that the cabinet had decided to send an ultimatum to China urging her to reconsider the decision to make no further concessions to Japan.

It is explained in official circles that Japan has no desire to resort to force but that China "must be made to realize this country is determined upon the acceptance of its program for solidifying the peace of the Orient."

MORE DETAILS ON PRINTING

opened. F. C. Foster, secretary of the state printing board, who was called as a witness, was questioned about records of the printing board for 1909. These apparently showed that Oliver Quayle of Albany, the lowest bidder for a legislative printing order, was awarded the contract.

In reply to questions the witness said he knew Mr. Quayle had no printing plant. The award of the contract to Mr. Quayle, signed by the attorney general, state comptroller and secretary of state, showed that the board declared Mr. Quaylo had "the best facilities" to complete the contract.

Contract Assigned.

An assignment, signed apparently by Mr. Quayle, transferring the contract to Charles M. Winchester and the J. B. Lyon company, was placed in the record. Mr. Quayle in papers to which his name was signed, said he had received a consideration for his contract.

Mr. Ivins objected to further questions about printing records, on the ground that the evidence was immaterial. Mr. Bowers called attention to the fact that Mr. Barnes wrote to Col. Roosevelt that the establishment of a state printing house would be disastrous to him financially and that a witness had sworn that there was but one job press—and that operated by a single "kicker" in the plant of the Journal company. The court ruled against Mr. Ivins and other records were read showing that successful bidders for public printing in Albany had made a practice of assigning their contracts to the larger printing concerns there.

Figures compiled by the witness showed that for many years since 1899 the state paid for legislative and departmental work a total of more than $7,000,000 annually on contracts and a large sum for additional printing.

Platt Called to Stand.

After a brief cross-examination the witness was excused and Mr. Platt was called to the stand. He said that from 1890 to 1905 his father appeared to have received 1234 letters from Mr. Barnes. He then produced the letters selected by the Roosevelt attorneys to read. There were seven from Mr. Barnes to Mr. Platt and one from Mr. Platt to Mr. Barnes. The letters were offered in evidence.

In the first letter Mr. Barnes complained about an insulting dispatch which he said he had received from Lemuel E. Quigg, who was backing John A. McCarty, who was bidding for printing in Albany. In his reply Senator Platt said he had talked to Mr. Quigg about state printing contracts and that he sincerely hoped the matter could be adjusted without going into the courts.

In reply Mr. Barnes spoke of taking a contract off the hands of a Mr. Dady at the price agreed upon. He writes he did not want another printing establishment in Albany. Mr. Barnes again mentioned the antagonism of Mr. Quigg.

Inclined to Be Testy.

Mr. Barnes wrote he was inclined to be testy about the printing contracts under discussion as since 1893 when the Republican party was restored to power some friend had ruled against him in the matter of awarding contracts.

The next three letters were dated in 1894 and were from the plaintiff to Senator Platt. Mr. Barnes wrote about printing and an investigation which had been made. Mr. Barnes said he did not believe he would get the work. Mr. Barnes wrote that he had the word of the state treasurer he named, that the Journal would be named as the "state paper."

The next letter discussed politics and said: "Mr. Baxter wants to deprive me of a legitimate piece of patronage because I supported Mr. Morton for governor." Mr. Barnes wrote he was not complaining, but he thought the Journal might be "lost in the shuffle" unless something was done. The Baxter named was Archibald Baxter, clerk of the assembly.

aration and even to intimate that the blow would fall neither in the Mazurlan lake regions nor in the Carpathians. Closer indications, of course, were out of the question.

Plans Approved April 23.

Final plans for this movement were approved at a conference held in Berlin April 23 between Gen. von Falkenhayn, chief of the German staff, and Field Marshal Conrad von Hoetzendorf, chief of the Austrian staff. Gen. Mackensen, commander of the German Ninth army, who came from the front in Poland, also was present at the Berlin conference. He left for the front to take command of the new army that same night, after receiving his final instructions. So far as is known Field Marshal von Hindenburg did not attend the Berlin council of war, although he visited German headquarters with Gen. Mackensen shortly previous to this.

It is too early to discuss the full military effect of this victory in Galicia, but it is the opinion of Austrian observers that the German and Austrian strategists "got the jump" on the offensive which the Russians were believed to be planning and of which their campaign in the Carpathians was thought to have been preliminary.

The number of prisoners taken by the Teutonic allies mentioned in the first report is noticeably small, but the experts here expect that the total number of men captured and the amount of war booty will grow rapidly.

Front Line Pierced.

A significant feature of the reports of this victory is the reference to the piercing of the front of the Russian army. The Russian commanders up to the present time usually have been able to avoid a breach in their line by falling back before the line broke.

The political value of this victory of the first magnitude is regarded here as quite as great as the military. It comes in the midst of the Austro-Italian negotiations and on the eve of the meeting of the Italian parliament and it coincides with the announcement of new Austro-Hungarian loans, the success of which would be materially affected by a victory at this time.

A correspondent of the Neue Freie Presse of Vienna in the theater of the war, has sent in the following dispatch concerning the battle of Sunday in West Galica:

"The Austro-Hungarian offensive succeeded with surprising rapidity. The Russians occupied naturally strong positions on the Dunajec and the Biala, which had been strengthened with every imaginable method of fortifications. They felt themselves absolutely safe. After a searching artillery preparation, exceeding in intensity anything which has occurred on the northeastern front, the Austrians and the Hungarians advanced Sunday on the southern wing. They stormed at the first attempt the Russian positions along a front of more than 40 kilometers (24 miles) stretching from the Biala river through Gorlice far into the Carpathian mountains. Their assault was so fierce that the Russian line broke immediately. Many thousands of prisoners were taken, as well as an inestimable quantity of equipment, supplies, cannon and machine guns.

"At the same time on the northern wing another successful advance was carried out, the Viennese correspondent continues. "At this point Austria and Hungarian troops crossed the Dunajec in spite of terrific opposition, stormed the Russian positions and took over 1,000 prisoners.

"Other brilliant successes also are reported from the Carpathians."

A Strength, Flesh and Body Builder For Spring

Run-Down, Underweight People Put on Ten to Twenty Pounds of Healthy Flesh.

Most people show a tendency to lose weight in winter. The fat-making material in the foods they eat, which at other seasons keep flesh and weight at normal, is partially diverted in cold weather and instead is used to furnish heat for the body. Then most of us acquire coughs, colds or the grippe which tear down flesh, lower vitality, cause a considerable loss in weight and leave us in a rundown condition in the spring.

Any material loss of weight should be regarded with alarm and prompt measures taken to regain the lost flesh. A splendid body builder and flesh-producer is found in a preparation known as Sargol, which can be found at druggists everywhere and which seldom fails to give the user a weight increase of from ten to twenty pounds within a few weeks. Sargol does not of itself make flesh. It is a small tablet which readily dissolves in the stomach and, mixing with the fats, sugars and starches of the food you eat, prepares these flesh-making materials into a form where the blood can easily absorb and distribute them throughout the body. It is really amazing how quickly and easily lost flesh and weight return when Sargol is used with your meals. With returning normal weight comes too a corresponding return of health, spirits, ambition and vitality and you soon feel your old self again. Boyce Drug Store and leading druggists everywhere sell and recommend Sargol and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution: While Sargol is also widely used for overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles its action in increasing weight is so practically certain that its use is not recommended to those who are not willing to put on ten or more pounds of flesh.

Famous Dancer Gives Complexion Secrets

I've learned the secret of Dolores' entrancing beauty—the wondrous charm that has dazzled the courts of Europe and captivated vast audiences everywhere. The famous dancer abhors rouges and cosmetics. Yet despite the strenuosity of her life, she retains the incomparable complexion best described as "indescribable." An intimate friend tells me the senorita regularly uses on her face what druggists know as mercolized wax. This is applied at night in the manner cold cream is used and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead particles of skin which daily appear, and a fair, soft, fresh, girlish complexion is always in evidence.

Dolores' skin is not marred by a single wrinkle, not even the finest line. She wards these off by daily bathing the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. As your druggistores keep these ingredients, as well as mercolized wax (one ounce of the wax is sufficient), no doubt your readers will welcome this information. —Allcen Moore in Beauty's Mirror.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

BARGAIN DAY IN POLICE COURT

Judge Smallwood Lets Prisoners Off With Light Fines.

LUCKY was the man who chose yesterday as the time for his semi-annual fall from the water wagon, because it was Judge W. H. Smallwood's first day on the criminal bench today, and he was unusually lenient in honor of the occasion.

"I'm going to be good to all you fellows," he said; "but I don't want ever to see you in here again. If you do come in again, I won't be as good to you as I was this time."

Seven men, charged with first-offense drunkenness, were sentenced to pay a $3 fine or serve three days in jail, instead of the usual "$5 and costs or seven days at the workfarm."

The first man to appear before the new judge in an action since he started work on the municipal court bench was Mike Tervo, who was the first one in the "grist" this morning. He proved to be one of the seven who had "fallen off the wagon."

"ARRESTED BY A CITIZEN."

Garfield Avenue Resident Gets Into City Clean-up Campaign.

"Yours-for-cleanliness" F. X. Gravel, chairman of the clean-up and paint-up campaign committee, was given a new idea for promoting civic cleanliness last night, when Hans Christenson, a citizen, arrested a disturber and brought him to headquarters because there were no officers handy.

For the first time in many months the police blotter bore the notation "arrested by a citizen" this morning. Mr. Christenson, who lives at 501 Garfield avenue, saw Steve Norman, 30, creating trouble on the street and took him in hand.

Norman was sentenced to three days at the workfarm by Judge Smallwood.

"NO DECISION CONTEST."

Judge Refuses to Name the Winner in Domestic Warfare.

"Finish fights are not allowed in Minnesota, and so I think this can be called a no-decision contest," said Judge F. H. Cutting in municpal court yesterday afternoon, as he dismissed the case of assault against Anton Broniszewski.

"There may be a newspaper decision," he added, with a glance at the press table.

Anton was arrested Friday night by Officer A. Callahan, who found him breaking the furniture in his home, 423 East Tenth street.

Anton's wife said he had beaten her and pulled her hair, and Anton said she had given him some "lovetaps" with the stove poker. Judge Cutting decided that it was a stand-off.

"RODE THE RODS."

Fishermen Headed for Knife River Headed By Special Officer.

Four budding fishermen who were bound northward along the shore of Lake Superior in search of the wily trout didn't have railroad fare and didn't want to walk, so they tried "riding the rods" on a Duluth & Iron Range train last night.

Special Officer Christiansen of the D. & I. R. caught them in the act and the quartet, fishing tackle, bait and all, rode to jail instead of to Knife River. They were fined $7 or sentenced to seven days at the work farm by Judge W. H. Smallwood this morning.

The men were: Matt Koski, 22; John Mannisto, 23; John Mattinen, 28, and Matt Raspor, 25. They all were transient laborers.

SUPERIOR

PETITION FOR RECALL FILED

The petition for the recall of Mayor J. S. (Silver Joe) Konkel of Superior, was filed this morning with the city clerk. The petition contained the signatures of 1,247 citizens of Superior.

An election on the recall will take place early in July. The clerk, according to law, has ten days in which to certify to the names on the petition, and the city council then must set a date not less than forty days and not more than fifty days following.

According to opinion of Superior residents the election will undoubtedly take place on Tuesday, July 6. It is not expected that any court contests will take place. The committee in charge of the recall petition has gone thoroughly over the names in order to ascertain that all who signed are bonafide citizens.

After leaving the courtroom a mob followed the two men and gave them a beating. Only interference by the police prevented them from being seriously injured. The jury reached a unanimous decision of not guilty in just thirteen minutes.

BASEBALL SUITS TO BE WITHDRAWN

Ban Johnson Thinks They Should Never Have Been Started.

Boston, Mass., May 4.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, stated in an interview published today that he had consented to have the suits between organized baseball and the Federal league taken out of the Federal court in Illinois.

"I believe that baseball never should have been taken into the court," he said.

On the matter of broken contracts, Mr. Johnson said:

"No man who has jumped a contract or a reservation with the American league can ever return to that organization. That is final."

Mr. Johnson explained later that his consent to the withdrawal of the suits applied only to the American league and had nothing to do with the attitude of the National league officials.

"At the suggestion of Phillip Ball, president of the St. Louis Federals," Johnson said, "a conference of the attorneys of the American and Federal leagues was held at Chicago ten days ago for the purpose of discussing the withdrawal of the suits. The attorneys of the National league knew nothing of the meeting. Some progress had been made in the direction of an adjournment when other matters were injected in the discussion and the conference broke up without accomplishing anything.

"I do not know whether any further efforts will be made to bring about an agreement."

Chicago, May 4.—None of the baseball suits pending before Judge K. M. Landis in the United States court here, has been withdrawn, it was stated by the clerk of the court today. Judge Landis is not in the city.

This scheme of opening the league was adopted because of the desire of so many fans to participate in both events.

PAVING PLANS MUST STAND

Farrell Meets Park Point Men and Discusses Problem.

After a conference with representatives of the Park Point Improvement club this morning, Commissioner Farrell announced that the present plans for the Minnesota avenue pavement will have to stand, but that he will make a formal request of the Park Point company to place the four-block switch on the east side of the tracks, so that the tracks will not be too near the west side of the thoroughfare.

R. B. Odell, A. S. Jackson and M. J. Fearer, representing the Park Point club, met with the commissioner and objected strenuously against the layout of the switch on the west side of the tracks, where it will almost abut on private property. The company, they said, is now making such plans.

According to the plans and specifications in the public works office, which cannot be changed, the Minnesota avenue pavement, from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth street will be twenty-one feet wide and will be laid about five feet from the east sidewalk. The track of the street car company will remain where it is and will be on the right side of the pavement. This plan is satisfactory to the property owners, although many of them would like to see a 30-foot pavement, with the track in the center, but they do object to a switch on the right side of the track. It should be in the pavement on the left side, they claim.

The placing of the four-block switch on the left side will mean an additional expense to the traction company, and for this reason Commissioner Farrell proposes to take the matter up at once. The S. R. Okes Construction company will make a charge to the company for being compelled to lay the pavement around the extra track, but this, it is believed, will not be very high.

Property owners along Park Point say that they originally wanted a 40-foot pavement, with a track in the center, but that their request was denied.

GET RID OF HUMORS

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the Medicine to Take---Makes Pure Blood.

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, pimples, boils, and other eruptions come from humors, which may be either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable medicine, helps the system to discharge the humors, and improves the digestion and assimilation.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla from your druggist. It may be confidently relied upon to do its work. It purifies the blood, tones the stomach, and builds up the whole system. It goes to the roots of diseases, and its beneficial results are permanent. It sets things to rights in the system. Remember to ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla, because nothing else acts like it and nothing else can take its place.

ANTI-HAZING BILL KILLED BY SENATE

Measure to Stop Youthful Pranks Not in Favor in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., May 4.—The senate for a quarter of an hour today was under a call of the house. The call was ordered upon motion of Senator Ackley who sought to forestall a vote upon Senator Bosshard's motion to reconsider the vote by which the senate had engrossed a resolution authorizing the state to acquire and develop water powers and forests. The resolution which calls for a constitutional amendment was engrossed 16 to 12. The vote to raise the call resulted in a tie, 14 to 14, and Lieutenant Governor Dithmar refused to cast the deciding vote on the ground that the rules require that a majority of the senators elected must vote to raise a call. Finally the resolution was refered to the special conservation committee and the call was raised.

The senate with Lieutenant Governor Dithmar breaking a tie vote killed the Culbertson bill to prohibit hazing in all educational institutions supported in whole or in part by state funds. This includes high schools.

The speaker of the assembly appointed a new committee to arrange for the welcoming of former President Taft. Assemblyman Spoor, one of the appointees, a follower of Senator La Follette, asked to be excused and Assemblyman Schindler, a member of the same group, was substituted.

In a report to the legislature, it was announced that the state appropriate $5,000 a year for three years for repair and construction of the Portage levee to prevent floods and that certain real estate purchased by the state at Black River Falls following the flood of 1911, be presented to the city.

The assembly killed a bill making the adoption of the Dunn coupon ballot system compulsory all over the state.

Students Rehearse Two Dramas

Lambs' Club and Central School Seniors Getting Ready for Final Theatrical Efforts of Year; Benefit Performance By Lambs Will Be Curtain Raiser at the Lyceum.

The young Thespians of Central high school are preparing for two important productions, to be given in the near future. One is the sketch that the Lambs' Dramatic club will put on at the Lyceum next Monday evening, and the other is the senior class night play that will be given by a select cast of fourth-year actors in the school auditorium on the evening of Tuesday, June 15.

Curtain Raiser at Lyceum.

The Lambs' club has made arrangements with the Baldwin Players whereby the students will put on a short courtroom sketch as a curtain raiser to the regular attraction of the stock players, the proceeds, over a certain amount, to be given as a benefit to the high school organization. This is the second affair of this kind that the Lambs' club has put on this year. The club held a benefit night at the Lyceum, Feb. 15, the results proving very satisfactory. The organization profited considerably by this play, and the venture is to be repeated again Monday night. On their first appearance the boys presented a sketch written for them by Prof. A. F. M. Custance, and this, in addition to the regular Baldwin play, drew a capacity house. The members of the club cast have prepared a courtroom scene for their second appearance. The play is known as "The Great Pumpkin Case," or "The Great Case of Cuff vs. Muff." It is a short humorous sketch, and is expected to prove a decided hit. This will be in the form of a curtain raiser to the Baldwin play that will feature all of next week. The club considers itself fortunate in having "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm" as the stock attraction for this event. Prof. Rasey, who made such a success with the senior class play, is coaching the young Thespians in their preparation.

The cast for the play to be given by senior class June 15 has been selected by Prof. Rasey, and preparations and rehearsals will begin immediately. The play to be presented this year will be "At the End of the Rainbow," a college play that is expected to make a hit. Twenty members of the senior class will be included in the cast of characters, and Coach Rasey has selected some excellent material.

Cast For Senior Play.

The cast of characters for the play will be as follows: Robert Preston, Reginald Reed; Douglas Brown, Robert Keer; Dick Preston, Ralph McCarthy; Stanley Palmer, Russell Duncan; Ted Whitney, Horace Craig; Jack Austin, Phil Seymore; Marion Dayton, Muriel Smith; Nellie Preston, Dorothy Segog; Louise Ross, Dolly Middlecoff; Phyllis Lane, Ruth Saxine; Kathleen Knox, Bertha Blair; The Imp, Venita Mason; Emily Elliott, Mary McGonagle; Jane, Mildred Turner; Alice Brown, Louise Wasley; Polly Price, May Wielda; Elsa Ernest, Sylvia Schlesser; Marjorie Arnold, Edith Whitmore; Marie Swift, Agatha Carey; Molly Bruce, Hazel Burnside.

Mrs. De Voist Appointed Delegate to Child Welfare Conference

Mrs. P. L. De Voist of 10 Twelfth avenue east is one of the eight persons honored with appointment by Governor W. S. Hammond as delegates to the nineteenth annual conference of child welfare which will be held by the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers association in Portland, Or., May 12 to 16.

Child welfare in home, church, school and state will be considered and discussed by men and women who are leaders in all that promotes more efficient guidance and nurture of children.

The congress was incorporated eighteen years ago, when mothers from all parts of the United States met in Washington for the purpose of promoting better opportunities for all children. It was the first time in history that mothers of a nation had been called together to consider their own responsibilities as mothers and the relation of the home to civic and social life. But the mothers were not the only ones who attended the first meeting, for fathers, educators, clergymen and statesmen were there.

Home Standards.

The congress placed emphasis on home life and set for its primary work raising the standards of every home to best suit the requirements of infancy, childhood and youth. There were parent organizations and teacher organizations, but as much was lost on account of lack of co-operation, the congress co-ordinated the two classes of organizations and accomplished a far-reaching purpose.

The following extracts of the work accomplished by the congress is taken from the 1915 year book:

"The congress did not originate the juvenile court and probation system, but it saw its advantages and worked for years to establish the juvenile court and probation system throughout this and other lands, conducting a systematic propaganda which was successful in many places.

"The breaking up of families through poverty, death or desertion of one parent next engaged the consideration of the congress and the movement for the mothers' pension was inaugurated and has been promoted with ever-increasing success.

"There was no child labor committee in existence when the National Congress of Mothers inaugurated the movement to regulate the employment of children in mines and factories.

Saving the Babies.

"The baby-saving work can only be done by mothers, for they are the ones who have the care of the babies, and only by interesting and educating them can the 300,000 infant deaths in the United States be reduced. The congress maintains that this is an educational work and not a charity; that the only way to interest mothers in it is to classify it not as help to poor mothers, but to place it on the broad basis of education for all mothers.

"The National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' associations desires to secure through its campaign work:

"First.—A parent-teacher association in every school for the study of child hygiene and child nurture and for the securing of sympathetic co-operation between home and school.

"Second.—A parents' association in every church for the study of character building, for the greater realization of parental responsibility in teaching moral and spirtual truths and for the guidance and development of child life.

"Third.—A department of child hygiene in every board of health to safeguard babies' lives through correct instruction of mothers in infant hygiene, through birth registration and through protection of the milk supply.

"Fourth.—A child welfare department in city, state and nation to study conditions affecting childhood and to appy necessary remedies for their amelioration."

Hints for the Home.

Chicago Herald: Black currant jam—Two teaspoons of it, dissolved in a glass of hot water and drunk at bedtime, is an old-fashioned cure for a cold.

If a brick is used for an ironstand you will find that the iron will hold its heat much longer than when an ordinary stand is used.

To renovate a white enamel bedstead, rub the iron parts all over with a cloth dipped in paraffin, then paint it with white enamel paint.

Blouses of net or chiffon do not need to be dried out of doors. Roll in a towel after rinsing or wave through the air and iron with a cool iron.

Be sure to brush the teeth after taking medicine, since many medicines contain acids or iron, both of which are injurious to the teeth.

Before roasting apples try making a small slit all the way around each apple with a knife. This will prevent their splitting when roasting.

To make toastwater for invalids' toast very brown a slice of bread, break it in bits and pour a cup of boiling water over it. Chill before serving.

Never use a liniment near an open flame, for a liniment usually contains some combustible element. Always rub a liniment into the skin until it is nearly dry.

WOMEN SHOULD TAKE WARNING

If the statement made at a New York assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression that are telltale symptoms of some organic derangement for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs—is a specific and may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Tea Drunkards Are Common.

Tea, to me, is distasteful. I have not fallen a victim to its stimulating powers and am thankful that such is the case. Tea drinking in some of its phases strikes me as being similar to whisky drinking or the imbibing of any alcoholic drink, though I know that few will agree with me that tea drinking even remotely resembles the grosser habit. But tea drinking, though its effect upon a consumer never approaches the evil of alcohol, is, in many instances, drunk to appease cravings of the same nature.

Tea drunkenness may not be a reality from the standpoint that tea makes one unaccountable for one's actions as liquor does, but it is real inasmuch as there are men and women, too, who are its slaves as surely as there are men and women bound by the chains of whisky. These very men and women are most estimable. It never enters their heads that their craving for tea, and their constant satisfying of the craving, is as much an evil in one sense as the man who succumbs to his desire for alcoholic stimulant.

A man who drinks anything of an intoxicating nature is abhorred by many of these tea drinking people. The latter often exclude liquors of every sort from their homes, even for medicinal purposes, and yet buy pounds and pounds of tea and keep it constantly brewing on the back of the stove.

Now I have every respect for those who maintain the courage of their convictions about wines and liquors and exclude them from their homes, but I cannot help smiling when I see these same people attesting to the fact that they are in the toils of their frequent draughts of tea. They, too, have a fondness growing almost to a passion for a favorite beverage which they would hate to be without.

There are plenty of Americans who are absolute slaves to the tea drinking habit. Their brew of tea is black and bitter and surely cannot be other than injurious to the nerves if it has no further bad effects upon the system. Doctors tell us it has many, however, and that those who drink tea to excess may trace several troubles from which they suffer directly to the abusive consumption of this beverage.

It is the abuse of alcoholic beverages to which we object primarily. If man would indulge himself sensibly, there would not be any great opposition. The drunkard and the tea drinker who actually craves the beverage, and must have it, are both victims of excess. One is no worse than the other, save in the unfortunate effect that the drinking of alcoholic beverages has upon the consumer.

PREPARING FOR COMPANY.

When "company" is expected, there is a flurry of activity in the household. Even though the house before was so spick and span that the man of the house could see no need of tearing it inside out—which is because he is a mere man—when company comes there is a perfect fury of cleaning-up work.

Duluth is to have "company" this summer. It is to have conventions, of course; and it is to have the usual run of summer visitors. Many of these visitors it will be worth while impressing favorably; and it is hard to make a favorable impression with anything but a clean and sightly city.

That's another reason for going at this Clean-up Week with vim and vigor.

"I own two automobiles and am going to buy another," says Commissioner Merritt. Which only goes to prove that not even the suggestion of hard times was felt in Duluth.

THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

"Directly after the defeat of the initiative and referendum at the last general election," says the Biwabik Times, "The Duluth Herald urged that the legislature should not again submit the proposition. Now The Herald is apparently advocating this same measure."

The Times is slightly mistaken.

The Herald always has believed in the initiative and referendum, and it believes in it now, not as a substitute for representative government, but as a check upon it. As President Wilson once most happily put it, the power to initiate and to reject legislation should rest with the people as "a gun behind the door." The initiative and referendum are working best when they are available, but are not used because they are not needed.

And The Herald did not, after the defeat of the amendment last fall, "urge that the legislature should not again submit the proposition." It did declare that since the people, who were presumed to be anxious to gain this power, had had a chance to get it and had refused to avail themselves of the chance, there was no reason why The Herald or anybody else should be excited about it any more.

And though The Herald still believes in the principle of the initiative and the referendum, it is not going to get excited about it. It is not going to try to crowd it down the throat of the people. It is not going to insist stubbornly that the people take it whether they want it or not. It is going to do its share to induce the people to want it by telling what it is good for; but neither now nor hereafter is it going to wax red in the face and hot under the collar if the people do not see it as The Herald does.

The Times goes on to add this: "No matter how you look at it, the initiative power with the people of the entire state cannot but injure Northern Minnesota. The southern part of the state has and will have for some years the votes to put over what they want."

And this, too, is to be considered. We hope it isn't so. We hope it isn't possible that the people of Southern Minnesota could use the power of direct legislation to injure Northern Minnesota—that they would think of using it to initiate and pass laws harmful to this end of the state, or to veto laws that would be helpful to this section.

But what the Times of Biwabik says must be taken into consideration. The northern part of the state is widely different in almost every respect from the southern part. It is new, the south is old; it is just being opened up, the south was opened up and filled long ago; it has peculiar interests which the south has not, and which, judging by legislative expression, the south cannot understand.

If the southern part of the state were to be as backward in recognizing the needs of Northern Minnesota and in doing justice to this section as the legislature has been, then indeed Northern Minnesota would want none of your initiative and referendum.

However, let's hope it isn't so. We have discovered at times that pretty good people are misrepresented in the legislature very curiously. While the point the Biwabik Times raises is one that ought to be considered, The Herald isn't pessimistic enough to be ready yet to make it the basis of a campaign against the initiative and the referendum.

Also you will note that the report of the Audit Bureau of Circulations "is accepted by advertisers and publishers alike as FINAL."

FRANK'S LAST CHANCE.

Leo M. Frank of Atlanta having failed in his fight for life in the courts, presently his fate will rest in the hands of the governor of Georgia.

He can, if he will, commute the sentence to life imprisonment—perhaps he can pardon him.

We don't know how the governor of Georgia feels about it. Perhaps how he feels about it depends to a considerable degree on how the people of Georgia feel about it. And we don't know how Georgia feels about it, either.

But we think we do know how the people of the country at large feel about it. They hope that Frank will not be killed by the state of Georgia for the crime for which he is under conviction.

The people of the country at large don't know whether Frank is guilty or not. If they felt sure that he is guilty, they would be willing to let the law take its course. But they do not feel sure that he is guilty, and from what they have read of the trial they feel very positive that at any rate he never has been proven guilty by evidence that ought to avail to kill a worthless cur dog.

So they hope, to the end that Georgia and the nation may be spared the blot of the legal murder of a man who is perhaps innocent, that the governor of Georgia will do the best he can to avert that possibility.

It would be an exaggeration to suggest a referee for the council meetings, but it is not even unkind to intimate that there might be an asbestos curtain and lighted exits.

PUBLIC JOB TRAINING.

Almost ever since there have been industries, probably, no man has been accounted capable of engaging in any industry without some sort of previous training, either as an apprentice or in some institution given up to instruction along that particular line.

In the professions a certain amount of preparation has been considered indispensable before public performance of professional duties could be permitted.

No firm or individual or corporation would think of turning over its books to an inexperienced or untrained person to be "kept."

No business house would be expected to succeed if its direction or its operations were turned over to uninformed men.

But with public office it is and always has been different. It really seems sometimes as if a kind and merciful Providence must have watched over public affairs throughout all history, or the very notion of government of any kind would have been lost in turmoil and confusion.

Now at last we are coming to our senses, and here and there schools of government are being opened. Some of the great universities are introducing courses in municipal management and municipal affairs, and there are other similar lines of study being worked out, notably in the training school founded by Mrs. E. H. Harriman.

That there is need of training in public work will not be disputed by anybody who has ever studied the conduct of public affairs in any given city or state or even in the nation. As the Seattle Post-Intelligencer says, it has been found "that the losses by honest incompetence were nearly as great as by cunning and dishonest greed."

Perhaps we will see, within a few years, an available corps of efficient municipal and other public men, who can be secured by different localities to manage affairs, subject to the peculiar local needs as these are made clear by local men.

Where such a system would lead is yet to be learned. Maybe it is to bring about a general adaptation of some modification of the city manager plan, or maybe it is to develop into something entirely different. But which ever way it works out, it will be a mighty good thing for American governments, in that it will furnish trained men to do work that has to be paid for by the public, and paid for in part by those who cannot afford to waste their money.

Have you started to "clean up" yet?

Ex-President Taft will lecture in Madison, Wis., this week, but there is no sign of postponing the Barnes-Roosevelt matter for the occasion.

In view of the quantities of salt that have to be taken with some of the war reports, the world may yet face a shortage in that commodity.

A Model Constitution

Editorial in the New York World.

The Constitution of the United States remains the best type of a written Constitution.

It is brief but it is also comprehensive, and not a line of legislation can be found in it. The executive power is all centered in the executive. The legislative power is all centered in the congress. The judicial power is all centered in the judiciary. There is no division of responsibility except in so far as the senate has a check upon the president's appointments and shares the treaty-making power, and the president through the veto has a check upon the legislation enacted by congress.

The powers delegated to the Federal authority are specifically enumerated. The inhibitions upon the power of congress and of the states are clearly defined.

In spite of all the conflicts between loose constructionists and strict constructionists, the Constitution has never required amendment in any of its essential provisions. Except for an alteration in the method of electing the president and another alteration in the method of electing United States senators, the original Constitution remains untouched. The other amendments have added powers or forbidden the exercise of powers, but they have made no change in the original structure.

State Constitutions are forever undergoing revision because they lack the simplicity of the Federal structure. They do not center the executive power in the governor. They do not center the legislative power in the legislature; for these state Constitutions are themselves stuffed with legislation. The judiciary has no clear charter.

In the Legislative Manual of New York the Constitution of the United States, with its annotations, occupies thirty-four pages, and the Constitution of the state of New York, with its annotations, occupies 114 pages. It is no exaggeration to say that half of the New York Constitution is devoted to matters which ought to be left unreservedly to the legislature, and that half of what remains should be left to the legislature under well-defined restrictions upon legislative powers.

Most state Constitutions are framed in distrust of the governor, of the legislature, and of the people themselves. In other words, they are framed in distrust of Republican self-government. In that respect they are the very antithesis of the Federal Constitution.

There is enough political ability in the New York constitutional convention to draft a model charter of state government if the spirit is also there. But first there must be a reasonable measure of confidence in the ability of the people to govern themselves wisely and justly. If that spirit is not present the new Constitution will be as defective as the old Constitution, and it is not improbable that the work of the convention will be wasted.

Florida Has Gone Crazy

Miami, Fla., Metropolis: Florida is a wonderful state. Its climate, you know, is so marvelous; its soil, you know, is so fertile; its potentialities for wealth, you know, are so unbounded—note it well; "climate," "soil," "wealth." Over and over again the good boosters of Florida lay stress on these features of Florida's greatness. Radiating from them come opportunities for true and faithful boosting about the ideal places for winter homes and winter visitors, the wonderful crops and the groves and the developing farms, about the good roads already built and needed, and then countless other things that make up Florida's great wealth, but—

Florida stands only a few steps from the bottom in literacy. Florida has no compulsory school attendance law. Florida has no place for the care of her crippled children. Florida has been maintaining a disgraceful institution at Marianna under the guise of an "industrial school for boys." Florida has jails all over her state where there are no matrons to care for women prisoners. Florida has no place whatever to send wayward girls. Florida gives meager sums to her state boards of health and grumbles at any legislative appropriation made for the development of educational work in the state.

Florida has judges who sentence 15-year-old boys to fifteen years' servitude in the state convict camps, where they have only the companionship of degraded criminals to prepare them for the "manhood" of their adult lives. Florida has laws on her statute books as barbarous as those of the middle ages regarding the rights of women and of motherhood.

Florida, in fact, has gone commercially crazy — land-selling crazy, money-making crazy, and somehow the boosters of the state have grown into the habit of working exclusively in the interests of the "climate," the "soil" and the state's "potential wealth."

Editors Out of Jail.

Dallas News: The Prison Mirror, published in the penitentiary of Minnesota, says:

"Why is it that from the first inception of our paper to the present time we have never had an editor to sojourn in our midst? Other professions have been well represented. Of preachers we have had enough to furnish subsistence to an African chief for a year; of doctors, sufficient in numbers to depopulate a state, and of lawyers, enough to establish a good-sized colony in hades. But editors—not one.

"The same reports have come from time to time out of other great prisons. Editors are law-abiders. And the same is true in almost equal measure of printers. In numerous large penitentiaries there are not enough to put the little prison papers into type, nor pressmen enough to take the papers through the press. This is as good evidence as possibly could be submitted as to the integrity of that large class of people who produce our publications.

"The editor generally chooses his words with care. He may be partisan and prejudiced and vindictive, but he retains his equipoise and remains judicious in the selection of his terms. This principle soon permeates his whole life, therefore he thinks and lives conservatively. Besides, editors are so busy they don't have much time to rob trains or pick the pockets of widows and orphans."

One Way.

Washington Star: "It's better to agree wif a man as much as yo kin," said Uncle Eben. "It makes him feel good-natured an' you don't have to listen to so much talk."

Lucky Girl.

Judge: Postal Clerk—"Your letter just balances, miss; if it weighed any more, you would have to put on another stamp."

Pretty Blonde—"Gracious! I'm glad I didn't sign my middle name!"

Graduating Our Presidents

By Savoyard.

Washington, May 4.—(Special to The Herald)—The governor of New York, or rather his friends, can appreciate the passage from the Holy Scriptures: "Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off." Mr. Whitman was elected governor of New York last autumn. It was a tidal wave affair, such as carried Grover Cleveland into the same office thirty-two years earlier. Immediately the governor-elect was declared the favorite in the contest for political honors in 1916, and had Governor Whitman discovered the great parts of some of his predecessors in that high station, had he proved a Dewitt Clinton, or Samuel J. Tilden, or Grover Cleveland, or Charles E. Hughes, nay, had he been in the class of Martin Van Buren or William H. Seward, or Horatio Seymour, or Theodore Roosevelt, he would have remained the favorite for the Republican nomination next year.

Instead of playing the game of statecraft like an enlightened statesman he engaged in a game of peanut politics like a scurvy politician. He had no eye for evils and their correction; but he discovered a ravenous appetite for vulgar spoils of office, and in carrying out his policies he was as clumsy as the late David B. Hill was dexterous. Mr. Whitman has become an impossibility, as much as the Hon. Sulzer, and the party in the Empire state has thrown him into the discard and reserved Elihu Root to draw to.

Eleven of our presidents had been governors of states—Jefferson, Monroe, Van Buren, William Henry Harrison, Polk, Johnson, Hayes, Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt and Wilson, and of these Jefferson was governor before the adoption of the Federal Constitution. It was the distinguished service they rendered as governors that made it possible for Cleveland and Wilson to be nominated. Tilden would not have been elected president had he not previously smitten Tammany and the canal ring. Van Buren became president because he was the most adroit politician of his time. Had he lived later his fate would have been that of David B. Hill, who patterned after him. Roosevelt got to be governor because he was the only Republican who could be elected, and he became president because Tom Platt and Dick Croker wanted another governor.

In the very early day the vice presidency was the stepping stone to the chief magistracy. The elder Adams and Jefferson were so promoted, and it is likely the practice would have continued if Aaron Burr had behaved himself, but his misconduct occasioned the Twelfth amendment to the Constitution, since when Martin Van Buren is the only vice president who succeeded to the presidency except by the death of his chief. After Burr cut his capers and shines the country fell into the practice of promoting the secretary of state to the presidency. Thus Madison succeeded Jefferson, Monroe succeeded Madison and John Quincy Adams succeeded Monroe. But the scandal about "bargain and intrigue" came up and Clay, secretary of state under the second Adams, never reached the presidency. Calhoun and Webster also sought to reach the White House from the state department, as did Buchanan, Marcy, Seward and Blaine. Buchanan got to be president, but it was years after he was secretary of state.

It is a curious fact that no man has been transferred from the senate to the presidency. Garfield came nearest it, for he was senator-elect when chosen president, and Garfield was the only president who came from the house of representatives direct. Many of the presidents had been senators—Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Jackson, Van Buren, both Harrisons, Tyler, Pierce, Buchanan and Johnson, Madison, Jackson, Tyler, Polk, Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln, Johnson, Hayes, Garfield and McKinley had all been members of the house of representatives before they entered the White House. W. H. Harrison had been delegate in congress from the Northwest territory, and John Quincy Adams, defeated for congress in 1802, spent the last eighteen years of his life a member of the national house of representatives. Washington, the first Adams, Jefferson, Taylor, Grant, Arthur, Roosevelt and Wilson never sat in either house of the national legislature, though Jefferson was the most distinguished member of the Continental congress, of which John Adams was also a member.

Just now there are two active candidates for president in the senate—Cummins and Weeks. Several others have lightning rods erected. Root and Burton, just out of the senate—the first receptively and the second actively—are candidates for Wilson's job. Mann, on the house side, is an active candidate, but it seems that his brethren out in Illinois have a spider for his dumpling of the name of Sherman, a senator in congress with a lightning rod up.

Even if the Progressives return and the party is united, even if they nominate their best man they will have the fight of their lives to beat Wilson. I do not believe it is possible for them to do it. Prosperity is come, unless all signs fail, and that great body of intelligent, patriotic, disinterested voters, known as independents, have great admiration for Mr. Wilson. If they support him, and I sincerely believe they will, he will be invincible.

For ages the gentleman who remarked to Father Noah that he did not think it would be much of a shower has been held to be the greatest of optimists. He must give way to the Hon. Austin of Tennessee, who tells us that in the next national convention of the G. O. P. Roosevelt and Taft will both be delegates and that one will present the name of the winner to the convention and the other will second the nomination.

It would be worth going miles to see.

Old Fashions Return With the War.

Manchester Guardian: Among the many changes that the war is bringing into the streets and the home some of the most significant are so quiet and unobtrusive that people hardly notice them. One of these is the change that has come over the look of households of persons of fastidious tastes and strict aesthetic conduct. Formerly the idea of a mounted photograph (except perhaps a reproduction of an old master) was thought to be quite banal and terribly suburban. Today you find their mantelpieces crowded with photographs, some even pinned on the wall without the slightest regard for spacing and arrangement—details which formerly would have taken an afternoon's thought to settle. Our artistic houses are being ruined without a single regret. Another reversion to simpler days is the return of the old-fashioned hair brooch with its little oblong frame of gold prettily wrought inclosing a tiny panel for a strand of hair. Some of them are originals bought in curio shops or rummaged out from old cases, but the hair in them today is young and newly cut.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

From Diary:

One sees so many aged people among the Mormons in Salt Lake City that one wonders if having several shifts of wives may not be less wearing on one's nerves than is commonly supposed. Mormons more than ninety years of age, and yet fairly hearty, are frequently to be seen. I talked to one quaint old chap who said he was ninety-three, and he told me he had once had a collection of four wives. He seemed good-natured and I made bold to ask him how he accounted for living to the age of ninety-three, notwithstanding so many women folk to antagonize him.

"Well," declared he seriously, "women all have their moods, and I always found that it was a good plan when one of my wives was not in the very best humor to go and remain at the home of a wife who was. In that way I always kept myself surrounded by an atmosphere of peace and tranquillity rather than trouble and discord. It is, of course, extremely wearing on two people to have to live together constantly through one another's different moods. I don't say that anybody can live longer with four wives, but I myself always found it very pleasant. It was so nice to be able to associate myself with one who was cheerful and in good spirits rather than with one who was temporarily out of sorts."

There were many more questions that I wished to ask, but persons were about and I feared they would regard the questions as too intimate.

I yearned to have the old man tell me what he did about his washing in the ultra-uxorious days when he was keeping four households. Did he have it done regularly at one place always under the supervision of the same wife? Or did he change his clothes just wherever he happened to be staying, and have to call there for his clean underwear? Who did his darning?

And it occurred to me that it would be worth while getting the old man's point of view as to the advantages of four wives for one who keeps late hours. If a husband went down town of an evening and failed to get home by midnight, did each wife wait up for him? Or did each one simply assume that he had dropped in at the home of one of her associates? On the face of the thing, it looks as if a man must have had a rich opportunity for alibis. Still, the life may not have been so jolly after all. Imagine getting the grocery bills for your several establishments, and finding one greatly larger than the others, without any apparent reason for the discrepancy. Doubtless there were polygamists who made themselves extremely disagreeable in their more expensive households on the first day of each month.

Polygamy among Mormons is now barred by church and state and really seems to be a dead issue. As one young Mormon expressed it:

"We of the younger generation would no more tolerate polygamy now than people down south would advocate a return to a system of slavery."

I wondered, too, while in Salt Lake City, if those who practised polygamy did not regret having to confine their matrimonial selections to the Mormon church. Beautiful women seemed to be in the minority about the Mormon tabernacle the day I was there. It occurred to me that if I were trying to make up a brace or a foursome of wives, I should prefer to do my shopping in New York City, let us say, or San Francisco, rather than in Utah.

Dancing in Early America

From "French Memories of Eighteenth-Century America," in Scribner's Magazine: Nor was the worship of Terpsichore confined to the upper ranks of society, for "all American women, married or single, love dancing. They dance either between 8 and 11 in the morning or else in the evening from sunset to late at night. There you see grandfather, son and grandson at the same party, which shows that dancing is done for the fun of it, and not merely to show off."

This last is from the recently published memoirs of Saint Mery, preserved in the archives of the ministry of colonies in Paris. Saint Mery was for some time employed in the Philadelphia office of Daniel Merian, the business "name and style" under which the French government long conducted a large and profitable trade in America.

It is from Saint Mery we learn that dancing was every bit as popular in the country as in the cities, and he gives a pleasant account of what he calls a "frolick de melons, to which all the neighbors came to dance and eat watermelons," which was held annually in August at the Red Lion tavern, a little way out of Philadelphia, on the New York road. Such a combination of physical and gastronomic activities speaks well for the soundness of our forebears' constitutions!

Says Chastellux of an evening spent in Boston: "For the first time since I have been in America they made me play whisk (sic). The cards were English, that is to say, much prettier and dearer than ours, and we marked our points with louis or Portuguese pieces."

The Asking.

When I revert to that dumb dust
From which my frame was wrought,
Returning all I hold in trust,
This life, that came unsought;
It cannot matter that my name
Shall scarce outlive my breath,
For I would have small use for fame
When I am cold in death.

Time mocks those tardy crowns we place
Upon the martyred head,
When we, to cover our disgrace,
Make idols of our dead;
The stately monuments we rear,
The unctuous praise we give,
Are less to them than one true tear
Wept for them while they live.

So I desire no storied stone
To stand my grave above,
From life I ask one gift alone,
The constancy of love;
For being loved, and loving well,
Is kingly happiness,
If crowned in living hearts I dwell,
In death I'll not be less.
—Alfred Hustwick in the Los Angeles Times.

A Precious Time Had By All.

Tabor (Iowa) Beacon: With a clear, sweet voice, every word intonating as distinctly as the tone of a midnight chime, and re-echoing as softly as the fall of a pearl in a golden cup. Just so sweetly and sympathetically did Miss Wolfe recite the sad, sweet poem, while Miss Viola Palmer, at the piano, told the same plaintive story in soft, low tones of Enoch's sorrow and Phillip's patient waiting.

Knew the Game.

Houston Post: "Well, how about that little bill?"

"But I told you to call at 4 o'clock, and it is only 3 now."

"I know it. I wanted to catch you in."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Says Bill to Rudy.

Wadena Pioneer Journal: Editor Rudolph Lee accuses the editor of the Pioneer Journal of "trying to reorganize the Republican party." We do not know where "Rudy" got his information. Suffice it to say that he has been sadly misinformed. Far be it from us to try to "reorganize" anything which seems to be a personal asset of the Long Prairie editor and his family.

Their Work in Vain.

Fergus Falls Wheelock's Weekly: The official bell wethers of the Republican flock are doing what they can to discredit the administration at Washington, but their task is not easy, for President Wilson's patient firmness has convinced the people that he is in the place where he belongs.

Not Quite.

Sauk Center Herald: This much can be said in favor of the present governor of Minnesota: No one has nerve enough to slam him on the back and call him "Winnie."

That Wouldn't Count With T. R.

Le Sueur News: And now it is said Col. Roosevelt is flirting with the Republican party, even seeking the nomination for president. It sounds ridiculous.

Pinchot's Unhappy Luck.

Long Prairie Argus: Giffort Pinchot was pushed out of the government forestry service, tried to elect a Progressive president and failed, made the race for senator from Pennsylvania and failed, was sent to Belgium as a commissioner only to have the kaiser register a kick on him, and he is now wondering where he is at.

Lose Their Nervousness.

St. Peter Herald: From all parts of the country come reports of renewed activity in commercial circles. Even the bankers are overcoming part of their constitutional timidity. The next ten years are to be the most prosperous this country has ever known.

They Think Alike.

Redwood Gazette: "The Redwood Falls Gazette thinks Hammond would have a walkaway against Flowers in a gubernatorial race, but suggests Bjornson as a Republican hope. This paper is of the opinion that the man has not yet been named who can beat Hammond" — Madison Independent Press.

Brother Farnham, where did you get a notion that we had any such idea as the above? Certainly not directly from our columns, unless we've taken to writing political opinions in our sleep. Like you, we are backing Governor Hammond against the field. We'll forgive you this time but please don't misrepresent us on this subject again—it's one on which we feel very strongly.

Who Are They?

Mankato Free Press: If the Republican party in Minnesota is wise it will not nominate for governor in 1916 a barnacle, a has-been, a renegade, or a four-flusher. With such a man at the head of the state ticket, the grand old organization could not hope or expect to win. Let us name as the standard bearer a live-wire, a man of the people, a sanely progressive, down-to-date, upstanding, clean-cut man—one who possesses the ability to command the support of the thinking people and a personality that will stand the acid test. There are men of that character and description in the Republican ranks. One of them should be selected to pave the way to success.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Let us go forth unto Him without the camp, bearing His reproach. For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come.—Heb. xiii, 13, 14.

Identification with Christ has two sides—before God, and before men. In the first, we find the secret of life and joy and liberty. In the second, we must expect to meet with rejection, reproach and shame. If we glory in the fact that we are one with Him in His death, His resurrection and exaltation, let us not shrink from taking our right place with Him as "the despised and rejected of men." Let us go forth unto Him without the camp." This implies something more than a mere passive contemplation; it means an active consecration. What is Christ's reproach? It does not mean being opposed and rejected merely; it means being despised. There is nothing men shrink from as from this. It is easier to endure open opposition than to be ignored and despised. "Here we have no continuing city, but we seek one to come." Here we are strangers and pilgrims. This is only for awhile. Soon we shall see the Eternal City. There we shall share with Him the glory and the honour.—Rev. E. H. Hopkins.

Behold, thy servants are ready to do whatsoever my Lord the king shall choose.—II Sam. XV.15.

It makes the mind very free when we give up wishing and only think of bearing what is laid upon us and doing what is given us to do.—George Eliot.

Be joyful! all nature about thee rejoices
The violets echo the heaven's own blue;
The orioles sing with their jubilant voices;
The sun laughs at thee from the crystals of dew.

Took Battle Plan From Poem.

London Chronicle: Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is not the first English author whose writings have been studied for hostile ends by our country's enemies. Napoleon assured Sir Colin Campbell at Elba that he greatly admired "Paradise Lost" and had read it to some extent. The plan of Austerlitz was borrowed from Book VI of that work, where Satan brings his artillery to bear upon Michael and his angelic host with such direful effect:

Training his devilish enginery, impaled
On every side with shadowy squadrons deep,
To hide the fraud.

This mode of warfare appeared to Napoleon so likely to succeed, if applied to actual use, that he determined upon its adoption, and succeeded beyond his expectations. By reference to the details of the battle of Austerlitz it will be found to assimilate so completely with Milton's imaginary fights as to bear out the emperor's assertions.

Indicates a Copper Shortage.

London Times: A French soldier lately sent home to his wife—no doubt in all strictness he ought not to have done so—a spiked Boche helmet. Nothing very new about that—but there was something new about the helmet. Its spike was not, as in the early days of the war, in copper, but in wood.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

Governor Clough has appointed George N. La Vaque of Duluth a trustee of the soldiers' home for six years. He succeeds Maj. J. H. Upham of Duluth.

The plaintiff in the case of C. E. Dickerman et al has appealed the case to the United States supreme court. This is one of the most celebrated real estate cases in which Duluth property is involved, Highland Park being the land in question. A half interest in 160 acres is affected and the land is worth a quarter to half a million dollars. The case was tried in the United States court and a decision in favor of the defendants was given.

The mystery attached to the disappearance of Capt. James G. McNabb, who left home on April 16 and was never seen alive again, was cleared up yesterday when his body was found in Rice lake, Gnesen township. He was on a visit to his farm and evidently broke through while crossing the ice.

The partnership between A. W. Dietz and A. Lefebvre in the tin and sheet iron business has been dissolved. Mr. Dietz has bought the interest of K. E. Little in the firm of Burrell & Little, 13 West First street, and the new firm will be known as Burrell & Dietz.

Henry Breen and J. S. Brown have formed a partnership and will succeed J. D. Brady & Co. as proprietors of the Phillips hotel bar at West Duluth.

William Chesser has returned to West Duluth from a two-months' visit in Michigan.

At least fifty-two people are believed to have been killed in a terrible cyclone that passed over part of Iowa yesterday afternoon. Some persons estimate the death roll at 200. Three schoolhouses are known to have been demolished, two teachers and several pupils and nearly a score of others were killed and many buildings were wrecked.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 42; maximum yesterday, 60; minimum yesterday, 41.

W. H. Tripp is preparing to return to Minneapolis to resume the practice of law in that city. Mr. Tripp has lived in Duluth about two years.

The park board has planted about 1,300 trees thus far on London road the boulevard, the West end and Portland square. If trees can be secured at least 5,000 will be planted this spring.

Dr. D. M. Graham and wife of St. Paul, formerly of Duluth, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Davis, 501 West Third street.

Mrs. F. C. Southworth, who was to leave this week for an Eastern trip, has been taken with typhoid fever.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

LIKES OPEN COURT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Some time ago I saw where some one had asked for the words of an old song. I found them in an old scrap book a few days ago, and inclose them. I'll bet that 20,000 Herald subscribers glance at the front page first and then turn to the Open Court before they read the news. It is surely one of the most interesting features of a paper, with hosts of good points. Yours, SUBSCRIBER.

International Falls, Minn., April 30.

"Subscriber's" letter is appreciated, but we can't let him get by with that 20,000 subscribers. In view of last night's circulation statement we feel moved to amend it to read "20,000 of the more than 30,000 subscribers." We also thank him for the poem which is published in this issue.—The Editor.

EATON AS POLICE CHIEF.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In The Herald this evening I note that Guy Eaton is slated to become the next chief of police. This is rather surprising news to me. The recent election certainly could not have been construed as an indorsement of the ultra radical policy of law enforcement, or fanatical adherence to the letter of the law. Why, then, name Mr. Eaton as chief of police? If we are to have puritanical methods, why not put Mr. Hicken himself in as chief?

MEMORIAL DAY REMEMBRANCES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Seventeen years ago during the Spanish-American war our regiment was one of the very few volunteer regiments the first time in history invading a foreign land and seeing actual service, to uphold the Stars and Stripes. Those of you that have read the history of the Spanish-American war well remember at that time Russell A. Alger was secretary of war and had in charge the sending of troops, and being a Michigan man naturally sent his volunteers in preference. So I know whereof I speak, while there were many regiments enlisted from the South, that could have stood the southern climate far better than we did, I believe we did wonderfully well under the circumstances. With all due respect to my older comrades, the Civil war veterans, I believe we know the horrors of war by our experiences. After the war between the North and the South, had Abraham Lincoln lived, things would have been far different. You remember Johnson was our next president and those of your comrades that were there know how the many unfriendly acts were accorded our southern comrades, and so left that bitter feeling with the South, which I believe still existed somewhat until the Spanish-American war in 1898 when the North and the South fought side by side, shoulder to shoulder, and welding that old grudge together. Now we are a united nation, no north, no south, no east, no west, but one great, grand country. On May 31 we honor the memories of those who died for their country. Perhaps there are some of us who wished they had lived in those stirring days of the past, that they too might have sealed their devotion to their country, by their death. But while in these peaceful days, there is fortunately no demand for our lives, so then let each of us prove our unselfish patriotism by living as a true American, in faithfully discharging his duties as a citizen, and by advancing in every right way the well being of his country. We are a nation of citizens, not soldiers, and in keeping Decoration day we do not glorify war or seek to influence the evil passions of men. As we think of the thousands of dead heroes and of the tattered ensigns pierced by shot and shell, on many a battlefield, we would have peace, not war, and union not discord. And we can best show our respect for both living and dead heroes by burying all prejudices and animosities, and by promoting good will and unity throughout all the land. Now then just a few words to the younger generation, a child should be made to feel that his home is indeed a home. The happiest place in the world to him, not merely an outward shelter and resting place, but a center of enjoyment sanctified and purified by love, the thought and remembrance of which shall be the safeguard of his life as he goes forth into the world, giving strength and proportion to his character, and turning his thoughts to all that may prepare him for that heavenly home when the scenes of earth shall have passed away.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald has received requests for the following poems: "The Battle of Blenheim," "A Man's a Man For a' That," and Thomas Campbell's "A Soldier's Dream," from George Peabody of Mankato.

The Red River Valley.

They say from the valley you are going;
We will miss your bright eyes and sweet smile.
You'll take with you the sunshine that brightened
Our pathway down here for a while.

Chorus—
Remember the valley you are leaving,
How sad and how lonely it will be,
Remember the hearts you are breaking,
And the promise that you gave to me.

A long time you know I have waited
For those words that you never would say,
Now alas all my fond hopes are vanished,
For they tell me that you are going away.

Chorus—
Remember the valley you are leaving;
How sad and how lonely it will be,
Remember the hearts you are breaking,
And the girl who waits lonely for thee.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Kindly answer the following through the Open Court:

Are there any schools except the state universities where one may study dentistry?

If any, please state where, also what requirements one must have to enroll. How long would it take to complete a course?

SUBSCRIBER,

1. Yes. Chicago School of Dental Surgery, Chicago, Ill. Northwestern Dental School, Chicago.
2. A high school education is necessary.
3. No dental course is now less than three years.

Will you kindly tell me through the Open Court where you get all the information that you give through the Open Court?

CARROLL JOHNSON,
Duluth.

With an encyclopaedia, an almanac, and the files of a newspaper a persistent man can approach close to the goal of universal knowledge. Then, like a good lawyer, while we may not know much, we know where to find it.

* * *

Some time last spring, I think it was, a barge, after drifting all day, went aground about the foot of Fifth avenue east. Will you kindly tell me the name of the barge, and the exact date of the occurrence.

B. A. W., Duluth.

Perhaps you refer to the sinking of the steamer Benjamin Noble on April 28. She went down some place between Duluth and Two Harbors with all hands. On June 27, 1914, the barge Hartnell drifted ashore at First avenue east.

Would you, as a special favor give me following information:

I am a naturalized born citizen of the United States and married to a foreigner, who is not a citizen of the United States. Am I a citizen of the United States or not? Yours respectfully,

A. H.of Proctor.

If you are a man you are a citizen, but the term "naturalized born" is a misnomer. If you are a native born citizen you did not need to be naturalized. If you are a woman you owe allegiance to your husband's country, and are not a citizen of the United States.

Alum In Bread

Mrs. C. C. H. writes: Are alum baking powders harmful to one having indigestion? Where can I get baking powder that contains no alum?

REPLY

1. Thompson says that alum in bread in large quantities (from baking powder) is astringent and injurious to the digestion.

2. Ask your grocer for baking powder that contains no alum. There are several standard brands of alum-free baking powder.

—From "How to Keep Well" Column, By Dr. W. A. Evans, in Chicago Tribune, Feb. 12, 1915.

Royal Baking Powder contains no alum or any ingredient that is not pure and wholesome beyond question. It is made from cream of tartar which comes from grapes.

HEMATITE MINE CLOSED.

Men Are Added to Force of Section 16 Mine.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 4.—The Lake Superior Hematite mine of the Oliver Iron Mining company, which for the last several months has been working only on a small scale closed down entirely Saturday evening and the sixty men, who were employed there were transferred to the Section 16 mine, which put on a larger force of men Monday. The pumps will be taken out and as far as is now known there will be no further opeations there. The mine has produced ore for over twenty-five years.

Monday, the force of the Section 16 mine was increased to about 215 men, with day and night shifts. Officials of the company expect to work two shifts at the Queen mine in Negaunee, commencing May 10, which will probably require about 200 more men. The few men who were working in the Blue mine, Negaunee, when it closed will be given employment in the Queen mine.

Loose Language

ANOTHER critic—it is surprising how many critics disagree with certain views we express in this Interlude of Irritation—another one writes that he knows many patent medicines are injurious, yet he also knows others are at least harmless.

* * * and if a remedy is good enough to deserve a patent from the United States government," he continues, capitalizing at random, "and good enough to carry the guarantee of the pure food and drugs act, then it is good enough for us poor 'suckers'."

You are eminently correct, Mr. Selftreater, Many proprietary medicines are injurious, by reason of the habit-forming or heart-weakening drugs contained, and many are harmless, by reason of their inertness. But permit us to set you right, for you seem to be a sincere "sucker," as you say, and we regret to see a good fellow misled.

Offhand you couldn't name three medicines that are really patented. What you call "patent medicines" are not patented by the government; they are not original, not new, not improvements over old and well-known formulas, hence they cannot obtain a patent. They can and do obtain a trademark registration, which protects the trade name of the medicine.

Real Patents Rarely Issued.

Some drugs are patented in reality—some of the best drugs doctors prescribe. But we doubt whether a combination of the shotgun or blunderbuss type, such as most of the popular proprietary medicnes are, could ever inveigle the patent office into issuing a patent.

And as for that pure food and drugs act "guarantee," you are lamentably in error. That does not mean that the curative or remedial action is guaranteed by anybody. It means purely and simply that John Jones, or whoever manufactures the medicine, guarantees to the United States government that the stuff contains only the quantities of certain poisons mentioned on the label—such as alcohol, morphine, acetanilide, and the like. In other words, the "guarantee" is a mere statement that John Jones is not slipping across any more dope than the law allows, and it has nothing whatever to do with the medicinal effects of the preparation "guaranteed."

Write again, Mr. Selftreater, but keep cool and tighten up your language a bit here and there where it has worked loose.

Ingrown Goiter Idea: What are the symptoms of ingrown goiter? Does the swelling not show on the outside?

REPLY.

This is a popular term meaning exophthalmic goiter, we think. The symptoms of the latter are prominent eyeballs, staring eyes, tremor of fingers, very rapid pulse, palpitation, great nervous weakness. Sometimes the swelling is scarcely noticeable, but the gland seems to be overactive.

PROMOTIONS TURNED DOWN

Merritt's Request to Advance Four Employes Refused By Council.

Commissioners Would Stop Raising Salaries of City Employes.

By a vote of four to one the city council last night turned down Commissioner Merritt's proposal to promote four men in the water and light department.

When Mr. Merritt introduced the resolution authorizing the promotion of Charles W. Cate from assistant cashier to cashier at a salary of $120 a month, W. P. Haig from assistant clerk to clerk at a salary of $70 a month, A. Beck from repair man to gas fitter at $75 a month, and R. F. Brown from repair man to meter reader at a salary of $75 a month, Commissioner Silberstein objected to any increase in salaries at this time. He declared that the council's aim is to reduce the city's expenses and Commissioners Farrell and Voss expressed themselves in a similar manner.

"It would not look right for the council to raise salaries when times are quiet and many are looking for work at moderate salaries," said Commissioner Silberstein. "I will not vote for any increases at this time."

"I would rather vote for salary reductions," said Commissioner Farrell. "I have reduced salaries in my division. The reduction has been $25 a month in some cases. Many are clamoring for work. If you have a heart, you cannot help feeling sorry for job hunters."

"The council has been raising salaries right along and the practice should be stopped," said Commissioner Voss.

At this point Mayor Prince asked if the promotions would increase the payrolls and Commissioner Merritt admitted that they would. According to the resolution, both Mr. Cate and Mr. Haig would receive advances of $10 a month annd Mr. Beck and Mr. Brown each an increase of $5 a month.

Commissioner Merrit then asked for a vote on his resolution and the final count was four nays against the lone affirmative of the utilities head.

Salary increases for Mr. Cate and Mr. Haig appeared on the February payroll, but City Auditor Campbell refused to pass on them, claiming that the men were promoted without the sanction of the entire council. The question was then referred to the city attorney and he declared that each department head should place such matters in the hands of the entire commission.

The council takes the stand that promotions are made on the first of each year and that it would be a bad policy to permit salary increases throughout the year.

WEST END

WILL ENTERTAIN INDUSTRIOUS "KIDS"

Clean-up Committee Planning Program to Show Appreciation.

Plans for the entertainment of children now active in the clean-up of the West end will be made at a meeting of the committee of West end business men to be held tomorrow afternoon at the Duluth State bank. The nature of the entertainment will be talked over and a start on the preparation will be made.

The committee is headed by C. E. Lonegren as chairman. The other members are S. W. Hill, C. J. Lindquist, O. F. Wetterlund and E. S. Gustafson.

Band concerts and a parade will undoubtedly feature the celebration. This form of entertainment is favored most, according to members of the committee. It is probable that leaders in the clean-up campaign will be asked to act as marshals in the parade and will be provided with horses.

The clean-up of the various school districts is going on merrily, according to reports received from the schools. Great interest is being evinced by the children and every day after school, squads of boys and girls are to be seen out with rakes and other implements taking part in the campaign.

OFFER OF MEDIATION BY MAYOR DECLINED

Chicago, May 4.—The offer of Mayor Thompson to act as mediator in the strike and lockout of the carpenters was declined yesterday by the joint arbitration board of contractors and carpenters.

The five carpenter members of the board voted to accept the offer, but the contractors were unanimous against it. They declared they did not think the time opportune for interference by anyone outside the two organizations.

It was estimated that 125,000 men are idle because of strikes or lockouts.

Mayor Thompson intimated he would repeat his invitation in a few days.

EMERGENCY ACT REJECTED

Council Will Regulate Jitneys Only By Regular Ordinance.

Silberstein Accuses Merritt of Using "Grand Stand" Tactics.

Turning down an emergency jitney measure introduced by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division, the city council last night heard the first reading of the ordinance without the emergency features. The ordinance will require two more readings before it passes.

When the ordinance was first presented, Commissioner Voss suggested that it be passed as an emergency measure. This started a discussion between Commissioners Voss and Silberstein and Commissioner Merritt, the latter refusing to back any such move. He declared that it was unfair to regulate jitney drivers, while owners of automobiles can travel about at will.

Jitney Drivers Heard From.

The discussion became warmer, and the tilt between the commissioners was enlivened by the interruption of several jitney drivers in the audience, who insisted on being heard.

"We don't have to pass the ordinance tonight," said Commissioner Voss, "just because it is an emergency measure. However, after giving it full consideration after two or three meetings, I would like to see it go into effect immediately. Otherwise we will have to wait thirty days after it is passed, before we can enforce its provisions. The only difference in the two measures is that there is a difference of thirty days. After we pass an ordinary measure, it cannot be changed again, nor can any amendments be added. There's no use in waiting thirty days for regulation, in view of the fact that accidents are being reported every day."

"I want time to study this ordinance," declared Commissioner Merritt, "and I refuse to vote for an emergency measure. I also want to give the jitney drivers time and if necessary, the thirty days will give them an opportunity of revoking the law, if it proves unsatisfactory."

"Then you want a referendum election again?" asked Commissioner Voss.

"Yes," answered Mr. Merritt, "I am not playing politics."

"Neither am I," retorted Mr. Voss.

Wants Drivers "Treated Fairly."

"I didn't say you were," continued Mr. Merritt, "but there is no emergency existing at this time. I ride in jitneys and I don't want operators treated unfairly. The ordinance, which I have just heard for the first time, draws too much difference between the jitney driver and the man who drives my automobile."

At this point Commissioner Silberstein came into the argument by declaring that Commissioner Merritt was using "grand stand" tactics in championing the jitney driver and bringing the street car company into the squabble.

"The street car company has nothing to do with this," declared the safety head, " and I want that understood right now. This ordinance is to regulate jitneys and protect the public. That is our chief duty as public officers."

It was then that John Andrews, a jitney driver, declared that the drivers were opposed to the $20 annual license provided for in the ordinance, and that it was unfair to make such an excessive charge, when drivers of taxis pay only $7.50 a year for a seven-passenger automobile. With regard to overcrowdig and sitting on the laps of passengers, Mr. Andrews asked why the street car company is permitted to crowd its cars "to the very steps."

Hearings Will Be Held.

After considerable wrangling on both sides, Mayor Prince declared that several public hearings would be held within the next two weeks and that no action would be taken by the council until all those concerned are heard. Commissioner Silberstein spoke in a similar manner and City Clerk Borgen was instructed to report on the first reading of the ordinance and to bring it up for second reading at the meeting next Monday evening.

CUT IN HEALDTON CRUDE OIL PRICE

Due to Small Gasoline and Kerosene Content of Oil.

Washington, May 4.—In response to a senate resolution directing an investigation into the cause of a reduction in prices of crude oil in 1914 in the Healdton, Okla., oil field, sometimes called the Ardmore field, a report by the old bureau of corporations was laid today before President Wilson. The report was completed before the bureau was merged with the new Federal trade commission.

The investigation revolved around the charge that the Magnolia Pipe Line company, having a monopoly in transportation of oil in the Ardmore field, had arbitrarily reduced the price of crude oil and had practiced discriminations.

"In brief," says the report, "the conclusion of the bureau is that reductions in the price of Healdton crude oil were made because of the discovery by the Magnolia Pipe Line company of its small gasoline and kerosene content, and because the lubricating values of this crude were not enough to warrant, under existing conditions, its use for the manufacture of lubricants.

"The pipe line company, however, does not appear to be without blame for its failure to determine the true character of the oil at an early date. This would have saved much disappointment to producers.

"The bureau found no evidence of any intent on the part of the pipe line company to discriminate between the different producers or against the oil produced on Indian allotments. The bureau did find, however, that at various periods some producers may have been favored at the expense of others. Under the law the pipe line company should either have taken the total production or should have prorated its purchases and equalized them within thirty days. In the case of most of the producers temporary inequalities were apparently corrected within the legal period. The unreliability of existing records relating to production and the unsettled question as to what legally constitutes discrimination, preclude a positive statement in regard to the subject."

CONGRESSMAN DIES SUDDENLY

J. A. Goulden Drops Dead in Philadelphia Railroad Station.

Philadelphia, May 4.—Congressman J. A. Goulden of New York City dropped dead in the Broad Street station of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday afternoon.

The body was taken to the morgue where identification was made by means of a card on the traveling bag.

Mr. Goulden had been in Maryland on business and was on his way home when stricken.

New York, May 4.—Congressman Joseph A. Goulden, who died suddenly yesterday in the Pennsylvania railroad station at Philadelphia, lived in the Bronx, where is located the Twenty-third congressional district which he represented as a Democrat in the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, Sixty-first and Sixty-third congresses. He was designated and confirmed at the primaries in 1914 and re-elected to the Sixty-fourth congress.

Mr. Goulden was born in Adams county, Pennsylvania in 1844. He took a deep interest in Grand Army of the Republic affairs and was secretary of the commission that in recent years erected a soldiers' and sailors' memorial monument in New York. He served in the navy late in the Civil war.

Nov. 23, 1914:—"All my life my face was covered completely with a mass of pimples, blackheads and blotches. I spent a lot of money on numerous remedies and treatments without success and no relief at all. I tried so many things that I was afraid my case could not be cured. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap seemed to do me good right from the first. I used two jars of Resinol Ointment and some Resinol Soap, the total cost being only $2.00, and this completely cured my case. My skin is without a blemish and I am the possessor of a beautiful complexion." (Signed) Mabell Ayres, Stone Mountain, Va. Every druggist sells Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment.

POLICE MUST PUT UP BETTER "FRONT"

Polished shoes, natty uniforms, a military gait and a general watch-your-step attitude will be required of Duluth's police by Commissioner of Public Safety Silberstein from now on.

When the new chief of police takes charge at headquarters his first task will be to see that all officers are "slicked up." Commissioner Silberstein has very definite ideas about the personnel of the department, and its appearance.

It is probable the drills will be inaugurated as regular part of police work, so that the force will at all times reflect the progressiveness of the city.

COUNCIL PRAISES CHIEF C. H. TROYER

Commending the work and ability of Chauncey H. Troyer, retiring police chief after twenty-four years' service, the city council last evening passed resolutions expressing explicit confidence in him and extending its best wishes for his future success.

The resolutions were introduced by Commissioner Silberstein and were adopted unanimously.

Chief Troyer is declared in the resolutions to have been a faithful and competent officer, as patrolman, detective and chief, during his service on the Duluth police department. His work, the resolutions state, has been done in an able and honorable manner and complete confidence is expressed in his ability.

Will Operate Systems in Bemidji and on Mississippi River Nearby.

Bemidji, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Warfield electric plant of this city has been sold to the Minnesota Electric Light & Power company. The new concern will own both plants, which consists of a large power station on Park avenue in the city and a water power driven station at the dam on the Mississippi river eight miles east of Bemidji. Both of these plants are used to furnish Bemidji with light and power. The city plant was built more than sixteen years ago and the plant at the dam was built in 1907.

C. F. Rogers of Duluth, who is president of the new company, says that the plant will be operated along the same lines as formerly and compliments the Warfield brothers on their business methods, which have made their company one of the largest industries in Bemidji.

"DAKOTA DAN" NOW PLAYING NEW ROLE

Friendly Suit Started to Show That He Is Not Imposter.

Dickinson, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Dakota Dan" Russell has decided upon another scheme to prove his legal right as heir of the William Russell estate in Boston. A "friendly" suit has been instituted to have him prosecuted as a perjurer and imposter. This is being done on a petition secured by "Dakota Dan" himself. He believes that if he can prove to the public that he is not an imposter that the results will materially affect his case and assist in the establishment of his claim of heirship.

Imposter Needs Punishment.

He takes the position that if he is an imposter he should be properly punished, that if he is really a son of the late William Russell he should have a portion of the estate. There have been so many legal reverses that "Dakota Dan" has decided upon this plan as a kind of a last resort. It was suggested by Attorney Simpson of this city, who originally appeared for "Dakota Dan" in the first proceedings some years ago.

FARMERS PURCHASE SANDSTONE CREAMERY

Will Become Co-operative Concern and Expected to Be Success.

Sandstone, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting arranged by the Commercial club with the farmers of the surrounding territory held here it was decided to make the Sandstone creamery a Farmers' Co-Operative creamery.

The concern which was recently purchased by J. M. Ingraham from Knudtsen brothers, will now be owned by stockholders, all of whom are farmers or dairymen.

The meeting was a lively one, many farmers were present and the shares sold rapidly. The appraisers' price was thought too high by some, but rather than have the proposition fall through the owner of the creamery agreed to turn it over at the figures the farmers held the establishment worth. Enough cows have been pledged to furnish cream to make this industry a better and a larger one than before, and as many new settlers are arriving the creamery cannot help but be a success in the future as this section is one of the best for dairying purposes in the state, being known as "The Land of the Big, Red Clover."

STOCK LOSSES LIGHT.

North Dakota Stockmen Got Through Winter With Few Losses.

Dickinson, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stock losses in North Dakota last winter were the lightest in many years, according to reports made by ranchmen throughout the western section.

With deep snow prevailing most of the season, but with only one very severe storm, the stock weathered the season in excellent shape. The very satisfactory manner in which the stock went through the winter season has been shown by the sales of this spring, which have been very heavy, and stockmen, on the whole, are well satisfied with the conditions.

CON RILEY ONCE MORE

Reports Say the Veteran Will Organize Senior Four.

According to the news received by Jim Ten Eyck, Con Riley of Winnipeg is already organizing a senior four to compete against the crack Duluth Boat club senior four at the Northwestern regatta.

The victory won by the Duluthians smarts severely. It is said that Riley is attempting to get together the fastest four that has ever been organized in Western Canada, with the idea of avenging the signal and humiliating defeat he and his mates suffered over the placid course at Kenora last summer.

Ten Eyck stated today that the news was gladsome tidings. "We would like nothing better," said he. As a matter of pure fact, Ten Eyck has urged Riley to get a four together. Riley and some of the oarsmen of the Winnipeg club feel that the Winnipeg senior four was not prepared for the race of last July. All right; Jimmy says he hopes they come back for another race.

It is safe to state that if Con Riley trots out a four for the Duluth regatta, the contest will be closely watched by one of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a rowing race in this section of the country.

Yes, as the boys put it for several reasons, "We want Riley." Come on, Con, the water's fine.

Capablanca defeated Michaelsen, former Western champion, after 46 moves, and Marshall won from Hodges, who resigned after 52 moves.

M'GRAW NEEDS ALL HE HAS THIS SEASON

RUBE MARQUARD.

Rube Marquard started the present season by pitching a no-hit game. McGraw will need to have the famous rube at his best this season, as his team looks at the present time. Marquard is like the little girl with the curl, when he is good, he is very good indeed, and when he is bad, oh, something terrible. Marquard is not the most reliable twirler in the world, and with Matty slipping some, McGraw is worried about his pitching staff.

Back to Providence.

Providence, R. I., May 4.—The Providence club of the International league has obtained Ralph Comstock, a pitcher, from the Boston American league team. Comstock was with Providence last season.

ALL IS SET FOR THE OPENING OF 1915 NORTHERN LEAGUE SEASON

Flag Race in the Burmeister Circuit Will Start Thursday—An Introduction to the Managers—Salaries This Season to Be Lower Than Last.

NORTHERN LEAGUE OPENING.

Duluth at Winnipeg.
Virginia at Fargo.
Superior at St. Boniface.
Fort William at Grand Forks.

Thursday, May 6, is the opening day of the Northern league. The eight teams will open the 1915 season with the following managers at their head:

Duluth, Darby O'Brien, second base.

Superior, Fred Curtis, first base.

Fort William, Dennis Sullivan, outfield.

Grand Forks, William Fox, second base.

Winnipeg, Roy Patterson, pitcher.

Virginia, John Sundheim, shortstop.

St. Boniface, Charles Moll, the bench.

Fargo, Robert Unglaud, first base.

Moll of St. Boniface is the only bench manager in the league. Roy Patterson of Winnipeg, the veteran Chicago White Sox and Minneapolis star, may go in and pitch occasionally, or he may decide that he is qualified to play one of the outfield positions on his team.

Something is known here of Col. Bob Unglaub of the Fargo team. Rumors that he was called to the colors last winter by a special ukase issued by Kaiser Wilhelm, are shrouded in mystery. It is known that Herr Unglaub was in communication with agents of the kaiser last summer. Whether he has been at the front during the last winter may remain a deep and fascinating mystery.

In his delightful day and generation Bob Unglaub was a large league ball player. He was with Boston, Washington, Baltimore, and other teams. His managerial career started in the big league, but lasted quick. Unglaub finished as a real leaguer with the Cantillons. In the Northern league he is still one of the most dangerous hitters in the league.

Our Own Darby O'Brien.

Little, likewise, need be said regarding Darby O'Brien. Darby is authority for the statement that he is one of the best second baseman in the league. We have not seen all of the others as yet, and will, therefore let the comment run for Sweeney.

As a manager the harp has been eminently successful here. The Orator blew in as a tramp ball player and was chosen as manager by Al Kuehnow, because Darby has a way with him. Oh, those Irish! During his tenure of office O'Brien has landed three pennants for the home club, a very good record. His three oriflammes were won in three different leagues, strange as it may appear.

The first banner pulled down by the Dock Wasp won in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league, the second in the short-lived International league and the third, last summer, in the Northern.

Not only is O'Brien a good manager, but he is, moreover, a good scout and is well liked off the field.

Dennis Sullivan, Mr. Fan.

Denny Sullivan is going to try to make some sort of showing with the Fort William team. The once fleet outfielder broke into real baseball with the Minneapolis team. Young Sullivan's work soon attracted notice and he went to Boston. For a few years he was considered one of the fastest fly chasers in the big leagues. Sullivan started his descent by way of Kansas City and is now playing in the Northern league. Last season, as some of the fans will remember, Sullivan played in the Fargo outfield.

Denny is one of the cleanest men in baseball. He is a graduate of a medical college and has taken work at the University of Minnesota. During the coming winter Denny plans going abroad to take up post-graduate work. Sullivan has had little experience as a manager.

Let Us Present Roy Patterson.

Yes, Roy Patterson started in this city. Was on the fast amateur team that Uncle Dick Schell had here years ago. There were some other players on that same team that later became famous.

From the Head of the Lakes Patterson trekked to the St. Paul team of the then Western league and when Charles Comiskey made his historical jump to Chicago, transferring bag and baggage, young Patterson was one of the assets.

A very valuable asset the young pitcher proved. For a long span of years, as years are counted in baseball, the former Duluth boy was one of the most valuable twirlers of the White Sox. Later Roy slowed up a bit and was let go to the Minneapolis American association team, where for a few more years he was one of the premier pitchers of the American association.

Like Denny Sullivan, Patterson has had little experience as a baseball manager. Time will tell as to his success or failure. Like Sullivan, Roy Patterson is one of the cleanest men in the great national sport.

Gang, Charles Moll.

Charles Moll transferred his Marinette, Wis., team to St. Boniface. Moll

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Dodgers 3; Braves 2.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 4.—Dell had the better of a pitching duel with Rudolph yesterday and Brooklyn won from Boston. Both sides were blanked until the fifth, when Myers' double, a wild pitch and Schmidt's dropping the ball, preparatory to a throw to the plate, on Schultz's grounder, let in the first run. Boston tied the score in the seventh. Successive triples by Cutshaw and Myers and an out gave Brooklyn the winning runs in their half of the seventh. Score: R. H. E.

Cubs Win "Ruffnek" Game.

Chicago, May 4.—Chicago won its sixth victory yesterday, defeating Pittsburgh in a game shortened to five innings by rain and punctuated by arguments between players and umpires. Home runs by Hinchman and Saier produced the first scores, and fast base-running, a few hits and Cooper's wild pitch gave Chicago four in the third. Thereafter the visitors, Manager Bresnahan charged, strove to delay the game so that the threatening rain would fall before the legal four and a half innings could be played. Manager Clarke of the visitors was expelled following Umpire Byron's demand that his team cease dilatory tactics and Pitcher Pierce of the Cubs was ousted for throwing his bat at Cooper, who he thought, tried to hit him with the ball. Score: R. H. E.
Pittsburgh .....01000—1 5 0

Louisville, Ky., May 4.—Weinberg hit a home run into the left field bleachers in the ninth inning, tying the score, and Cleveland won out in the next inning 6 to 5. A Louisville rally in the tenth was cut short when James retired two batters with two on bases and one out. Fritz Gets Two Homers.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 4.—Chicago made it four straight from Buffalo by winning yesterday's game. Fritz furnished the feature of the day in fielding and at bat, both of his hits being homers. Score: R. H. E.

Break Even.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 4.—Pittsburgh and Brooklyn broke even in the first double header of the season here yesterday, the visitors taking the first game 3 to 1, and the home team winning the second 8 to 7. In the first contest Hearne, although hit harder than Upham, kept his opponents' hits well scattered, enabling Pittsburgh to win.

The visitors appeared to have the second game won also, but a great rally by Magee's men in the last inning sent over four runs, winning the contest. Pittsburgh used four pitchers. Scores:

ED WALSH SICK.

Great Old Pitcher Held in Los Angeles With Grippe Attack.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 4.—Developing a severe case of grippe from a cold contracted five days ago, Ed Walsh, Chicago American league pitcher, suffered from a high fever yesterday and was in such a condition that his departure for Chicago, planned for last Saturday, has been indefinitely postponed.

His "comeback" as a premier pitcher also has been put into the indefinite future.

JOHN G. CAPERS
Prominent Washington Attorney, formerly Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

"The Best Tobacco Made"

Emphatic Statement by an Eminent Authority—Pipe-smokers, Read what John G. Capers Has to Say

"When I was Commissioner of Internal Revenue under Presidents Roosevelt's and Taft's Administrations, I had a great deal to do with tobacco. In the collection of millions of dollars of tax I came intimately into contact with the whole business. Tuxedo I consider the best tobacco made. I smoke it myself and find it soothing and restful, mild, fragrant and non-irritating to the throat."

John G. Capers

Mr. Smoker, that's evidence straight from an authority that Tuxedo is the top-notch smoke of them all. The tobacco that a famous Internal Revenue Commissioner chooses for his own smoke because he considers it the best tobacco made.

And remember this, men:—that's picking Tuxedo from a mighty big field; for between you and us and the account sheet, the Government collects $100,000,000 a year in revenues from tobaccos.

Mr. Capers is now a prominent and successful practising lawyer in Washington, D. C., and we are glad to include his name in Tuxedo's great list of friends. It's the same old story everywhere Tuxedo is tried: Quality tells.

Don't quarrel with your pipe and don't quarrel with your tongue. Take your tobacco troubles to good old Tuxedo!

Your pipe'll be sweet and your tongue'll be sound if you smoke Tuxedo. Tuxedo can't bite or blister. That's all taken out by the famous "Tuxedo Process"—the original process which the other brands like so well that they try to imitate it.

And you'll find the Internal Revenue Commissioner absolutely right as to Tuxedo's quality.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Try Tuxedo for a week, and you'll know why Mr. Capers and thousands of other distinguished smokers say that it is "the best tobacco made."

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

was formerly president of the Wisconsin-Illinois league and has been actively mixed up in the affairs of that organization for a long term of years. Moll is experienced in both the practical and executive side of the game and at one time was considered quite a power in minor league circles.

Here, Fellows, Is Bill Fox.

Old Bill Fox! How tempus fugits. This geek was playing baseball when Jack Beckley was wearing knickers. If such a thing is possible, we believe that Bill Fox started about the same year as Darby O'Brien, the spring the soldiers were coming back from the Civil war.

Fox has been up in the big show and for a season or two he guarded the second sack on the Minneapolis team. Then Bill hit the gray trail of oblivion for the minors and has been dust covered since said time.

As a manager Fox is fairly corroded with the rust of experience. As a player he may be able to hold his own in the Northern. From a practical standpoint, Fox should know about all there is to know about baseball.

Here We Have Sundheim.

Some of the fans hereabouts remember John Sundheim from the days of auld lang syne. John played up in the Copper country along with Becker, Wotel and Lellvelt and some of the other stars. All of these boys were called to the big show. John tried with the New York Americans and finally landed in the Eastern league, now known as the International. While not the player of old, the Virginia pilot is still one of the best shortstops in the Northern league and always a dangerous hitter.

See Who's Here; Old Fred Curtis.

Northern league history is literally strewn with remnants of Fred Curtis. He has fought and bled around the circuit for years. Ye all know Fred Curtis, cits. When Joe Killian was in charge at Winona, Fred was on first base. Later he played with Superior and became its manager. Last season Fred was at Winnipeg and had Pulford's band up in the race all of the year. Now the handsome housepainter is back at Superior. Fred evidently loves the country life.

As a player Fred is still able to hold his own in Northern league company. There are gray hairs in plenty in his thick thatch of hair, but trouble has had no small share in this. A fine fellow, a good ball player, Curtis is one of the known quantities of the league.

A Small Salary League.

Last year the Northern league magnates were prodigal in the matter of salaries; at least in some cities. Duluth's monthly salary list ran to $2,200. Winnipeg was not far behind. Grand Forks was $6,200 behind the financial barrier at the end of the season. This led to the resolve to reduce expenses to the minimum.

No team will be permitted to expend more than $1,400 monthly in the way of salaries for its players, exclusive of the manager. If this rule is literally adhered to, it will mean cheaper baseball, but in the end the salvation of the league.

Grand Forks was hesitating on the brink of indecision last winter. Fargo was also halting. The little town can't stand the pace set by Winnipeg and Duluth. While the Northern is to have cheaper baseball, in the end it will mean more for the circuit.

Best cup of coffee on earth at Haley's.

BARR TO GET LONG REST

Darby's Heaver Out for Two Weeks—Sutton Not Here as Yet.

Pitcher Barr has asked for and received a two weeks' leave of absence from the White Sox. Sweeley will catch the opening game of the season at Winnipeg. Boley and Cadreau are the pitching choices of the Dook. A number of cans are scheduled to be tied tomorrow.

Such in brief is the baseball news offering for the day. It might be added that Herr Blume is scheduled to leave for Winnipeg this evening and that John Burmeister will leave Minneapolis this evening for the same destination. The rumor that the two gentlemen will be met at the train by Justice Curran and taken to his club in a taxi, has not been verified as yet.

Sutton, the candidate for third base, has not as yet replied to the wire sent by the Dook. No additional word has been heard from Handsome Clarence Grina.

According to Blume, some auspicious doings are planned for Thursday at the Peg. The new Norwood cricket grounds will be heaved open to the public. The rumor that ten will be served is only a rumor at best. Mr. Blume says large preparations have been made for the opening event. Maybe war returns will be read at the grounds.

The Dook and the members of his team will leave over the Canadian Northern tomorrow evening.

WARNER WILL LEAD CENTRAL HOCKEYITES

Chosen Captain for 1916 Team By Student Athletes.

Phil Warner, football and hockey star of Central high school, was chosen at a meeting of hockey "D" men to captain the 1916 school seven. Those eligible to vote were Capt. Parsons, Capt.-elect Warner, Gunderson, Kerr, Paine, Collins, Hegardt and McCormack.

Of this number Paine, McCormack, and the new captain are the only ones who will not be graduated this year. There are several other good players in the school who are coming back next year, and it is expected that a strong representative seven will be turned out. Last fall Warner was chosen to lead the football team of next year. Central made a good showing in the City Amateur league last winter, considering the class of their opponents. Capt. Parsons was chosen on the all-star city seven.

LABOR LEADER FOUND GUILTY

J. R. Lawson Condemned to Life Imprisonment for Murder.

Jury Finds Him Responsible for Death of Deputy Sheriff.

Trinidad, Colo., May 4.—John R. Lawson, noted labor leader, yesterday was condemned to spend the remainder of his life at hard labor in the Colorado penitentiary. He was found guilty of first-degree murder in connection with the death of John Nimmo, a deputy sheriff killed in a strike battle Oct. 25, 1913. Under the Colorado statute, making it the duty of the jury to fix the penalty at death or life imprisonment, the jury in the district court fixed the milder punishment.

Lawson sat immovable as the jury filed into the courtroom. There was only a sprinkling of spectators. Judge Granby Hillyer had announced luncheon recess until 2 o'clock and it was not quite that hour when the jury reported. The judge glanced at the verdict submitted by the jury and then handed it back to the clerk. The clerk read aloud:

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and fix the penalty at life imprisonment."

Lawson did not move. A slight smile played over his features. There was silence for a few moments, then Horace N. Hawkins, chief counsel for the defense, asked that the jury be polled. As the clerk read the names, each man assented to the verdict. Then there were brief legal formalities and the crowd filtered out the door.

Released Temporarily.

Thirty days were given to file a motion for a new trial and Lawson was released temporarily in custody of his counsel.

Early last night Judge Hillyer had not decided whether or not Lawson should be sent to jail pending decision on his application for a new trial. Lawson still was at his hotel.

JOHN R. LAWSON.

Seated at his lawyer's table, after the verdict, John R. Lawson talked calmly of the outcome of his fight for life and liberty.

"They may get me, but they can't defeat the cause of labor," Lawson said. "I'm not worrying about myself—it's the fight I have been making for the workingmen that I am interested in, and that will go ahead just as before. Even for me, it's a long way to the penitentiary. My attorneys will not give up until everything has been done to save me."

As the convicted labor leader talked, his friends in the crowd gathered around him and, one by one, they silently clasped his hand. Like a prairie fire, news of the verdict swept through the town. Labor adherents came rushing to the courthouse. Some had tears in their eyes as they greeted their defeated chief.

Expected Acquittal.

Lawson and his counsel had confidently expected an acquittal or at most a disagreement. The jury had been out since shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday night.

"I don't believe the verdict will be sustained," said Horace N. Hawkins, chief of counsel for the defense. "It is contrary to the evidence. I shall fight this case to a finish, as long as there are courts in which to fight."

Late last night Attorney Hawkins issued an additional statement in which he said: "Rockefeller's gold is claiming John R. Lawson, a labor leader, as a victim. Rockefeller's lawyers worked up the evidence and Rockefeller's detectives testified in the case to secure conviction. The verdict is an unspeakable outrage. In any other community an acquittal would have been had in five minutes. The conviction is stirring the nation. Telegrams are pouring in on us from all over the country and the beginning is not yet."

Judge Hillyer later announced that the labor leader would be released on $20,000 bond pending action on his motion for a new trial. Lawson's former bond in Las Animas county was $15,000.

The new bond was arranged for at a conference between Judge Hillyer and Horace N. Hawkins, chief counsel for the defense.

Lawson last night sent a message to his wife, telling her that he was convicted. Mrs. Lawson, an invalid suffering from a nervous breakdown, is in Los Angeles.

JURY'S VERDICT ON DEATH OF GLENNON

Banning, Cal., May 4.—A non-committal verdict was rendered yesterday by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of Peter Glennon, the ranch foreman, killed in a battle with Rev. Paul Reinfels, an invalid Catholic priest, and the latter's nurse, Mrs. Clara Sherrer, Friday night in a cabin near Palm Springs, a health resort in the desert here.

"Death was due," the verdict read, "to a gunshot wound in the neck, received by said Glennon, while trying to murder one Clara Sherrer and one Paul Reinfels, and from the evidence adduced, the jury is unable to determine whether said shot was fired by Paul Reinfels or by the deceased."

Double Drowning.

Shakopee, Minn., May 4.—Raymond and Edward, aged respectively 11 and 13 years, sons of Edward Kopp, a farmer living near here, were drowned in the O'Dowd lake Sunday afternoon.

SHOULD HAVE BEEN HIGHER

Commissioner Harlan Does Not Think Duluth Yet Has Justice.

Railroads Still Inclined to Build Up the Twin Cities.

While Duluth won a big victory by the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission in the 83-cents lake-and-rail case, in which the 21-cent spread between Duluth and the Twin Cities on freight rates from New York were involved, had Commissioner Harlan had his way, the spread would have been larger and more in favor of Duluth. Commissioner Harlan, while concurring in the decision as a whole, dissented to some extent, and added the following to his opinion in the decision:

"While I agree that the class rates to the Twin Cities should be adjusted on a scale of differentials over the Duluth rates of not less than the 21-cent scale resulting from our action in the Commercial club of Duluth vs. B. & O. R. R. Co., I am satisfied, upon a very careful examination of the record, that they should have been somewhat higher than that, in order to do substantial justice to the merchants of Duluth and to that point as a community."

Commission Disgusted.

The text of the decision would indicate that the interstate commerce commission members are somewhat disgusted with the admitted attitude of the roads in being willing to favor the Twin Cities over Duluth.

The carriers, in being ordered to accept the 83-cent scale and the 21-cent differential, are required to cancel on or before June 1, 1915, the rates, charges, practices and regulations stated in the schedules specified.

The decision is taken as forecasting the fate of the tariffs published by the lake-and-rail lines, covering a 5 per cent increase in rates, and which are now under suspension pending a hearing next month. It is looked upon as certain that the increase will not be allowed.

As to the view taken by the commission in dealing with the acknowledged favoritism of the Twin Cities, the commission says in its decision:

"We said in the Duluth case that it had been the policy of those lines to develop the Twin Cities as the point of commercial supremacy in this part of the Northwest, and that this was the explanation of the existence of the low 15-cent scale of differentials, which we have found to be unduly preferential of those communities and unlawful as against Duluth. A careful examination of the testimony given in the case by their officials shows that these lines are still willing to build up the Twin Cities at the expense of Duluth by holding the differential scale down to the lower level.

Admit Favoritism.

"On cross-examination it was admitted by one or more of these traffic officials that the 83-cent scale of class rates, being differentials over the Duluth rates on only a 15-cent scale,

> Was promulgated in order to give the Twin Cities an advantage that they would not otherwise enjoy.

"Another witness said that the proposed 90-cent scale to the Twin Cities would be all right if the Duluth scale, now fixed under our order, at 82 cents, were raised to a 75-cent scale; in other words, the proposed higher scale of rates, in his judgment, ought to satisfy the Twin Cities provided the Duluth rates were so increased as to preserve the old 15-cent scale of differentials which we condemned. The vice president in charge of traffic of one of the Northwestern lines, speaking of the present 83-cent scale, said that it must be regarded as remunerative because it was all they could get and at the same time conserve what they had always desired, namely, 'the standing of the Twin Cities commercially.' Another traffic official indicated that through rates based upon the Duluth combination was what the carriers should have on traffic to the Twin Cities, were it not for the 'exceptional conditions in the Twin Cities.' The 'conditions' to which he referred are the 'commercial, jobbing and manufacturing conditions which have existed for the last twentyfive years in the Twin Cities.' What is there meant seems to be that, inasmuch as the Northwestern lines years ago commenced to prefer the Twin Cities, and had thus built them up, the relation ought not to be changed so as to impair the Twin Cities as the commercial center of the Northwest, notwithstanding the natural and other advantages of Duluth."

The commission adds in its decision:

> "It is unnecessary to comment upon testimony of that character."

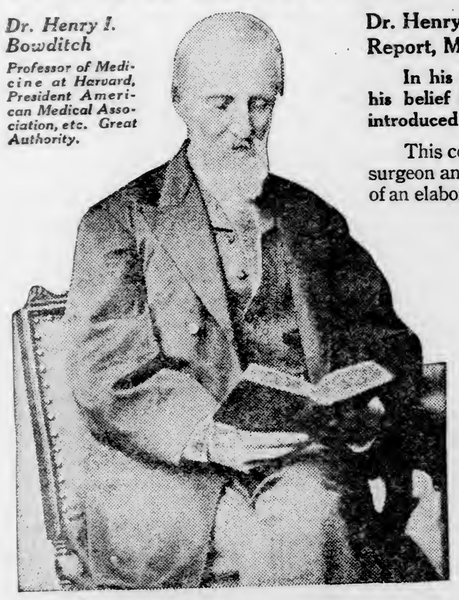
Will Not Be Acted on Now.

Atlanta, Ga., May 4.—A petition filed here yesterday by the state in the supreme court for the resentencing of Leo M. Frank, will not be acted upon until the case is restored to the jurisdiction of the state court from the Federal tribunal, according to announcement last night by Presiding Judge Hill. The case will probably be remanded to the Georgia Federal court this month.

Board of Health Endorses Beer

Dr. Henry I. Bowditch

Professor of Medicine at Harvard, President American Medical Association, etc. Great Authority.



Dr. Henry I. Bowditch in 3rd Annual Report, Massachusetts Board of Health

In his report of 1871, Dr. Bowditch states that in his belief lager beer is the greatest benefaction ever introduced into this country.

This conclusion of the late Dr. Bowditch, physician, surgeon and writer of international repute, was the result of an elaborate correspondence or investigation made by him for the State Board of Health of Massachusetts of which he was chairman.

His papers of inquiry were sent to thirty-three resident American Ambassadors, one hundred and thirty-two consuls and others whose opinions he knew would be valuable.

The Doctor makes this observation in his report: "The American people as a whole do not by any means as yet understand the true philosophy of food and drink."

Fitger Natural Beer is a matchless table beverage. It has all the life and sparkle of the finest draught beer as drawn fresh from the wood. This is due to our innovation, the Kieselguhr filter (first of its kind in America.) By Kieselguhr filtration Fitger Natural Beer attains a pure brilliancy heretofore unknown. To Kieselguhr filtration also is due the marvel of a beer in bottles with the full natural taste, aroma and character of the finest draught beer.

A. Fitger.

FITGER Natural Beer

"A Draught Beer in Bottles"

Besides its value as a pleasant, appetizing beverage Fitger Natural Beer has value as a food. One of the most authoritative of Medical Journals "The Hospital," (London) says: "When a man drinks good beer he eats at the same time, just as when he eats a bowl of soup."

CHOICE
WE ARE SOLID FOR THE GOOD JUDGE AND THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW

THE brotherly feeling between tobacco chewers impels them to tell each other about the Real Tobacco Chew.

And to remember the man who first told them about it.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED, RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

SOCIALIST PAPER IS GIVEN CONTRACT

Gets Two Harbors Job Over Paper That Bid 10 Per Cent Lower.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although the Journal-News was 10 per cent lower on official city printing it failed to land the contract at the hands of the city council which has had the matter under advisement for some time and last night awarded the work to the Socialist sheet, 5 to 2. The vote was aye, Murphy, Wickstrom, Nelson, Anderson, President Strand; no, Strom, Tubman.

A committee from the Marine band consisting of Henry H. Hammill, Nels Carlson and Charles Westrom asked what the city intended doing this coming summer relative to the Sunday afternoon concerts. The sentiment of the council was very much in favor of continuing the concerts this summer and a committee from the council will meet with the band for the purpose of arriving at a fair appropriation for the purpose of compensating the band boys. These concerts proved very popular last year, hundreds of people crowding the park every afternoon to listen to the music. Prof. Henry H. Hammill, leader of the band, states that the concerts will commence just as soon as the weather favorable.

The council granted the Swedish Finlanders the use of the city park for Sunday, July 18, for their annual picnic.

Police Appointment.

Mayor William Towl notified the council that he had made the following appointments on the police force: Chief, A. G. Nelson; patrolmen, Axel Ringdor and Godfrey Peterson.

The city clerk reported that there was $250 interest due on the water and light bond. The council instructed the clerk to draw an order and pay that amount.

The street commissioner reported that residents along the creek on Sixth avenue have been throwing refuse in the creek and recommended that the city clean out the creek and issue instructions prohibiting the dumping into this creek. The council instructed the commissioner to clean out the creek and put it in as nearly a sanitary condition as possible.

A committee consisting of Alderman Andrew Anderson and city clerk, August Omtvedt was appointed to negotiate for the purchase of a draft horse for the city to be used hauling small orders of coal.

City Clerk Omtvedt stated that the city might just as well go out of the coal business entirely if it were to continue to depend on having the coal hauled by outside drays. He stated that the latter are not to be depended on and highly recommended the purchase of a horse.

Payroll amounting to $2,300 was allowed, also bills amounting to several hundred dollars.

EVELETH PROPOSES BIG CELEBRATION

Range City First to Prepare for Observing Fourth of July.

Eveleth, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth will celebrate the Fourth this year. The city is the first on the range to begin preparing for the celebration of the nation's birthday and hopes to have the best Fourth in its history. The Commercial club took the matter up at its meeting Monday and decided to call a mass meeting for May 24 when committees will be appointed and active preparations made for the day.

Secretary Perham Resigns.

George A. Perham, secretary of the club, sprung a surprise at the meeting by handing in his resignation. Mr. Perham insisted on its acceptance at once and on motion President McGillvery appointed L. O. Magee to fill the vacancy until the June meeting when an election will be held. Mr. Perham gave up the office as he will not have time to do the work the coming summer. He is a member of a committee preparing a booklet to advertise the city and will give considerable time to it.

After disposing of the Fourth celebration and appointing five delegates, Charles Jesmore, J. C. Poole, Frank Malloy, George A. Perham and Solomon Sax to attend the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting at Coleraine, June 10 and 11, the club had no further business and adjourned.

He forgot to lock the barn door the previous night and says it will not happen again.

Ailments of Men Happily Overcome

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY.

Undoubtedly the following suggestion will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

By taking it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's short-comings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects its. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, let it be stated that the prescription calls only for three-grain Cadomene tablets, in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration. The tablets contain no opiates or habit-forming drugs, so a physician's prescription is not necessary. Well stocked pharmacies supply these tablets which possess the most wonderful tonic — invigorating powers imaginable. The effect of their use is soon apparent in new strength and nerve force.

NEW SETTLERS STILL ARRIVING

Land Around Grand Rapids Continues to Attract Them.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—New settlers continue to arrive in this vicinity. Pat Naughter, recently of Minneapolis, who some time ago bought 40 acres of land south of Pokegama lake has arrived with his family, and is getting settled in the house at the Pokegama lake ferry, where he will live this year while he is getting some buildings and clearing on his own land. Mr. Naughter has nine sons in his family, most of them grown up, and he should not be long in opening up a good big clearing. He will run the ferry across Black's arm which is now in operation.

The Somers & Timm Land company have sold 240 acres to P. Peterson, a Montana man, who expects to move in this spring.

Iowan Also Buys.

C. M. Holdren, recently of Mason City, Iowa, has moved in onto a piece of land which he had previously bought in the town of Harris, east of the McLean farm. Mr. Holdren has only forty acres of land, but he expects to go into the chicken business and other lines of intensive farming. He is charmed with this section, and he thinks that his section is just a little the best in the country. He has the makings of a fine place, as the soil is good, it is not too far from town, and it is in a splendid neighborhood.

Mullaly, a noted Paulist missionary, Michael Kelly and several other prominent Duluthians arrived here today in Mr. Kelly's auto, preparatory to the series of lectures which will given by Rev. Mr. Mullaly at the Power theater. The first will be given tonight on 'Religion and Reason,' Mr. Kelly and the other Duluthians will return home tomorrow.

Rev. Mr. Mullaly is brought here by the local members of the Knights of Columbus to give non-Catholics opportunity to learn the truth about the Catholic church and its teachings. Mr. Mullaly will give a series of five lectures. All lectures are non-controversial.

While here, Rev. Mr. Mullaly will be the guest of Father Hogan of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament.

You Will Feel Better All Day Long

If You Will Start in the Morning With "Benetol."

Make "Benetol" a part of your regular morning toilet. Just a few drops in a glass of water. Rinse the "morning taste" out with it—gargle with it, drink a swallow or two, wash your teeth with it, and use it as a nasal cleanser.

A "Benetol" Gargle Will Take Away that "Morning Taste" and Leave Your Breath, Stomach and Disposition Sweet.

It is the most powerful, harmless antiseptic and germicide known to medical science. It will free you from a cold or sore throat, cure any catarrhal affection you may have, keep your bowels and kidneys antiseptically clean and healthy and keep you free from germ diseases.

Most highly recommended as a general household antiseptic and germicide because it is absolutely harmless, both externally and internally. No danger of the little tots getting hold of the "wrong bottle" with such fatal results as are frequently caused by the presence in the home of carbolic acid, mercury tablets and other poisons. And still "Benetol" is actually stronger as a germicide than any of these!

"Benetol" is sold by nearly all druggists in 25c, 50c and $1.00 packages. If you wish a trial, we have a liberal package containing "Benetol" liquid, ointment and tooth cream. This trial package is not to be had at dealers', but will be sent to any address upon receipt of ten cents (coin or stamps). Be sure to try these "Benetol" preparations—they are really most delightful and you are sure to be pleased and benefited by them. Made only by the Benetol company, 130 Benetol building, Minneapolis, Minn.

Sold, recommended and guaranteed in Duluth by all druggists and leading drug stores everywhere.

SECRETARY'S PAY MATERIALLY CUT

Virginia Water and Light Commission Reduces Official's Salary.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The water and light board last night cut the pay of the secretary from $100 to $25 per month on the ground that since the board had its work well in hand the higher pay was not necessary. This action, it is expected, will remove many of the attractive features the position heretofore held and will not make so many people anxious to get on the board. The board reorganized by electing J. D. Lamont president, J. W. Murphy vice president and Max Lewis secretary.

Mayor May Appoint.

It is expected that at the city council meeting tonight the mayor will again try to appoint some one to succeed J. W. Murphy, whose term expired May 1. He once named Alderman Heritage, but the council declined to confirm. Whether the mayor will reappoint Heritage or name a new man is not known. The city council is also expected to appoint some one to inspect the septic tank construction. Some cement sidewalk contracts may also be let.

The new automatic telephone franchise is expected to get its first reading, while a traffic ordinance regulating the speed of motor vehicles may be acted on. So far no effort has been made to control jitneys, as there are not enough of them here to call for such action.

JOHNSONS SEPARATED.

Judge Fesler Grants Virginia Couple Decree of Separation.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—Judge Bert Fesler has filed in the office of the local clerk of the court a decree granting to Mrs. Albertina W. Johnson the decree of separation she sought from her husband, August Johnson, and making disposition of their property here and Duluth.

The decree is for legal separation only, not for divorce, and grants Mrs. Johnson custody of their only child. In addition to the division of their real estate, which is of considerable value, Mr. Johnson is ordered by the court to pay his wife alimony of $30 a month.

The household furniture is awarded to Mrs. Johnson, as is also the Johnson property at 310 Maple street and two lots in the city of Duluth. Mr. Johnson retains the Spruce street property and also gets two lots in Duluth.

NOT CERTAIN ABOUT NAMING POLICE WOMAN

Hibbing, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council is not yet satisfied that a police woman in Hibbing is a necessity. Nor is it entirely certain if it finds out that this is a necessity who to appoint for the position.

At the present time fourteen local women have their applications in for the position while the Saturday club has gone on record favoring the appointment of Miss L. Parks of Chicago, who has had considerable experience in that city in police and social settlement work.

ASK BREWERS' HELP IN CURBING PIGGERS

Virginia Police Commission Invites Beer Makers to Aid Board.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The brewers have been invited to aid the police of Virginia in suppressing the blind pigs. The police and fire commission last night designated two members to act as a committee to meet the brewers or their representatives here May 17 and try and devise some plan to curb the blind pig evil. It is hoped the beer sellers will agree not to deliver beer to any person convicted once or more times of illegal sales of beer.

The commission allowed Sergeant McCullock to take a layoff to play ball with the Virginia team in the Northern league.

Mrs. George Hill of Virginia applied for the job of police matron, but the application was simply filed as the city already has such an employe.

VIRGINIA CHAUTAUQUA.

Plans Perfected for Entertainment During Month of August.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—Plans for a chautauqua here in August have been perfected. H. A. Hedges, field superintendent of the Vawter Chautauqua System, was here and completed arrangements.

There will be five musical organizations, one for each day. Mr. Hedges says these have all been selected with special reference to their fitness for the places they are to fill. The companies are: The Lawson Trio; the J. Walter Wilson company; the Mendelsohn Sextette; the Avon Sketch club and the Bouchier Opera company.

The speakers include Congressman Lenroot of Wisconsin; C. A. Payne; Alva M. Reitzel; Preston Bradly; C. H. Plattenburg and Hazel Kepford.

MINING VICTIM IS BURIED AT GILBERT

Gilbert, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral services of Alex Marossa who was killed last Thursday at one of the mines at Hibbing was held yesterday afternoon from the home of his sister, Mrs. F. Stratka at the Sparta location. Interment was made at the Gilbert cemetery.

He was a former resident of Sparta, was 27 years of age and leaves a brother and sister in this country. He was well known here.

Mr. Marossa was a native of Russia coming to this country four years ago. While in Russia he served several years as conductor on one of the government railways.

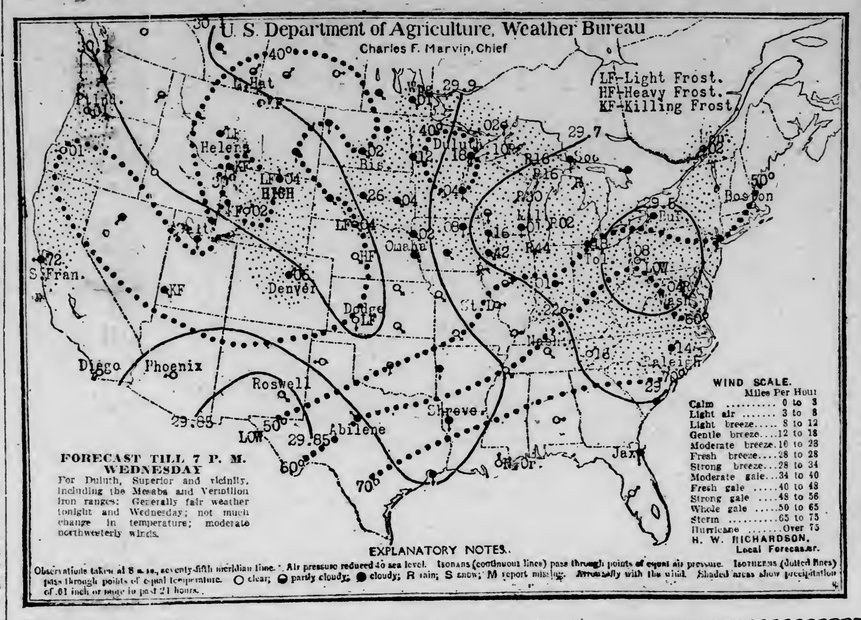
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. WEDNESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Generally fair weather tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature; moderate northwesterly winds.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature. ○ clear; ◑ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows show the wind. Shaded areas show precipitation of .01 inch or more in past 12 hours.

FAIR

With more rain during the night, the best that can be said about today's weather, so far, is that it threatens to clear up at times, but has not, as yet, made good. The atmosphere also is warmer, and for a time today the air was absolutely dead and motionless, not a branch fluttering. It was a sharp contrast following the gale.

A year ago today was gray and damp. The sun rose this morning at 4:47 and will set this evening at 7:22, giving fourteen hours and thirty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light rain fell over Ontario, Manitoba, the Dakotas, Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Lake region, North Atlantic states, Wyoming, Colorado, Northern California and Western Oregon. Cooler weather prevails in most of the central states. Frost occurred last night over Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Utah and Montana."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 4.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; showers in extreme east portion this afternoon and probably tonight; continued cool.

Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature; probably frost tonight in west portion.

Upper Lakes—Moderate northwest winds; cloudy tonight; Wednesday fair.

BOAT CLUB ELECTS.

Trout Lake Organization Has Meeting at Coleraine.

Coleraine, Minn., May 4.—The Trout Lake Boat club has begun its activities for the season. A dance was given at the club house Saturday night. At the annual meeting of the club the following officers were elected: President, John Hermatson; vice president and manager, A. H. Grimpo; secretary, E. R. Blair; treasurer, C. B. Carlton; directors, A. Freemont, August Johnson, Peter Fahey, A. E. Perrier, George Andrews of Bovey, Robert Loux of Taconite and A. E. Wallien of Grand Rapids.

The financial report showed that the club has a valuation of $6,350 and that its affairs are in good condition. There were 370 shares of stock represented at the meeting out of a total of 470.

FURNACE MEN SEEKING BENEFIT OF CUT RATE.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.) — Mesaba range independent ore producers are peeved over word they have received from Cleveland and other Eastern furnacemen that the latter will pay 5 cents less per ton for iron ore since the railroads have been ordered to make such reduction in hauling ore from this range to the docks. Local ore producers are naturally vexed over the announcement as they fail to see where the reduction in hauling rates benefits them at all. The matter may be adjusted.

KILLS SHE-BEAR AND CAPTURES HER CUBS

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Gauvreau, who is employed at Graff in one of the camps at that place, killed a she-bear and captured her cubs. Mr. Gauvreau was going from one camp to another, and looking up an old logging road, saw the she-bear coming up the road, and he shot her. The cubs, which could not have been over ten days old, were easily captured, and they were taken to Hibbing where they were sold to the village park board and added to the Hibbing park "zoo."

LAWYERS FINALLY SUMMING UP CASE

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—In district court Monday, E. E. McDonald, of the counsel for the defense, spent the entire day addressing the jury in the case of the Gilbert Land company vs. the Minneapolis & Rainy River Railway company, which has been on in court since March 18 last. He reviewed the testimony, and made a very impressive plea. It is likely that the plaintiff will occupy as much time in addressing the jury, and that the court's charge will also be quite lengthy, owing to the large volume of testimony in the case, and that the case will not go to the jury until Wednesday afternoon at the earliest.

Rev. Mr. Johnston gave his first sermon Sunday evening in the Presbyterian church. He arrived a few days ago from Buffalo, N. D.

The street commissioner has a few men at work grading the ball ground. President Saari of the council is also manager of the ball team and he is now busy arranging a schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. George Williams moved to Hibbing a few days ago. The house they vacated will soon be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt.

Thomas Williams, master mechanic at the Deacon mine, four miles west of this place, has bought the Charles Oakman residence and will soon move his family here.

Eveleth Home Damaged.

Eveleth, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of C. H. Morrill at 619 Jones street was badly damaged by fire. The fire originated in an upstairs clothes closet, and was not discovered until it had a good start. The fire department kept the fire confined to the upstairs.

Eveleth Concert Pleases.

Eveleth, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Range High School orchestra concert, which was given at the auditorium here proved a great success in every way. All of the orchestras, as well as the two soloists of Aurora, rendered pleasing numbers.

About 400 people from different range towns attended the concert, and were pleased at the good work of the pupils.

Sandow Visits Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. Alexander Sandow, one of the strongest men in the world, will give an exhibition of his physical prowess May 16, at the Power theater. Prof. Sandow came to Hibbing yesterday morning and will be here until after the exhibition.

Small Virginia Fire.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department was called to the home of Martin Eggen at 717 Poplar street yesterday to put out a small blaze in a shed at the rear of the residence. The fire originated from a stove in the shed and the only damage done was to blacken the walls.

SUGAR BETTER HARVESTER.

Is Latest Invention of International Falls Genius.

International Falls, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. A. Oveson, an inventive genius of this place, has just perfected a sugar beet harvester which he will enter in the contest held by the Great Western Sugar company at Denver, Colo., next fall when a prize of $10,000 will be given the person taking first prize.

Mr. Oveson worked on his idea two and one-half years and thinks he has a prize winner.

The model, now in the shop of the inventor, is a very interesting affair and so far as can be seen there is no doubt of the machine proving a decided success and pulling down the prize at the Denver trials next fall.

Work will begin soon on one of the machines at a Minneapolis shop and according to the plans made it will take care of all root crops of any practical size.

Mr. Oveson has also met with some decided successes with his incinerator he patented last winter. They are in use here, at Fort Frances, at Baudette and two at Grand Forks, N. D. A contract has also been made with a firm at Roanoke, Va., for control of installation of the incinerators in the New England states whereby the inventor will receive a royalty of $200 on each one built.

WALK RAILROAD BRIDGE.

Grand Forks Drinkers Hike Across 400-Foot Structure.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Drinking men are able to make their way across the Northern Pacific railroad bridge to East Grand Forks, judging from the report of Police Magistrate Church.

With the railroad bridge the only means of communication open directly between the saloon district of East Grand Forks and the dry city of Grand Forks, nineteen men were arrested here on charges of drunkenness during April.

The railroad trestle which they must cross is about 400 feet long and, so far as known, none of the drunks crossing the structure met with accidents.

WEAK STOMACHS CAUSE GAS

Stomach gas which is a cause of great discomfort to many people is caused by the food being retained so long that it ferments if it is vegetable food or putrefies if it is animal food. The usual treatment is to forbid the use of the food that is causing the trouble. This stops the discomfort caused by gas but few people like to be put on a limited diet. They generally try another doctor.

Food is retained until it causes gas because the digestion is weak. That is a simple statement of a complicated condition. Digestive weakness may involve a deficient secretion of digestive fluids, lack of force in the nerves that control digestion, many things, but back of them all is thin blood. "Without rich, red blood good digestion is impossible" is an established fact in medicine. You can enrich your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and begin at once to restore your disordered digestion until you can eat what you want, within reason, and enjoy it. These pills have a direct action on the nerves also and so are an ideal digestive tonic.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," that will help you solve your stomach problems will be sent you free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

ADMITS HE IS BIGAMIST

Married Woman of Underworld Who Threatened to Shoot Herself.

Held Here for Desertion; Faces Perjury Charge in Minneapolis.

Facing Judge Cant in district court yesterday afternoon on a charge of deserting his wife and child, Frank T. Grummitt, 35, confessed that he was a bigamist. He declared that although he was a man of family, he had disregarded his wedding vows and married a woman of the underworld who had threatened to shoot herself if he did not make her his wife.

Grummitt claimed that his first wife had left him once before that, and he did not care to live with her after that. Later, in a house of ill repute at Superior, he stated, he met Anna E. Wise, who induced him to marry her under a threat that she would take her own life if he did not. The court deferred the matter of sentence to enable the county attorney to make a thorough investigation of the double existence story.

First Wife Has Child.

Wife No. 1 is Mrs. Frank T. Grummitt of Proctor and the mother of a baby, now 18 months old. She was married to Grummitt in this city on Sept. 3, 1912, and was formerly Miss Laura B. Schaffer. According to her complaint on which Grummitt was arrested, he abandoned her and the child in May, 1913. During the following month he married the Wise woman at Minneapolis. They went to Farmington to reside. He lived with his second wife for a short time and then deserted her. Grummitt was arrested at Cleveland in March and brought to Duluth to answer to a charge of deserting his first wife.

Grummitt's whereabouts were discovered through a singular coincidence. In February last a Duluth merchant received a letter from Mrs. Grummitt No. 2 concerning a bill which Grummitt owed in this city. The merchant knew Mrs. Grummitt No. 1 at Proctor and placed the letter in her hands. She referred the matter to Humane Agent R. D. McKercher, who secured a warrant for Grummitt's arrest as a wife-deserter.

Finds Other Wife.

The letter had been posted from Farmington and it was there that Agent McKercher went to look for Grummitt. When he arrived there, he did not find Grummitt, but succeeded in locating wife, No. 2, who was at that time employed as a nurse in a hospital at Farmington. She told the humane agent that she understood that Grummitt had gone to Cleveland to make his home with a sister.

The officer then exhibited a picture of Grummitt and his first wife. She expressed surprise that he had been married before and then informed the humane agent that she had started suit for divorce against Grummitt. Later she abandoned the divorce proceedings and started an action to have the marriage set aside on the grounds of bigamy. This action is pending in the courts at Farmington.

Just what disposition will be made of Grummitt is not yet known. County Attorney Greene stated this morning that he had been advised by the county attorney of the county in which Farmington is located that Grummitt would not be prosecuted for bigamy there. He secured his license to marry his second wife at Minneapolis and is consequently answerable to a charge of perjury to the authorities of Hennepin county. It is probable however, that his case will be disposed of here under the wife desertion charge.

Grummitt was frank with the court in telling his story and related just how he had become involved with the second woman.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS IN SAMPLE ROOMS

About $2,000 Damage Sustained From Blaze at Mesaba Block.

Fire starting in a pile of clothing samples on the second floor of the Mesaba block, 414 West Superior street, caused $2,000 damage last night about 12 o'clock. The loss is covered by insurance.

Finch, Van Slyck & McConville, a wholesale dry goods firm of St. Paul, were the heaviest loser, as the flames penetrated to their sample room and destroyed the contents. The origin of the blaze, which started in the rear of the sample rooms, has not been determined. H. J. Tonskemper, local representative of the company, was unable to estimate the loss.

A considerable loss was sustained by the Twin Ports Clothing company, 405-407 West Superior street, directly below the Tonskemper sample rooms. After the fire had burned through the floor the salvage corps was unable to prevent damage by water and smoke. M. Cook, manager of the Twin Ports company, was unable to make an estimate of the probable loss this morning.

The dry goods stock of Lindeke, Warner & Co., a St. Paul firm represented by C. T. McKenny, and the shoe stock of C. H. Smith, kept in rooms adjoining the Finch, Van Slyck & McConville showrooms, were damaged to some extent.

The offices of George R. King, contractor, also were damaged slightly by water.

Firemen had considerable difficulty with the blaze, as they were unable to reach the center of the blaze. They finally entered the building from Superior street and forced their way through to the Tonskemper rooms.

PRISONERS SENTENCED

Selling Liquor to Indians Is Not a Profitable Business.

Selling liquor to persons of Indian blood proved to be a costly and unprofitable pastime for James Roberts, who was haled before Judge Cant in district court yesterday afternoon.

Roberts pleaded guilty to an information charging him with having disposed of a half pint of brandy to one John La Prairie, an Indian, at Brookston, on March 16 last. Roberts received 25 cents from the redskin and a year at the work farm from the court.

Sam Strugy when arraigned before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon also pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor to an Indian. He admitted that on March 18 last at Floodwood he received 25 cents from John Foot, an Indian, for purchasing a jug half full of alcohol and a pint of whisky for him. The case was continued for sentence until the county attorney could investigate Strugy's record, if he had any.

* * *

Jaako Kivinen drew two months at the work farm as punishment for the crime of grand larceny in the second degree, to which he pleaded guilty when brought before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon. The prisoner confessed that he had stolen $140 from Herman Salo on April 16 last.

* * *

Henry Hildebrand, who pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing merchandise from a Northern Pacific car on March 15 last, will be given another chance. The court continued his case for sentence until the September term of court and placed him on parole. Hildebrand promised the court that he would reform and forsake all evil ways.

COUNCIL WILL FORBID FREE "EYE OPENERS"

New Ordinance Will Check Giving Away Liquor Early in Morning.

Free "eye-openers" in the early morning hours are prohibited in an ordinance introduced last evening by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division.

The ordinance proposes to amend section 10 of the liquor ordinance passed on July 1, 1913, prohibiting the treating or giving away of intoxicating liquors between the hours of 5 and 7 a. m. Two more readings are required before the ordinance comes up for passage.

The amendment was introduced as the result of charges made to the police department that many saloon keepers give free drinks away in the early morning hours, and that as a result many workmen start out by getting drunk, instead of continuing to their labors.

FORTY-ONE PERSONS DROWNED IN FLOODS

Thirty-Six Bodies Recovered in Texas and Five Are Still Missing.

Galveston, Tex., May 4.—Forty-one persons were drowned in recent storms and floods in Texas, according to a recount made here last night. Thirty-six bodies have been recovered while five persons, missing at Austin for two weeks, are counted with the dead. Twenty-one bodies have been recovered at Austin.

Flood conditions in Southern Texas remained virtually unchanged. Several railroads resumed partial service in the flooded district as the crest of the waters passed toward the gulf and it was believed the overflowed streams would subside into their banks without further material loss. No estimate of the property damage has been made, but it is believed it will reach $2,500,000. Austin was the heaviest sufferer.

SAYS WEST IS READY TO WELCOME JEWS

Jacob Schiff Suggests That 2,000,000 Emigrate to This Country.

New York, May 4—Jacob H. Schiff's suggestion that at least 2,000,000 Jews from abroad should emigrate to the country beyond the Mississippi river aroused enthusiasm today among those interested in the movement to aid Jewish sufferers from the war. He declared that the West was ready to welcome them and that a land of plenty awaited them there.

Mr. Schiff's proposal was made in an address to the Educational alliance last night on his return from a trip to San Antonio, San Francisco, Kansas City and Chicago, undertaken to discover the sentiment toward the Jews in the West. Everywhere he went he said he found the feeling kindly and the Jewish people happy.

SKATING RINK NOW IS SCHOOL GARDEN

Pupils in International Falls School to Cultivate Soil.

International Falls, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A piece of city property used last winter for a skating rink where hockey games and other sports were pulled off has been converted into a large garden by the agricultural department of the school and will be used by the garden club of the grades for the raising of all kinds of garden products.

This strip of ground has been divided into forty-two plots, each 14 by 20, and each boy allotted one plot to plant and care for. Seed is furnished by the school and about six varieties of vegetables will be planted by the youngsters. This ground has been given to the pupils of the agricultural classes with the seeds under the agreement, signed by their parents, that they will properly care for their space and must forfeit it if they do not.

Have Garden Policeman.

A very novel plan in connection with this is the creating of an office of garden policeman. A star of proper dimensions has been secured and one day during the summer each member must be on watch to see that no harm comes to the place by theft of trespassing. This plan has been tried out in other places and was found to work very well, for while it protected the gardens it also tended to direct interest toward the work.

LEFT TO PEOPLE.

Grand Forks High School Muddle to Be Submitted to Voters.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school fight reached a climax last night when the board of education decided to have a vote on the proposition.

This action follows a lengthy consideration of the question of erecting a school at a cost of approximately $250,000.

Four propositions will be balloted upon, those including the main question of whether or not any building shall be constructed and three proposed sites.

SECOND ANNUAL MEETING.

Red River Development Association Plans Big Gathering at Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Welter and the other officers of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association have finally agreed upon June 16 and 17 as the date for the second annual convention here of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association.

"We are going to have a program that will be a credit to the association," said Secretary N. S. Davies, "but will be somewhat different from what we planned on last year in this respect, my idea this year is to leave the program more in the hands of the active members of farmers clubs as I want them to take a more prominent part in the program than they did a year ago. It has always been my idea that the farmers clubs were the real backbone of the development association and if they were not behind it solidly there was very little real stamina behind the association.

"I believe this meeting is going to be the best one we have ever had because it is going to be to a greater extent the voice of the people more than any of our previous meetings."

His mother resorted to heroic efforts to save the child, and was also burned about the hands and face. The child may die.

NORTH DAKOTA HAS MORE AUTOMOBILES

Bismarck, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are about 25 per cent more automobiles in North Dakota now than there were last year, judging from the number of licenses that have already been issued by Secretary of State Thomas Hall.

Already 15,341 license tags have been issued this year, while the total issued during all of last year was but 17,374. It is estimated that 65 or 70 per cent of the car owners have so far obtained their new license tags.

BOARD OF TRADE LIVERY CO.

NOT THEIR STYLE.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: The young man who eats all 'round the circuit ran against this quick-lunch incident recently.

A fastidious person made his way charily into the place. A tumbler of murky water was thumped before him by the young woman on the other side of the counter.

"What's yours?"

"Coffee and rolls, my girl."

One of those iron heavy, quarter-inch thick mugs of coffee was pushed over the counter. The fastidious person seemed dazed. He looked under the mug and over it.

"But where is the saucer?" he queried.

"We don't give no saucers here. If we did some low brow'd come plin' in an' drink out of his saucer, an' we'd lose a lot of our swellest trade."

EASILY EXPLAINED.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The talk topic in the lobby of a hotel turned to poker. Governor Emmett O'Neal of Alabama, smiled. He said he was reminded of an explanation made by a party named Brown.

Some time ago Brown attended a social affair, and during the evening reference was made to horse racing.

"By the way, Mr. Brown," interrupted a pretty young girl, on overhearing the remark, "didn't you say that you lost some money on one of the races?"

"Yes," answered Brown, with something akin to a soulful sigh. "As a matter of fact I lost a little on six of them."

"You don't really mean it!" returned the young woman. "Why is it, Mr. Brown, that you are wonderfully successful in playing poker and yet lose when you bet on the races?"

"I suppose," was the frank confession of Brown, "it is because I can't shuffle the horses."

LIQUOR HABIT CURED

God's True Root, discovered by John B. Fisete. The only sure and permanent cure for the Liquor Habit. He has a well-known and reliable cure for the liquor habit and guarantees to cure the worst case in two weeks. Hundreds who have been cured can testify to this fact. No matter how far gone a man may be or how desperate a case, even when there seems to be no hope of saving the man, I can positively cure him in two weeks and make a new man of him, both mentally and physically. If you have tried other cures and have gone back to the liquor habit again, I will guarantee to cure you in two weeks and turn your taste against intoxicating liquors or refund you your money. Prices reasonable. Here is a testimonial from one who has been benefited:

Chisholm, Minn., June 2, 1913.

I hereby certify to having been cured of the drink habit by Prof. John B. Fisete. I was a slave to the drink habit for the past 20 years and was entirely cured in two weeks. I truthfully say that I have lost all desire for intoxicating liquors, and am disgusted at the sight of the liquor.

Yours truly,

METAL BOXES FOR CLEAN-UP

Street Cleaners Will Be Provided With Receptacles for Sweepings.

Corners and Crossings Will Be Kept Clear in Future.

Metal boxes for street sweepings in various parts of the city will be ordered by Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division, according to an announcement he made this morning.

For the last two weeks the commissioner has been watching the street cleaners, as the result of several complaints made to his office, and he discovered that men invariably left the sweepings on busy street corners to remain there until a wagon came along to cart them away. This very often meant that the dumpings were on the street for two or three days.

In addition, the commissioner discovered that some of the men dumped the sweepings of the street on vacant lots, but failed to cover it up with clay or sand, as is demanded by his department.

As a result, the commissioner will order a number of metal boxes, where the street cleaners can place the dumplings. These boxes will be air tight and are to be similar to those in use in the larger cities of the country. Wagons will make periodical trips around the city to collect the dumpings from these boxes.

In this way Commissioner Farrell expects to keep the streets much cleaner and to prevent the men from dumping their sweepings into vacant lots.

AUSTRIANS SAY 30,000 RUSS WERE CAPTURED

Vienna, May 4, via London.—Thirty thousand Russian soldiers, 22 cannon and 64 machine guns were captured in the battle of West Galicia, according to an official statement given out in Vienna this afternoon.

The statement follows:

"German and Austro-Hungarian troops in true comradeship of arms gained a new victory. During the retreat of the Russians after our victorious battle at Limanova, Western Galicia, we captured the strongly fortified front of the enemy between the Vistula and the main ridge of the Carpathians.

"In a continued attack, the allied troops, under the eyes of Commander-in-Chief Archduke Frederick, gained new successes yesterday, and advancing irresistibly in an easterly direction, forced the Russians to make a hasty retreat.

"The importance of the total success cannot yet be approximately estimated. The number of prisoners taken so far is 30,000. It is increasing hourly. A great quantity of war material has been captured in numerous Russian positions, including twenty-two cannon and sixty-four machine guns.

"On the remainder of the front the situation is generally unchanged."

SUIT FOR DAMAGES FOR INJURIES DISMISSED

Madison, Wis., May 4.—The supreme court today dismissed the action brought by Irene Morrison against certain members of the state fair board for injuries sustained by being struck by an aeroplane under the direction of Aviator Hoxie, who gave an exhibition at the fair grounds in Milwaukee, Sept. 16, 1910. The lower court held certain members of the fair board for damages as the result of this accident.

"The jury found there was no negligence on the part of the aviator in handling the machine," says Justice Kerwin in the decision of the court. "It is difficult to see how any of the defendants could be guilty of negligence if Hoxie was not."

Work on the second plant was started last week. After both plants are completed it is expected steady employment will be given about 100 men.

MAKES HEAVY BURDEN.

Increase in Freight Rates Discourages Cattle Raising, Says Witness.

Chicago, May 4.—A. Sykes of Ida Grove, Iowa, testified in the Western commodity rates cases today that if it were not for the fact that cattle-raising is necessary to preserve the fertility of Iowa farms, the farmers would not produce cattle at all.

"It seems to me that the railroads should stop trying to discourage the cattle business by attempting freight rate advances," said the witness. "If they make the burden so heavy that we can't afford to raise livestock—and that is what this advance would do—the farms will lose their fertility, crops will fall off and the railroads themselves will suffer for lack of farm products to haul."

Mr. Sykes said he lost $25 each on a herd of butcher cattle which he fed for three months last year, and he estimated the average loss to Iowa cattle raisers in 1914 at $20 a head.

AN ENGLISHMAN WAS ONCE CROWNED KING OF CALIFORNIA

Kansas City Times: Hidden in the diary of Francis Fletcher, a sailor parson who acted as chaplain for the freebooters of Sir Francis Drake, is the story of the first hoax ever engineered by Californians. Complete records of all later ones would fill a library.

The joke was on Sir Francis. Until his last day he believed the Indians of California had crowned him their king—king of California. As a matter of fact all they did was to give him a feather war bonnet and perform some native rites before him, hoping thereby to get their hands in his gift box again.

It happened in June, 1559. Drake was looking for the mythical Northwest passage after a successful year looting and plundering in the Spanish colonies. His ship, the Golden Hind, sprung a leak and Drake put into a little bay, just north of the present San Francisco, for repairs.

An Indian paddled out to the ship in a canoe. He scattered feathers on the water and went through a lot of pantomime. Drake feared the land until he found out the intent of the natives. The one Indian went back to shore. Then, to quote from Chaplain Fletcher:

"He shortly came againe the second time in like manner and so the third time, when he brought with him (as a present from the rest) a bunch of feathers, much like the feathers of a blacke crowe, very neatly and artificially gathered upon a string, and drawne together in a round bundle, being verie cleane and finely cut. With this also he brought a little basket made of rushes, and filled with an herbe which they called Tobah. Both being tyde to a short rodde he caste into our boate."

Drake tried to give presents in return, but the Indian paddled away quickly. He took only an old cocked hat which some sailor had thrown overboard. The hat made quite an impression on the tribe, apparently, for they all gathered around the possessor on the beach.

In three days' time Drake concluded the Indians were friendly, so landed his men and began to unload the ship. A fort was constructed as a matter of precaution.

While the crew prepared the Golden Hind for sea, Drake visited with the Indians. A tale, apocryphal perhaps, says he took an Indian chieftain's daughter to wife. At any rate he got on famously with the savages, aided no doubt by generous gifts.

As the time neared for his departure and gifts grew fewer, the Indians announced that they intended to give a festival for Drake and his party. Drake came, in full armor, and the Indians danced and played games for his benefit.

At the close of the ceremonies the Indians signaled that Drake was to be honored in some way. First an Indian approached bearing what Fletcher calls "a scepter." Drake accepted this kingly accouterment. Then a chain was placed around his neck and amid great shouting a "crown of feathers" was placed on his head.

Drake saw no other meaning to the ceremony than that he had been chosen king. What they really did was give him a pipe, a belt of wampum and a war bonnet. Drake drew his men up in line and, with a great flourish of trumpets and drums, accepted the kingship of California. As a postscript he added that he made no claims to being an independent monarch. He was still a vassal of Queen Elizabeth. He set up a monument to that effect:

Our generall caused to be set up a monument of our being there, as also of her majesties and successors right and title to that kingdom; namely a plate of brasse, fast nailed to a greate and firm poste; whereon is engraven her grace's name, the day and year of our arrival there, and of the free giving up of the province and kingdom, both by the king and people, unto her majesties' hands: together with her highnesse picture and arms, in a piece of sixpence current English mone, shewing itselfe by a hole made of purpose through the plate; underneath was likewise engraven the name of our Generall.

The hoax was successful. After accepting the kingship Drake sent for a large assortment of gifts for his subjects.

UNBELIEVABLY BIG.

Los Angeles Times: English as she is spoke in England opens pitfalls almost as numerous as those of a foreign language to an American.

A Los Angeles society matron was guest of honor at a London dinner last summer. Of course California became the topic of general conversation and she was asked many weird questions.

"Do pines grow in California?" queried the host.

"Oh, yes, many varieties of them."

"What's the favorite variety?"

"The sugar pine, I think."

"How large is the sugar pine?"

"Very often as much as sixteen feet in circumference."

The Englishman gasped, then stared at his guest as if suddenly convinced that he was entertaining the Baroness Munchausen unawares. He asked no more questions for the time being. But after dinner he again approached the American lady. "Are they edible?" he said with explosive suddenness. "Those big pines, you know. Fancy!"

"Edible!" echoed the puzzled lady. "How can a tree be edible?"

"But the pine isn't a tree," persisted the Englishman. "It's a fruit. With prickles, you know."

"Oh, I see. You mean a pineapple."

"We call them pines here," answered the Englishman stiffly. "Your American language is very strange."

DOCTOR'S ADVICE SAVED HIM.

Chicago News: Sunday passed, Tuesday rolled around, and still his tall form did not loom in the vestibule when the cuckoo clock was sounding 8. Thursday he came, and the beautiful girl was burning with wrath.

"So this is the way you neglect me," she hissed. "What have you to say for yourself? Why didn't you come?"

"I couldn't," faltered the youth. "I had dyspepsia and the doctor advised me not to come.'

"What? The doctor told you not to come to see me because you had dyspepsia?"

"Well, he told me to keep away from all sweets."

And the parlor sofa was tenanted.

WHAT AILED THE SENATE.

Popular Magazine: An old colored man from Virginia had received at last the position that fulfilled his ambitions. He held the job of sweeping the steps on the east side of the senate end of the capitol. Finding himself in this prominent place, he set about mastering the legislative and parliamentary phrases that are batted about so freely in the senatorial presence.

One day a party of tourists were disappointed when they found, upon arriving at the capitol, that the senate was not in session.

"I wonder what's the matter with the senators today," said a woman in the party to old John.

"I ain't sartin," he replied, judicially, "but I spec's dey done took an abscess."

LITTLE MADGE AMUSED.

Everybody's Magazine: Little Madge had been listening to her mother reading from the paper. All was silent for some little time, and then Madge burst out laughing very suddenly.

"Why, dearie," said the mother, "what is it?"

"I was thinking of what you just read about the wild people in Africa, mother," replied the child.

"But there was nothing amusing about that, dear"

"Why, yes, there was, mother," said Madge, "about their beating on their tumtums till they could be heard for miles."

ACTRESS' BEAUTY AROUSES THE INTEREST OF ARTISTS

MRS. CHARLES HOPKINS.

Mrs. Charles Hopkins, who is supporting her husband in "The Clever Ones" at the Punch and Judy theater, New York, is an English woman. Her beauty has made such an impression on the theatergoers of New York that several artists have asked permission to picture her. Her beauty is of a delicate type and lies as much in her grace and gentleness of manner as in her features and her figure. In the new Sutro play she wears a very fetching costume of the period.

BOXING IN THE LIMELIGHT

Steel Plant Employes Making Plans for Regular Bouts.

Eager to Learn Who the New Boxing Commissioner Will Be.

Who will be the Duluth member of the state boxing commission?

The question is especially interesting to employes of the steel plant district who expect to secure permission to hold some of the twelve exhibitions allowed each year in Morgan Park after the big steel mills get to operating.

Steel mill employes devote a large part of their spare time to following the boxing game, according to some of the men who are now employed at the plant. These exhibitions are encouraged by many of the foremen because of the closer friendship that it brings the employes and furnishes them the recreation outside of the plant that is desirable to hold the men together.

"Every employe of a steel mill considers himself more or less of a sugilist," said one of the foremen at the steel plant yesterday. "When we get to operating there will be hundreds of these lights of lesser or greater brilliancy, who, after working hours, will want to put on the gloves. Of course, the minor events will not require any permit because they will not be the kind that will be promoted through professionalism, but there will be several planned, and unusually good matches in the professional class to which admission will have to be charged in order to bring the men here and pay their expenses. A steel mill employe, if unable to witness a good professional boxing bout at least four times a year, would be dissatisfied."

The proposed clubhouse at Morgan Park will probably be the scene of these matches. This clubhouse will be the most modern in the city, according to proposed plans. In addition to a big gymnasium, there will be all other comforts of a clubhouse in connection, such as lounging rooms, reading rooms, lunch rooms and other features.

"We are much interested in who will become the commissioner in this city," said an employe. "It is to him we will have to look to get permission to hold these affairs. It is almost certain that clubs uptown will not wish to monopolize the field."

MORE MEN GIVEN JOBS

Stone Crusher Resumes Operations, Employing Forty Workmen.

With the resumption of work this morning at the Duluth crushed stone plant at the head of Fifty-seventh avenue west, forty men were put to work. The plant has been virtually idle since Dec. 1.

Since stopping operations last fall the company has built an addition and installed a new crushing machine that will greatly increase its output daily. The new machinery will enable the plant to crush from 600 to 1,000 cubic yards of stone or from fifteen to twenty-five carloads daily. Formerly eight to ten carloads was considered a big day's work.

The large stone crusher will be able to handle a stone twenty-seven inches square and sixty inches long, weighing up to five tons. Its former capacity was a stone not over a twelve-inch cube, weighing from 160 to 200 pounds.

The crusher will be fed by cranes. These will be operated by a donkey locomotive engine. All stone taken from the quarry will be moved to the crusher by the means of the crane and small cars.

It is probable that several more men will be put to work within the next month. Inquiries received by officers of the plant indicate that there will be a big demand for the product this season.

DEPOSITS ARE INCREASING

Bank Statement Shows Business Corner Has Been Turned.

Broader Inquiry for Loans Expected During Coming Month.

Duluth banks have solidified their positions all round, according to statements of conditions as at the close of business on May 1, issued today at the call of the comptroller of the currency.

That the corner in the business situation has been turned is attested in an increase of the aggregate deposits in the national and state banks of $960,105.36 over the statement of March 4, the total standing at $23,717,728.64. Deposits in the four national banks were reported at $22,743,701.44, a gain of $959,430.67, while the five state banks held $974,027.20, an increase of $674.69.

The four national banks increased their cash reserves to the tune of $2,511,690.53, that item standing at $8,591,774.60. Combined resources of the national banks were shown at $30,040,569.54, an increase of $1,052,824.56.

Loans of the national banks were reported at $18,920,389.04, a reduction of $1,332,789.91. The state banks reported loans of $897,877.15, an inease of $31,065.20 over their March 4 statements.

Touching upon the loans situation, a bank official predicted today that a material broadening in inquiry for funds to be used in various commercial and industrial directions will take place this month. In his opinion the volume of loans outstanding is now at the low of the year.

CARVES NAME ON TURTLE

Twenty-Four Years Afterwards Animal Is Found But Carver Is Dead.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 4.—Twenty-four years ago some children attending the Clauson school in Scambler found a little mud turtle and one, Henry P. Greeley, whose parents lived in that district, carved upon the back of the turtle this inscription, "H. P. Greeley, May 11. 1891," and then let the animal go.

A few days ago O. E. Moses found this turtle and brought it into town, where it was quite a curiosity. Carl Ekstam and others remember when the inscription was carved. H. P. Greeley and parents moved back to Illinois and Henry became a doctor at Lee, Ill. He was killed last Fourth of July in an automobile wreck.

CONSIDERABLE RAT.

Chicago News: "When it comes to a fight I always bet on the fellow that has no reputation," said the bos'n. "That is because I know a reputation is the whole thing in music and art and literature. I went to a concert once and heard a fellow with a reputation sing. Every one said it was great, but it wasn't. Whenever I come to a story that is particularly punk I always know that a fellow with a rep did it. No one knows whether such things are good or not unless there is a reputation to go with 'em but with fighting it's different. There has to be a showdown.

"I remember a man in Java who had a ferret. Everybody used to stand back from the ferret as if it was a buzzsaw, and they used to feed it to keep it from eating them alive. According to reputation that ferret could kill rats in its sleep. The hotel man said he was willing to bet that his ferret could kill more rats than two cats.

"This angered a fellow who owned a cat. The cat's owner said that his cat had already licked nine dogs and a camel and that he could kill rats while resting faster than a couple of ferrets.

"Then I told them both that there was a rat aboard the Slipp'ry Sue that was some rat, and that if they were looking for a subject I'd set a trap for the rat and the bet would be on.

"They agreed and the next night the man took his cat to the hotel and I took my rat in a big cage. When the cat was put down on the barroom floor he looked around for a leg to rub against and when the ferret was put down he looked around for something to eat.

"Then I told them to clear for action, as I was going to let the rat out and then look for something high. I gave warning for nobody to get between me and the stepladder. The rat was running around in the cage like a sprocket in a runaway band wagon wheel, and when I pressed the spring he came out of the trap like one of those jokes where you press a spring and get hit in the nose by something that jumps out of the box.

"The rat hit the ferret. The ferret said 'Squeak' and away he flew, the rat after him. Then the rat saw the cat. The cat was soon scrambling up a post, nervous.

"All the spectators were on top of the bar by that time, all except me. I had climbed up to the scantling near the ceiling and pulled the stepladder up after me.

"The rat showed his teeth in a kind of sneering way and then crawled off. I suppose he went back to the Sue.

"Anyway, he had gone into the fight without any reputation. And I always bet on the fellow who has a rep to make just on account of that little happening."

TETANUS GERMS MENACE ALL.

London Chronicle: The danger arising from tetanus spores on vegetables, hay and other substances was emphasized in a lecture at the Royal Institute of Public Health on "Thirty Years in the History of Tetanus," by M. L. Vaillard. The tetanus bacillus, he said, was found in the spore condition in the soil, in particles of dust flying in the air, and in mud from surface waters. Its diffusion around us was enormous. The ground was the most favorable place; it was to be found widely spread there. Its presence was common, almost constant in the street sweepings, garden soil and fields which had been manured; it was rarely found deep down, but was abundant on the surface. The soil and all the objects contaminated by it could therefore be a source of infection of the virus.

It was by means of the soil that the spores of the tetanus bacillus were carried into habitations; hence their presence is common among floor dust and dust from walls. Tetanus spores might be found on the surface of vegetables, where they were carried by the dust and debris of the soil. Tetanus could easily be transmitted to animals by inoculating them subcutaneously with hay dust.

If a wound were contaminated with tetanus spores, but at the same time no bacteria favorable to their germination gained access, no tetanus would result; this was the reason why tetanus was rare in spite of its enormous dispersion. The result was that the most rigorous antiseptic treatment of all wounds, even the slightest ones, would reduce the chances of infection to a minimum. Not that the tetanic spores might thus be destroyed, but the antiseptics would react on the other microbes which accompanied them and were generally much weaker. By eliminating the latter or preventing their growth, the tetanus spores were rendered powerless. Since the Lister era and the popularizing of antisepsis, tetanus had become infinitely rarer after operations and severe wounds. Today it was generally caused by small and insignificant wounds, especially among agricultural laborers, those meeting with accidents on the highways, and among athletes. The explanation was simple; severe wounds demanded a copious use of antiseptics, whereas slight injuries were allowed to pass by unnoticed, and were very often not treated at all. They must not, therefore, ignore the simplest wound, especially if it was at the extremity of a limb.

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign or trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

PERGOLA LANDS.

Chicago News: When Mrs. Jefferson entered her kitchen Monday morning she found a strange colored woman sitting in a chair and eating a piece of bread and butter and a cold slice of bacon, while Ambrosia was busy preparing batter for griddle cakes.

"Disser muh sistuh, Mis Jef'son," explained Ambrosia, getting in the first word.

The visitor was tall and lanky and solemn, while Ambrosia was short and dumpy and smiling. Mrs. Jefferson was surprised.

"Purg—Purk?" thoughtfully repeated Mrs. Jefferson. "Is that short for Purgatory?"

"No'm, Perg am sho't for Pergola. Pergola's come lookin' foh wuhk, Mis Jef'son."

"What can you do, Pergola?"

"Ah cooks," replied the lanky one, lugubriously.

"And are you an expert cook?"

"Ah's a Nawleans woman, yassum."

"But that is hardly answering my question. Can you cook?"

"Yassum, Mis Jef'son," put in Ambrosia, "Perg ansuh yo' question. Huh say huh from Nawleans. Nawleans people all kin cook, yassum."

"Why did you leave New Orleans, Pergola?"

"But why did you leave? You must have had some reason for leaving?"

"Yassum, Ah wan's tuh git away. Dat de reason. Ah wan's tuh git away."

"But why did you want to get away?"

"Ah wan's tuh git away f'm dat blue bonnet plag."

"I don't understand——"

"Huh mean de blue bonnet plag," put in Ambrosia, helpfully.

"Oh! The bubonic plague! Why, that scare was over long ago!"

"Yassum, de blue bonnet plag. Ah doan wan's no blue bonnet plag. De pleeceman he come tuh muh house an' he say Ah gottuh kotch rats, and Ah say, 'Whuffo?' an' he say, 'Cause de blue bonnet plag gwine git yo' ef yo' doan.'

"Yes, rats are said to carry the germs of the plague."

"Yassum, An' Ah says to him, Ah says: 'Ah gwine to go way f'm heah!'"

"An' he say: 'No, yo' ain't, dey got a quarremtime 'roun' de city. De quarremtime sumpn lak a fence, Mis Jef'son. But Ah climbs outen de upstaihs winder dat night, an' I jomp f'm de shed to de groun'——"

"You jumped? A woman of your age?"

"Yassum, Ah ain' so ole."

"But did you not hurt yourself?"

"Yassum, Ah bus' all de litigants in muh back!"

"Well," said Mrs. Jefferson, "I guess we can find work for you anyway."

THE POLITE JAP.

Philadelphia Record: "In your country you compress the women's feet, do you not?"

"No, madam," responded the Japanese. "That is, or rather was, a Chinese custom. In Japan we allow our ladies' feet to grow to their full size."

And then, after a bow, he added in the politest of tones:

"Not that they could ever hope to rival yours madam."

WHEAT AGAIN TURNS STRONG

Market Bulges Sharply on Good Eastern Inquiry and Light Offers.

Flaxseed Advances on Short Supplies and Active Crushers' Bidding.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 4.—The market was strong at the close on renewed inquiry.

May wheat closed 2c up; July ½c up, and September 1¼c off. May durum closed ¾c up; July ½c off, and September ½c up.

Oats closed ⅝c at 53@53½c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.17@1.18; barley unchanged at from 67@70c, and corn ⅝c up at 75¾c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 63⅜c bid, and July ⅜@½c off at 64⅜@64½c.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.52½, and calls at $1.56¼.

Wheat was strong around the opening of the market today, quotations in the near future advancing 2c during the first hour's trading. Prices then rested, for a time and later eased off moderately. The impelling factors under the market were higher Liverpool cables, and fuller realization that supplies of old wheat are short, and consequently a disposition to go slow in making selling commitments.

The restrictions placed by the Canadian government against shipments of grain out of the country was without any special market influence. It was however, accepted as an evidence that authorities in the Dominion desire to exercise strict control over shipments of foodstuffs from their country, suspicions being entertained that some grain is finding its way into Germany and Austria. It was furthermore taken as meaning that supplies are regarded as limited, and that it is therefore necessary to conserve them as much as possible. The main feature in the order is that destinations of shipments must be distinctly specified and that the business must receive the sanction of government officials. That supplies up there are light was attested in the strength shown at Winnipeg today even with the restrictions placed upon exports. No grain was pressed for sale. A fair export trade, however, was reported at Winnipeg around the opening.

Some export and Eastern inquiry was reported on the Duluth board, and the putting through of some sales to millers was advised.

May wheat opened ⅜c up at $1.61⅞, and gained 1⅛c more up to the noon hour. July opened unchanged at $1.58, and gained ⅝c. September was traded in unchanged at $1.25.

Durum turned strong. May opened unchanged at $1.70 and gained 7c, bulged 1c, and then eased off to $1.69.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed was again strong on continued good inquiry from crushers and comparatively light offerings. Trading was featureless. Holders were aided by higher cables, Buenos Aires closing ½c up at $1.25⅛, and London ⅞c up at $1.36¾.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.97½ and closed 1c up at $1.98½ bid. July opened unchanged at $2.01, and closed ½c up at $2.01½ bid. September opened ½c up at $2.03½, and closed ½c up at $2.03⅝.

At Winnipeg, May flax opened ½c up at $1.80 asked, and July ⅛c up at $1.82⅞ asked.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Minneapolis cash market was steady with demand for top grades good, and slower on lower grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 4@6c over May, and velvet chaff at 2@2½c over May. Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.60½ to $1.64½, and No. 2 northern at from $1.56 to $1.61½.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Grand Forks: "The recent rains in the Red River valley have put the grain in excellent condition. Vegetation of all kinds is making rapid growth. The weather has been cool and cloudy, and this permits the grain to stool well, and gives the moisture a chance to soak into the ground. West of Devils Lake, the grain is not so far advanced. Western North Dakota has had some rain, but not sufficient although the grain seems to be growing, as the ground was moist when seeded. Around Glasgow, Mont., no rain has fallen this spring, and high winds have prevailed this week."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was quiet with a steady undertone. American cables and favorable American weather were offset by Continental demand and millers absorbing quietly. Spot market was firm, ½@1d higher, with better demand for winters. Cargo market was steady, unchanged to 1d higher. Unfavorable weather in Argentine is militating against arrivals and quality and offers there are very firm. Indian offers are free but strongly held and stocks are decreasing.

"Corn—American weakness was offset here by unfavorable weather in Argentina, strength in Buenos Aires and very few shippers' offers. Cargo market was firm, 3d to 4½d higher."

Argentine weather is again unfavorable, with general rains in the north. Roads are bad and arrivals of all grain light. Corn is severely out of condition and shippers' offers are light.

Russell's News at New York says: "Export demand for old wheat is reported steady. There were some overnight acceptances on Manitobas. Further inquiry was reported for corn with some buying of options credited to exporters. There were also intimations that yesterday's business given late at 20,000 bu was an under-estimate."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Today's trade was dull and featureless, with business transacted largely local in character. Pit traders started prices on better cables, but met with commission house selling on the advance. There was a good class of buying on the declines for investment account. Ideal crop prospects have led to considerable short selling. Foreign news was generally bullish. Minneapolis deliveries so far total only 19,000, indicating that the small stocks are strongly held. All declines should be met with purchases of July wheat."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Advance on Canadian Order Restricting Exports.

Chicago, May 4.—Wheat advanced today, influenced to a considerable extent by the Canadian order restricting exports. The fact that prices continued to rise at Liverpool tended further to increase bullish sentiment here. Fresh rains of undoubted benefit to the domestic crop were virtually ignored. The opening which ranged from ¼c off to ⅝c up, was followed by a moderate general upturn.

Lack of sustained buying power led to subsequent reactions. Exporters seemed to be holding off. The close was weak at ¼c to ⅝c above last night.

Argentine reports of severe crop damage put strength into the corn market. The ensuing bulge, however, led to selling pressure from speculators. After opening unchanged to ¾@⅞c higher the market eased back a trifle.

Renewed strength developed owing to signs of increasing demand from the seaboard but the effect was offset at times by profit-taking on the part of longs. The close was firm at ⅜c to ½c net advance.

Oats hardened with other grain. Shorts were fair buyers, despite favorable weather.

Firmness in the hog market helped provisions upgrade. Packers bought.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Partial Recovery Is Made From Monday's Reactionary Movement.

Prices Ease in Final Dealings and Close Is Irregular.

New York, May 4.—War specialities fell back again at the outset of today's trading, Pressed Steel Car losing 6½ points, with declines of 1 to almost 2 points in General Electric, American Locomotive, Baldwin and National Lead. United States Steel yielded ½ point on heavy offerings. Standard railroads were mostly lower, while minor stocks of that class made slight gains. Coppers were variable. There were partial recoveries before the end of the first half hour.

The stock market today repeated its course of the previous session, rising and declining alternately, with indications of further selling at every favorable opportunity. Foreign offerings were not a factor, however, although Steel and Coppers were sold for European interests in moderate amounts. Trading was relatively light, becoming increasingly dull toward midday, when representative shares showed general gains. Canadian Pacific recovered part of yesterday's loss and Rock Island was higher, presumably in connection with latest developments affecting that property. Industrials and the miscellaneous group presented a mixture of losses and gains, motor issues being especially strong. Bonds were irregular.

The market which showed a pronounced upward tendency in the early afternoon was led by such speculative favorites as Union Pacific and Steel, these and others of the same group, rising from ½ to almost 2 points.

With comparatively light and professional operations, today's market made partial recovery from yesterday's reactionary movement.

With the exception of Westinghouse, prices at the final dealings. Studebaker yielded five points on declaration of an initial dividend of 1¼ per cent. The close was irregular.

VICTIM OF REAL "JINX"

Prisoner Twice Confronted With Crimes of Which He Was Innocent.

But Each Time Evidence Was So Strong He Pleaded Guilty.

Twice has strong circumstantial evidence caught John B. Lessard, 25, in its meshes and forced him to plead guilty to crimes of which he is innocent.

At least it would appear this way from the hard luck stories which he has told in district court within the last three years.

Yesterday afternoon, appearing before Judge Cant, Lessard pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a $60 roll of leather from the Omaha yards on March 29 last. He was sentenced to serve a term of years at Stillwater prison as punishment for the crime of grand larceny in the second degree. The sentence is indeterminate.

Lessard declared that he was willing to admit the charge but claimed that, in fact, he did not steal the leather. The actual theft, according to his story, had been committed by two strangers, who met him and asked him if he wanted to make some money by selling the loot. He was arrested while trying to dispose of the property.

In May 1912, Lessard was indicted for stealing revolvers and ammunition from the store of E. M. McEwen at Proctor in March 1912. When he appeared before Judge Dancer in July 1912, he also claimed to be a victim of strong circumstantial evidence.

Lessard at that time admitted that he was in Proctor a short time before the date of the alleged burglary and also admitted that when he was arrested, he had some of the stolen property in his possession.

Lessard's explanation was a peculiar one. He claimed that he stole the goods from the real thief. According to his version, the property was taken from a saloon in the West end where a stranger had left them in a bag. Lessard admitted that he had made off with the bag but declared that he did not learn until later that it contained stolen property.

On that occasion Judge Dancer saw no excuse why he should not be punished for stealing anyway and sentenced him to ninety days hard labor in the county jail. He had already been in jail awaiting trial four months.

Lessard has been employed for the last few years as a railroad man.

JESS WILLARD AT GRAND.

New Champion Pugilist Seen in Action on the Screen.

Large crowds turned out yesterday to see the Jess Willard film and new vaudeville show at the New Grand theater. As this is the first time most Duluthians have had to see the new champion heavyweight pugilist in action, many expressed surprise at the enormous size of the conqueror of Jack Johnson. The big cowboy fighter appeared in a film play entitled "The Heart Punch," and shows him in a boxing match of several rounds.

The vaudeville show was somewhat better than that of last week. The Lyric quartet, the headline act, was received with uproarious applause, and they were compelled to give several encores. This quartet of singers is considered one of the best making the vaudeville circuits.

Hoier and Boggs offer a humorous skit entitled "The Lunch Counter Girl," in which a stranded actor succeeds in "kidding" a waitress into giving him a meal. It has many clever lines, and the situations are good.

Jeter and Rogers offer many of the late dances on roller skates. The Levolas are unusually clever slack wire performers.

The film program includes a strong feature in "The Return of Richard Neil" in which Francis X. Bushman and Miss Beverly Bayne are cast in the star parts. "The Phoney Cannibal" is one of the clever "ham" comedies. An educational film on the manufacture of paper and a comedy drama complete the bill.

Theater Gossip.

Despite the fact that it was not noticeable to the audience, there was a nervous tension back of the footlights at the Lyceum Sunday that was felt by every member of the Baldwin Stock company. It was the "opener" for three members of the company, and these three members were appearing in the most important roles in the play. A good first impression means much to a stock actor or actress. They know that they must remain in the city for weeks or maybe months, and they are especially eager to make a good beginning. First impressions are often hard to eradicate. For that reason, the usual placid atmosphere of the stock company was missing, and "back stage" everybody was as nervous as at the opening of a new play in New York. But all three new members are veterans in stock work, and the performances Sunday were as smooth and faultless as if the play had been enjoying a season's run.

"Those who have seen the company," said Manager Baldwin, "now admit that I was right when I said I wouldn't hesitate to take the Baldwin Players to New York and start them out in a new play on Broadway. It's as strong a dramatic organization as nine out of ten of the companies engaged for new productions in New York, and I feel that it is the best stock company I ever had under my management."

"If they want soup, don't feed them ice cream." So says Nat Wills, the tramp at the Orpheum this week, and Mr. Wills should know. He has been "feeding" the multitude for many years.

NAT WILLS AT THE ORPHEUM.

Mr. Wills finds his audiences, or at least that seems to be his aim. If they don't want his first "line" he tries the next one.

Then Mr. Wills has a novel plan—not that he even hints that such could be the case—but in answer to a query concerning unsuccessful vaudeville he has any number of remedies which might be given a trial. He would have a representative of each vaudeville house in the booking offices. That's where the soup and ice cream come in. Mr. Wills is too tactful to say where lies the taste for soup and where the more aristocratic taste, but the theory is based on Eastern and Western taste for entertainment, especially vaudeville.

"And give them something new," says Mr. Wills. "Many times the new story isn't in it with the old one, but its new and there is no chance for that side remark, 'There's that same guy with the same old line.'

"In one community one artist goes big. In a city a few hundred miles away the same man falls flat. So I say book the man who will 'go.' Of course, there is always the hope of educating that city to the tastes of that community so that all 'offerings' will go, but it is rather expensive business—this educating audiences."

"The House of Bondage," in six acts, at the Zelda, is attracting far greater crowds than "The Lure," which about a month ago. It is a white slave picture play. The scenes are laid around the tenderloin district of a great city, showing the ways in which young girls are lured away from their homes and mothers and led to live a life of shame. Mary Denbigh, who takes the leading part, is little Lottie Pickford, the sister of Mary Pickford. She leaves school, home, parents and all behind for a stranger who promises to marry her after they get to New York, and when they arrive there she is sold to the keeper of a tenderloin resort. This production will play all this week at the same admission price of 10 cents.

WHITE SLAVE PLAY AT ZELDA.

Olga Petrova, the famous Russian dancer, is making a decided hit at the Rex theater in the film drama, "The Heart of a Painted Woman." The play has a strong heart appeal, and while the subject itself is not one of the most pleasing, the acting of this famous player lifts it into a realm of art that elliminates its unpleasant features. The entire plot centers around Mme. Petrova, although there are several very clever scenes showing the acting ability of young children. The Mutual Weekly portrays the news events of the week. Mme. Petrova will be seen at the Rex today for the last time.

WILL DISCUSS ADVISORY BOARD

Commissioners, Club Representatives and Charter Makers to Meet.

The members chosen for the tentative advisory council for the city commissioners will meet tonight with the members of the city commission and such members of the charter commission as can attend, at the Commercial club. The meeting will be held for the purpose of discussing the advisability of having such an advisory board.

There is, as yet, nothing definite about the matter, and it may turn out that instead of there being an advisory or intermediate council, the old system of boards for the various departments may be restored. These boards governed the water and light department, the public library, the health department, the fire department and other departments of the city; and members of the charter commission have since said that they did not, in framing the commission form of government, figure that the boards would be abolished. However, the boards were abolished, for there was nothing in the new charter to prevent it.

"We did not count on the power that individuals love," said T. T. Hudson of the charter commission, at a recent meeting.

The object of the present movement is to establish some method or plan by which the people can be brought into closer touch with the city commissioners and to eliminate the charged fault of individualism in the city government.

The only member of the charter commission who has promised to be present this evening is W. E. McEwen, but others may find it possible to appear also.

The committee having the matter in charge consists of the following: William Burgess, Rotary club, chairman; Col. H. V. Eva, Commercial club; John Jenswold, Jr., Lester Park Improvement club; W. A. Pryor, Glen-Hunter-Wood club, and W. A. Pond, West Duluth Commercial club.

FOUR-MILLION DOLLAR HERD TO BE RELEASED

Chicago, May 4.—A prize herd of dairy cattle valued at $4,000,000, which for the last six months has been under quarantine here because of foot and mouth disease, has been pronounced cured and probably will be released from quarantine this week, it was announced today.

Dr. Joseph Hughes of Chicago, a veterinarian, representing the owners of the cattle, said that every trace of the disease had been stamped out and that the herd had successfully passed tests demanded by the government. It was declared that the test demonstrated that the disease is curable, that it is non-recurrent, and that the cured animals are not carriers of the disease.

HOMESITES
IN GLEN AVON.

We have some of the finest lots in Duluth located in Glen Avon and Hunter's Park, overlooking Waverly Park, Crescent View Park, and within two blocks of Congdon Park. Superb view of the lake and the Wisconsin shore in the distance. These lots are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They are surrounded by splendid homes, close to church and school and street car. Many of these lots have gas, water and sewer. When you buy here you are not buying a new boom addition, where you are a pioneer, as it were, but the improvements are there and the type of houses surrounding you is assured. Think of this: Eleven of these lots have the finest paved street in the city of Duluth, which cost $240 for 50 feet. This is fully paid for and does not add a cent to the price of the lots for you. If you were thinking of building a home, you can make a 20 per cent larger loan on a house built here than on a house built in a new suburb. We can place the loans for you on houses built here.

These lots lie between Victoria street and Hardy street and between Wallace avenue and Vermilion road, one of the choicest locations in Duluth. The lots are 50 by 130 and 50 by 200 feet. Prices vary from $800 to $1,700 per lot on five years' time.

Call us up and make appointments to see these lots. Look them over and compare them with any other lots in the city, and then you will be convinced of our low prices and desirability of purchasing here. Investigate these.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

To Read the Ads AND DECIDE WHICH ONES TO ANSWER Is a Fine Test of Your "Practical Sense"—of Your Business Judgment

WANT AD ALCHEMY!

Every day The Herald want ads "turn things into money." They sell things that still have value to people who do not mind the fact that they are "second-hand." They enable the owners of property to find cash buyers — thus getting out of financial "pinches." They take "to market" all marketable things. They perform prodigies of enterprise in replenishing purses, in changing the personal outlooks and prospects of people.

Haven't you something you want to "turn into cash?"

SHOOTING OF DOCTOR'S PATIENT DONE BEFORE DARK, SAYS WITNESS

State Brings Out New Evidence at Trial of Mrs. Florence Carman.

Mrs. May Black Testifies to Hearing Shot Before 8 o'Clock.

Defendant's Lawyers Fight Hard to Keep Out This Evidence.

Mineola, N. Y., May 5.—District Attorney Smith lost no time today in placing on the stand the state's new witness in the second trial of Mrs. Florence C. Carman on the charge of slaying Mrs. Louis Bailey at Dr. Carman's office in Freeport, June 30, last.

Heard Explosion.

Mrs. May I. Black, the first of these witnesses, testified that while sitting on her porch, just east of the Carman home, she heard the sound of an explosion and falling glass. She walked, soon afterward, with her daughter, Ruth, out on her lawn and stood opposite the window of Dr. Carman's office. She saw a man—one she could not identify she was certain—outside the house at the window. She did not see any one run from the grounds. The man went leisurely to the front of the house and out of her view.

Still Daylight.

It was shortly before 8 o'clock and daylight when this happened, Mrs. Black said. The admission of this evidence was fought by Mrs. Carman's lawyers, who contend that the shooting occurred after nightfall and that the assailant escaped in the dark.

Walter Cozzens, clerk of the Freeport police station, testified that it was 9 o'clock when Dr. Carman called him on the telephone and notified him of the shooting.

District Attorney Smith expected to present the entire case today.

WILL BE IMPORTANT WITNESS IN THE TRIAL OF MRS. CARMAN

ELIZABETH CARMAN,
Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carman.

THIRTEEN ITALIANS HELD AS SUSPECTS

Chicago Detective Shot and His Prisoner Taken Away From Him.

Chicago, May 5.—Thirteen Italian suspects are being held by the police today as a result of the shooting last night of Detective Sergeant Joseph H. McGuire by two Italians and the rescue of Tony Titcola, a prisoner whom McGuire and his partner, Detective Sergeant George De Mar, were taking to the police station.

McGuire was shot in the hip. The detectives returned the fire and in the excitement their prisoner escaped. The shooting occurred in the heart of the Italian colony on the North side, the scene of many so-called Black Hand murders. Titcola was arrested in compliance with orders of the new city administration to clean out the Black Hand district.

McGuire had not previously engaged in this class of work, and it is believed that he was mistaken for De Mar's former partner, Detective Sergeant Joseph Cahill. De Mar and Cahill have figured in the convictions of several accused Italians.

TUMULTY'S CHAUFFEUR FINED $5 FOR SPEEDING

Washington, May 5.—Secretary Tumulty went to police court today to testify for a White House chauffeur, who, a traffic policeman testified, exceeded the speed limits while driving the secretary home from the executive offices.

Mr. Tumulty told the judge that the big automobile bearing the coat of arms of the United States was going as slow as possible, but nevertheless it cost the chauffeur $5.

TELEGRAPHERS AND SHOPMEN

Labor Conditions Governing Their Work on Railroads Inquired Into.

Testimony Concerning the Pennsylvania Road Heard By Committee.

Washington, May 5.—Labor conditions on the Pennsylvania railroad affecting its telegraphers and shop men were inquired into from the standpoint of the railroad company at the continuation today of the hearings before the Federal Industrial Relations committee.

The commission had already heard H. B. Perham, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, regarding complaints by that organization against the Pennsylvania. The complaints charged that the railroad company refused to recognize the telegraphers' union, made every effort to break up existing unions and prevent organization of others.

Pennsylvania railroad officials were heard on these complaints today, W. W. Atterbury, vice president, being the principal witness. It was expected that the inquiry into Pennsylvania conditions would continue for the remainder of the week.

Perham Questioned.

Perham, as the first witness today, was questioned by R. H. Aishton, vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, on telegraphers' working conditions.

Aishton brought out that telegraphers and signal men on the main line of the Pennsylvania, where traffic is dense, work eight hours a day.

"Isn't that less than any other transportation employes work?" he asked.

"Yes," Mr. Perham replied, "and the working time for that class of work must be still further reduced. In Germany such men work only six hours a day."

"And eventually you hope to reduce them to five hours or four hours," Mr. Aishton suggested.

Will Continue Efforts.

"We shall continue our efforts until

NINE TRAWLERS SUNK IN ONE DAY BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

So Far as Known No Lives Were Lost in These Encounters.

According to Crews, Teuton Submersible Is of Latest Type.

London, May 5.—Nine trawlers is the bag credited to German submarines on Monday of this week, in a message received here from Hull. In addition to the Iolanthe, the Hero and Northward Ho, the victims belonging in Hull include the Hector, Progress, Coquette and Bob White, while the Rugby and the Uxbridge, owned in Grimsby, met a similar fate.

No Lives Lost.

So far as is known, no lives were lost in these encounters. According to the crews of the fishing vessels the submarine which wrought this damage is of the newest type. She has an iron cross painted on her conning

BIG WIRELESS BEING BUILT AT JAMAICA

British Erecting Station on Highlands 3,000 Feet Above Level of Sea.

New York, May 5.—To supply a need felt by the British navy, a powerful wireless station is being built on the highlands of the island of Jamaica, 3,000 feet above the level of the sea, according to Rev. George B. Stallworthy, a Unitarian clergyman, who reached here today aboard the steamer Juan, after a five months' visit to the island.

The general opinion prevails in naval circles in the West Indies, Mr. Stallworthy asserted, that Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock and his British fleet would not have been lost in the engagement with the German fleet off Coronel, Chile, Nov. 1 last, had there been then in the West Indies a wireless plant such as Great Britain is now building.

Such a plant, naval officers believed, according to Mr. Stallworthy, would have averted defeat by warning the British admiral of the strength of the Germans or by sending other warships to aid him.

FIGHTING AT EAST OF YPRES AGAIN ACTIVE

French Statement Says British Repulse Severe Attack of Germans.

Germans Claim British Are Retreating With Heavy Losses.

Report Good Progress in Attacks in Forest of Ailly.

Paris, May 5, 2:40 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities reading:

"To the north of Ypres the Germans yesterday evening delivered an attack against the left sector of the British front. They were repulsed and taken in the flank by the French artillery, and they suffered serious losses.

"Nothing has been reported from the remainder of the front."

British Retreating.

Berlin, May 5, via London. — The statement issued today at army headquarters relates that the British continue their retreat, with heavy losses to the east of Ypres; that a strong French attack delivered yesterday northwest of Pont-a-Mousson broke down under the German fire with heavy losses to the attackers, and that to the northeast of Suwalki and to the east of Augustowo numerous Russian advances failed and the Germans took 400 prisoners.

Referring to the fighting in West Galicia, the report says an Austro-German attack north of the wooded Carpathians pierced the third fortified Russian line and that the Russians are retreating after defeat along this entire front, and that the Russians are beginning to evacuate threatened positions on their northern flank to the southwest of Dukla Pass.

SALES MANAGER GIVEN SENTENCE

White to Spend From Seven and One-Half to Fifteen Years in Prison.

New York, May 5.—Philip T. White, sales manager of the Masury Paint company of Brooklyn, who dramatically halted his trial last week, confessed that he had been leading a double life and was the leader of a band of highwaymen who held up his employer's bank messengers and robbed them of nearly $3,000, was sentenced to Sing Sing prison today for not less than seven and one-half years and not more than fifteen years.

James F. Clinnin, his confessed chief accomplice, was given a similar sentence, and the three other accomplices, Robert S. Roberts, Benjamin Moore and Thomas H. Daily, who followed White's lead a day later and pleaded guilty, were given not less than two nor more than five years.

Justice Aspinwall made no reference to White's impassioned courtroom avowal of guilt, but merely asserted that he had carefully considered the cases.

RUSS CHIEF ADMITS REVERSE BUT FIGHTS ALL THE HARDER

REPARATION THROUGH PRIZE COURT FOR LOSS OF W. P. FRYE DECLINED

Suggestion of German Government Not Satisfactory to U. S.

Note Says That as Liability Is Admitted Delay Unnecessary.

Destruction of Vessel Violation of Existing Treaty Obligations.

Washington, May 5.—The text of the American note to Germany declining the suggestion that reparation for the sinking of the American sailing ship William P. Frye by the converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich be made through a German prize court and reiterating the representations for indemnity, was made public today by the state department. It already has been presented to the Berlin foreign office in the form of a communication from Ambassador Gerard. It follows:

"In reply to your excellency's note of the fifth instant which the government of the United States understand admits the liability of the imperial German government for the damages resulting from the sinking of the American sailing vessel William P. Frye by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich on Jan. 28 last, I

LAWSON UNDECIDED AS TO HIS NEXT MOVE

Anxious to Aid Miners on Trial While Awaiting Decision on Appeal.

Denver, May 5. — John R. Lawson, Colorado member of the international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, convicted of the murder of John Nimmo, reached Denver from Trinidad today.

Lawson said he had not determined what to do pending decision on his motion for a trial. He has considered a visit to his wife, an invalid, in Los Angeles.

"But I don't know that it would be right for me to leave Colorado just now," he explained. "They're going to try some of the other boys at Trinidad, and I may be needed there to help in the defense. I can't turn my back on the miners when they are in trouble. They need me now more than ever."

GRANTS CHINA SHORT DELAY

Japanese Ultimatum Extends Time of Answer for Forty-Eight Hours.

Cruiser Near Pekin to Remove Japanese Embassy Officials.

London, May 5.—"A Japanese ultimatum to China," cables the Tokio correspondent of the Central News, "grants a delay of forty-eight hours."

To Take Away Officials.

Pekin, May 5.—A Japanese cruiser and four torpedo boat destroyers have arrived at Chin-Wang-Tao, on the Gulf of Liao-Tung, about 150 miles east of Pekin, evidently for the purpose of removing from China the members of the Japanese legation.

Consular reports from all parts of the country announce the departure of Japanese, or their concentration at the Japanese consulates.

There is a substantial opinion in Pekin that Japan may take action in regard to the non-acceptance of her demands by China without waiting upon the issuance of an ultimatum.

No Mention of Ultimatum.

Washington, May 5.—Official dispatches received today from the American embassy at Tokio and the American legation at Pekin made no mention of an ultimatum from Japan to China beyond repeating references to such a course in the Japanese and Chinese newspapers. The official disposition here was to view the far eastern situation calmly, awaiting the next move of the principals.

In well informed quarters the sentiment of the Japanese press for an ultimatum was interpreted as being calculated to influence China to make overtures and concessions before Japan decides upon the next step.

"SPIDER" TO PREVENT EXTENSION OF CRACKS

Philadelphia, May 5.—The clapper which had hung inside the Liberty Bell for 162 years, has been removed and a "spider" of structural steel inserted on the inside of the relic.

The "spider" or steel skeleton stretches its six metal fingers down underneath the bell, and at equi-distant points around the chipped edges clasps them tightly, so that the crack in it may be prevented, if possible, from growing further.

BANKER, LATELY IN FINANCIAL TROUBLE, BORROWS $20,000,000

JOSIAH V. THOMPSON.

Uniontown, Pa., May 5.—Josiah V. Thompson, banker and holder of extensive coal properties, whose financial embarrassment has been widely felt, announced yesterday that he has negotiated a loan of $20,000,000 and that he and his associates soon will be freed of their troubles.

PREPARING A NEW CAPITAL

Turks Putting "Eski Shehir" in Readiness in Case of Necessity.

Do Not Fear Allies, But a Sweep of Bulgarians Southward.

London, May 5.—A correspondent of the Daily Chronicle in a dispatch from Constantinople by way of Bucharest, Roumania, describes a visit he paid to Eski Shehir, Asia minor, which Turkey is preparing to use as a new capital if Constantinople falls.

"Eski Shehir," the correspondent says, "is eighty miles from the Bosporus on the Anatolian railway. It occupies an excellent strategical position. Work is proceeding strenuously to improve the panicky conditions. The government has commandeered 200 houses for official uses. These are now occupied by the families of high government officials.

"The Turks have no fear that the allies' attempt against the Dardanelles will force the abandonment of Constantinople. What they fear is a Bulgarian sweep southward. The Dardanelles have been so strengthened and fortified that experts believe it would take an allied military force of at least 300,000 men to carve its way to Constantinople."

Regarding the campaign in the Caucasus the correspondent says:

"The operations are at a standstill owing to the typhus fever, which kills 150 daily. Vigorous measures have been taken unavailingly to put down the disease. The staff is now considering the withdrawal of the army to Erzerum to await the Russian advance through the infected region."

FLOODS IN TEXAS SUBSIDING FAST

Houston, Tex., May 5.—The Brazos river flood was subsiding today and inundation of miles of rich farming land and many towns is expected to end soon. West Angelton was still under water.

Measures to provide seed and otherwise help planters and tenants were considered today by commercial organizations.

London Strike Ends.

London, May 5.—The strike of 1,800 carpenters and builders at Woolwich arsenal has ended. The contractors have promised to negotiate with the union officials looking toward arbitration. The workmen demand an increase of one cent an hour.

NICHOLAS REPORTS ON BIG BATTLE

Confirms German Statement of Break Across Dunajec River.

Declares He Is Holding Them Fast With No Fear as to Outcome.

Fierce Battles in Stry Region Continue With Unabated Energy.

London, May 5.—The Russian reports concerning the recent fighting in Western Galicia are being accepted by British military critics as reducing the German claims of victory in this battle to more just proportions. Following his custom, Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief in the field, has not hesitated to admit a reverse and confirms the German statement that his antagonists have succeeded in breaking across the Dunajec river. But the grand duke adds that he is holding them fast on the bank of the stream and he seems to intimate that he has little anxiety concerning the ultimate outcome of the fierce fighting which has been going on in this region for a week.

Not Diverted.

Observers in London are of the opinion that the fact that the Russians have not been diverted from their objective elsewhere and that the battles in the Stry region continue with unabated energy, is good evidence that the situation of the Russians is not so critical as has been painted and the idea is being advanced in London that political reasons may have had something to do with the huge importance attached to this success by the German and the Austrian governments in their official communications concerning it.

It is admitted that the readjustment of the British line in Flanders, with the consequent abandonment of several

ADDITIONAL LOSSES IN CANADIAN TROOPS

Maj. W. P. Dillon of Ottawa Dies in Hospital in France.

Ottawa, Ont., May 5.—A private cable message received last night announces the death of Maj. W. P. Dillon, M. D., of Ottawa at No. 2 Canadian general hospital in France. No details were given. Dr. Dillon was a prominent local practitioner before going on active service.

An official casualty list last night containing upward of 150 names, chiefly wounded privates, records the serious wounding of Maj. James Kirkcaldy of Brandon, Man. Lieut. Everett De V. Chipman, Annapolis, Royal N. S., is listed as slightly wounded.

Other officers given as wounded, are Lieut. Stanley Edwin Lovelace, St. Catherines, Ont., slightly wounded, and Lieut. Col. Walter L. Watt of Long Beach, Cal., the latter the only one on the list with an American address. Lieut. Col. Watt was attached to the Third field ambulance of the Canadian army medical corps.

FORMER SOLDIERS TO GUARD CONSTRUCTION

Washington, May 5.—Steps for guarding American fortifications under construction with former soldiers, sailors and marines, who have served at least two enlistments are embodied in an executive order signed today by President Wilson, which waives all civil service requirements for such men in such places.

The war department and the civil service commission recommended the exemption because the watchmen must be "alert, vigorous, courageous, patriotic and of unquestioned loyalty."

TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Desperate fighting is in progress on the Carpathian front to the east. In the region of Stry it is said one hill changed hands three times in a single battle, and that 1,200 more Austrians were captured by the Russians.

Unofficial reports from Saloniki say that two Turkish aeroplanes which attacked the allied fleet at the Dardanelles, were brought down by the fire of the warships. The aeroplanes, manned by Germans, attacked the fleet with bombs, but it is said no damage was done.

Relations between Bulgaria and Turkey apparently have become more uncertain. Turkey is sending troops hastily to the neighborhood of Adrianople, after having withdrawn them for use on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Austria's answer to Italy's minimum demands is expected tomorrow and it is believed in Rome its character will determine the course of Italy. Notwithstanding the king's decision to remain away from the patriotic celebration in connection with the Garibaldi memorial today, it is now believed in Rome that there has been no essential modification of the situation.

A German submarine has sunk three more British ships, all trawlers. The crews were brought in safety to Hull, but it is feared other vessels were lost as the Germans are said to have opened fire on fishing ships with rifles and artillery.

The correspondent of a Berlin newspaper telegraphs that the Austro-German victory in Western Galicia broke down the Russian front for a distance of twenty-four miles. He states the Russians abandoned not only their first line, but the villages in the rear. The Russian war office admits the Germans and Austrians succeeded in crossing the Dunajec but states they were prevented from making a further advance.

MONEY ORDERS FOR FRONT.

No Charges Will Be Made Senders of Funds to War Prisoners.

Persons desiring to send money to soldiers who are prisoners of war in Europe may secure money orders at the postoffices of the United States free of charge, according to an official bulletin from Washington to Postmaster William E. McEwen. This regulation is one of the results of The Hague convention, which made rules that are binding upon this country and many others.

Those who send money to prisoners will receive a money order for the full amount paid at the postoffice, making the mail service absolutely free. This regulation is intended to aid prisoners of war in all warring nations so that they may purchase tobacco and other articles.

STUDIES WILL BE PRACTICAL

Business Men Will Send in Examples for Pupils of Duluth.

Supt. Denfeld Works Out Plans to Secure Better Results.

When Johnny next asks his father to help him with a problem, the father, instead of being "stumped," may recognize a problem of his own making, if a plan being formulated by Supt. R. E. Denfeld of Duluth schools, is carried out.

Business firms will be asked to write out practical problems that come up in their business, and return them to the various schools, so that the pupil may be given practical work in 'rithmetic, as well as in other studies.

Business Men to Help.

"We are going to send out letters to business men prominent in various lines of activity, asking their co-operation in this plan," said Supt. Denfeld this morning.

"For some time we have been trying to find out the kind of education a boy needs to equip him for work in various offices in the city, and this seems to be an excellent way of getting at it."

Students do not welcome the advent of this new plan, for there are no "answers in the back of the book" and a "boy's father would always ask questions that are too hard anyway." This feature will be another step towards making the grade and high school education practical in every way, it is believed.

Pupils in the A eighth and B ninth grades of the city grade and junior high schools will attend the Central and Denfeld high schools next semester, if the board of education follows a recommendation to be made by Supt. Denfeld.

"Those who are in the B ninth now will enter as second semester freshmen," he stated, "and there will be no class entering the high school in January. We will be compelled to work on some such basis as this until our junior high school system is arranged better. I hope the completed system will be in operation by September, 1918 and perhaps by 1917.

Lincoln Junior High.

"The Lincoln junior high school will be finished by January, but will not be occupied until February. The seventh and eighth grade pupils from the Merritt, Bryant, Lincoln, Monroe, Adams, Ensign and Madison schools will be sent there, leaving seven grades in these seven buildings."

Summer school will begin June 28, Supt. Denfeld has announced, and will last six weeks. No pupils below the A fifth grade in standing will be allowed to take work and those who do enroll will be limited to two courses.

Action on Supt. Denfeld's plan concerning the junior high school pupils probably will be taken at the Friday meeting of the board of education.

SEWING MACHINE WORTH THIRTY CENTS

Householder Didn't Value Ancient Apparatus Highly in His Report.

"One sewing machine, fifteen years old	$ .30
"One family clock, fifteen years old	2.00
"Furniture, wearing apparel and utensils of the entire household	100.00
"One piano	75.00
"Total assessable property	$177.30

This is one of the reports filed by a deputy assessor yesterday with City Assessor Scott.

Mr. Scott is of the opinion that the householder who sent in the report must have been in a very humorous mood when he filled out his annual report. Maybe he was.

"From this report," said Mr. Scott, "Duluthians can readily see what a gay life we assessors lead during every May. Such reports are constantly coming and it is up to us to correct them. That's some sewing machine this man owns and I, for one, would like to see it. As junk, I believe, it would be worth more than 30 cents."

Twenty-five deputy assessors are canvassing the city for the purpose of compiling the assessed valuation of the personal property in Duluth. This work is expected to continue throughout this month.

DULUTH DOGS HAVE ODD NAMES

"Prince," "Duke," "Rover," "Buster" and "Rex" Still Among the Favorites.

Duluth dogs have to answer to some odd names given them by their owners, as is shown by the records at the city treasurer's office, where the 1915 dog taxes are now ready for distribution.

There are Hupi, Basso, Resus, True Boy, Trouble, Rondo, Lobo, Toop, Pal, Quick, Scamp, Muggins, Trip, Doc, Keno, Skip and Snowball among the odd list of names on record, while Prince, Duke, Buster, Rover and Rex still remain the favorites. Teddy is still as popular as ever, and fifteen dogs answer to that name.

Just what Hupi means no one at the city treasurer's office is able to say, although it is believed that it is a Finnish name.

Then there are such names as Pootsy, Baby, Chub, Belle, Jibby, King, Bill, Pat, Nig and Dick among the more common names.

Up to this noon 108 dog licenses had been taken out by Duluthians, and according to those in charge, dog owners are very slow in coming in. Last year's records show that 1,703 licenses were taken out for male dogs and 76 for females.

Mrs. J. McGregor of 315 West Superior street has license No. 1 this year for her dog, known as Laddie. He is a spaniel.

ROCK MACADAM FOR SIXTH STREET JOB

Sixth street, from Twenty-first to Twenty-fifth avenues west, will be paved with crushed rock macadam.

Sixty property owners affected by the proposed pavement met in Commissioner Farrell's office last evening and, after a long discussion, decided on the Class B macadam for the West end thoroughfare. This material was recommended by the commissioner, who claims that a soft surfacing is necessary, because of the many fills in the street. A hard pavement, he said, would be destroyed when the fills settled after two or three years.

The meeting last evening was in charge of Otto Brownell of the engineering department, the commissioner being unable to attend on account of the meeting of the advisory council at the Commercial club.

James W. Preston is the low bidder on crushed rock macadam for West Sixth street, and at the council meeting next Monday, Commissioner Farrell will introduce a resolution awarding him the contract. Mr. Preston's bid is $12,165.85.

HALF HOLIDAYS BEGIN.

City Employes Will Now Be Free Saturday Afternoons

From now on until September, city offices will be closed on Saturday afternoons.

From May 1 to Sept. 1 of each year, the city hall employes are given a half-day holiday every Saturday and those having business with any of the offices are urged to come around on Saturday morning.

Signs have been posted on all the doors, announcing that the offices will be closed at noon on Saturday.

Two Wills Filed.

Otto Englebert Peterson, who died at his home, 708 Lake avenue south, this city, on Feb. 12 last, left his property to a niece, Mrs. Laura Josephine Alme of Duluth, who filed his will for probate with the clerk of the probate court today. The will nominates her as executrix of the estate. The estate consists of property valued at less than $200.

Mrs. Hilda Waltanen of Virginia filed the will of her husband, Frank Waltanen, whose death occurred at Virginia on Feb. 8 last. Waltanen was 41 years old. He left property valued at $1,600, all of which, under the terms of his will, will go to his wife, except $100 which will be paid to Waltanen's mother, who resides in Finland. Mrs. Waltanen asks the court to appoint her executrix of the estate.

Ghost Walks at City Hall.

The ghost is walking today.

That is, today is pay day at the city hall, and all employes are receiving their April checks.

There is some doubt as to whether there is more than one ghost, but according to City Treasurer McLean, who has been on the jump ever since 8 o'clock this morning, a flock of them should be stalking around today.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

WILL RETIRE FROM OFFICE

Ray Higgins Not Candidate for Presidency of Boat Club.

Ray M. Higgins, president of the Duluth Boat club, will not be a candidate for re-election when the annual election of officers is held at the main clubhouse on Minnesota avenue next Tuesday evening.

This announcement was authorized by Mr. Higgins today. Walker Jamar is, it is understood, a receptive candidate for the office. Several other names have also been mentioned.

According to the statement by Mr. Higgins, the office required too much of his time. "While I will not be able to again enter the field as a candidate for the office of presidency of the club," said he today, "I shall be glad to continue to devote considerable time and energy to the interests of the boat club and will, of course, be willing to give my successor the benefit of any experience and information I may possess."

There is said to be a strong sentiment among the members of the club for and officer of the organization who for years has devoted his time and energy untiringly and unselfishly in the interests of the Park Point club. The name of this candidate may be used next Tuesday evening.

According to information given out by the present officials of the club, the affairs of that organization are in excellent shape. The coming season is expected to prove one of the most prosperous in the history of the boat club. A campaign for new members will be inaugurated in the near future.

In addition to the annual election of officers Tuesday evening, as well as the naming of several directors, there will be several social features. The moving pictures of the races at the National regatta, held at Philadelphia last August, will be shown.

U. S. EMPLOYES WILL GET SHORT LAY-OFF

Ten employes in the custodian service at the Duluth Federal building will be laid off eight days between now and June 30, according to information received from Washington, D. C., by Harris Bennett, collector of customs for the port of Duluth today. Employes affected include janitors, watchmen, charwomen, elevator conductors, firemen and those in similar employment.

The order, issued by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, affects all like employes in all Federal buildings throughout the United States. More than 4,500 persons are involved. The reason given is that the last congress failed to make the necessary appropriation for the full amount of the payrolls.

HUSBAND IS HIS ACCUSER

Van Buren Gets Warrant for Man Who Sheltered Runaway Wife.

Would Prosecute John Shaw on Charge of White Slavery.

When Duluh police advised John Van Buren, 120 First avenue west, that he had better drop a case against John Shaw, Van Buren went to Superior and succeeded in having a warrant issued charging Shaw with white slavery.

Mrs. Van Buren, who came into the limelight several days ago when she ran away from home because "she wanted to have a good time," after seventeen years of married life, was found in Superior with Shaw by Mr. Van Buren.

The case of the Van Buren family is unusual in that they have been getting aid from various Duluth charitable institutions for some time, although four children hold land claims on the La Pointe, Wis., Indian reservation said to be worth $25,000.

Last Wednesday evening Mrs. Van Buren left home to go to a moving picture show, as she said, and was not found until three days later.

Her husband formerly was employed for a short time by the Duluth police department, and used his experience in tracing down his missing spouse. He brought Shaw back to Duluth by force, and dragging him into police headquarters, said:

"Here is the man who ran away with my wife. I want you to lock him up."

Officers refused to take any action in the case until a warrant was issued, and so Van Buren went to the Wisconsin authorities. Detectives H. W. Toewe and J. L. Bradley arrested Shaw yesterday at the request of Superior police, and Detective McDonald came to Duluth and returned with his prisoner this morning.

Shaw laughs at the charge, says Mrs. Van Buren went with him of her own free will, and that she did it because she wanted to get away from her husband.

EIGHT ENLIST IN HOSPITAL CORPS

Eight Duluthians have enlisted as members of the hospital corps of the Third regiment of the Minnesota National Guard, which is now being organized with headquarters in this city.

The corps will meet this evening at the Armory for drill practice. The recruits will be put through a litter drill and will be given instruction on the subject of first aid to the injured. Drills will be held every Wednesday evening at the Armory. Maj. A. N. Collins, regimental surgeon, is in charge of the drill work.

Col. F. E. Resche, regimental commander, today stated that uniforms for the men had been ordered and are expected to arrive within a few days. The uniforms will bear the standard hospital corps insignia.

PLAN APPROVED BY POINT RESIDENTS

Members of the Park Point Improvement club at their regular monthly meeting last evening voted their unanimous approval of the plan proposed by Commissioner Farrell to place the four-block switch of the Park Point Traction company on the east side of the present track. The meeting was held at the Mission and was attended by nearly the entire membership of the club.

Because of the fact that the new pavement will be laid on the east side of the street and the present track, the switch, if placed on the west side, it was pointed out, will almost reach the curbing and make travel almost impossible for the property owners on that side of the thoroughfare. This matter was brought up by Commissioner Farrell at the council meeting last Monday and it is his plan to request the traction company to place the spur in the pavement on the east side of the street.

At the meeting last night the members agreed that this plan was best and a committee, consisting of R. B. Odell, S. M. Johnson, J. W. Harter and Leon W. Cooley, was appointed by Daniel McRae, president of the club, to take the matter up with the city commission and the officials of the street car company.

Next Monday evening the council will award the contract for the paving of Minnesota avenue to the S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis, the resolution having been held up this week in order that Commissioner Farrell might have time to look into the plans and specifications for the pavement.

FREE GARDENS FOR THE POOR

Three Hundred Plats Made By Mayor and Park Manager.

Three hundred public gardens to be used by the poorer residents of the city free of charge were platted yesterday by Mayor Prince and Park Manager Cleveland.

The public gardens are located in Harrison's Brookdale division and lie on both sides of the boulevard drive, between Piedmont avenue and Henry street. Each plot of ground is thirty feet square and a 3-foot walk extends around the entire grounds and each garden, so that persons can go to any single piece of ground without damaging flowers or vegetables. Each gardener will be given the privilege of fencing in his own plot of land.

Applications for a free garden must be made to Miss Edna Meeker of the Associated Charities, who has been given a plat of the property.

The land platted yesterday was purchased by the city about three years ago for park purposes, but because of insufficient funds, no improvements can be made at this time. As a result both Mayor Prince and Mr. Cleveland decided to allow citizens, who have no land of their own for garden use, an opportunity of growing vegetables and flowers during the summer months.

The city owns about forty-one acres in the Brookdale division, but only the land lying alongside the boulevard drive has been platted for public garden use. Nearly $30,000 was paid for the tract.

FAREWELL DINNER TO CHIEF TROYER

More than 100 Duluth Elks will sit down to a dinner tomorrow evening at the Elks' club given in honor of C. H. Troyer, retiring chief of police, who will move from Duluth to Fargo within a few days. The affair will be under the auspices of Duluth Lodge No. 133, B. P. O. E.

It is expected that Al G. Flournoy of Virginia will be toastmaster for the occasion. Among the speakers will be Frank E. Randall, A. E. McManus, John T. Armstead and M. B. Cullum. In addition to the program of speeches, there will be a program of music and vaudeville. Earl F. Baker will sing a solo.

MAY TERM OF COURT OPENS

With Judge Dancer presiding, the May term of the district court opened this morning at 10 o'clock with the peremptory call of the calendar of civil actions.

Of the 206 civil actions on the calendar, twelve were continued to the September term and six were stricken, leaving 188 cases to be tried or otherwise disposed of.

Following the call of the calendar, Judge Dancer called the May term grand jury together and charged them relative to their duties. The court appointed D. G. Gearhart as foreman.

According to County Attorney Warren E. Greene, who will attend the grand jury, between twenty and twenty-five criminal cases will be presented to the inquisitorial body for action. The personnel of the jury is as follows: D. G. Gearhart, Joseph B. Gibson, A. L. Gravatt, John J. Heidman, John Halvorson, Walter J. Johnson, E. G. Mason, Frank B. Makowski, Leonard Ohman, Nels N. Ole, R. B. Odell, Rudolph Sieger, T. E. Jones, Howard Tibbetts, Frank B. Thompson and Joseph Schmauss.

QUICK ACTION ON CONDEMNED STOCK

Hereafter, cattle condemned by City Veterinarian Dixon will either have to be isolated or killed immediately, according to a notice received yesterday by the health department.

In the past the state livestock board compensated every cattle dealer for an animal condemned by the veterinarians, but because of the reduction in the state health department's appropriation made by the last legislature, this feature was discontinued on May 1.

The communication states that condemned cattle will have to be isolated by the owner, or officials will be compelled to kill them immediately.

CHANGES IN FEDERAL RESERVE DISTRICTS

Washington, May 5.—Three changes in the lines of Federal reserve districts as they were drawn by the reserve bank organization commission more than a year ago were approved yesterday by the Federal reserve board.

The board unanimously adopted a resolution shifting banks in Northern New Jersey from the Philadelphia to the New York district, banks in Tyler and Wetzel counties, W. Va., from the Richmond to the Cleveland district, and banks in Southern Oklahoma from the Dallas to the Kansas City district.

In all these cases petitions for changes had been filed by a majority of the banks in the communities affected.

Action upon the petition affecting the lines of the Minneapolis district was postponed for future consideration.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

LOSER WAS "BROKE."

"Stuck for Drinks", and Unable to Pay, He Is Assaulted.

AFTER drawing straws to see who would buy the next round of refreshments, Trofin Kydin, 33, who drew the shorter straw, discovered that he was broke, and that Charles Adamitis, 40, his companion, would have to buy anyway.

Adamitis objected strenuously and began using his fists to prove his point. The fight ended when Kydin secured a half-Nelson on his opponent's cheek with his teeth. Officer Thompson, attracted by the shrieks of the loser, arrested the pair.

Kydin was given a fifteen-day sentence at the work farm, while Adamitis was allowed to go free.

HELD ON "SERIOUS CHARGE."

In response to a telegram from the police of International Falls, detectives made a hurried trip to a hotel at Eleventh avenue west and Michigan street last night, and arrested John P. Nielson, 52.

"John P. Nielson, machinist, wanted here on very serious charge," read the "wire."

Nielson, who has been in Duluth several days, denies that he has committed any criminal act, and police have not yet learned of what the "very serious charge" consists. Officers from International Falls are expected here today.

PEDDLER TOO "NERVY."

Methods used by the most persistent of book agents, practised by Jacob Zaroor, 21, a vendor of woven rugs, cost him $16.12 in municipal court yesterday afternoon.

"Sixteen twelve?" he said with an agonized expression to Clerk Walter Richeson, "Oh—h—two weeks' profits gone!"

Zaroor tried to sell some rugs to Mrs. "Jack" Callahan, 130 East Fifth street, yesterday morning, and persisted in trying to exploit his wares after she had tried to close the door in his face and said she "didn't want to buy anything."

She finally called to her husband, who is a member of the police force. Zaroor was taken to headquarters and charged with trespass.

INTERMEDIARY BODY ASSURED

Committee to Arrange Details of Advisers for Commissioners.

No Vote for Sub-Council—Report to Civic Organizations.

PLAN FOR PROPOSED INTERMEDIARY COUNCIL.

Each civic and community organization in the city to be entitled to one representative.

Each representative so delegated to be chosen for a specific period of time—perhaps six months.

Intermediary council to take no vote on matters submitted for consideration by the city commissioners; but to discuss the subjects and submit the matter to the clubs they represent.

Such subjects to be reported formally to the clubs by the secretary of the commission, the club's representative to make his report on the basis of the written report.

Clubs so represented in the intermediary council to discuss the matter, take a vote, and, through their representatives, report desires to the city commission.

Clubs to make suggestions, as clubs, through their representatives in the intermediary council, to the city commission of favored or desired legislation.

As a result of the meeting held last evening at the Commercial club of those interested in the formation of an intermediary council to act in an advisory capacity to the city commission, a committee consisting of William Burgess, chairman; W. A. Pryor and W. E. McEwen, was appointed to draw up definite plans.

That the intermediary council will be formed, there seems no doubt, after the discussion of last night. During the meeting there were objections to certain things, suggestions, explanations, and, in short, the plan was given a thorough going over. At the close, the plan, as outlined herewith, was understood to be the basis of detail to be arranged by the committee appointed. The plan will be submitted to the various bodies to be included in the organization, before it is adopted.

While, at times, fireworks developed in the discussion, the meeting as a whole, was amicable. Commissioner Merritt entered strenuous objection to criticism of his department, and again declared that he would "not stand for it;" and Commissioner Farrell asserted that if any member of the Stirrup club who took part in the statement issued two years ago by that club, declaring him "a dangerous person," were put in the proposed council or advisory committee, he would have nothing to do with it.

All of the city commissioners were present and the others who were in attendance were: William Burgess of the Rotary club, W. E. McEwen of the charter commission, W. A. Pond of the West Duluth Commercial club, W. A. Pryor of the Glen-Hunt-Wood club, E. F. Burg, chairman of the temporary organization; George D. McCarthy of the Duluth Commercial club, E. A. Silberstein, and John Jenswold, Jr., of the Lester Park Improvement club.

Three Like the Idea.

Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Silberstein expressed the opinion that such an advisory council would be a good thing, for it would tend to give the people as a whole a better understanding of what the city council is doing, and would go a long way toward allaying hostility and criticism.

William Burgess opened the meeting by telling of the origin of the movement and what it is hoped to attain by such an organization. He said that three weeks ago the plan was suggested at a meeting of the Stirrup club and broached by that organization. At this, Commissioners Silberstein and Farrell arose and started for the door, burlesquing a departure, at which a laugh ensued, and they, laughing also, resumed their seats. It was the silent equivalent for the slang "good night!"

Mr. Jenswold declared that, in his opinion, an intermediary council would be excellent as it would cause a better understanding of the city government, give officials credit for what they do, and would remove, by the giving of direct information to the civic organizations of the city, misunderstandings of acts of the commissioners. Aside from that, he liked the idea for the reason that the city council would be getting suggestions directly from the taxpayers of the city through their representatives in the intermediary council. He also urged that in such an organization, there should be the best of representation on the intermediary body.

E. F. Burg denied that he had criticized the commission of the water and light department, and said that he had merely mentioned that there is hostility to the new water rates as an indication that an advisory committee would be a good thing.

Merritt Abused.

Commissioner Merritt of the water and light department, in reply, said that he wished to correct Mr. Burg, for there was no raise in water rates, but merely an equalization. Said he: "The new schedule was freely discussed. I didn't come here to talk about water rates. Why open the subject? It was opened enough when I was absent.

"My door in the water and light office has never been shut. I used everybody like gentlemen. Some men present came to my office with abusive tongues. Some callers used language not fit to repeat. I should have hired a bouncer and had them kicked out. They keep hammering at me because I won't grant special privilege. I've had traitors in my department, whom I should have fired. Hostile criticism has made it difficult for me to avoid insubordination in the department.

"I would be glad of an intermediary committee, but I don't want the enemies of the water and light department on it to continue their 'knocks' on me. All talk of raise in water rates is rot. Of course, if the committee, as I suspect, is to be of my enemies, I will consult it, just the same."

Mr. Burg declared that the advisory committee should be thoroughly representative.

Persecution Must Stop.

Commissioner Merritt asked why the Trades and Labor Assembly is not included in the twenty-two civic bodies to be represented. Mr. Burgess said that the Trades and Labor Assembly is included; and the commissioner then declared with some heat:

"Well, I want you gentlemen to understand that this persecution of my department has got to stop."

Mr. Burg replied that an intermediary council would be just the thing the commission should want; and Mr. Burgess added that what is wanted is to stop hostile criticism, and that he believed that such a committee would clear away misunderstanding.

Mr. Merritt asserted that he "saw the organization headed by my enemies" and consequently assumed that its purpose was to cripple the efficiency of his department. Said he:

"If I had retained the old water and light board, I could have joined the Kitchi Gammi club and swelled around. But I have preferred to be responsible. I fear the committee will take the council from the people. What you want is direct responsibility."

Mayor Prince indorsed the idea of an intermediary council, for, while it is the aim of the commission, he declared, to maintain the highest efficiency, the intermediary council will keep the commission in closer touch with the people and will avail the city government with direct information as to what the taxpayers want. He said that as an instance of the misunderstanding that exists, it has been charged that he, as head of public affairs, has "too much power in the selection of library books." This he denied, claiming that he has little to do with it, books on various subjects being purchased by request or on the advice of those in the city who have the best ability in that line.

Commercial Club Objections.

George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, said that it is felt that an intermediary body would have grave dangers, for the commissioners might accept its opinions as final from the people and the committee might assume powers not intended to be given it. He said that the Commercial club feels that the present method of giving the council public sentiment through resolutions from the various civic bodies is best.

Mayor Prince said that there has been much better understanding in the city commission than is generally supposed.

Commissioner Farrell said that he favors an intermediary body, but insisted on its being broad-minded. He said that if there are any members of the Stirrup club included he is bound to feel hard toward it as a result of what he called "the scurrilous statement" concerning him, issued two years ago by the club.

W. E. McEwen said that he believes it unwise to vest too much power in one body, and he added that the charter framers had believed that the new form of government would sit as did the old department boards. He declared it as being his opinion that the result of the last election was a protest against what was considered one-man power. Mr. McEwen advised Commissioner Merritt not to take criticism too much to heart.

"Any official," said he, "will be damned no matter how well he does. Abusive language is part of the game."

He also declared that the proposed advisory council should have no power that might coerce the commission, and asserted that he preferred the old council, with all its short-comings, to one-man power.

W. A. Pryor said that each man on the city commission has been "lord of his department" and that it must have been understood, otherwise there would have been no such unanimity in voting. W. A. Pond declared himself in favor of an intermediary council to avoid popular misunderstanding.

WEST END WEST END MEN WANT Y.M.C.A.

Commercial Club Will Take Up Matter at Meeting Thursday.

About $20,000 Needed for Building; Many Men Would Join.

What steps are being taken toward providing a building for a Young Men's Christian association in the West end will be one of the subjects that will be brought up at the meeting of the West End Commercial club tomorrow evening. The matter has lain dormant since a year ago, say members of the club, because of a promise of the directors of the uptown institution that something would be done this year.

A year ago the necessity of a building for this end of the city was presented by a committee of the West End Commercial club to officials of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. Then it was said that if the matter was allowed to rest for a year, steps would be taken to assist in the raising of a fund for the purchase of a site as well as the construction of a building adequate for the needs of the community.

"We do not want a brown stone building," said one of the members discussing the subject yesterday afternoon. "What we want is an institution that will furnish all of the attractions of healthful recreation and furnish a place for the young men of this end of the city to pass their idle time. Such an institution can be built, it was estimated last year, for about $20,000.

"With proper co-operation and the moral support of the leaders of the uptown institution, such a building can undoubtedly be built within the next six months."

It is ascertained, say members, that there will be no difficulty in securing members. After a canvass made of young men in this end of the city, which was not nearly complete, it was said that more than 300 were willing to take out memberships. This, members of the club contend, is a sufficient nucleus to begin a good institution in this end of the city. The members of the club's committee are Rev. George E. Silloway, John J. Moe and Victor Juten.

MONTHLY LUNCHEON FOR BUSINESS MEN

The business men of the West end will hold their next monthly luncheon next Wednesday noon at the Rex hotel. Reports of the committee in charge of the celebration being planned for the clean-up workers will then be submitted.

The arrangements for the luncheon are being made by a committee consisting of E. A. Thompson and Emil A. Nelson. It is expected that every business man in that district will turn out.

At a meeting of the celebration committee to be held this afternoon at the Duluth State bank, the plans will be gone over thoroughly. It is expected to have a band concert and in addition several special features for the children.

SWEDISH ATHLETIC CLUB IS ORGANIZED

The Swedish Athletic club was organized last night at a meeting of thirty young men at the Sloan's hall last night.

The club elected Henry Nyquist, president; Godfrey Johnson, vice president; Ernest Johnson, secretary; Axel Nyquist, treasurer, and Victor Thor, trainer.

It is proposed to secure grounds somewhere in the West end, where the club can have outdoor training. A committee for that purpose was selected. A team representing the club will participate in the sports program of the Midsummer's day festival on June 24.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting held Monday evening the executive committee of the Commercial club indorsed any action on the part of the city council that would result in the paving of the streets in the business section of this city.

The members of the council are seriously considering the proposition, and several of the business men who have been approached express themselves as being enthusiastically in favor of the pavement.

It is the intention to pave Main avenue four blocks, from the Great Northern depot to Fourth street, La Bree avenue from First street to Third street, Second street between Main and La Bree avenues, and Third street from Main avenue to the Soo depot, a distance of three and a half blocks.

B'NAI B'RITH OFFICERS COMING

Will Help Initiate Class of Twenty-five Into Covenant Lodge—Dr. Gross Discusses Conditions That Keep America Neutral—Tells of Mexican Situation.

Officers of the grand lodge of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, including Charles L. Aarons of Milwaukee, president of district grand lodge, No. 6, all of whom are now attending the annual convention of the order in San Francisco, will stop in Duluth on their way East to take part in the initiation of a class of twenty-five candidates by Covenant lodge, No. 569, on the night of May 25 at the Commercial club.

Arrangements for Ceremonies.

Tentative arrangements for this special ceremonial were made at the monthly meeting of Covenant lodge held last evening at the home of Ben Blumenthal, 408 East First street. Charles D. Oreckovsky, A. B. Kapplin and Ben Blumenthal were appointed on the committee to make the final arrangements for the affair. Dr. Samuel Gross, president of the lodge, read a paper during the evening on "What Keeps America Neutral?"

According to the plans, the visiting officials of the order will be the honor guests at a banquet at the Commercial club, after which the twenty-five candidates will be initiated into the order, with Mr. Aarons presiding.

Last evening Covenant lodge nominated H. Y. Josephs of this city as a director of the Cleveland orphan asylum. Next month twenty-two directors will be elected from candidates nominated by B'nai B'rith lodges throughout the country. Two years ago L. S. Loeb of this city was elected a director for four years.

Dr. Gross' paper on "What Keeps America Neutral?" follows in part:

No Entangling Alliances.

"The American nation and American independence were conceived by a band of sincere and intelligent pioneers who had fled the European shores because its institutions that at all times menaced the safety of men's physical, mental and moral well-being. In laying a foundation for the country whose present-day greatness they dared not even hope, they carefully considered the peculiar forces that at all times threatened and so often upset the equilibrium of European life. They resolved above all else that this nation should forever hold aloof from entangling European alliances. Many trying situations have arisen in the course of its 139 years' experience, but this admonition of its founders has ever remained fresh. At almost every international complication in which our country was concerned, an advance was made. Thus in 1823 when Monroe and Adams, president and secretary of state respectively, apprehended an interference from the Holy Alliance in the affairs of the newly-born south American republics, they emphatically announced that at this date or no future date would the United States countenance the interference of any European power in the affairs of any American republic. Our statesmen were quick to perceive the dreadful possibilities to American interests from the infection that the political system of the old world would thereby plant.

"In Mexico for many years, the commercial well-being of European interests has been injured unspeakably, yet in the knowledge that the United States would brook no interference from these powers in Mexico's affairs, they have gracefully and patiently withheld such interference and placed their trust of an ultimate settlement of the Mexican difficulties in the hands of the United States. What an example of progress in the world's peace annals this unique situation brings to light we shall fully realize when we recall that Austria in her promise to Russia that she would not violate Serbian territory failed to win the latter's confidence.

Countries Lack Faith.

"We might also recall that England just before the war would not trust Germany to abide by her solemn promise that the neutrality of Belgium would be honored. The United States has thus given to the world a policy of rare virtue. When we liberated the Philippines and Cuba from the inhuman sovereignty of Spain and declared for them their independence, the whole world bowed its shamed head in humble acknowledgment. While in the old world each nation was preparing for a leap at the throat of its neighbor we have here been laying a foundation for a permanent peace that will stand as long as a spark of goodness remains in the human soul. To know the cause of a disease is to have it half conquered. In this way did America conquer.

"When Europe awakens from the terrible orgy into which she has sunk she will behold in the west a gorgeous sunrise and in its brilliant rays will be reflected the ancient 'Peace on earth, good will toward men.' The hour will strike when the world will no longer look to Bethlehem for its lessons of peace, but to Washington."

TAKE CARE OF YOUR FURS

With the approach of warm weather the moths begin to get busy.

Furs and woolens must seek places of safety.

Modern storage has devised almost perfect preservation—usually of a kind equally good against fire and other dangers.

From time to time the places where proper protection may be had are advertised in The Herald.

A little information promptly acted on may save you many dollars.

But that is the mission of newspaper advertising, to save you time and money.

CO-OPERATE TO HELP DULUTH

Many Projects Boosted at Meeting of Retail Merchants.

Plan to Receive Biggest Tourist Influx in City's History.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Retail Merchants' association, held last night at the Holland hotel, a resolution was passed heartily indorsing the work being done by Prof. Carey of the Central high school with his commercial class. Working in conjunction with the retail merchants, who have for some time been agitating that greater attention be paid to "salesmanship" in the public schools, Prof. Carey has instituted a course which has met with the hearty approval of the retail merchants and has produced excellent results. During the last year the merchants have frequently visted this class, and the tendency will be to give its graduates first consideration.

Symphony Orchestra Concerts.

The merchants will do what they can to help make the symphony orchestra concerts to be held in the curling club June 4 and 5 the success the proposition merits. The merchants appreciate the wonderful value an auditorium such as the curling club offers to the city and feel that an organization having such an important bearing upon the city and offering such splendid facilities as it does, should receive the hearty support of the citizens at large in all of its meritorious enterprises. The merchants will do all they can to help dispose of tickets.

Worthless Checks.

In view of the number of checks being passed in the city, which are being returned marked "insufficient funds," the merchants decided to publish at frequent intervals the law governing the passing of worthless checks, which makes it a misdemeanor to issue a check when there are not sufficient funds in the bank to protect it, which misdemeanor is punishable by a fine not to exceed $1,000 or imprisonment not to exceed one year. It is not the intention of the association to deal harshly with the innocent offender, but to prosecute those who knowingly continue this practice.

Farmer Co-Operation.

Active steps will be taken at once by the association to get in touch with the different farmers' clubs throughout this district, and with the individual farmers, to the end that a closer relationship may be attained, that both farmer and merchant may see the advantage of dealing with one another.

Along this line the merchants have invited Charles P. Craig to speak to them at their next meeting June 1 on the subject of "Intelligent Co-operation With the Farmer." John J. Moe made a strong talk on the subject of "Close Relationship With the Farmer," and his suggestions, as well as those of Mr. Craig, will be followed up sharply by the association.

Trading Stamp Advertising.

It being reported to the meeting that The Duluth Herald had recently turned down a large advertising contract from a prominent trading stamp concern, a resolution was presented expressing to The Herald the appreciation of the Retail Merchants' association relative to its attitude. The retail merchants are firmly convinced that the giving of trading stamps, premium coupons or any other method of like character, is not conducive to good merchandising, is not economic, and is not in keeping with good business procedure.

Credit Men's Convention.

A committee will be appointed to work in conjunction with the Retail Credit Men's association to help prepare for the national convention, which will be held in Duluth from Aug. 16 to 20. This promises to be one of the biggest conventions of the summer season, and the retail merchants will to a large extent be hosts to the visiting guests.

White Way to Dock Landing.

A committee composed of M. K. Stack, chairman; R. D. Annis and A. W. Lindgren was appointed to confer with Commissioner Merritt relative to providing good lighting from Superior street to the dock landing. This same committee will also confer with the board of public works relative to cleaning up the dock property and ways adjacent thereto.

Clean-up Movement Indorsed.

The retail merchants are in hearty sympathy with the plans of the clean-up and paint-up committee relative to getting Duluth in good, clean condition. The importance of this, outside of the bearing it has locally, was emphasized by Bentley P. Neff, president of the association, who called the attention of the members to the fact that there is every reason to believe this will be the biggest tourist season Duluth has ever experienced. Already there are strong indications that there will be a tremendous travel by the Great Lakes this year, and Duluth should be spick and span to receive its guests, in order that the visitor who comes prepared to stay one day may be induced to remain a week or longer.

Mr. Neff directed attention to the fact that last year more than 1,200,000 passengers were carried by steamboat companies to and from Europe at a revenue to the steamship companies of $83,000,000. It was estimated that there was spent abroad by these travelers $100,000,000, making a total of $273,000,000 spent on tourist travel. It is supposed that practically this entire amount will be spent in "seeing America" this year, and it is only natural to suppose that the beautiful trip up the Great Lakes will attract many tourists in this direction.

The association plans a very active year, and arrangements are already under way to make the organization of great usefulness to the retail merchants of this city as well as to the community in general.

DULUTH HOTEL MANAGER SAYS AKOZ IS WONDERFUL MINERAL

Harmon L. Powers Checks Kidney and Stomach Trouble With California Rival of Radium.

Harmon L. Powers, a well-known Duluth hotel manager of 322 West Third street, suffered for five years with kidney and stomach trouble and has at last found relief by using Akoz, the new California mineral rival of radium.

"I am highly pleased with the results obtained from Akoz," said Mr. Powers. "It is a wonderful and a remarkable mineral remedy. I suffered for a long time with kidney and stomach trouble. The pains in my back were very bad at times and I had gas and sour stomach.

"I am feeling fine now after taking Akoz only a short time and I can and will cheerfully recommend Akoz to all suffering as I was."

Akoz has also proven very effective in the treatment of rheumatism, bladder and liver trouble, eczema, catarrh, piles and other ailments, as is shown by the statements of a great number of residents in this city and vicinity.

Akoz is not a patent medicine. It is now being introduced at the Lyceum pharmacy at Fifth avenue west and Superior street, Duluth. Visit, phone or write the Akoz man at this store for further information regarding this advertisement.

EATON SAID TO BE SLATED FOR POSITION OF CHIEF OF POLICE

For the last twenty-four hours rumors have been persistent that Guy A. Eaton, former oil inspector of Minnesota, will be the next chief of police and there is still a strong probability that Commissioner Silberstein will appoint him to succeed Chauncey H. Troyer, present head of the police department, who will retire on May 14 to become chief at Fargo, N. D.

Friends of Mr. Eaton have been conducting an active campaign in his behalf and although Commissioner Silberstein would not make any announcement regarding the appointment, it is generally believed by those closely connected with the city administration that the former state oil inspector will be Duluth's next chief of police.

Ever since Chief Troyer was retired on a pension last week, rumors regarding several likely candidates have been circulated and Commissioner Silberstein was besieged by their friends. He refused to make any appointment until he had studied the situation, declaring that no promises had been made to anyone and that the office was open.

Among the men who were most prominently mentioned for chief during the last week in addition to Mr. Eaton are the following: Detective Frank Schulte, Lieutenants Robert McDermott and E. H. Barber, all of the police department; Col. F. E. Resche, probation officer; Robert E. McKercher, humane agent; John Murphy, yardmaster for the Northern Pacific railroad, and Frank Magie, formerly deputy sheriff.

HARDWOOD FLOOR POPULAR FOR "BED"

Unemployed of Superior Come to Bethel to Escape "Downy" Couches.

Man is a peculiar "critter," according to Supt. Ramseyer of the Bethel. Unemployed men of Superior, who can get free beds in the City of Destiny, prefer to come to the Bethel here during the quiet season so that they can sleep on the floor.

Supt. Ramseyer says he prefers to educate men to sleep in beds, and so most of the guests of the Bethel have been given a "downy" pillow. But the "hardwood" pillow is most popular.

The Bethel's business is now falling off a little owing to better weather and improved conditions for working men, but about 200 are still getting free beds and bread and "hot dog." Mr. Ramseyer says he has made a careful investigation, and has found that many Superiorites have been guests at the Bethel here.

DEMANDS SUPPORT FROM EX-HUSBAND

Carl Van Louven, 24, a principal in two divorce actions within the last six years, has been cited to appear before the district court Saturday and show cause why he should not be required to contribute to the support of Jennie Van Louven, the latest wife, who secured a divorce from him last January.

Mrs. Van Louven, 23, is a stenographer, but alleges that she is not able to earn enough at her vocation to properly support herself and her two children. She is now seeking to have Judge Cant amend divorce findings ordered in her favor by inserting a provision that he be made to pay her alimony at the rate of $12 a week.

Mrs. Van Louven, in an affidavit filed with the court today, stated that she had worked as a stenographer while she was the wife of Van Louven and that he devoted a part of her earnings to pay for furniture which had been purchased by Van Louven for his former wife.

Van Louven secured a divorce from his first wife on June 6, 1909, in a Minnesota court. At Hudson, Wis., on the same day, he was married to his second wife, who last January secured a divorce from him on the grounds of ill-treatment.

PATRONS FOR PRODUCE.

Brook Park After Customers in Duluth, Says Postmaster.

Postmaster McEwen has received several communications from Duluthians who are eager to become patrons of producers of farm produce via the parcel post route. The postmaster at Brook Park, Minn., has informed Postmaster McEwen that a number of producers of butter and eggs aroung Brook Park would be glad to mail produce to Duluth consumers. Brook Park is not far from Duluth, and is considered excellent territory for the parcel post service. Lists of names of prospective consumers are being made by Postmaster McEwen. It was stated the other day that Robinsdale desired this list. Brook Park, however, was the place that petitioned the Duluth office.

ASSEMBLY KILLS SEVERAL BILLS

Madison, Wis., May 5.—Measures by Assemblyman William Nelson to abolish the legislative reference library and the repeal of the corrupt practices act were killed in the house today.

A bill by Assemblyman Bradley of Hudson to repeal a $45,000 appropriation for a physical education building at the La Crosse Normal school also failed by 44 to 37, and Assemblyman E. A. Everett changed his vote to move reconsideration. This bill aroused discussion of the state financial condition which Assemblyman George Harrington, a member of the joint investigating committee, stated would be made worse if this bill went through. He said in July the treasury would have $3,100,000 and that there would be appropriation of $4,379,000 outstanding against it, leaving a deficit of $1,279,000 if all claims are paid; hence his appeal for economy.

The committee on printing reported for passage the new printing board bill under which the investigating committee hopes to effect a saving of $100,000 a year.

The senate passed the Tompkins bill, preventing a trust company from selling securities in its possession to trust estates over which it has control.

Senate committee recommended passage for a bill appropriating $10,000 for a site for a hospital for crippled children and concurred in an assembly bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors and licensing dealers who sell to adults.

The assembly engrossed the Nye bill for segregation of the valuation of terminal and dock properties by the state and the refunding to the locality of the amount collected on such property within the municipality.

The Hedding boxing bill, which provides that no boxing licenses shall be issued in fourth-class cities, and a vice commission bill providing a penalty in cases in which employment or promise of employment given a female is issued as an inducement to immorality, went to engrossment.

PAID COMMISSION ON PRINTING WORK

Syracuse, N. Y., May 5.—Charles M. Winchester, general manager of the J. B. Lyon company of Albany, testified in the supreme court here today that his concern had paid commissions on all orders for public printing received from the Journal company, controlled by William Barnes. The commissions amounted to thousands of dollars.

The witness swore he had never talked to Mr. Barnes about printing contracts.

Lists of the holders of stock in the Journal company, compiled from books supplied by Mr. Barnes showed that the former chairman of the Republican state committee and members of his family held the majority of the stock.

Counsel for Col. Roosevelt planned to have him go on the stand later in the day.

TURKISH TROOPS ARE ANNIHILATED

Paris, May 5.—A dispatch from Mytilene to the Havas agency says that a regiment of Turkish troops was annihilated during fighting at the Dardanelles last night and that the allies transported 1,000 more prisoners to Tenedos and Moudros.

The dispatch also says that a squadron of warships of the allies again bombarded forts at the Dardanelles and Turkish encampments on the coast.

ITALIANS HONOR PATRIOT'S MEMORY

Genoa, Italy, via Paris, May 5.—The departure of Garibaldi and his thousands of "Red Shirts" in May 1860, on the expedition which resulted in the acquisition of Sicily by Italy, was celebrated at Quarto Sant' Elena, near this city, with a great patriotic demonstration today. The principal feature of the celebration was the dedication of a monument to Garibaldi.

Vast crowds gathered in the little town which in 1860 was in the kingdom of Sardinia. They greeted with wild enthusiasm a detachment of veterans of the Garibaldi expedition.

Every province of Italy was represented, although King Victor Emanuel and members of the cabinet, who had expected to attend the exercises, were unable to be present on account of the political situation.

The Garibaldi veterans headed a long parade which passed through the town. As the veterans reached the esplanade in the Place Umberto, massed choirs sang the hymn of Garibaldi.

Mrs. Fred Hoene Is Elected President of Bishop's Club

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Bishop's club held last evening:

Mrs. L. H. Corcoran, who presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. F. Killorin, spoke on the initiative shown by Mrs. Killorin during her two terms as president. Speaking of the early history of the club, Mrs. Corcoran said:

"Our birthday was May 1. Twenty years ago on a Wednesday evening the bishop called a meeting in the little clubroom which was situated where the kitchen now stands. The bishop has been generous about letting us have his distinguished guests to talk to us. Two of the early visitors were Archbishop Kane and Monsignor Nugent of Liverpool, Eng.

Reports Presented.

Mrs. A. J. Munn of Superior gave the historian's report and Mrs. George Harkness reported on the work of the Orphanage Sewing guild. Votes of thanks were given to Mrs. Killorin, Mrs. Corcoran, those who have taken part in the programs and the newspapers.

Bishop James McGolrick who decided that the study of the Bible should be continued indefinitely, said he thought the Scripture readings at the club meetings had been the source of a large part of the charity that had been done by the organization. "The habit of giving grows," he said, "and the giving arises from the spirit of what we have studied together. I do not know anything more potent to inspire men to nobility and to aid them in putting down the evil of their own natures than the Scriptures. If our minds are properly directed to it, it must make for good."

How Dandelions May Be Used.

Woman's World: Mother Nature has provided for the bodily demands at this time by sending up from the ground foods filled not only with the very medicines the body needs but in a form which acts as a broom to the intestinal tract. The dandelion is full of salts and is aperient, besides being a natural liver medicine; the taraxacum it contains is in many a doctor's prescription, and its bulk as it passes through the body reaches in the clogged crevices and sweeps them out, carrying off the waste which is causing auto-intoxication or self-poisoning. Not only as a salad should this valuable weed-vegetable be eaten, but when cooked with a little lemon juice and sugar to counteract the bitterness it can be used in many tasty ways. One of these is to blend in a saucepan over the fire one gill of cream, two ounces of butter and the same weight of flour, and mix with it the yolk of three eggs and about a pound and a half of dandelions (which have been cooked with two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and one of powdered sugar, then chopped fine); add salt and pepper to taste and lastly the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs; steam thirty minutes.

Any left-over cooked dandelion greens can be made appetizing for luncheon by chopping them fine and adding some butter and cream; fill this mixture into the whites of hard-boiled eggs, after removing the yolks, and then place in a buttered baking dish; cover first with white sauce and then with the grated yolks of the eggs. Brown in a quick oven.

A delicious spring salad may be made by covering young and tender dandelion leaves with cottage cheese balls and dice of cooked bacon, and then pouring over them a dressing made of the bacon fat strained, vinegar, salt and pepper.

Theater Gossip.

Plays bulletined by the Drama League, are being presented by the Baldwin Players this week and next.

BULLETINED PLAYS SHOWN.

The Drama League of America, in its effort to build up patronage for the better class of plays, and provide some guide to the theater-goers, established a system of bulletins. Poorly written plays or those that are vicious in their tendencies, are ignored, but the league issues a bulletin on every play which its officers deem worthy to live. The bulletins are issued by the national officers of the society, and distributed through the local branches. "Fine Feathers" which is this week's vehicle of the Baldwin Players, was one of the bulletined plays, and was highly praised by the national committee of the Drama League. In addition to this, the officers of the league have indorsed the manner in which it is being presented by the Baldwin company, even going so far as to say that the production is superior to that given here by the original star cast.

Next week's play will be "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which is also a bulletined play, and which will be seen in Duluth for the first time.

The Baldwin Players will go to Cloquet Friday, after giving the last performance of "Fine Feathers" Thursday evening, and will return to open Sunday afternoon.

BILLIE BURKE IN "JERRY."

"Jerry," the comedy in which Miss Billie Burke will be seen at the Lyceum, Friday and Saturday, was written by Catherine Chisholm Cushing without any ulterior motives. It is just a comedy and nothing more. Its sole object is to provoke laughter and make the audience forget its troubles. In New York and Chicago last season and in cities all over the country, this season it is said to have done precisely that. In some places it has even made the audience forget the war. The piece tells how a Chicago girl captures a man who has been engaged to her aunt for twenty years and marries him herself. Miss Burke changes her clothes frequently during the performance—sometimes appearing in the prettiest and most girlish frocks and once in a suit of mannish riding togs and once in pink pajamas.

MME. JOMMELLI LAUDED IN VERSE.

Probably no other song has a greater heart appeal than "Home Sweet Home," which is being sung at the Orpheum this week as a part of the program of Mme. Jeanne Jomelli, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York. Mme. Jomelli sings equally well in French and Italian, but her rendering of "Home Sweet Home" meets with a response that is peculiarly sympathetic.

MME. JOMELLI.

While singing in Omaha, the following poem was written for the former grand opera star:

"I've heard the greatest orchestras play Wagner and Mozart,
And singers singing arias in utmost heights of art,
I've heard their trills, cadenzas, too;
their warblings sweet and clear,
And often joined in loud applause
their artist hearts to cheer,
But just last night I sat beneath a sweet-voiced artist's spell
And paid the tribute of the tears that would unbidden well.
Back through the years I lived again,
as with her subtle art
Jomelli sang of "Home Sweet Home"— the song that reached my heart.

"I saw the light far down the street shine through the window pane;
And heard the soughing of the breeze
adown the wooded lane,
Borne on the wind I heard a voice
croon love songs soft and low.
And caught a glimpse of one dear face with youthful love aglow.
The flickering firelight on the hearth,
the dancing shadow's play,
The family circle gathered 'round
when came the close of day—
Familiar scenes of boyhood days, glad days of used-to-be,
Jomelli's singing 'Home Sweet Home' brought clearly back to me.

"I saw the well-worn path that led up and across the hill
To where the old schoolhouse stood;
heard sounds of voices still—
The voices of the dear old chums I played with in the years
When life was only sunshine, never dimmed by clouds or tears.
The footlights faded from my view,
walls vanished from my sight,
And through the misty haze of years came youthful vision bright—
A vision fading out in tears that would unbidden start
To hear Jomelli sing of 'Home'—the song that reached my heart.
—Will M. Maupin.

It is seldom that the introduction of a film star gets applause, but the appearance of Jess Willard on the screen at the Grand has been greeted with enthusiastic outbursts. This great fighter, champion of the world and defeater of Jack Johnson, is destined to become a public idol, and he is a big hit in the stirring film drama, "The Heart Punch." This is the only moving picture play yet made of the champion, and shows him to advantage both as a fighter and actor.

JESS WILLARD POPULAR AT THE GRAND.

Today will be the last appearance of the present bill, which includes Jetter and Rogers, skaters and society dancers; the Lyric quartet of funmakers and singers; the Levolas, sensational wire artists, and Hoier and Boggs in their comedy skit, "The Lunch Counter Girl."

Tomorrow the bill will change entirely, and will be headed by Duncan and Holt, blackface comedians. The Casting Lamys in daring and thrilling aerial gymnastics; Norwood and Anderson in a comedy sketch, and the Angel Sisters with songs, dances and chatter, are other acts on the bill.

The Hearst-Selig News of Events and the usual excellent photoplay bill complete the entertainment.

SOCIETY PLAY AT THE REX

The Jesse L. Lasky company-Paramount offers its latest screen, "Snobs," at the Rex today and tomorrow. Victor Moore, who is one of the most distinguished comedy stars in America, and whose name is most intimately associated with the George M. Cohan productions, makes his debut for the photo-drama in this offering, which also has the distinction of having been offered at the Strand theater in New York for the first anniversary week of that renowned institution. The play on which this photo-drama is founded is commonly regarded as the most laughable satire ever produced on Broadway, where it ran for an entire season, and did much to make the fame of its author, George Bronson-Howard.

"Snobs" is a clever comedy, and more, it is a keen satire on modern society, or at least a part of it. The milkman hero of the story, who later discovers that he is a duke, is funny but likable, and the wealthy members of society who fawn upon him while sneering behind his back, are also funny but not very likable. It remains for a girl who really loves him to disillusionize him.

"The House of Bondage" is attracting large crowds to the Zelda theater.

WHITE SLAVE FILM AT ZELDA.

Pretty Lottie Pickford carries the plot all through the white slave problem, and Max, the white slaver, who is the actual cause of her downfall, suffers the fate due him, although the heroine succeeds in luring him to her poor little dingy room in the cheap tenement building, where after he had indulged in a few intoxicating drinks, he falls from the window to his death. She is left to the cold world, and after a friend gives her enough money to return to her home and mother, she is turned out by the mother for fear of the father's wrath, when he would learn that she is not the wife of the man who promised to marry her, and only a woman of the underworld. Again she faces the world, too returns to her old life, and is not accepted in an old resort because as the landlady said: "The life got you, you are all in." But she finds a haven of rest when she is taken to a convent by a kind sister. This production will play all week. Children under the age of 16 will not be admitted. Manager Mistachkin will present next week, "Through the Enemy's Lines," a war picture.

TOURISTS WILL NOT NEED PASSPORTS

On account of reports which have recently appeared to the effect that passports are now required by tourists or other visitors to Canada, immigration officials of the Canadian government have issued a statement denying the rumor that any restrictions are to be made.

It had been rumored that American citizens of German origin holding tickets through Canada would experience some difficulty at border points with the immigration officials. Immigration and railroad officials deny this and in statements which have just been issued assure the traveling public that no one will be molested or embarrassed in the least. German-American tourists will be awarded the same courtesy as any other individual tourist.

The statement issued by the superintendent of immigration at Ottawa is as follows:

"Numerous items have lately appeared in the press advising residents of the United States to secure passports when visiting or passing through Canada. Inquiry was made of government officials regarding the necessity of so doing. The immigration department announces that its officers are in no way interfering with bona fide tourist traffic and that persons desirous of visiting points of interest in Canada or passing through Canada enroute to other places will be accorded the same courteous treatment as was customary before the outbreak of war and that passports are not required."

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Are Women Growing Masculine?

Are women gradually losing the softness of their sex and becoming more masculine as the years go by? Someone, I don't know who, propounds this question, and to that person and to all who have any doubt in the matter, I would say, no, women are not losing the softness that is natural to the sex or becoming masculine to any extent that we need begin to feel harm.

The woman of today, everywhere, is as wholesome, helpful and womanly as any that has gone before. Every period has had its freaks and absurdities, but they do not represent the real woman of any age, heaven be praised. And these freaks are surely numerous. Every section of the country has its type. We have the Western girl, the Southern girl and those from New York, and yes, the Boston girl. But with all their peculiarities and mannerisms they are women—sweet, soft and true, the best of them. No more were the women of the past generation.

Folks claim that the active part that women take in business life detracts from their femininity and spoils their charm. It is not true. A woman may lose something of her soft femininity who is engaged for several years in a professional or merchantile pursuit, but does she not gain enough to counter-balance that which she loses?

The most dependent woman gains some independence, and however these who take their comparisons from women feel about it, independence is a quality which is charming in woman, and, moreover, a necessary accomplishment to present day life. There are women, of course, who have the trait over-developed, but these are not in the majority, nor even of a number to make one fear the future.

As for women who earn their living—most of these women marry. Most men marry. Consequently this is true of women, though there is a great hue and cry to the contrary. Most women marry if they get the opportunity to marry for love. While they may not be as well versed in the art of coquetting with downcast eyes as were the maidens of the olden days, they know more about the value of a dollar and it is fortunate they do, oftentimes for themselves, their husbands and their children.

I am well aware that some of the soft, clinging wives of the long ago, with their sweet voices and gentle ways, made Spartan wives and mothers, and rose sublimely to every call of duty. So it has always been as far as true women are concerned. The soft and clinging characteristics were then and are now usually affectations and not the insignia of sterling womanhood.

Mothers' Day

Mother o' Mine

SUNDAY, May 9th, brings Mothers' Day. Custom has decreed to set apart this one day in the year in reverence of mother. For those who wish to observe the day in the fullest essence of its significance, we have arranged in our store a display of many gifts especially appropriate to mother's comfort and convenience.

Mother has for generations been the central figure—the moving spirit in the home. The memory of her ministrations between those four hallowed walls always will be with us. It is singularly fitting that our gifts at this time add to her happiness within the home that she has cherished.

Let us help you to remember the best mother who ever lived—your own. Our offerings range from the most inexpensive novelties to the most elaborate of homefurnishings. We most cordially invite your inspection.

WHAT "CLEAN-UP WEEK" MEANS.

Beginning Monday, Duluth will be in the throes of "Clean-up Week."

Which is also "Paint-up Week."

If the idea is carried out by the public as vigorously as the campaign for it is being carried on by the committee of public-spirited citizens that has charge of it, when the week is over Duluth will shine as it never shone before.

It is a fresh season—let's make it the occasion of a fresh start, with lawns and gardens and grounds and houses as spick and span as elbow grease can make them.

It's all in making a start. Neglect feeds upon itself, becomes habit, enslaves its victims. So tin-can heaps bloom where flower beds should, gaunt bare spots in the lawn take the place of green sward, and what might be made bright and sightly by a little work is made ugly by neglect.

It's a new season—let's make a new start.

"Clean-up Week," when "everybody's doing it," is the best possible time to make it.

How does the new janitor work?

GERMANY'S GALICIAN VICTORY.

Taking the report of a German-Austrian victory over the Russians in Galicia at its face value, as London seems inclined to do, it assumes rather important proportions.

In the first place, about the only spot where Germany was really threatened with serious invasion was through Silesia, toward which the Russian left wing has been forging ever since Przemyzl fell. Cracow was the next step, and if Russia had been able to take that point, an important invasion of Germany through Silesia would have been within the possibilities.

What is termed a "smashing defeat" has apparently been administered by German and Austrian troops to the Russian line that crosses Galicia (Austrian Poland) from north to south—the line that threatened Cracow, Breslau and even, ultimately, Berlin. If the victory is as sweeping as Berlin and Vienna report it, a decisive check has been administered to this movement, and the threat of a German invasion rendered remote indeed. Moreover, if the German-Austrian forces are able to follow up their victory in Galicia, they will be able to menace the right wing of the Russian armies that are seeking to invade Hungary through the Carpathian passes.

Germany has not succeeded in her original plan of taking Paris, establishing herself on the French coast opposite England, and swiftly turning to attack unprepared Russia with all her might. That campaign failed, largely because of the unexpectedly stubborn opposition of the Belgians, early in the war.

But on the other hand the allies are having all they can do to hold the Teuton forces along the two vast battle fronts, one extending from Flanders south to Switzerland, the other from the Carpathians north to the Baltic.

All of which simply shows that never before in the nine months of the war has the end of it all seemed so far away as it does today.

At least THE Colonel must admit that he didn't amount to much when it came to reforming the politicians.

A STATE'S NAME AT STAKE.

Certain Illinois papers are urging the legislature to enact some sort of laws providing for competent supervision over private banks in that state. It appears that bills to that end have been introduced during the present session, but have been allowed to disappear in committee, whence it is said there seems little indication of their escaping.

It is one of the oddities of the legislative nature that bills of this kind are allowed to die of neglect. In this case it is hardly going too far to say that the good reputation of Illinois is somewhat at stake, for if any state ever suffered in reputation as the result of concerns within its borders, Illinois has suffered as a result of her private banks.

To judge from the past, it would seem as if there is nothing to prevent any person who wishes to do so from putting up a sign saying that he is conducting a bank, and on the strength of that sign taking money from anybody who will bring it to him, and doing what he pleases with it, so long as he doesn't happen to get caught.

Absolute lack of adequate supervision seems to be the distinguishing feature of the private banking business in Illinois, and that characteristic has led to many and marvelous complications. And yet, when the way seems clear to remedy the trouble, the legislature goes to sleep on that subject. Legislatures are most peculiar things.

Having adopted the non-partisan plan in state affairs, California will at least hope to avoid earthquakes of the political kind.

A PITIFUL QUIBBLE.

If the News Tribune wishes to evade its obligations by an abject quibble, that's it's business.

If it thinks more of hanging on to that $500 it now owes the Orphans than it does of keeping its self-respect, THAT'S it's business, too.

Nobody, we fear, will be much surprised.

In December The Herald published its regular monthly sworn circulation statement, showing average actual paid daily sales of 30,887.

The News Tribune challenged the correctness of this figure, and volunteered to pay $500 to any charity The Herald might name if examination by the Audit Bureau of Circulations proved it to be correct.

The Herald accepted the challenge very gladly, designated that the $500 should be divided between the Children's Home and St. James's Orphanage, and bade the News Tribune bring on the auditors of the Audit Bureau, of which both newspapers are members.

The auditors have been here. They have audited the circulations of both newspapers. Monday evening The Herald published, in fac simile, the full report on its circulation. This report showed that the average daily paid circulation of The Herald for October, November and December—which is as far as the Audit Bureau of Circulations can go into detail under its rules—was 30,946. The Herald claimed 30,887 for November. To any but a quibbler, dropping self-respect to clutch at a piece of money, this is proof sufficient ten times over that the challenged statement of November last was correct to the dot.

On December 9 last The Herald published this editorial, closing for the time the controversy begun by the morning paper's challenge:

We have invited the morning paper to bring here a representative of the Audit Bureau of Circulations immediately, the quicker the better. IT HAS AGREED TO DO SO. In any event, the Audit Bureau of Circulations will have its representatives in Duluth presently to audit the circulations of both papers. When that happens, The Herald will make public the detailed report on its circulation.

WE PREDICT—

THAT THE MORNING PAPER WILL NOT PUBLISH THE REPORT ON THE HERALD'S CIRCULATION;

THAT IT WILL NOT PUBLISH THE REPORT ON ITS OWN CIRCULATION; AND

THAT IT WILL NOT PAY THE $500 WHICH WILL THEN BE DUE TO THE CHILDREN'S HOME AND ST. JAMES'S ORPHANAGE.

These predictions have been fulfilled to the letter.

Moreover, the morning paper never requested the Audit Bureau of Circulations to come to Duluth, either to investigate The Herald's November statement or to make the formal audit of the circulation of EITHER paper.

The representatives of the Audit Bureau came to Duluth at the urgent request of The Herald, and the Bureau never has had a communication of any kind from the News Tribune relating to this matter in any way whatever.

If the News Tribune can afford to let it go at that, certainly The Herald can.

Almost time to dust off those vases you like to put wild flowers into.

COMMISSIONER FARRELL TALKS SENSE.

Elsewhere in The Herald tonight is a statement from Commissioner Bert Farrell, submitting a tentative plan for the standardization of street paving.

This is a subject of the highest importance, and deserves the most thorough and careful consideration on the part of the public. What Mr. Farrell says about it is intelligent, and seems sound. Possibly his plan in all its details is not finally perfect, but certainly it affords a good working basis for discussion.

The policy of the past in choosing pavements has not, to say the least, been a thorough success. It is hardly going too far to say that it has been a pretty sorry failure. The tendency has been too much toward the cheapest pavements, and Mr. Farrell makes a very strong case for the assertion that to choose cheap pavements is, in the long run, atrocious extravagance.

Mr. Farrell would divide all thoroughfares into three classes according to the prospective volume of traffic, and would limit the selection in each class to materials that will take care of the expected traffic. For the streets likely to have heavy traffic, perhaps the most important feature of his suggestions is that a sufficiently solid base be provided; and that comes pretty near being the whole thing in paving.

That non-slippery pavements should be used wherever the grade is steep should almost go without saying.

Space will not at this time permit a thorough discussion of Mr. Farrell's proposals. They are important, and they go to the heart of an important subject. Money has been wasted in pavements in Duluth, and if there is any possible way to arrange it so that future paving work shall be business-like, systematic and efficient, by all means that arrangement ought to be made. The proposals are now open for discussion, and the discussion should be as wide and thorough as possible.

Turkey can consistently claim to have taken the lead in the abolition of booze in the army.

Nine Months of the War

Editorial in the Springfield Republican.

When the great conflict began nine months ago the world was still obsessed with the idea that modern wars are inevitably short. That was one of the stock defenses of "preparedness." Some militarists were still saying that preparedness averts war, while those who could not go so far were content to argue that preparedness on both sides is sound economy, because it makes wars cheap and decisive. The amateurish protraction of our civil war was contrasted with the swift efficiency of Prussia's victory in the seven-weeks war with Austria and the equally rapid overthrow of Napoleon III. in 1870. During the weeks following the German invasion of Luxemburg on Aug. 2 much comment, professional as well as amateurish, was governed by this fixed idea. Those who believed the German arms irresistible looked for the capture of Paris in three weeks, and a speedy settlement with France, after which the full force of the war machine would be turned on Russia's unwieldy legions. On the other side, those who overrated the commercial factor believed that Germany would collapse like a pricked bubble when its trade was destroyed and that hungry mobs in Berlin and Vienna would compel the Teutonic governments to sue for peace.

Extravagant as these forecasts now appear, they are not wholly unreasonable if judged by the fallacious teaching current in recent years. The average person knows a good many things about war now which even experts did not know with certainty last August, as their conflicting forecasts made sufficiently plain even then. In reckoning on a short war they attached much importance to the strengthening of the offensive by improved artillery and by rapid transport, enabling a bold forward movement to be pressed with extreme rapidity. How much force there was in this contention appeared from the extraordinary energy and speed with which the German flanking movement through Belgium and toward Paris was pressed. But this theory failed to take account of several things, including the fact that under certain conditions the defense might profit even more by these changes. Few last August looked forward to a dreary deadlock of trench warfare.

The theory that modern wars must be short and decisive, while based on actual experience, failed to take account of the new elements involved in a war between coalitions; whatever the experience of single nations, there was really little ground for assuming that one great alliance would swiftly overwhelm another. Such an expansion greatly increases the vicissitudes of war; each side has its strong spots and its weak, and a gain at one point may be offset by a loss hundreds of miles away. Such a seesaw of forces being once set up, both sides are given time to complete their arrangements, so that initial preparedness loses much of its virtue. Those who still cling to the discredited theory have put the blame for the protraction of the war upon England—if she had been armed like Germany or France, the war would soon have been ended. But this is overlooking the obvious consideration that if England had been armed like Germany or France this war would not have been fought at all on the present lines; it is quite as likely that in such a case it would have been England and not Germany that had a great hostile coalition to face.

But if many military experts have gone astray, many political and economic experts have erred not less egregiously. Economists who had believed that the prohibitive cost of modern warfare made the much-talked-of general war impossible, naturally assumed when war had undeniably broken out, that it must be short because Europe could not afford a long war. The mistake lay in failing to consider that Europe might do what it could not afford to do, that economic prudence might yield to the mania of fighting and destroying. Moreover, economists trained in the school of peace overlooked the powerful economic resources which under stress of war a strong and efficient government like that of Germany might develop. These untapped economic resources of militarism have gone far to offset the slowly developing military resources of an unmilitary country like England, and while the one tends to protract the fighting the other tends to protract economic endurance. Together they work for a long war to a degree which few thought possible last August.

With the advent of May rather too much stress has been put upon the reported remark of Lord Kitchener some months ago that so far as England was concerned the war would begin in May. The saying is of doubtful authenticity, and if authentic is not to be taken literally. After taking so much pains to keep the size and conditions of his army a secret, the British war secretary was not very likely to make the Germans a present of such a valuable piece of information as the date when a forward campaign was to begin. As a matter of fact, the fighting since spring opened has not in the least suggested any such sudden advance by the allies in the west. That at last they have been able on the whole to put superior forces in the field, including supplies as well as men, has been shown by their increased aggressiveness, revealed not only in their own, but in German bulletins. Yet the results have been meager, and in part offset by counter-gains made by the Germans as at Ypres, where a powerful concentration made possible a local success quite comparable to that achieved by the British in a similar fashion at Neuve Chapelle.

Such local successes, slightly modifying the contours of the lines, but gaining little territory and not menacing an army with destruction, will never end the war; exhaustion on one side or on both sides would come before either army could be disposed of by such a tedious and costly siege warfare, minus the exclusion of supplies and reinforcements which gives a besieger an advantage. Nine months of warfare have but demonstrated the more clearly that to drive the Germans back to the Rhine will not be so simple a matter as many had supposed; even with greatly superior forces it would be a very slow and costly affair, and the allies would lose much more heavily than the Germans.

May therefore has brought no radical change in the situation, despite the influx of the new British troops. For the possibility of a sudden change we must look to outside factors. If the allies should force their way to the Black sea; if Russia should be greatly strengthened by supplies from outside and the revival of its foreign trade; if Turkey should collapse; if Italy and the Balkan states should take part; such a disturbance of the balance might be created that Germany and Austria would be compelled to make the best terms they could. Yet all these things are extremely problematical, and at present it would be rash to look to a decisive victory for either side for the speedy restoration of peace.

Yet peace is in the air, intangibly but none the less really. Neither side dare make overtures, for that would be a confession of weakness, yet on both sides the appalling magnitude of the task is being slowly appreciated. It is necessary to consider that whoever may have wanted war, nobody in either camp wanted this war—it was a wholly different sort of a war that obsessed the minds of the fire-eaters. Those who expected a speedy triumph have seen their mistake, those who merely lusted for fighting have had their fill; Europe has had war enough for this generation. As for the nations at large, is it now fear rather than desire for war which stands in the way of peace—fear that peace now would be but a truce followed by a dangerous attack. If a way could be found to arrange an honorable and lasting peace, on terms honorable to all, Europe would drop its arms tomorrow. To negotiate such a peace, or even to take the first step is the great difficulty; the chances are that the war must drag on drearily till the burdens become too great to be longer borne. The sooner the growing sense of the disastrous futility of a "war to the finish" finds effective expression, the better for Europe and for the world. Nine months have put into the background the duty of any nation to teach a moral lesson by crushing another; the great moral lesson needed now is a magnanimous peace.

"If You Please"

Philadelphia Public Ledger: The Pennsylvania railroad proposes to start a school of manners. "Courtesy meetings" are to be held, to teach those who come in contact with the public in whatever capacity that it pays to be polite.

Employes of a transportation company, dealing with people in a hurry, are subject to about every irritating vagary of the human temperament. Ticket sellers, information bureau clerks, baggage masters, telephone operators, porters and other attendants stand on the firing line and are exposed to a continuous fusillade from people whose wits are temporarily in abeyance to the time table, the missing trunk or the defunct commutation ticket. They get all the "fool questions" there are. But they must display an invariable civility toward crank and freak, the just and the unjust. With soft answers they must avert the wrath of him in whose face the train gate is closed. They must not lose patience with the man or woman who holds up the fuming line at the window by indecision.

In every kind of business today the inculcation of courtesy is part of the office discipline. To market your wares in the teeth of keen competition is to be gracious to customers one by one. Difficult as it is to do so, the public must be individualized. Each man must be made to feel that his custom is wanted, that the sidewalk is swept and the door is opened and the salesman stands expectant and the goods are on the shelves just for him. He—and not just his pocketbook—must be made welcome. The deep-rooted hostility to the tipping system rests largely on the surly incivility of many recipients who accept small gratuities in contemptuous silence.

"Thank you" is easy to say, and the result is likely to be out of all proportion to the trouble taken. Lawyers, doctors, bankers, architects, who would win new clients are not ashamed to be civil. In every kind of trade "Please" and "Thank you" have entered into a successful partnership. The costliest mistake in any business is to hire and retain rude underlings because they are cheap. They repel customers. They spell ruin for their employer and defeat their own prospects of promotion. Every other personal habit is inexpensive compared with chronic discourtesy.

A Voice for Potatoes.

Buffalo Express: Most persons in this country have pitied the men and women on the continent of Europe who are compelled to eat bread made wholly or partly of potato flour. Yet here come experts of the home economics department of Cornell telling us that potatoes and meat may be a better food combination than bread and meat.

These experts declare that there is good reason for favoring potatoes. Meat, eggs and cereals, they say, contain mineral elements which give an excess of acids, while vegetables, fruit and milk have an excess of bases that neutralize the acid. Meat produces an excess of acid, and the food that accompanies it should, therefore, give an excess of alkali. Rice, bread, macaroni and corn meal produce acid, and so do not fill the need. But potatoes are the natural accompaniment of meat, because they produce bases. "Most persons," according to these experts, "should make it a point to eat more potatoes than they are now consuming."

Her Error.

Boston Transcript: Male Straphanger—Madam, you are standing on my foot.

"Of course, you expect to share in it," chirped the sweet young thing.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

From Diary:

The rising generation of Mormons today impress one with nothing so much as their close similarity to other people. They will buy a dinner, crack a joke—even a joke based on polygamy—and behave in every way like anybody else. It seems to be a standing joke to the younger Mormons, and to other residents of Salt Lake City as well, that the visitor comes expecting to find every other male citizens with a clump of wives to his credit.

Amateur jesters when about to sign a hotel register in Salt Lake City almost invariably make some laughing remark to the effect that they will need only one room as they have only one wife along. Then the clerk forces a smile and observes:

"You have it easy. All three of mine insist on going with me when I travel."

Even the lecturer on the sightseeing wagon will have his joke. He points to a home and says:

"There is the dwelling place of Mr. Taylor, one of our most prominent citizens. He has buried thirty wives."

Everybody gasps and the lecturer continues: "Doubtless he will bury a great many more, for he is our leading undertaker."

The Mormons have a clever scheme for getting their people to church—a scheme that it is a wonder other denominations do not adopt. Instead of exhorting people to go to church, they make it difficult to get in, or at least into one branch of the church. They have their tabernacle and also a temple; anybody can attend the services in the tabernacle, but to get into the temple one must be vouched for as a very good Mormon. One may not even peek into the temple. It is guarded the same as the lodge room of a secret order. The consequence of all this is that people get their curiosity aroused and determine to see what the temple looks like on the inside. Scores of Mormons lead exemplary lives just for the satisfaction of being permitted to enter the temple when they see fit. Imagine living in a town and having to pass day after day a building that you are not allowed to enter. I presume a lot of people in Salt Lake City join the Mormon church and behave themselves for a long time just to acquire the good standing necessary to enter the temple and satisfy their curiosity.

Many business men, I am told, become Mormons after taking up their residence in Salt Lake City simply because it is good policy to do so—just as a Republican becomes a Democrat when he moves to the sunny South.

Salt Lake City has the longest city blocks, I reckon, to be found in the entire country. When a native in Salt Lake City tells a visitor a place is only three or four blocks away he chuckles to himself afterward. Even if a place is only one block away the person who wishes to conserve his strength will be wise to call a taxicab.

* * *

In Reno, Nev., the other night, I asked a bystander at the station how the people awaiting divorces put in their time. Promptly he replied:

"Going to Los Angeles and San Francisco mostly."

Reno is another town set in the desert. The sight of the mountains in the distance saves the surroundings, however, from utter desolation. Even at that, it seemed to me as I looked about me that regardless of how much my wife might annoy or harass me, I would try to cheer her up and make her do, rather than spend a long period in Reno in order to effect a change.

Typewriter or Kitchen

Frances Frear in Leslie's: Why should girls think it a noble thing to pound a typewriter in an office, and a disgraceful thing to prepare wholesome meals in somebody else's kitchen? Some time ago I called attention to the advantage of domestic service for girls, as compared with the profession of stenography, already overcrowded with girls of limited intellectual resources who can never hope to rise above a weekly wage of from $6 to $8. Prompted by this a young lady in a Western bank, who has also had experience in domestic service, writes a strong letter of commendation of the housemaid's work, as compared with stenography. Several seasons, while attending high school, she worked as waitress in large hotels. The work was not hard, the hours were not long and the month's wages were clear savings. "My summers at Glenwood and in Yellowstone park," she writes, "were not only real vacations, but money-saving trips as well." Later she took a position as stenographer with the expectation that she would be able to save money to continue her education along certain lines, but she has found it takes about all her wages to keep up a good appearance, with the result that the dream of college is fading away. However much women may enter into business, the principal work of women will always be in the home. Cooking and cleaning and all the routine of housekeeping, which are considered perfectly honorable if done in one's own home, do not become discreditable or servile when performed in some one else's home for wages. Every girl should be trained in housekeeping, and be willing, if necessary, to make her living that way.

The Straw Hat!

In this aggressive era of inventions and appliances,
We indulge in innovations which amount to calm defiances.
Where once the prohibition wave was spoken of as trivial
We turn to sweetened water as a beverage convivial.
No more we scan the calendar or look at a chronometer
To regulate our clothes. We now consider the thermometer.
We do not shout of liberty in long and lusty platitude;
We let the old straw hat define our calm and fearless attitude.
When he hails once more the blooming of wildflower or geranium
He takes his old straw hat and sticks it squarely on his cranium.
To fashion he no longer gives his efforts analytical,
Nor heeds the village clown who offers observations critical.
He throws away suspenders, since a belt is quite reliable
And turns his neck at ease behind a collar soft and pliable.
In spite of caps and feathers and insignia historical,
That old straw hat of freedom is the emblem allegorical!

Logic Irrefutable.

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Speaking of Its Morals, Yes.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Duluth Herald, after watching the jitney buses swing around corners on two wheels, with passengers hanging onto the sideboards, says they are dangerous and should be regulated. Careful driving is certainly necessary in the Zenith City, which is constructed on the up-and-down plan.

Good Profanity to Chews.

Stillwater Gazette: Profanity indulged in by The Duluth Herald: Yucatan seems to be quite a place, by gum.

Healthful Minnesota.

Gonvick Banner: According to The Duluth Herald, and it seldom quotes misleading statements, there are twenty towns and villages in St. Louis county in which not a single death occurred during 1914. That's a healthful record, isn't it? Also convincing proof that Northern Minnesota is a region with a climate that spells vigor and health.

May Have Been His First Chance.

Little Falls Transcript: The Duluth Herald tells of a man in that city who, being sued by his wife for divorce, "assumes a threatening attitude." Oh, say not "assumes," brother; say rather "continues."

Two Good Points.

St. Cloud Times: The Duluth Herald asks: "Are men growing wiser?" Of course they are in St. Cloud and Duluth, but over the ocean they are certainly growing—bughouse.

It Is Arriving Here.

Stillwater Gazette: Telegrams from various parts of the country would indicate that prosperity was on its way. In Chicago thousands of men have returned to work; the same is true in Wisconsin and at Duluth the big steel works are again to be busy. Let the good work go on.

Hits the Point.

Bandette Region: The Duluth Herald had a splendid article on "Booze" the other day. Telling men that they shall not drink is not the best way to promote temperance. Convincing them that they should not drink is the right way to go about it. More men have seats on the water wagon because they believe liquor is bad for them than for any other reason.

The dawn is coming through the half-closed shutters;
The sun of one frail life is going down.
Where weariness and pain have left their pallor,
The sweetness of a life has left its crown.
And simply as a child would tell its story,
A pure face holds the record of the years;
While through the golden sunlight of the morning,
All silently the shade of death appears.
Ah, watchers! seek the rest that now awaits you;
Ah, sunbeams! come not where such light is found.
Tread softly, for the morn of life is breaking;
The ground on which you stand is holy ground.

EARLY SEEDING HAS GIVEN GOOD RESULTS

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have been favored by the finest spring weather for seeding thus far this spring that I have ever seen in Northern Minnesota, this being my thirty-third in Northern St. Louis county. We have great hopes of a bumper crop of wheat, oats and barley. The soil worked fine, the weather has been spring like and warm, no heavy rains just light showers and the wheat and oats are beginning to show green over the fields. Pastures in this locality are three weeks ahead of last year. We turned out to pasture on the 29th of April and we find our cows have gained 10 per cent in their milk and eat half less feed in the barn. Who dare say that we are within the frigid zone. I don't agree with Fred Goodell of Sturgeon township, where he says he considered "seed sown three weeks from now will do just as well as that sown earlier in the spring." My experience has been that the early sown grain has produced the most bushels per acre and the best grade. In 1860 we began sowing wheat in what was then called Northern Wisconsin, near Oshkosh on St. Patrick's day or March 17, and most of the wheat in that locality was sown in March that year and the crop of that year in that locality ranged from 30 to 50 bushels of wheat to the acre. My father had one field of four acres threshed by itself and it measured up 204 bushels machine measure. In 1863 in the same locality but on another farm (for we were renters then) we seeded before the frost was out to the depth of four inches and the harrow teeth were worn sharp by being pulled in one direction and the result of early seeding was apparent by a heavy yield of grain. So I say, don't wait for the frost, if other conditions are favorable. This spring we had very little rain during April. Drying winds and sunshine dried the surface of the plowed fields while the frost was still only from 4 to 6 inches below the surface, so with the soil finely pulverized by the winter freezing and then thoroughly prepared, grain sown under those conditions will stand any drouth that may follow later during the growing season. This mode of cultivation applies especially to our heavy clay soils. Much land is being cleared in the vicinity of Cook this spring. Besides the homesteaders each adding a few acres to his clearing we have four different parties—men of wealth that have cast their lot with us and are clearing from 50 to 100 acres each; some by contract and some by the month with a regular organized crew of forty to fifty men, teams and outfit. Next to our good soil our splendid roads are also a great drawing card and it is a fair prediction to say that the days of cheap land in the Little Fork valley and its tributaries will soon be a thing of the past.

STRONG MAN NEEDED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Owing to the resignation of Chauncey Troyer, Duluth's chief of police, a successor will shortly be appointed. All law abiding citizens of this city wish to see a good man chosen to fill that most important position, and one not addicted to the use of intoxicants. A temperate man should be selected, liberal in his views, good and strong morally and physically, and with the backbone necessary to see that the laws are impartially enforced irrespective of the vocation, position or nationality of offenders. I trust a man of this caliber will be chosen to succeed Chauncey Troyer. Yours truly,

CITIZEN.

"STOPPING PAYMENT" INVOLVES SOME EXPENSE

To the Editor of The Herald:

There is a practice on the part of the banks, of which I have recently fallen a victim, that to me looks radically wrong. I recently wrote a check on my account at one of the local banks. A few days afterward, because of some doubt regarding the person to whom I gave it, I requested the bank to refuse payment, so as to be on the safe side. Later on the check was actually presented for payment and payment was refused. Now I had supposed this was a matter the banks would take care of for me. The bank employes gave me no intimation that expense was connected with it. To my surprise, however, I am now informed that the stopping of payment on this check, which was for $16, will cost me over $3.

In this proceeding, so far as I can learn, the banks were put to very little trouble or expense. So far as I can learn mighty little was done to earn the $3. Protest against the exorbitant charge appears to avail nothing. One banker tells me I am supposed to know all about the banking laws. Another says it is a matter of paying for one's experience. Of course, it may be difficult to convince a bank official that $3 is an important item, but all people do not look at the matter in that way. I have investigated as thoroughly as possible and am convinced I was the victim of an outrageous system. Very truly, "THE VICTIM."

FARRELL SEEKS PERMANENT SOLUTION OF THE PAVING PROBLEMS ARISING YEARLY

Would Standardize All Pavements Laid in Duluth in Future.

Streets to Be Divided Into Three Classes Based on Traffic.

Discusses Reasons for Paving Failures and How to Prevent Them.

Standard pavements for Duluth business streets, residence districts and outlying districts are proposed by Commissioner James A. Farrell, head of the public works division.

In a statement which Mr. Farrell prepared at the request of The Herald, he gives a history of pavements laid in Duluth, an account of the various streets of the city, showing how the peculiar topography makes absolutely necessary certain materials for the pavements, and the co-operation of the public needed to make such a program a success. Mr. Farrell asks for the support of the city in his move to standardize the pavements.

The commissioner's program of standard pavements includes a division of the entire city into three classes. These are class A, including streets, avenues and alleys having the heaviest traffic; class B, streets, avenues and alleys having a medium traffic, and class C, streets, avenues, alleys and roadways having light traffic. Class A pavements will be brick, creosote blocks or stone blocks; class B, of bitulithic, crushed rock, concrete or bricks, and class C streets will be merely graded and surfaced, as is desired by the owners and agreed upon by the council. No pavements will be ordered on class C streets, he states, unless the owners petition for them.

Commissioner Farrell's statement follows:

A Little History.

"One of the most important duties of the commissioner of public works is to attend to the matter of paving our streets, avenues and alleys. This should be one of the pleasantest of the tasks assigned to the public works commissioner, since the neat and sightly appearance, the smooth and clean looks of well-paved thoroughfares make an appeal to civic pride, which ought to make the subject of paving one of those on which hearty agreement ad co-operation between the public and the department can at all times be depended upon. Our experience in Duluth has not, however, shown this to be the case; and, indeed, of all the duties falling to the lot of the public works department, that of paving our streets has in the past been the most prolific of trouble.

"In no city outside of Washington that I know of have the people ever been known to be satisfied with the pavements. I know I can pave the streets of our city as they should be paved, if I have the assistance and forbearance of the citizens of Duluth whose interests I am to serve. Their assistance is absolutely necessary to the carrying out of my policy in paving work, and their forbearance is bespoken because I know that some of the things I am about to say will not meet with unanimous approval; but I hope to overcome this by showing the conditions we are now laboring under, as I see them. It will be freely admitted that well-paved and neat-appearing streets are one of the best assets a city can possess. A good appearance is inseparable from easy riding and smooth and lasting qualities in a pavement, although a poorly constructed pavement made from materials unsuitable to the traffic to be imposed on it may look neat, clean and durable for a short time while it is new. This appearance is not lasting, and such a pavement soon shows the unmistakable signs of being inadequate to carry the burden, and the originally smooth surface becomes broken or ravelled, creating a bad impression to the eye, and travel over its surface almost impossible. On the other hand, a pavement which has been properly selected, made from materials strong enough to withstand the shocks of the traffic

JAMES A. FARRELL,
Commissioner of Public Works.

coming upon it, as well as the disturbing effects of our climatic conditions without failure, will keep its qualities of smooth surface and easy traction throughout its full wearing period. Pavements in Duluth have in almost every instance been selected by the property owners paying for the improvement.

Advantages and Disadvantages.

"This system has one temporary advantage and many permanent disadvantages. The temporary advantage is that a majority of the property represented gets what it thinks (at the time of making the selection) it wants. Some of the disadvantages of this method of pavement selection are that the persons representing the abutting property have no expert knowledge of the qualities of different varieties of pavements or paving materials or of the method of laying pavements, or of the requirements of the street in the matters of strength of road surface necessary to withstand the traffic brought on to it, or of the suitability of material to prevent horses slipping and rubber tires skidding; nor do they know the draft necessary to haul loads on different grades covered with various wearing surfaces, nor the effects of the wash of heavy rain storms on pavements, nor the effect of a frosted or icy condition, nor the comparative noisiness, dustiness or muddiness, or ease or difficulty of cleaning different kinds of pavement.

"Of course, by far the most prolific cause of the selection of unsuitable pavements arises from the honest misapprehension of the property of the qualities and attributes of different kinds of pavements. Climatic conditions may make a pavement suitable in one town and unsuitable in another. Good conditions may render a pavement useless in one street which is the one proper pavement for another. Then again local conditions of material may make a pavement prohibitively expensive in one part of the same town, while it may be built cheaply in another.

Proofs in Duluth.

"It is not necessary to seek instances of this statement further afield than our own town, where precisely the same kind of pavement laid under precisely the same specifications and supervision has often cost 50 per cent more in one locality than in another. Ever since Duluth secured its first city charter there have been pavements laid which proved unsatisfactory, smooth surfaces, which caused horses to slip and automobile tires to skid, were laid on avenues and streets which should have been covered with a non-slip roadway surface. Many of our pavements have not stood up under the ordinary traffic which came upon them and which wore out in an unduly short space of time. Moreover the failure of a pavement occurred from any cause whatever invariably the engineering or public works department has been blamed for it. It is now proper at this point to state that no investigation of the public works or engineering department of the city of Duluth has ever disclosed anything which succeeded for, or even threw any light on the nature of street pavement failures. These investigators after finding nothing that was not perfectly well known to everybody i. e. that certain streets were in bad condition, but recognizing that something was expected by the public as a result of their labors would always give the advice that the 'inspection of the construction of pavements should be improved.'

Cause of Failures.

"I am convinced—and I speak with the knowledge obtained in twenty years service in the public works department of the city of Duluth—that the responsibility for all street pavement failures in Duluth cannot be laid at the door of the public works department and that at least some of it should be assumed by the persons who dictate what pavements shall be used. However, I hold no brief for either side of the controversy, all I wish to do is to give Duluth proper pavement, and a recognition of all the factors entering into the discussion is essential to a full appreciation of the subject. Also I want support from the public bodies of the city and do not want to say anything which might offend anyone.

Failure of Cheap Pavements.

"A study of the paving question in our city shows two very significant things which are that all failures of pavements in our city have been confined to cheap or low-priced pavements. The second thing is that since 1897 no high-priced pavement has had to be renewed. High-priced pavements are those costing over $2 per square yard. Low-priced pavements are those costing less than $2.00 per square yard. Almost all, if not all of the examples we have had of pavements not standing up under the wear of traffic have been in pavements which cost less than $1.50 per square yard. Bear in mind that the supervision given to both the high and the low-priced pavements by the engineering department has been identically the same, that it has been done by the same inspectors and that the high-priced pavements have given satisfaction, while the low-priced pavements have worn out.

Unsportsmanlike Stand.

"The engineering department has always strenuously protested against what it designated as the unfairness and unsportsmanlike attitude of the public, who insisted upon dictating what materials should be used in paving, and did so frequently, despite the advice and protest of the engineering department, and who when failure followed the laying of the material which it had insisted should be laid, fastened all the responsibility for such failure on the department.

The Streets Are Wrong.

"Whoever may be right in this discussion, I know the streets are wrong. I know from my own personal experience in the engineering department that the best efforts of the department were used in the attempt to get good results in paving as only good results could reflect credit, whereas poor results always called forth criticism, which was unpleasant for all concerned. Knowing all these things as I have narrated them to you, would not a fair minded judge be inclined to think that there might be some truth in the engineer's contention that the selection of the pavements was at least partially, if not wholly, accountable for their failure. Having stated as fairly as I can the present status of the paving problem in Duluth, I believe you will agree with me that if another method, based on more practical grounds than those now in use, could be substituted for our present system of selecting pavements for our thoroughfares, it would be a step in advance and would do away with a great part of the troubles of the public works department, by giving satisfactory street surfaces in the future.

Proposed Plan.

"The plan I propose is as follows: A census of the traffic being taken on all the principal streets and avenues of a city, pavements are ordered laid when petitioned for, of materials the wear resisting value of which are known to be sufficient to take care of the traffic for a period of years. In following this method of pavement selection, of course it will be necessary to estimate the intensity of the traffic on all streets where pavements are to be laid, during the estimated life of the pavement, but the traffic census will greatly assist in making an approximately true determination on this point. Other factors as well as the present traffic will also enter into the consideration of the probable traffic in each case, as for instance, if the street is so situated as to be likely to become a main artery of travel between two centers of population, thereby increasing the traffic thereon, whether large industries are likely to be built along its route, the grades to which in our city will often limit the pavements to be used, etc. In this connection also, it is not out of place to draw attention to the fact that a new paving always attracts traffic from other and parallel routes by reason of the ease of traction insured by its smoothness.

East Superior Street.

"The tar macadam pavement on East Superior street between Sixteenth and Twentieth avenues east was planned in 1903. The exodus of every one who could afford to move into the East end began in 1904, the same year that the East Superior street paving was completed, which added greatly to the volume of travel on that pavement, the consequence being that the pavement crust broke down under the enormous loads of building and other materials which were added to the already increased travel, caused by the additional population tributary to it. For the same reason Twenty-third avenue east was ruined and had to be recoated with pea stone and tar in 1908. But Seventeenth avenue east which was laid in the same year as Superior street and Twenty-third avenue east, by the same contractor and constructed of precisely the same materials as the other two pavements, is still with us in good condition and has never cost anything for repairs. Why? Because the traffic has not increased at all on Seventeenth avenue.

"If brick, stone blocks, creosote blocks or Trinidad Lake asphalt had been used on East Superior street and Twenty-third avenue east, these pavements would have been perfectly good today, and one could ride over them without dislocating one's spine. There is only one bad feature about good pavements,' and that is their price, which is, generally speaking, about twice that of poor pavements.

"Saying that a good pavement costs twice as much as a poor pavement, then it should wear twice as long and keep its surface in good condition for travel for twice the time that a poor pavement would keep smooth. It will do very much better than this under the same conditions of traffic; it will last three times as long as a pavement costing half its price and its surface will remain in good condition to within a very short time of its ultimate collapse, and like other expensive things, it will look its price up to the last.

Low Priced Pavements.

"An examination of the pavements which have been laid in Duluth in the past, shows that the tendency of the taxpayers has been constantly towards the lowest priced pavements, even when paving business streets, and this tendency has not always, but certainly sometimes, resulted in great inconvenience to travel and great expense to the city at large. In this connection I may mention the West Superior street tar macadam which cost $1.14 per square yard, which commenced to rut almost as soon as it was laid, and which was repeatedly repaired by the city at the general expense; ultimately the whole paving had to be replaced by brick, one-half of the cost of which was paid for out of the general fund of the city. There is no doubt that had this street been paved with brick or stone blocks as was recommended by the public works department at the time the taxpayers selected tar macadam, the pavement would now, after eight years use, be in as good condition as to ease of traction as the newly laid pavement is, and it would have been in that condition during all of the eight years since the tar macadam contract was completed. I mention the above to show how very expensive the cheap pavement may be. The city would have been ahead all the cost of all the repairs made on West Superior street (and a full one-half of the street was re-surfaced by the city) had it paid one-half the cost of a brick pavement at the time the tar macadam was laid, without mentioning the ease of riding over a smooth surface for eight years instead of a bumpy one, or the good advertisement a sightly street surface makes.

Three Classes Proposed.

"The plan I propose is:

"Hereafter all streets, avenues and alleys in the city shall be placed in one of three classes.

Class A. Streets, avenues and alleys having the heaviest traffic.

Class B. Streets, avenues and alleys having a medium traffic.

Class C. Streets, avenues, alleys and roadways having slight traffic.

"Streets, avenues and alleys which show a vehicle count of a certain number of vehicles per twenty-four hours will be designated at Class A.

"Streets, avenues and alleys in Class A shall hereafter be paved with only the following materials: First, Brick on 7-inch concrete base, 2-inch sand cushion, asphalt or 1 to 1 grout filler. Creosote blocks 4 inch, 16 pound process on 7-inch concrete base with bituminous filler. Stone blocks on 7-inch concrete base, 1 to 1 grout filler, Trinidad Lake asphalt 2-inch wearing surface on 1½-inch binder coat on 7-inch concrete base.

"The life of any street pavement which is estimated to be, under the traffic above stated, sixteen years, and the City of Duluth will maintain all pavements on Class A streets for that period, but the common council of the city shall have the right to order an entirely new pavement or a re-surfacement with new material selected from the list of materials called for, for Class A streets, of the concrete of the original pavement at any time after the expiration of sixteen years from the time of the completion of the construction of the pavement, and must order such resurfacement or new pavement as soon as the sum of the cost of maintenance charges amounts to 25 per cent of the original cost of the pavement. A further limitation of the selection of paving materials from the above list of Class A pavement to those of a non-slippery character will be made by the common council on streets, avenues and alleys having a grade of more than 4 per cent.

Class B Pavements.

"Streets, avenues and alleys in Class B which show a vehicle count yet to be determined, and weight of wheel loads of a fixed amount, or which show a greater number of vehicles and less weight of wheel loads, or which show a greater weight of wheel loads and less number of vehicles than the stated number, will be designated at Class B.

"Streets, avenues and alleys shall hereafter be paved with only the following materials: Bitulithic 2-inch wearing surface on 5-inch concrete base. Crushed rock concrete seven inches or more in thickness on 3-inch sand cushion either reinforced or the cost of this reinforcement expended on additional thickness of the pavement sheet, with adequate joint protection. Brick laid with largest side uppermost on a 2-inch sand cushion on 5-inch concrete base with bituminous joints.

"The life of any of these pavements is estimated to be, under the traffic above stated, eight years, and the city of Duluth will maintain all pavements on Class B streets for that period, but the common council of the city shall have the right to order an entirely new pavement or a resurfacement with new material selected from the list of materials called for, for Class B streets, avenues and alleys of the base of the original pavement at any time after the expiration of eight years from the time of the completion of the construction of the pavement, and must order such reinforcement or new pavement as soon as the sum of the cost of maintenance charges amounts to 25 per cent of the original cost of the pavement. A further limitation of the selection of paving materials from the above list of Class B pavements to those of a non-slippery character will be made by the common council on streets, avenues and alleys having a grade of more than 4 per cent.

Class C Pavements.

"All streets, avenues and alleys which show less traffic either in number of vehicles or weight of wheel loads than those called for by Class B streets shall be deemed to be of Class C, and their wearing surfaces shall not be classed as pavements, but as road surfaces, and they may be surfaced with any material selected by the abutting property owners and consented to by the common council. The common council will maintain the road surfaces in good order during the life of the said surface, which shall be deemed to be at an end whenever the sum of the cost of repairs and maintenance on said surfaces shall amount to 25 per cent of the original cost of the said surface, at which time the common council shall have the right to order an entirely new surface or a partially new surface, should unworn or unsafe parallel portions of the original surface remain uninjured. In making pavement selections under Class C, the common council will have the right to limit the selections of pavements where grades exist of more than 4 per cent to materials of a non-slippery character and to limit surfaces where flood water is liable to flow to those which will not wash away.

"In determining the class to which any street, avenue or alley belongs, the present and proposed width of the paved area must be taken into account, and also anticipated traffic as nearly as it can be estimated must be added to the present traffic.

Exclusive of Floods.

"The maintenance percentage which the common council undertakes to see done, is exclusive of the cost of damages caused by cloudbursts, heavy floods or the damage caused by the diversion of flood waters onto the pavements or road surfaces.

"It is not contended that the above outlined plan is in all particulars correct, as that, only a trial under working conditions can determine.

"This plan while not taking away the right of abutting property owners to select their own pavements, limits such selection to those pavements which have in the past shown qualities which entitle them to be placed in the classes where they appear. It will be noticed that no pavements are designated which have not been in use in our city before, so that we ourselves know all about their qualities. It is not, of course, proposed to exclude any pavements which have merit, but with which the city has had no experience. These can be added to their proper class from time to time as they may be offered. The length of life assigned to the pavements in Class A and B are necessarily short as only the life of the least wear resisting pavement in each class can safely be used; then too, in a city such as ours a very rapid growth is bound to come shortly, which would by increasing wheeled traffic on our streets impose upon them double or three times the burden of traffic we have estimated they can bear, which, of course, means that their useful life will be curtailed. In any case, if the pavements are worn out at the end of the period assigned to them, they should be replaced, whereas if they are in good condition, the passage of this measure grants no license to replace them. It is an extremely difficult matter to secure any reliable data on the life of pavements, because traffic and climate are very different in different cities, and no other city's experience is applicable to our own. Therefore the life of pavements stated is a conservative estimate.

"The percentage of cost of maintenance at ¼ the total cost of the original pavement has been made in accordance with ordinary engineering practice, that it is economy to replace with new pavement, or pavement surface when the total cost of repairs amounts to 25 per cent of the original cost. There will no doubt be opposition from persons interested in the sale of paving materials, who will think that their pavements should have been put in the first class if they are named in the second. No doubt some of the pavements in all the classes are better than some of the pavements mentioned in the same class, but the classes have been made and pavements assigned to them from data based on actual performances right here in our own city."

How Tuberculosis Is Contracted

NOT by living in the same neighborhood, nor by working in the same office, nor by being a descendant of the family in which tuberculosis exists or has existed. That is the consensus of authorities today.

More or less intimate and prolonged contact with the disease appears to be the essential requirement for infection with tuberculosis—such as the contact of young children with one another at play and at school; the contact of young lovers, the tainted kiss, the contact of husband and wife, or parent and child, or roommates, or chums.

A cleanly, intelligent, conscientious consumptive who is able to help himself or herself is certainly not a menace to anybody's health. If direct transference of infected saliva, or spray from mouth or nose, or salivacontaminated utensils or articles is avoided, then the disease cannot be spread.

An individual with tuberculosis is morally, if not legally, bound to expectorate only in a receptacle designed for the purpose and to burn or disinfect the sputum at least once a day. Any person with any knowledge or sense of courtesy will hold the hand or handkerchief over the mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing. Any one who fails to do so should be punished even more severely than the person who expectorates in a public place, for spray infection, by means of invisible droplets of moisture given off in sneezing and coughing, and carrying, perhaps, virulent germs suspended in the droplets, is believed to be the most frequent means of infection by tuberculosis, pneumonia, influenza (so-called grip), bronchitis, and, most important of all, the common "cold."

Experts in tuberculosis of the lungs teach that childhood is the time of infection—which smoulders in glands until later in life; youth is the time of super-infection, or the lighting up of the smouldering spark.

Much market milk is found to come from tubercular herds, and young children often have scrofula (tubercular lymph glands in the neck), the bovine tubercle bacillus being the type of germ present in many of these cases. Tuberculin-tested, pasteurized or, best of all, certified milk will insure against this mode of infection.

Of course the hereditary theory is no longer retained. What has passed for inherited consumption has been nothing more nor less than the result of intimate contact in the family or household life.

Thus we have the problem narrowed down to definite principles: Tuberculosis (consumption) is conveyed through uncleanliness, carelessness, ignorance, viciousness and persistence in all of these sins. Poverty fosters such sins, and, of course, the whole community, and not the unfortunate victim, is accountable for poverty in every instance.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

M. E. COUNCIL NOW MEETING

Churchmen of Two Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Oregon in Session.

Gathering Called By Bishop Luccock Being Held at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Montana district residential council, bringing together the prominent Methodist leaders of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Oregon, met here this morning, called to order by Bishop Luccock of Helena, Mont., under whose call the council met.

The council will continue in session three days, and during that period, policies of the church in the entire district will be outlined.

To Be Entertained Well.

This evening the council will hold an open session, and tomorrow the delegates will be entertained by the Commercial club.

That affairs in the Methodist church in the states in question are exceptionally good, is the claim of the visitors.

BRAINERD'S MAYOR FILLS POSITIONS

New Official Makes Appointments and Urges Co-operation.

Brainerd, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. R. A. Beise, the new mayor, announced his appointments which were confirmed by the new council as follows: P. W. Donovan, member water and light board; S. R. Adair, member of park board; Dr. C. S. Reimestad, board of health; H. P. Dunn, Mrs. J. P. Early and J. A. Wilson, members of library board; Henry Squires, chief of police; Ole Anderson, captain, and Jens Opsahl and Fred C. Cheney, patrolmen.

In his address to the council Mayor Beise said that the co-operation between the different departments of the city government should be paramount but it was his impression that the various departments were hampered in their work by conflicting existing ordinances. He suggested codifying the present ordinances at once. He urged strict economy, but not at the expense of efficiency. He urged that every effort be lent towards securing a pure water supply for Brainerd.

President of Council.

F. A. Farrar was elected president of the city council and Iver Benson vice president. Anton Mahlum was re-elected city clerk. D. A. Haggard was elected city attorney. C. D. Peacock was re-elected city engineer. H. McGinn was re-elected fire chief and the former drivers, James Buley and John Mutch reappointed. Both formerly drove the fire team and have been trained to drive the motor fire truck. Otto Reinhardt was reappointed weighmaster.

SAY PROGRESSIVES HAVE FIXED SLATE

North Dakota Organization Said to Have Picked Candidates.

Minot, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the Progressive Republican ticket for the next North Dakota campaign has been named, is the declaration made locally following a conference between several party leaders held here. According to reports the slate is as follows: U. L. Burdick of Williston, candidate for governor; Thomas Hall, present secretary of state, candidate for United States senate to succeed Porter J. McCumber; A. P. Hanson, speaker of the house in the last session of the legislature, lieutenant governorship; J. L. Hjort of Hettinger county, a member of the house of representatives during the past two sessions, lieutenant governor.

Another feature is the reported approval of Carl Jorgenson's candidacy to succeed himself.

William Langer of Morton county, is slated as the candidate for attorney general.

Miss Minnie J. Neilson of Valley City, probably will be asked to run for the office of state superintendent of public instruction.

Walter Taylor for insurance commissioner and John Steen for state treasurer, to succeed themselves, were indorsed.

MINOT, N. D., AFFAIRS ARE WELL ATTENDED

Educational Meeting and Field Track Contests Draw Many People.

Minot, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northwestern Educational association meeting and the annual field meet and the annual declamation contest, just closed, proved most successful, having the largest attendance to date.

Minot high school's track team won the field and track meet by a margin of only six points over the Velva, Williston and Anamoose finishing third and fourth.

In the declamation contest, Adelaine Beall and Harold Shaft, both of Minot, won the prizes offered in the boys' and girls' divisions.

Williston Woman President.

Miss Anna Peterson of Williston was elected president of the Northwestern Educational association; Professor W. F. Clark of Minot and A. C. Berg of Towner, were elected vice presidents; Miss Blanche Daleger of Minot was made secretary, and L. M. Rockne of Mohall was made treasurer.

An amendment to the constitution provides for the creation of two departments—the secondary educational and the rural department.

To Manage Summer School.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. H. Schlenvogt, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has arrived to take charge of a summer school in agriculture for sixty city boys, who have already enrolled in a new department established by the local high school.

The city has a 40-acre tract of land close to the city which will be utilized for the experimental work.

GOPHER BIRTHDAY TO BE CELEBRATED

Territorial Pioneers to Have Celebration at Old Capitol.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota's fifty-seventh birthday anniversary will be appropriately celebrated by an all-day meeting of the Minnesota Territorial Pioneers, Tuesday, May 11, here in the old capitol. Sons and daughters of pioneer families and the junior pioneers are especially invited. This society is made up of those who arrived here while Minnesota was still a territory. Its membership is now scattered all over the United States.

May 11 is also the birthday of Gov. S. R. Van Sant, who is also a Territorial pioneer. Senator E. W. Durant will return from the South. Dinner will be served by the Woman's Relief corps. Among the interesting additions made to the Pioneer's collection this year is a large frame containing nine photos of the H. C. Schumpelen family of the German Methodist church, found in a St. Paul storehouse. The second son, Theodore, died recently in New York. Benjamin, the youngest son, and his sister, Mrs. Horace Thompson, reside on Summit avenue, St. Paul. There is also a life-sized pastel of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welde, son-in-law.

Day's Program.

The program is announced to begin at 10 a. m. sharp. George C. Canfield, Brownton, will give an original poem and relate Indian reminiscences. Dr. J. M. Armstrong, St. Paul, will review lives of pioneer physicians. J. O. and Mrs. Welde and Mrs. Cleator and the Bryant Post quartet will assist with the music. A very full program is being arranged. The Woman's Relief corps will furnish dinner. Action will be taken on the death of Treasurer W. D. Hale, Mrs. Emma Huff, Mrs. C. C. King, John Pride and others.

INTER STATE PARK WILL ATTRACT MANY

Several Notable Events to Be Held at St. Croix Dalles.

Taylors Falls, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—This promises to be the most notable year in the history of the inter-state park here at the dalles of the St. Croix, which legislative provision has made into a fine state park. Many improvements are further planned.

At the summer meetings of the Chisago, Washington, Ramsey and Polk county fairs, their boards will be asked to attend and help organize an Inter-State Park County and District Fair association for the betterment of the several fairs in this locality. The Inter-State Park Farmers' club will hold its summer meeting here during Home-Coming week, June 6 to 13.

The department of geology of the high schools and universities will spend a day at the park about the middle of May under the leadership of Prof. F. Miller of St. Paul Central high. The bird boxes from the Minneapolis and St. Paul schools are soon to be shipped and put in place at the park.

On Memorial Day.

Preparations are well under way for Memorial day, Monday, May 31. The state superintendent of educations has been requested to so arrange examinations sets for May 31 that the band members can co-operate in the demonstration. Commander Thomas Peck of McKenzie post and St. Croix Falls and Capt. Wyman X. Folsom of Taylors Falls are helping compile a complete list of all soldiers buried in the two cemeteries for publication on the Memorial day program. Governor Hammond will deliver the patriotic address.

Home-Coming week celebration, June 6-13, will be the big event of the season. A six-day university chautauqua program for afternoons and evenings is being mapped out, consisting of popular lectures, scientific demonstrations, instrumental concerts, dramatic readings and educational addresses. Accommodations for meals and lodgings for those not entertained by relatives during the week can be made through the Taylors Falls Commercial club. Good roads federations and automobile clubs will also feature in the demonstrations of Home-Coming week.

Big Methodist Meeting.

The Methodists of the Upper St. Croix valley will have a home-coming reunion on Monday, June 7, the day the St. Paul Methodist ministers voted to go to Taylors Falls in a body for their annual summer outing. The Minneapolis pastors and their congregations have been asked to join them and it is estimated that fully 1,000 persons will take advantage of the special rate made by the Northern Pacific road.

Tuesday, June 8, has been set aside for a reunion of pioneer steamboat men. St. Croix Falls, Wis., and Taylors Falls have been of peculiar interest as the head of navigation on the St. Croix river ever since the Palmyra arrived in 1838, especially among steamboat men, many of whom took their first lessons on this river, afterwards branching out onto the Mississippi, Minnesota and Red River of the North.

COPPER COUNTRY VIOLENT DEATHS

Three Men Lose Lives, One of Them Killing Himself.

Calumet, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Maki, a Mass City business man, cut his throat Tuesday with a fish knife and tore his jugular vein with his fingers, causing death.

Joseph Sullivan of Greenland, died yesterday of a fractured skull sustained when he jumped from a hayloft.

Ely Jones of Mass, died as a result of a beating given him when he was held up Monday night.

OPPOSES REFERENDUM.

North Dakota House Speaker Goes on Record Against Movement.

Litchville, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. P. Hanson, speaker of the house of representatives, in a public statement scores the sponsors of the movement for the referendum of a large number of bills passed by the last legislature.

Declaring the referendum of the bill for an asylum for the insane appropriations is paramount to a calamity, Speaker Hanson also declares himself opposed to the idea of calling a special session to prevent the reference of any of the several acts that have been attacked.

Mr. Hanson discusses particularly the bills for the creation of a board of regents for the educational institutions, maintaining that the plan is the best solution of the state's educational problem, and he regards the delay brought about through referendum, inexcusable.

TO MEET AT RUGBY.

District Federation of Women's Clubs to Gather There.

Rugby, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Second District Federation of Women's clubs will be held here May 13 and 14, and the district officials have secured Miss Minnie Neilson of Valley City, president of the North Dakota Federation, as the principal speaker.

Legislative topics are being assigned several speakers, the women seeking to get better acquainted with the work of the recent assembly. Bottineau, Towner, Ramsey, Pierce, McHenry, Benson and Rolette counties are included in this district.

DRY FORCES ARE ALERT.

Looking for Benefits From Enforcing Webb-Kenyon Law.

Bismarck, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota prohibitionists intend to reap every benefit under the Webb-Kenyon act, prohibiting the shipment of liquor for illegal purposes into dry states.

P. L. Watkins, superintendent of the Northern Dakota Enforcement league, in a statement given out here, indicates that a general campaign is under consideration which will have for its object the full application of the law.

TOSSED REDHOT BOLT.

It Fires Gasoline Car, Fatally Burning St. Paul Man.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—Henry Ott was burned to death and two other workmen were seriously hurt Tuesday in an explosion of gasoline fumes in a railroad tank car. The three were doing repair work and Ott was inside the tank, having gone in when they tossed a coin to see to whom that duty would fall. A red hot bolt, tossed to him, ignited fumes remaining in the car.

During several weeks of expectancy there is a splendid external embrocation in our "Mother's Friend" in which thousands of women have the most unbounded confidence. They have used it and know. They tell of its wonderful influence to ease the abdominal muscles and how they avoided those dreaded stretching pains that are so much talked about. This safe external application is gently used over the skin to render it amenable to the natural stretching which it undergoes. The myriad of nerve threads just beneath the skin is thus relieved of unnecessary pain-producing causes and great physical relief is the result as expressed by a host of happy mothers who write from experience.

It is a subject that all women should be familiar with as "Mother's Friend" has been in use many years, and is recommended by grandmothers who in their earlier days learned to rely upon this splendid aid to women.

You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. Get a bottle to-day and then write for our little book so useful to expectant mothers.

SPENT NINE MONTHS IN ENGLISH PRISON CAMP

Hibbing Man Left for Visit to Home Just Before War.

Captured When He Arrived in England and Held Prisoner.

Now Fears He Will Have No Home to Visit.

TONY TOMLJANOVICH.

The experience of spending nine months in a British camp for prisoners of war was what Tony Tomljanovich, 26, of Hibbing, underwent instead of spending the time visiting his relatives in Croatia, Austria. He returned to Duluth last night and is today a guest of M. Damculovich, 535 West Michigan street.

Tony left Hibbing shortly after the middle of July with $500 safely sewed up in his pockets. This money he had saved during a few years of work in the mines on the range. He intended using the sum for the purpose of showing his friends back in his native land what a "good time" looked like.

On July 23 he sailed out of New York harbor on the steamship Celtic, bound for England. That is as far as he got. He landed at Queestown the day after war was declared and was met at the dock by the representatives of his majesty's service and at the point of bayonets was steered to the prison for war captives.

For nine months, barring eight days—as he was released on April 23—he remained under guard in the stockade provided for prisoners of war at Queensberry, Lancester. Here he was herded with 2,400 other men of all nationalities who had been taken on the fields of battle or from ships of the enemy.

Slender Fare.

"We were fed just enough to keep body and soul together," he told a reporter of The Herald this morning. "The general bill of fare was black tea and hard bread for breakfast; a piece of meat not larger than your two fingers and more of the same bread for dinner, and black tea and bread for supper. Occasionally we were given an added dish of beans at noon.

"In the stockade were about 2,400 prisoners. This was only one of several such stockades which I understand are scattered throughout Great Britain. The place I was in was built of sheet iron walls and had a glass roof which furnished us with all of the light we wanted. There were many of my countrymen in the place and a large number of Germans. My countrymen seemed to fare better than the Germans. The Germans often did not use discretion in speaking about their enemy and as a result many were transferred to dungeons, where they fared considerably worse than in the stockade.

"On the whole our treatment was not so bad. I fared fairly well but it cost me my little stake. When I felt that I was not getting enough to eat I sent for the commandant and asked for a small sum of my money and always willingly was given it. This sum I would spend in buying extras. It also helped wonderfully in keeping me in fairly good clothes during the winter months so I did not have much to complain of on account of cold.

"I am very glad to get back to America. When I left here I had no intimation that war was going to break out. It was an awful shock to me to find that I was a prisoner of war when I arrived in England."

Austrians and Serbians.

Austrians when arrested invariably say they are Serbians. This statement is seldom believed by the Englishmen. The Englishmen, said Tony, claim they do not know the difference between the Serbians and Austrians and refuse to be beguiled into making any distinction.

Tony said he had made three different applications for release from prison. He had with him his first naturalization papers from the United States government, but these were not considered sufficient. His application for release was not heeded, he said until it was found that his money was at such a low ebb that only enough remained to pay his fare back to America. He was released in time to take the steamship Philadelphia from Liverpool on April 23.

Tony said he is going back to Hibbing and does not intend making any further attempt to visit Europe until at least he has become a full fledged citizen. He said he also intends making a large "stake" before making any further attempt.

"I'll wait until the war is settled and then it is doubtful whether I want to make that visit home," he said. "The chances are that then there will be no former home to visit."

REPARATION THROUGH PRIZE COURT FOR LOSS OF W. P. FRYE DECLINED

the forest of Le Pretre. Northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, the French attacked yesterday with strong forces. Notwithstanding a long preparatory bombardment by artillery their attack broke down under our fire with heavy losses to the enemy. On the other hand we began attacks in the forest of Ailly and to the east thereof which made good progress. Up to the present we have here taken ten officers and 750 men.

Eastern Theater.

"Eastern theater of the war: Attacks from Roczyce, coming from the southeast, were repulsed. The enemy is being pursued at Kalwarya, also northeast of Suwalki and east of Augustowo numerous Russian advances failed. Four hundred Russians in all were taken prisoner.

"On the remainder of the front there were a few fights at close quarters, all of which were decided in our favor.

"Southeastern theater of the war: An attack by the allied troops north of the wooded Carpathians pierced through the third fortified line of the Russians who yesterday were defeated along the entire front, retreating toward the Wisloka river. The magnitude of the victory may be seen from the fact that owing to the piercing by the allies of the enemy's lines, the Russians are beginning to evacuate threatened positions on their northern flank, in the woodad Carpathians southwest of Dukla.

"The rapidity with which our successes have been achieved makes it impossible to give an idea in figures of the booty taken in this victory. According to reports at hand the number of prisoners taken up to the present amounts to over 30,000."

have the honor to say by direction of my government that while the promptness with which the imperial German government has admitted its liability is highly appreciated, my government feels that it would be inappropriate in the circumstances of this case and would involve unnecessary delay to adopt the suggestion in your note that the legality of the capture and destruction, the standing of the claimants and the amount of indemnity should be submitted to a prize court.

Violation of Treaty.

"Unquestionably the destruction of this vessel was a violation of the obligations imposed upon the imperial German government under existing treaty stipulations between the United States and Prussia and the United States government by virtue of its treaty rights has presented to the imperial German government a claim for indemnity on account of the resulting damages suffered by American citizens.

"The liability by the German imperial government and the standing of the claimants as Americans citizens and amount of indemnity are all questions which lend themselves to diplomatic negotiations between the two governments, and happily the question of liability has already been settled in that way. The status of the claimants and the amount of indemnity are the only questions remaining to be settled, and it is appropriate that they should be dealt with in the same way.

Government Liable.

"The government of the United States fully understands that, as stated in your excellency's note, the German government is liable under the treaty provisions above mentioned for the damages arising from the destruction of the cargo as well as from the destruction of the vessel. But it will be observed that the claim under discussion does not include damages for the destruction of the cargo and the question of the value of the cargo, therefore, is not involved in the present discussion.

"The government of the United States recognizes that the German government will wish to be satisfied as to the American ownership of the vessel and the amount of damages sustained in consequence of her destruction.

Readily Ascertained.

"These matters are readily ascertainable and if the German government desires any further evidence in substantiation of the claim on these points in addition to that furnished by the ship's papers, which are already in the possession of the German government, any additional evidence found necessary will be produced. In that case, however, inasmuch as any evidence which the German government may wish to have produced is more accessible and can more conveniently be examined in the United States than elsewhere, on account of the presence there of the owners and captain of the William P. Frye and their documentary records and other possible witnesses, the government of the United States ventures to suggest the advisability of transferring the negotiations for the settlement of these points to the imperial German embassy at Washington.

"In view of the admission of liability by reason of specific treaty stipulations it has become unnecessary to enter into a discussion of the meaning and effect of the Declaration of London, which is given some prominence in your excellency's note of April 5, further than to say that, as the German government has already been advised, the government of the United States does not regard the Declaration of London as in force."

MAY USE AEROPLANES TO FIND SEAL HERDS

St. Johns, N. F., May 5.—A novel use of the aeroplane, is under consideration by owners of sealing vessels, as a result of the failure of the seal hunt this year. It is proposed that two experienced aviators be engaged to visit the east coast and the gulf of St. Lawrence respectively, just before the opening of the next season, and locate the herds. The information thus obtained would enable the fleet to sail directly for the scene of the hunt, instead of spending much time in searching for the animals.

The direct cause of the lack of success in the present season, which ended May 1, was the unusually heavy amount of ice packed along the coast by continuous inshore winds. The sealing steamers, although within a few miles of large herds of seals, were unable to reach them. The total catch was less than 50,000 pelts, and the loss to vessel owners from the season's operations is estimated at about $250,000.

AMERICAN CONSUL JUMPS OVERBOARD

New York, May 5.—Dispatches from Naples today said that an American vice consul on board the steamship Sant' Anna, just arriving there, committed suicide by jumping overboard. No name was given, but the list here of the Sant' Anna shows that Frederick Van Dyne, American consul at Lyons, France, had engaged passage on the boat.

Had Been in Ill-Health.

Washington, May 5.—Frederick Van Dyne, a resident of this city and American consul at Lyons, had been at his home here for several months, in ill-health, and sailed on the Sant' Anna. Neither the state department nor his family had received any advices today on his reported disappearance, but feared it was true.

GENERALLY FAIR IN GREAT LAKES REGION

Washington, May 5.—The weather bureau in its forecast for the next week made these predictions:

"Great Lakes region generally fair with moderate temperatures.

"Plains states and Upper Mississippi valley fair with slowly rising temperature for several days, probably followed toward the end of the week by showers over extreme Northwest.

positions east of Ypres, marks the extent of the advantages won by Germany from her victory between Ypres and Dixmude. By strengthening this line, however, Sir John French, the British commander-in-chief, has cut off a salient which threatened military disadvantage should the Germans attempt another thrust with the reinforcements said to be rushing through Belgium. All the German attacks thus far, according to both British and French official statements, have been shattered on this new line.

News From Gallipoli.

The news from Gallipoli is considered reassuring, setting forth as it does that the allies have made good the positions gained after the first fierce onslaughts upon the Turks during the landing operations. Subsequent German and Turkish attacks have been repulsed with heavy losses to the Ottoman forces, who gradually are being pushed in a northerly direction.

The German submarine campaign in the waters of the United Kingdom, shows no sign of a letup. The list of vessels sent to the bottom lengthens every day, although the victims mostly are of small importance. Scandinavian shipowners are suffering more than the British, and the newspapers of Norway and Sweden have referred in sarcastic terms to Germany's "bravery in torpedoing all the Swedish and Norwegian ships she meets."

tower. She ran amuck among the fishing fleet on Monday and sank seven trawlers in quick succession. The crews were given time to escape, but in some cases the small boats drifted for hours before they were picked up.

Each man coming ashore is exhibiting a huge lump of black bread given him by the crew of the submarine which sent his boat down. The English sailors are preserving these pieces of bread as souvenirs.

Scottish Queen Sunk.

Aberdeen, May 5.—The trawler Scottish Queen has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine fifty miles off Aberdeen. The crew was landed here.

The rescued men say they were given fifteen minutes to leave their vessel, but subsequently were permitted to return to her and procure provisions.

Seven members of the crew of the trawler Cruiser, of whom four were wounded by the shell fire of a German submarine, have been landed here by a collier. They say that the cruiser was approaching the harbor with fish when the submarine appeared and opened fire. One shell struck the trawler's bridge, instantly killing four members of the crew. The survivors assert that the remaining seven hands took to their boat and were rowing away when the submarine fired again, wounding four of the men and causing the boat to capsize. The men thrown into the water were rescued from drowning by the collier.

FIGHTING AT EAST OF YPRES AGAIN ACTIVE

ish continued their retreat with heavy losses, in the direction of the Bridgehead situated sharply to the east of Ypres. The Van Heule and Eksternest farms, the castle ground of Hetenthage, and the Set Pappotje farm were taken by us.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle, there is again great activity in the forest of Le Pretre. Northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, the French attacked yesterday with strong forces. Notwithstanding a long preparatory bombardment by artillery their attack broke down under our fire with heavy losses to the enemy. On the other hand we began attacks in the forest of Ailly and to the east thereof which made good progress. Up to the present we have here taken ten officers and 750 men.

MANY SETTLERS SECURED.

City People Anxious to Locate in McHenry County, N. D.

Bismarck, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. James Lamb of Chicago, who plans for the population of extensive land holdings in McHenry county, North Dakota, through a liberal system of renting, by which the renters may ultimately obtain ownership of the lands, has succeeded in rounding up a number of practical farmers in the city of Chicago, according to E. S. Neal, state immigration agent.

Mr. Neal has just returned from Chicago where he interviewed many of the proposed new settlers, and he found that practically all of them had, at some time or other, been engaged in active farming, and who had abandoned the farm for the city. They have now tired of city life and want to return to the farm.

conditions are obtained which will enable these men to maintain their health and remain at work."

Perham testified that it takes a vote of two-thirds of a general committee representing the telegraphers' union, with the approval of the president, to order a strike.

"The president can veto a strike and I have done it on several occasions," said he. "Every time a labor leader puts his O. K. on a strike, he puts himself in jeopardy. If he makes mistakes, he will be the one to be sacrificed. That is why labor leaders seek peace before a strike. It is hard to have industrial peace with the Pennsylvania railroad because it will not recognize the organizations."

Dominates City.

In response to questions by Commissioner O'Connell relating to conditions at Altoona, Pa., where the Pennsylvania has a large shop, Perham declared that the railroad dominated the city and that employes who incurred displeasure of railroad officials could not find work there.

"To live in Altoona you must live as the Pennsylvania company wishes you to?"

"That is the case."

Perham added that the Pennsylvania dominated the "courts and newspapers" of Altoona and that public assemblage and public speeches have many times been prevented by the company."

W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania, in charge of operation, presented a long statement of the company's labor policy and answers to Perham's charges of discriminations against organized labor and intimidation of men.

Opposed to "Closed Shop."

"The Pennsylvania company is and has always been unalterably opposed to the 'closed shop,' and sympathetic strike policy," the statement declared. "This principle is inimical to the best interests of the public, the company and its employes."

Answering the charge that the Pennsylvania maintains the "best spy system in the world," to harass unions, it declared that the force of confidential investigators was "in no way connected with the railroad's police department," and was "employed to ascertain and report to the officials the conduct and sentiment of employes and the movements, actions and plans of labor leaders and organizers."

It was contended that it was necessary to employ trained men to conduct investigations as the company had the responsibility of maintaining adequate train service and was subject to fines by the government for delays to the mails.

WHY PRESIDENT REFUSED REQUEST

Washington, May 5.—President Wilson's refusal yesterday to furnish the industrial relations commission with copies of correspondence with Former Governor Ammons of Colorado, on the Colorado coal strike, was explained at the White House today.

A statement said that the president did not care to take any part in the controversy between Chairman Walsh and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., over Mr. Walsh's assertion that an agent of Mr. Rockefeller had written a letter to the president for Governor Ammons to sign.

The president's friends understand he believes the commission should conduct the investigation into industrial conditions for which it was created by congress without getting into newspaper controversies. It was said today he thinks the objects of the commission's investigation are apt to be defeated if published attacks on witnesses before the commission are continued.

MURDERER GAVE WARNING BY NOTE

New York, May 5.—New York's child murderer, sought by scores of detectives for slaying 5-year-old Leonore Cohn, gave warning by letter, it was reported today, that he would find a new victim and within three days kept his word by murdering 4-year-old Charlie Murray in a hallway near his home on First avenue last Monday night. This was the chief development in the search for the slayer.

The letter, it was said, was received by the mother of Leonore Cohn, May 1. The writer, it is said, asserted that he was prompted to write because the police were holding the wrong man as a suspect, and he would prove this by committing another crime.

CHICAGO ELECTION NOT A WILSON PROTEST

Chicago, May 5.—As the principal speaker at a dinner given by friends last night to Former Mayor Carter H. Harrison, United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis said he deemed the occasion appropriate for an analysis of the recent election at which William Hale Thompson, Republican, was chosen mayor by a plurality of 150,000 votes.

"I do this to correct a statement made in certain quarters that the election of Mr. Thompson was a protest against the Wilson administration," said Senator Lewis. "I believe the issue was not Woodrow Wilson, nor the policies of the national administration.

"The Democrats who voted for Thompson did so under the impression that certain issues urged in behalf of the Democratic ticket were addressed against the president; that the vindication of the president would be in the defeat of the Democratic ticket."

CRUMBLES PAVING SAMPLES IN HIS HAND

Commissioner Farrell yesterday afternoon crumbled with his hands a sample of the East Fourth street pavement.

The samples of concrete were taken by the commissioner while workmen were laying conduits and on examining them found that they were far below the average.

The pavement extends from Fourteenth to Twenty-third avenues and was laid three years ago.

THREE WAYS TO KILL DANDELIONS

Cut off Roots, Apply Kerosene or Spray With Iron Sulphate.

If Duluth lawn owners go after the dandelion with a vengeance, they will be able to eradicate the pest by following the directions prescribed by W. I. Oswald, weed expert and botanist at the Minnesota College of Agriculture.

Cut Off Roots.

"When only a few stray plants appear, the persistant use of the knife will eradicate the dandelion," Prof. Oswald said. "Merely cut off the roots below the surface.

"Another mild treatment is the application of gasoline or kerosene directly to the crown, which will kill the individual plant.

Iron Sulphate Goods.

"For badly infested lawns, good results may be obtained by spraying with sulphate of iron. This may be obtained at a moderate price from any drug store. It will discolor clothing and cement walks."

FISHERMAN DROWNS IN RED LAKE RIVER

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 5.—While fishing from a log below the dam in the Red Lake river yesterday, D. L. Smelzer, 20 years old, a mechanic employed in the local Soo shops, fell into the river and was drowned. The body is being sought. A wife and several small children survive.

Vetoes Two Bills.

Nashville, Tenn., May 5.—Governor Rye today vetoed a bill abolishing the death penalty, expressing the belief that it would tend to increase mob violence. The governor also vetoed an anti-tipping bill.

Woman's Health Requires Care

Women are so constituted as to be peculiarly susceptible to constipation, and their general health depends in large measure on careful regulation and correction of this tendency. Their delicate organisms rebel at the violence of cathartic and purgative remedies, which, while they may afford temporary relief, shock the system and seriously disturb the functional organs. A mild laxative is far preferable and, if properly compounded, much more effective.

The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is ideal for women's use. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

SETTLE WAR OF NORTHERN

Webb and Pulford Interests Get Together in Winnipeg.

League Starts Out Without Continuation of Court Matters.

Winnipeg, Man., May 5.—The baseball war in Winnipeg is over. Pulford & Co., former holders of the Northern league franchise and claimant of the present right, have compounded with H. C. Webb, present owner, and agreed to settle the case out of court.

Nothing was given out as to the terms of settlement, with the exception that it was a most amicable one and should serve to put baseball on a much firmer footing in Winnipeg.

Through the efforts of George Clements, a local sportsman, who was responsible for getting the parties together, the members of both sides met in conference yesterday afternoon. It did not take very long to come to an agreement, and as a result Messrs. A. H. Pulford, J. Erzinger, A. M. Blackburn and O. Montgomery of the old club were taken in with Webb, with the latter still at the head, and it is understood, still having the controlling interest in the club. After the meeting, both sides seemed very pleased over the settlement.

President Burmeister would not stand for the one opening in Winnipeg on Thursday, so the two games will be played as scheduled at the same hour.

SEVERAL STARS DEFEAT ASPIRANTS

Four Good Battles in Squared Circle; McCoy Easy for Clabby.

Boston, Mass., May 5.—Charlie White of Chicago knocked out Eddie Murphy of this city in the seventh round of a scheduled twelve-round bout last night. The men are lightweights. The decision was a technical one, being due directly to the invasion of the ring by Murphy's brother after the Boston boxer had been floored four times.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 5.—Johnny Ertle, the St. Paul bantamweight boxer, last night easily outpointed Eddie Coulon of New Orleans in a ten-round boxing contest, according to sporting writers at the ringside.

Ertle had the better of six rounds, Coulon two and two were even. Coulon announced at the end of the bout that he injured his right arm below the elbow.

New York, May 5.—Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., outpointed Al McCoy of Brooklyn, claimant of the middleweight title, in every round of a ten-round bout in Brooklyn last night. Clabby weighed 154, McCoy 157¾.

Lexington, Ky., May 5.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis knocked out Andrew Anderson of Chicago in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here last night. Anderson had the better of the fighting up to the time the knockout blow was delivered by Dillon.

Herzog Suspended.

New York, May 5.—President John K. Tener of the National league announces that he has suspended Charles Herzog, manager of the Cincinnati club, for five days for his altercation with Umpire Rigler at St. Louis last Saturday.

Cuban Wins Again.

New York, May 5.—Jose R. Capablanca won again in the twelfth round yesterday of the Chess Masters' tournament here, while Frank J. Marshall, his chief rival, was trying hard to avoid a draw with Kupchik. The Cuban's opponent was Oscar Chages, and the game went to thirty moves. Marshall declined a draw with Kupchik after a long session, and the game was adjourned.

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Hoosiers 3; Senators 2.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 5.—Although outhit two to one, Indianapolis won from Columbus yesterday. Bunched hits in the first and third innings gave the locals their runs and except for the sixth, the visitors were unable to hit opportunely. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Columbus	2	10	1
Indianapolis	3	5	2

Batteries — Curtis and Coleman; Schardt, Willis and Blackburn.

Colonels 4; Cleveland 3.

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—Crossin's hit in the ninth, with three men on bases and the score tied, scored Callahan with the winning run, and Louisville defeated Cleveland yesterday. Poor support of Kahler cost Cleveland the game. Crossin drove in three of Louisville's four runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	3	6	4
Louisville	4	6	3

Batteries — Kahler and Devogt; Perry, Elliss and Crossin.

HE STARTED REAL WAR, NOW DESIRES PEACE

GERRY HERRMANN.

There are rumors of peace hovering over the baseball world. Gerry Herrmann has labored diligently to bring a reconciliation about between the warring factions of the great national sport. Strange enough it was Gerry Herrmann who made the Federal league possible. When the chairman of the national commission, also one of the powers of the Cincinnati club, shoved Joe Tinker on the market, he started something that he could not stop. Maybe this is the impelling motive of Herrmann's desire to bring about a harmonious feeling.

KERNAN TO PLAY THIRD

Former La Crosse Infielder Slated to Join the Dooks.

Frank Hoffman Is Lost to the White Sox Squad.

James Kernan, an infielder who has played with various teams of the Northern league, has been offered terms by Darby O'Brien. Kernan is in Chicago. If the former La Crosse player accepts what the Dook is willing to offer, it is likely that he will be stationed at the far corner of the diamond on the return of the White Sox from the first road trip of the season.

Jimmy Collins is scheduled to play the far corner during the initial road games of the schedule. Brammell will take the place of the pep lad in the outfield. Quidding will not be taken on the trip. The former Fitwell player has never been offered a contract. Maybe he will be given a further trial upon the return of the team.

Posten is back from Palisade and leaves with the other members of the White Sox brigade this evening. Murray has been let out to Baudette, Minn., with a string attachment.

O'Brien Loses Flinger.

Joe Killian evidently got his wires crossed. Frank Hoffman, former Dook twirler, who was recently signed, according to the claims of Racine, is the property of that club, and has no right to play with the Sox.

With the departure of Murray and Hoffman, Darby has Jones, Cadreau, Leahy, Posten, Bryant and Boley as a twirling staff. Barr has been given a leave of absence and may be as a member of the staff as yet. Of the pitchers on deck now, it is probable that one or two will be let out.

Members of the team, as has been previously announced, will leave over the Canadian Northern this evening for Winnipeg, where the opening game of the 1915 Northern league season will be played tomorrow.

BUSY SEASON FOR THE SAILORS

Boat Club Races Scheduled to Start Early in June.

According to Harris Trux, captain of the sailing department of the Duluth Boat club, the first race of the season will be held the second Saturday in June. After the annual election of boat club officers and the appointments of various department captains, work will begin on the sailing schedule of the season.

Some of the boat owners are busy rigging their boats out. Attention will be paid this season to special events, and a large number, it is announced, are planned.

Mr. Trux stated today that plans are under consideration for the bringing of a number of St. Paul and Minneapolis sail boats here at the date of the Northwestern Rowing regatta. In that event a number of sailing contests will be arranged between the outside and local boats as an added feature of the big rowing program.

JOHNSON EXPLAINS WITHDRAWAL TALK

American League President Modifies Statement Regarding Federal Suits.

Boston, Mass., May 5.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, today declared himself in favor of withdrawing from the courts of the country suits between organized baseball and the Federal league. A suggestion to this effect from Philip Ball, vice president of the St. Louis club of the Federal league, he said, met with his consent.

Mr. Johnson explained that in an earlier statement to the effect that he was willing to have the suit in the Illinois Federal court now awaiting decision by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis withdrawn, he did not refer to this case in particular.

"The suggestion and my acceptance," he said, "refer to the suits generally at issue between the Federal league and the national commission. Baseball should have been kept out of the courts, and it is not now too late to reach an agreement outside of the courtrooms, I believe."

President Johnson read dispatches from various sections of the country in which other baseball officials said they knew nothing of the proposal to withdraw the suits. He smiled as he read some of them, but he declined to make any comment.

President Johnson said peace or an agreement between organized ball and the Federal league was not immediately in sight and had not recently been discussed, but he added that he had no fears for the future.

St. Louis, Mo., May 5.—Phil Ball, vice president of the St. Louis club of the Federal league and large stockholder in the league proper, has declared himself wholly in accord with the proposition for the withdrawal of all litigation involving interests of the Federal league and organized baseball as discussed by Ban Johnson, president of the American league, at Boston.

Swimming Contests.

Chicago, May 5.—The board of managers of the Central Amateur Athletic association met here last night and announced that a swimming meet and diving contest will be held in Milwaukee at the Northwestern Sportsman's show, May 14, and at the Milwaukee auditorium May 15. It was announced that a swimming meet and diving contest will be held in Indianapolis, Ind., on a date yet to be set.

Illini Lose One.

Champaign, Ill., May 5.—The University of Illinois basebal team lost the first of thirteen straight games yesterday when Northwestern university won by the score of 3 to 1 in a Western conference game. Juel, pitching for Northwestern, retired the Illini in the seventh inning after they had filled the bases and had but one out.

SCULL AND SWEEP RACES WILL BE ROWED SATURDAY

Junior Eights, Bantam Fours, Doubles and Singles Scheduled for Boat Club Regatta; Oarsmen Who Are to Compete in National Will Be Seen in Action.

Jimmy Ten Eyck and the members of his school of rowing, will stage the biggest regatta of the season to date over the bay course next Saturday afternoon.

There will be a mile and quarter contest between two junior eights, a contest for the same distance between bantam fours, and for the first time this season the members of the boat club and the public at large will be given the opportunity of seeing the scullers in action.

Kent and Gus Grant will stage a handicap contest and Walter Hoover, the junior and senior scull winner of last year's Northwestern regatta, will allow Dave Horak a handicap over the mile and a quarter distance.

These events should make up a program worth both taking time and trouble to witness. The sweep men and scullers have been on the water now for something like a month. All of the boys are beginning to show the effects of the hard work on the machines and in the boats, and some real contests should be the result of the hard early spring grind.

Double Sculls Race Also.

There will also be a double sculls contest on the program. The Moore brothers, Phil and Dug, will be opposed by a pair that Jimmy is figuring on at the present time.

All of the scullers that the good people of Duluth will have the opportunity of witnessing in action next Saturday afternoon, will probably represent the Duluth Boat club in both the Northwestern and National regattas. Jimmy Ten Eyck is going after a flock of scull races this season—and the same scullers that Coach James hopes will meet the cream of the Eastern rowing talent and turn them back to the float with trailing colors, will be seen in the weekly club regatta.

The rowing department of the club is sadly in need of oars. The new sweeps have not arrived as yet and there are really hardly enough of the old blades to go around.

The launch is expected here any day. One of these fine days Jimmy is going to give some of his older and more experienced oarsmen a trial workout in one of the new shells.

MICHAELSON PROVES EASY

Village Smith Beaten By Waino Ketonen in Jig Time.

Milltown "Rassler" Never Had a Chance With Little Finn.

BY BRUCE.

Little Waino Ketonen, last evening at the Grand Opera house in Superior, defeated Martin Michaelson of Milltown, Wis., in two straght falls, the first coming in nine minutes and the second in four. A hammerlock beat the honest blacksmith on both occasions, the Finnish demon compelling the horseshoer to yell quits.

According to a sporting Hoyle that hovers around in the ambient atmosphere, it is out of form to laugh at Michaelson. His case is too pathetic. The smithy, who though mayhap he does not work under a chestnut tree, is a hard working and honest chap, withal, dropped something like 600 iron men because of the mistaken idea that he was an honest to goodness rassler.

Just where or in what manner Michaelson acquired the hallucination, it is indeed difficult to conjure; his work against Ketonen left no basic fact, no starting point to give one an idea to work out this theory.

A powerful chap, who perhaps had been throwing all of the lads down Milltown way, Michaelson proved but the verlest tyro in the skilled hands of that little mat master, Waino Ketonen.

In about two minutes Ketonen had sized his man up. Then he started in, like a wrestling machine, to beat the village blacksmith. Early going behind Michaelson, the little Finn clamped on his famous body scissors and started to ride his man. Once, at the end of three minutes, the ropes saved Michaelson from what looked like a fall. The men were brought back to the center of the canvas and Waino started again. The ropes merely postponed the inevitable—the little Finn had the number of his blacksmith friend and proceeded in a business-like way and purely scientific manner to hew him down.

Michaelson made a heave, like a bass in convulsive movement trying to escape the hook. It was just what Ketonen had been awaiting. So fast was his move that even experienced observers failed to follow it. Like a flash he turned and clamped on a reverse wrist lock, ran it into a hammerlock and made the village blacksmith cry out and beat the floor.

The Deciding Fall.

Michaelson came out for the second bout to do or die. No doubt the honest, but misguided anvil smoter was ruminating deeply concerning those 600 simoleons and some of the statements he had issued regarding his ability to take the measure of Ketonen. But the determination of Michaelson and his slight show of aggressiveness were the very elements that conspired to his downfall.

The men went into a referee's lock. Ketonen dived for the smithy's legs and went behind him. Again Walino clamped on his body scissors and started to whittle away the strength of the husky horse haberdasher.

There was a little mix. Michaelson was making the effort of his life. He had come clear to the city—and there were his Milltown friends clustered around the ringside—yes, and that $600—the blacksmith struggled desperately and finally went behind Ketonen. Then there was a flash, the little Finn gave a quick side movement, like a man stepping out of the way of an express train, Walino half turned and then like lightning pulled Michaelson over in a backward fall and came up with the deadly hammerlock. It was all over. The smithy was game and struggled for an agonized moment; but he was clutched in the hands of a master mat man, and slowly his big arm was turned. Once more Michaelson beat a desperate tattoo on the canvas of the ring—the white flag of defeat had been run up—the village blacksmith bowed acknowledgment to a great wrestler.

Ketonen Had the Class.

There is an old saying to the effect that class will tell. In his own country Michaelson is rated as a world beater. The promoter of the contest of last evening had made a rather positive declaration to the effect that Ketonen would be beaten. But Walno Ketonen is today the greatest 158-pound man in the world—a veritable wrestling machine, a lad who wrestles with body and brain, the closest approach to Frank A. Gotch among the little fellows since the athletic demise of Ed Adamson. These are some of the reasons why poor Michaelson never had a chance, never got started, never even got one effective hold in the thirteen minutes of wrestling, and was about three moves behind Ketonen all of the way. There may be other reasons, but we can't think of 'em. Michaelson weighed 165 pounds, and Ketonen 155.

Little Louie Zorbas and Pete Petkoff gave a fine contest, the match going to a 25-minute draw. Both of the boys gave a splendid exhibition. Karenaari, the tremendously strong Finn, rather easily defeated Sailor Jack in straight falls. Jack struggled gamely, but was out wrestled by his opponent at every step of the journey.

Unfortunately the house was small, but the few fans present got the worth of their money, and seemingly enjoyed the contest.

FARGO TEAM READY FOR THE OPENING

Will Face Virginia at Moorhead Grounds Thursday; Double Opener.

Fargo, N. D., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. Bob Unglaub has his team ready for the fray when the umpire calls play for the opening of the Northern league season tomorrow. Virginia will be the opposing aggregation. The games will be on the Moorhead grounds.

It has been decided to have a double-header opener with Thursday for Moorhead day, and Friday for Fargo day. Many of the business houses of Fargo have agreed to close from mid-afternoon Friday to permit employes to attend.

The Fargo-Moorhead lineup for the opening day will be: Unglaub on the first corner, Fremmer at second, Hooper at short, Dries at third, Barrett in right field, Tirwell in center, Doyle in left, Smith will start behind the plate, and either Dumont or Bell will throw the first game.

RELEASES OF PLAYERS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 5.—Jack Mitchell, utility infielder of the local American association club, has been released to the Memphis club of the Southern association under an optional agreement. It was announced that the Columbus team has released Infielder John Daly to the Lincoln Western league club.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 5.—Larry Lejeune, holder of the world's long distance throwing record, was released by the Pittsburgh National baseball club yesterday to the Sioux City club of the Western league. His place in center field on the Pirate team will be taken by Dan Costello.

COMMISSION UPHELD.

National Association of Baseball Turns Down Players' Requests.

New York, May 5.—Word is received here from Auburn that the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues has followed, in a general way, the courses recently taken by the national commission and has refused requests of the players' fraternity for certain changes in methods of dealing with players.

In reply to the request that a player released to another club be given his traveling expenses, the association rules that he should receive his expenses, but that the amount should be refunded by the purchasing club. The request that players be given traveling expenses from their home to training camps was granted by Class AA and Class A leagues. For leagues of lower classification it is not to be compulsory unless written into the contract.

The national commission will not furnish all minor leagues with forms of release, making provision for the several items of information required because the agreement with the fraternity did not meet with the associations favor and it declines to do anything further in that matter than is now being done.

BRYAN'S BROTHER TO BE NEXT MAYOR OF LINCOLN

CHARLES W. BRYAN.

Lincoln, Neb., May 5.—Charles W. Bryan, brother of William J. Bryan, secretary of state, was yesterday elected one of the five city commissioners of Lincoln, and probably will be the next mayor. With returns nearly complete, he has a lead of 700 votes over Frank C. Zehrung, the present mayor. Three of the old commissioners—George Dayton, William Schroeder and T. J. Hensley—were re-elected. The fifth is John Wright, a new man. The five commissioners designate the mayor and all are understood to be for Mr. Bryan.

HORSEMAN EXPELLED.

American Trotting Association at Chicago Punishes for Faking.

Chicago, May 5.—An order of expulsion against Dr. C. H. Erganbright of Liberty, Ind., was entered by the board of appeals of the American Trotting association, which held its spring meeting here yesterday. Twenty-two other disputes were discussed and disposed of.

With the order of expulsion against Dr. Erganbright was one suspending the bay mare Celia W., which animal, it was alleged by the board members, raced under the alias "Mamie Woodland." It was ordered that the suspension remain in force until $280, alleged to have been won illegally by Celia W. in 1913, was returned to the association for redistribution. The charges against Andy G. Whissel of Brookville, Ind., named in the same case, were dismissed.

Among those who attended the meeting was J. C. Simpson of St. Paul, secretary of the Minnesota state fair.

WINS FIRST PLACE IN MAYORALTY RACE

Charles E. Sebastian Comes Near Securing Seat at Primary Election.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 5.—Missing actual election by a narrow margin, Charles E. Sebastian, suspended chief of police, was chosen by the people of the city in the primary yesterday for first place on the mayoralty ticket, which will go before the electorate in the general election next month. Sebastian received approximately two-fifths of a vote which probably will not exceed 65,000 of the city's total registration of 200,000. Frederick J. Whiffen, president of the city council, was beaten for first place on the general election ticket by 2 to 1, but outdistanced four other competitors. The fact that six candidates shared the total vote is assigned as the sole reason Sebastian did not poll a clear majority and thus achieve election in the primary.

Sebastian's showing in his trial with Mrs. Lillie Pratt, which is not yet concluded, and the supposed attempt made on his life when two bullets were fired through a window of his home, admittedly had an effect upon the voting.

When Glands Swell Blood Needs Attention

Even a Sweat Gland May Result in Severe Consequence.

In our intricate body the use of S. S. S. for the blood has a most remarkable influence. We little realize our glandular system. It may be a tiny bulb no bigger than a pin point, and yet if a disease germ gets into it, there is a tremendous swelling. It becomes a boil, a carbuncle, it may be a "blood rising," and it is often a source of continuous misery if not checked. Many of the most excruciating forms of torture begin with the swelling of a tiny gland, caused by a disease germ. And it is S. S. S. that spreads throughout the blood circulation to prevent just such conditions. Or if they have already started, S. S. S. will soon put the blood in such a state of health as to overcome the tendency to glandular swellings. It is a natural medicine for the blood, just as essential to health if the blood be impure, as are the meats, fats, grains and sugars of our daily food.

It contains one ingredient the active purpose of which is to stimulate the exchange of new flesh for dead or waste matter.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, and if your case is stubborn, write to the Medical Advisor, The Swift Specific Co., 108 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This department is in charge of a noted physician.

MAY SUSPEND CATTLE SHOW

Hoof and Mouth Disease Feared By Local Breeders.

Larger Exhibition Abandoned and Local One May Be.

The agricultural committee of the Duluth Commercial club may decide to drop the cattle show in conection with the annual industrial exposition to be held next fall; although final decision in this matter has not yet been reached. The cause is the hoof and mouth disease.

Early this year a more pretentious exhibition of cattle was talked of, inspired by the enthusiasm of cattle breeders of Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan. It was proposed that instead of the Duluth cattle show being confined to cattle of this locality, the scope be extended to take in the high grade cattle which are being bred in the dairy countries of this part of Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan, and that it be advertised far and wide as a show where investors and others might come to see what is being done in the development of this rapidly growing dairy section.

Underestimates Exhibit.

C. P. Craig of Duluth, who is one of the leaders in cattle breeding of this part of the country, proposed such a show, and in corresponding with breeders in the other sections mentioned, received such enthusiastic indorsement that he estimated that such a cattle show here would draw in the neighborhood of 100 to 150 head of cattle for exhibiting purposes. He found, however, that his estimate was too low. State Senator Alton T. Roberts of Marquette, Mich., wrote that he would guarantee an exhibit from Northern Michigan that would make the exhibitors from Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin hurry to equal.

Now, however, it seems that such a show must go over for at least a year because of the prevalence of the hoof and mouth disease. The disease started in Michigan and has spread to a large area, Minnesota alone being free from it, but with the owners and breeders constantly in dread.

So strongly do they feel in the matter that it is considered doubtful if they will exhibit their cattle even at the local show for the infection is insidious and creeps in when least expected. The breeders and owners of herds are taking no chances.

Consequently not only will no further effort be made toward having a northern territory show, but it is, as yet, a question as to whether or not even the local show will be held. However that will be decided later.

C. P. Craig, who is president of the state fair association, says that because of the disease the national live stock exhibit and the international exhibit were abandoned last year and may be again this year. The national exhibit, which is always held in Chicago, has been offered to the Minnesota fair this year, to get it away from Chicago, but the state fair board has not yet accepted, according to Mr. Craig and may not, wholly for the reason that disease consequences are feared.

WELL PREPARED FOR USE OF GAS

Germans Had Every Arrangement for Distributing Poisonous Fumes.

London, May 5.—There has been given out in London a report on the use of the asphyxiating gases by the Germans from Sir John French, commander in chief of the expeditionary force on the continent which reads:

"The gases employed by the Germans have been ejected from pipes laid into trenches. It has been produced also by the explosion of shells especially manufactured for this purpose. German troops who attacked under cover of these gases were provided with especially designed respirators, which were issued in sealed packages to all points on the line. This shows methodical preparation on a large scale.

"A week before the Germans first used this method, they announced in their reports that we were making use of asphixiating gases. At that time there appeared to be no reason for this astounding falsehood. Now it is obvious that it was part of the scheme and is further proof of the deliberate nature of the introduction by the Germans of this new and illegal weapon. It shows they recognized its illegality and that they were anxious to forestall neutral and possibly domestic criticisms.

"Since the enemy first made use of this method of covering his advance with a cloud of poisoned air, he has repeated it both in offense and defense whenever the wind has been favorable.

"The effect of this poison is not merely disabling or painlessly fatal as has been suggested in the German press. Those victims who do not succumb on the field and who can be brought into hospitals suffer acutely and a large proportion of the cases die a painful and lingering death.

"Those who survive are in little better shape, as the injury to their lungs appears to be of a permanent character, and reduces them to a condition which points to their being invalids for life. These effects must have been well known to the German scientists who devised this new weapon, and to the military authorities who sanctioned its use.

"I am of the opinion that the enemy has definitely decided to use these gases as a normal procedure, and that protests will be useless."

DULUTH ARCHITECT GETS NASHWAUK JOB

Village Council Accepts Plans and Will Go Ahead With Village Hall.

Nashwauk, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council at a regular meeting held night before last accepted the plans for the proposed village hall submitted by W. A. Hunt, a Duluth architect. Bray & Nystrom and Halstad & Sullivan of Duluth, also submitted plans.

The proposed building will cost about $25,000 and will be a modern two story brick affair, 70x50, equipped not only with offices but with fire department headquarters, jail and a large auditorium and stage.

The plans and specifications will be ready within three weeks when the contract will be let and the work started as soon as possible.

Gambling Devices Must Go.

All gambling machines were ordered taken out of the village by Chief of Police Arthur White under direction of the council. A village ordinance requiring all owners of dogs to procure dog licenses was taken up and the village clerk instructed to send for tags. The village marshals are to first inform the owner and if not paid at once the dogs are to be shot, this matter was enforced two years ago and since that time the animals have again become a public nuisance which requires the use of the tag system in getting rid of some of the worthless curs.

Only one bid was received on the village scavenger work and the contract was awarded to J. P. Lamto at $72.00 per month. Many bills for April, owing to the large number of men that worked during the cleaning campaign in April, were disposed of. Other important matters will be taken up at the next regular meeting of the council.

EVELETH'S STREETS ARE BEING IMPROVED

Road Leading to Powder Warehouse; City Also to Be Fixed Up.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The street department did considerable last week in freeing the streets from small rocks and other small obstructions. Several large rocks were also removed from Jackson street and the street graded. It will be graveled.

Michael Langdon, superintendent of streets and alleys has been allowed $200 to spend on the road leading up to the new warehouse of the Dupont Powder company at the Virginia mine. The road passes through the city of Eveleth, Missabe Mountain township and the city of Virginia. Virginia and the township will do their share to put it in a passable condition. Curb stones which are removed from Hayes street because of a change in the grade will be placed in some of the alleys that were graded and graveled last year.

Hand Ordered.

A car of road oil has been ordered for delivery about June 1 for use on the streets. Road oil was used last year with good success. The city's street sprinkler and flusher will be delivered in a few weeks.

City Engineer C. M. Dorway has made an estimate of paving Monroe, Pierce, Jones, Jackson and Hayes streets, between Grant and Adams avenues, and bids will probably be advertised for to do the work in a short time. Money was levied for the purpose in the last budget. The city engineer's estimate of the cost ranges from $22,000 to $29,000, depending on the material used.

GETS EVELETH CONTRACT.

William Burke Will Lay Water Mains in Range City.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Burke was awarded a contract Tuesday for laying water mains on Hayes and Jackson street. His bid of $1,196.50 was $53.50 under the next bid, submitted by William Kilbride and F. E. Forristel, the Eveleth Construction company. The bid of August Paciotti was $1,299.50 and the proposal of the Lawrence-McCann company was $1 higher.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for storm sewers on Summit avenue. The engineer's estimate for the work is $3,205. Other bids are to be opened at an adjourned meeting Friday of this week.

The council acted favorably on the liquor license application of John Jans, passing it by a unanimous vote. Mayor Saari refused to make any recommendation on the application, stating that he preferred that each councilman make his own investigation.

ANGORA IS LIVELY.

Good Trade Being Enjoyed and Advancement Noted.

Angora, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—This place which is quite a trading center for farmers and loggers is enjoying a good trade and considerable building.

There are two sawmills, both of which manufacture board lumber, making a good market for logs and bolts. The Sherman Lumber company's mill, which has been running since March, will close down soon, having nearly finished its cut for the season.

The Angora Lumber company has been running its planing mill for some time, and shipping out a large quantity of lumber, which looks as if there is a good demand for lumber in the southern part of the state where the company has a retail yard.

This company expects to start their sawmill in a few days.

The farmers were getting along nicely with their seeding, but their activity has lately been somewhat checked by wet weather.

C. L. Nord is now running the Angora hotel, the lease formerly held by Adolph Nord having expired.

Mr. Nord is fitting up a building on Railroad avenue, across the street from the postoffice for a pool room.

Local people expect to be able to talk with Virginia and Duluth people very soon as the new telephone line is under construction.

IT RUINS HAIR TO WASH IT WITH SOAP

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless) is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy, lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

EVELETH ALSO TO CURB BLIND PIGS

Brewers to Be Asked Not to Sell to Unlicensed Places.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor J. S. Saari took another step toward the complete abolishing of unlicensed drinking places at the council meeting when he recommended that the council request the brewing companies not to sell to an unlicensed person, except in cases, to keep a complete record of sales and to deliver only by day light. By doing away with the sale of keg beer a hard blow will be dealt to the "blind pigs."

Recommendation Adopted.

The council acted on the mayor's recommendation at once by passing a resolution embodying the points he asked. Copies of the resolution will be sent to all brewing companies doing business in the city. Nothing was said but it is easily understood that the council is in a position to retaliate if any of the brewing companies fail to heed the request.

Several of the companies doing business in Eveleth have expressed a desire to do only a legitimate business and promised support in eliminating the unlicensed places.

To Boost Cleanup.

The council gave the cleanup movement a boost when a motion was passed requesting the mayor to appoint an inspector to work during the summer months under the direction of the health commissioner. His duties will be to make regular inspections of the alleys and see that they are kept in clean and sanitary condition. Where his orders are not obeyed he will have the power to prosecute.

Another move toward a more beautiful city was taken at the suggestion of Commissioner Owens when it was that two additional pound masters be appointed and assigned to regular beats on the outskirts of the city to keep cows from invading the city and trampling lawns and gardens. The council passed a motion to appoint the additional officers. This action on the part of the council will encourage property owners to remove their fences and improve their lawns and boulevards.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY BY KNITTING FOR POOR.

Chisholm, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. A. F. Berdette celebrated her 75th birthday by knitting mittens for the poor of Chisholm. Mrs. Berdette is a pioneer of this section and is the grandmother of Pal Brown. For her age Mrs. Berdette is active and takes great pleasure in visiting with her many friends in the village.

EVELETH HIGH TEAM WILL PLAY HIBBING

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school baseball team will play its first game of the season with the high school team of Hibbing at that place Saturday afternoon. A large number of students are planning to accompany the team.

The local lineup will be: Cyril Glode, catcher; Capt. Matt Levant, pitcher; Ernest Lampi, first base; Arthur Saari, second base; Alvern Damberg, third base; Harry Roberts, short stop; James Greco, left field; Clarence Kiley, center field, and Atrey Kentta, right field.

EAGLES' CONCESSION TO BE SOLD AT EVELETH

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Concessions to sell confectionery, refreshments, canes, balloons, etc., on the streets during the Eagles' convention June 8, 9 and 10 will be sold to the highest bidder, the proceeds to go to the convention fund. The city administration has agreed to stand by the concessions granted by the convention committee. The only thing stipulated by the council was that no concession be granted to sell confetti. Dealers of the city will also be requested not to sell confetti.

Eveleth Septic Tank Site.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city has obtained a site for a septic tank near the outlet of the sewer southwest of the city. The land was obtained from the Oliver Iron Mining company on a lease. Frederick Bass, an engineer formerly employed by the state board of health, has been retained to prepare plans for the tank. The city now dumps its sewage into an open sewer where it has proven offensive to property owners through which it passes.

After Eveleth Speeders.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Robert Mitten, acting on instructions from Mayor J. S. Saari, has ordered his men to be on the watch for motorists violating the speed laws. New traffic regulations are being considered, but there will be no changes in the regulations until a trial has been made to get the desired results under present ordinances and statutes. Mayor Saari has instructed the chief of police to enforce the speed law in particular.

Eveleth Stork Active.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stork easily outdistanced the grim reaper in Eveleth during April. According to the records of Health Commissioner N. C. Bulkley there were 23 births and 9 deaths in the city during the month.

The Scandinavian societies will give a big picnic at Ely lake June 27 at the city park, an ideal location.

Mission at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Father Mullaley, who is conducting a mission at Hibbing this week and who was in Duluth last week, will be brought to Eveleth soon for a seven days' mission at St. Patrick's church. Services will be held daily at the church and it is probable that the auditorium will be used one evening.

MEAT PROBE IS TO BE CONTINUED

Virginia Council Decides to Again Look Into High Prices.

Virginia, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council decided last night to again take up the probe of the alleged meat combine among local butchers, which was dropped several months ago or held up by court proceedings, City Attorney Montague advising the council that the committing of R. A. Peers to jail for contempt in not producing his books had no bearing on the question.

No Second Telephone.

Virginia will not have a second telephone, the council tabling the proposition of granting a franchise to the concern that proposed to install an automatic system. The letting of the cement sidewalk contracts went over a week after J. P. Boyle spoke in behalf of Killbride & Ellsworth of Eveleth, the lowest bidders.

Mayor Boylan appointed Adelbert Trotter on the water and light board, succeeding J. W. Murphy, whose term expired, and the appointment was promptly confirmed. The mayor recently appointed Alderman Heritage to the position, but the council declined to confirm the appointment, and since then there have been rumors of recall proceedings. In voting for Trotter, Alderman Harvey said he did so because he admired the man's ability and he had "not been whipped into line." This was the only reference to the pending recall of Aldermen Harvey and Matheson, although it was expected there might be some lively talk over that proceeding.

Mayor Boylan appointed H. D. Peterson on the park board and the appointment was confirmed.

The septic tank inspector was not appointed and no action was taken with reference to a traffic ordinance or in regard to designating an engineer to report on the Sixth street sewer foundation.

SIBLEY MINE SHAFT WORK PROGRESSING

Men Working From Top and Bottom; Will Be 600 Feet Deep.

Ely, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new shaft at the Sibley mine is down about 130 feet. About twenty-five men are working night and day sinking from the top and raising from the bottom. The shaft will be of steel and lined in concrete. It will have a three department shaft, having two skips and one cage.

It will probably be several months before the new shaft is completed but when complete will be one of the finest in this mining district. When the new steel shaft is completed the old shaft now in use will be abandoned on account of being in the body of the ore. The shaft will be about 600 feet in depth.

ELY MOOSE BENEFIT.

Performance Given By Lodge Delights Large Audience.

Ely, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Moose lodge benefit at the opera house last night drew a large audience. There were four reels of moving pictures, interspersed with vaudeville sketches by home talent. The first act was a string quartet—Victor Carlson, guitar; Fred Hanson, mandolin; Andrew Hanson, guitar; Gustaf Lindberg, violin. The next was a piano solo by Tiny Stenback, and two vocal solos by Guy Coffey. The third act was a pow-wow dance by Ole Fernlund, assisted by the three little children of Edward Edwards playing the tom-tom. August Maki, commonly called "The Great Augustus," mystified the audience with magical tricks. All the numbers were applauded loudly. Ole Fernlund's dance kept the audience in convulsions of laughter. Mr. Fernlund had to respond with an encore to quiet the applause.

The Moose have announced that they will present the second of their benefit entertainments next month. The next will be a minstrel and drama by the local lodge members. The date has not been set.

On the first round trip the club will meet every team in the league except Duluth and Superior, the order being Fargo, Grand Forks, Winnipeg, St. Boniface and Fort William.

The Ore Diggers will probably line up at Fargo tomorrow as follows: McCabe, right field; Fortman, second base; Widell, first base; Greisch, left field; Brokaw, center field; Sundheim, shortstop; Watkins, third base; Cronin and De Parque, catchers. FAIR

The morning broke with promise of at least partly fair weather, but the clouds would just not behave and gloom resumed its labors. Of course, all hope is not yet lost, but prevailing conditions are not helping any in the hope-bolstering business. Also the weather man announces that there will be frost tonight and advises all who have outdoor plants to protect them.

A year ago today there was fog with a drizzling rain. The sun rose this morning at 4:45 and will set this evening at 7:23, giving fourteen hours and thirty-eight minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather prevails in Western Canada and the Red river valley. Freezing temperatures occurred in Eastern Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the northern portions of Montana and North Dakota, and Central and Western Wyoming. Heavy frost occurred at Valentine, Neb. During the last twenty-four hours rain fell over the Lake region, Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Middle and North Atlantic states, California, Southern Utah, Nevada, Colorado, Western Kansas, Texas, Louisiana and Western Montana, and rain or snow over Manitoba and Eastern North Dakota. They found Mr. Smith's father much improved. They will spend the summer in Virginia. Mr. Smith likes the country about Fort McMurray and believes it has a fine future.

AURORA NOW LIGHTED BY ITS NEW PLANT

Aurora, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village current for lights was supplied last night by the new electric light plant, the old plant having been put out of commission burned on the boiler. Monday there were no lights and old lamps and candles were pressed into service. William Cronquist, foreman at the new plant, hustled things into shape and got the new engine and dynamo into the working order and the wires were changed over and connected with the new plant and last night there were lights a-plenty.

The new plant is not yet completed and will not be ready to turn over to the village for several days yet, but the work had so far progressed that with a few inconveniences it was possible to operate in an emergency. It will be several days before the damage at the old plant is repaired.

RUBBER HEELS WON'T CURE YOU

Artificial means won't bring back the "springy step" of good health. You must get to the bottom of the trouble. General weakness, "that tired feeling," sleeplessness, nervousness, many so-called "female complaints," are only nature's way of warning you to look after your kidneys, bladder and stomach. If your kidneys and bowels are not throwing off the poisons in your body, you will notice it either in a general feeling of tiredness, backache, body blotches, bad breath, stomach disorders, or inconvenience and pains in the urinary tract. Possibly gravel, or stone in the bladder, or uric acid crystals are beginning to form.

You can readily stop this at once by going to your druggist and insisting on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They act quickly, and almost instantly attack the poisonous germs that are clogging up your system. For over two hundred years they have been helping others. Why not try them? Sold everywhere by reliable druggists in sealed packages, 25c, 50c and $1.00. Money refunded if they do not help you. Look out for counterfeits! Make sure the name "GOLD MEDAL" is on the box. Also our name, Genuine Haarlem Oil Mfg. Co., American Office, 194 Water street, New York City.

DO YOU FEEL DEPRESSED?

The form of influenza commonly called "the grip" is no respecter of persons. Rich and poor alike suffer from it.

The duration of the acute stage of the grip is short, a few days at most. Without complications it is never fatal. What makes the grip so dreaded is the miserable condition in which it leaves its victims after the cold and fever have run their course. Some medical writers refer to this "after-effect" of the grip as a form of neurasthenia.

Depression of spirits, headache, thin blood, deranged digestion, over-sensitive nerves—these are the usual after-effects of the grip, and they will continue even for months and years until the blood is built up and made rich and red.

After an attack of the grip all the vital powers of the body are at a low ebb. Building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the surest way to restore the weakened body. They have a special action on the nerves and every sufferer from the lingering effects of the grip should give them a trial. Your own druggist sells them.

Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free book, "Building Up the Blood." If you have stomach trouble ask for a diet book also.

ANNUAL CAMP MEETING.

Will Be Held at Red Rock Near St. Paul, June 24 to July 6

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—Missionaries first arrived at Red Rock, six miles below St. Paul), in 1837. The first camp meeting was held in 1841 with Revs. B. Kavanaugh, D. King, Samuel Alkin and Mr. McReynolds as leaders. Jacob Folstrom and James Thompson were then acting as interpreters to the Sioux Indians. Bishop Ames of the Methodist Episcopal church was then home secretary visiting Indian missions and came down the St. Croix river from Lake Superior in a birch canoe.

In 1869 the first of these annual camp meetings was held. Rev. C. G. Bowdish, the Newport pastor, and presiding elder John Quigley, were the leading spirits. Nearly all noted evangelists of the Methodist Episcopal church have since visited the meetings. The services are now under the supervision of the Minnesota Pentecostal association and the camp meeting will be held this year, June 24-July 6. Rev. G. G. Vallentyne is president; George E. Nettleton, first vice president; J. J. Hoffman, second vice president; F. E. Reynolds, secretary; T. W. Stout, treasurer, and Jacob Berger, superintendent of grounds. Among those to be present this year are: Evangelists G. F. Oliver and C. H. Babcock, Professor W. B. Yates, singer, Mrs. Thomas B. Talbot for children's work, Bishop Oldham and others.

MARKET OFF ON CROP NEWS

Wheat Turns Weak After Strong Opening on Southwest Reports.

Flaxseed Advances With Steady Crushers' Inquiry and Limited Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 5.—The market was weak at the close, with no snap to trading.

May wheat closed ¾c off; July 1¼c off, and September unchanged. May durum closed 3¾c off; July 4c off, and September ½c up.

Oats closed ½c up at 53¼@53¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.17@1.18; barley unchanged at from 67c to 76c, and corn ½c off at 75½c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c up at 62½c, and July unchanged to ¼c up at 64½c.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.51¾, and calls at $1.54¼.

After a strong opening on higher cables, the wheat market turned easy today, and quotations showed moderate declines from yesterday's close. Bearish sentiment was created by a glowing report, and predictions of a 675,000,000-bu yield of fall wheat by a crop expert. Cheerful news regarding the outlook also came from over the Northwest, all authorities agreeing that prospects were never brighter for this early in the season.

The strength was helped along at the start by good buying on the part of exporters at Winnipeg, and sales of some wheat to Eastern millers made by Duluth operators. Later offerings were freer with selling by some of the large operators reported. An especially weak situation developed in durum, the May future selling off 2¾c, and a decline of 4c being recorded in July. The break was precipitated by selling on the part of an operator, with no buying power in the pit to take care of the offerings. It is said that practically all the May contracts in durum entered into by operators have been taken care of or a settlement effected.

Duluth dealers express themselves as more bullish than ever regarding the market situation in old wheat. It is pointed out that millers have of late been showing anxiety regarding the whereabouts of their supplies, and that they are entering the market more freely, having despaired of the expected reaction coming about. A bullish feature commented upon today were advices that the June future at Buenos Aires is being quoted at 16c over Chicago July. That is regarded as making the July future in Chicago and Duluth look cheap.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.63½, gained ⅝c and then eased off to $1.62⅞ at the noon hour. July opened unchanged at $1.59½, advanced ½c and then broke 1⅝c. September held comparatively strong. It opened ¼c up at $1.24⅞, and held at that figure, after selling up to $1.25⅛.

May durum opened ¼c off at $1.70½, and broke 3c more. July opened unchanged at $1.69, and declined 4c.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed was on comparatively light offerings and steady inquiry from crushers. The market was narrow and featureless with trading confined to small lots, during the greater part of the session. Buying on a broader scale appeared near the close.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.98½, and closed ⅜c up at $1.99¾ bid. July opened ¼c up at $2.01⅜, and closed ½c up at $2.01⅝. September opened unchanged at $2.03¾ and closed ⅛c up at $2.04 asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅜c up at $1.80¾, and July ⅞c up at $1.83⅜.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1c up at $1.28⅞ and at London ⅝c up at $1.91.

John Inglis wires Logan & Bryan from Colby, Kansas: "Wheat through northern and northwestern counties looks well. In extreme western counties the growth is not so far advanced as last year, but present condition is promising. Alfalfa first cutting will be heavy. Considerable wheat is lodging out along the line. There is an abundance of moisture. It is still cold, but there is no frost."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was dull, with undertone steady. American cables were considered easier with Indian offers larger, but Buenos Aires firmness and dearer La Plata offers helped to offset some bearish influences. Spot market was quiet, unchanged.

"Cargo market was dull in winters and La Platas were unchanged. Expectations are for liberal Argentine shipments this week to the United Kingdom and fair arrivals at ports here together with free offerings of new American winters, and very favorable American crop advices serve to keep the trade conservative.

"Corn was dull with a firm undertone. American offers were slightly dearer. La Plata offers were firm on expectations of light La Plata shipments this week."

An important Italian syndicate has been formed with representatives in both North and South America to purchase wheat and re-sell it at cost prices to the mills.

There is generally a better demand for oats at Liverpool with stocks decreasing. America is shipping liberally and these serve to offset smaller exports from Argentina, according to Broomhall.

H. F. Salyards, of Ely-Salyards & Co., has returned from an extended inspection trip over North Dakota and Montana. He went out over the Great Northern as far as Williston, N. D., from whence the country was covered by auto. The wheat plant looks well in all sections, having had a good start, and growers are generally optimistic, he says. Conditions in Northeastern Montana are not so good as there has been no rain so far this spring and it is dry. That, however, is not unusual, he pointed out, as they seldom get any rainfall there during April. If it rains by May 15, it is thought that the crop will be all right, as the ground was well prepared and the acreage sown to wheat was increased about 50 per cent.

"It is conceded that there is going to be a small acreage sown to flaxseed over the Northwest this season," said Mr. Salyards. "In the usual banner territory for the crop in Northeastern Montana, only about 50 per cent of the average acreage will be put in. The acreage in flax in North Dakota will also be largely cut down."

Government weekly weather report: "Over the greater part of the area to the winter wheat crop, the weather favored rapid development and the crop is reported in good condition save in the more eastern and southeastern states, where continued drouth has greatly retarded growth.

"In portions of Kansas, the growth has been too rank in places on account of too much rain, and more sunshine is needed in central states, Oklahoma and Northern Texas.

"In the spring wheat states, seeding is nearing completion, and early sown is making excellent growth.

"Corn planting is progressing satisfactorily in all central districts, and preparations for planting are under way in more northern sections. Soil is in good condition save over more eastern districts and southern states east of Mississippi, where lack of rain continues to delay growth."

Ottawa dispatches declare that the embargo on wheat and other Canadian products was declared at the suggestion of the British authorities in London. Not only are wheat and farm products affected, but various sorts of provisions have been added to the list. There are said to be only 7,000,000 bushels of wheat available for export in Canada at the present time. The prohibition was made discretionary with the dominion authorities, rather than absolute in the case of American importers wanting wheat for export. If such importers can furnish the dominion government with satisfactory assurance that none of the wheat will reach Germany, Austria or Turkey, it was said, permits for the exportation of such shipments could be issued.

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received, and the average precipitations from the number of stations reporting 0.10 or more.
NOTE—Weekly summaries of conditions in the grain region will be telegraphed from Washington April 13, and each Tuesday thereafter during the growing season, except that this summary will be telegraphed and published on Wednesday whenever the preceding Monday is a holiday.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in the corn and wheat region for the week ending May 4, 1915:

Washington, D. C., May 5, 1915.—West of the Mississippi river ample moisture and sunshine caused continuation of rapid growth of winter wheat, which is reported in good condition everywhere, but there is some complaint of too rank growth in portions of Kansas. East of the Mississippi river conditions are excellent in Illinois and the ohio valley and in many other sections, but general rains would be beneficial. Seeding of spring wheat is nearly completed under favorable conditions and with ample soil moisture.

Corn planting is well advanced and progressing satisfactorily except some delay in plains states on account of wet soil. Early planted corn germinated well except in Texas; cultivation has begun in southern portions of belt. Oats and grass are in excellent condition except fair in portions of the Ohio valley and to eastward, and short to southward. The southwest ranges poor. The condition and stock is doing well. Fruit prospects continue excellent east of Rocky mountains but considerable damage from frost in plateau states.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bearish Crop Reports Quickly Overcome an Early Advance in Wheat.

Chicago, May 5.—Bearish crop reports quickly overcame today in the wheat market here an advance due to the firmness of quotations at Liverpool. A leading expert here had issued a statement estimating the domestic winter wheat yield as likely to be as much as 675,000,000 bushels. The volume of trade was rather small, and the tone nervous. After opening ¼c off to ½c up, the market scored moderate gains all around and then fell back to about last night's level.

Figures indicating that this year the winter wheat in the United States would be 4,500,000 acres larger at harvest than 1914, gave the market a further setback. The close was steady, but 1c to 1¼c net lower.

Corn swayed with wheat. Cash demand was only fair. The opening which varied from a shade off to ⅛c advance, was followed by slight general upturns and then a reaction.

Better weather in Argentina counted somewhat against the bulls. The close was steady at ½c to ⅝c net decline.

Trade in oats was mainly local. Price changes were unimportant.

Strength in the hog market was reflected by provisions. What selling there was came mostly from holders taking profits.

INCREASE IS OVERWHELMING

Grain Shipments in April 10,000,000 Bus. More Than Last Year.

Wheat, Corn and Oats Lead—Receipts of Oats Gain.

During the first month, or part of month, of navigation this year, shipments of grain of all kinds overshadow the shipments during the corresponding period last year.

The aggregate shipments during April are more than 10,000,000 bushels in excess of those of April, 1914, the greatest increase being in wheat, corn and oats. Rye showed a loss.

Total grain shipments from the time the first boat started down the lakes on April 17, this year, amount to 14,399,585 bushels as against 4,105,055 bushels in April, 1914, a difference of 10,294,530 bushels.

The cause of the overwhelming increase is, of course, the tremendous demand for grain for export, especially in wheat, corn and oats.

Receipts show an increase of last year of over 1,000,000 bushels for the month, the chief percentage of increase being in oats.

Following is a table of receipts and shipments—in bushels—during April, just issued by the Duluth board of trade:

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Fears of Conflict Between China and Japan Cause Liquidation.

Prices Crumble in the Final Hour and Closing Is Weak.

New York, May 5.—Moderate trading marked the early dealings on the stock exchange today, the undertone showing irregular tendencies. There were gains of 1 to 2 points in war specialties, notably Westinghouse, Pressed Steel Car, American Locomotive and Crucible Steel, but some of the standard issues, including Reading, Canadian Pacific and Southern Pacific were fractionally lower. Later the list developed strength, United States Steel, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper rising a point each with gains of as much in the motor group. London's prices for Americans showed little change, except in Canadian Pacific and Reading, which reflected heaviness.

The early rise was not long maintained, pressure soon reducing most gains and causing a number of stocks to sell not only under yesterday's close but below minimum prices of that session. Westinghouse, the most active feature of the first hour, lost all its rise, but Bethlehem Steel, which had been ignored in the initial movement, rose 8 points on reports that it had received additional war orders. United States Steel receded on denial that the company had been awarded additional war orders. Bonds were irregular.

Reading's weakness became more pronounced in the early afternoon and provoked further selling of the general list. Bethlehem Steel yielded half its gain.

Fears of a conflict between China and Japan caused uneasiness in local financial circles and induced general liquidation, with many severe losses.

Prices crumbled in the final hour, advices from the Orient resulting in heavy selling. The closing was weak.

MANY PUPILS WIN HONORS

Students of Denfeld School in Spirited Rivalry to Get on List.

Honor Roll Now Includes Twenty-Five Per Cent of Enrollment.

Spirited rivalry to get on the honor roll at the Robert E. Denfeld high school is going on among the students of that institution. Two months ago when the list was published, there were less than fifty names. A month ago there were sixty-six, and this month the number has been swelled by fifteen.

The honor roll now comprises nearly twenty-five per cent of the entire enrollment. S. A. Foster, principal of the school, says that this is a very good showing, but that it is not going to stop at that, and that the students are striving to place more than 50 per cent on the roll before the end of this month.

Percentage of 90.

Eighteen of these students have attained a percentage of ninety or better in every study. The other sixty-three have a standing of ninety or better in at least three of their subjects. MUST STAND TEST OF INSPECTION

With the going into effect of the new reorganization system at the Duluth postoffice next Monday, Postmaster William E. McEwen hopes to see the service here put on as high a standard as any office in the United States. He has great faith in the efficiency of the new system and desires the public to co-operate in helping correct any defects in service.

While the foreman of carriers will, insofar as possible, keep the carrier service checked up, the public is asked to report to the postmaster any faults in the service that may be corrected. All such information is treated confidentially, and each case of reported delinquency is investigated. Mr. McEwen speaks highly of the employes in the service, and says that he will try to secure the co-operation of the carriers, the postmaster and the public, so that the results may stand the acid test of inspection.

Postmaster McEwen is expected to appoint a foreman of carriers within the next three days.

CONDITIONS AT CANADIAN TWINS

Fair Coal Stocks; Grain Receipts Fall Off; Steady Shipments.

F. & W. Jones, transportation agents of Fort William, Ont., report the following shipping conditions at the Canadian Head of the Lakes up to last Saturday:

"Four coal cargoes have been unloaded this week—two in Canadian bottoms and two in American. Of these only one was bituminous, the balance being anthracite and for dealers. No service coal has arrived to date. Four steamers are now under the rigs and three more are en route. All docks have fair stocks on hand and are not in need of arrivals for immediate shipments. Western car shipments have been brisk, and in excess of last week's output. All the coal docks are now in full working order, there has been no Sunday work and docks will only agree to do such extra work when it is absolutely necessary.

"During the past week 5,217,497 bushels of grain have been shipped east— five in American bottoms and fourteen in Canadian bottoms. Receipts have fallen off and stocks show a decrease of approximately 4,500,000 bushels compared with this time last year. Dispatch remains good, most vessels loading at two or three elevators.

"Weather conditions were unfavorable Thursday and Friday, a severe northwest gale with rain delaying movements around the harbor and necessitating the use of tugs. It is expected that shipments will remain steady during the first half of May and pick up again by July, when the start of an early crop is expected.

"Stocks on hand at date, and receipts and shipments during the week are as follows:

	Stocks	Receipts.	Shipments.
Wheat	7,210,987	1,422,523	5,011,281
Oats	3,635,783	249,809	288,232

TONNAGE INCREASE THROUGH SAULT

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Traffic through the Sault canals during April show a tonnage almost double that of the corresponding period a year ago. Freight locked through the canals during the month of April last year totaled 774,520 tons, of which 337,338 tons were handled on the American side and 437,182 tons by the Canadian canal. In April this year 1,434,735 tons were handled, 1,319,051 tons passing through the American canals and 115,684 tons through the Canadian canal.

The increase on the American side is due to the operation of the new Davis lock, which was opened to traffic last October, and also in a measure to favorable weather and an earlier opening of navigation this year. The Canadian canal opened April 13, and the American canals April 17.

All commodities with the exception of soft coal and manufactured iron show increases. The tonnage of soft coal this year is smaller by 139,121 tons. A report in detail follows:

CROSBY SCHOOL IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Crosby, Minn., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last night about 11:30 o'clock fire broke out in the Washington school. The alarm was sounded and the fire department was soon fighting the fire with three streams of water besides a stream from a small hose connection on the second floor of the building.

After an hour of hard fighting the flames were extinguished. The structure still stands, but the rear and roof is badly burned and the books and furniture badly damaged by smoke and water. The loss is estimated to be between $4,000 and $5,000, fully covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is not known, but from indications it seems to have started in the boiler room.

RAILROADS

RAILROADS WILL SHARE PROSPERITY

President Hannaford of N. P. Says General Conditions Are Improving.

Business is on the upward climb, and railroads will share in the prosperity that should be general during the coming year, according to Jules M. Hannaford, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, who was in Duluth between trains last night.

"The war has done about all the damage it can do," declared the Northern Pacific head, "and the United States is in a good condition, generally. Crop prospects are good, there is plenty of money in the country and I do not see why business and industry should not move forward in the next twelve months.

"We are planning a number of extensions to mines on the Cuyuna range," he declared. "Extensions have been planned also for several sections of Montana, but I see no chance of this work being done soon.

"As far as Northern Minnesota is concerned, we shall be greatly disappointed if we do not have splendid passenger patronage during the summer months. The attitude towards railroads seems to be more reasonable, and we expect a better season all around."

A walk through the business section of Duluth and observation of the traffic on Superior street, prompted some comment on the jitney bus:

"I shall be surprised if your city council does not do something to place this new means of transportation on a fair basis of competition with the street car company. If the city required the same service of the jitneys that it does of the street car company the competition would be fair, but as it is now, if any one is hurt, the only claim he has against the jitney driver is a second-hand Ford.

"St. Paul has not been infested with jitneys as yet," Mr. Hannaford said in conclusion. He returned to the Twin Cities at 11:10 p. m.

BETTER TRAFFIC REPORTED BY SOO

Substantial improvement in freight traffic is reported by Soo line officials, and hopes are expressed that from now on increases over last year will be the rule.

Store is being set upon the large acreage seeded in the road's territory and the betterment shown of late in the westbound traffic movement.

Net earnings of the company for February were reported at $300,575, as compared with $96,441 during the same month last year, an increase of $204,134. For the eight months of the current fiscal year, net income after taxes was reported at $4,384,654, an increase of $291,609 over the corresponding period of 1914. The road's Chicago division earned $212,764 net in February, an increase of $22,701, but for the eight months its earnings fell off to the extent of $224,276.

It is estimated that the Soo will add considerably to its mileage in Montana during the present year. The carrying through of its extension in that state was deferred last year on account of unfavorable financial conditions.

HOMESITES
IN GLEN AVON.

We have some of the finest lots in Duluth located in Glen Avon and Hunter's Park, overlooking Waverly Park, Crescent View Park, and within two blocks of Congdon Park. Superb view of the lake and the Wisconsin shore in the distance. These lots are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They are surrounded by splendid homes, close to church and school and street car. Many of these lots have gas, water and sewer. When you buy here you are not buying a new boom addition, where you are a pioneer, as it were, but the improvements are there and the type of houses surrounding you is assured. Think of this: Eleven of these lots have the finest paved street in the city of Duluth, which cost $240 for 50 feet. This is fully paid for and does not add a cent to the price of the lots for you. If you were thinking of building a home, you can make a 20 per cent larger loan on a house built here than on a house built in a new suburb. We can place the loans for you on houses built here.

These lots lie between Victoria street and Hardy street and between Wallace avenue and Vermilion road, one of the choicest locations in Duluth. The lots are 50 by 190 and 50 by 200 feet. Prices vary from $800 to $1,700 per lot on five years' time.

Call us up and make appointments to see these lots. Look them over and compare them with any other lots in the city, and then you will be convinced of our low prices and desirability of purchasing here. Investigate these.

YOUNG WIFE SHOT AND KILLED BY HER HUSBAND WHO COMMITS SUICIDE IN HOME AT COLERAINE

MOTIVE FOR TRAGEDY IS NOT KNOWN

Roy R. McQuade, Assistant Bank Cashier, Shoots Wife and Self.

No Irregularity in Books and Home Life Apparently Happy.

Member of One of Oldest Families in St. Louis County.

Coleraine, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Assistant Cashier Roy R. McQuade of the First National bank of Coleraine shot and killed his young wife and then committed suicide in their home here yesterday morning. The double tragedy was not discovered until last night.

Deputy Coroner R. Blair and a jury held an inquest to discover the motive which prompted the tragedy, as the bank officials state that Mr. McQuade's accounts show no discrepancy and it was generally supposed he and his wife lived happily together. Evidence shows that the crime was committed with a pistol belonging to the bank where McQuade was employed and that the killing and suicide took place some time yesterday.

Seen Early Wednesday.

McQuade was seen on the street about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. It is presumed he came down town, secured the weapon and, going home, killed his wife and himself, but for what reason no one knows, and the coroner's jury is trying to find out.

Grant Seaton, cashier of the First National bank, said that he had looked over the bank's books and found everything all right. The double crime was discovered about 9 o'clock last night

TO DELIVER ULTIMATUM

Japan's Demands on China at Jap Legation in Pekin.

Will Probably Be Presented to Chinese Government at Once.

Pekin, China, May 6.—The ultimatum of Japan to China reached the Japanese legation today. It probably was presented to the Chinese government this afternoon.

Demands Unparalleled.

London, May 6.—The Daily News today publishes an editorial article on the Chinese situation which reads in part:

"It would not be easy to parallel such demands from one power to another as Japan has made on China. In many respects they are more stringent than the Austrian demands upon Serbia, which led to the European war, and China has done nothing to incur such a penalty. She offered no menace to Japan and she wanted only to enjoy her own liberties in her own way.

"If China had been a military nation she never would have been thus challenged. She had neither the will nor the power to take an unfriendly and irreconcilable course toward her pow-

MANDATE IN FRANK CASE IS ISSUED

Supreme Court Takes Early Action at Request of Georgia Officials.

Washington, May 6.—Upon the request of counsel for Leo M. Frank, the supreme court yesterday issued its mandate by which the decision of the Georgia Federal district court denying Frank a writ of habeas corpus was affirmed. Ordinarily the mandate would not have been issued until May 19, thirty days after the court's decision. It is believed that the action of Frank's counsel was taken to facilitate the application before the Georgia state officials for commutation of Frank's sentence to death for the murder of Mary Phagan, the Atlanta factory girl.

Will Be Resentenced.

Atlanta, Ga., May 6.—It is expected the mandate will reach the court here late this week, when Frank will be taken before the county superior court for resentence next Saturday or Monday. The May term of the prison commission ends Saturday and a hearing of Frank's application probably would not be given until the term which begins June 1.

Georgia law directs that an execution date shall be set not less than twenty nor more than sixty days after sentence.

GERMAN OFFENSIVE IN CARPATHIANS OF MOST VIGOROUS CHARACTER

Petrograd Reports Serious Movement From Region of Cracow.

Eclipses All Other Maneuvers in Attempt to Dislodge Russ.

Fierce Fighting Between Upper Vistula and the Mountains.

Petrograd, May 6. via London.—With intermittent activity, consisting chiefly of intense artillery fire along the whole front from the Baltic provinces to the Austrian crown lands of Bukowina, the Germans are developing a most serious movement in large force from the region of the Austrian fortress of Cracow, in the direction of the river Dunajec. The Germans succeeded in forcing the river but, according to Russian advices, they were effectively checked on the east bank by artillery fire.

In number of troops and pieces of artillery and generally through the vigorous character of the movement, this offensive eclipses all the other scattering maneuvers which the Germans have been employing in an attempt to dislodge the Russians from the Carpathian mountains.

New York, May 6.—The letter-writing murderer who killed 5-year-old Elenore Cohn and 4-year-old Charlie Murray, has written to the Murray boy's mother, telling her that he will commit another murder when the present excitement over her child's death subsides.

The letter was received today at the time the little victim's body was about to be buried. Mrs. Murray read one paragraph and collapsed. The missive was taken to the police headquarters to be examined for finger prints.

LAFAYETTE YOUNG.

ACTIVITY BY SUBMARINES

Danish Steamer Cathay Goes Down in the North Sea.

Sixteeen Trawlers Sent to Bottom Since Last Sunday.

London, May 6.—The steamer Cathay, from Copenhagen for Chinese ports, was either mined or torpedoed late last night in the North sea. She went down in twenty minute. Her passengers and the members of her crew, totaling forty-three persons, took to the small boats and all were landed safely at Ramsgate today.

The Cathay was a Danish steamer. She was built in 1898 and was of 2,596 tons net register. She measured 296 feet long and was owned in Copenhagen.

Sunk By Gunfire.

The trawler Stratton of Grimsby was sunk in the North sea yesterday by the gunfire of a German submarine. The crew was taken on board the submarine.

The schooner Earl of Latham was sunk by a German submarine off Kinsale on the Irish coast. The crew was permitted to take to the small boats, and was rescued by a trawler. The submarine fired nine shells at the schooner before she sank.

A Norwegian steamer landed last evening the crew of the trawler Scepter, which was torpedoed forty miles off Peterhead.

This brings the total number of trawler victims of German underwater boats since Sunday up to sixteen. The submarines seem to be making a determined effort to prevent England from procuring fish in the North sea.

None of the trawlers, according to the stories told by their crews, surrendered while they had the slightest chance to escape. Generally the fishermen did not take to their boats until bullets or shells were flying about them. Despite these statements, no loss of life among the crews of the trawlers has occurred.

DEADLY GASES WILL BE USED EXTENSIVELY

Teuton Line Now Within Three Miles of Town of Ypres.

Counter-Attacks on Hill 60 Have Been Partially Successful.

British Press Does Not Minimize Persistency of the Germans.

London, May 6.—For the first time since the British forced the Germans from Hill No. 60, near Ypres, the soldiers of Emperor William have been partly successful in their counter-attacks, and no advices to the contrary having been received, it is assumed that the Germans are still holding today the positions they obtained upon the hill by the use of asphyxiating gases.

In the meanwhile the German line to the east of Ypres is within three miles of the town. The British press does not seek to deny or minimize the persistency of this German offensive, but there is no disposition to lament the drawing in of the British front to the eastward and the northeastward of Ypres, which was the only alternative to a successful counter-attack. Confidence is expressed that the new British alignment will prove beneficial in view of the hard fighting which is expected.

Massing Men.

Nearly all the special news dispatches from Northern France and the Belgian frontier say the Germans are massing men for a new assault in the direction of the French ports and as gas now seems to be a regular adjunct of the German attacks the allies expect it will play an important part hereafter whenever the direction of the wind is favorable to the Germans.

British observers of the war, sifting all the news from the eastern arena of hostilities admit this morning that the

YOUNG ARRESTED AT INNSBRUCK

Former Iowa Senator's Companion Under Suspicion; Both Released.

Vienna, May 6, via London.—Former United States Senator Lafayette Young of Des Moines, Ia., accompanied by a former American deputy consul at Berne, Switzerland, was arrested at Innsbruck, Austria, yesterday, on a suspicion of espionage directed against Mr. Young's companion.

Mr. Young was promptly released with apologies after a few hours detention in his hotel, but his companion was held in custody in the hotel until today, before he was able to satisfy the suspicions of the authorities, who apparently had been warned to look for a man of the same name.

Mr. Young arrived in Vienna this morning. Speaking of the incident, he said he saw no reason for complaint. He left later in the day for Berlin.

On European Tour.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 6.—Former Senator Lafayette Young left here for his European tour Jan. 26, first visiting London, where he spent a month. He was in Belgium for ten days and since has been in Paris and the French battlefields. He was in the French trenches in the northern part of France on April 15, 16 and 17.

Senator Young is in Europe in the capacity of war correspondent of his own newspaper, the Des Moines Capitol.

PREPARATIONS FOR WAR ARE RAPIDLY CONTINUED BY ITALY

Carabineers and Customs Guards Are Called to Colors.

Frontier on Austrian Side Has Been Strongly Fortified.

On the Italian Frontier, Wednesday, May 5, via Paris, May 6.—At the same time that the negotiations between Italy and Austria are being continued, Italy's military preparations are being completed with as much energy as though the country expected to participate in war tomorrow.

All the Carabineers and the customs guards, who in Italy are attached to the army, have been called to the colors, and all military leaves of absence have been suppressed.

The frontier of Italy on the Austrian side has been strongly fortified. All the passes are protected with entrenchments and wire entanglements. Concrete has been used in a number of places in the erection of barricades for the protection of the soldiers.

Defense of Venice.

Special measures have been adopted for the defense of Venice and the art treasures in this city. The naval authorities are of the opinion that long range guns of large caliber are sufficient to prevent any hostile fleet from bombarding the city, but attack from aeroplanes is feared. To afford protection against the onslaughts of aviators, anti-airship guns have been set up at several points around the city, and it is believed they will suffice to protect Venice from assault from above.

In addition to the troops concentrated on the Austrian frontier, another Italian army has been brought together in the vicinity of Brindisi, on the Adriatic. This concentration is interpreted as a sign that Italy foresees the possibility of action in the near east.

CANADIANS AGAIN ACTIVE

Dominion Soldiers on Battle Line in Northern France and Belgium.

Losses Not on Same Scale as Suffered Last of April.

Ottawa, May 6.—Official confirmation was received today of the report that the Canadian division on the battle line in Northern France and Belgium had again been in action. General Hughes, head of the department of militia, received a brief cable dispatch announcing this, but giving no details. The message stated, however, that the losses were not on the same scale as those suffered in the battle of April 23.

Speaking today of the fighting in which the Canadians have been engaged, General Hughes said:

"That is what they went over for, and I see no cause for a feeling of depression. The Germans admit that their loss was 12,000 killed and make no mention of their losses in wounded which must have been very heavy. The total Canadian casualties was only 6,600 killed, wounded and missing.

"With poisonous gases and overwhelming numbers used against them at Langemarck, it is amazing to me that Canadian losses have been no larger, and that our boys were able to inflict such losses on those who attacked. With the leaders they have I fear nothing. I have the utmost faith in the Canadian boys."

A MOVE IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Reports of consistent progress on the part of the allied forces at the Dardanelles were contradicted in an official statement today from the Turkish war office. It was said the troops which landed on Gallipoli peninsula were in a precarious position, being encircled by Turkish forces and unable to advance. The statement was made that only two points on the peninsula—Seddul-Bahr and Avi Burnu were held by the allies.

Dispatches from French and British sources said further successes had been won by the allies. An attack by Turks on the encampment at Krithia resulted disastrously for them, according to these advices, the Turks having left 1,500 dead behind them after their repulse. The British correspondent asserted that the tip of the peninsula and the entire western side were under control of the allies.

Rome, Vienna and Berlin advices indicated that a crisis had come in the negotiations between Italy and Austria. In Rome, where it had been felt of late that war was inevitable, there has been a sudden revival of hope of a peaceful settlement, owing to the fact that Austria is said to have realized the necessity of making substantial territorial concessions. Vienna regarded as significant a visit of the Italian ambassador to the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, although the outcome was not disclosed. Berlin newspapers said Italy's participation in the war must be regarded as not unlikely.

Claims were made in Petrograd that the victory of the Russian army of the Caucasus over the Turks announced last night was an important and decisive one. A force of thirty thousand Turks, which attacked the Russians in the Diliman Khori region, was said to have been repulsed with heavy losses and compelled to retire in disorder.

Still another neutral steamer has been sunk in the North sea, although whether by a mine or torpedo has not been established. The Danish vessel Cathay from Denmark for China was blown up, but her passengers and crew, numbering forty-three, escaped.

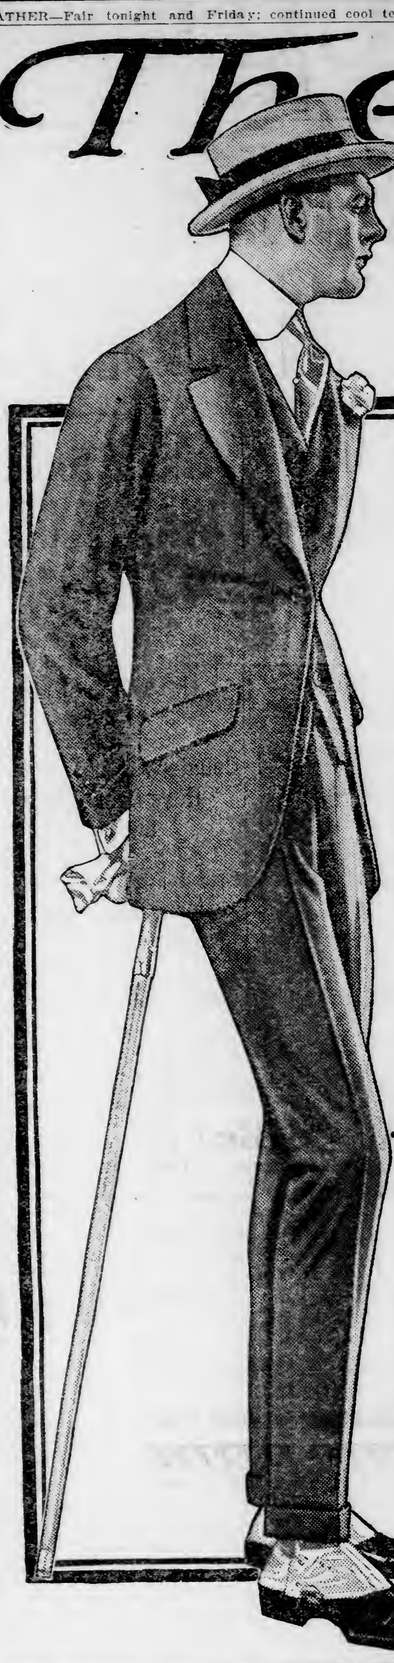
The York

(By the House of Kuppenheimer)



YOUNG men are all greatly taken with the YORK—our new one-button model.

A high novelty, but easy and pleasing, and correct to a hair. A favorite the dansant style.

Note the long graceful sweep of the coat front, rolled back to show the waistcoat with its soft roll collar and the top button open. The coat closes with one button, which is placed at the waist-line, accentuating the shaped military effect at the waist and back.

This is but one of the modish Kuppenheimer Models. The elements of grace and style assurance are in all of them — in marked contrast to the uneasy spirit of so much unauthorized "Fashions for Young Men."

With the fastest-growing young men's business in America, two things are clear: We are making the right clothes, and men everywhere are more and more alive to the Kuppenheimer dealer and the values he offers them.

SENSATION IN CARMAN TRIAL

Negro Maid Says Attempt Was Made to Bribe Her.

Is Principal Witness for Prosecution in Murder Case.

Mineola, N. Y., May 6.—Celia Coleman, the negro maid who is the chief witness for the state in the trial of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey, caused a sensation on redirect examination today by testifying that a negro detective, George Hicks, had endeavored to induce her to change her story of the murder and told her that if she would do so Mrs. Carman would pay her $300.

"Hicks came to Charleston, S. C., where I was spending the winter," said the witness, "and told me Mrs. Carman would give me $300 if I would change my story."

Objection Overruled.

Mrs. Carman's attorney objected to the admission of the testimony, but was overruled upon his admission that

CELIA COLEMAN.

Hicks was connected with the defense. Mrs. Carman evidenced considerable agitation during her former maid's testimony. George Toomer, Celia's cousin, and a man named Flood were present when Hicks made the alleged offer, the witness further testified.

On direct examination yesterday, the maid repeated the testimony she gave at the first trial that Mrs. Carman had told her that "she had killed him" meaning Dr. Carman, and reiterated other details. She testified that Mrs. Carman came to her room the next morning and asked her not to say anything about the shooting.

Weather Testimony.

The local weather observer testified that it was still light at 8 o'clock on the night of the murder. Mrs. May L. Black, the first of the state's new witnesses, had previously testified that it was shortly before 8 o'clock and still daylight when, while sitting on her porch east of the Carman home, she heard the sound of falling glass and saw a man walk away from the Carman house. She was corroborated by her daughter, Ruth, who was with her. District Attorney Smith said that the man was Frank J. Farrell, who testified at the first trial and has since disappeared. The new contention of the prosecution is that the murder took place in daylight, while the defense claims that the crime took place after dark.

George Golder and Archie Post, callers at Dr. Carman's office, testified that it was dark at the time of the shooting.

MAN AND WOMAN HELD PENDING AN INQUIRY

Racine, Wis., May 6.—Mrs. Mary Kossalo and George Zobernick, a boarder in the Kossalo home, are being held by the police pending an investigation into the death of the woman's husband, Simon Kossalo, Tuesday night.

Kossalo, after eating his lunch Tuesday became violently ill and died within a short time. The coroner ordered an investigation and sent the stomach and kidneys of Kossalo to Madison for examination.

RESORT NEAR RANIER RAIDED BY OFFICERS

Two Men and Three Women Arrested; Much Liquor Confiscated.

International Falls, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A raid on Anderson's resort near Ranier was pulled off Tuesday night by four deputies from the Koochiching county sheriff's office. Both Sheriff White and County Attorney Franz Jevne were in Bemidji on official business, but Mr. Jevne notified Police Chief Bob Kirkipatrick by phone to raid the place. The chief, with Deputy Van Ettan and two others, left at once in an automobile for the Anderson place, which had recently opened after having been closed during the winter.

Six Are Arrested.

Upon arriving there they found that two auto loads of joyous ones had just departed, but Anderson and two other men with three women were found and taken into custody. A large supply of champagne and other intoxicants were also found on the premises. Officers of this county are determined to keep these places out of business and have raided them persistently ever since last fall. A roadhouse at Grand Falls was the last raided before the Anderson place.

Suppose We Pared These Tires

Suppose this All-Weather tread—now double-thick—was pared to the thinness of the usual anti-skid. Would it endure like this one? Or so resist puncture?

Suppose we used—as some do—one less fabric ply. Or made the whole tire lighter. Suppose we omitted our exclusive features:

Our No-Rim-Cut feature—
Our "On-Air" cure—
Our rubber rivets—
Our 126-piano-wire base.

All rivals do omit them. All of them are costly. Our "On-Air" cure alone costs us $450,000 yearly to save needless blowouts. But could Goodyear Fortified Tires retain top place if we did not give those extras?

Cost Added Prices Lowered

Instead of that, we all the time add costly betterments. We spend on experts $100,000 yearly to seek out new improvements.

Our All-Weather tread — always double - thick — is made still thicker in some sizes.

Our Inner Tubes have been thickened 14 per cent on the average.

Our fabric has been strengthened.

Yet on February 1st we made our third big price reduction in two years, bringing the total to 45 per cent. Now you are getting in Goodyear Fortified Tires the best value ever known in tire making.

It is due to yourself that you this year join this army of contented tire users. It is by far the largest army in Tiredom. Any dealer will supply you. (2331)

GENEROUS SUM PAID WILHELMINA'S OWNERS

London, May 6.—The owners of the American steamer Wilhelmina, according to the Daily Mail have received what they have pronounced to be a handsome and generous settlement at the hands of the British government, namely, full value of the cargo at Hamburg at war prices, which was more than double the prices at English ports, as well as indemnity for delay—altogether approximating $430,000. The original value of the cargo was estimated at $180,000.

"SAFETY FIRST" HELPS ROAD

Steady Decrease in Deaths and Accidents on Omaha Railway.

Employes Show Great Enthusiasm in Promoting Efficiency.

G. L. Wright, chairman of the central safety committee of the Omaha railroad, today gave a talk to the local employes of the company on the work accomplished during the last year by the "safety first" movement of the Omaha system.

"The "safety first" movement was organized March 19, 1913. Since its organization there has been a steady decrease in deaths due to accidents among the employes of the road, as well as a reduction in the number of accidents.

There are representatives from every department of the entire railroad system in the "safety first" organization. Representatives of the different divisions of labor, such as engineers, firemen, office men and the various other divisions, constitute a committee. There is an organization of the "safety first" movement at each division point of the road, Omaha, St. James, St. Paul, Eau Claire, Spooner, Duluth and Sioux City being the division points with local organizations. L. M. Dickerson, local freight agent of the Omaha, is the head of the local organization.

For the year ending March 15, there was a decrease of 60 per cent in deaths among the employes of the railroad company compared with the previous year of the "safety first" regime. The decrease in injuries was 25.. per cent.

In the year ending March 15 there were twenty-four trespassers killed and thirty-three injured at the hands of the railroad company, compared with twenty-four killed and seventy-one injured during the previous fiscal year.

"A large measure of the success of the work of the 'safety first' movement is due to the enthusiasm of the employes of the company," said Mr. Wright today. "All of the boys have entered into the work with genuine enthusiasm and determination to make a real effective working organization. The figures speak for the success of the measures of safety that have been carried into execution.

"Because every man has set out to make travel and railroad work safer by the adoption of personal efficiency methods, we have really accomplished a great deal in the two years of our organization."

Last year Duluth captured the banner for this division. Mr. Wright will award another banner for the last year's work within a very short time.

TO DRILL FOR COAL NEAR WILLIAMS, MINN.

Baudette, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the mine owners here on Tuesday, it was decided to have a diamond drill shipped here and work on the coal mine near Williams will commence as soon as the drill arrives. The quality of coal found is good and the owners are anxious to find if it extends very far.

Bloom of Youth Now Easily Attained

You no longer need to "doctor" that sallow, freckled, blackheaded, rough, blotchy, pimply or over-red skin. You can remove it, instead—easily, painlessly, inexpensively. By a new scientific process, which anyone can use without assistance, the dead and near-dead surface skin, with all its imperfections, is gently, gradually absorbed—and a radiantly youthful and beautiful complexion comes forth! Go to your druggist, get an ounce of pure mercolized wax; at night apply enough of this to completely cover the face; don't rub it in. Next morning remove the wax with warm water. The result after a few days is astonishing. You wonder why this secret wasn't discovered long ago.

Let the wrinkled folks also take hope. Put an ounce of powdered saxolite into a half pint witch hazel, bathe the face in the solution and—say!—there's nothing that will so effectually, so promptly, smooth out all those hateful lines. —Advertisement.

PATCHING UP WOUNDS LEFT BY MISDIRECTED ARROWS OF THE LITTLE BLIND GOD

Stories of cruelty, infidelity, jealousy, desertion and debauchery are being unfolded one after the other in district court today, where the divorce mill is grinding out its periodical grist.

Since yesterday afternoon, three district court judges have listened to the stories of sixteen wrecked homes and there is little in the entire category of human woe and disappointment that was omitted in the telling.

Drunkenness was at the bottom of most of the trouble, according to the stories related. Out of the sixteen cases heard, thirteen decrees were granted. Three cases have been taken under advisement by the court.

John Oman of Virginia picked out holidays as occasions to beat and maltreat his wife, according to the story which Mrs. Betty Oman told Judge Fesler this morning.

She testified that on Thanksgiving day, 1912, Oman attacked her with an ax and threatened her life.

Christmas day, 1914, was dedicated to smashing household furniture and heaping curses and threats of death upon her, she declared.

And when Washington's birthday rolled around this year, Oman tried to beat her, she said. She testified that she escaped by running upstairs and locking herself in a room.

Oman, however, did not confine his illtreatment and indignities toward her to holidays. She declared that on numerous other occasions he had mistreated her.

Oman is 55 and she is 39. They were married on March 15, 1894, and are parents of one child, now aged 20. Judge Fesler has taken the case under advisement.

Iron kettles, firewood and articles of household furniture were used as missiles in one-sided matrimonial battles in which John Lepke of Virginia has been accustomed to engage, according to the story which Mrs. Ernestine Lepke testified to in Judge Fesler's division this morning.

At the time of their marriage at Bayfield on July 13, 1897, she was a widow with three children by a former marriage. Shortly after she came to live with him, he began to mistreat her and the children, she says.

In 1905, she testified, he struck her with an iron kettle. In 1910, she declared, she received a beating with his fists. She withstood this and other acts of cruelty, but when in February, 1915, he pounded her with a stick of firewood, she decided to leave him. Before doing so, she had him arrested. The court at Virginia gave him sixty days. Lepke is a lumber grader.

Eva V. Hammond related to Judge Dancer this morning a sordid story of how her husband, Orin De Forest Hammond, 42, had taken one of his daughters into a saloon at Cusson, and there compelled her to dance for the entertainment of a crowd of evil-minded men.

The incident was only a link in a chain of cruel and systematic ill-treatment to which the unhappy woman declared she had been subjected within the past few years.

The Hammonds were married in Iowa in 1897, and are parents of six children. She withstood his treatment, she testified, until June 2, last, when she found living with him any longer impossible. On that day, she testified, he floored her with a blow from his fist. On many occasions, she claimed, he assaulted her and called her vile names.

The court committed the children to her keeping and granted her request for a divorce.

A long tale of cruelty was related yesterday afternoon in Judge Dancer's division by Lydia Rhoda Lane, 36, who secured a divorce from James Donald Lane, 45, foreman for D. H. Clough & Co.

Mrs. Lane declared that she had been mistreated by her husband for several years and that she could not stand it any longer.

Seven years ago, she told the court, when Lane started in to whip their daughter, Viola, then aged 8, with a leather strap, she interceded in the child's behalf and begged him to stop. Lane, she stated, turned the lash on her and beat her until she was black and blue.

His treatment of her and the children, she says, was responsible for the oldest girl, Mabel, now 16, leaving home and staying away for four months.

The last family squabble occurred on Feb. 21 last. On this occasion, she said, he threw a wash dish full of water upon her and aimed a soap dish at her. Then he kicked her off the chairs and furniture and chased her around the house into her bedroom.

Mrs. Lane also claimed that her husband is a very profane man, and according to her story is endowed with the vocabulary of a pirate. She claims that he swore at her every time he gave her any money.

The Lanes have been residing at Lakeside.

Desertion, drunkenness and cruelty was charged by Mrs. Lena Nestdal, 27, against her husband, George Nestdal, 36, who appeared in Judge Cant's division this morning. The court took her case under advisement.

The Nestdals were married in the city on Jan. 6, 1908, and are parents of two minor children, the custody of whom is sought by the mother. Mrs. Nestdal testified that they lived together until Oct. 18, 1913, when he deserted.

She also charged that Nestdal had been cruel to her and that on one occasion he had driven her out of the house with a razor in his hand. Besides, she declared, he has been an habitual drunkard.

Two weeks after Sigrid Ole, 28, became the wife of Henry O. Ole, 28, captain of the Virginia fire department, he gave her a beating, according to the story which she told to Judge Dancer yesterday afternoon. The court granted her a divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

The Oles were married Dec. 21, 1905. Mrs. Ole testified that her husband was addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors and that he often came home and subjected her to cruelty. She also testified that he told her to leave his home as he was "tired" of her.

* * *

Thora Peterson, 24, told Judge Cant that her husband Axel H. Peterson, 29, 619 Twenty-third avenue west, had abused her on numerous occasions and that she was unwilling to stand it any longer. Not only has he been an habitual drunkard, she declared, but he has also made a practice of carrying a revolver. She testified that he had often threatened to shoot her. They were married March 17, 1909, and are parents of one child, Evelyn, aged 5, the custody of whom was given by the court to the mother.

* * *

Matrimonial bliss was of short duration for Hulda Van Wald, 28, who came into Judge Fesler's division yesterday afternoon and secured a divorce from Walter Van Wald, 50. They were married in this city on Jan. 30, 1905, and according to her story he deserted her without just cause eleven days later. He disappeared, she claimed, and has never been heard from since.

* * *

Mrs. Alma K. Berg, 29, today filed suit with the court in which she asks that she be granted a divorce from Ole C. Berg, 46, on the grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Berg alleges that her husband has assaulted her on numerous occasions and that she has also been obliged to contribute largely to her own support by taking in washings for hire. She asks for the custody of their two children. The Bergs were married in 1906.

* * *

On the grounds of desertion, Judge Dancer yesterday afternoon ordered a decree of divorce in favor of Catherine Griffen, 44, who sought a legal separation from Jeremiah Griffen, 45. The Griffens were married on June 18, 1900, at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The custody of their only child, Jeremiah, 12, was given to the mother.

* * *

Judge Dancer yesterday afternoon freed Katherine L. Drake, 32, from further matrimonial entanglements with Warren E. Drake, 30. The Drakes were married in this city Sept. 22, 1907, and lived together for seven years. Mrs. Drake testified that her husband deserted her on March 9, 1914. The court permitted her to resume her maiden name, that of Katherine N. Nelson.

* * *

Mrs. Clara B. Morton, 41, was granted a divorce by Judge Cant from Roland R. Morton, 38, yesterday afternoon on the grounds of cruelty. The Mortons were married Dec. 1, 1899, at Limerick, Me., and are parents of two children, the custody of whom was awarded by the court to the mother.

* * *

After thirty-five years of married life, Mary McMillan, 49, this morning secured a divorce from Peter McMillan, 58, on the grounds of desertion. The McMillans were married at Harrisville, Mich., Aug. 1, 1881, and lived together until Oct. 28, 1913, when he left her, she claimed. Three children, ranging in age from 11 to 18 years were committed to the custody of their mother.

* * *

Ida Sandelin, 27, told Judge Cant this morning that Otto Sandelin, 55, whom she married in Finland during the month of September, 1908, had deserted her in February of the following year. She also testified that he was an habitual user of intoxicants. The court granted the divorce and gave her the custody of their only child, aged 4.

* * *

Judge Fesler this morning granted a divorce to Ida Johnson, 42, from August Johnson, 39, a carpenter, on a charge of cruelty. They were married Nov. 29, 1908, at Bessemer, Mich. She testified that on numerous occasions he had beaten her and called her vile names.

Judge Dancer this morning granted a divorce to Mrs. Marie Jensen, who sought a legal separation from her husband, R. B. Jensen, on the grounds of desertion. The case was tried yesterday afternoon.

TO MAKE CUT IN SERVICE

Traction Company Forced to Retrench Because of Jitney Bus.

"Owl" Cars Will Be Discontinued; Other Service Reduced.

As forecasted in The Herald Saturday, Vice President Herbert Warren of the Duluth Street Railway company declared yesterday that car service would be cut within the next few days, because of the inroad upon the company's revenues by the jitney bus.

The once-an-hour car run during the night, called the "owl" car, will be discontinued, and the early morning and late night service will be reduced, as the first step in this direction.

"Reductions will first be made in the service that affects the least number of persons," said Manager Warren. "Some of the cars running from 4:30 to 6:30 a. m. and from 11 p. m. to 1 a. m. will be withdrawn.

"Later it probably will be necessary to reduce service on all long suburban lines. Reductions of any of the service has been delayed in the hope that regulation of jitneys and improved business conditions would make it unnecessary, and as soon as general conditions improve, the company will resume its former service.

"Earnings of the company for April," he declared, "showed a loss of $21,000 over the income of the same month last year, or a loss of $700 a day. Business depression accounts for part of this depreciation, although during the last fourteen years there have been only four months in which the company showed a decrease in earnings."

Jitney Service.

Replying to a statement made by R. A. Marsh, treasurer of the Duluth jitney association, in which he declared that the jitney men "were not in the least worried by the threats of the railway company," Mr. Warren said: "I am glad to learn that if the company reduces the late night service the association will arrange a schedule to take care of pedestrians at all hours. If the jitneys can take care of this traffic at all seasons of the year and in all kinds of weather at a five-cent fare, then no one will be inconvenienced by the discontinuance of the late night service."

"It is obvious that the company would be unable to handle such traffic in winter when traffic is at the minimum and operating expenses at the maximum if it was deprived of it in summer and that the company could not operate on stormy days if it had no revenue on pleasant days.

"There need be no sympathy for the street railway company in this matter and if the public thinks the jitneys can and will take care of the traffic in all localities, at all hours of the day or night and under all conditions, as well as they are taken care of by the street cars then the jitney should be encouraged.

No Wage Reductions.

"There has been no thought of reducing the rate of wages of car men, as might be understood from the article in the morning paper. If the service is reduced it will, of course, reduce the hours of work of car men and the rearranged schedules will furnish regular runs for fewer conductors and motormen, throwing a number who now have regular runs on the extra list, probably making it necessary to entirely dispense with the services of some.

"Reductions in the car service naturally will be followed by reductions in the shops and in all other departments.

"Many of our cars recently have been running almost empty. We dislike to throw men out of employment, for I think the company has the most efficient set of employes it has ever had. Many of them are men of families."

City commissioners have taken no action to regulate the jitneys, although an ordinance recently introduced by Commissioner Silberstein was given a first reading at the last council meeting. An attempt to pass the one proposed as an emergency measure was defeated by Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the public utilities division.

Mayor W. I. Prince has announced that several public meetings, to consider the provisions of the ordinance, would be held before the council passes any law regulating the 5-cent bus.

SAFETY ZONES FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Plan Will Be Tested at Franklin Grounds; Others to Follow.

Within the next few days a safety zone will be established around the Franklin school, and if the plan is successful, similar zones will be established in every school district in the city.

Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division, said this morning that special signs, "Slow down; school district," are now being painted and that these will be placed on both corners of the street facing the Franklin school. The purpose is to have automobile drivers be more careful in passing the schoolhouse to avoid serious accidents, as the children very often play in the streets.

The safety zone for schoolhouses was suggested last Friday by Principal Mooney, when the commissioner and several city officials visited the Franklin school on an inspection trip.

If the plan proves successful at the Franklin school, Commissioner Silberstein said this morning, signs will be placed in the vicinity of every schoolhouse, where there is a large amount of automobile traffic.

WILL ATTACK LIBAU PORT

German Troops in Courland Are Now Nearing Baltic City.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg Personally in Command There.

Berlin, May 6, via London.—The military developments of the last week have had a visible effect on popular feeling in Berlin, which is decidedly more optimistic. Operations in the Russian province of Courland, on the Baltic; in Galicia, and in Belgium indicate that German forces are taking the offensive on a large scale and that greater events are to be expected.

It is understood in well informed quarters that the German troops in Courland are now nearing the port of Libau, which probably will be attacked by land and sea. Field Marshal von Hindenburg himself is in command there. His design appears to be to take Libau, and probably Riga, as well, and use these ports as bases for harassing Russian communications with Petrograd.

Russ Reinforcements.

The Russians already have sent from Kovno reinforcements for resisting these operations, the results of which must soon be apparent. The Russians also are attempting to resist the Austro-German movement eastward in Galicia, having brought up reinforcements from the Carpathians for that purpose. Information received here, however, indicates that the Russians are being swept along before the Teutonic allies, or else captured, as were the previous defenders of the Russian positions.

Austrian reports state that there is in progress a general Russian retreat, extending from the positions to the south of Dukla pass, in Hungary, where weeks ago the attacks upon an impregnable Austrian front, entailing frightful losses, had exhausted the initiative of the invaders.

GERMANS MASSING BIG BODIES OF MEN FOR NEW ASSAULT

Germanic allies have inflicted several considerable local defeats upon the Russians on the west Galician front, but they point to the fact that the entire front has not been crushed, as was at first claimed, and that the stubborn fighting is proceeding.

Interested in China.

In view of the complexities of the situation there is comparatively little editorial comment in the London papers on the Chinese-Japanese situation. Nevertheless there are indications that the public is acutely interested in the progress of the negotiations between Tokio and Pekin.

Artillery boomed in London. The shots were not aimed at aircraft or any hostile raider, but were in honor of the fifth anniversary of the accession of King George to the throne.

Retaliation Considered.

The suggestion that Great Britain adopt measures in retaliation for the use of gases in battle by the Germans took concrete form today. Joseph King, representing the North district of Somerset in the house of commons, announced his intention of introducing a resolution on this subject on Tuesday.

The resolution sets forth "that this house agrees to such measure of retaliation as is essential to prevent success attaching to such gross and unparalleled violation of the rules of war, subject, however, to the condition that in the preparation of any gas used by his majesty's military forces the utmost regard be paid to the dictates of humanity."

French Statement.

Paris, May 6, 2:35 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading:

"To the north of Ypres we repulsed with facility a night attack made by the Germans from Steenstraete.

"To the south of Ypres the Germans yesterday at a point near Zwartelen, attacked the trenches of Hill No. 60, occupied last month by British troops. Their very violent onslaught, during the course of which they again made use of asphyxiating gases, made them masters, in the beginning, of this position, but our allies subsequently delivered a counter-attack and recaptured a portion of the trenches previously lost.

"In the forest of Ailly the counter-attack delivered by us toward the end of the day made slight progress, and we recaptured a portion of the position where the Germans had succeeded in gaining a footing in the morning. During the night the Germans delivered a counter-attack against our position at Mamelon, to the east of Sillakerwasen, the summit of which they reoccupied. All the remainder of our gain in the direction of the River Fecht has been consolidated and maintained."

erful neighbor and it is grotesque to suggest that she is responsible for the crisis.

"It will be the last and the most bitter tragedy of this war if one of its consequences be that of an unoffending nation whose independence and integrity the Anglo-Japanese alliance has guaranteed, is to be despoiled by one of the signatories of that alliance."

Step Not Taken.

Washington, May 6.—Official dispatches from both Tokio and Pekin received here today indicated that while an ultimatum to China by Japan was considered possible, the step actually had not been taken when they were sent.

Secretary Bryan today continued his policy of refusing to discuss the far eastern situation or to reveal to any extent the department's advices. He said, however, that there had been no suggestion of mediation. In other official quarters it was intimated that a tender of good offices would only follow a serious crisis.

Japs Leave Mukden.

Mukden, via Pekin, May 6.—The Japanese consular orders issued May 3 resulted in a general flight of Japanese from Mukden the following day. The value of a gold yen increased 30 silver cents and a rich harvest was reaped by exchange brokers. All Japanese civilians except a few bankers and railway officials now have left the city.

All classes of Chinese viewed the exodus with stolid indifference, not insulting or molesting in any way the persons leaving the city. Although the natives are deeply perturbed the city remains absolutely quiet.

Japanese troops occupy strategic positions in Mukden while Chinese soldiers are reported to be moving into position to the south of the city. Many of the residents in that district are coming north.

Ready For Siege.

Hankow, via Pekin, May 6.—The Japanese barracks here have been prepared for a siege. Following the consul's advice many Japanese have left the city although the Chinese appear wholly indifferent. Several prominent native residents were entertained at dinner last night by some of the leading Japanese citizens.

GERMAN OFFENSIVE IN CARPATHIANS OF MOST VIGOROUS CHARACTER

cane advanced until they approached within 200 paces of the Russian trenches near Gorlice. There, though badly crippled by Russian artillery they held their positions until nightfall.

In the region of Opatow and Lopuszno and at other points on the front, between the upper Vistula and the Carpathians, fierce fighting is being recorded. After artillery engagements, the outcome of these battles is usually decided by bayonet encounters.

A further engagement near Gorlice still continues undecided, while to the eastward along the Carpathians front at Mezolaborcz, Koziowka and Galoveszki, the heights changed hands three times before the Russians obtained permanent possession of them on May 3.

Battle Continuous.

Vienna, Wednesday, May 5, via London, May 6.—A battle of the most desperate character continued all night long and throughout today without a break on the West Galicia front. The Austro-German armies continued to gain ground on the southern section of the battle front, capturing position after position from the Russians.

Russian prisoners to the number of 50,000 have been taken.

PEACE IN COAL FIELD FOR YEAR

Passage of Law and Negotiations Indicate That Result.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 6.—Peace in the Ohio coal field for the coming year at least seemed sure today, following the passage yesterday by the legislature at Columbus of the Gallagher bill and progress made by the joint scale conference of miners and operators in session here.

"The Gallagher bill makes optional rather than compulsory the provisions of the Green law, specifying the run of mine basis for paying miners. The operators had agreed that if this bill passed and the miners made concessions on working conditions, they would sign the 47-cent run of mine scale for a year and they propose to stand by their agreement. The desired concessions have practically all been made by the miners' delegates.

However, the miners say that peace, if it comes, will be only temporary. They believe that with the Gallagher bill on the statute books the operators will decline to renew the run of mine plan in a contract after April 1, 1916, and that another strike then will come.

BANK CASHIER WHO SHOT WIFE AND HIMSELF

ROY R. M'QUADE.

YOUNG WIFE SHOT AND KILLED BY HUSBAND WHO COMMITS SUICIDE

when Mr. Seaton, alarmed because McQuade had failed to appear at the bank, secured the services of Officer Cady and they went to the McQuade home, broke in the door and found the bodies. The woman had been shot once through the head, while McQuade was shot twice through the head. The woman's body was in a kneeling posture. Near by lay the bank revolver.

Jury Returns Verdict.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict just before noon to the effect that the woman was killed by her husband and that he shot himself, the verdict in regard to Mrs. McQuade reading: "We, the jury, find that Mrs. Roy McQuade came to her death by two gunshot wounds from a 32-caliber automatic revolver, fired from the rear, one bullet passing out through the nose and the other out through the chin. The weapon was in the hands of Roy R. McQuade, her husband."

The verdict in regard to McQuade was that he died of four gunshot wounds fired by himself, one in the head and three in the body.

The dead man's relatives are here from Tower and Mrs. McQuade's father, Mr. Warner, is coming from Mahnomen. No funeral arrangements have been made. All theories as to the reason for McQuade's action are speculative, none having any weight being entertained.

Son of Tower Business Man.

Roy McQuade was about 27 years of age, a son of W. H. McQuade, a well-known Tower business man, and a grandson of Samuel C. McQuade, a former sheriff of St. Louis county and later chief of police in Duluth. Young McQuade was formerly cashier of the First State bank at Gilbert, where he met his future wife, then Miss Marguerite Warner, daughter of Fred Warner, an old resident of Redwood Falls, where Mr. Warner was one time connected with the United States land office and was clerk of the district court. Mr. Warner is now engaged in the land business at Mahnomen, Minn. Roy McQuade and Miss Warner were married two years ago. Mrs. McQuade's grandfather, Capt. Thomas McMillan, about fifteen years ago, was commandant of the state soldiers' home at Minnehaha. She was a school teacher at Virginia, previous to her marriage to Mr. McQuade, and was about 22 years of age.

Was Native of Duluth.

Roy R. McQuade, the young bank cashier who killed his wife and himself at Coleraine yesterday, was born in Duluth and was prominently connected here. His paternal grandfather was the late Samuel McQuade, who, thirty years ago, was sheriff of St. Louis county, and was chief of police of Duluth under Mayor E. J. Davis in 1890-2. Mrs. C. O. Flynn of 329 West Third street is an aunt and F. F. McQuade of 1414 East Third street is an uncle of the unfortunate young man. Another uncle, Robert McQuade, lives at French River, Minn.

The Duluth relatives have received but meager information concerning the affair, but Mrs. Flynn and possibly Mr. McQuade will leave this afternoon for Coleraine. Mrs. Flynn received word this morning that the parents of the young man left their home in Tower in an auto for Coleraine, but were considerably delayed by reason of the bad roads. Mrs. Flynn is at a complete loss for a motive.

"They were married two years ago the coming month," she said this morning, "and have always been considered ideally happy. There was some planning under way to help them celebrate the second anniversary of their marriage. Roy was a fine young man and his wife was one of the nicest young women you could find. Our whole family thought the world of her. I simply cannot understand what caused this terrible tragedy."

WHERE IS WILLIE?

"Not Very High or Very Big" and He Is Lost.

Willie O'Neil, 12, who is "not very high and not very big," is being sought by police of Duluth and Superior.

When last seen Willie wore knee pants and a blue blouse. His eyes are brown.

He came here from Ishpeming, Mich., several days ago, looking for an uncle, Albert M. Peacott, who, Willie said, lived in Duluth.

The uncle had moved to Superior, in the belief of local authorities, and so Willie went to the Wisconsin city, but still his search was in vain. While the Superior officers were trying to find the uncle, Willie disappeared and has not been seen since. That was two days ago.

WOULD REMOVE SANATORIUM

Lester Park Club Declares Institution Is Menace to Community.

Action Taken to Secure Improvements in Many Lines.

Removal of the Natural sanatorium from Fifty-fourth avenue east and Superior street was among the many measures recommended at the meeting of the Lester Park Improvement club in the Lester Park school last night.

J. C. Bush, secretary, was instructed by President John Jenswold to confer with the health department and the county attorney so that some action might be taken to eliminate the sanitarium, which is conducted by Gustav E. Lee, a masseur.

That the tubercular patients wander about the grounds and on the near-by streets, and constitute a menace, was asserted by Secretary Bush. The club was united, he said, in asking for a removal.

Regulation of auto speeders on London road and of bicycle riders on sidewalks will be asked of Commissioner Silberstein. Concrete cross walks were recommended where abutting property owners have laid cement walks. It was also deemed advisable to purchase additional park property. In order that the city might be beautified, it was decided that trees should be planted along Tioga street, and that telegraph and telephone poles should be removed from the park.

Among other things urged were: Regulation of jitneys, a bridge across Tischer's creek, right-of-way to beaches from London road at convenient places, burying of the old flume running through the park and the building of a permanent bridge over the river, gates on the Sixtieth avenue east and Duluth & Iron range railway crossing, regulation of class buildings and more strict supervision and replacing of pavements and gutters after removal of poles.

President Jenswold appointed delegates for six months to represent the club in connection with the civic federation.

MOTORBOAT SINKS; ALL ABOARD SAVED

Craft Belonging to International Falls Man Strikes Rock.

International Falls, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The motor boat, Natoma, owned by W. E. Rose of this city, struck a rock in Rainy lake Sunday evening. Mr. Rose and some friends who were aboard were saved.

The accident occurred in Brule Narrows, on Rainy lake. Mr. Rose and friends who accompanied him on his trip to Kettle Falls, were returning after dark Sunday night. These narrows are considered one of the most dangerous places on the lake and while the boat was running through at a rapid rate it struck a rock and foundered. The bottom was badly torn and the entire boat is in a bad condition. This fact was not realized by the occupants, who made every effort to free the boat. Unable to do this they waited for help and were sighted Monday morning by another boat, which rescued the party.

Sinks When Pulled Off Rocks.

A line was then attached to the foundered craft and it was pulled off the rock, only to sink like a bullet in thirty feet of water. The occupants of the Natoma were very fortunate that they were not able to release the boat while in it, for had they done so the result would probably have been the loss of their lives in the icy water.

This is a very regrettable accident, for the boat was one of the best and fastest on the Rainy system, being purchased last summer at a cost of $2,500. An attempt is being made to raise the boat.

SUFFRAGE LEADERS CALL CONFERENCE

Association to Hold National Meeting in Chicago June 6-9.

New York, May 6.—The National Board of the National Woman Suffrage association, issued today a call for a conference of suffrage leaders to be held in Chicago, June 6-9, for the purpose of discussing the sixty-fourth congress.

The call was signed by the Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Medill McCormick, Mrs. Susan Fitzgerald of Boston, and other suffrage leaders. To the conference are invited the executive council of the national organization, presidents of state organizations and the congressional chairman. The conference, the call states, is imperative because of problems which have arisen since the Nashville convention last winter.

The call resulted from a three days' visit to national headquarters of Mrs. Medill McCormick and a conference of eastern leaders in Dr. Shaw's apartments here. Dr. Shaw, it is announced, has canceled speaking engagements in Pennsylvania so that she may attend, and representatives of the suffrage movement in the four campaign states also will be present.

OPERATIONS IN DARDANELLES

Premier Asquith Says Attacks Are Progressing Satisfactorily.

London, May 6.—The operations in the Dardanelles are being pressed forward under highly satisfactory conditions, Premier Asquith told the house of commons this afternoon in the course of a statement upon the combined naval and land attacks on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Turkish Statement.

Constantinople, May 5, via wireless to Berlin and London, May 6.—The following official statement regarding the operations in the Dardanelles was issued this afternoon by the Turkish war office:

"The unfavorable situation of the enemy in the Dardanelles remains unchanged. Reports from Athens regarding the occupation of Gallipoli and Nagara by landing forces are untrue. The Gallipoli peninsula is entirely at our disposal for military movements. The enemy holds only two points on the coast, Seddul Bahr and Arburan, thanks to the constant firing of his ships. The enemy is unable to make any moves against the Turkish encircling forces.

"The Asiatic coast has been freed of our enemies."

When Anybody Finds a Cure He Is Generally Willing To Tell His Neighbor

¶ The willingness of one neighbor to tell another neighbor in a private way of the benefit received from Peruna, explains the popularity of Peruna more than all the advertising that has been done.

¶ The fear of the publicity undoubtedly prevents the majority of such people from writing a testimonial to be used in the newspaper. But in spite of that we are receiving fine testimonials continually.

ANEMIA —Mrs. F. A. DeWitt, Marengo, Ohio, says: "I believe Peruna to be the best tonic. I recommend it for any run-down condition of the system."

SPRING COLDS —Mrs. Rhoda Stufflebeam, Bunch, Iowa: "A spring cold I took settled on my lungs. Coughed. Could not sleep. We feared consumption. Thanks to Peruna, I am a well woman today."

CATARRH —Mrs. Sadie Allen, Joseph, Oregon: "My little boy is entirely cured of catarrh of the ears by Peruna. Am thankful for your good advice."

SPRING TONIC —Mrs. Wm. McRoberts, Brown Valley, Minn.: "Taken in spring Peruna tones up the system, acts as a tonic. I consider Peruna a whole family medicine chest."

¶ How did they hear of Peruna?

¶ Simply because one neighbor is always willing to tell another one he has found a cure. Neighborly conversation of grateful patients has done more for Peruna than advertising. Much more.

CONTROVERSY IS SETTLED

Switch Will Be on Left Side in Park Point Paving.

After a conference this morning with J. B. Crane, manager of the Park Point Traction company, Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division, announced that the switch will be one block, instead of four blocks and that it will be laid in the pavement on the left side of the track. This settles the controversy started by Park Point residents, who objected to a switch on the right side of the street, and next Monday evening Mr. Farrell will ask the council to award the contract for the pavement to the S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis.

Last week a number of property owners who will be affected by the new pavement, which will extend on Minnesota avenue, from Twelth to Thirty-eighth streets, raised objection to the laying of a switch on the right side of the track. They claimed that the 21-foot pavement on the east side of the avenue, with the track alongside, would leave very little room for traffic on the unpaved section if a four-block switch was placed there by the company.

As a result of this objection Commissioner Farrell held over the resolution awarding the paving contract to the S. R. Okes company at the council meeting last Monday evening. He decided to investigate further, and on Tuesday and Wednesday met with two committees of the Park Point Improvement club. They asked that the 21-foot pavement be built, just as the plans call for, but that the traction company be asked to change its program to lay a four-block switch on the right side of the street.

Commissioner Farrell arranged for a conference this morning with Mr. Crane, who declared he saw the justice of the claims made by the property owners and that the company would be glad to accede to their wishes. As a result, he told the commissioner, only a one-block switch will be built and it will be laid on the left side of the track, at a point near Twenty-ninth street.

With the award of the paving contract next Monday, Commissioner Farrell expects active work to begin by the latter part of next week.

CLEAN-UP IN 5,000 CITIES

Duluth Co-operating With Whole Country for "Spotless" Towns.

While Duluth is working out plans for scouring the city from the hilltop to the water front, and making it a "spotless" city, more than 5,000 other cities and towns in the United States are doing the same thing.

The clean-up movement, which started in St. Louis in June, 1912, has spread until it now is one of the most popular civic improvement ideas used in this country. In every large city of the United States a week or two has been designated as the official "clean-up and paint-up" week, and citizens combine in the fight against dirt.

Originates in St. Louis.

Allen W. Clark is credited with being the originator of the idea. Mr. Clark is a St. Louis man, and editor of a trade journal published in the Missouri city. He is chairman of the National Clean-up and Paint-up Campaign bureau. Other officers are: L. T. Minehart of Denver, chairman of the finance and audit committee, and H. F. Lodge of St. Louis, treasurer. H. H. Beckwith of the Kelly-How-Thomson company of Duluth is a member of the national association committee.

Although "clean-up day" was a custom in many cities, it is now "clean-up week," or a general campaign lasting as long as there is any dirt to get rid of, or any run-down or ramshackle buildings to repair or renew, or any alleys, lots or public areas to put into spick and span condition.

School children, with rakes distributed by the general committee, are doing good work, according to reports from various sections of Duluth. Pupils of the Franklin school found forty-eight pairs of old shoes in adjacent alleys and back lots, and piled them up in the school house yard as a monument to the clean-up movement.

Police Checking Up.

Policemen, in their rounds, are making a tabulation of the unsightly spots, in accordance with directions from Chief C. H. Troyer, and families who are lax will be checked up during the coming week, when the fight on dirt will begin in earnest.

Aroused by reports that some Duluthians were refusing to clean up their yards and rake their lawns, Commissioner of Public Safety B. Silberstein has taken up with the city attorney a plan to compel owners to show some civic spirit.

"If the attorney rules that the city can remove rubbish and clean up unsightly places, and charge the cost to the owner of the property, this will be done," said Mr. Silberstein yesterday.

In the meantime the broom, the scrub brush and the paint brush are much in evidence.

In making this unique record, The Herald has consistently maintained itself as a high-grade two-cent newspaper.

DULUTH SAILOR DROWNED AT SEA

George M. O'Leary, aged 24, who has been in the United States naval service on the U. S. Battleship Louisiana for the last three and a half years, was drowned at Hampton Roads, Va., this forenoon, according to a telegram received here by his mother, Mrs. Katherine O'Leary, 28 West Second street. The cause of the drowning was not stated in the message.

The deceased enlisted in the navy at San Francisco shortly after leaving Duluth, and had almost completed his four-year term of service. He had made plans to come to Duluth this summer and visit his relatives.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by four brothers, Joseph and Steven of Duluth, Dennis and William of St. Paul, and two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Blakely and Mrs. Mary Blake of Chicago.

The body had not been located this noon, but if it is recovered, the funeral will be held in Duluth.

NARROWED TO TWO MEN

Silberstein Has Eliminated Sixteen of Eighteen Applicants for Job.

Today's developments in the police chief situation indicate that Commissioner Silberstein's selection lies between Detective Frank Schulte and Guy A. Eaton.

Although he would make no announcement this morning, the public safety head intimated that the choice now lies between two men, and that it is likely he will appoint some member of the police force to act as temporary chief after Chief Troyer retires a week from tomorrow. In case such an appointment is made, it is generally believed that Detective Schulte will be selected.

The commissioner said this morning that he has had eighteen Duluthians under consideration for the office, and that the list has now been sifted down to two men. He is not ready to make any announcement at this time, he declared, and the office is still open.

Friends of both Detective Schulte and Mr. Eaton are working hard in their behalf, and Mr. Silberstein has been besieged with letters, telephone calls and personal appeals urging their appointment to the office.

Detective Schulte was appointed a patrolman on Feb. 11, 1898, and a member of the detective force on Oct. 1, 1902, following a competitive examination. On July 1, 1904, he was promoted to lieutenant following a competitive civil service examination, and has since been detailed on detective duty.

SMALL PROFIT IN SALOONS

Several Proprietors Will Probably Not Seek License Renewals.

Few Duluth saloon keepers are making their business pay at this time, according to reports received at the city hall, and indications are that from five to ten will not ask for renewals of their licenses when they expire during the next two months.

"Business is very bad," said one saloon keeper this morning, "and if this keeps up I won't have enough to pay for a license when my renewal comes up in June. I don't know whether the men have quit drinking or whether they have no money to spend, but our profits are very small, if we have any at all.

"I'm not the only saloon keeper suffering, for several others have made the same complaint to me in the last month."

Upon hearing this report today, Commissioner Silberstein declared that no new licenses will be granted anyone, it being his aim to reduce the number of saloons now in Duluth. Transfers will not be granted, either, he said, unless the persons were absolutely reliable.

MARINE

TURRET CHIEF FOR ATLANTIC TRADE

Adam McKay of Hamilton, Ont., and associates have purchased from the lake hull underwriters the wrecked steamer Turret Chief and will have her put in seaworthy condition at once for use in the foreign trade.

The Turret Chief was wrecked at Copper Harbor, Keweenaw peninsula, Lake Superior, in the big storm of Nov. 9, 1913. She was released last spring by Capt. Alex Cunning with the wrecker Favorite, and later delivered at Port Arthur, where she was eventually beached. The underwriters paid for the ship as a total loss, about $110,000, and have had her on the market since then.

Mr. McKay has chartered the ship for the first trip after she has been repaired. She will load at a Canadian port for Great Britain and will ply exclusively in the trans-Atlantic trade as long as there is any business.

It will require two months to put the Turret Chief in shape. Her bottom is practically all gone and the expense of repairing her will run well up into the thousands. The price paid by Mr. McKay was not made public.

The Turret Chief was built in England in 1896. She is 253 feet long and has a beam of 44 feet. Prior to coming to the lakes she was employed on salt water, for which trade she was designed.

"I expect the trans-Atlantic business to be profitable as long as the war lasts," Mr. McKay said yesterday. "After the war, nobody knows what will happen."

COREY HITS BOTTOM; INJURES HER HULL

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 6.—The steamer W. E. Corey of the Pittsburgh fleet, downbound, bumped on the bottom near Vidal Shoals and injured her hull to some extent. The accident was due to low water.

The Corey is making minor repairs here and will likely get away tomorrow.

Saginaw Party in August.

The steamer Noronic of the Northern Navigation company's line will bring to Duluth next August a party of Saginaw and Bay City people, this being the second annual Saginaw-to-Duluth excursion. It will start from Saginaw on Aug. 7. The Northern Navigation company is making plans to entertain on their steamers in the trips from Sarnia to Duluth more than twice as many tourists as were brought up last year. Already announcement has been made of several parties besides that from Saginaw.

"NEAR SIDE" STOPS MAY BE MADE IN TWO WEEKS

After a conference held by Commissioner Silberstein and Herbert Warren, manager of the Duluth Street Railway company, at the Commercial club this noon, it was announced that the near-corner stop will be established in about two weeks.

During the next week Mr. Warren plans to conduct a publicity campaign throughout the city, so that the public will become acquainted with the proposed change.

SAYS WIFE'S CHILDREN DROVE HIM OUT

Nils Botnen, aged 31 years, has instituted proceedings for divorce from his wife, Martha L. Tryti Botnen of Bergen, Norway, on the grounds of desertion and cruelty.

Botnen alleges that his wife is now 52 years old, and as they were married in Bergen on Aug. 1, 1906, he was then only 23, while his wife was 44, almost twice his age. She, according to the bill of complaint, was a widow with six children, and owned and operated a farm in Norway. Botnen declares that during all the time he lived with his wife, her children nagged him and made life miserable for him in general, and that they were aided and abetted in the practice by their mother, who, he alleges, also assaulted him on one or more occasions.

Woman Is Paroled.

Mary Traverse, negress, who pleaded guilty in district court a few weeks ago to a charge of assault in the second degree, was paroled under a penitentiary sentence by Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon when she appeared before the district court.

The woman, on Dec. 16 last, fired a revolver two or three times at Pearl Ball, also colored. No one was injured. The woman has spent nearly six months in jail.

Society----Women's Clubs----Music----Drama

THE wedding of Miss Mary Welles Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Paine of 1007 London road, and Dr Thacher Washburn Worthen of Hartford, Conn., took place at noon today at St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Rodney Paine, brother of the bride, was the best man and little Polly de Groat was the flower girl. The ushers were Stanley Colburn, Worthington Telford, Laurance Gordon, J. E. Gardner, Seth Marshall and Edward Congdon. Mr. Colburn and Mr. Gordon stretched the white ribbons that formed the aisle.

While the guests were assembling, A. F. M. Custance played a program of organ music. Mr. Custance also presided at the organ for the wedding marches. Just before the bridal party entered Miss Senta Erd sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride, who entered with her father, wore a white satin gown made with a train. The sleeves were fashioned of tulle and the neck was finished with a flare collar of lace. Her veil was held in place by a pearl cap and orange blossoms and a wide pearl girdle completed the gown. She carried a white prayer book and a stalk of Easter lilies. The little flower girl wore a white frock and white net hat trimmed with French flowers and carried an arm basket of white blossoms.

The bride and her father were met by the bridegroom, the best man and Rev. A. W. Ryan, pastor of St. Paul's, at the chancel where the betrothal took place. The bride and bridegroom then advanced to the altar where Dr. Ryan preformed the wedding ceremony. Bishop John D. Morrison pronounced the blessing.

The chancel that was lighted with tall cathedral candles was banked with palms and Easter lilies were used on the altar.

The bride's mother wore a light blue taffeta suit and black hat. Miss Mary Worthen of Hanover, N. H., sister of the bridegroom, wore a costume of electric blue satin and chiffon with a black hat.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. D. Worthen of Hanover, N. H., were out-of-town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthen left for Hartford, Conn., where they will make their home.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Discourage the Pessimist.

The evil in the world is always magnified by the pessimists, sensationalists, and scandalmongers, by those who indulge in idle talk out of pure love of gossip and by those who seem to find satisfaction in continually pointing out real or imaginary evil as a sort of justification for their own folly or sin.

The pessimist exerts a depressing influence wherever he goes and, to my mind, he is little short of criminal. He believes that the world is bad and growing worse, and, however this may be, he does his part in making it so by continually calling attention to the evil that exists and by magnifying it out of all proportion to the truth. He slowly poisons the mind and destroys faith in mankind, and when one loses faith in his fellow men he might almost as well lose his life.

The influence of the pessimist is unhealthy and demoralizing, and I often wonder if he has any appreciation of it. But he cannot. If he knew that a careless word of his had lent the final touch which destroyed a human being's faith in humanity he could not but feel a deep responsibility.

Most lives have enough real trouble to weary and dishearten them without adding to it with wrong suggestions and unjust inferences of evil where there is none. It is still a very good rule to say nothing about a person unless you can speak well of them, and there are few occasions where it is wise to depart from it. It is time enough to speak ill of another when we see an innocent one being misled, deceived or unknowingly injured by an unprincipled person. In such cases it is only right to warn the unconscious victim. But to repeat each piece of idle gossip which may come to our ears, that may or may not be true, is worse than unjust, and the effect of it may be to irreparably injure an innocent person.

Do not cry good where there is evil, but if we must err let it be in magnifying the good instead of the bad. Shun pessimism as you would poison and you will get more enjoyment out of life and have far less to worry about. If a person has the reputation of being a chronic pessimist, it is well to know that fact so that you can accordingly pay little heed to his wails and grumblings.

Beware of the person who is always ready to assign a wrong meaning to everything and ascribe wrong motives to everybody. If an act be so wholly commendable and above suspicion that he cannot trace a wrong motive, the pessimist will leave it with a suggestion that one exists.

"Soup Versus Crackers."

In the May Woman's Home Companion appears an interesting little article entitled, "Soup Versus Crackers," in which the old-fashioned housekeeper is presented as being highly impressed with the importance of soups. As a matter of fact, according to experts in the department of agriculture at Washington, a fair-sized man, making his living over a desk, requires about 2,500 calories of energy per day. Now, ordinary clear soups and broths run 50, 60 and 70 calories to the pint. The ordinary man, therefore, in order to do a day's work would require something like five gallons of such soup. The meaty soups do better. They lie between 100 and 200 calories to the pint. But, after all, beef stew is four-fifths water and one-fifth nutriment. Much despised crackers, which the ordinary old-fashioned housekeeper thought contained little nutriment, are, as a matter of fact, weight for weight, five times as nutritious as clear soups. Crackers lie between 1,800 and 2,000 calories to the pound.

How to Tell Good Meat.

Woman's World for May: The flesh should be firm, elastic, bright and of uniform color. If it is dull or purple it may have been cut for some time or not properly drained of blood when killed. The factors determining the grade of a cut of beef are its thickness, covering, quality and weight.

Thickness of lean flesh is of self-evident importance. Consumers demand a large proportion of lean in steaks and roasts of whatever grade. Lean beef has a much higher value than fat or bone, hence thickness of flesh is of first consequences, even in the cheaper cuts used for boiling and stewing. The depth of flesh is usually an indication of the class of beef from which a cut has been made, especially in distinguishing steer cuts from those of cows. The shape and general appearance of a cut also depend very largely upon its thickness.

Covering or depth of fat is most essential in the more valuable cuts, viz., the ribs and loins, because they supply the trade that is most particular in regard to quality of meat; and the highest quality of lean can be secured only at the expense of a liberal amount of fat. Those who are accustomed to buying round and chuck steaks expect little or no fat.

Quality in beef cuts refers particularly to the grain and firmness of the lean, the marbling (distribution of fat through the lean), and the proportion of bone and other waste in the cut. The grain of meat consists in its fineness of fiber or texture and the cut surface should be glossy, smooth or "velvety" in appearance and touch, as opposed to stringiness and coarseness. By firmness, in this connection, is meant "substance" or "body," as distinguished from a soft, gluey, or "washy" consistency of the flesh. It is an indication of tenderness, juiciness and maturity. On the other hand, firmness due to a dry stringy condition of the flesh is objectionable. Ripening or "aging" in the cooler improves firmness, tenderness and flavor of beef, provided it is sufficiently fat. Very lean beef deteriorates rapidly after a few days in the chillroom.

Frozen cuts sometimes develop a flabby or sloppy condition after thawing, due to the separation of the water from the tissues of the meat. This renders the cut tough and greatly detracts from its flavor. The importance of marbling consists mainly in its influence on tenderness. When fat is deposited in the connective tissue cells through the lean, the elasticity of the connective tissue is diminished, and the meat is improved in tenderness, juiciness and flavor.

Theater Gossip.

Tonight will be the last opportunity Duluthians will have to witness the remarkable performance of "Fine Feathers" being given by the rejuvenated Baldwin Players at the Lyceum. The production has been indorsed by Drama league officers as being the equal of the all-star production seen here two years ago.

LAST CHANCE TO SEE "FINE FEATHERS"

Tomorrow the Baldwin Players will go to Cloquet for one performance of "Fine Feathers" and will rest Saturday. Sunday they will open at the Lyceum in a week's engagement in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which will be seen for the first time in Duluth. It is also one of the Drama league's bulletined plays.

Miss Billie Burke will come to the Lyceum Friday and Saturday in "Jerry," the comedy by Catherine Chisholm Cushing that was one of the real successes in New York last season and in which Miss Burke has been playing to crowded houses all this season on tour. "Jerry," whom Miss Burke impersonates, is a young girl from Chicago on a visit to her relatives in a suburb of Philadelphia. She determines to get married and the man she selects for a husband happens to be the same man who has been engaged to marry her aunt for the last twenty years. Of course, "Jerry" gets him. The way she does it is amusing and it is fully set forth in the play. "Jerry," by the way, is Miss Burke's first American girl part and it suits her precisely—better than any other part she has ever had.

BILLIE BURKE IN "JERRY"

Elsa Ruegger, who is to appear at the Orpheum next week, is considered one of the foremost woman cellists of the day. Her artistry is of a high order, and her success in the new field has amply justified the confidence she feels in her venture into vaudeville.

FAMOUS CELLIST ORPHEUM HEADLINER

Other features of the bill will be Jack Kennedy & Co., appearing in an interesting comedy dramatic sketch entitled, "The Flare Back." Clarence Oliver and Georgia Olp, two of William A. Brady's worthy and well-known players, will offer a delightful little song comedy skit entitled, "The Wall Between."

Brent Hayes produces music on a banjo that hardly seems possible to get out of this much-maligned instrument. Mons. and Madam Alf. W. Loyal will present a remarkable canine troupe of performers.

Terada Brothers are two flexible Japs, presenting a sensational acrobatic and balancing act.

A well balanced and popular bill full of ginger with variety enough to please the most exacting, is promised at the New Grand this afternoon. Particularly appealing to the feminine eye are the costumes worn by the Angel Sisters, who are one of the many features of the bill. These two girls are endowed with excellent voices, it is said, and their wide variety of songs gives them ample opportunity to display their talent.

VARIETY IN NEW GRAND SHOW.

A comedy sketch declared to have laughs by the score, is "What Else Could He Think?" the offering of Norwood and Anderson.

Duncan and Holt are blackface comedians.

The Casting Lamys, four in number, are aerial gymnasts of ability.

The Hearst-Selig News as usual shows many interesting views from all over the world.

The photoplay feature, "The Reaping," tells a story in a charming manner. "Strictly Neutral," a comedy, and "The Creed of the Clan," a drama, complete the bill.

Lottie Pickford at the Zelda this week, playing the lead in "The House of Bondage," has a lot of personality, and from the moment she makes her first appearance on the screen, as the innocent little country school girl, she wins over the audience and holds a strong interest and appeal all the way through the six acts of the white slave production. Sympathy seems to be with her, even when she is dragged down to become a woman of the underworld. This production will play the full week at the Zelda, ending Saturday night.

LOTTIE PICKFORD AT ZELDA.

A complete change of program will be made Sunday, including the fourteenth episode of "The Exploits of Elaine." The management will present a war picture the first three days of next week, followed by "The Criminal Path."

Hall Caine, the English author of such world-wide works as "The Christian," "The Eternal City," etc., is the latest great writer to have his creations filmed.

HALL CAINE PLAY AT LYRIC.

The Liebler company, the original producers of "The Christian" in stage form in this country, has joinced forces with the big Vitagraph company of New York and has spent nine months or more perfecting a photoplay of "The Christian."

The New York papers claim the film represents the highest form in which the great subject has ever appeared.

The picture ran for eight months in New York, six months in Chicago and four months in Boston, but is just being brought to the West. The presentation at the New Garrick theater in Minneapolis this week, where it is filling that large house to capacity every performance, is its initial showing out here and its engagement in Duluth at the Lyric all the coming week, commencing next Sunday, will be the second date for it in the Northwest.

In "Snobs" at the Rex, Victor Moore has the convulsingly laughable role of a milkman of the most ordinary variety who suddenly inherits the title and vast wealth of an English duke. This milkman, though his instincts are perfectly good, has something of a natural taste for the "high spots" of life and immediately upon getting an advance installment of his inheritance proceeds to purchase most extreme garments, the longest cigars and all the other equipment necessary in his eyes for a noble multi-millionaire. Before long, however, the duke discovers that the very people who pretend to be most impressed by him are really ridiculing him behind his back and endeavors to renounce both title and money. However, a genuine, whole-hearted girl, who has not been spoiled by society, comes to his rescue. This brings the romantic element into the story as the solution of the duke's difficulties.

SPRUCING UP.

Maybe all this talk about giving the community a thorough-going clean-up during "Clean-up Week" hasn't quite got to you yet.

Maybe it's too general, too abstract.

Let's make it concrete, then. Come with us into your own back yard, and we'll make it concrete.

See that winter's pile of tin cans and ashes? That's Exhibit A. Out with it!

See that bare spot where the lawn is winter-killed? That's Exhibit B. Take your iron rake, roughen up the surface, remove the dead grass, sow some white clover and Kentucky Blue grass seed, sprinkle it, and then make it firm with a board or a roller. In a few days that bare spot will be green again.

Note that neglected shrubbery border—Exhibit C. Prune off the dead branches, tear up the dead shrubs and replace them with new ones. Take your spade and trim the edges of the bed, where the grass is encroaching, and then turn under the winter mulch. Rake it smooth.

Fence a little out of order, with a few palings loose and some gone? That's Exhibit D. Fix it.

Then there is the boulevard in front, between the sidewalk and the curb. The city put it there, and while you have kept up your front lawn pretty well, you have rather looked to the city to keep up the boulevard. No use; it won't do it. It ought to be a sightly rectangle of green, and now look at it—Exhibit E. Most of it needs treating as in the case of Exhibit B.

Now do you see? Now is it concrete enough for you?

You personally are responsible for so much of Duluth as is covered by your home grounds. Not all the most furious community activity in the world will fix that spot unless you get into the game and fix it yourself.

That's YOUR part of "Clean-up Week."

Rawley, Mass., has obtained permission from the state to sell electricity for twelve and a half cents per kilowatt; and since this is cheaper than the city can produce the current, the taxpayers are reported to be well and happy.

THE STREET CAR SERVICE AND THE JITNEYS.

Manager Warren of the street railway company says that street car service is likely to be curtailed because of competition from the jitneys, and suggests certain curtailments that are likely to be made soon.

It is not altogether clear how a deterioration of street car service in retaliation for jitney competition, thereby increasing the field for that competition, is going to help much, and we should advise the company to go a little slow on that policy.

It wouldn't, in the first place, much increase public sympathy with the street car company. It does not appear at all to dismay the jitney operators, who seem to think that if the street car service runs down it means increased opportunities for them.

Moreover, before taking any desperate steps, the company ought to wait awhile and see what happens to the jitney movement. It is a new toy now, and it is affording open air auto rides for a nickel to many who could not before afford them at all. The novelty of that will soon wear off, and so far as the permanency of the jitney movement is concerned climatic conditions are going to offer a pretty rugged barrier.

It seems likely that one considerable factor in inducing the company to make this announcement is the lack of regulation of the jitney business. The company naturally feels affronted because this strange new competitor is allowed to run an irregular service and to do about as it pleases, while it rakes in a great many nickels that the company would otherwise be getting.

Of course the jitneys must be regulated, and of course they will be regulated. Regulation, though, does not mean putting them out of business. Regulatory measures so oppressive that they would have that effect wouldn't be fair. Regulation means compelling the jitneys to give something like a regular scheduled service, requiring them to assume financial responsibility for accidents, and generally laying down rules for their conduct that will protect the public interest. That is as far as regulation properly can go, and doubtless if the street car company can restrain its impatience, it will very shortly go that far in Duluth.

The street car company gives a good service now, and it ought to be careful how it impairs it out of pique at what may after all be only a temporary competition. To do so would be to impair its standing in the community and to forfeit public sympathy, in some degree at least.

In the meantime, the city commissioners ought to whip that jitney regulation ordinance into proper shape as soon as possible, and make it the law of the community. This is needed for the community's sake.

It's too soon as yet to knock your new neighborhood—and next week it will be too late.

ROBBING THE ORPHANS BY A QUIBBLE.

So far as we are concerned this ends the controversy unless The Herald can produce the proofs and show that these have not been doctored to suit its purposes.—The morning welcher.

The proofs have been furnished. They were furnished by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which both Duluth newspapers are members, to which the morning paper agreed to refer the issue, and of which it said truly on December 4: "The report of the Bureau is accepted by advertisers and publishers alike as FINAL."

The reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations ARE accepted as final, except by the one newspaper in the country that is capable of robbing the orphans, by a pitiful quibble, of the $500 it is pledged to pay them. A newspaper that would do that would do anything, say anything.

This money is due St. James's Orphanage and the Children's Home.

It has not been paid. It will not be paid. Frankly, we never expected that it would be paid—by the morning welcher.

The Herald has demonstrated that its circulation statements are correct to the letter, that the morning welcher will not pay over to the orphans the money it agreed to pay them, and that it dares not publish the report on its own circulation.

You can't produce blood from a turnip, or discover honor in a welcher.

The setting to music of the Barnes-Roosevelt suit is proposed. Boy, page Wagner!

THE SCHOOL BOARD AND THE PLAYGROUNDS.

To a considerable degree, the fate of the carefully planned recreation movement in Duluth rests upon the decision of the board of education, which is expected to take the matter up at its meeting tomorrow night.

It is to be hoped that the board's decision will be favorable.

Better living conditions, a fairer deal for childhood, better citizenship now and for the future—these are the fruits of a scientifically organized recreation system.

Duluth has the chance to gain such a system if it will take hold of it. Whether it is going to take hold of it seems to depend a good deal on how the school board feels about it.

The members of the board of education, as men and as members of the board, never have been backward in good citizenship.

Here, it seems to us, is a splendid chance for them to demonstrate again their public spirit and their will to be of the highest possible public service.

It's reassuring to have your circulation figures checked up by such a concern as the Audit Bureau of Circulations—especially when that report is such that you're not ashamed to publish it.

TOO MUCH COMMERCIALISM.

There are rumors of peace in high baseball circles, where all has been strife of late.

There had better be peace.

The squabbles over the profits have given baseball a bad name, made players indifferent and chilled the public interest.

The quicker the quarreling over the loot is ended, the better for baseball.

Everybody knows that organized baseball is a business that is run for profit. Nobody likes to have the knowledge rubbed in.

Rhubarb pie at the bat, with strawberry shortcake on deck.

If ex-President Taft doesn't hurry up he'll be hopelessly eclipsed in the matter of ex-presidential libel suits.

Having seen it at closer range, Gen. Huerta must admit that the means adopted by the principals at Syracuse is more humane than that in vogue in his native country.

On Classic Ground

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

Upon events in the Dardanelles the attention of the world is now more closely fixed than upon the massed armies in Flanders or the Carpathians. Partly this is because of the great issues bound up with victory and defeat in this region; partly because of the scene in itself. History is being made in the world's greatest historic laboratory, the basin of the Aegean and the 150 miles of narrow waters that divide Europe from Asia. It has been the fashion to speak of the center of world history as shifting from sea to sea, from the Mediterranean to the North sea, from the North sea to the Atlantic, from the Atlantic—after the emergence of Japan in 1905—to the Pacific. But history has a way of returning on itself. Today the two great theaters are once more the North sea, where England won the mastery from Spain and Holland and the Mediterranean, on whose shores the beginnings of European history were staged. It strikes the imagination that this latest of wars, fought for such modern issues as places in the sun, trade supremacy and balances of power, should have embraced in its sweep the earliest of historic scenes. There has been fighting in Babylonia, armies have been encamped in the shadow of Mount Sinai and the Pyramids, armies and navies are now in battle in the land of the Iliad.

Across the Dardanelles and the Bosporus the peoples of Asia and Europe have flowed back and forth. The Iliad tells the first story of the conflict between two continents. Europe then was invading Asia. Today the allied armies on the Trojan plain are engaged in the task of forcing back the last persistent wave of Asiatic invasion which has held ground in Europe for more than five hundred years in the form of Ottoman rule. French ships are cruising off the mouth of the Scamander, on whose shores lay the long ships of the Achaeans during the ten years' siege of Ilium. Across the Dardanelles came the hosts of Xerxes, passing by a bridge over the narrows at Ngara and Killd Bahr, against which the British forces in Gallipoli have been thrown. On the shores of the Dardanelles the Peloponnesian war and the fate of Athens was decided in the rout of Egospotami; and one imagines that Germans may find a happy augury in this battle, which shattered the naval empire of Athens and gave the mastery of the Hellenic world to militaristic Sparta. Across the Bosporus and its neighboring waters came the Latin armies after the conquest of Constantinople, and in an opposite direction one hundred years later flowed the Ottoman tide which was to drive the spear of Asiatic invasion deep into the heart of Europe. It is yet to be shown that this greatest of wars arising out of European and world interests will not show its most significant results in the solution of the millennial struggle between Europe and Asia.

It is not mere historic sentimentalism which discovers meaning in the reappearance of the ancient battlefields. If the old battlegrounds emerge, it is because after 3,000 years the conflict between Europe and Asia has not been permanently settled. When reports speak of Greece demanding concessions in Asia minor as the price of intervention on the side of the allies, twenty-five centuries are swept away. We are back in the sixth century B. C., when Hellas was less in Europe than in Asia, when Greek civilization, art, literature, philosophy were at home in the rich cities that studded the coast of Asia minor and the islands of the Aegean. For Greece to enter the war in quest of Asiatic territory is to recall that Greek raid against the city of Sardis which first stirred the wrath of Persia and brought on the heroic age of Hellas. The ethnologists may prove that the present Greek nation has nothing in common with the people of Leonidas and Miltiades, that the Greeks are Mediterraneanized Slavs whose only heritage is a language which Demosthenes could neither have pronounced nor understood. But the historic legend, whether based on fact or myth, is powerful in shaping the efforts of a people. In proportion to its present lowly condition, it will go back as far as necessary to a past which it can claim for its own, a past which serves both for inspiration and justification.

What the Mediterranean shows is not only a welter of nationalities, but a confusion of historic pasts. The Balkans are a patchwork of traditions as well as of races. By going back far enough every one of the Balkan nations can make out something of a claim to supremacy in the peninsula. Greece can argue either from early Hellenic times or from the Greek empire of the Middle Ages. Bulgaria may go back to the great times of Simeon in the tenth century, or Ivan II in the thirteenth century. Servia, in striving for the restoration of the fourteenth century empire of Stephen Dushan, overlaps the claims of Bulgarians and Greeks. These memories may not have been always vivid among the hostile populations, but they have been kept alive through stress and defeat by the national bards, the historians and the schoolmasters, an academic folk who nevertheless, as the guardian of sentiment, have again and again shown themselves to be the makers of history. From the time when the Dardanelles were the Hellespont and Constantinople was the Greek colony of Byzantium, the tradition has managed to keep alive.

If decisive events shall be witnessed on the Dardanelles and the Bosporus, if the outcome of the war shall be settled there, as is not unlikely, there will stand revealed a certain inherent logic of history. For the specific causes of the present war, we must go back to Constantinople. If the Young Turks had not desposed Abdul Hamid, if chaos had not supervened in Turkey, if the Balkan peoples had not seized the opportunity to vindicate their national aspirations, if unexpected success against the Turks had not inflamed the imagination of Serbs and Greeks on the one hand, and aroused wrath in Austria on the other, the world might not now be in arms. At Constantinople the train was fired, and at Constantinople the conflagration may be extinguished.

Legislation Follies.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: In the Maine legislature a bill calls for a tax of $10 each on cats, and another bill provides for a closed season for bullfrogs. These are good samples of the fool business in the forty legislatures in session this year; but they do not dim the luster of the really serious effort of a Western legislator to pass a bill to keep bees off the public roads.

A Great Gulf.

Boston Transcript: Mother—"I hear that Harry Smith is the worst boy in school, and I want you to keep as far from him as possible."

Tommy—"I do, Ma. He is always at the head of our class."

Prosperity on Deck

By Havoyard.

Washington, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The standpat Washington Post tells us that Judge Elbert H. Gary, head of the Steel trust, knows more about business than any banker, than any manager of transportation, than any other metal producer, than any president of a stock exchange or operator in such exchange, than legislators in congress, whether senators or representatives, experts on the tariff or experts on commerce or industry. And here is what Judge Gary has to say about business at this time:

"Finance, commerce and industry are better today than ever before."

Better "than ever before"—mark that. Now, this Judge Gary is an infinitely better judge of business than such statesmen as Elihu Root and Philander C. Knox, both of whom echo the Hon. Penrose when that gentleman proclaimed from the housetops that it was impossible for business in this country to get along at all while the Democratic party is in power. Judge Gary is as firm in his allegiance to the Republican party as any member of it, and has more responsibility at the head of a billion-dollar corporation than all the politicians you can shake a stick at. He sees that business now has both hands full of prosperity and he purposes and proposes to take advantage of that situation.

From the time that Isaac Newton, John Locke, Charles Montegue and John Somers in the reign of William III put the finances of England on a sound basis, created the Bank of England and established the public credit, Great Britain has been the chief creditor nation of the world—a period of more than two centuries. During all that time England has led in finance, in commerce, in manufacture.

But the scepter has departed from London and is located in New York. The deplorable war in Europe only hastened the migration, that was inevitable when this country adjusted itself to sound money, sound banking and sound tariff. The change came when the Democratic party's policies were accepted by the people and writ large in the law of the land by congress.

While Mr. Root, Mr. Knox and Mr. Penrose protest that the present visit of prosperity is not real, but rather a trick played by psychology, Mr. Hilles, chief of staff of the G. O. P., is of a different opinion. He acknowledges the corn, confesses and avoids. Mr. Hilles tells us that the prosperity is real, but that it came because it saw the Republicans are bound to triumph in 1916 and regain all the reins of power. Thus prosperity will have to put up with a vile and unpatriotic Democratic administration for more than twenty-two long, doleful months. What a kettle of fish—Democratic calamity and business prosperity yoked together!

These gentry—all of 'em, from Root to Smoot, from Penrose to Hampton Moore—are as dumb as a fish as to what they are going to do in the event the Almighty should visit His wrath upon our beloved land by allowing them to regain political power—except they avow that they will monkey with the tariff and again crown protection sovereign. Here is their hope. If they regain power the chairman of ways and means will be Mr. Fordney, a lumber king of Michigan. He thinks the late Payne-Aldrich tariff had altogether too much free trade in it. Next him on the committee will be Augustus P. Gardner, who wants a prohibitory tariff against Canadian fish. Then comes J. Hampton Moore, who wants a prohibitory tariff against everything that can be made abroad and is an article of merchandise.

On the senate side the tariff would be handed over to Boies Penrose, Henry Cabot Lodge, Reed Smoot, Jacob H. Gallinger and Clarence D. Clark, now on the finance committee, and every one a standpatter from skin to core and from core to skin. Then when we remember that Ebenezer J. Hill of Connecticut is certain to have a finger in the pie, the country may look for a tariff bill gorged with more protection than Pig Iron Kelley ever dreamed of.

But they would not pass the bill. They would not pass any bill. The two Iowa senators, Republicans that they are, are in less accord on the tariff with the two Pennsylvania senators than they are with the two North Carolina senators—that is, if any dependence is to be put in the public utterances of the Iowa statesmen. With Cummins and Kenyon are other "Progressive" Republican senators who threaten insurgency against protection. For years Samuel J. Randall, Democratic insurgent, prevented tariff reform in his party and he and Morrison were not further apart on that subject than are Nelson of Minnesota and Gallinger of New Hampshire.

But then what is the use of talking? Prosperity is come and if it fetched its knittin' along, and it is unthinkable that it forgot it, there will be nothing political in this country in 1916 except the Democratic party. When Wilson became president our country owed hundreds of millions abroad. By 1916 abroad will owe this country hundreds of millions. The financial capital of the world will be New York city.

And the American people are a mighty folk to let well enough alone.

A Mother's Hand

Henry Dwight Sedgwick in the Yale Review: A mother's hand, with its tenderness, its caressing, smoothing, soothing promises of warmth after cold, of comfort after privation, of happiness after pain, with its melodious rhythmic movement which lulls and charms the troubled child, is the incomparable instrument of the corporal sequence of life; her hand strokes the child as if the whole service of the precedent ages had been to shape and perfect it as an instrument of maternal love, as if the great artist Time had bent over it, thought over it, toiled over it, planned, modeled, devised and imagined, till with the ripeness of perfection, he had rested content.

"Daylight" Spectacles.

Technical World Magazine: Objects viewed through the new spectacles will appear in exactly the same colors in artificial light as they will in daylight. Machines producing a light giving a daylight spectrum have been in existence for some time and have already been placed in various department stores to aid in the picking out of goods in which the exact colors are very important. The glass of the daylight spectacles is covered with a collodion surface, which is stained with dyes that prevent the rays of light peculiar to artificial light penetrating to the eye. Of course, for each light, that is, for gas light, tungsten light, carbon lamp, oil lamps, etc., it would be necessary to use a different formula. The new spectacles are of special value to workers who have to match colors under artificial light.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

From Diary—In Salt Lake City:

After hearing an explanation of the origin of the Mormon church, it is comparatively easy to understand why the Mormons hit on a salted desert for the site of their city.

It seems that nearly a hundred years ago, when Joseph Smith was a youngster living near Palmyra, N. Y., an angel—one Moroni by name—dropped around one night and let Joseph in on a secret. Buried in a hillside, near by, the angel confided to young Joseph, were a set of gold plates on which was written the history and religious beliefs of the earliest inhabitants of the American continent. With the plates were two small stones, by which the record written on them could be translated.

In due course Joseph went to the hillside and found the plates, just like the angel had said. The matter written on them was in some strange language, but by means of the two stones that were buried with the plates, the work of translating was, of course, easy enough.

Smith would have taken the plates and proudly exhibited them as curios among the neighbors, but, as the angel told him, that would not have done at all. He alone was the boy to see the gold plates, and to have shown them around would naturally have spoiled everything.

So Joseph started out when the time was ripe and told of what had happened—about the angel, the gold plates that he mustn't show to anybody, the two stones, and all. His story, because of its attractive plausibility and logic, naturally excited much attention and he soon had a band of followers.

Now, when a lot of people are brought together by a story like Joseph's Smith's, and set out to cross a continent in quest of religious freedom, they are apt to have plenty of zeal, but only a scant sense of humor. We may recall in this connection the case of the Puritans who came across the water to escape religious persecution and merrily placed in stocks or ducking stools all who did not agree with their views. Having it in mind, then, that the Mormons who got together after hearing Joseph Smith's story of the gold plates, were not like the ordinary run of people, we can understand in a measure why they picked a desolate spot in the midst of a desert for the establishment of their city. In fact we can almost picture them looking at the bleak stretch of sand and the big, burly forbiding mountains and exclaiming one to another:

"Now isn't this just perfectly lovely!"

The average person might not have liked it, but the average person would not have left the fertile hills and valleys of New York state and set out to follow Joseph Smith there in the first place. Therein lies the answer.

On the train a night or two ago I heard a man snoring. His snore started in a low pitch and then, gathering spoed and momentum, it worked up to a sort of E flat, at which point it seemed as if something must give way or else the top of the man's head would have to come off. Then just when everybody was tense to note if the snore could go any higher, it burst like a skyrocket, thus: G-r-r-rt—zssst-t!—and he started at the low, methodical pace all over again. That fresh start always seems providential. What I wish to know is this, if the snore didn't give way just at that point, what would happen?

Letter Writing

Chauncey B. Tinker in the Yale Review: A good letter writer, a Walpole, a Lamb, is hardly more concerned with the cause of edification than with the cause of discretion. His concern is with the news. He moves genially along the lower levels of life, content to ramble rather than to soar, and forgets high philosophies and abstract truths. What he offers his friend is companionship, not education. The news of yesterday is a harder thing to get at than the knowledge of the ages, and all the wisdom of the East will not make a good letter.

This idea of familiar correspondence was fully stated in the eighteenth century. It would be possible to construct a whole philosophy of the subject by marshaling a series of quotations from eighteenth century letters. Even the Blue Stockings appreciated the artlessness of letters. Hannah More never wrote wiser sentences than these:

If I want wisdom, sentiment, or information, I can find them much better in books than in letters. What I want in a letter is a picture of my friend's mind, and the common sense of his life. I want to know what he is saying and doing; I want him to turn out the inside of his heart to me, without disguise, without appearing better than he is, without writing for a character. I have the same feeling in writing to him. My letter is therefore worth nothing to an indifferent person, but it is of value to my friend who cares for me.

The Testing.

When, in the dim beginning of the years,
God mixed in man the raptures and the tears
And scattered through his brain the starry stuff,
He said: "Behold! Yet this is not enough,
For I must test his spirit to make sure
That he can dare the Vision and endure."

"I will withdraw my Face,
Veil me in shadow for a certain space,
And leave behind only a broken clew,
A crevice where the glory glimmers thro',
Some whisper from the sky,
Some footprint in the road to track Me by.

"I will leave man to make the fateful guess,
Will leave him torn between the No and Yes.
Leave him unresting till he rests in Me,
Drawn upward by that choice that makes him free—
Leave him in tragic loneliness to choose,
With all in life to win or all to lose."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events

But What Are You to Do?

Anoka Union: The Union does not take kindly to Theodore Roosevelt returning to the Republican party he succeeded in wrecking.

Just Justice, That's All.

Little Falls Transcript: It is entirely wrong to look upon the extension of the ballot to women in the light of a gift from the dear lords of creation. It is a restitution merely.

How About the Baseball War?

Albert Lea Tribune: The approaching baseball season is welcomed this year more than ever before. The avorage American is so tired of reading the war news that he could almost find relief in reading the patent medicine advertisements.

A Suggestion.

Baudette Region: The state officials are busily engaged cleaning up some of the towns in Northern Minnesota, but it is a matter of wonder why they don't get busy at home also. It is a notorious fact that some of the worst joints in the state are being operated right under the eyes of the police in Minneapolis.

Soft-Pedaling.

St. Peter Herald: High protection organs are not using any great amount of space these days for comparison of prices on farm products under Democratic and Republican administrations.

A Despairing Cry.

St. Peter Free Press: Nominally Minnesota is a Republican state, but in its practical application this is a huge joke. At present the Republicans have no organization worthy to be seriously considered. What is left of the former structure is nothing by a hyphenated skeleton, and the sooner that is thrown to the scrap pile the better the prospects will be for a new healthy organization. This, however, can never be effected by haggling with each other over past differences, and least of all by keeping up this non-partisan nonsense. There is no such a thing as real non-partisanship in a form of government, whose very existence is based upon party principles. That is merely an invention with which to deceive the credulous. No doubt it works first rate in the selection of clerical help, including county officials, but it has no place in a political party whose aim and duty it is to choose the men to be intrusted with the affairs of the nation and of the several states.

Satan Not Wholly Heartless.

Warroad Pioneer: News of the county option election must have reached the lower regions, because Warroad's new city well, which refused to yield anything but coal and glass quartz, has relented since the filing of the petition and started a small flow of water.

Attending to Business Now.

Redwood Falls Sun: Talk about nonpartisan politics! There is less politics in Redwood county now than there has been for twenty years. There is little fun any more in watching the game. Under the old convention system they used to play politics in this county 365 days in the year.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee: because he trusteth in Thee.—Isa. xxxvi, 3.

When the tide has been coming in, I have often seen how it chafed and fretted, running into some narrow-mouthed bay, filling it, swirling round, and lapping on the shores till, by and by, still flowing, and flowing, and flowing, it filled the bay full. The tide had spent itself; there ran a smoothing ripple all over the surface, and the whole bay at last was at rest. And so the soul, while yet it is being filled, is disturbed by ripples and eddies; but by and by, when it shall have been filled full of the power and presence of God, it will be satisfied and will be perfectly at peace, and will be full of joy.

Have you had a kindness shown?
Pass it on.
Pass it on.
It was not given for thee alone;
Let it travel down the years,
Let it wipe another's tears,
Till in heaven the deed appears.
Pass it on.

Be Helpful.

The law of love, when rightly translated into life, is one of simple, lowly service to our fellowmen, and wherever it is in operation there is real happiness, both to the server and to the served. "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." So, you see, I am right in saying that the law of love is one of service. Moreover, Paul's command confirms and completes the sense of service into which I have translated the law of Christ, who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister. Paul says, "As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith." And when Jesus came to the task of teaching the lowly nature of this service of love, He took water and a towel and washed and wiped His disciples' feet. This He did as an example, and then said, "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them." See—"happy are ye!"

German Trade Methods.

Indianapolis News: A French newspaper, speaking of an event that preceded the present war, gave some illustrations of the methods that have made the Germans trade winners. Among the illustrations is the following: A gentleman entered a toy shop in Paris conducted by a Frenchman. He wanted a set of leaden soldiers of a certain pattern. The shopkeeper did not have these, but with a supercilious air offered the customer what he said was much better. He next entered a nearby German shop. Here were exhibited twenty different models of the object desired. These were not very fine, but there was some choice. None of them pleased the would-be patron. He wanted a box of French grenadiers of 1846. There was one of this kind in the shop, nor was there any in the catalogue. The shopkeeper told the customer that he would order them. Eight days later the Frenchman received his box of French grenadiers of the pattern of 1846 at the ordinary price.

"I didn't say it ought to be successful," replied Senator Sorghum grimly, "I said it is going to be."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

MENACE TO PEDESTRIANS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works department, seems disposed, in the first blush of his administration, to make needed improvements to streets and sidewalks, and has asked that taxpayers tell him what is needed. So here goes for one very much needed repair:

On the south side of East Second street, just opposite the Central high school, there is a stretch of board walk from about the center of the block eastward to the corner of First avenue east, except for a space of about five feet. This five feet is nothing less than a menace to pedestrians at night, for the place is very poorly lighted. In front of a brick building there, this five feet is covered with a cement walk, evidently built for use in entering the building. It is about six inches higher than the rest of the walk and has on each side of it a graduation of plank at an angle of about 25 degs. This block of cement is veritably a stumbling block and lucky is the unwary pedestrian in the darkness who escapes with merely a stubbing of his toes. Some lively antics happen there in the dark when people, in a hurry, and being unaware of the hump, hit it and have to wildly grope at nothing to maintain their equilibrium.

One of three things should be done, and done at once: Either remove the cement block, or cause the plank walk on each side to be removed and cement put in on a level with the block, or cause the plank walks to be raised to a level with this cement block.

Nothing but luck has prevented accidents there. The view of the walk is absurd to begin with, and as was said in the beginning, it is a menace to everybody who has occasion to use that side of the street at night, particularly those who are not looking for such an obstacle.

Or Commissioner Merritt might cause a light to be placed there.

Anyway, something should be done. Maybe the intermediary council will do something in the matter. Yours very truly, PEDESTRIAN.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Jim Farmer, Duluth—I have become deeply interested in this new jitney ordinance and that of posting bonds. Does that law include taxicabs and all for hire cars, or only the jitneys?—To the jitneys only. The ordinance specifies that it shall apply to cars which "indiscriminately discharge and receive passengers." There is already an ordinance regulating taxicabs.

J. L. E., Hibbing—Please give me the recipe for making dandelion wine—Take one quart dandelion blossoms, three sliced lemons (leave out seed), three pounds of white sugar, one gallon of boiling water (spring water preferred). Put the blossoms and lemons in alternate layers in a stone jar and pour the boiling water over them. Add the sugar and let stand ten days. Strain through a flannel bag and bottle.

C. S. W., Eveleth—Where does the line occur, "The child is father of the man"?—In a poem entitled, "The Rainbow," by William Wordsworth:

My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky:
So was it when my life began,
So is it now I am a man,
So be it when I shall grow old,
Or let me die!
The child is father of the man;
And I could wish my days to be Bound each to each by natural piety.

THE DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drugstore. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

M. R. writes: "I have suffered with dyspepsia, or nervous indigestion, more or less for 8 years, and I want you to prescribe treatment for me; my symptoms are the usual ones, such as pain and distress after eating, sour stomach, headache, heartburn, and pain in regions of heart, or between shoulders, constipation, or sometimes diarrhea, coated tongue, bad breath and a score more. Am miserable, in a word.

Answer: Your case is chronic, but by careful diet and the regular use of an ald and tonic you should soon recover a normal state. Obtain a packet of "double-fond stomach and bowel medicine" of a druggist. With it are directions. This is the newest and best treatment I know of.

C. J. R. asks: "Can I safely reduce my weight, and how?"

Answer: Go to a well-stocked druggist and get five-grain arbolone tablets in sealed tube with complete directions. Take as directed, and you should soon feel the relief you desire. Many of my patients report quick results without any harmful action whatever.

Ellen J. asks. "Tell me, please, how I can increase my weight and improve my color. I seem to be anemic, weak and tired all the time."

Answer: Begin taking three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets with your meals, and soon you will feel your strength returning and gradually your weight and color will improve. This is a most effective remedy if persistently used.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow minyol as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar.

"Morris" asks: "I have suffered with a chronic cough for almost a year, and catch a fresh cold every few weeks. Nothing the doctor gives me helps, so I write to you."

Answer: You need a thorough laxative cough syrup, one that not only relieves but surely drives it from the system. The following regularly used will oust any curable cough or cold promptly: Obtain a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho-laxene, mix it with a home-made sugar syrup or honey as per directions on bottle.

Miss "Stranger" asks: "I am in a weakened condition due to a long siege of catarrhal trouble. Briefly I have Pelvic Catarrh (leucorrhea) and catarrh of the nose and throat. What local treatment is good for a cure?"

Answer: I am quite sure that antiseptic Vilane Power is the most prompt and effective treatment that one can possibly use. Full directions accompany either a two or eight ounce package. Do not neglect catarrhal trouble.

Advertisement.

Mrs. Belle C. writes: "I am informed that I have kidney trouble and that it is fast approaching a serious stage. What would you prescribe?"

Answer: If your symptoms are the usual ones, such as puffs under the eyes, swelling ankles, scant, copious or foul-smelling urine, accompanied by headaches, pains, depression, fever, chills, etc., I would advise the immediate use of baimwort tablets, a very fine remedy for such difficulties, sold in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is sallow, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me."

Answer: You need a laxative blood cleansing treatment in the form of three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return.

"Poor Nerves" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness? I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions, are recommended in all such cases.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism, as that can be very easily controlled by using the following: Get at the drugstore the ingredients named mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bedtime and you should soon be entirely relieved of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; ½ oz. of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has satisfied thousands and I am sure it will you.

TRAGIC TALE TOLD COURT

Child-Wife Driven From the House at Point of Husband's Revolver.

Froze Feet While Wandering in Woods; Is Seeking Divorce.

A tragic and pitiful tale of how a child-wife froze both of her feet in escaping from a drunken and brutal husband who threatened to murder her, was recited in all of its revolting details yesterday afternoon in Judge Bert Fesler's division of the district court when 15-year-old Gertrude Mattila came into court in quest of a divorce from William Mattila, 24, to whom she was married about a year ago.

Seldom are the courts called upon to listen to a story of such an outrage as was perpetrated by Mattila on his child-wife on Christmas eve last. According to the story told by the young woman she has just recovered from the effects of her experience. Both of her feet were badly frozen and she came near losing them.

Mattila and his wife were married March 26, 1914. Soon after their marriage, she told the court, he began to abuse and mistreat her and continued his cruel treatment up to the time of the Christmas eve incident. On that night, Mattila had been drinking and was more or less under the influence of liquor, she asserted.

The girl related how she and her husband had quarreled during the afternoon while they were on the way to the home of her parents. The Mattilas lived in the town of Palo, near Aurora and her parents had a farm in the same locality.

After they had eaten supper at her parents' home, they visited a Finnish bathhouse owned by her relatives and here they again quarreled. Mattila threatened that he would shoot her as soon as he returned to the house.

Unloads Weapon.

The young wife, knowing that Mattila carried a revolver in his mackinaw pocket, dressed herself hurriedly and before he had followed her into the house she had found the revolver and unloaded the weapon. Five cartridges were taken out.

When Mattila returned to the house, he again vowed that he would shoot and kill his wife. Removing the revolver from his mackinaw coat pocket, and standing within three feet of his wife he aimed the instrument point blank at her head and pulled the trigger five times.

Furious at being foiled in his attempt to shoot her he swore that he would have his vengeance and started to hunt up some cartridges. The girl, crazed with fear, saw no alternative but to escape from the house. Without stopping for a coat, she fled from the house in the thin clothing she had worn from the bathhouse and sought what refuge a near-by forest offered her.

After staying away about an hour, the half-frozen shivering wife stole back to the farmhouse and peeped through the window only to discover her husband watching the door with a loaded gun in his hand. She returned to the woods where she spent another hour. When she returned a second time, she was nearly paralyzed with the cold. She crept into the bathhouse where her mother found her a short time later. In the meantime, Mattila had left the house.

The next day, the child-wife was taken to a hospital at Aurora where she was confined for several weeks as a result of her frozen feet. A few days later Mattila was arrested for the assault he had committed on her and in a range court he was committed to the county and city work farm, where he is now serving a term.

It appeared during the trial of the case that Mattila had declared that when he finished serving his sentence at the work farm he would carry out his threat to kill his wife. The young woman declares that she is in mortal fear that he will do so.

URGES MEASURE TO PREVENT FIRES

Chief Randall Favors Distributing Pipes in Basements.

In his monthly report for April Fire Chief Randall recommends the passage of an ordinance compelling owners of buildings to put distributing pipes in their basements so that fires may be checked in instances where the smoke is so dense that the firemen are unable to reach the source.

The chief states sprinkler systems are necessary in large buildings, and he would have these installed in every new structure erected from now on and in buildings now without the distributing pipes.

April fire losses, according to the report, amounted to $8,700, covered by $63,000 insurance. During the month the city repair shop at engine house No. 3 earned $768.82.

AGED HOTEL CLERK GUILTY OF PERJURY

New York, May 6.—A verdict of guilty was returned late last night against Frank D. Safford, the aged hotel clerk of the Hotel Kensington, in Plainfield, N. J., who was charged with perjury in connection with proceedings growing out of the $50,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Rae Tanzer against James W. Osborne, criminal lawyer. The jury deliberated more than eleven hours.

Safford was indicted for perjury because, at a hearing given Miss Rae Tanzer on a charge of using the mail to defraud, he identified James W. Osborne as the man who under the name of Oliver Osborne, stopped at the Plainfield hotel with Miss Tanzer, on Oct. 18, last.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 9.

I Samuel xx, 32-42: Friendship of David and Jonathan.

CONNECTION.

After David fled from home, and his wife, Michal, deceived the pursuers, he went to Samuel at Ramah, a place where there was a school of the prophets. Saul sent messengers to David's hiding place, but they yielded to the spirit of the place, rather the Spirit of God, and prophesied. Thus did three companies who were sent; thus did Saul himself when he came in person to arrest David. In his unbalanced condition he fell into a trance and either uttered the word of Jehovah or spoke in imitation of it. The word prophet meant not a foreteller, but a forthteller, though sometimes it was about the future that he spoke, under the inspiration of God. While Saul lay naked in his trance David returned home and sought Jonathan for conference and comfort. He protested that he had done nothing to merit this treatment from Saul and received Jonathan's assurance that no evil should befall him. When he opened Jonathan's eyes to the fact that his father knew of their friendship they formed a plan by which to make a final test of Saul's feelings toward David. It was decided that David should absent himself the first two days from the festival of the new moon, though his presence was required by court etiquette and he had been in the habit of being there. If his absence had angered Saul, Jonathan would report. Then they separated with mutual vows of friendship. The first day of the feast Saul attributed David's absence to ceremonial uncleanliness and said nothing. The next day he inquired about him and Jonathan presented David's humble apology for being absent with his own people at Bethlehem for the feast of the new moon. The lesson tells the rest.

THE LESSON.

Jonathan Incurs Saul's Anger, 32-34.

"And Jonathan answered Saul, his father, and said unto him, 'Wherefore should he be put to death? What hath he done? And Saul cast his spear at him to smite him; whereby Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to put David to death. So Jonathan arose from the table in fierce anger, and did eat no food the second day of the month; for he was grieved for David, because his father had done him shame."

1. SELF-FORGETTING.—There was never another such instance of friendship in history, save in the case of the Friend of sinners, the Friend that sticketh closer than a brother. Jonathan was true to his father as well as to his friend, David, and that while his father was abusing and insulting him and his mother, his father, an intermittent maniac, perhaps a demoniac. He has a lofty sense of right. He must make a choice between his father and his friend and that choice is not based alone on love of his friend, but on a clear sense of his friend's rightness and his father's wrongness. He showed filial affection in spite of the father's strange actions and gave him the credit of loving him, for he told David his father told him everything.

It was wonderful unselfishness. He not only knew David was to be king, but prayed that God would be with him as He was with Saul, that is to make him king, instead of Saul and Jonathan himself as heir. It took a great man to draw forth such devotion. He defended David to Saul. He did it solely for another, suffered as few ever did—his mother insulted, he insulted, he commanded to kill his friend to gratify a satanic hatred, his life attempted by his furious father. And yet he kept courageous and more or less cool-headed.

2. DECISION.—He made two decisions—that David was right about his father's purpose to kill him and that he would protect David at any personal cost. It was the final choice between the two. With righteous and thorough indignation he kept his mind alert and even yet cast his sympathy and aid with David. He was an ideal son as well as friend.

II.

Jonathan and David Meet and Part. 35-42.

"And as soon as the lad was gone, David arose out of a place toward the south, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himself three times: and they kissed one another, and went one with another, until David exceeded. And Jonathan said to David, go in peace, for as much as we have sworn both of us in the name of Jehovah, saying, Jehovah shall be between me and thee, and between my seed and my seed, for ever. And he arose and departed: and Jonathan went into the city.

"And it came to pass in the morning, that Jonathan went out into the field at the time appointed with David and a little lad with him. And he said unto his lad, run, find now the arrows which I shoot. And as the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. And when the lad was come to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the lad, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee? And Jonathan cried after the lad, make speed, haste, stay not. And Jonathan's lad gathered up the arrows and came to his master. But the lad knew not anything: only Jonathan and David knew the matter. And Jonathan gave his weapons unto his lad, and said unto him, go, carry them to the city.

1. PLANS.—If Jonathan went out alone it would excite suspicion, but to go out with a lad, like a caddy, to practice archery would not. To give the lad instructions that would at the same time be spoken loud enough to be heard by David in his hiding place and would have a special meaning to David was a shrewd and effective method. When David heard him tell the lad that the arrow was beyond him, he knew Saul was to kill him. If the lad made any report on his return it was to the effect that he and his master had been out practicing and that the latter was following while he himself had been sent on home with the bow and arrows. That gave Jonathan a chance for a farewell talk with David. The plan worked well.

2. PARTING.—They met to part for the last time. David fled and Jonathan was slain in battle before David's outlaw days ended. Note their sorrow. It was heartbreaking as they wept on each other's necks. Orientals are very demonstrative and yet those two men felt no superficial grief. Many hearts break and keep still. But it was not in these two men to bear their sorrow in silence.

Note their mutual confidence, respect and carefulness. David came from behind the stone ridge on the edge of the field and bowed in a manner suitable to the one who belonged to the king's court, superior in station as was Jonathan, but his love was not formal. His agitation in leaving for a life of exile didn't prevent his respectful treatment of his superior at court. Jonathan forgot all about his position as the king's son, for he saw his superior and the successor to the throne before him. So Jonathan recognized the coming king and recommended to his mercy his whole family including himself when David should be king. They took an oath that nothing should ever come between them or their children. The parting was more or less dignified it would seem, with a bit more of calmness, as the moment for heroic self-assertion came. Thus they parted never more to meet.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

It was the miracle of the death of self. Jonathan forgot his pride and David his ambition. It was as the smile of God, which changed the world to them. One of them it saved from the temptations of a squalid court, and the other from a sourness of an exile's life. Jonathan's princely soul had no room for envy or jealousy. David's frank nature rose to meet the magnanimity of his friend.—Black.

Friendship is love for another because of what that other is in himself, or for that other's own sake, and not because of what that other is to the loving one. Friendship is love with the selfish element eliminated. It is an outgoing and an on-going affection, wholly and inherently disinterested, and in no sense contingent upon any reciprocal relation between its giver and its object, nor yet upon its return of recognition. Friendship, in short, is love apart from love's claim or love's craving. This is pure friendship at its truest and best; and this it is that makes the best and truest friendship so rare, so difficult of conception, so liable of misconception.—Trumbull.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Can the word of the selfish ever be trusted?
2. Which is more profitable, to love or to be loved?
3. What are you doing in the way of friendship?
4. Can friendship be complete without having God at the heart of it?
5. Do you know any obscure heroism?

FARRELL OUTLINES CITY WORK PROGRAM

Tells Improvement Club of Proposed Jobs and General Conditions.

J. A. Farrell, commissioner of public works, at the meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club at the Merritt school last night, outlined the program of improvements to be carried out by the city this year.

He touched on the volume of work that has to be done by the city and said that the improvement fund was now short about $100,000 and that this shortage would necessitate the city "going slow."

The commissioner submitted plans for the proposed sewer outlet in Thirty-seventh avenue west, which will run from Eighth street to the bay and drain the territory west of the ore docks to Thirty-ninth avenue.

In speaking of proposed paving of streets, grading and sewers, the commissioner said that the property owners could get what improvements they wanted, if they were willing to pay the price. He said it was up to the people as taxpayers to stand the burden.

The club took action in participating in a clean-up campaign for the district. A committee consisting of O. D. Slater, O. A. Wicklund, E. Kribs, J. Goodhand, J. P. Daly, J. B. Arons and L. Smallwey was appointed to have charge of the campaign.

BANQUET WILL BE HELD AS USUAL

The New Duluth Commercial club will hold its fifth annual banquet on Thursday evening, May 27. Plans are now being made by officers of the club.

For a time this spring it was believed that the banquet idea would be dropped, but following a meeting held early this week the question brought more enthusiasm than ever. Tickets for the banquet are already being distributed.

"We propose to let the rest of Duluth know we are still on the map," said R. L. Taylor, secretary of the club, this morning. "The program which is now being arranged promises to outshine any of those of former years."

Arrangements have already been made for a special train to be operated from the city to the suburb that evening. The train will leave the union depot at 6:45 o'clock. The supper will be served at 7:30 o'clock.

BANQUET FOR STUDENTS

Former Longfellow Pupils in Junior High to Be Guests.

Plans for a banquet to be held early in June for children for children who were former students at the Longfellow school, but who will be graduated from the Junior high school this spring, were made at the meeting of the Alumni Association of the Longfellow school last night. The Alumni association is to be perpetuated by including in its membership those pupils who leave the institution in the sixth or seventh grades, and who in the future are graduated from the Irving Junior high school.

The election of officers took place last evening. Arnold Erickson was elected president; John Nettleton, vice president; Miss Violet siddell, secretary, and R. L. Larson, treasurer.

It is proposed to have a meeting of the organization next Tuesday evening at which committees to plan the details of the banquet will be appointed. Several good speakers, who are former graduates of the school, will be secured for the program.

Remember Her Birthday.

Mrs. Alfred Oettel, 421 North Sixty-first avenue west, was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends yesterday afternoon in honor of her birthday. Games and music featured the afternoon's entertainment. The guests were: Mrs. Samuel Beck of Hibbing, Mrs. William Berglund of Superior, Mrs. William Ashbeck of Proctor, Mrs. Robert Hand, Mrs. A. Brigham, Mrs. Harry Huth, Mrs. Fred Boreen, Mrs. William Oettel, Mrs. A. P. Johnson, Mrs. E. Doane, Mrs. L. A. Root, Mrs. A. Oettel, Mrs. L. D. Root and Miss Lillian Boreen.

Several "Will Get Theirs."

At a meeting of West Duluth lodge No. 145, A. O. U. W., held last night at Gilley's hall, a large number of the members decided to attend the oriental degree work to be put on by Fidelity lodge this evening. Several West Duluth men intend taking it. The uptown lodge will put the work on at the Maccabee hall, 21 North Lake avenue.

Will Discuss Jitneys.

The West Duluth Commercial club will hold its monthly smoker at the club rooms tomorrow evening. It is probable that the members will also discuss the possibility of a reduction on street car service owing to the recently begun jitney service through the center part of the city. Many of the members are much aroused over the situation and want prompt action by the city authorities to provide immediate regulation of the auto service.

Leader Funeral.

The funeral service for Mrs. Emma A. Leader, age 63, wife of G. N. Leader, 605 South Sixty-eighth avenue west, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church, will officiate. Interment will be in Oneota cemetery.

Mrs. Peters Dies.

Mrs. Sophia Peters, age 44, wife of Erick Peters of Short Line Park, died yesterday following an illness of over a year of cancer of the stomach. She leaves four children besides her husband.

The funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Finnish church of Midway. Interment will be in the Pine Hill cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

Members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church will hold a cooking sale Saturday at L. A. Barnes' office. The women in charge are Mrs. F. E. Watson and Mrs. T. F. Wieland.

Mrs. William Gheen of Gheen, Minn., is a guest at the home of Mrs. W. A. Pond, 1219 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

The Philathea class of the Third Swedish Baptist church entertained last evening at a musical and literary program given in the church parlors. Following the program the young women of the class served refreshments.

West Duluth lodge No. 85, Degree of Honor, will entertain at cards for its members and friends at Gilley's hall, 322 North Central avenue, tomorrow evening. A short musical program will also be given.

The adult Bible class of the Westminster Presbyterian church will entertain tomorrow evening at a concert to be given at the Great Eastern hall, 219 North Central avenue. Several well known local musicians will appear on the program.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

WIFE-BEATER SENTENCED.

Mother Severely Beaten When Attempting to Defend Baby.

WHEN William Schueler's baby daughter acted as if she was afraid of him, her father spanked her soundly, and when Mrs. Schueler interfered, the irate husband turned upon her and beat her as shown in a hearing before Judge W. H. Smallwood this morning. He was sentenced to thirty days at the work farm.

Mrs. Schueler told the court that the baby was afraid of her father, because he was so rough, and that she would cry whenever Mr. Schueler took her in his arms.

On this occasion Schueler threw his wife upon the floor and, then seizing her by the hair, he pounded her head on the floor, saying that he "would teach" the baby to cry, and that he "would teach his wife not to interfere."

The defendant broke down and wept while in the witness' chair after neighbors had testified to his wife's injuries.

NO CAUSE FOR FIGHT.

Two Duluth Youths in Same Position as European Belligerents.

To fight is bad enough, but to fight without cause is worse, according to Municipal Judge W. H. Smallwood, who imposed a fine of $4 on Ben Goldstein, 18, and Max Plotkin, 20, this morning.

When arrested the boys didn't know why they were fighting, but agreed that it started when Max asked Ben to "take off his glasses" and Ben was foolish enough to comply with the request.

Officer Harling caught them, just as Ben's finger had wandered into Max's mouth, and as Max was about to shut his teeth. They promised to be good after an admonition by the court.

GETS HIMSELF ARRESTED

Jitney Driver Tries to Collect $1 and It Cost Him $15.

"This woman owes me about a dollar in fares," said John Andrews, 51, a jitney driver, as he entered police headquarters last night with a middle-aged woman who gave her name as Dolly Mathews.

"Have you a license as a bus driver?" asked Sergeant Weber, "you know it is against the law to charge more than a 'jitney' when you are operating a jitney bus."

Andrews admitted that he did not have the proper license and was arrested. He forfeited $15 bail in municipal court this morning. His passenger was sentenced to pay a fine of $7 or to spend seven days in jail as a penalty for drunkenness.

"SQUARE" BURGLARS.

Thieves Evidently Split Their Loot "Three Ways."

A firm of burglars who did business "strictly on the square," broke into the second-hand store of Moses Sklaro, 925 West Michigan street, last night.

There were three of them, and this is what they took: Three watches, three revolvers and three suits.

An extra pair of trousers and an extra coat also disappeared, probably to be used in case one of the burglars met with a misfortune while climbing over a barbed-wire fence.

The proprietor found his rear door broken open early this morning and reported it to the police.

STOLEN AUTO IN JITNEY SERVICE

Duluth is not the only city bothered by joy riders and reckless jitneyists, as was proven last night when Detectives Toewe and Bradley arrested Joseph T. O'Connell of Ashland, Wis.

O'Connell, charged with being a fugitive from Ashland, is alleged to have stolen an automobile and gone joy riding in Ashland recently, it is stated, and that he even tried being a jitney operator with his new property.

Sheriff Blair will arrive in Duluth today and return to the Wisconsin town with O'Connell, where he will be tried on a charge of grand larceny. O'Connell had been in Duluth three days, and was found at 1022 West Fifth street by the Duluth officers.

CITY-OWNED AUTOS BEING LABELED

All the city-owned automobiles are now being labeled in the fire department's repair shop.

The name of the respective division is to be painted on both front doors of each car in bright letters so that the ownership can easily be recognized.

The cars were recently ordered painted following a communication received from the Munger Improvement club to the effect that city employes go joy-riding in the department automobiles.

ROOSEVELT IS EXCUSED

Leaves Stand After Brief Cross-Examination By Ivins.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 6.—The case of the defense in William Barnes' suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt is nearly completed, attorneys said today. They added that only a few more witnesses remained to be called.

Before recess was taken yesterday the colonel was asked whether he had any information other than that about which he had already been questioned, which led him to say the things he did in the statement upon which the suit is based, and he replied in the affirmative. Mr. Bowers announced that unless the colonel should be allowed to tell about those conditions his redirect examination was completed.

William M. Ivins, chief counsel for Mr. Barnes, being absent from court, his associates requested that the matter be put over until today when he would be present to offer arguments against allowing the colonel to go into the affairs at Albany and to cross-examine the former president. The cross-examination, Mr. Ivins has announced, would be quite extended.

Cautions Jury.

When court opened today Justice Andrews reiterated his warning to the jury about reading newspapers. Then counsel began their argument upon the admissibility of evidence concerning local affairs in Albany.

Mr. Bowers for Col. Roosevelt urged that the colonel be allowed to answer the question put to him yesterday as to information he possessed about an arrangement between Mr. Barnes, "and a man named McCabe, at one time leader of the Democratic party in Albany." Mr. Bowers argued that the evidence should be admitted in mitigation of damages.

He said: "I expect Col. Roosevelt will testify here that Mr. Barnes bargained with one McCabe. I expect the defendant will testify that Mr. Barnes found places in gambling houses for men to work."

Justice Andrews ruled against this line of questioning, saying that any information the defendant had received which was confined to county and city affairs in Albany was immaterial.

Roosevelt Resumes Stand.

Col. Roosevelt then resumed the stand.

"I don't care to have anything further to say to Col. Roosevelt," remarked Mr. Ivins with a smile.

So contrary to expectation, the colonel was not cross-examined upon his testimony of yesterday.

Some questions were asked by Mr. Bowers to establish basis for further evidence. The colonel testified that he resided in the state and voted at the September, 1914, primaries and he named the candidates for the United States senatorial and gubernatorial nominations of the Republican and Democratic parties.

"Shall I name the candidates in the Progressive primaries?" asked the colonel.

"Oh, yes; the Progressive party is still historical at any rate," said Mr. Ivins and the court room smiled audibly.

Col. Roosevelt was then excused.

When Your Children Grow Up

There are some things children cannot learn at school. And in their preparation for life these things are among the most important. The value of time and industry, the earning of money, the saving of money—without a knowledge of these practical things your boy or girl can hardly succeed.

Let each child have a savings account at the First National Bank. Show him that a day of idleness produces nothing; that a day's work produces money. He'll learn to save money. And by the time he is of age he will HAVE money.

MAKE MOTHER HAPPY BY YOUR REMEMBRANCE

Next Sunday Will Be Mother's Day; All Urged to Make Floral Tribute and Write to Her If She Is Living.

"Remember your mother on May 9, Sunday, one of the days of the entire year when she surely will want to be remembered."

That is a slogan adopted by women's organizations of the city, with a view of making Mother's day, next Sunday, the most successful one ever planned. Under the direction of the Mother's Day International association, which has an organization in every state in the union, an extensive campaign has been waged for several days.

White flowers should be worn by persons whose mothers are not living, while the pink or red flowers should be sent mothers who are living.

In addition to the flowers, many persons have started the practice of writing letters home, so that they will reach "mother" on Sunday.

"Many hearts will be made glad if you remember your mother on her day," say the members of the Duluth Woman's council and they have planned a far-reaching appeal to both the old and the young.

AAD PATROL IS HONORED

Will Escort Imperial Potentate During the Seattle Meeting.

Many Shriners Will Take Trip to Imperial Gathering.

The Arab patrol of Aad temple, together with the El Zagal patrol and band of Fargo, will constitute the official escort for Imperial Potentate Frederick B. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., and the imperial divan en route to the annual meeting of the imperial council of the Mystic Shrine to be held at Seattle during the week of July 11. In addition, the two bodies will escort the officials in the several parades at Seattle and during the special excursions to Puget Sound and Portland.

Lyonel Ayres, potentate of Aad temple, made this announcement to the members of Arab patrol following the regular drill meeting at the Masonic temple last evening. He read a complete itinerary of the trip to and from Seattle and reported that beside the thirty members of the patrol, who will attend the Seattle meeting, about ten Shriners, including the officers, will also make the trip. Many women will be included in the Duluth party.

Entertainment on the Way.

The local delegation to the Seattle meeting will leave at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday evening, July 8, going in a special car over the Northern Pacific to Fargo. In the North Dakota city the delegation from El Zagal temple will join the party and stops will be made in all the large cities, where special entertainments are planned for the visitors.

At Livingston, Mont., the train will meet the special train of Imperial Potentate Smith and the two patrols will act as his escort from that time until after the conclave. At Helena, Mont., the travelers will take part in the dedication of the new $150,000 temple now being erected by Algeria temple. At Spokane, Wash., Aad and El Zagal patrols will act as the imperial potentate's escort in a parade and entertainment, after which the party will continue to Seattle. The two patrols will escort the imperial divan in the official entry into Seattle, where the thousands of Shriners already gathered, will participate in a parade from the railroad station to the hotel.

At Seattle and in the various special side trips planned for the entertainment of the visitors, Arab and El Zagal patrols will officially escort the imperial potentate and his divan and on the return trip through Canada, a similar program will be followed out.

BAN ON ORGIES IN SUBURBAN CABINS

Police and Sheriff's Office Will Take United Action.

Orgies in summer cabins in the eastern suburbs of Duluth or outside the city limits will have to stop, according to Commissioner Silberstein, head of the division of public safety.

After a consultation with Sheriff John Meining, the commissioner announced that the county official had agreed to take care of the situation outside of the city limits, and Mr. Silberstein will instruct police to watch for violations in the cabin districts of Lester Park, Woodland and Lakeside.

"With one exception, in which case the offenders were arrested and prosecuted," said Chief of Police Troyer, "complaints regarding disorderly conduct in cabins have been scarce. Ribaldry involving young girls has not been much in evidence, and from my knowledge of the situation, I would say that reports were exaggerated.

"Most of the complaints we have received have concerned robberies, in which the places were broken into and ransacked while the owners were in the city."

Commissioner Silberstein's action followed reports that young girls were being lured to these cabins, and that immoral conditions existed in many of them.

COUNTRY IS GARDEN SPOT

North Dakota State Official Says Crop Outlook Never Brighter.

Farmer Receives $4,000 for Grain Held Since Last Fall.

Glowing reports are coming to hand regarding the present crop outlook in the Northwest. Authorities agree that conditions are almost perfect as regards soil preparation and the appearance of the plant which has attained a good growth in most districts in Western Minnesota and North and South Dakota.

Gilbert Haugen of the state land department at Bismarck, N. D., has made the following report and comment in that connection:

"I have just returned from an extended trip all along the northern part of the state from Williston to Fargo, and can freely say that in all the years that I have lived in North Dakota since 1886, I never saw a better prospect. The entire country wherever I went is a garden spot. Often when one part has sufficient moisture another part is too dry or too wet, but this year the moisture seems to be evenly distributed.

"Another feature about the farming this spring which impressed me, is the fact that there seems to be so much better work in the fields. I don't think there ever was a spring when the farmers got into the fields so early and were permitted to work continuously. This, together with the fact that there was a great deal of fall plowing, has given a long seeding time, and because of the favorable spring and good price prospect there will be a large increase in acreage.

"Up at Crosby, N. D., the other day a farmer drove in with a load of wheat and carried away a check for $104. Another who had not sold any of last year's crop, had just finished hauling it to the elevator. He drew $4,000 in cash and took a C. D. for it at the bank, as he didn't need one cent of it. That is prosperity."

WHISKY IN GREAT DEMAND IN LONDON

Dealers' Stocks Depleted and Retailers Talk of Scarcity.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 15.—The demand for whisky, in anticipation of government action either in the direction of largely increased taxation or of prohibition, has been so great that dealers' stocks have been depleted and retailers have begun to speak of the possibility of a scarcity. There have been exceptionally large withdrawals of stocks from bond.

In the national drink bill prepared by George B. Wilson, secretary of the United Kingdom alliance, the annual expenditure of Great Britain in drink is computed at over $821,300,000. Over $517,000,000 is spent in beers; $50,000,000 in wines and the rest in hard spirits. This puts the average expenditure for each individual at .69 gallons of spirits, 28.78 of beer and .25 of wine, costing $17.50.

MORE EVIDENCE OF BETTER CONDITIONS

Oil Refiners Put Plants in Full Operation to Meet Demand.

Extension of prosperity over the country is attested in advices from Chicago that the demand for gasoline in the Middle West has shown a great increase during the last few weeks. A number of refiners that were running considerably below capacity, have recently put their plants in full operation. This is a distinct change in the situation since early last winter when the oil market became demoralized from production and price standpoints.

Another gratifying feature in the situation is the market strength being shown in leading iron and steel products. The National Tube company, for example, has just announced an advance of approximately $2 a ton on all its regular tubular products except oil country goods, the advance covering standard steel pipe both black and galvanized, line pipe, 15-inch and less, and boiler tubes.

WINES NOW OBTAINABLE IN PETROGRAD HOTELS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Petrograd, April 10.—Strict prohibition of wines, which followed the abolition of vodka in Petrograd, has begun to be relaxed to some extent. For a time it was impossible for diners in hotels and restaurants to secure wines at any price. Today, on the contrary, it is quite easy to have such beverages served more or less openly, in pitchers, lamely disguised as "kvas," a common Russian temperance drink. Householders easily procure supplies for home consumption by applying to the police captain of the district wherein they live.

MURDERED WOMAN FIRST TO EXPIRE

Disposition of the Estate of Brainerd Couple Hung on Nice Law Point.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The verdict of the coroner's jury into the deaths of Gustave Menz and his wife was that he had shot and killed her with a revolver and that he had committed suicide. An autopsy showed that Mrs. Menz died first. There were five bullet wounds in her head. One fractured two vertebrae in her neck and went through the base of the brain. Another bullet went through the back of her head and into the brain. Either would have caused instant death. Four bullets lodged in her head. One made a scalp wound. Menz shot himself through the right temple, the bullet passing through his head, causing instant death.

On the autopsy depended the determination of the succession regarding inheritances. Had Mrs. Menz died after Mr. Menz she would have inherited her third share of the property and upon her death the same would have descended to her daughter. She died first and Gustave Menz inherits from his wife his share and such share descends to his children.

Daughter Gets Two-Thirds.

Mrs. Floyd Smith of Centralia, Wash., daughter of Mrs. Menz, will inherit two-thirds of her mother's estate, the other third going to the heirs of Gustave Menz. She was reputed to be worth $18,000 and held considerable stock in Western mining and oil companies and had money in the bank. Some of this property is in the name of her first husband, Mrs. Hammer.

Mr. Menz was about 56 years old, was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1880. He was of an industrious nature and amassed a competence of $18,000 to $20,000. His first wife died in January, 1914. On Dec. 2 he was married to the widow, Mrs. Katherine Hanimer, whose acquaintance he had gained in a matrimonial advertisement. She left him Feb. 9 and refused to live with him, starting divorce proceedings. Brooding over this, he shot her and killed himself shortly after tendering her payment of an allowance ordered by the court. The double funeral was held this afternoon from the Presbyterian church, Rev. W. J. Lowrie officiating.

MOTHER ADMITS SHE KILLED OWN CHILD

Milwaukee Woman Tells Police She Choked Her Young Son.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 6.—Mrs. Susie Wodjik, wife of a sailor who lives alone in the basement of a shack in the desolate part of Milwaukee while her husband is away during the navigation season, has admitted, the police assert, that she choked to death her 6-year-old son Adam, several days ago.

The woman collapsed after detailing the story and was placed in a hospital.

Also Planned Suicide.

She said, according to the police, that she had planned to strangle her other young son also and to take her own life, but she had a revolt of feeling after she had left the body of one child in an alley. So, she said, she decided to place a rag in the boy's mouth and report to the police that he was missing.

For a long time after the dead boy was found, Mrs. Wodjik professed ignorance of how he met death, but finally broke down and told the story, the police said, expressing regret for her act. She said she had tired of her miserable existence and wanted to take the children with her to the grave.

You Can't Brush or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

FRENCH LANDS ARE UNDER CULTIVATION

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

General Headquarters, British Army, France, April 12.—The aged peasants of France, assisted by the women and children, have gone valiantly and diligently ahead with the farm work wherever opportunity offered, so that spring finds every inch of agricultural country, barring those strips of no man's land between the trenches of the opposing armies, under cultivation. Practically all of the available land has been planted and along the front held by the British army are thousands of acres in wheat, some of it already more than an inch high. France is duplicating the intense farming idea of the Germans.

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSIONS

CHAPTER VII.

In the preceding chapters it was stated that the company desired the people of the Twin Ports to be as well satisfied with its policy regarding extensions as they appear to be with its service. The policy of the company regarding extensions was stated and some facts were given bearing upon the matter.

In the city of Milwaukee there was put into effect on the first of January, 1914, a "zone system of fares" which was worked out under the direction, and with the approval, of the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin. The city zone, or five-cent district, in that city is limited by a line extending around the center of the city and varying from something over three miles to about five miles in distance from the center. Every passenger carried beyond such city zone is required to pay an additional two cents for each mile traveled.

If this system should be extended to Duluth and Superior there are a number of the lines now in operation on which an additional fare would be charged.

The success of any street railway is directly dependent upon the density of the population in which it operates and while Superior has the most sparse population within its limits of any city in the world and Duluth comes next, these two cities have at present more miles of street railway track per thousand of population than the average American city, and very much more track in proportion to population that is directly tributary to the lines, regardless of the unusually extended city limits.

As stated above, these two cities have not grown as fast as we all have thought they should grow and it has taken them a good many years to partially build up to the miles of street railway that were built during the time when street railways were wildly building extensions in all other cities. These two cities now having more street railway track in proportion to inhabitants than can be found in the average American city it would seem that if the company should extend its tracks from this time on as rapidly as the population shall increase it would be all that could reasonably be expected We believe that it would not only be a ruinous business policy for the company but the worst possible thing for the cities and a majority of their inhabitants for us to build extensions in advance of the requirements of actual settlement. It would be infinitely better for all interests, unless perhaps of those who speculate in unimproved real estate, for us to follow the more conservative policy of the city of Duluth and extend our service only to such localities as have sufficient population to obtain water and light from the municipally operated utilities provided of course that there are suitably graded streets on which to extend our tracks.

"BABY" MASON LODGE NINE SHOWS CLASS BY WINNING TEMPLE LEAGUE TITLE

TRINITY LODGE, A. F. & A. M., CHAMPION INDOOR BASEBALL TEAM.

The Trinity indoor baseball team, representing the Trinity lodge No. 282, A. F. & A. M., demonstrated during the last season that the "baby" Mason lodge of the city has some fast youngsters. The demonstration was made by winning the championship of the City Temple league.

The West end team started early in the season at the head of the league and maintained its place as league leaders throughout the race. Excellent management on the part of Manager Maghan, and the paying of greater attention to team work rather than individual plays, won first place for the locals.

This evening members of the team will be guests at the annual banquet to be held by the Temple league at the Masonic temple, Lake avenue and Second street.

MAY QUEEN CELEBRATION

Business Men of the West End Plan Unique Program.

Voting Contest Arranged By Merchants; Parade Another Feature.

A May Queen festival and parade will be held under the auspices of the business men of the West end on May 28. Plans were made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the committee, representing the merchants, and it is expected that within a week the details will be complete.

The May Queen will be chosen by a popular vote of people of the West end who patronize the business men of the community. The ballots will be in the form of tickets, which will be furnished by each business man of the West end, and with each 25 cents' worth of goods the purchaser will be entitled to one vote. On these ballots the purchaser may write the name of his or her favorite, and boxes will be placed in each of the seven drug stores designated.

That there will be a spirited contest is the prediction of the merchants. It is probable, they say, that nearly every organization will have at least one candidate in the field for the honor. The ballots issued by the business men, will be signed by the merchant who issues them.

A big parade is planned for the evening of the festival. This will be headed by a twenty-piece band, and following it will come the May Queen on a large, handsomely decorated float, following will come the five "rake" squads that have been busy in the clean-up campaign. These squads, each representing one of the five schools, will be organized under the direction of Captain K. A. Franklin.

The voting contest opens today and will close on May 25. The counting of the ballots will take place the next day, and on the day before the festival, the name of the winner will be announced.

The members of the committee in charge of the celebration are Carl E. Lonegren, chairman; Sanford W. Hill, O. F. Wennerlund, C. J. Lundquist and E. F. Gustafson. Another meeting of the committee will be held on Friday afternoon.

WILL EXPLAIN WHY HE IS A CHRISTIAN

"Why I Am a Christian," will be the subject of a sermon given this evening by Rev. Milton E. Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. The mid-week service will begin at 7:45 o'clock.

Tomorrow evening the Baptist Brotherhood will hold its meeting in the church. The principal speakers will be L. A. Marvin and J. H. Cook, both of whom were on the committee to secure Billy Sunday for Duluth. The speakers will address the members of the organization on the possibility of getting the evangelist to come to Duluth.

Large Woodman Class.

A large class of new members will be initiated tomorrow evening at the meeting of Duluth Camp No. 2341, Modern Woodmen of America, at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The work will be put on by the full degree staff of the society. Invitations have been given to members of other Woodman lodges of the city.

Club Will Meet.

The West End Commercial club will hold its semi-monthly meeting this evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The clean-up campaign, street improvements and other subjects of interest to the community will be brought up. The club will probably take action on being represented on the advisory committee to the city commission suggested some time ago by the Rotary club.

College Head to Speak.

Dr. Frank Nelson, president of the Minnesota college of Minneapolis, will speak Sunday evening at the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street. Dr. Nelson is said to be one of the ablest Swedish pulpit orators in the state. The morning service at the church will be conducted by Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the church.

West End Briefs.

The choir of the Swedish Mission church will meet this evening for rehearsal instead of tomorrow evening as formerly planned.

The funeral for Clarence, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Peterson, 325 North Twentieth avenue west, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the family residence with interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

The choir of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, entertained last evening at its annual May concert. The affair was well attended. A good program of music was given.

Mrs. H. A. Geraghty, 2013 West Third street, entertained this afternoon for the St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church at her home.

Diamond lodge, No. 1257, Mystic Workers of the World, gave a card party and dance last night in the Columbia hall. Refreshments were served by the entertainment committee, after the prizes were given.

Miss Lyda Lewis, who has been visiting friends in the West end during the past winter, left last night for an extended trip through Western Canada. In the fall she will return to her home in Detroit.

Grippe A Robber of Strength and Flesh

Run-Down, Underweight People Should Regain Lost Flesh and Strength at This Season.

People who have gone through winter suffering a succession of coughs, colds, grippe, catarrh or other ailments peculiar to cold weather will probably be surprised, if they climb on a weighing scales, to see how much flesh they have lost. Most everyone reaches spring with weight decreased, vitality lowered, nerves affected and general health and strength impaired.

The best way to regain lost flesh and strength is through the original source of all flesh and strength—your food. Food, however, produces flesh and strength only in the proportion in which its nourishing elements are absorbed by the blood. Loss of weight indicates a leakage of the fats, sugars and starches of your food. Instead of going to the blood they are passing through your body as waste. The assimilative functions of your stomach and intestines are out of order and you need something that will get them working right again. Nothing is better for this purpose than a single Sargol tablet eaten at meals for a few weeks. Sargol does not build flesh of itself and, taken between meals, is of little value for the purpose, but, swallowed with your food, it acts upon every mouthful you eat, first separating all the fats, oils, sugars, starches and other materials which make for flesh and strength from the waste matter and then preparing all these fat-making, nourishing elements into a form which the blood can readily absorb and distribute throughout the body. The effect is quickly felt. Reported gains in weight of from ten to twenty-five pounds a month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by Boyce Drug store and leading druggists everywhere and every package contains a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution:—Sargol is widely used as a general body builder and for many nervous troubles, but when used for such purposes alone and where patient does not desire an increase of weight it should be taken not less than one hour after meals. If taken at meal-times it will almost certainly produce an increase in weight that some may not desire.

DECLARE STREET NEEDS A CLEANING

Business Men Say West Superior Street Is Being Neglected.

Several business men yesterday commented on the condition of West Superior street. They claim that the street has not been given a cleaning for some time.

"We hope the new administration will not see fit to neglect this part of the city," said one of the business men today. "The street department should not be so curtailed that its crews will be handicapped in doing its work properly. Only once or twice have men been on the street here at Twentieth avenue west to sweep it off. While the dirt is not very noticeable when well wetted down by rain, it will be when the sun gets good action on it."

ADAMS ALUMNI WILL PLAN ANNUAL BANQUET

The Adams Alumni association will hold a business and social meeting tomorrow evening at the school at which plans will be made for holding its annual banquet early in June. The association will be host to more than forty students who will be graduated from the eighth grade this year.

One of the features of the social program planned for tomorrow will be an address by Dr. O. A. Oredson, who will speak on his experiences in the war zone last summer and fall. The local physician was in Germany for several weeks after the war broke out and has given a number of interesting talks on the sights he witnessed.

Officers of the alumni are expecting a large turnout to the meeting. Several musical numbers will be given. Among those who will render vocal selections are Miss Hedvig Benson and Ray Olson.

MAY CANCEL CONTRACT

Rubbish Cans May Yet Be Removed From Street Corners.

Because the permit granted to Spindler Brothers, allowing them to place advertising receptacles on street corners, virtually amounts to a franchise and was included in a resolution instead of an ordinance, as is required by the city charter, the contract may be invalidated, according to an opinion handed down yesterday afternoon by City Attorney Greene in a conference with Mayor Prince and Commissioner Farrell.

On March 8 the old council passed a resolution introduced by Commissioner Murchison authorizing him to enter into a contract with Spindler Brothers to allow them permission to place from thirty to fifty paper receptacles on the important street corners of the city free of charge. These boxes were distributed two weeks ago, and since then Commissioner Farrell has been ranking every effort to have the contract invalidated.

The head of the works division claims that the boxes are in the way and also unsightly. He is supported in his contention by Commissioners Voss and Silberstein.

When the boxes appeared on the street, Commissioner Farrell asked the city attorney for an opinion on the matter and at the conference yesterday afternoon the latter declared that the council would have the right to annul the contract, because it amounts to a franchise and was not granted in an ordinance, as is required by the city charter. The city attorney was instructed to make further investigations, after which the council will take final action, it was announced following the conference yesterday.

EDWARD C. WALL'S WILL FILED AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., May 6.—The will of Edward C. Wall was filed for probate on Tuesday. The petition declares the estate to consist of "over $12,000" in personal property and "over $20,000" in real estate.

To the widow, Mrs. Martha Wall, is left $2,000, and to a son, Alexander Wall, a membership in the chamber of commerce. The balance is left in trust, the testator having named George Miller as trustee. The widow is to receive during her lifetime the income from a trust fund of $60,000. At her death the son, Alexander, will become the beneficiary.

If the son does not survive the widow the following division of the estate is to be made: One-fourth each to two brothers, James C. and Whitney Wall of Duluth, Minn., one-fourth to a nephew, Edward C. Wall, and one-fourth to be divided between a niece, Lucia Hendley, and a nephew, David B. Ogden, Boston, Mass.

The will was drawn up on Feb. 8, 1911.

Edward C. Wall, the nephew mentioned in the will, was formerly a teller in the First National Bank of Duluth but left here over a year ago and is understood to be living on the Pacific coast.

HART MUST SERVE SENTENCE IMPOSED

Bismarck, N. D., May 6.—George Hart, "the man in the case" in connection with the suicide of Mrs. J. H. Griffin of Ryder, several months ago, convicted in the Ward district court on adultery charges preferred by Mrs. Griffith's husband, must face the sentence prescribed by the court.

A feature of the prosecution of Hart was the absence of the injured husband from the trial. Griffith failed to appear, and state authorities prosecuted the case without his assistance. It was the first time in the history of North Dakota that a defendant has been convicted of adultery in which action the injured party did not testify.

M. E. CHURCH IS GROWING

Reports Presented at Residential Council Meeting at Grand Forks.

Superintendent Tells How Work of Church Is Progressing.

Grand Forks, N. RICE LAKE MURDER CASE BEING TRIED

State's Star Witness Tells of Seeing Norton Choke Wife.

Barron, Wis., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Edward Norton of Rice Lake, who, charged with the murder of his wife, is going on here and intense interest is shown by the crowds that throng the courthouse.

Ray Fitch, the star witness for the state, closely stuck to the same story that he told at the preliminary hearing last winter.

Saw Norton Choking Wife.

He said he heard Mrs. Norton crying for help about 5:30 o'clock a. m. That he finally got up and stepping into the hallway upstairs saw Mr. and Mrs. Norton struggling there, that Mr. Norton was choking her with both hands and told Fitch to go back to his own room and put out the light; that he was afraid of Norton and tried to get out his bedroom window, but failing in this, he stepped back into the hall and then Mrs. Norton was lying on her back and that Norton was still choking her. He testified he asked if she was dead and that Norton said, "no, but she soon would be." When asked why he did not interfere when he saw all this he said he was afraid of Norton and was glad to get away alive.

A. G. DIVET.

Wahpeton, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. G. Divet, chairman of the judiciary committee in the recent legislature, who fought the proposal to erect a terminal grain elevator in St. Paul at this time, issues a statement defending his action.

Mr. Divet has been attacked by the American Society of Equity, because of his position, and in his statement he declares he is in favor of the general proposition of independent marketing of grain, but that he opposed the scheme of constructing an elevator at this time because he did not feel the state was prepared financially to carry the plan to perfection.

WARD COUNTY, N. D., SETTING EXAMPLE

Better Farming Movement Given Impetus By Boys' Contest.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The advocates of the better farming movement in this state are exultant over the inauguration of a plan in Ward county that it is hoped to later carry out all over the state, or at least in many of the leading counties.

The enterprising business men of that county, under the inspiration of W. A. Peck, the better farming agent, offered $1,500 in cash prizes for boys' contests covering a period of three years. It is open to any boy over 14 and under 20 years of age. Each contestant must farm seventeen acres of land of which two is to be in alfalfa and the other fifteen are to be divided into the three five-acre plots to be worked in crop rotation. Each contestant must keep an accurate account of the expenditures, including all labor and income from the crops. The contestants will be assisted in the disposition of the crops to the best advantage.

Cash Prizes of $250.

The cash prizes are to be $250 for the first prize winner, and the money is divided into twenty-five prizes, the last nine getting $25 each, the ten preceding those getting $50 each. The second gets $200, the third, $150, the fourth $100 and the fifth $75. In addition the winner for each year gets a $100 silver loving cup, which becomes the permanent property at the end of the third year of the boy showing the largest income from his three years of experimentation.

CHURCH AMALGAMATION.

Three Large Norwegian Denominations in United States Will Unite.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—Final steps in preparing for a union between the three largest and oldest Norwegian church denominations in the country were taken yesterday when a joint committee representing the synods met here to draw up a constitution for the amalgamation. A doctrinal agreement has been adopted by the three churches and articles of agreement relative to church property by two, so members of the committee said they were confident that the union, which has been sought for years, will soon be an actuality.

The churches represented are the Norwegian Synod of America, the Hauges Norwegian synod and the United Norwegian Lutheran. The committee represents more than 3,000 churches. Should all three denominations adopt the constitution another joint meeting will be held and then the union will be effected.

FARMERS' PICNIC NEAR TO BEMIDJI

Nearby Soil Tillers Will Entertain Bemidji Merchants June 16.

Bemidji, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local merchants will be entertained at a picnic given by farmers of this vicinity at the Peter Marum farm, one mile west of Bemidji, on June 16. Hereafter this will be an annual affair.

This picnic was decided on at a recent gathering of farmers and business men at the high school, who met to discuss the Dairy Breeders' association. The proposition of an annual picnic was suggested by A. P. Ritchie, who said that the farmers had been the guests of the business men a great many times and that it was now the turn of the farmers to entertain the business men.

Committee Has Plans.

The work of arranging and advertising the picnic was left to a committee composed of Binford M. Gile, A. P. Ritchie and A. W. Hoskins, who plan to make it one of the biggest events of the summer. Plans are being made to have music furnished by the Bemidji city band and the Lammers Farmers' club band and a big picnic dinner will be served.

A baseball game will also be played between the business men of Bemidji and the farmers. The picnic will be given by all the farmers in the vicinity of Bemidji, whether they belong to a farmers' club or not and the dinner will be provided for by each family bringing enough for themselves and some extra.

At the breeders' association meeting, Nels Willet, president of the organization, made known the fact that he was about to purchase a registered Holstein cow and to gradually work into pure bred stock. Mr. Page of the Hines Farmers' club told the members that his club had recently purchased a Holstein bull.

AYR, N. D., MARRIED MAN HAS TROUBLES

Accused of Crime By Both State and Federal Authorities.

Ayr, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged in the state courts with a statutory offense and by the Federal officials with a violation of the Mann act, Cecil Peterson, a local elevator man, is having considerable litigation.

Some weeks ago, on the charge of Lillian Holmquist, 17 years old, he was placed under bonds by the state authorities, and following that charge the Federal officials brought the other. On the hearing of the latter case, the girl testified to having accompanied Peterson to St. Paul Dec. 4, 1914, and that they remained in the same room in a hotel. Peterson apparently proved an alibi that he was in Ayr on that date and had checks and business transactions of record in his handwriting in addition to the testimony of a number of witnesses. His alibi was so strong that a further hearing was taken till May 13 to enable the United States district attorney to continue his investigations.

Peterson is a married man and nas been an agent for an elevator company here for some time.

ECZEMA ON HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

Especially the Finger Joints. Would Crack and Bleed. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Healed.

Hotel Summers, Minneapolis, Minn.—"My eczema troubled me most in my hands, especially the finger joints. I felt at times like tearing the flesh off. It first appeared as a rash and it itched and burned. The joints would crack open and bleed at times. I could pull small pieces of scaly skin off and then the part would be very tender. Several of my finger nails came off. Cold water seemed to make the eczema worse.

"An old friend told me to use Cuticura Soap to wash with and Cuticura Ointment on retiring at night. I did and now I have not the slightest itchy feeling, not a mark or scar. Cuticura Soap and Ointment healed me." (Signed) George Lowther, Oct. 5, 1914.

Retain your good looks, keep your skin clear, scalp clean and free from dandruff, and hair live and glossy. Cuticura Soap, with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will promote these coveted conditions.

Sample Each Free by Mail

With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

FARGO IS ENJOYING QUITE BUILDING BOOM

Much Paving and Other City Work Is Now Going On.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The paving contracts recently let here have been started. The city commission apportioned the work among three contractors, James Kennedy of this place getting the bulk of the work, and he has started to carry out his contracts, taking Broadway in the business district first. The total volume of the contracts will be around $140,000, and all is to be completed before fall. The contracts are fairly evenly divided between the business and the residence districts.

In addition to the paving contracts the city will do considerable water main and sewer extension work during the season.

The building contractors are much busier than usual because of the large volume of new work. The largest contract in construction is the new assembling and distributing plant for the Ford company. It is steel and concrete and now above the third floor. It will be one of the largest floor-space structures in Fargo when completed.

Enlarging Masonic Temple.

The large addition to the Masonic temple is now under roof and the interior work has been commenced. This will make the present temple the second largest in the entire United States used exclusively for Masonic purposes.

Contracts have been let for a number of new business blocks on Broadway.

Construction work is most active also in the residence districts. Many new apartment houses, especially double or duplex houses are being built.

WILLIE RITCHIE THINKING OF BOXING MIKE GIBBONS

Mike Collins Says Former Lightweight Champion May Challenge the Phantom—Ketonen a Great Wrestler—Forget the Winnipeg Deal—Boosting the Grade School League.

BY BRUCE.

JUST what do you know about this? Willie Ritchie thinking of boxing Mike Gibbons! Yessir; got this pretty straight. Mike Collins is down in dear old Chi, and while making the rounds of the loop district held a long talk with the former lightweight champion of the world. Mike relayed us the news.

"Willie weighs about 145 pounds right now, and is getting heavier," writes Michael. "I believe Ritchie is really sincere in the statement that he would like to box Mike Gibbons. I wonder what kind of a match it would make?"

Collins is not out of the promoting game as yet. The Hudson impresario is about the only lad in the promoting game who made any real money the present season. Collins is a regular fellow; loyal, clean and square, and he has the respect of every boxer he has ever done business with.

Waino Ketonen Has Left.

YESTERDAY afternoon's choo choo bore Waino Ketonen off for the East. The little Finn has a number of matches lined up in the middle states and may not be back in these parts for some time.

It is with real pleasure that this column pays a compliment to this modest little Finnish boy. There are few real wrestlers in the world; real wrestlers in all of the art and detail of what is a great game—Ketonen is one of the great ones.

There was Gotch and Beell and Adamson and Harvey Parker—and now there is Waino. In the business of knowing how to wrestle, this little Finn is a real workman. And another little thing, Waino is as clean and square off the matt as he is proficient on the padded canvas.

Good luck to Waino—that boy is one of the regular mat fellows.

Let Them all Forget It.

NOW that the somewhat evil smelling Winnipeg baseball muss is adjusted amicably, let everyone try to forget the rather raw deal.

Dark secrets were hinted at. The Northern league was organized on a year to year basis with the deliberate attempt to shuffle Pulford out, it is claimed. Now the league is re-organized on a twenty-year basis. Pulford is out, if some of his old associates are in, so let harmony prevail and let us all hope that baseball around the Northern league suffers no ill effects because of the ruction.

Baseball is the one greatest sport in the world. Facts, figures and conditions nod acclaim to this statement. It is a game for the people and of the people. The 1915 season of the Northern league is being ushered in today. Bob voyage to it—may Darby give us another winner.

The Duluth Grade League.

THREE rousing cheers for the kid baseball players! Go to it, kids—we are all with you.

On Monday, as yesterday's Herald stated, the embryo ball players will start on the second lap of the pennant race. Milder weather, better playing conditions, and more practice should all result in making the games in this lap of the gonfalon chase closer and better played.

You are doing fine, Kiddos. Remember, if you make a great success of the league this season, the success next year will be all the greater. In St. Paul the games of the grade school league attract almost as much attention as those of the American association teams. The rivalry between the different schools is intense. Every kid not playing on a team is out at every game rooting for his school. That's the kind of spirit we want here.

Because some of the teams have not made an especially good showing as yet, don't get discouraged, boys. That's part of the game. You are all working for the success of the league. Maybe it is luck or one of the breaks of the game. Keep plugging away, you have a great little league started and all of the fans are waiting for the championship games.

Again—three lusty cheers for the grade school league.

AMATEURS TO OPEN SEASON

Simon-Pures Will Start the Baseball Season With Games Saturday.

Big baseball doings are scheduled for Athletic park on Saturday afternoon. The opening of the Duluth Amateur Baseball league will be celebrated at that time, and the throwing of the first ball by Mayor Prince, an automobile parade of the players through the downtown streets, and a band concert are among a few of the festivities planned.

The Duluth Board of Trade and F. A. Patrick teams will meet in the opening game of the season. Both of the clubs are composed of the best amateur players of the city. Both teasm have many of the players that represented their organizations in the Commercial league last season.

There are six teams in the league. The F. A. Patricks, the Duluth Board of Trades, the Duluth Street Railway company, the Canadian Northern, the Moose and the Duluth Edisons.

Practically all of the best amateur players of the city have been enrolled in the ranks of the various teams.

It is expected that the league will be faster than the Commercial league of last year, and it is expected that the season about to start will be one of the best that any local amateur baseball association has ever had.

President Ray Fenton has worked diligently along with the managers of the various teams to get all in readiness for the season opening.

On Saturday at 2 o'clock, at the Thirty-second avenue west grounds, the Canadian Northern and Duluth Edison teams will also play.

WALTER GLASS HEADS THE SYRACUSE STUDENT BODY

Duluth Boy Is Signally Honored By School Mates of Eastern College—Arthur Osman Is Made Member of Board of Athletic Governors.

Walter L. Glass of Duluth, oarsman and local football star, has been elected head of the Syracuse university student body. The Duluth boy defeated Charles A. Kanka of the Syracuse football squad for the coveted position, the vote standing 489 to 354.

Not only is young Glass one of the most popular students in the university, but he has also made one of the best athletic records at Syracuse. During his freshman year Glass played football and rowed on the freshman crew. Last year he was stroke of the varsity eight and this season is rowing in the varsity eight.

Walter Glass started his rowing at the boat club. He rowed in the junior four and also did some work in the eight. He was considered one of the most promising men in the rowing squad.

Arthur Osman of this city was elected a member of the governing board of the athletic association. Like Glass, Osman has made one of the best athletic records of any student at Syracuse.

In his freshman year he rowed on the freshman eight and last winter made the varsity basket ball team. This spring Osman is rowing with the varsity eight and is considered one of the best men in the boat.

As in the case of Glass, Osman received his rowing training at the Duluth Boat club. Osman rowed in the junior eight and the elder Ten Eyck declared the boy one of the most promising blade men he had seen in years. Last season Osman doubled with Roy Kent, the pair winning the intermediate doubles at Philadelphia. In addition to his rowing, Osman was a star basket ball player at Central high school.

PLAY BALL CRY IS HEARD

Northern League Teams Are Starting the 1915 Schedule.

Darby O'Brien's White Sox Will Oppose Winnipeg Nine.

Duluth at Winnipeg.
Superior at St. Boniface.
Fort William at Grand Forks.
Virginia at Fargo.

Today is the date scheduled for the opening of the Northern league. The large splurge is set for Winnipeg, where our White-Sox oppose the team gathered by Roy Patterson. President John Burmeister and the other officials of the league wish to make an impressive opening of the new Winnipeg park and much oratory will mark the occasion.

The militant ax has been buried and all is happiness at the financial baseball center of the league. President Burmeister and magnates of the league have expressed the opinion that war conditions in Canada will make no difference in baseball attendance and are looking forward to a very prosperous season.

With the weather man predicting a drop in the thermometer, the start of the schedule at Winnipeg may not be favored with the most favorable weather in the world.

Cadreu is slated to work the first game for Duluth, with Sweeley on the receiving end of the battery.

Opening day festivities will mark all of the openings. In the case of St. Boniface, a new park will also be dedicated.

FIGHT PICTURES NOT ADMITTED

Federal Court Sustains Newark Port Collector—Appeal Taken.

Jersey City, N. J., May 6.—The action of Frederick F. Freed, collector of the port of Newark, N. J., in refusing to allow the entrance of photographic films of the Willard-Johnson fight at Havana, was upheld by Federal Judge Thomas Haight of the United States district court here yesterday. Judge Haight denied the application of T. Lawrence Weber for an injunction to restrain the collector from interference with Weber in entering the films through the Newark custom house.

The application was made on the allegation by Weber's counsel that the act of congress under which the films were barred is unconstitutional, because it exceeded its powers as defined in the commerce clause. The judge held that the act was constitutional.

Counsel for Weber stated that Judge Haight would sign appeal papers so that the appeal would come before the United States circuit court of appeals in Trenton on Monday. If the appeal is unsuccessful there, another appeal will be taken to the United States supreme court, the attorney said.

ENDIONS WIN EASILY FROM THE FRANKLINS

One postponed baseball game was played off in the Grade School league yesterday, the Endions defeated the Franklins by the score of 23 to 5. A slippery diamond and bad playing conditions marred the game and made the best grade of baseball impossible.

LET GATE SETTLE BASEBALL TROUBLES

St. Louis, Mo., May 6.—Phil Ball, chief owner of the St. Louis Federals, denied yesterday that peace in the baseball war is in sight.

"My idea is to clear away the legal tangles," said Mr. Ball, "and fight it out at the gate. Nothing ever has been done that involved a peace plan."

Chinks Lose to Chicago.

Chicago, May 6.—Spectacular fielding by Chinese athletes who make up a baseball team from Hawaii failed to win here yesterday and the game ended 1 to 0 in favor of the University of Chicago team.

JIM COFFEY KNOCKS OUT REICH IN THREE

Dublin Giant Disposes of Heavyweight Aspirant in Time-Saving Fashion.

New York, May 6.—Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant, knocked out Al Reich, the New York heavyweight, in the third round of what was to have been a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night.

After two rounds, in which Coffey had a slight lead, his aggressiveness cause Reich to break ground in the third round. A left hook and a right smash to the jaw and a hard left to the stomach as Reich was falling were the deciding blows.

Both fighters appeared nervous before the bout started. Coffey forced the pace in the first round, landing half a dozen jabs before Reich sent in a blow.

Reich opened the second with a rush and, after some sparring, crossed a right to the chin, staggering Coffey. Coffey managed to keep Reich away with left jabs for a while, but Reich broke through with another blow on the chin that sent Coffey to the ropes. Coffey came back with a rush, landing a straight left that knocked Reich down, the bell stopping the count at four.

Reich assumed the defensive in the third. Coffey weighed 200 and Reich 203.

Auto Driver Killed.

Coffeyville, Kan., May 6.—Guy Knease of Iowa City, Iowa, automobile race driver, was killed here yesterday in a collision of cars in the last event of the motor day program. Knease was driving about sixty miles an hour when the cars came together. A broken shaft pierced Knease's right lung.

Ed Walsh Better.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 6.—Ed Walsh, the Chicago American league pitcher, who was taken to a hospital Tuesday suffering from the effects of a severe attack of grippe, was able to sit in a wheel chair yesterday. His doctor said he probably would be well in two or three days and might resume training within two weeks.

THE GOOD JUDGE MEETS THE FOREMAN

JIM, DON'T TELL HIM THE KIND OF STUFF WE USED TO CHEW
JUDGE, EVERY MAN IN THIS BOILER SHOP USES THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW. THE SALT FLAVOR CERTAINLY BRINGS OUT THE GOOD TOBACCO TASTE.
BOILER WORKERS GENERALLY USE THE BEST OF EVERYTHING.

IT'S a double-riveted cinch to get tobacco satisfaction from the Real Tobacco Chew. All the good of the rich tobacco—and a small chew satisfies.

Next to getting it themselves the thing men like best is to tell a friend about the Real Tobacco Chew.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED. RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

BLOWS BACK ON GERMANS

Change of Wind Sends Deadly Gases Back to Starting Point.

Asphyxiating Fumes Used By Teutons in All Recent Advances.

London, May 6.—The British official "eye witness" in a long account of the engagement of the last few days in the Ypres region records that the Germans have continued the use of asphyxiating gases, but with less success than on the first occasion.

Despite the use of gas by the Germans the narrative says, the French have made continual advances east of the Ypres canal, south of Pilkem, the result of which was to remove the wedge occupied by the Germans and in the French line between the canal and the Ypres-Langemarck roads, a gain of more than 1,000 yards. During these advances, a large number of German prisoners were taken.

While the French continued their advance in this section, it is asserted that the Germans attacked the British south of Neuve Chappelle and at Hill 60, in both cases using gases. In the latter attacks, however, owing to a change in the wind, the fumes were blown back toward the Germans, who are believed to have suffered, as no attempt to advance was made by them.

Similar tactics were used by the Germans in their attack north of Ypres last Sunday.

Suffocating Vapors.

"About 5 o'clock in the evening," the "eye" witness says, "a dense cloud of suffocating vapors were launched from their trenches along the whole front held by the French right and by our left from the Ypres-Langemarck road to a considerable distance east of St. Julien. The fumes did not carry much beyond our front trenches, but these were to a great extent rendered untenable and a retirement from them was ordered.

"No sooner had this started than the enemy opened a violent bombardment with asphyxiating shells and shrapnel on our trenches and our infantry as they were withdrawing. Meanwhile our guns had not been idle. From a distance, perhaps owing to some peculiarity of the light, the gas on this occasion looked like a great red cloud, and the moment it was seen our batteries poured a concentrated fire on the German trenches.

"Curious situations then arose between us and the enemy, the poison belt, the upper part shredding into thin wreaths of vapor as it was shaken by the wind and the lower and denser part sinking into all equalities of the ground and rolling slowly down the trenches. Shells would rend it for a moment, but it only settled down again as thickly as before.

Germans Face It.

"Nevertheless the German infantry faced it and they faced a hail of shrapnel as well. In some cases, where the gas had not reached our lines, our troops held firm and shot through the cloud at the advancing Germans. In other cases the men holding the front line managed to move to the flank, where they were more or less beyond the affected area. Here they waited until the enemy came on and then bayoneted them when they reached our trenches.

"On the extreme left our supports waited until the wall of vapor reached our trenches, when they charged through it and met the advancing Germans with the bayonet as they swarmed over the parapets.

"It was not long before all our trenches were reoccupied and the whole line re-established in its original position. The attack on the French met with the same result.

"Prisoners captured in the recent fighting," the narrative continues, "stated that one German corps lost 50 per cent of its men in the first week, that the losses from our artillery fire, even during days when no attacks were taking place, had been very heavy, and that many of their own men had suffered from the effects of the gas."

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Uric Acid Myth

GOUT is a rather rare disease, one accompaniment of which is the deposition of urate of sodium, a uric acid salt, in and about the joints and other tissues. A theory long held by medical men was that the uric acid, or its salts, which seemed to be actually increased over the normal in the blood, caused the gout. The same theory has been stretched far beyond reasonable belief to explain a host of obscure and variable symptoms under the name of "uric acid poisoning" or, for variation of the song, "lithaemia." The only drawback about the whole idea of uric acid poisoning is that no excess of acid is ordinarily present in the blood or body in most of these cases; the so-called uric acid eliminators do not elimnate uric acid; the blood never becomes acid while the man lives; gout is more frequent among the poor than it is among the rich; heavy eaters of meat are not particularly susceptible to "lithaemia"; acid fruits and vegetables make the blood and tissues more alkaline if anything; and the strongest evidence is that gout is really a germ disease like the various infections grouped under the meaningless name of "rheumatism." Otherwise the uric acid theory is a good one—for business purposes.

Red meat contains no more uric acid producing material than white meat. Bread, beans, pea soup and cow's milk contain comparatively as much of the same material (nitrogenous material) as any meat, meal for meal.

The body must have a certain quantity of nitrogenous material as food, and so far as the uric acid delusion goes it makes little difference whether the nitrogen is consumed in vegetables, cereals, fruits or animal flesh.

Tap water is just as good an eliminator either for uric acid or other alleged poisons in the blood or joints, as is any mineral water or drug which a patient could safely employ without a doctor's supervision. "Lithia" waters may be real pure and pleasant to drink, but there the therapeutic effect ends.

Tomatoes, strawberries, lemons, oranges, grapefruit and similar acid-containing fruits are good for anybody with gout or joint disease, so far as elimination is concerned. Fruit and vegetable acids circulate in the blood as alkaline salts and tend to make the kidneys more active.

The best treatment we know for uric acid is to forget it and try to find out what is the matter. The more thoroughly a given case is investigated, the less obvious is the influence of the uric acid myth upon the diagnosis.

WILL REPORT ON HOUSING CODE

General Committee Will Meet With City Attorney Greene.

There is likely to be a lively discussion at the Commercial club tomorrow night when the general committee on the proposed housing code will meet. Much time has been put in on this work since May 1914, but as yet, on several details of the plan, the whole committee has not been able to agree.

The committee consists of representatives of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, the Duluth Builders' exchange, the Real Estate exchange, the Architects' club and the Building Owners' and Managers' association. All except the representatives of the Commercial club are agreed on a plan, but the later committee differs materially in certain details.

At a recent meeting of the public affairs committee a report was made and a lively and interesting discussion ensued. The public affairs sustained its committee's report by a good majority, those voting against it being representatives of the other organizations mentioned and who are members of the public affairs committee.

Reports by the various organizations making up the general committee will be made this evening and City Attorney H. F. Greene will be present to confer with the members.

He was on parole from San Quentin when he forged a check in Minneapolis.

REQUIREMENTS REDUCED

Terms of Enlistment for Naval Reserve Again Changed.

Instructions received by Peter Coyle, United States navy, of the local navy recruiting station in the postoffice building, gives the information that navy men who desire to join the new naval reserve now being organized in this district will not be required to go to sea once a year, as originally planned, except in time of war. However, if a man desires to re-enlist in the reserve after the completion of the first four-year term, he must have at least two months' service at sea during that period or else he becomes ineligible for re-establishment in the reserves.

To go to sea once a year for a period of from two weeks to two months not to exceed the latter members serving in the naval reserve on their first enlistment must volunteer for that service, which will bring them free transportation and subsistence while so employed besides full pay at the rate they were drawing when last regularly discharged from the active navy. It is expected that this new provision will be the cause of practically all the men eligible in this city to apply. A physical examination is also necessary before enlistment papers are made out. Mr. Coyle is busy obtaining names and addresses of local ex-navy men.

TRIAL OF JURY CASES WILL BE BEGUN MONDAY

Trial of jury cases on the calendar of civil actions for the May term of the district court will be begun next Monday. The list of petit jurors drawn for the May term consists of thirty-eight names. It is as follows: E. P. Alexander, Jr., Q. J. Bunting, Herman H. Brandhorst, R. G. Chambers, J. J. Cullen, Louis G. Clark, Hans Christensen, Albert H. Davis, George Farmer, E. E. Fuller, Kirby Jones, Charles C. Jones, Swan M. Johnson, Robert B. Jennings, James A. Kirkwood, Frank E. Kennedy, Louis R. King, Fred E. Kretchmar, John S. Tarnowski, William P. "BEWARE THE LIP READER," IS THE NEW WARNING GIVEN ACTORS IN "MOVIES"

"Don't Curse the Director or Let Slip Vulgar Asides While Before Camera, or You May Offend Some Theater Patron Thousands of Miles Away."

After being warned against lip readers, movie actors and actresses have grown to be very careful in what they say before the camera, and they follow the lines of the play very closely, according to J. Cooke Howard, president of the National Association for the Deaf.

"All movies are 'audible' to one who can read the lips," he said yesterday, "and until several months ago it was common for deaf people to 'hear' ridiculous comments, made by actors while in the midst of a dramatic climax.

"Now movie actors have gone so far as to use the sign language on many occasions. 'Charlie' Chapman, a comedian, uses the sign language a great deal, and any deaf man can tell just what he is saying. Others in his company also use the universal language of signs in their scenes.

"Some time ago a young woman in Cleveland caused a sensation by stating that actors and actresses were making many vulgar and profane remarks to one another, while acting before the camera. This case started so much agitation that movie directors are guarding closely against a repetition of these offenses."

Other deaf men say that many times, in the cheaper pictures, or ones that were made some time ago, actors make remarks to one another that make the scene ridiculous.

Laughable "Asides."

"Instead of being spellbound by the horror and pathos of a climax," said one, "spectators would be incited to laughter if they could read the lips.

"I recall one touching scene, where the hero stands beside the prostrate form of the heroine and with an impetuous gesture, waves back the villain, while his lips give evidence of uttering a sharp command. To the ordinary spectator it would seem that the hero is declaring: 'Stand back, Jack Dalton; you never shall touch this frail form!' What the hero really said was: 'Up stage, you dub, you're too close.'

"In another scene the hero and villain scuffled on a bridge and toppled over into a river. As they continued their struggle in the water the heroine dropped to her knees with clasped hands. Her lips move. Did she mutter a prayer for the safety of her fair-haired champion? Not a bit of it. While she held that 'Rock of Ages' pose she said, in quite a matter-of-fact way, to the villain: 'Duck him again, Bill, and get some pep into it.'"

Mr. Howard says that this sort of thing now is never found in good pictures, as the directors realize the danger of carelessness and warn their actors.

"The 'movie' has been very valuable to the deaf," he said, "and is the same as a phonograph with a normal person. Sermons and lectures and poems are given by sign actors and are a great success."

"The Lord's Prayer" recently was produced before the camera by Rev. Mr. Flick of Chicago, a prominent worker among the deaf.

At the last national convention of the deaf, held at Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Howard gave the introduction to a film version of "The Death of Minnehaha," which was acted before the camera by Mrs. Mary Williamson Erd. The pictures were taken on the Rockefeller estate.

"FRAMERS OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE U.S.A." NO. 3

Alexander Hamilton—"Father of American Credit"

DANIEL WEBSTER says of Hamilton: "He smote the rock of National resources and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth; he touched the dead corpse of public credit and it sprung upon its feet." No man did more to build the Constitution of the United States than did Hamilton. He took a prominent part in every debate, and worked indefatigably on all the important committees. His genius, individuality and daring foresight are indelibly stamped upon every clause of our National Law—the law under which Americans are guaranteed for all time Religious, Commercial and Personal Liberty. During Hamilton's lifetime he used his great influence to encourage and protect the brewing industry. Among all the Fathers of the Republic none knew better than he that honestly-brewed barley-malt beers make for true temperance. This American Colossus, who was second only to Washington in the service rendered to his country, drank good beer all his days. We know of no one who has yet dared declare that it injured him in any way. Under the tenets of the Constitution, which Hamilton did so much to make a fact, Anheuser-Busch 58 years ago launched their great institution. During these years they have honestly brewed honest beers. To-day 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Their world-famed brand BUDWEISER because of its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, exceeds the sale of any other beer by millions of bottles.

WAR'S EFFECT ON FINANCE

J. H. Dight Discusses Probabilities Before Rotary Club Members.

Expects Instant Money Demand at Close—Explains International Banking.

At the weekly luncheon and meeting of the Duluth Rotary club, held at the Spalding hotel today, J. H. Dight, cashier of the the First National bank, gave a most instructive and interesting address on "The Financial Situation After the Close of the European War." Mr. Dight looks for almost instant resumption of demand for money over there to rebuild the shattered countries, and, consequently, for higher interest rates. He does not believe that freight rates will increase much, if at all, for the reason that the large number of ships now interned will again be in the market for cargoes.

Aslue from Mr. Dight's talk, only a few committee reports were heard by the club.

In the beginning of his address, Mr. Dight explained the inter-nation finance situation in normal times and the means of exchange between countries. His address was, in part, as follows:

International Banking.

"The international conditions of finance and trade before the present European war broke out showed a mutual dependence particularly as to finance. Funds flowed from country to country as the money rates changed. If rates became high on the other side of the water, the tendency was to advance exchange rates on this side because of the demand in New York for drafts to take advantage of the better investment opportunity. If interest rates went high in New York, international bankers would sell foreign bills to get the money to loan and exchange rates would drop, provided exports were not too low in volume. Shrewd houses like the Morgans would gauge the future course of exchange or money, and sell time bills at a good opportunity and cover before their maturity by the purchase of bills against cotton or other exports which are lower in price than what are called prime bankers' bills.

"The international banking has reached a high degree of development in the Eastern coast cities in this country. Some years ago it was largely in the hands of foreign banks with branches in New York, and branch houses of large foreign private bankers. The business was also shared by American private bankers like J. P. Morgan & Co. and Brown Bros. & Co. Of late years a great many of the national banks of New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other large centers have made their foreign connections, and Americans can do their foreign banking through home banks if they wish to. The Federal reserve act has made it legal for national banks, under certain conditions, to open foreign branches, and the National City bank of New York has opened branches in Brazil and Argentina.

Rates of Discount.

"In scrutilnizing the financial columns of the commercial newspapers, we observe the very low rates of discount in London, Berlin or Paris at times. It should be explained that these rates of 1 to 2½ per cent apply to bankers' acceptances, either of chartered banks or of large private banking houses. These acceptances come into existence in various ways. One of the more prolific are the drafts of American banks or private banks, situated in the large exporting and importing ports like New York, Chicago, Boston, on European banks against balances made against the export of grain, cotton or other products or manufactures. The American banker, or he may be the Brazilian banker, the banker in Buenos Aires or the banker in Shanghai, buys the time drafts of the shippers of products on the European buyer with the bills of lading attached as security for payment, thereby making credits for himself in Europe in advance of the actual payment of the drafts.

Letters of Credit.

"An instrument of international commerce that greatly facilitates trade between ports of the world far distant from each other is the commercial letter of credit. To illustrate, from a home port taking New York as the starting point, an importer wants a large shipment of tea from a trading port of China and has arranged with a shipper for the tea. He has a certain amount of confidence in the shipper, perhaps may know him very well from long time buying from him, but must pay for the tea when it is loaded on the vessel. When the shipper loads the tea and takes his bill of lading he wants to know that he will be paid for his goods. The New York importer has obtained from a banker, with wide foreign connections, a commercial letter of credit for a round amount over and above the estimated value of the purchase, which is sent out to the China exporter. This letter of credit provides that a designated bank in London, Hamburg or Paris, as the case may be, will accept a draft against shipping documents for a certain quantity of merchandise accompanied by an invoice, certified by the United States consul at the port of shipment. The exporter takes his draft on the European banker, his letter of credit and the shipping documents, just referred to, to his Shanghai banker and gets his money on them at once at the cufrent rate of exchange between Shanghai and the European port. The Shanghai bank sends the draft and the shipping documents to its European correspondent who presents them to the bank upon which drawn. This bank accepts the draft, hands it back, takes possession of the shipping documents, and forwards them to New York to await the arrival of the vessel. When the ship comes in, the importer goes to the bank that issued the letter of credit and makes his arrangements to get the goods when they are unloaded. No money has been put up in New York but the goods arrive and the transaction is facilitated. The New York merchant is necessarily in good credit with his home banker to be able to get the letter of credit. He does not necessarily deposit any cash or security for it although in isolated cases it is likely that some form of security is taken by the banker to protect himself against such a thing as an overvaluation in the invoice. As compensation for the granting of the letter of credit, a commission of about 1 per cent is charged.

Effect of War.

"This kind of banking facilities is mentioned as it has its part in keeping down interest rates in the markets of the world and to an extent the cost of imported merchandise. What I am supposed particularly to refer to at this time is the effect of the closing of the European war on money rates. As there is no immediate prospect of a cessation of hostilities, the many elements that may enter into the problem are not yet developed but some of them are already known. For instance, bond brokers and underwriters have been offering one-year obligations of Germany and of France at very attractive rates, considering the rates at which first class home merchants' notes are sold in open market or at which they can borrow from their bankers.

These offerings absorb so much money that is immediately out of the market. The money thus borrowed is being spent in this country for the borrowing government's needs and in the distribution for wages and material tend to that extent to make stronger interest rates that always prevail when business is flowing at a high level of prosperity.

"A loaning system in operation in this country that tends to stabilize rates, is the placing of commercial papers through note brokers. These brokers are located in the main financial centers and also in minor financial centers. Jobbing houses and manufacturers very generally avail themselves of the services of the brokers. Confidential lists of the names of the borrowers are sent by the bankers to selected banks. This system, which has grown up, because of the need for it, tends to place the jobbers of the country of equal credit standing on the same basis as to cost of money which they borrow. The large and the small banks buy paper of this class and its quality is so good it can, in almost every case, be collected at maturity, no renewal being asked for. It practically automatically runs off.

Lessons of Former Wars.

"Coming back to the question of conditions at the close of the war, we have the record of the conditions which prevailed after the termination of previous exhausting conflicts. The Napoleonic wars piled up debts against France and England, the greater part of which are still in existence in funded forms, yet we have the spectacle of unhampered prosperity in both countries which began to develop soon after final peace was established.

"We know how France revived after the disastrous war with Germany in 1870-71, and can we believe that the people of the warring nations will do any different from their predecessors under similar conditions? The opinions of the best observers of financial conditions seem to favor the idea that no sudden change will come over the money rates of the world. After a period of a few months, when activity becomes more general, as it most certainly will, the demand for capital to restore losses by destruction abroad and the reaching out for trade when the seas become safe again will tend to advance interest rates.

"Whether ocean freights which are now abnormally high will remain so can hardly be believed, as the ships of Germany that are now in port out of use will again be in service. High prices, high rates for money, if they all come, may lead us into too rapid a gait with trouble if finance is not carefully guided. We have had a lot of experience and think it can be controlled. The conservative control of finance is expected to be very greatly assisted by the methods of the Federal reserve banks. At the time the bill for their organization was before the public a fear was expressed that the free loaning at low rates that was expected to be the policy of the Federal reserve banks would lead to an inflation. The bill, however, was hedged with safeguards and the appointment of men of high banking ability on the Federal reserve board. A board that controls the policy of the Federal reserve banks, made for great safety in the working of the institutions. The banks started out by making rates that prevented any attempt at unnecessary rediscounting. The methods of working the plan are being felt out and we can look for a greater stability in finance and rates than ever before enjoyed by the country."

NO RADICAL CHANGE IN INCOME TAX LAW

Madison, Wis., May 6.—The temper of the senate today to make no radical changes in the income tax law was manifested today when it killed two bills lowering the rates of taxation and increasing the exemptions for individuals and married couples while at the same time it advanced the Baxter bill exempting the rental value of a homestead when occupied by the owner.

The assembly concurred in the Baxter bill requiring employers of labor, except those engaged in lumbering, circus and traveling shows, to pay their employes twice a month. The bill now goes to the governor.

In the lower house a committe unanimously recommended the death of two bills to have income assessments made by local assessors rather than by men appointed by the state tax commission.

As amended to provide that when a new license is granted, an existing license must be surrendered thus leaving the number of saloons the same, the Stevens bill to allow hotels to acquire liquor licenses despite the Baker law, was engrossed by the senate.

The senate passed a bill for the election of county boards biennially for terms of two years.

The assembly fought most of the morning over the Hambrecht higher tuition fee bill affecting non-residents of the university and stopped only because Former President William H. Taft had an appointment to address the legislature in joint session.

ALLEGED POISONING NOW BEING PROBED

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The authorities today are investigating the charges made by Mrs. Voight, a widow living about twelve miles north of here, that an attempt was made by some of her stepsons to poison her. Her husband died recently and there has been a difference between the widow and her stepsons over the settlement of the estate. She alleges that some of them sent her a May basket a few days ago containing cakes and other edibles, that she ate some and was taken dreadfully sick, but by the aid of emetics warded off the poison. How much there is to the charge is being probed by officers who have gone to the Voight place.

DEFENDANT WINS IN RECORD CASE

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The damage case of the Gilbert Land company vs. the Minneapolis & Rainy River railway to recover $42,000 for alleged fire damage which has been on trial here for fifty-two days, said to be a record in Minnesota cases for length, was given to the jury last evening and a verdict was found for the defense after nine hours' deliberation.

EVELETH MINES ARE GIVING EMPLOYMENT

Several Shovels Are Now Working the Open Pit Mines.

Eveleth, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several shovels have been put to work in this district since the first of the month, giving employment to a number of shovel crews and train crews. The Adams-Spruce district is operating much more extensively than the Fayal district and is getting out as much ore and employing as many men as during the best part of the 1914 season.

Five shovels are working in the Adams and Leonidas pits. Two of the shovels were started before May 1, but they were only working into position and did not begin loading ore until this week. Each of the five shovels is working two ten-hour shifts, giving employment to ten shovel crews. In addition to the shovels in the pit four shovels are located at the stockpiles of the Adams, Spruce and Leonidas mines. These shovels are used just as ore is needed. Two were in operation yesterday. The ore hoisted from the underground mines is being shipped as loaded. The crews underground are the same size as they have been for the last few months, no men being added since the shipping season opened.

The Norman Mine.

At the Norman mine, which is in the Adams-Spruce district, the ore is being shipped as hoisted and one shovel is working at the stockpile. At the Minnewas, a new property between Eveleth and Virginia, exploration work is being done and the ore taken out in exploring is being shipped as hoisted.

At the Fayal mine one shovel is working in the pit loading ore for shipment. Ore from the underground workings is shipped as hoisted and one shovel is working at stock whenever orders come for ore. Another shovel will be put at work the last of this week taking lean ore out of the pit.

Supt. R. R. Trezona of the Fayal district states that statements to the effect that four shovels are working in the pit and that 150 men had been given employment one day this week are without foundation.

Supt. Ed. Mitchell of the Adams district when asked for an opinion as to prospects for the summer stated, "A prediction at this time would be only guess work and it would be better not to give out statements that might prove false."

FAIR

Sometime, somewhere, it may be fair, but at the present time in Duluth there is nothing doing in that line. However, not a great deal of objection can be raised when one considers that very few days this spring have been at all objectionable, and nearly all of them have been most excellent.

A year ago today was cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 4:43 and will set this evening at 7:35, giving 14 hours and 42 minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light to killing frosts or freezing temperature occurred last night in Western Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Western Canada. Light rain fell during Wednesday or last night over the lake region, Mississippi, Missouri and Lower Ohio valleys and the Southwest, and rain or snow in the Rocky mountains and the Red River valley."

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve-building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well-fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Bisurated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antacid known. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little bisurated magnesia from any druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the bisurated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right."

ACCUSED BROUGHT BACK FROM DULUTH

J. P. Neilsen Returned to International Falls on Serious Charge.

International Falls, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Nielsen, wanted by Sheriff Thomas White of Koochiching county on a charge of having carnal knowledge of his stepdaughter, was brought from Duluth today where he was arrested Tuesday night. About a week ago complaints came from the Upper Rapid River country where Nielsen lived that his step-daughter, 16 years of age, had given birth to a child and that the child had died. A suspicion that it had been killed was also intimated and Deputy County Coroner Dr. Swinnerton left immediately for the place, going by way of Baudette and Clementson, to investigate the matter.

After looking into the case thoroughly Dr. Swinnerton decided that the reports had very good foundation, finding that two children had died at birth on the place and had been buried in the yard. Nielsen had left the country before Dr. Swinnerton arrived and was unaware that his doings had been brought to light. Mrs. Nielsen at first declared that the children were hers but later confessed that they belonged to her young daughter and that the first was born before she was 15 years of age. The bodies were ordered exhumed and sent to this city.

Both Arrested.

Deputy Sheriff Hugh Van Ettan left immediately for the place upon hearing from Dr. Swinnerton and took into custody both Mrs. Ntelsen and her daughter on a statutory charge having to do with the death of the children.

A search was at once instituted for Nielsen and police all over the state notified to be on the lookout. However, it was suspected from the start that he was in the vicinity of Duluth. The matter was kept quiet until the man was apprehended as it was known that he was not aware that his crimes had been uncovered.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

From early spring until July is the time that St. Vitus' dance usually develops and nervous children should be carefully watched during that time for symptoms of the disease.

Irritability is one of the first signs noted. The child frets, is quarrelsome, cannot be amused and does not sleep well. The jerky movements and weakness characteristic of the disease come a little later. The patient becomes pale, languid, has little appetite and is usually constipated. Such a child should not be allowed to study but should be kept quiet, given a nutritious diet, remain out of doors as much as possible and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. If unusual symptoms develop or if the nervousness continues to the point of hysteria, a physician should be called. In most cases the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is sufficient. Without treatment, St. Vitus' dance may became chronic.

Parents of nervous children should write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the free booklet, "Nervous Disorders, A Method of Home Treatment" and a diet book called "What to Eat and How to Eat." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with directions for use.

WANTED TO REMOVE BONE IN LEG

After suffering for years with a running sore on the leg a lady in Hartford, Connecticut, was informed that the only cure was to remove eight inches of bone. She refused and used Allen's Ulcerine Salve instead and it cured the sore completely. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by The Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

WHEAT AGAIN SELLS DOWN

Market Weak on Crop News and Quiet Millers' Inquiry.

Flaxseed Bulges on Fears of Reduced Acreage Seeded in Northwest.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 6.—The market was strong at the close, a moderate rally appearing. May wheat closed 1¾c off, July 1¾c off, and September ½c off. May durum closed 1c off; July unchanged, and September unchanged.

Oats closed ⅜c at 52¾@53¼c for on the track; ryt unchanged at $1.17@1.18; barley unchanged at from 67@76c, and corn ½c off at 74¾c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅛c off at 63½c and July ⅛@¼c off at 64⅛@64⅜c.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.50⅛, and calls at $1.53¾.

Bears in the wheat market had an inning today as a result of continued favorable weather reports from over the East and Southwest and more liberal Argentine shipments. It is estimated that wheat shipped out from that country this week will reach 5,200,000 bu.

Weakness was also promoted through reports that some of the big Eastern operators are selling out their July lines and buying September. Liverpool dealers were advised to be inclined to go a little slow in view of stocks there showing increases and on the bearish crop advices from America. The possible entrance of Italy into the European war also came in as a factor.

Trading was quiet on the local market, with Eastern inquiry from any source only nominal. It was intimated from Winnipeg, however, that some bidding on that market by exporters materialized and the seaboard reported inquiry there for about 500,000 bu of Manitobas. A fair foreign inquiry for corn, oats and barley was also noted.

Receipts are regarded as being remarkably well maintained by members of the Duluth board of trade and suspicions are entertained that a larger volume of grain than had been estimated remains in growers' hands in the Northwest, and that the present high prices are bringing it out. Receipts of wheat at Duluth today came to 61 cars, compared with 44 last year, while at Minneapolis arrivals mounted up to 263 cars against 105 a year ago.

Clearances of wheat and flour today were reported at 940,000 bu and, with the present outstanding contracts, it is expected that the outgo from this country will be maintained in liberal proportions for some time to come.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.62⅝, declined to $1.60 and then rallied 1c around the noon hour. July opened unchanged at $1.58⅞, broke 2c and rallied ½c later. September opened 1½c off at $1.24½ and declined ¾c.

Durum was strong at the start, but eased off with the market in spring wheat. May opened unchanged at $1.61, gained 1c and then broke 1¼c. July sold up 1⅛c to $1.66¼ and eased off to some extent.

Flaxseed Up Again.

Flaxseed was strong with steady inquiry from crushers reported. The knowledge that the acreage sown to the seed in the Northwest this spring will be largely reduced and delays in receiving Argentine supplies contracted for are exercising a bullish influence on prices. Linseed oil dealers continue to report improvement in sales.

May flax opened ¼c up at $1.99½, and closed ¾c up at $2.00 asked. July opened ½c up at $2.02 and closed 1¾c up at $2.03. September opened unchanged at $2.04 and closed 1c up at $2.05 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¼c up at $1.81⅞ and July ⅛c up at $1.84⅜ asked.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 3⅝c up at $1.32 and London closed ⅞c up at $1.91⅞.

Wilbur Joyce has been appointed assistant manager of the Van Dusen-Harrington company's local office to fill the vacancy brought about through the death of John T. Pugh. Mr. Joyce had for some years been connected with the company's Minneapolis office.

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with a good demand for top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 1@4c over May and velvet chaff at 2@3c over May. Flour sales were moderate, but shipping directions good. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.58½ to $1.62½ and No. 2 northern at from $1.54 to $1.59½. Wheat stocks in Minneapolis elevators decreased 520,000 bu in five days.

Le Count wired from Fort Wayne, Ind.: "Wheat is in perfect condition. Oats also look good and are improving as a result of recent rains. Another good shower came this afternoon. Most of the drouth territory has been watered now and the crop will continue to show up fine for some time. More good rain will insure a large wheat crop."

A Kansas City wire said: "From my correspondence it seems reasonably certain that Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma will produce more wheat than a year ago."

C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "The grain market is weakening on a Copenhagen dispatch that the entrance of Italy into the war seems certain in the not distant future. We understand that wheat being delivered here on May contracts is No. 2, and that those taking delivery are having a hard time finding a market for it."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The demand in the United Kingdom for wheat is quiet and it is expected the arrivals from now on will satisfy the demand as stocks have commenced to show an increase. Merchants are following government suggestions and are purchasing freely whenever prices are favorable. The continental demand has shown some abatement as the highly favorable American crop outlook and the freedom with which American merchants are disposed to sell new crop and large American receipts keeps traders conservative.

"India—Shipments are expected to be larger and to soon reach a proportion that will be considered satisfactory.

"Argentine—Weather is mostly unfavorable and the export demand for wheat is unprecedented. The size of exports are incident entirely upon the quality available and tonnage. All importing countries have purchased and are buying freely at prices satisfactory to sellers. Corn is deteriorating as to quality and the cash situation is strong."

Russells News, New York says. "Export demand for wheat has been very good today, and on account of decline in prices a large business has been worked. Well informed exporters believe possibly 750,000 to 1,000,000 bu will be closed before the days is over. Demand has included Manitoba, Duluth spring and Chicago wheat. There is some inquiry for other grain, but only a limited business is expected."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following letter from Chicago:

"Wheat has been a dull and draggy affair with a tendency to lower prices. Commission house longs liquidated freely on the disquieting political news from abroad while local bears also pressed their advantage. Support has been poor except for occasional purchases by cash interests. Local export and cash demand is slow, although the seaboard reports good inquiry for Manitobas with sales of close to 1,000,000 bu. Argentine news was bullish, an urgent export call being in evidence, the week's shipments from there being estimated at 5,200,000 bu. Crop prospects are generally perfect except for sections in Oklahoma and Missouri, which have been complaining of damage by chinch bugs. All declines such as experienced today should be met with purchases."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Shows Hardening Tendency as Result of Firmness in Liverpool.

Chicago, May 6.—Wheat values showed a hardening tendency today as a result of comparative firmness in quotations at Liverpool. British prices were less affected by the flattering crop outlook in the United States than had been assumed would be the case. Buying demand here, however, was of small proportions. The opening, which varied from the same as last night to ⅝c higher, was followed by additional gains and then a reaction.

Later the market suffered a decided break that was contributed to by large primary receipts and the absence of any important buying support. The close was unsettled at ¼c to 1c under last night.

Corn developed weakness owing to selling pressure from local speculators. Unsettled weather in Argentina was virtually ignored. After opening ¼c off to a shade advance the market made a slight upturn, but soon underwent a sag all around.

Further declines ensued owing somewhat to slackness of cash demand. The close was steady, ⅜c to ½c to ½@⅝c net lower.

Favorable crop reports gave the bears an advantage in oats. Buyers were scarce.

Provisions averaged lower with hogs. Longs realized quite freely.

COPPER STOCKS TURN STRONG

Butte & Superior and North Butte Show Some Activity.

Mining stocks were comparatively strong at Boston today, but trading was confined to a few issues.

Butte & Superior was active, and with good support appearing it closed $1.50 up at $67; North Butte attracted the next best business. It closed 75c up at $34. Calumet & Arizona closed 63c up at $69.63; Copper Range, $1.75 up at $57.50; Granby, unchanged at $84.50; Greene Cananea, $1 up at $31; Mohawk, $1 up at $75; Osceola, $1.75 up at $85.75, and Quincy, $5 up at $88.50.

Despite some irregularity in the London market during the last few days, electrolytic copper is being firmly held at 19 cents a pound, sales by some of the Lake Superior mines being reported at as high as 21⅛ cents.

A good demand for the metal is reported, and the large producers express confidence in the stability and continued strength of the market. All the selling agencies are said to be sold up well ahead, and many of them profess indifference regarding the course of the market during the next few months. One of the largest Lake producers is reported to be sold out for May, June and July, and electrolytic copper is being sold for August delivery. Some contracts indeed are said to have been made for six months delivery.

In view of the rapidly increasing output of the mines, it is pointed that the refineries are far behind in raising their outputs up to normal, but on account of the heavy demand they are making efforts to reduce the usual ninety-period between the mining of the ore and the production of finished copper.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Foreign Situation Again the Foremost Factor in the Market.

Prices Improve in the Final Hour and Closing Is Strong.

New York, May 6.—Partial recoveries from yesterday's late selling movement were recorded during the day's early trading on the stock exchange, although the movement as a whole was decidedly irregular. Pressed Steel Car rose 2 points and Westinghouse, Crucible Steel and Amalgamated Copper a point each. Bethlehem Steel added 5 points to its material rise of the preceding session. Leaders like United States Steel, Union Pacific and Great Northern opened with fractional gains, but these were soon lost as a result of recurrent weakness in Reading. The general list receded moderately after initial offerings had been absorbed.

Foreign affairs continued to exert an unfavorable influence on the stock market today, Italy's uncertain attitude and the situation in the Far East gave rise to further apprehension. This was reflected in the market's feverish undertone, important stocks selling under yesterday's low quotations while Steel, Union Pacific and other leaders showed even greater weakness. From this level there was a speedy rebound followed by more irregularity and dullness. London and the continent were again sellers on a moderate scale. Trading was largely of a professional character, commission houses reporting a marked cessation of public inquiry. Bonds were irregular.

Dullness prevailed during the midsession, but prices continued to yield on light offerings. Leaders like Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading and Steel reflected the heaviness of the general list.

The foreign situation was again the foremost factor in today's irregular market. Recoveries in the later dealings coincided with reports that negotiations between Italy and Austria were proceeding favorably.

Prices recorded general improvement in the last hour under lead of metal stocks and specialties. Bethlehem Steel gained 9½ points. The closing was strong.

HAS PRAISE FOR WILSON

Taft Commends the President's Policy of Neutrality.

Madison, Wis., May 6.—Commending President Wilson for the policy of neutrality "which he has so conscientiously followed," declaring against a change in the present international rule which would prohibit neutrals furnishing foodstuffs and ammunition to belligerents, and in favor of an arbitral court of the greater nations which will make war in the future impossible, Former President W. H. Taft addressed the Wisconsin legislature.

Referring to the war, the ex-president said:

"We are in a state of anxious expectancy—a state of sorrow. For a time we are enjoying a feverish activity in many branches of industry. We must take care that we are not overjoyful and misled—that all of this is real prosperity. When peace comes some of this activity will be suddenly cut off with the sharpness of a cable dispatch. Peace will necessarily change the conditions of the Old World and the New. In our business affairs we must prepare for that change which that peace will bring about.

Rule a Good One.

"We have been criticized for the sale of arms and ammunition permitted under the international rules. The rule has always been that neutrals could furnish arms and foodstuffs. As a nation we should not place ourselves at a disadvantage and change the rule in view of this question. We always are unprepared for war. We must always expect aid from neutrals in case of war. It would be an unwise policy in my judgment for us to change this rule."

Mr. Taft complimented President Wilson "on the neutrality which he has conscientiously preserved in this country."

He then spoke in favor of some arrangement after peace comes whereby the larger nations of the world might formulate an arbitral court to hold belligerent nations in line and make war—"the destruction of capital, the stilling of industry, the lives of untold thousands—less probable."

Mr. Taft visited the supreme court today and in the absence of Chief Justice Winslow presided over the court a few minutes.

ASSESSOR MISTAKEN FOR RUSSIAN OFFICIAL

Serving Maid Slams Door in His Face, Thinking He Came to Take Her Back to Russia—Threatened to Kill Self.

A personal property assessor almost caused a tragedy this morning when he rang the bell of a West end residence and a young girl came to the door. She gave one look at the assessor, jumped inside, slammed the door and disappeared.

The assessor rang the bell for nearly fifteen minutes—but all in vain. No one answered.

Just as he was about to give up in despair, the assessor saw a woman coming towards the house and the following conversation is reported as having taken place:

"What is it you wanted?"

"I am the assessor and came to place a valuation on your property. But when I rang the bell, a young girl came to the door, gave one look at me and then slammed the door in my face. I have been ringing the bell for nearly fifteen minutes, but she refuses to come to the door."

"There must be some mistake. I am the lady of the house and will furnish you with any information you want in just a minute. Come in with me."

She then went inside and returned in about five minutes, bringing the young girl with her. The latter was crying bitterly and wailing in some unknown language—that is, unknown to the assessor.

"This poor child," explained the woman, "recently came over from Russia to live with relatives in Duluth. When she saw your star, she immediately suspected that you were an immigration official and had come to take her back to Russia. The poor child was crying in her room when I came in and it was serious, too, for she wailed that she would kill herself, before she would be taken back to Russia. But I explained everything to her and she will be all right in a few minutes."

All the personal property assessors wear stars furnished them by

THEIR DAY OF FREEDOM

Normanna Chorus Will Hold Two Days Celebration.

Concert and Dance to Commemorate Norway's Independence.

Members of the Normanna Male chorus have planned a celebration of the 101st anniversary of the independence of Norway befitting the occasion for May 17. The celebration will be a two-day affair, starting on Sunday afternoon with a concert to be given in the auditorium of the Duluth Central high school and winding up with a grand ball at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west, on Monday evening.

The principal attraction will be the concert on Sunday afternoon, May 16. Several new numbers, both Norwegian and English, will be sung by the chorus. Arrangements have been made for the appearance of some well known local soloists on the program.

John Heitman will be master of ceremonies for the program during the afternoon. The principal address will be given by Dr. Thomas Warbo, a well-known Norwegian speaker from Chicago. Dr. Warbo will speak on the ancient and modern history of Norway and the struggles of its people through the various periods of its history. Mayor W. I. Prince will also give a short talk during the afternoon. On Sunday evening Dr. Warbo will be a guest of honor at a reception to be given by the Normanna Male chorus at the Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street.

The dance on the following Monday evening will wind up the celebration. The committee having charge of the celebrations consists of George Thrana, chairman; Hans Holm, B. Sande and A. Ruske.

A rival celebration is also being planned by the Sons of Norway lodges to be held at the Armory on Sunday afternoon, May 16. No details of this celebration are as yet ready. An attempt is being made to secure President Kehdahl of St. Olaf's college at Northfield, Minn., to come here and speak.

DOUSES THE CIGARETTE

Woman Indulges in Few Puffs in Hotel Cafe in Duluth.

Shrugs Shoulders and Quits When Head Waiter Politely Requests It.

We are becoming up to date, extremely progressive in Duluth—a woman sat at a table in the Holland cafe last evening and quite unabashed smoked a cigarette—and acted as if she enjoyed it.

"Did she inhale, Bill?"

"She sure did, Bo."

The cafe was half filled with a thin haze of smoke from the cigars and cigarettes of the men. The woman with a bright green band on her hat was not discovered for some time. Several women in the immediate vicinity of the table where the woman with the hat with the bright green ribbons sat, stared, as only woman can, speaking with their eyes, "Well, the very idea."

The little bare-foot dancer was giving some back-to-nature steps, and the lights were focused on her, and the lady with the cigarette puffed complacently, like a real smoker. Was it a tailor made or a cork tip? Ask the head waiter. After a while someone told the manager the woman with the green band was moking a cigarette. That goes in Chicago, New York, London, Berlin, Paris, and certain parts of Superior; but evidently Manager Tuttle of the Holland decided on the spur of the moment that Duluth is not at the time being quite ready to receive the feminine smokers into its arms, and administer an official municipal slap on the back. Instead, Duluth gave the woman in question an official slap on the wrist.

Manager Tuttle communicated with the head waiter, and that worthy, with all the politeness a head waiter can summon, called the escort of the woman with the green hat ribbon to one side, and explained with his mouth and shoulder gestures. When the lady was informed of the ukase, she smiled indulgently, shrugged her shoulders, and doused the pill. Such is night life in a regular city.

HOMESITES
IN GLEN AVON.

We have some of the finest lots in Duluth located in Glen Avon and Hunter's Park, overlooking Waverly Park, Crescent View Park, and within two blocks of Congdon Park. Superb view of the lake and the Wisconsin shore in the distance. These lots are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They are surrounded by splendid homes, close to church and school and street car. Many of these lots have gas, water and sewer. When you buy here you are not buying a new boom addition, where you are a pioneer, as it were, but the improvements are there and the type of houses surrounding you is assured. Think of this: Eleven of these lots have the finest paved street in the city of Duluth, which cost $240 for 50 feet. This is fully paid for and does not add a cent to the price of the lots for you. If you were thinking of building a home, you can make a 20 per cent larger loan on a house built here than on a house built in a new suburb. We can place the loans for you on houses built here.

These lots lie between Victoria street and Hardy street and between Wallace avenue and Vermilion road, one of the choicest locations in Duluth. The lots are 50 by 190 and 50 by 200 feet. Prices vary from $800 to $1,700 per lot on five years' time.

Call us up and make appointments to see these lots. Look them over and compare them with any other lots in the city, and then you will be convinced of our low prices and desirability of purchasing here. Investigate these.

To Read the Ads AND DECIDE WHICH ONES TO ANSWER Is a Fine Test of Your "Practical Sense"—of Your Business Judgment

YOUR AD

SHOULD BE THERE WHEN THE AD-READER GETS A PAIR OF SCISSORS!

When The Herald ad reader gets busy with a pair of scissors, and begins to clip out ads—YOURS OUGHT TO BE THERE.

For these clipped ads serve as memoranda on little trips—little buying excursions — shopping, house hunting, property-hunting, servant-hunting trips. They decide the trend of the day's quests. They influence the day's business deals—more than that; they initiate them. Many of the day's deals, sales and purchases would not have been made at all but for them. So, have your ad there when the ad reader looks for a pair of scissors.

JAPAN PRESENTS ULTIMATUM TO THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT

SAYS CHINA MUST ACCEDE TO DEMANDS

Understood Time Limit Will Expire on Sunday at 9 p. m.

Jap Minister Will Leave Then If Demands Are Not Accepted.

Pekin, May 7.—Eki Hioki, the Japanese minister to China, went to the Chinese foreign office between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon and presented the Japanese ultimatum which insists that China accede to the demands presented by the Tokio government.

Previous to this action on the part of the minister the secretary of the legation visited the foreign office and informed Vice Minister Tsao Yulin that the ultimatum of the Japanese government contained certain modifications of the twenty-four demands presented by Tokio.

The presentation of the Japanese ultimatum to China is the culmination of the negotiations which have been going on since January and which have represented Japan's endeavor to compel China to accede to a series of demands numbering originally twenty-one and subsequently raised to twenty-four which, if accepted by China, would have very materially increased the influence of Japan, politically, financially and industrially, in the affairs of the Chinese republic.

It is understood that this ultimatum expires at 6 p. m. of Sunday, May 9.

GERMAN SUBJECTS ARE LEAVING ROME

School Closed and Teachers and Others Start for Germany.

Rome, via Paris, May 7.—Upon receipt of a dispatch from Berlin the German school in this city suddenly was closed yesterday afternoon. The teachers with a number of German newspaper correspondents and several German families left almost immediately for Germany.

Students Advised to Leave.

Paris, May 7.—The Vatican has advised all German and Austrian ecclesiastic and theological students to leave Rome immediately, according to a dispatch to the Petit Parisien from the Italian capital.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON CEMENT PLANT WILL BE RESUMED IMMEDIATELY

Between 100 and 150 Men Will Be Employed on Job.

Officers of Company Visit Duluth and Order Plant Completed.

Market for Company's Product Has Shown Great Improvement.

The Universal Portland Cement company will resume building operations at its plant at Gary at once.

Several officials of the company, including B. F. Affleck, president; R. S. Huey, who will become superintendent of the plant; A. G. Carlson, mechanical engineer for the company, all of Chicago, and J. C. Van Doorn of Minneapolis, the company's Northwestern sales agent, were in the city yesterday afternoon conferring with local officials and orders were given to at once resume operations.

The construction work at the plant was discontinued early last August. Shortly after the war broke out in Europe the company was compelled to suspend operations owing to financial stringency.

Supt. Huey said last evening that between 100 and 150 men would be put to work. The construction work will be rushed so that the plant will be completed and ready for operation early next spring. The force will be put on gradually, probably in gangs of from ten to twenty each day until the entire number needed will have been employed.

There being no necessity of having the cement plant completed before the Minnesota steel plant is ready to begin operations, it probably means that the work of completing the monster steel plant is to be rushed with greater energy than has been expected. The resumption of building operations of the cement plant is taken as an indication that the steel company will not only increase its force but will be ready to make steel early in the spring of 1916.

Most Modern Plant.

The local plant of the Universal Portland Cement company will be one of the most modern in the country. It is the only plant of its kind in the world that will use concrete circular bins for the storage of its product. These storage bins, which were virtu-

BATTLES EAST AND WEST NOT YET IN THEIR FINAL STAGES

EVERY FOOT STUBBORNLY CONTESTED

Mastery of Hill No. 60 and Surrounding Country Not Decided.

Russians Will Not Accept Defeat Administered By Germans.

London, May 7.—The battle to decide the mastery of Hill No. 60 and the desolated country around Ypres has not yet reached its final stages, nor have the Russians shown signs of accepting the German claim that a crushing defeat has been inflicted upon them in Western Galicia.

That the Russians have been pushed back many miles, first across the Dunajec and now across the Wisloka river which roughly parallels the Dunajec fifteen miles to the eastward, all the dispatches from German and Austrian sources insist, but the English newspapers still refuse to concede a great victory to the Austro-Germans, although they admit that a great tentative success has been achieved.

There is great faith in England in the recuperative powers of Russian arms, and the disposition for the moment seems to be to suspend judgment on the question of whether the Russians, if driven from Dukla pass, will be forced to abandon their advance against Hungary and indeed their positions in Western Galicia.

Russia Can Hold Line.

At any rate the argument is being made by British observers that the Russians should have no trouble in

FOUR ARE HELD AS MURDER SUSPECTS

May Know Something About Killing of Woman and Child.

Chicago, May 7.—Four men were held by the police today on suspicion of having knowledge of the murder yesterday of Mrs. John L. Coppersmith, the wife of a commission broker, and their 2-year-old son, whose heads had been crushed by blows from a hammer and their throats cut.

Detectives abandoned the theory that robbery was the motive for the murder as a diamond ring, some currency and bonds valued at $800 were left untouched in the apartment. They believe the slayer is a maniac, who, failing in his attempt to attack Mrs. Coppersmith, killed her and then took the life of her son.

SNOW AROUND WARREN WILL BENEFIT CROPS

SENT DOWN OFF THE COAST OF IRELAND

Sailed From New York Last Saturday With 1,253 Passengers.

Vessel Attacked Off Kinsale, Twenty Miles South of Cork.

Reports Say That All the Passengers Are Safe.

London, May 7, 5:05 p. m.—The Lusitania has been sunk off Old Head, Kinsale, by a torpedo. Assistance has been sent. The Lusitania sank at 2:33 this afternoon.

The passengers are believed to be safe.

CONFIRMED BY CUNARD.

New York, May 7.—The Cunard liner Lusitania, one of the fastest ships afloat, was torpedoed and sunk this afternoon off the coast of Ireland, ten miles south of Kinsale.

She had aboard 1,253 passengers. She sailed from this port last Saturday, May 1, and carried in addition to her own large passenger list 163 passengers transferred to her from the Anchor liner Cameronia.

The news of her sinking was announced by the local office of the Cunard line and was based on cable advices received from the home office of the company in Liverpool. Three dispatches received in the order named were made public by the line and read as follows:

DISTRESS CALLS.

"We received from the Land's End wireless station news of repeated distress calls made by the Lusitania asking for assistance at once. Big list. Position ten miles south of Kinsale. Subsequently received telegrams from Queenstown that all available craft in the harbor had been dispatched to assist."

The second message to the local office read:

"Queenstown, 4:59 p. m.—About twenty boats of all sorts belonging to our line are in vicinity where Lusitania sunk. About fifteen other boats are making for spot to render assistance."

The third cablegram was dated Liverpool and read:

"Following received by admiralty—Galley Head, 4:25 p. m.—Several boats, apparently survivors, southeast nine miles. Greek steamer proceeding to assistance."

ALL MAY BE SAVED.

Dispatches received here from London, Liverpool and Queenstown confirmed the news. One of the messages said it was believed that all the big liner's passengers had been saved.

Late today the Cunard line officials received a dispatch from Queenstown stating that a large steamer and many small vessels

MORE TURKS THAN RUSS

Forces of Thali Bey Which Occupied Dilman Numbered 18,000.

Victory of Czar's Troops Over Great Odds Was Conclusive.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Wednesday, May 5, via Petrograd, and London, May 7.—It has been officially established in Tiflis that the Turkish forces who, under the command of Thali Bey, recently occupied Dilman, numbered 18,000 men. This shows that their numerical strength was greater than that of the Russians, and even in the final battle the Turks outnumbered their antagonists. The trophies taken by the Russians were a complete hospital outfit and enormous quantity of stores. It is not known how many prisoners were taken. The Turkish commander and the members of his staff all had narrow escapes from capture.

Reports received by Armenians residing in Tiflis relate the murder of a member of the Turkish parliament from Van, an Armenian named Wramsan. A celebrated political worker named Ishkan, and four companions, lost their lives with Wraman. The six men at the time they were killed were on their way to Shattuk to lead in the defense of that place against the Kurds. Ishkan also was a resident of Van.

City Bombarded.

This Armenian city in Asiatic Turkey was bombarded by 900 Turkish regular troops who had with them three pieces of artillery. Armenians numbering 860 assembled in the village of Saragunis to oppose the murderous bands of Kurds threatening that place but the Kurds were aided by Turkish regulars, and after a long struggle the detachment of Armenians was wiped out with the exception of eight men, who ultimately found shelter in the monastery of St. Tativas.

An agent of the Armenian aid committee, after a horseback trip from Alashkirt to Dayzet, has reported that this region is fully occupied by Russians, and that 6,000 out of 25,000 refugees have returned to their homes.

He says that 850 Armenian women are known to have been sold into slavery by the Kurds, but that this number is generally believed to be much greater. It is reported that a total of 5,000 Christians have been killed. Some estimates, however, place the total as high as 10,000.

FIRST ATTACK ON TURKISH CAPITAL MADE BY AIRMEN

Constantinople Said to Have Been Damaged By Russian Bombs.

Artillery Exchanges Continue Between Straits Forts and Warships.

Paris, May 7.—The first attack of the war on Constantinople is reported in an unofficial dispatch from Athens. It is said three Russian aviators flew over the city, dropping several bombs, which are believed to have caused extensive damage.

The message says also that the Russian Black sea fleet bombarded the Turkish forts on the left bank of the Bosporus on Wednesday. Several Russian shells fell within about ten miles of Constantinople.

Artillery Duels.

Dardanelles, Thursday, May 6, via London, May 7.—The artillery exchanges between the warships of the allies and the shore positions of the Turks continue.

Some vessels are firing from the Gulf of Saros, making use of inflammable shells. The town of Maidos was set on fire yesterday.

Turkish Statement.

Constantinople, May 6, via wireless to Berlin and London, May 7.—The following statement regarding the operations in the Dardanelles was issued last night by the Turkish war office:

"An enemy battalion was annihilated Wednesday as the result of an attack by our troops against his left wing.

"At Ariburnu part of the enemy's strongly built intrenchments were captured.

"At Seddul Bahr we inflicted heavy losses on the English and captured great quantities of ammunition. We have taken ten enemy machine guns."

NEWFOUNDLAND MAY GET FRENCH ISLANDS

Miquelon Archipelago May Be Annexed at Close of the War.

St. John's, Nfld., May 7.—The possibility that the Miquelon archipelago, the last North American possession of France, may be annexed to Newfoundland at the close of the European war, is being given serious consideration in this colony. The little islands of St. Pierre, Miquelon, and Langlade, a short distance off the south coast of Newfoundland, have formed for two centuries the advance base for the French codfishery on the Grand Banks. In recent years the prosperity of the tiny colony has steadily diminished and all possibility of industrial progress for some time to come was destroyed when the French government in February last summoned all the able bodied men to the colors.

It is considered probable that such of the conscripts as survive the war will be reluctant to return to a struggling existence in the colony. Since the usefulness of the fisheries outpost has become slight, it is the opinion of many Newfoundlanders that France will find it to her advantage to turn the islands over to Newfoundland, in return for fishing facilities in these waters.

Shop Girls Better.

Albany, N. Y., May 7.—Girls who had worked in shops and became domestics at the solicitation of the state labor department, have proved more satisfactory than girls who have only worked as domestics, Commissioner of Labor Lynch said today in a report of the operation of the new state employment bureau. He declared these girls carried their shop training into the homes increasing their efficiency.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The exact status of affairs in the great battle of Western Galicia remains in doubt. German and Austrian reports of a spectacular victory are increasingly optimistic. Petrograd advices, however, while conceding a measure of success to the Tentonic allies, say these claims are greatly exaggerated. The Russian war office announces a victory in a battle near Stry, in the Carpathians, further east than the scene of the present main battle.

Hopes that Italy would settle peacefully her differences with Austria apparently are fading as speedily as they were revived a few days ago. The Austrian government is reported to have informed Italy of the extreme concessions it is willing to make, and Austrians and Germans in Rome are represented as having lost confidence in a favorable outcome. The exodus of Germans from Italy is continuing in increasing numbers.

Official announcement is made in a dispatch from Constantinople that severe losses have been inflicted on the French and British troops which landed on Gallipoli peninsula. It is said one entire battalion was annihilated in at attack on the allied left wing, and that in another engagement the British lost heavily, both in men and munitions.

Reports reaching London from the Dardanelles say that the bombardment by the allied fleet of the Turkish fortifications is proceeding successfully. Some of the forts at Chanak and Kilid Bahr, and probably others on both sides of the straits up to the narrows, are said to have been silenced.

REMARKABLE TRIBUTE PAID CHIEF TROYER IN FAREWELL BANQUET AT ELKS' CLUB

Friends of Duluth's Famous "Copper" Bid Him Farewell.

Duluth Elks paid a most unusual tribute last evening to C. H. Troyer, retiring chief of police, who will leave Duluth for Fargo on May 14.

More than 250 members of the order sat down to a banquet which was held at the Elks' club. A six-course dinner was served, after which several addresses in honor of the retiring official were made. John E. Samuelson, exalted ruler of the lodge, officiated as toastmaster. Seldom has such a spontaneous tribute been paid a Duluthian and Mr. Troyer was, very evidently, deeply affected by it.

Frank E. Randall, a local attorney, paid a masterful tribute to Chief Troyer. He recalled the history of Mr. Troyer's service as a public servant for the last twenty-six years, referring to the many administrations under which he has served.

Among other things, Mr. Randall said: "The time for eliminating personal animosities is at hand. The day our new council took the oath of office was the time. An office of such great importance as chief of police must no longer be involved in politics, for if politics had been eliminated in our recent election, ability would have been the requirement of the official head of the department, instead of political ambitions."

Mr. Randall recalled some ancient history in Duluth politics, when at one time Mr. Troyer was made the issue in a political campaign. He related how a most searching investigation had been made of the chief's record. Detectives were sent to his old home in Indiana on a still hunt for investments said to have been made there and for anything that might reflect on Mr. Troyer's character or record. They came back and reported they could find nothing, according to Mr. Randall, who said he had his information from the man who conducted the investigation.

Armstead's Tribute.

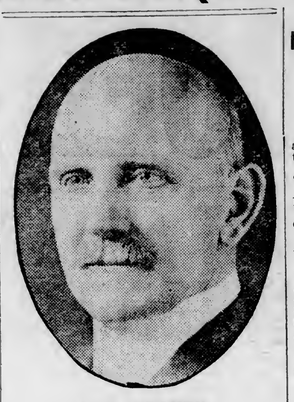
John T. Armstead declared that he always had been a great admirer of Chief Troyer and his policies. Mr. Armstead stated that in his business life, Mr. Troyer never allowed friendship to interfere with the discharge of his duties. The speaker also recalled how a number of years ago a political machine attempted to find some flaw in Mr. Troyer's record of personal and business affairs, but after several weeks of untiring effort, failed.

Walter F. Dacey, in his address, declared that he had an opportunity to study Mr. Troyer's methods and policies, while he was in the city attorney's office. "The judges of the district and municipal court have always recognized him as a fair witness in criminal cases to both the state and to the defendant.

Will Beg Him to Return.

"Duluth will regret the day," said Mr. Dacey, "that Chief Troyer was allowed to resign. Before two years have passed, the city will, not only ask, but beg him to return."

A. E. McManus spoke both in a humorous and serious vein. "It was no use for a crook to attempt to pull anything off while Chief Troyer was on the job," declared Mr. McManus. "When the chief leaves us, crooks will certainly draw a long sigh of relief." Mr. McManus referred to Mr. Troyer's methods as being "like the heathen Chinee," as his ways of catching criminals were "peculiar but effective."



C. H. TROYER.

Presented With Gift.

M. B. Cullum, former mayor, presented to Chief Troyer, on behalf of the lodge, a handsome silver service as a token of regard in which he is held by the members of Duluth lodge, No. 1333, B. P. O. E. In making the presentation speech, he referred to the trials and tribulations forced upon a servant of the people working in the capacity of the chief of police, stating that while the law does not recognize public sentiment as the law, nevertheless public opinion is the law in the final analysis.

Mr. Troyer was so overcome with emotion that when he attempted to speak he choked and spoke with much difficulty. "I think that the reason years ago that my one ambition was to be an Elk, was because I was born in Elkhart, Ind." Mr. Trayer declared that he appreciated the many kindly acts of the Duluth Elks during his long residence in Duluth, and that they were numbered among his truest and best friends.

Mr. Troyer related a number of his experiences as an officer in the department and later as chief of police. He said that during all of that time, he had given the city the best that was in him. "I regret leaving Duluth," he said, "for I have grown to love every inch of it."

Earl P. Baker sang a parody on "Night and Day," which proved to be ones of the hits of the evening, the chorus of which was as follows:

"Monthly pay, pension—say,
Chauncey, don't it make you sigh.
Now please tell, ain't it h—l
When you know old Fargo's dry.
Samuelson and Cullum, Heathcote and McCulloch, too,
Armstead, Randall and Bill Burgess cry,
Chauncey, it's just water for you."

The last number on the program was a parody on "Tipperary." Every Elk present arose from the banquet board and sang this chorus as a last farewell to the retiring chief:

"Out into the desert one of our members will go
Desert is a good name for a dry town like Fargo.
Chauncey Troyer is the 'Bill' who's going right out there
And every one in old Fargo will find him on the square.

Chorus.

"It's to Fargo that Chauncey's going,
It's to Fargo you know;
It's a dry spot in North Dakota,
Though its built where waters flow,
Good-bye Chauncey Troyer, its farewell very soon,
It's to Fargo you will soon be going
So good luck to you."

La Brosse's orchestra furnished the musical program which was given during the evening.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Mayor's Office City of Duluth.
Duluth, Minn, May 7th, 1915.

In view of the fact that the week of May 9th to 15th has been selected as "Clean Up and Paint Up Week" for the City of Duluth, I deem it both fitting and proper that special emphasis should be laid on the movement here, and we should strive to set an example worthy of emulation by all cities in the country.

Now, therefore, I, W. I. Prince, Mayor of the City of Duluth, do proclaim and set apart the week as above designated as a "Clean Up and Paint Up Week" for said city.

I urge that every citizen of Duluth devote at least a portion of said week to this "Clean Up and Paint Up" movement. Every lot and lawn should be cleaned of all rubbish, old boxes, cans and debris of every kind should be taken away; garbage hauled off; all insanitary places cleaned.

Flowers should be planted; houses and everything needing it should be painted, and everything possible done to make our city more beautiful, healthy and sanitary.

I hereby call on every citizen to do his duty in this matter, to the end that the health and happiness of our people may be conserved, and our splendid city beautified.

W. I. PRINCE,
Mayor, City of Duluth.

BETTER FEELING IN EVIDENCE

Business World Much More Hopeful, Says John Millen.

John Millen, vice president and general manager of the Alger-Smith Lumber company, has returned from a business trip to the East with the statement that there is a distinctly better feeling among big business men and in the commercial world in general regarding the future trend of business.

"Foreign orders have a large part to do with the better feeling," said Mr. Millen. "From what I could learn, I gathered that Europe has sent a very large list of orders over here. That has proved a stimulus to business and has caused business men to feel better."

Mr. Millen spent some time in the South before returning to Duluth. According to his statement today, business men of the Southland fail to share the optimistic viewpoint of the Eastern business men.

"The solution of the cotton problem is rather slow in adjustment," said Mr. Millen. "The planters are getting some relief, but is is rather slow and this fact is causing a halt in the march of commercial progress."

HEARING FOR METCALF.

Civil Service Commission to Consider Inspector's Appeal.

The civil service commission will this afternoon hear the appeal of R. N. Metcalfe, former inspector, who was discharged several weeks ago.

Mr. Metcalfe claims that he cannot be discharged without cause, according to the civil service rules, and as a result is entitled to the position. He appealed to the commission about three weeks ago, but the meeting has twice been postponed and it is expected that final action will be taken this afternoon.

M. J. Filiatrault, who was appointed on the commission last Monday to succeed W. B. Getchell, will act as a member for the first time this afternoon.

DAUGHTER WINS SUIT FOR HALF OF ESTATE

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—A unanimous verdict in favor of the defendants in the Campbell will case was returned by the jury here last night. The verdict declared that Lois Campbell, now Mrs. Elsey Burkham, is the daughter of James Campbell, and therefore entitled to half his $16,000,000 estate, willed her by Campbell.

A suit to set aside the will on the ground that Campbell was unduly influenced was brought by the sister and by nieces and nephews of Campbell. The contestants will not share in the estate, having failed to prove that Mrs. Burkham is not the daughter of Campbell and therefore not entitled, with her mother, to divide the estate.

Most of the session of the court today was given over to arguments of attorneys.

WILL BEGIN BEACH WORK

First Step Will Be Extension of Pulaski Street Into Grounds.

About $7,000 Will Be Spent in Preparing Bathing Place.

Work on Duluth's bathing beach at Fairmont park will begin next week, with the extension of Pulaski street to the grounds.

Park Manager Cleveland announced this morning that the first improvement will be the extension of the thoroughfare, so that his teams will have access into the park. This work, he believes, will take but a short time and when finished, he will begin the improvement of the beach and the construction of the bath houses.

About $7,000 will be spent this year on the proposed beach, in improving the grounds near the shore all along in the Fairmont extension purchased last year by the city, the erection of a bath house, purchase of bathing suits and boats, and the erection of a small pavilion. Next year Mr. Cleveland plans to dredge the entire beach, so that it will be more suitable for swimming.

Work on the beach will continue until about the middle of July, when Mr. Cleveland expects to have it ready for public use. There will be twenty-four bath houses, all so constructed, so that they can be moved, in case other improvements are made to the grounds. Bids are now being received for these houses, bathing suits and row boats, Mr. Cleveland announced.

BARNEY OLDFIELD'S MECHANIC IN WAR

Breen Driving Car for British Staff Officer at Front.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

General Headquarters, British Army, France, April 10.—Barney Oldfield's old mechanic, Harry Breen, who has swept around the track with him on the Indianapolis speedway and elsewhere in the United States, is now driving a car for a British staff officer at the front. He says the excitement of being under shell fire has the automobile racing game beaten.

Breen hails from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he was born forty-one years ago of a Danish mother and British father. The British father was the lever that got Breen into the British army. Leaving a prosperous garage business in Pittsburgh, he hurried to England and enlisted. His qualities as expert mechanic and skilful, fearless driver insured instant service at general headquarters, where such men are at a premium. The superb country roads of France, which are kept in a remarkable state of fitness, notwithstanding the war, give Breen an opportunity for imagining he is still with Oldfield on the track trying to break a record.

HUTCHINSON MUSEUM COMES TO BALTIMORE

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 15.—The London Medical Graduates College and Polyclinic on Chenies street, for many years a small but prominent center of medical research, has been closed. Its most important feature, the Hutchinson museum, has been acquired by the Johns Hopkins Medical School of Baltimore.

The museum represents the life work of the late Sir Jonathan Hutchinson, one of the greatest clinicians of his times. The collection consists of original colored drawings, several hundred in number, plates, engravings, woodcuts and photographs.

The Lancet, commenting on the transfer of the museum to America, says: "The loss to this country is to be deplored, but it has found a home in the most famous of the American medical schools, where it may be put to greater use than here, as the teaching which it embodies must be less familiar there."

COURT HOLDS THAT LITTLE FORK IS DRY

Habeas Corpus Proceedings Started By Accused Saloon Man Brings Ruling

Bemidji, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village of Little Fork is dry, according to a decision rendered yesterday here by Judge C. W. Stanton. The question, which has been in court since the spring election on March 10, when the township voted dry and the village, wet, was brought to a head this week when County Attorney Franz Jevne of Koochiching county caused the arrest of L. J. Lalond, saloonkeeper of Little Fork, on the ground that he was selling intoxicating liquor illegally. Lalond was granted a new license on April 16.

He was taken into custody by Sheriff Thomas White and immediately petitioned the court for a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of testing the legality of his arrest.

Argued Before Court.

A writ of habeas corpus was issued and the matter came before Judge C. W. Stanton, Wednesday afternoon, the case being argued by County Attorney Franz Jevne for the state and Former Judge Marshall A. Spooner of Bemidji for Mr. Lalond. The legal proposition involved is a novel one. A review of the district court's decision will doubtless be asked of the state supreme court, to which court the matter may be taken summarily and an early decision reached.

BRAINERD BOARD LIQUIDATES BONDS

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last act of the old water and light board, composed of M. T. Dunn, president, and Commissioners C. B. Rowley and A. A. Weidemann, was to order paid $30,000 electric light bonds and interest, thus clearing up the entire bonded indebtedness of that department. Previously the board had called in $10,000 of the bonds.

Unfavorable to Merger.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 7.—The United Presbyterian, a publication of that denomination, is authority for the announcement that the vote of presbyteries at the session of the United Presbyterian church, on an overture looking to a union with Presbyterian and Reformed churches of the United States, will be announced as unfavorable to such a merger when the general assembly meets in Loveland, Colo., May 26. The vote is indicated in returns made on a poll of the United Presbyterian church.

Spooner Sawmill Running.

Spooner, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local plant of the International Lumber company commenced operations Monday morning. The company has a plentiful supply of timber on hand and if the lumber market conditions warrant it all expect a full season's run, even though the company is already well supplied with the manufactured product, both at this place and International Falls.

BANKERS SEE FINE OUTLOOK

Exports Not Limited to War Supplies—Without Parallel.

Iron, Steel and Lumber Inquiries Growing; Railroads Want Ties.

Business conditions are showing steady improvement, in the opinion of Duluth bankers. The corner is thought to have been at last turned and extensions of operations in many lines are now predicted.

Commenting upon the situation, the City National bank says in its letter on trade conditions and business forecast for the month of May:

"Figures representing business totals may now be presented with very little explanation, as present figures, compared with those of a few weeks ago speak plainly for themselves. While some lines of trade are enjoying almost unbounded prosperity, others are doing just a normal business and still others are barely existing. This condition will probably continue as long as the war lasts, after which business should even up and lines which are now dormant, or at best moderately active, should then resume their normal state."

Not Limited to War Supplies.

Going into the trade aspect in detail, it is pointed out that exports so far this year have been without parallel and furthermore that the buying has not been limited to war supplies.

It is noted that March bookings of structural steel jobs were 110,000 tons against an average of 51,000 tons monthly during the preceding quarter, making it the best month since last July.

A decided increase in hopeful sentiment in iron and steel circles is commented upon. The general opinion, says the letter, is that the industry is booked for a far greater degree of activity than has been yet experienced. April production and shipments of steel easily exceeded the March record. The current rate of steel production is estimated to average up at 70 per cent of capacity, with Pittsburgh and the valley districts above that rate and the Chicago district correspondingly behind it.

Lumber Better Also.

Reports received, the letter says, agree in the view that building and lumber prospects are generally better than at any time since 1912. Many large contracts have been entered into. These include a contract awarded by the Chicago Junction railway and Union Stock Yards company to the Edward Hines Lumber company for 2,000,000 feet of yellow pine to be used in the erection of new factories in the central manufacturing district. A large railroad system is reported to be in the market for 6,000,000 feet of white oak ties, and the Chicago & Eastern Illinois and the Soo lines are making inquiries for material for new cars.

AMERICAN MOTOR AMBULANCE CORPS

French Officials Praise Highly Efficiency of the Workers.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 15.—No ambulance corps at the front is attracting more attention than the American Volunteer motor ambulance corps, under the leadership of Richard Norton. Recently the British Red Cross, with which the corps is affiliated, ordered it to return for service with the British forces from the second French army with which it had been operating since it reached French soil. But in the meantime the whole ambulance organization of the Second French army had been based on the American corps, and the French medical department objected strongly to giving it up. The result has been a compromise whereby the corps will be enlarged to work with both armies.

The corps consists entirely of volunteer workers, who not only give their own services, but provide automobiles as well. Both have distinctly made good, the French authorities having paid the warmest tributes to the efficiency of the workers and their cars. The squadron of motor cars represents many types with American cars providing the favorites as their clearance gives them a distinct advantage in traversing the rough battle fields and wrecked roads. Among these cars the small American types have rendered extremely useful service by providing what might be termed the light cavalry of the ambulance service. While not being able to carry a heavy load these small cars bring the wounded from fields where the big ambulances cannot venture.

One ambulance of the corps carries a steam heating plant and tubs for supplying the wounded with hot baths. The corps has placed this work in charge of A. E. Kemp of Paris and it has proven so successful that he is appealing for funds to increase the number of cars equipped with the apparatus. Inspector Gen. Dzlewonski of the sanitary department of the Second army has written to Mr. Kemp thanking him for the tubs which have been successfully tested, one tub giving from 25 to 30 baths daily.

BELGIANS GIVEN WARM WELCOME

Germans May Assess the Populace for Making Demonstration.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, April 10.—Seventy Belgian prisoners who recently passed through Bruges in charge of a guard of German cavalry received a resounding welcome from the Belgian inhabitants of the town, notwithstanding the orders of the German municipal authorities that no demonstrations were to take place.

The prisoners, who included infantrymen and engineers, were captured near Driegrachten. As they passed down the streets of Bruges, the people of the town gathered along the sidewalks. Hats and handkerchiefs were waved in the air and there were shouts of "Vive la Belgique," "Leve Belgie" and "Leve de Koning." The prisoners smiled and answered back, "Courage, comrades." Meanwhile the crowd showered them with gifts of fruit, chocolate, sandwiches and cheese.

While the enthusiasm was at its height, some of the German horsemen charged the crowd. It is said that the municipal authorities will assess a fine against the populace for the unauthorized demonstration.

CITY TO SPEND $400,000

Farrell Announces Program for 1915 Street Improvements.

Large Sums for Suburban Work; Some Contracts Already Let.

Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division, this morning announced for the first time since taking office three weeks ago, a tentative program of all the pavements and street improvements planned for 1915. He estimates the total cost of the improvements to be $400,000, out of which the city will pay about $80,000 for street intersections.

Suburban Work.

Among the more important pavements to be built this year are those on the steel plant road and the roadway through Gary; Minnesota avenue on Park Point; Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road; Ninth street, from Seventh to Fourteenth avenues east; Sixth street, from Fifteenth to Eighteenth avenues east; Sixteenth avenue east, from Sixth to Seventh streets; Sixth street, from Twenty-first to Twenty-fifth avenues west; Highland street, from Fifty-seventh to Sixth avenues west; Exeter street, from Third street to Pacific avenue; Sussex avenue, from Snively road to Kenilworth avenue; Kenilworth avenue, from Vermilion road to Livingston street, and First street, from Twenty-eighth avenue east to Congdon park.

The contract for the Highland street pavement has already been let to Gilbean-Murphy-Patterson company and next Monday evening the contracts for the paving of Minnesota avenue, from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth streets, and Woodland avenue, will be let to the S. R. Okes Construction company and A. N. Nelson, respectively. Estimates are now being made by the city engineer for the other improvements and bids will be advertised for during this month. Commissioner Farrell plans to have active work started on the New Duluth road by the latter part of this month.

According to the plans in the engineer's office, there will be an eighteen-foot concrete roadway on each side of the two-mile stretch built in the New Duluth road last year, and a brick pavement on the east side of Commonwealth avenue, running through Gary.

Protests Block Paving.

Because of protests now on file, Superior street, from Sixteenth to Twenty-third avenue east, First street, from Twentieth to Thirtieth avenue west, Second street, from Fourth avenue west to Fifth avenue east, and Grand avenue, from Vernon street to Fifty-fourth avenue west, will not be paved this year. In addition, Central avenue, north of Cody street, and Twentieth avenue west, from Superior to Third streets, will not be improved until 1916, as the public works division plans to reduce the $100,000 improvement fund debt this year and only $80,000 can be spent by the city for street intersections out of $163,000 budget passed last year. It is probable, however, that Twentieth avenue west will be paved from Superior to First street, as that will involve no cost to the city for intersections.

In addition to these larger pavements to be laid this summer, the commissioner plans to make the following smaller street improvements during the season: Fifth alley, paving from Fourteenth avenue east to Fifteenth avenue east; Fifth alley, paving from Twenty-first avenue east to Twenty-second avenue east; Fifth street, grading from Twelfth avenue east to Thirteenth avenue east; Nineteenth avenue east, grading and gravelling, from Fourth street to Eighth street; Second alley, paving from Twenty-fourth avenue east to Twenty-fifth avenue east, and Seventh alley, paving from Ninth avenue east to Tenth avenue east.

Grand Jury Will Report.
The May grand jury, which has been in session since Wednesday morning, is expected to make a partial report to Judge Dancer in district court this afternoon. Several indictments may be returned at that time. According to County Attorney Warren E. Greene, about twenty-five criminal cases will be presented to the grand jury for its consideration. The grist includes none of particular importance.

Wife Given Divorce.
Mrs. Allina Dahl, 18, was granted a divorce yesterday afternoon in Judge Dancer's division of the district court from Edward O. Dahl, 27, on the grounds of desertion. The Dahls were married Jan. 24, 1913, at Virginia. Mrs. Dahl testified that her husband deserted her on Aug. 20, 1913. There are no children.

Plans for the coming season will be discussed. The proposition of affiliating with the baseball league of fraternal organizations will be considered and it is probable that plans will be laid for having a team in the league this year.

Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits will observe Mother's day at the regular Temple Emanuel services this evening with a special sermon on "Too Much and Too Little Mother." The services will start at 8 o'clock and are open to the public.

RAILROADS

MILEAGE COSTS HALF CENT MORE

New Passenger Rates Go Into Effect—Second Class Canceled.

On May 1, passenger rates to Eastern points, or for business originating west of Chicago, increased from 2 cents a mile to 2½ cents. On March 1, the territory east of Chicago was so affected, but the law for points west of Chicago did not apply until the first of this month. Until that date also, through business, for instance from Duluth to New York, was charged according to the 2-cent rate; but if one had gone to Chicago, paying 2 cents a mile for the distance, and then bought a ticket for the East, 2½ cents from Chicago east would have been charged.

Second-class rates are all wiped out, so the straight 2½ cents a mile must be put up.

NEW STEEL COACHES HAVE ARRIVED

The first consignment of 113 new, all-steel coaches, dining cars, sleeping cars, baggage and mail cars purchased by the Northern Pacific railroad has reached St. Paul and will be placed in service at once.

This covers an order of $2,000,000 placed by this railroad last fall. The cars were designed by the Northern Pacific railway and contain all the latest improvements, such as lighting, ventilating, etc. The lighting system used in these cars is the indirect system and the electric light bulbs are larger than those used in previous sleepers.

All of these cars are equipped with storage batteries as an auxiliary to the regular dynamo service, and emergency lights are installed in each car.

A new feature in the sleeping cars is that of a guard rail in the upper berths, as well as clothes hangers in both upper and lower berths and at each end of every berth, and the berths are wider, longer and higher.

The windows in the dining cars are much larger than those of other dining cars and the tables are so situated that passengers may obtain a full view of the scenery along the line.

M'KERCHER MAY BE NEXT CHIEF

Now Looms Up Strongly as Possible Successor to C. H. Troyer.

Robert D. McKercher, humane agent, now looms up as a possibility for police chief to succeed C. H. Troyer, who will retire next Friday to become head of the police department at Fargo, N. D.

His name has been prominently mentioned for the last twenty-four hours and indications are that he is being seriously considered by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division. The latter admitted as much this morning, but would make no statement as to the possibility of his being appointed.

The appointment of a successor to Chief Troyer is still in doubt and rumors are constantly changing. On Wednesday indications pointed to the appointment of Guy A. Eaton, former state oil inspector, but he has since intimated that he will not accept the office and attention is now riveted on Detective Frank Schulte and Humane Agent McKercher.

Yesterday afternoon a delegation of prominent citizens visited Commissioner Silberstein, urging him to appoint Detective Schulte, but the former refused to commit himself. The committee, which visited the commissioner, consisted of John T. Armstead, John Murphy, Harris Bennett, M. J. Fillatrault, E. A. Thompson, Peter Grignon, Jr., James Travers and James Hart, Jr.

SUPERIOR

WILL PAVE WITH CONCRETE.

Lowest Bid for Tower Avenue Work on This Material.

Tower avenue from Fifty-eighth to Sixty-fourth streets will be paved with concrete according to a decision arrived at by the city commissioners yesterday. The contract for the work was let to John Diffor, who submitted the lowest bid on the job for this material. While the improvement is being made, the street railway company will install a "Y" at Fifty-seventh street on which its South Superior cars will be turned.

CITY RESTRAINED FROM TRADING STREET ENDS

Judgment against the city of Superior was rendered in an opinion handed down by Judge E. C. Higbee in the streets end case brought by M. S. Bright. Mr. Bright started an action against the city asking that it be restrained from trading off several street ends on the bay front for a site for a municipal dock. The action was brought on the grounds that the city had no right to make the exchange and that by so doing it had depreciated the value of his property. It is probable that the city will take an appeal to the state supreme court.

City Positions Open.

Examinations will be conducted by police and fire departments of the city for new applicants for positions. Vacancies caused by recent resignations from both departments make the examinations necessary. Several police officers will take the examination for captain of police, the position recently made vacant by the resignation of Capt. O. T. Olson.

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

SUGAR PRICES MAY GO HIGHER

Sharp Upturn Last Week Believed But Beginning of Increase.

Substantially higher prices for sugar are predicted by Duluth wholesale grocers.

An advance of ten points to 6 cents a pound was made by refiners during the last week, and in the opinion of the large jobbers, the market upturn in the commodity has only just started. Reason for the strength in the sugar situation is furnished in heavy buying by the European belligerents. France is reported to have just bought 15,000 tons or about $2,000,000 in value of refined sugar from the Federal Sugar Refining company and an additional 10,000 tons is estimated to have been contracted for from other refiners. This is the second large purchase that France has made at New York during the last fortnight, bringing up its outlays for the commodity to approximately $5,000,000.

England is expected to come into the market for refined sugar shortly, although thus far she has been buying only Cuban raws.

Since April 1, Great Britain has contracted for 125,000 tons of Cuban sugars at a cost of about $9,000,000. Europe is estimated to have bought 275,000 and 300,000 tons of Cuban sugars in addition to the refined product taken at New York, and still according to trade authorities, her requirements are only partially covered.

A further reason for a high market for sugars is given in the reduction of the best output in the European countries at war as well as in this country, thus bringing about an increased consumption of the cane article.

OPTIMISM SHOWN IN ALL LINES OF TRADE

Thrift Never More Noticeable Since the Civil War.

Optimistic views are being expressed by leading business and financial authorities throughout the country regarding the trade outlook in various lines.

Armour & Co. of Chicago report that conditions have improved materially during the last ten days, with all lines favorably affected and with collections showing material improvement. A letter recently issued by the company points out that "healthy, conservative optimism prevails throughout the entire country, with the evidence of common sense, efficiency, thrift and economy more noticeable than at any time since the Civil war."

Charles G. Dawes, formerly comptroller of the currency, says: "I regard business conditions as steadily improving, as a natural reaction from the depression in business."

James B. Forgan, the Chicago banker, says: "The business trend is toward improvement."

While regret is expressed in some quarters that domestic trade has been slow in working back to a normal basis, hopes are expressed that betterment in many directions will soon become apparent.

Commenting upon the situation, Hayden, Stone & Co. of Boston say in their weekly market letter:

"The fact seems to be that those businesses which depend entirely on domestic demand still show little indication of a revival; on the other hand, the tremendous profit of the farming communities is beginning to be reflected in a better demand for agricultural implements.

"It is a peculiar situation; the country has raised and sold at tremendous prices an enormous crop of cereals; it is getting handsome prices for all the copper, zinc, etc., that it can produce; new wealth from these sources is pouring in and yet domestic trade is very backward. Apparently, the wave of economy which flooded the country with the outbreak of the war is still running high and though money is accumulating rapidly, people, individually, still 'feel poor.'

"If the record-breaking bond sales of the last few days are any indication, this money is being put to good use. It has always been axiomatic that the soundest foundation for broad stock market dealings was to be found in a well-established bond market; if this is so, a good foundation is being laid. It would seem almost impossible that this huge investment of money could continue much longer without some quickening effect on domestic industry.

"The market has reached a critical stage. The prosperity of the manufacturers of supplies for the warring nations and of the producers of copper and zinc is unquestioned and promises to continue. The character of the contracts made for these supplies and the ability to sell the metal through the balance of the year at good figures indicate strongly that very great profits to these companies are assured."

Failure to Send Boy to School Causes Arrest Near Spooner.

Spooner, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the instance of the school board a warrant was issued this week for the arrest of John Palmquist, living about two miles south of town, for refusing to send his 14-year-old boy to school. He was brought before Judge Kyler on Wednesday morning, where he pleaded guilty to the charge and fined $5. He had been repeatedly notified by the school authorities and the county attorney, but paid no attention to these notices. The case was the more aggravated for the reason that the school board had provided for the board and lodging for the smaller children during the school year on the promise that the older boy would also attend. The fine was light as the defendant agreed to send the boy to school for the remainder of the term.

Two accidents have already occurred and a number of others narrowly averted, the Natoma being sunk and the boat belonging to O. J. Masters of this city having struck a rock and sustained slight damage.

ART COMMISSION TO KEEP UP WORK

Failure to Secure State Appropriation Not Fatal Obstacle; Arranging to Have Exhibit at State Fair; Will Get Out Official Publication; Exhibits Will Be Circulated.

The Minnesota state art commission, whose annual appropriation was denied by the recent legislature, will continue its work. This action was taken by the governing board of the commission at a meeting held yesterday. Negotiations are under way with the Minnesota state fair management whereby it is hoped the commission's annual state art exhibition can be held this fall in the newly constructed art galleries on the state fair grounds.

A feature of the art commission's program for continuance will be an official publication. This will be known as "The Minnesotan." It is hoped this publication will develop a state-wide membership for the society. "The Minnesotan" will relate particularly to home building, home furnishing, landscape gardening, the development of Minnesota towns and cities, home industries, handicrafts, industrial art and the fine arts. A section of the magazine will be devoted to men and women in Minnesota who have achieved distinction in the field of art and craftsmanship.

The state art commission has rendered an unusual and effective service to the people of the state for fifteen years. It has accumulated many thousands of dollars' worth of assets, including plans for "model village houses," "model farm houses," landscape designs, pictures, sculpture, school exhibits, home industries and many other things. All of the material has been in constant circulation to hundreds of cities and towns in Minnesota. The work of the commission has attracted for Minnesota nation-wide publicity.

The governing board of the commission plans to continue its work through the circulation of exhibits and by assistance to towns and cities in the way of better planning. Much of the material relating to model village houses, landscapes, etc., has not yet been printed. The commission hopes to make this available for the people of the state. Minnesota is the first state to have instituted such a program and the art commission hopes to continue this service. Maurice I. Flagg will continue in the capacity of director of the commission.

URGES RETENTION OF THE GAS LAMPS

Merritt Would Have Order for Electric Lights Rescinded.

In a communication to the council received yesterday by the city clerk, Commissioner Merritt recommends that the Kent road district be permitted to keep its gas lights and that the recent council order providing for electric lights to replace them, be rescinded.

The communication will be taken up at the council meeting next Monday.

About two weeks ago the residents along Kent road filed a protest against electric lights, claiming that such a move would mean the installation of electric light poles throughout the residence district. They asked the council to keep the sixteen gas standards in that vicinity, agreeing also to pay the additional cost to the city.

According to a statement by Commissioner Merritt, the nine proposed electric lamps would cost $165 a year, while the sixteen gas lamps cost $283.30, making a difference of $148.20 a year, which will be charged to the property owners in the Kent road district.

DROP IN EGGS LIKELY SOON

Supplies Increase Rapidly and Packers' Call Is Nearly Over.

Strawberries More Plentiful and Cheaper; Good Choice in Vegetables.

Supplies of everything in the list of edibles are abundant on the local produce market today and prices average up lower.

Though no changes in egg prices have come about, declines are predicted within the next few days as receipts are increasing steadily and the demand from packers is falling off. In the more southerly markets dealers have now largely filled their requirements in that department, but with a cooler brand of weather prevailing up this way, eggs intended for winter use will be put away during the next three weeks. In the meantime quotations stand at 20@22 cents a dozen.

Butter Market Firm.

Butter is firm at 30@32 cents a pound for the best creamery. Good Eastern demand for shipments from the Head of the Lakes is reported by the Bridgeman-Russell company and the Victor Produce company, and from the present outlook, it is thought that refrigerator facilities accorded on the package freight steamers plying between here and Buffalo this summer will be more largely taken advantage of than last year. While the make of butter is showing liberal increases the country over, a new factor in the situation has been introduced in prospects of heavy exports to England this season. Canadian butter has been going forward to Liverpool in quantities of late and inquiries are now being received at New York for the product of American creameries.

Strawberries Are Plentiful.

Strawberries are the big feature in fruits, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company. Berries are becoming cheaper with Arkansas and Tennessee the sources of supply. The quality of the fruit is expected to be exceptionally good this season through the favorable weather prevailing in the South. Oranges are firm on account of navel supplies cleaning up, and the extra demand being met with.

Lemons are steady at their higher range, set two weeks ago, but no further advances are expected as the California supply is much larger than last year.

Ben Davis barrel apples will be cleaned up within a few days, leaving the box fruit only available. The quality of the latter is said to remain uniformly good, showing little shrinkage.

Vegetables Cheap.

All green vegetables are cheaper and more declines are looked for shortly, as variety and receipts are increasing rapidly. Florida tomatoes are now being received in carlots and the market in them is lower. In heavy vegetables, Louisiana onions will be on the market next week. Potatoes are easy at 55 cents a bu for fancy stock, and as farmers' holdings are said to be still large and they are pressing them for sale, the market is likely to be off in them for a time yet.

Quotations in poultry are firm, with slight advances showing in the list. Receipts of live birds are still small and will continue so during the main egg-laying season.

In meats a decline of 1½ cents a pound is reported in pork, but other lines are unchanged.

PRIVATE CARS IN JITNEY SERVICE

Professional and Business Men Hiring Drivers, Says Jitneyist.

Duluth business and professional men are hiring drivers and turning their machines over for regular jitney service.

This is the claim made by a prominent jitney driver, who is of the opinion that at least twenty-five private automobiles are in the jitney service at the present time. The drivers, he said, are paid by the day, working from 8 in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening. In case the family does not use the machine at night and the weather is favorable, the automobile continues in its service, he explained.

"For this reason," said this driver today, "we would like to see a good strong ordinance passed as soon as possible. In that case, many of these owners will withdraw their machines, as they would not purchase a license or take out special indemnity bonds, required by the ordinance."

NEW BRANCH FOR ALUMNI

Plans Made to Organize Association Among the Extension Members.

An alumni association of the University of Minnesota extension division students will be formed in Duluth, following plans made last night at a dinner at the Y. M. C. A. The dinner was given in honor of Prof. C. L. Rotzel, who has been in charge of the accounting classes of the extension division during the last two years.

Starting as the alumni association, the students later will increase their numbers to include all expert accountants in the city, and make the organization one of accountants. A large part of the men who have taken extension work attended the classes in accounting under Prof. Rotzel.

A committee, headed by W. F. Haig of the city water and light department, was named to make arrangements for the establishment of the association, anyone who has attended extension classes during the last two years being eligible.

Extension work in Duluth has narrowed down to an engineering class in West Duluth and the accounting class. The Duluth Association of Office Men will co-operate with the extension students in an effort to have the work continued. The present class, which will finish its work in a few days, numbers thirty-five.

After the dinner last night Prof. Rotzel, in a short address, thanked the students for their support. G. L. Gross responded for the students.

Hoss of Nashville, Tenn., was assigned to conferences during the ensuing year which will take him half way around the world at a meeting of the college of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church here yesterday. He will preside at conferences in China, Japan, Korea, Cuba and Australia. It was said such trips were planned for Bishop Hoss to afford him an opportunity for regaining his health.

WHO'S WEARING A TULIP?

Detectives Search for Despoilers of Gonska Flower Garden.

Who climbed the Gonska back-yard fence, trod upon the tulip patch and marched up and down across the rest of the garden plot?

Burns' operatives are going to solve the mystery, if it can be solved, for, in the words of Walter Gonska, assistant city attorney: "We will find out who did it if these private detectives are any good."

When Mrs. Gonska, who lives at 231 Fifth avenue east, reported the affair to the police yesterday, officers started out upon the trail of the tulip despoilers.

"There are no neighborhood boys who would do it," declared Mrs. Gonska, "and I can think of no persons who might have had grudges against us. From the appearance of the plot, they had deliberately marched up and down, trampling the flowers and ruining the plot we had prepared."

When your baby is cross and fretful instead of the happy, laughing little dear you are accustomed to, in all probability the digestion has become deranged and the bowels need attention. Give it a mild laxative, dispel the irritability and bring back the happy content of babyhood.

The very best laxative for children is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, because it contains no opiate or narcotic drug, is pleasant tasting and acts gently, but surely, without griping or other distress. Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St. Monticello, Ills.

TWIN CITIES MAY APPEAL FROM "GREAT VICTORY"

The Twin Cities may ask the interstate commerce commission for a rehearing on their "glorious victory" in the 83-cent freight rate case. A conference is being held today between representatives of the St. Paul Association of Commerce and the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association to decide on what course to take.

When the decision was handed down a few days ago, the interstate commerce commission sustaining the 83-cent rate and the 21-cent spread as between the Twin Cities and Duluth, the Twin Cities heralded it as a "great victory" for them. In view of that "victory" those less conversant with the policy of the Twin Cities might wonder why the effort to get a rehearing. The fact is that the Twin Cities have been very much fussed for the last two years over the fact that the differential rate between Duluth and the Twins has been raised from 15 cents. Trickett's famous "rock of Gibraltar" spread to 21 cents, thereby putting Duluth in a position to compete with St. Paul and Minneapolis; and have been bonding every effort to have the old spread reduced. The interstate commerce commission flatly refused to make the change in the recent case, even going so far as to make its order more specific so as to include commodity as well as class rates in the decision; and Commissioner Harland, concurring in the opinion of his confreres that the spread should be no less than 21 cents, asserted in dissention that it should be much more to give Duluth justice.

But the "victory" claimed by the Twin Cities was that they escaped as easily as they did. However, as one Duluth man said this morning, there are those down there who "must earn their money somehow," and therefore may urge an application for a rehearing.

"I don't believe, in the first place, that there will be an application made," said G. Roy Hall, Duluth traffic commissioner, this morning. "For after the emphatic stand taken on the matter by the interstate commerce commission in the 83-cent rate case, the chances are all against it, and the Twin Cities have too many shrewd business men to permit such a move, which might open up things which have been kept close so far as which are better for the Twin Cities if they remain closed; and in the second place, I don't think most of the Twin City interests really want a rehearing, for I am reliably informed by railroad men from the two cities that the business men there are well satisfied, especially in their escape from a 90-cent scale of rates with a 28-cent spread.

SMALL GRAINS ARE DOING WELL

Very Favorable Reports Received From Nine More Counties.

Reports from nine more counties in Minnesota, received by Fred D. Sherman, commissioner of immigration, since May 1, show that small grain seeding is practically all done, and in many cases the grain is up from two to four inches. The ground is reported to be in excellent condition, and things look bright at this time for a prosperous year.

The reports are as follow:

Red Lake County.

Wheat is from two to four inches high and is a fine stand. Ground is in fine condition, with plenty of moisture. We have had the finest spring in fifteen years. No farm help is needed at present. More new farmers are coming in this year than usual.

V. M. HIGINBOTHAM, Reporter.

Grant County.

Nearly all small grain in this locality is up and looks well. Ground in good condition, except in western part of county it is a little too wet. No farm help is needed at present. A number of settlers coming in.

TOSTON DYBDAHL, Reporter.

Sherburne County.

Seeding is all done. We have had a very early spring, and everything is more advanced than it has been for years. Pastures are already excellent. If we do not have a killing frost, our prospects will be very good. Some new farmers are coming in.

CHARLES W. CATOR, Reporter.

Freeborn County.

Seeding is all finished. Grain and grass is coming nicely, and pastures are nearly ready to feed the cattle. The weather has been very favorable for seeding spring grains. We have have had considerable rain the last few days.

H. P. HANSON, Reporter.

Lac Qui Parle County.

Grain is all up. Ground is in very good condition, with a trifle too much moisture. Farm help is needed; wages $30 a month. Some settlers are coming in this spring.

THEODORE CHRISTIANSEN, Reporter.

Itasca County.

Practically all oats and wheat seeding is done, and some barley. Ground is in very good condition, with ample moisture. More farmers are coming in than in past years.

OTTO I. BERGH, Reporter.

Fillmore County.

Seeding is all done. Ground is in fine condition, with a great sufficiency of moisture. Farm help is needed; wages from $30 to $35 per month, with board and washing. Quite a number of new farmers are coming in from Iowa.

A. W. THOMPSON, Reporter.

Murray County.

Seeding is practically done, with the exception of corn. Ground is in fair condition, with a little too much moisture in low spots. Farm help is needed; wages $35 per month. More farmers are coming in than ever.

ALFRED TERRY, Reporter.

Nobles County.

Seeding is practically done. Ground is in good condition, with plenty of moisture. With two weeks of dry weather to get seed in, followed by good rains, conditions at close of seeding were never better. No farm help needed at present. A goodly number of settlers are coming in.

W. E. OLIVER, Reporter.

SOME WOMEN NEVER LEARN.

Chicago Record-Herald: "You never put anything where it belongs," he complained.

"Why, are you scolding me again, George?" she replied. "What have I done now that is wrong?"

"Every morning I find my knife and my keys in my right hip pocket. Won't you ever learn that I prefer to wear them on the left side?"

DOCTOR TELLS SAME STORY

Edward Carman Witness at His Wife's Trial for Murder.

Declares It Was Dark When the Shooting Occurred.

Mineola, N. Y., May 7.—Dr. Edward Carman described on the witness stand today, in his wife's trial on the charge of murder, the shooting of Mrs. Louise Bailey in his office in Freeport, June 30 last. His story was identical with that related by him in the first trial. Mrs. Carman, who had prepared to testify in her own behalf late today, followed his testimony closely.

It was dark, Dr. Carman said, when he heard the crash of glass and looking up saw a hand grasping a revolver thrust through the broken window. The state contends that the shooting occurred while it was yet daylight and opposes the theory of the defense that the assailant escaped in the darkness.

Before Dr. Carman was called to the stand, William R. Smith, engineer of the electric light plant at Freeport testified that the street lights were turned on at 8:10 o'clock on the night of the shooting.

WINS DECISION AFTER FOUR TRIALS

Circuit Court Affirms Decree of $28,076 for Granville Burns.

The law's delays have had no terror for Granville A. Burns, homesteader, who has been a party to a suit against the Cloquet Lumber company to recover for timber alleged to have been cut on his homestead. After four trials Mr. Burns was today rewarded by having a decree granting him $28,076.57 affairmed by the United States court of appeals. Circuit Judge Carland handed down the decision today.

The action was to recover the possession of pine and spruce logs or the value thereof in the event possession could not be obtained. On a writ of error the judgment for the plaintiff in the first trial was reversed and a new trial ordered. Mr. Burns was first given a verdict for about $18,000. Later this was raised to the amount stipulated in the last decree.

Attorney William B. Phelps appeared as counsel for the lumber company and Burt F. Lum, assisted by John R. Van Derlip, R. R. Briggs, now deceased, and George P. Wilson were for Mr. Burns.

COUNTY POOR FARM HAS BUSY MONTH

April, 1915, was a busy month for the three institutions maintained by St. Louis county at the poor farm, according to the monthly report of Dr. C. J. Woolway, which was filed yesterday afternoon with A. P. Cook, clerk of the poor commission.

During April, medical assistance and relief was extended to a total of 310 persons. An average of 238 people were cared for daily.

During the month, 106 patients were in the county hospital, of whim forty were discharged, two were transferred to the tuberculosis pavilion and four died. In the almshouse were 153 inmates, of whom twenty-eight were discharged, one transferred to the tuberculosis pavilion and one died.

Fifty-one patients were cared for in the tuberculosis pavilion. During the month, three were discharged and three died. April started off with a total population of 248 dependants and ended with a population of 231 at the three institutions.

REPORT ON CROPS BY GOVERNMENT

Condition on May 1 Compared With That of Last Year.

Washington, May 7.—Interest in the May grain report of the department of agriculture, issued today, centered in the winter wheat crop which was planted last fall on the most extensive area ever seeded with that cereal, but which owing to unfavorable conditions showed on Dec. 1 a condition below the ten-year average. The crop came through the winter fairly well but the Hessian fly was reported in several sections, giving some apprehension.

The winter wheat area sown was 41,263,000 acres, an increase of 4,135,000 acres over that harvested in 1914. Estimating on the April 1 condition, the crop reporting board last month calculated in its first report of production prospects that the crop would be 619,000,000 bu, or 15 bushels an acre.

Details of the report, showing conditions as of May 1, follow:

Winter wheat: Area to be harvested 40,169,000 acres, compared with 41,263,000 acres sown last fall and 36,008,000 acres harvested last year.

Average condition, 92.9 per cent of a normal, compared with 88.8 on April 1 last, 95.9 on May 1 last year and 87.4, the ten-year May 1 average.

The condition is indicative of a yield per acre of approximately 17.3 bu, assuming average variations to prevail to harvest time. On the estimated area to be harvested, this would produce 693,000,000 bu. The out-turn of the crop will probably be above or below the figures given according as the change in conditions from May 1 to harvest is above or below the average change.

Rye: Condition 89.8 per cent of a normal, compared with 89.5 on April 1 last, 93.4 on May 1 last year and 90.6 the ten-year May 1 average.

Meadow (hay) lands: Condition 89.8 per cent of a normal, compared with 90.9 on May 1 last year and 88.6 the ten-year May 1 average.

Hay: Stocks of hay on farms May 1 are estimated at 8,468,000 tons, or 12.1 per cent of last year's crop, against 7,832,000 tons, or 12.2 per cent on May 1 last year, and 7,969,000 tons, or 11.9 per cent the five-year average on May 1.

Pastures: Condition 87.2 per cent of a normal, against 88.3 on May 1 last year and 86.4 the ten-year May 1 average.

Spring plowing: Was 78.3 per cent completed up to May 1, compared with 70.9 on May 1 last year and 68.0 the ten-year May 1 average.

Spring planting: Was 65.3 per cent completed up to May 1, compared with 56.4 on May 1 last year, and 54.8 the nine-year May 1 average.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Mayor's Office, City of Duluth.
Duluth, Minn., May 7th, 1915.

In view of the fact that the week of May 9th to 15th has been selected as "Clean Up and Paint Up Week" for the City of Duluth, I deem it both fitting and proper that special emphasis should be laid on the movement here, and we should strive to set an example worthy of emulation by all cities in the country.

Now, therefore, I, W. I. Prince, Mayor of the City of Duluth, do proclaim and set apart the week as above designated as a "Clean Up and Paint Up Week" for said city.

I urge that every citizen of Duluth devote at least a portion of said week to this "Clean Up and Paint Up" movement. Every lot and lawn should be cleaned of all rubbish, old boxes, cans and debris of every kind should be taken away; garbage hauled off; all insanitary places cleaned.

Flowers should be planted; houses and everything needing it should be painted, and everything possible done to make our city more beautiful, healthy and sanitary.

I hereby call on every citizen to do his duty in this matter, to the end that the health and happiness of our people may be conserved, and our splendid city beautified.

W. I. PRINCE,
Mayor, City of Duluth.

PLANTING FIELDS IN EAST PRUSSIA

Difficult Problem That Government Is Trying to Solve Now.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Koenigsberg, Prussia, April 10.—One of the most difficult problems that the government of East Prussia is trying to solve is to get the frontier districts of the province, recently occupied by the Russians, planted in time for this year's harvests. The agricultural lands in question can produce 1,000,000 tons of grain; and the authorities are planning and working to get them under cultivation and so contribute toward keeping up the country's supplies.

The obstacles to be overcome, however, are great. Most of the population are refugees in other parts, and their homes were so generally destroyed that some of the most important regions have not yet been declared open for the return of the refugees. In others the inhabitants have come back, and the inflow continues.

Not only the people, but the horses of the provinces were scattered to the four winds. It is the most important horse-breeding region in Germany; less than 110,000 head were kept in the devastated districts. A small part of these were saved by taking them to more distant parts of the country; and these animals are now being brought back to the deserted farms. Horses captured from the Russians and animals from the German army that are no longer able to do the heavy military work are being pressed into service in planting the fields. But the supply of plow-horses is not near great enough, and motor plows and harrows are being extensively used.

Russian prisoners have been set to plowing in larger numbers, and German soldiers are to be furloughed to some extent to assist in farm work. Field Marshal von Hindenburg has promised that the military authorities will do everything possible in this way to get the fields planted. The provincial authorities have gone about the solution of this problem with characteristic German thoroughness. Under their auspices committees have been organized in the various districts to take in hand the revival of agriculture. These have a fund of some $7,000,000 government money at their disposal, which is to be distributed among the farmers at a fixed rate per acre planted.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Knox-Burchard Mercantile company, respondent, vs. Hartford Fire Insurance company, et al., appellant—

1. In an action to recover upon fire insurance policies issued to plaintiff by the several defendants, it is held that the findings of the trial court that defendants waived an arbitration of the loss is sustained by the evidence.

2. There was evidence tending to show a depreciation in value of the insured property between the date of purchase and the time of the fire; plaintiff claimed that there was no such depreciation and tendered evidence of the amount of the loss upon that basis. It is held that the evidence was competent, and the admission thereof was not error.

3. If there was in fact a depreciation in value defendants had the right to a submission of the question to the jury for consideration in determining the amount of plaintiff's loss, but no request to so submit the question was made. There was therefore no error upon the issue of the measure of plaintiff's recovery.

4. The court did not err in holding that certain expert witnesses were competent and qualified to express an opinion upon the issue of the damage to the property.

5. The insurance policies covered a stock of goods—clothing and men's furnishing goods; it is held, that if the insurance companies had the right to replace the damaged stock, they should have promptly given notice of an intention to replace, and that by failing to give the same and demanding an appraisement of the loss, the right of replacement, if it existed at all, was waived.

6. Plaintiff did not forfeit its rights under the policies by removing and disposing of the damaged goods, having first given defendants a reasonable opportunity to examine the same, of which opportunity advantage was taken by them.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Diamond Iron Works, appellant, vs. City of Minneapolis, respondent—

1. Section 768, R. L. 1905, providing for the service upon municipalities of a notice of claim for damages, as therein stated, applies to an action for injury to private property occasioned by the negligence of the municipality.

2. The rule applied in Megins vs. City, 97 Minn. 23, was abrogated by the general revision of the statute in 1905.

3. Sec. 1786 et seq., G. S. 1913, though it fully covers the subject of notice in actions against municipalities, does not apply to this case for it was enacted subsequent to the time this cause of action arose.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

TODD COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

Peter O. Scow, respondent, vs. William J. Gutchess, appellant—

Section 629, G. S., 1913, authorizes an election contest although neither of the two opposing candidates for a county office could be declared elected by the canvassing board because the returns indicated the same number of votes cast for each.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

In re application of Henry F. Balch, et al., to vacate portions of St. Anthony Park—

Section 3369, Rev. L., 1905, as amended by chap. 503 L. of 1909, deprives the district court of the authority to vacate or alter the public streets or alleys in the city of St. Paul, since the charter of said city provides a method for vacation of streets dedicated to the public by the city authorities under the first proviso of said section as amended.

The title of chapter 503 L., 1909, does not so limit or restrict the act as to exclude the subject of vacation of plats or streets.

Nor is the act open to the attack of making an arbitrary classification of municipalities in that it excepts cities of the first-class having a special charter from its operation, for, irrespective of the proviso, such cities would not have their special charters repealed or affected by implication.

Order affirmed. HOLT J.

WINONA COUNTY.
Judgment Reversed.

Felix Cisewski, appellant, vs. Mary Cisewski, et al, respondents—

Plaintiff and defendant are husband and wife and owned in equal shares a common fund of which the wife had the custody. Without the husband's consent or knowledge, the wife used this fund in the purchase of real estate. Plaintiff elected by this action to follow the property in its substituted form and to claim a half interest in the property so purchased. It is held:

(1). On the facts as found plaintiff had the right to follow the property in its substituted form and to judgment declaring him to be a half owner therein.

(2). Having elected this remedy, and the facts entitling him to it, the court had no discretion to deny the relief asked and to elect for plaintiff the remedy of a personal judgment secured by lien on the property.

Judgment reversed with directions to amend the conclusions of law and to grant judgment for plaintiff as asked in his complaint. BUNN, J.

BROWN COUNTY—
Order Affirmed.

Robert Lambrecht, respondent, vs. Otto Schreyer, appellant.

1. Striking a horse driven by another, from malice, wantonness, or recklessness, so that the driver is injured, is an assault.

2. One who whips up his own horses to great speed and passes the team of another, driving near and yelling loudly, if such acts are done recklessly and in such manner as to be likely to produce injury, and so that they do cause injury, commits an assault.

3. Contributory negligence of plaintiff is no defense to a civil suit for assault.

4. The testimony showed that defendant struck with a whip a horse plaintiff was driving, causing plaintiff's team to collide with a stump. Plaintiff, his wife and three children were thrown or dragged from the vehicle. A daughter who was not hurt jumped out. As she did so, and while defendant was still shouting, gesticulating and flourishing his whip and looking towards them, and while she was frightened from the occurrence, she said to her mother: "Schreyer struck our horses." Held no error to receive this statement in evidence as a part of the res gestae.

5. In a civil action for assault it is competent to prove threats of violence made by defendant against plaintiff two years and four months before the assault. Order affirmed.

HALLAM, J.

Order Affirmed.

Nicholas Koltes, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, a corporation, appellant.

It is held in this case, following Watre vs. Great Northern Railway company, 149 N. W. (Minn.), 18, that the evidence is sufficient to sustain a finding that the acts of defendant caused a discharge of surface water upon plaintiff's land under such circumstances as to cause damage and to render defendant liable therefor.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Evidence Sufficient.

H. G. Lidell, et al., respondents, vs. Henry J. Peters, et al., defendants, Auguste Peters, appellant—

1. A deed granting a perpetual right-of-way over a homestead is invalid unless signed by both husband and wife.

2. A conveyance of the homestead, or a portion thereof, executed by both husband and wife as required by statute, may be reformed by correcting a misdescription of the property intended to be conveyed thereby.

3. Evidence examined and held sufficient to sustain a finding that both husband and wife agreed to grant the right-of-way in controversy, and that it was omitted from the deed by mutual mistake.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

LAKE COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Mette L. Arnold, appellant, vs. James A. Bolger, trustees, et al., respondents, Joseph Viseneaux, et al., defendants, Joseph La Fortune, appellant—

Where the defendant in an action to determine adverse claims is a resident of the state, and has a record title in which his surname appears somewhat different from his true name, but such that from it he could be found and served within the state, jurisdiction cannot be acquired of him by publication.

Orders affirmed. DIBELL, C.

YELLOW MEDICINE COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

John Bowe, appellant, vs. Benjamin Cole, et al., respondents—

One of the defendants, the owner of an undivided third in a certain tract of land, conveyed to the plaintiff by deed the absolute right for a period of five years to take and remove from a certain tract of land all the sand he might wish and find use for, together with the absolute right of entry for such purpose. The value of the interest acquired by the plaintiff is alleged to be $1,500. It is held that the plaintiff does not have "an estate of inheritance * * * or for years" enabling him to maintain an action of partition within G. S. 1913, Section R. L. 1905, Section 4392.

Order affirmed. PER CURIAM.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Order Reversed.

Attilio Castigliano, administrator, plaintiff, vs. Great Northern Railway company, respondent, Henry F. Greene, intervener, appellant—

The plaintiff's intestate was killed in Minnesota, while in the employ of the defendant, under circumstances giving a cause of action for his death. He was domiciled in Missouri and a general administrator was appointed for him there. Afterward the plaintiff was appointed special administrator in Minnesota, and the intervener, as his attorney, commenced suit under the Minnesota death by wrongful act statute. Afterward the general administrator appointed by the Missouri court settled with the defendant. Later the plaintiff was appointed general administrator by an order of the probate court in Minnesota. Upon appeal the order of the probate court was reversed. It is held that the intervener upon the commencement of the cause of action had a lien for his compensation as provided by G. S. 1913, Sec. 4955, R. L. 1905, Sec. 2288.

Order reversed. PER CURIAM.

LINCOLN COUNTY.
Appeal Dismissed.

State ex rel School District of Lincoln county, et al, respondents, vs. County of Lincoln, et al, appellants—

An order of the district court denying a motion to dismiss certiorari proceedings instituted to review the action of the board of county commissioners in apportioning school funds under Section 2686 G. S. 1913, is not appealable. Such an order does not involve the merits of the proceeding, not prevent a hearing or judgment upon the merits.

LETTERS OF SOLDIERS

Russian Woman Finds Out What the Soldiers Really Think.

Cossack's Pen Picture of Himself—One Asks for Trousers.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Petrograd, April 10.—More than 300 letters from Russian soldiers have reached a prominent Petrograd woman in response to a note which she enclosed in a large number of hampers of food which she sent to the front a few weeks ago. She had expressed a desire to get some letters from the front which would show what the ordinary Russian soldier really thought, instead of the stereotyped letters of thanks with which the soldiers ordinarily acknowledge gifts from persons of higher social station. Accordingly she signed the notes which she enclosed with the names of her three maid servants, making it appear as if these young women had slipped the notes into the hampers surreptitiously. The receivers were asked to reply to these maid servants and tell them how they were faring in the war.

The plan worked well. Fifty of the replies are to be published in book form shortly. Several soldiers replied in verse. Several made love in pretty, fanciful style. Only one letter out of the whole number was offensive.

A Cossack sent the following pen picture of himself.

"I want to tell you what a Cossack looks like. He is not handsome, no, indeed! Yet he looks like an eagle, and whether the foe he meets be German or Austrian, he will beat him like an eagle. A Cossack is small, but brave. Small is the grain of gold, yet of great value. So is the Cossack, in his gray coat and waist held tightly in a leather belt. However hot the firing, he will not drop his gun, but will ride his brave horse and arrive in time, wherever he may be sent."

A scout tells of a reconnoisance from which he has just returned, "the moon shining as clear as if it were daylight and the Germans firing at us constantly and doing us much harm." He adds:

"Let my letter fly from the German land to the metropolitan town. I bow to you, Sister Katinka. I am a hero from the River Don, fighting for our religion and our country. You and your friends listen to the holy bells calling the Christians to service. We here hear only the roar of the cannon and the rattle of the German machine guns."

Wants Pair of Trousers.

From Orenburg, comes a prettily worded appeal for a pair of trousers: "My dear friend Katia—I hasten to inform you that I am in good health and all is flourishing with me. I am well, and my horse is well, and for you I wish the same good health, and accept my deep devotion, and let me bow to you. Against my will, tears coursed down my cheeks as I read your letter.

"I have a humble request to make of you. I do not ask for tobacco, for I do not smoke. But, if such be your kindness, pray send me an old pair of riding trousers, of which I am very much in need. If you have a divine spark of love for the soldiers who are defending their country, do not refuse what I ask."

One of the letters in poetry is roughly translated as follows:

"Greeting from all the hero soldiers!
We shall end the war in glory
For the Russian colors.
And through the streets of Berlin
Shall march the Russian regiments
With the Giant at their head."

The Giant is a favorite soldier's name for the Grand Duke Nicholas.

FIGUREHEAD INQUIRY.

Bismarck, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The navy department is expected to make inquiry of the officials of North Dakota why about a third of the figure head of the United States battleship North Dakota, loaned to the state for exhibition purposes, has been sold as junk. It is charged locally that about 1,000 pounds of the bronze making up the figure head, the total weight of which is about 3,000 pounds, has been disposed of as junk.

Inquiry has been made at Washington and the records there disclose that the figure head was only loaned to the state.

COLONEL NOT INTERESTED

Roosevelt Reads Greek Poetry While Witnesses Testify.

Testimony Given to Show Waste in Execution of Orders.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 7.—A mass of testimony designed to show that there was waste in the execution in Albany of orders and contracts for public printing was presented in the supreme court here today, by counsel for Theodore Roosevelt. Charles M. Winchester, general manager of J. B. Lyon company, testified to talking with William Barnes about billing work ordered by the Journal company direct. Mr. Barnes, he said, wanted the bills sent to the Journal.

Colonel Not Interested.

Col. Roosevelt apparently was not much interested in the evidence presented. While the witnesses were testifying he sat at the table occupied by his counsel and studiously read Greek poetry.

When court opened Charles M. Winchester, general manager of the J. B. Lyon company of Albany, was called. He produced certain checks asked for by John M. Bowers, chief counsel for Col Roosevelt and a transcript of the ledger account of his company, with the Journal company from 1903 to 1912. He explained that the only entries were charges against the Journal company for work done for that corporation. He said the transcript showed all commissions or discounts allowed to the Journal company. The witness added:

Gave Journal Discount.

"I did not intend to say on the witness stand that we paid a commission on all public work we did. In intended to say we paid commissions on work not let under contract. We gave the Journal a trade discount."

"Did you not," asked Mr. Bowers, "pay the Journal commissions on certain work brought to you?"

"Yes."

"And did you on occasions bill direct to the state?"

"Yes, sir."

In response to other questions the witness said Mr. Barnes had told him on one occasion that all work should be billed direct to the Journal company.

The witness said the board of supervisors once returned a bill of the J. B. Lyon company, as the order for a printing job was not given to that corporation. So, declared the witness, the bill was sent to the Journal company.

GERMANS HOLD HILL NO. 60

Statement Says All Attempts to Wrest It Away Failed.

Declares British Suffered Heavy Losses in Vicinity of Ypres.

Berlin, May 7, via London, 4:20 p. m.—The German general headquarters staff today gave out the following statement:

"In the western theater: All attempts of the English at Ypres to wrest away from us Hill No. 60, which since April 17 has formed the focus of fighting, failed. We gained further territory in the direction of Ypres. During the battles there yesterday the enemy lost seven machine guns, one mine thrower and a large number of rifles and ammunition.

"During a continuation of their attack this morning the British again suffered further heavy losses.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle we maintained the fortified territory gained in the Meuse hills and southwest and west of the forest of Ailly.

Held by French.

"At Flirey, a small portion of a trench forming part of our position still is in possession of the French. Otherwise all their attacks were repulsed.

"Attempts of the enemy to make an attack on Steinbrueck, in the valley of Fecht, was quashed at the start by our fire.

"In the eastern theater: The battles to the south of Szadow and east of Roscinie, ended in a decided defeat for the Russians who suffered heavy losses. In prisoners alone they lost 7,500 men and are in full retreat.

"South of Kalwarya, south of Augustowo and west of Przasnysz, part of the attacks were repulsed by us with sangulinary losses. In these battles, the Russians lost altogether 520 prisoners.

"In the southeastern theater:

Complete Success.

"The battles on the right bank of the Lower Dunajec ended yesterday in complete success for the allied troops. The enemy is engaged in the quickest possible retreat toward the east. Only a small division of the enemy on the Vistula holds out.

"Further to the south we advanced on the right bank of the Wistoka river in the direction of Wislok and across the Jasliska. Many times parts of the right wing of the army under Gen. Von Mackensen came in touch with the Russian column coming from the Carpathian front, west of Lupkow pass. The Russians are hastily retreating before the closely following Austro-German troops. With every step forward our booty increases."

WHEAT SUPPLIES ALARMINGLY SHORT

Northwest Stocks Not Sufficient to Cover Milling Requirements.

The extent of stocks of wheat and other grains in elevators and farmers' hands in this country is the subject of considerable speculation in the trade. Opinions are expressed that stocks will be found much smaller than generally supposed after present export requirements have been taken care of, and that the market position of old wheat is, therefore, very bullish.

Charles E. Lewis & Co. have the following comment on the visible supply question from their Chicago correspondent:

"On May 1, 1909 (the so-called Patten year), the visible supply of wheat was 29,625,000 bushels. This year the visible supply is 26,439,000 bushels. The totals are not radically different, but the distribution of the remaining stocks is very different, and this difference is highly significant as an indication of the ownership and probable disposition of the wheat on hand in each of these years. In 1909, only 2,545,000 bushels, or 8 per cent of the total visible, was stored at the seaboard or at Buffalo or on the lakes in transit to the seaboard. This year, 11,580,000 bushels, or 44 per cent of the total, is similarly situated. These seaboard stocks largely represent wheat already sold for export and simply awaiting ocean freight room, and this year there is nearly five times as much wheat so held as there was in the Patten year, out of a total visible more than 3,000,000 bushels less than that of 1909.

"In 1909, stocks at Duluth and Minneapolis on May 1 were 21,544,000 bushels, or 73 per cent of the total visible, but this year these points have only 10,726,000 bushels, or 40 per cent of the total, with a considerable part of that being loaded out for seaboard shipment this week. The difference between the two years is that in 1909 the bulk of the wheat visble at this date was in the Northwest, while this year the heavy stocks are at the seaboard already sold and awaiting shipment, while Northwest stocks are apparently below milling requirements between now and new wheat. Our visible supply of wheat has been reduced to very small proportions, and is the smallest in many years except in 1910, when it was 211,000 bushels less. The significant thing, however, is not so much the smallness of the stocks as the relative rapidity with which it has been disappearing. Between Jan. 1 and May 1 this year our visible stock has decreased by 46,422,000 bushels, from 72,861,000 to 26,439,000 bushels. In 1911 the decrease in the same four months was 16,677,000 bushels; in 1910, only 1,510,000; in 1909, the Patten year, 22,134,000 bushels, and in 1908 it was 18,163,000 bushels. These are the only recent years in which the May 1 visible supply was anywhere near the present figure, and it is to be noted that the rate of decrease this year was tremendously greater after Jan. 1 than in other years of short supply despite larger primary receipts."

CLOQUET PASTOR IS TRANSFERRED TO DULUTH

Cloquet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father Francis T. Schultz, for the past two years pastor of St. Casimir's Polish Catholic church, will leave tomorrow for Duluth, where he will have charge of the St. Peter's and Paul's Polish church, 2406 West Fifth street. Father J. F. Cieminski, former pastor of the Duluth church, will go to Minneapolis. A successor to Father Schultz is expected to arrive within the next week.

Fargo Curfew Ordinance.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new curfew ordinance that will entirely prohibit children under 16 from being on the streets after 9 o'clock at night, has been introduced by Police Commissioner Dahl, the old curfew ordinance being regarded as ineffective.

SATURDAY GOING TO BE CLOQUET CLEAN-UP DAY

Cloquet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday will be official clean-up day, as designated by the city council. The greater number of the people have already cleaned up their premises, but a few have so far neglected this duty, and tomorrow is the day fixed for finishing the job.

The movement was started by the Commercial club, and the sanction of the city council was secured. Then the school children were enlisted in the warfare, and tomorrow many of them will help in the final cleaning up.

Each child and many of the adults who are engaged in this work are wearing a button bearing the slogan:

"Clean up, paint up. I will; will you?"

The grade pupils of the city schools wrote essays on "Clean-up Day," and these were scored by Rev. J. G. Ward, vice president of the Commercial club. The three high places were awarded to Arthur Wilson, eighth grade, and Audrey Armstrong and Helen Johnson, both seventh grade girls.

A BLESSING.

Washington Star: Walter Damrosch, the musician, has a horror of the crude musical amateur.

At a luncheon in New York Mr. Damrosch said politely to an old lady: "Your daughter doesn't sing any more!"

"No," said the old lady. "Since the birth of her two little girls, Mary has been so occupied that she's had to give up her singing."

Mr. Damrosch sighed.

"After all," he said, "children are a great blessing, aren't they?"

Society - Women's Clubs - Music - Drama

AT THE meeting of the Woman's council held this morning a resolution that the Woman's council refrain from indorsing candidates in municipal elections was lost by a small margin.

Those in favor of the council's refraining from taking part in politics maintained that the power of the organization would be lessened if the women tried to take a hand in the election and appointments of city officials. Those opposed to the resolution thought it unwise to make a rule that would place a restriction upon the council for the future. The statement that successful candidates, who had not been indorsed by the council, would not favor suggestions made by the council was met by the statement that the council should be broad enough to co-operate with the successful candidates whether it had indorsed them or not.

The statement by those in favor of excluding politics from the Woman's council that indorsing a candidate was politics, but that making suggestions and asking for municipal improvements was not politics, was met by the statement that the distinction between politics and what is not politics is too fine a line to be followed.

Reports Presented.

As Bentley P. Neff, who was to have spoken on clean-up and paint-up week, was unable to be present the rest of the time was devoted to the reports from committees.

Mrs. A. A. Kerr, the corresponding secretary, reported that a letter had been written to Dr. William E. Mentzer, chairman of the dentists' association, thanking that body for its work for the dental clinic in the public schools and promising the co-operation of the Woman's council. She also reported that a letter had been written to Representative Edward R. Ribenack in behalf of the bill for a work farm for women, the bill having passed both houses since the letter was written.

Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, the president, announced that Mrs. O. A. Oredson, Mrs. C. R. Keyes and Mrs. Vaughn had been appointed members of the committee on streets and alleys.

Mrs. W. W. Lawrence reported on the meeting of the advisory committee the duty of which it would be to advise the new city commissioners, provided the commissioners wished to accept the co-operation of the committee. Mrs. Lawrence reported that a committee was appointed from those at the meeting and that the matter of reducing delegates from each civic organization from one to two was under consideration.

In behalf of the Duluth Woman Suffrage association Mrs. Lawrence invited the members of the Woman's council and their husbands to attend the talk that will be given by Mrs. Edgar Loyhead of Faribault tomorrow evening in the library clubroom.

Dental Clinics.

Mrs. C. J. Le Sure, chairman of the dental clinics committee, reported that the dentists have begun examining the oral cavities of school children, and that the conditions showed the urgent need of a clinic. Two dentists conduct the examinations at each school. As an example of the length of time the dentists are devoting to the work, mention was made that two of them, each working three hours, examined the teeth of seventy-four children.

Mrs. J. T. Watson said the luncheons at the Irving school had been going along regularly, and that the Housewives' league would continue serving them until the close of school. Forty children are served each school day at a cost of $20 a week. This work shall have been carried on three months by the time school closes. Mrs. Watson spoke of the co-operation of the principal of the school, Miss Laura MacArthur, who has noticed an improved condition in the children since the Housewives' league introduced the luncheons.

Miss Edna Meeker explained that the Associated Charities had not engaged a visiting housewife, whose salary was to have been paid for six months by the Associated Charities and the Woman's council, because a large and wealthy organization had considered meeting the expenses. However, no action was taken by the organization, and now the matter is being considered by another organization the name of which she did not feel at liberty to tell.

Clean-up Work.

Mrs. M. R. Baldwin urged the members of the council to begin their work of clean-up week early, as wagons will be in great demand to carry away rubbish, and the number of them may not be able to meet the demand.

Mrs. Kerr spoke of Mother's day, urging that the plan be followed of writing to mothers so the letters would be received on this special day.

Mrs. Fred Sermon was appointed chairman of the poor farm committee to succeed Mrs. F. L. Barrows.

Mrs. P. L. De Voist, Miss Frances Earhart and Miss Mabel Culkin were appointed representatives from the council to attend the meeting of the school board that will be held tonight.

Girls' Quint Hostesses.

Central Team Gives Party to About Eighty Friends.

The members of the Central high school girl's basket ball team, which recently concluded a successful and undefeated season, were hostesses at an informal party given Wednesday evening in the school gymnasium. About eighty girl friends of the team were present. The evening was passed in dancing and games. The feature of the event was the novel costumes worn by several of the girls. Refreshments were served, and everyone present expressed so much enthusiasm over the event, that it was decided to make it an annual affair. The party was chaperoned by Miss Armstrong, who coached the girl's team last winter, Miss Taylor, Miss Jennie Waite, and Miss Ringsred.

Will Give "Open" Party.

Central Students Expect Large Attendance at Dance.

The second and final open dance of the Central high school social season will be given tomorrow evening in the corridors of the school building. This dance is participated in by all of the classes, and two of them are given during the year. Each class also, gives one closed dance or party, participated in only by members of the class. This is the final dance except the annual Junior-Senior ball. The Junior-Senior ball will be given on the evening of Thursday, June 17.

The committee in charge of the dance tomorrow evening is the same that had charge of the first one, Dec. 19. Each class sends two representatives, beside the presidents. Those of the committee are: Seniors, President Robert Zuger, Townsend Hoopes and Margaret Johnson; Juniors, President Willard Thorp, Norman Tufty and Mildred Wall; Sophomores, President George Lawson, Max Goldberg and Roberta Ritchie; Freshmen, President Frank Walsh, Agnes Ewell and Benton Stearns.

A marriage license was issued today at Chicago to Miss Ella Anderson of that city and Herbert D. Affleck, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Affleck of 113 Lake avenue north. The bridegroom was formerly a resident of Duluth.

Library Clubroom Is Redecorated

Duluth clubs have been without a home temporarily while the library clubroom was anticipating clean-up and paint-up week and undergoing its spring cleaning, but the work of varnishing the floor, scrubbing the chairs, repainting walls and rehanging pictures has been completed and the room will be used for the first time tomorrow night, when Mrs. Edgar Loyhead of Faribault will address the Duluth Woman's Suffrage association.

The library clubroom is the most popular place for the meetings of women's organizations and even though the regular club season has ended the closing of the room for the last week has shown just what a great convenience it is as one meeting was postponed on account of it and other meetings have had to be held in other buildings.

West Duluth W. C. T. U. Meets.

"Clean Living and Quick Thinking," with Mrs. E. J. Aman as leader, was the topic discussed at the meeting of the West Duluth W. C. T. U., held yesterday afternoon in the clubroom of the West Duluth library.

Mrs. Aman spoke of prominent persons of exemplary lives; Mrs. Joseph Cochrane read a letter of greeting from Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scoville of Minneapolis, superintendent of college work, and Mrs. B. H. Smith read "A World View of Alcohol and Narcotics" that appeared in the Review of Reviews.

Mrs. Cochrane in a talk on "Moral Reform," said that as long as the liquor traffic was regarded by the world as only a moral issue, comparatively little progress was made in temperance reform, but since it has been shown that business interests require men of clear minds, ready in any emergency, progress has been rapid.

Mrs. Gladys Stoller Swanstrom, with Mrs. Fred Robinson as accompanist, sang "Dear Heart," "Awake" and "At Dawning." Mrs. T. B. Jones, Mrs. A. G. MacAuley and Mrs. T. F. Wieland were the hostesses.

Wear Colors That Suit You.

Washington Star: Every woman owes it to herself to know, in a general way, the colors which are best suited to her. Few persons have a true idea of color. To correct this fault secure a sample book of colors and shades, such as manufacturers have for distribution, and with these as a guide identify the colors, tints and shades found in the common things, such as a stone, a dried leaf or a board. The new colors, such as battleship gray, putty and sand, are related to these things of earth.

Color in woman's dress, however, should never be made a question of fashion. The tones of a shade may vary or be influenced by the development of fashion, but what is becoming is the chief thing. To contrast colors harmoniously one important point should be followed. No two colors should be used in combination unless each one contains at least one similar color in its composition. Care should be taken when blending shades of any color that the shades are of exactly the same tone. Colors may be called by the same name, but the variation of the tone is infinite. White has the effect of brightening every color with which it is combined. Black has the contrary effect.

In order to choose colors to suit each individual certain characteristics, such as the color of the hair, eyes and complexion, must always be considered. These three points must be considered as a whole or together, because color may contrast well with the hair and yet give a most unfortunate effect with the complexion. There are two usual types—fair hair and blue eyes and dark hair and dark eyes. These two types vary widely in degree. The color of the fair hair is usually the result of a mixture of red, yellow and brown, one of these tones being more or less pronounced. The average must therefore be considered to be a soft tone or orange brown. The color of the skin is always of a lower tone than the hair except in the red parts, as the lips. Blue eyes are really the only parts in the fair type which form a point of contrast in color, while the dark-hair type usually shows the harmonies of contrast. Dark eyes, eyebrows and hair contrast more strongly with the skin than in the blonde type. As a rule the dark type has less red than the fair.

The colors that suit both blonde and brunette are those that produce the greatest contrast. Blue, which is the accepted becoming color for blondes, is a complement of orange, which color is the basis of color of their hair and complexion, whilst for the brunette type the colors that are most becoming are yellow and red and all the tones in which red and yellow, in various portions, predominate, as these are the basis of the colors of the hair and skin. It is by the study of such simple rules that the most common mistakes in dressing may be avoided.

Suggestions for Remodeling Last Summer's Gowns

New York Times: These are the days which the poets laud and the people meet with resignation, but not always enthusiasm. Housecleaning, moving to the country, making clothes for the hot weather, debating on the vacation that must be arranged now, battling with the first hot days, are thinks that are not pleasant to think about, much less meet. The lucky woman may find it possible to alter some of the gowns of last summer—if they were new then—but she will find even that task not to her liking.

If she had saved the gowns of a decade ago she would have better luck. If she could open the closets and she could find gowns from 1860 and 1870 in the attic and bring them back into freshness she would have a pleasant and successful task, but to take a hobble skirt of last summer and convert it into a circular or a melon-shape, or an accordion-plaited Lois Fuller affair, needs more than a dressmaker; it needs an optimist who has the qualities of a magician. It would take Aladdin's lamp, a mathematician, and a civil engineer, is the way one sewing woman put it yesterday.

In going over the season's wardrobe it is best to stake one's chances on the wide skirt staying with us until July or August. There are dressmakers who are prophets, and who say that we shall probably wear the full skirts for two or three years at least. There are others who say it will be out of fashion by midsummer. The only way to be even partly safe is to compromise on moderate width with a leaning toward fullness.

If your last summer skirts had long tunics the remedy is easy. That truism has been repeated over and again for two months. The added fact that the new skirts, both pleated and circular, have wide bands of a different fabric and sometimes of a different color at the hem, gives one even more hope for successful alteration.

Pleating is in high demand and the knife-pleated tunic, therefore, which was considered as an unfashionable garment, can be made into a skirt by the addition of a deep band. It may be of satin if the skirt is of cloth or cloth if the skirt is of silk. No one objects to these combinations nowadays.

Then there is the question of the long sleeve to be answered. Suppose the gowns of last year, also the coats, had three-quarter sleeves—what then? Fortunately, fashion has brought about the use of double sleeves. The upper part is opaque, the lower part transparent; therefore one can add chiffon or muslin, net or lace to a short sleeve and bring it down to the wrist. These lower sleeves are very often full as well as transparent, and they are finished at the wrist with a velvet bracelet and a narrow ruffle. All these details are good to remember when you are up against the task of altering sleeves.

Painting Hints for Clean-up Week.

Portland Oregonian: Before painting any surface be sure to remove all dust or dirt.

Before applying the second coat of paint carefully putty all nail holes, cracks, etc.

Do not add dryers or japans to hasten the drying. They are injurious to the paint.

The last coat should be thinned, if any thinning is necessary, with pure raw linseed oil only.

Never paint in frosty weather or over a glossy surface. Under such conditions paint will crawl and not dry properly.

Old paint which has peeled or becomes badly cracked should be burned off or removed with some standard paint and varnish remover.

Do not try to paint over a wet surface, or in damp or foggy weather. Moisture frequently causes blistering, cracking, scaling and similar troubles.

Plaster, brick or stone work, on account of absorption, should be sized or primed with a coat of special primer, prepared for the purpose.

If some old paint is hard and smooth, the new paint will not penetrate or adhere, and the surface should therefore be made rough with coarse sandpaper.

Always stir the contents of the can well before using; in fact, the paint should be poured out of one can into another and thus thoroughly mixed. This is important.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

First Impressions Not Always Best.

Are first impressions best? While they may not convey the true measure of the men and women and affairs which absorb our attention from time to time for one reason or another, they unquestionably play leading parts in the world of achievement. If one fails on first acquaintance to make the desired impression where a position or a business deal rests in the balance, one is quite unlikely to be given opportunity to make a good impression of any kind whatsoever.

And yet first impressions are not always the best ones. This has been proven numbers of times. Only the other day a man who employs a number of people was relating some of his experiences in matters of this kind. He had occasion to change bookkeepers and there were several applicants for the place. Believing himself to be a fairly good judge of humanity, he selected a young woman who was neat and trim in appearance, alert and smart, and yet not bold. He bore with her incompetency for two weeks and was then forced to let her go.

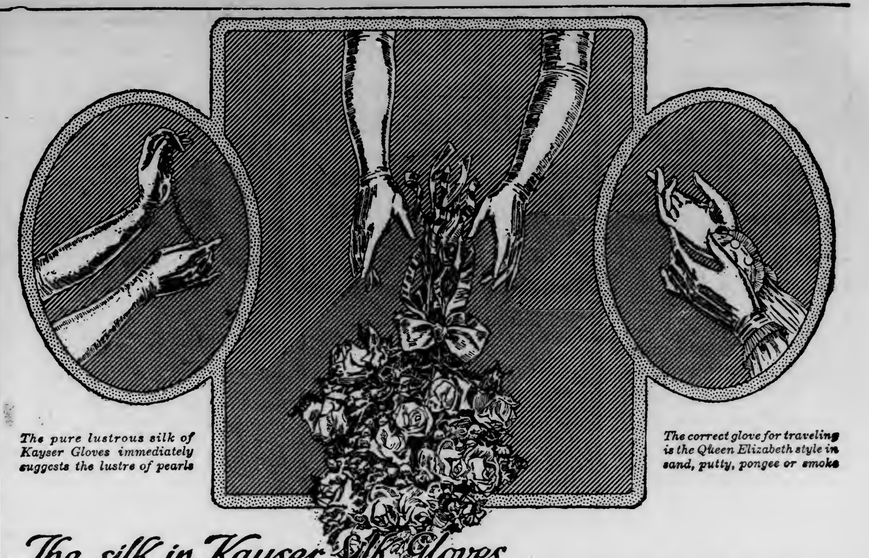
He chose a second girl and hoped that she would fill the position satisfactorily. This girl was a bright talker, well groomed and came well recommended. She lasted no longer than the first girl. So they came and went, and no one seemed to fit exactly into the little niche in the man's employ.

Finally he sent for a girl who had been recommended to him by a friend. He had talked with her before and had not been well impressed. In relating his experience to me, he had made much of the fact that this girl had a large grease spot on a prominent part of her coat sleeve. He did not think there was the least excuse for it. But to make a long story short, he employed her, and now sings her praises to the sky.

"What about the grease spot?" I asked him. "It isn't there," he replied, "and do you know that I believe that that particular grease spot was acquired on the journey to my office. She is as neat as a pin and in every way the sort of a woman that any sensible sort of a man likes to have in his employ."

So much for first impressions, I thought to myself. However there are many conditions and circumstances that create a wrong impression when one is striving with all his might to make the right one for which one cannot be blamed. Timidity, embarrassment, over-confidence, a too well-groomed appearance, or lack of personal neatness are stumbling blocks or assets as the case may be.

Though first impressions are not the real and lasting ones always, it is a good rule to make a favorable impression at the start.



The pure lustrous silk of Kayser Gloves immediately suggests the lustre of pearls

The correct glove for traveling is the Queen Elizabeth style in sand, putty, pongee or smoke

The silk in Kayser Silk Gloves is the reason for their lasting

More women wear them than all other silk gloves combined. Millions of women and twelve thousand dealers prefer Kayser Silk Gloves not merely because they are the best known gloves in Europe and America but because they have found out from actual experience that:

Kayser Silk Gloves wear so much better The very foundation of Kayser Gloves—the Kayser Silk—is pure and strong. Fine workmanship alone could not make Kayser Gloves wear longer if the silk itself were not right. In 30 years of silk spinning, we have learned how to make use of a heavier pure silk thread (no weighting) without interfering with the delightful coolness of the gloves. You therefore get a silkier glove but not a heavier one. This makes Kayser Silk Gloves wear so much longer that millions of women have learned that the one thing to look for in a silk glove is the trade-mark "Kayser."

Modeled perfectly, they heighten the beauty of the hand and arm Notice especially the shape of Kayser Silk Gloves, and how gracefully they fit the hand.

The beauty of their appearance lasts, because the purity and strength of the Kayser Silk resist stretching. Even after they have been washed, their lustre and fit are unimpaired.

Kayser Silk Gloves cost no more than the ordinary kind; two clasp are always 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and up; twelve and sixteen button lengths are always 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and up.

The name "Kayser" is always in the hem and with each pair is a guarantee ticket that the tips will outwear the gloves.

RETAIL MERCHANTS INDORSE THE HERALD'S STAND AGAINST A BUSINESS PARASITE

The Duluth Herald,
Duluth, Minn.

Gentlemen:

The Duluth Retail Merchants association, in regular session at the Holland hotel on the evening of May 4th, had its attention called to your refusal of an advertising order reported as coming from a trading stamp concern.

This extremely fair attitude taken by one of our papers, particularly commends the paper to the attention of the retail merchants of this city, especially the unselfish and unannounced attitude attending the always fair consideration given all problems affecting retail concerns by your paper. The trading stamp or coupon outfits are, as you know without going into detail, simply an additional burden added to the cost of doing business, and from which the consuming public have never received any real benefits.

This question is now attracting prominent attention in most of our large cities, and the attitude against such practice of using trading stamps seems to be very general. It is only a matter of a short time before this question will be treated in this state in a legislative way, and until such time as the proper legal control can be secured and the general public thoroughly informed as to the actual facts about trading stamps, largely through the columns of your paper, and until such time as all problems affecting our community in which the merchants and consumers alike, share the responsibility, it will indeed be our pleasure to co-operate with you in making for a bigger and better Duluth.

Again thanking you and assuring you of our most earnest desire for your future success, we are the unanimous expressions of Very sincerely yours,

DULUTH RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION,
GEORGE M. PETERSON,
Secretary.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Billie Burke in "Jerry."
ORPHEUM—International vaudeville.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
REX—"Snobs," photoplay.
ZELDA—"The House of Bondage," photoplay.

Miss Billie Burke will be seen at the Lyceum tonight and tomorrow, appearing in "Jerry," the comedy in which she scored a success at the Lyceum theater, New York, last season and in which she has been playing to crowded houses everywhere this season. This is the first American play Miss Burke has had and it is said to be the best in her repertory. Catherine Chisholm Cushing wrote it for her. It tells an amusing story of the adventures of a lively Chicago girl in a quiet Philadelphia subrub. The dialogue is bright and witty and the situations are entertaining. It is in this play that Miss Burke wears the pink pajamas that caused a sensation in New York.

BILLIE BURKE AT LYCEUM.

The Baldwin Players left for Cloquet this morning and will be seen there tonight in "Fine Feathers," returning to open Sunday afternoon in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

The following editorial appeared in the New Orleans Item:

"Someone has said that the character of a nation is expressed in a large degree by the music it loves. If this be true America is not an altogether bad place and our civilization will stand the test of time. In these days of ragtime melodies, sentimental trash and too much inferior music it is occasionally refreshing to hear the songs beloved by those of other days.

GRAND OPERA AND VAUDEVILLE.

"With the nation gone mad over animal dances, grotesque steps, bordering on the sensual, accompanied by jerky music, we are prone to comment on the decadence of the age. If you feel pessimistic, however, regarding the future, step over to the Orpheum some night this week and hear Mme. Jeanne Jomelli sing 'Home, Sweet Home' and 'Annie Laurie.' This gifted woman, late of the Metropolitan Opera company, has taken a flyer into the 'two-a-day.'

"Would that more of these golden-voiced opera stars place their talents where those of us who cannot afford to attend grand opera could hear them."

The new show that opened a weekend engagement at the Grand yesterday offers several attractions that are out of the ordinary and are unusually entertaining. Both vaudeville and photoplays have real merit.

NEW SHOW AT THE GRAND.

The Angel sisters, two engaging young misses, well dressed and clever, offer a program of popular songs and dances that win for them a cordial welcome.

Duncan and Holt, blackface comedians, strange as it may seem, offer a line of comedy that is new, and they deserved the rousing welcome given them. Their parodies, too, were unusually clever.

A corking good comedy sketch, "What Else Could He Think?" brought forth uproarious applause. The casting Lamys, four in number, did many startling and hazardous aerial gymnastic turns.

"The Reaping," a feature film in three reels with Bryant Washburn and other noted film stars, is the best film attraction seen at the Grand in some weeks. It is a play with much heart-interest and has a peculiarly significant bearing on family relations. "Strictly Neutral" is a humorous film play showing how a lot of servants of different nationalities were pitted against each other when the European war broke out. The Hearst-Selig News Pictorial shows many interesting news events of the week.

"May Blossom," coming to the Rex Friday and Saturday, was Mr. Belasco's first Eastern success. Written by him two or three decades ago, it is still called by many his greatest play. It was one of the first dramas produced in New York that ran at one theater for more than a year—a record in those days nothing short of phenomenal.

"MAY BLOSSOM" AT THE REX.

Its tender romance, its frank presentation of problems familiar in domestic life and its thrilling military aspects of the great national struggle, combine to make this one of the most appealing of plays.

"The House of Bondage" at the Zelda theater is playing to capacity even in this rainy weather. Only two days remain to see this production, today and tomorrow, and Sunday will bring a new show at the Zelda, including the fourteenth episode of the "Exploits of Elaine," and a feature production in three parts, as well as comedy. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday a war picture will be shown with scenes right from the firing line, and with this a two-part Charlie Chaplin comedy. Children will not be admitted to the Zelda until Sunday.

"The Christian," the massive and splendid photoplay in eight parts, of Hall Caine's great book and play, which is to come here for one entire week, starting next Monday, May 10, to the Lyric theater, contains 500 scenes and presents 3,000 people during the course of its action.

When first played in New York city by Miss Viola Allen and Liebler & Co.'s original cast, the demand was so great that ticket speculators sold seats at $5.

PARTY FOR C. E. SOCIETIES.

Y. M. C. A. Will Give Entertainment for Young Folk Saturday Night.

The social committee of the Young Men's Christian association is making preparation for the social to be given tomorrow evening to the Christian Endeavor societies of the city. A committee of twelve has been at work for nearly three weeks to make this event a success. A series of interesting games and contests, fake races and other features of a similar nature have been planned.

One of the principal features of the evening will be a May pole dance made up of representatives of the various societies. There have been several rehearsals for this event and the way the rehearsal was conducted last night gives indication that this will be a very pretty performance. Edward Johnson is in charge of the decorations. Refreshments will be served, and a reception committee will be in charge of all the young people who attend. More than twenty young people's societies have been invited, and it is expected that there will be a large number present.

HAMBURG HARBOR IS NOW DESOLATE

Huge Vessels Tied Up and Great Bonded Stores Closed.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, April 10.—A vivid picture of Hamburg and its fine harbor in war times is given by the Tagliche Rundschau. In normal times it is one of the busiest seaports in the world, "the commerce-laden shipping thronging the docks and the broad face of the Elbe, funnels smoking, sirens shrieking, machinery creaking, life swarming around the wharves and storage houses."

Now, however, says the writer, the harbor of Hamburg is desolate. "The gulls search in vain for their food, the thickest fog calls forth no warning signals, the cold spring sunshine falls on no smoke or rushing steam, the gates of the great bonded stores are closed, and grass grows in the flagged courts.

"In the pre-war days all roads led to the harbor; now these roads are desolate, and only a wanderer here and there denotes that some isolated individual still takes an interest in the vast area of the harbor. Wherever one looks, the hulls of huge vessels and their gaunt smokestacks are seen, thick steel cables fastening them to anchors in the Elbe mud or to the shore. Not a flak or pennant flutters from their mastheads, not a solitary sailor gazes over their sides, no call comes from an officer on the bridge. Here and there you see an old sailor on deck as caretaker. His younger companions are all away at the war.

"It is sad to look at those giant hulks with the paint peeling off them. You look at their names and are sorrowful. Over there is a magnificent South American liner, an imposing Colossus with her three funnels. There was a time when she proudly sailed down the Elbe to the ocean, her bands playing, thousands on shore waving her their adieus. Now she lies still as the grave, fastened immovably by her iron chains.

"On the other side of the river at Kuhwarder lie the serried ranks of the Hamburg American liners, tier on tier of them, their sides scraped and unsightly. We are told that they are all that managed to get home in time. In other great docks and along stretches of quay are the tall, graceful masts of the sailing ships, dry forests of them, dead forests without a sign of life.

"But behind the waterways and in many other places a thousand machines and grinding wheels are singing a song of busy preparation. In the great docks and shipbuilding yards there is a mighty hammering piercing the stillness of the harbor. From countless chimneys smoke and compressed steam issue forth day and night. Secretly, mysteriously awakening terror, this goes on, contrasting curiously with the deadly stillness of the stream. One's thoughts go forth to the coasts of England and to what will happen there soon as a result of the activities behind those high bulwarks and in remote corners of the town. One looks and listens, and remembers that curiosity is out of place here."

AMERICANS LISTED IN CANADIAN CASUALTIES

Ottawa, May 7.—Names of several privates with addresses in the United States were listed in the casualties for the Canadian contingent, issued by the military department last night. All are listed as wounded. Included among the names are: Harley Haskin, Detroit; Thomas Nicholls, Reading, Pa.; William Fraser, Chicago; A. W. Robertson, Seattle and Bernard Frank Lanfers, 1618 Northeast Fifth street, Minneapolis.

Last night's list comprised about 200 names, mostly those of wounded privates. The only officer reported killed in the announcement was Lieut. James T. H. Nasmyth of Janesville, Ont.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF NEATNESS.

Did you ever notice the difference in the way you feel toward yourself when you are compelled to go around in a shabby suit, and when you go abroad neatly clad from heels to head?

Remember the time when you were pretty well down and out, and had to go around looking for a job in a suit of clothes that you wouldn't do your gardening in now? You were licked before you started. You anticipated as you entered the door the refusal that sent you, cowed, out of it again.

There's a lot in that feeling. When Uncle George lent you the money for a new suit you braced up, tackled that job-hunting with a new courage, and quickly got on your feet again.

Did you ever stop to think that your home surroundings work in much the same way?

They do, whether you realize it or not.

Here's where "Clean-up Week" gets its relationship to the psychology of neatness.

If your home is in repair and not in need of paint; if your home grounds are clean and well kept; if your lawn is green and sightly and your yard neat and orderly: then your home environment ministers to your self-respect and to your own judgment of your decent place in the community.

But if, on the other hand, your home surroundings are like that shabby suit of clothes that made you feel like a tramp, then Clean-up Week, when everybody is turning a new leaf, will be a good time to change them, and thus give your self-respect a new lift.

By sprucing up the home grounds, you can spruce up your self-respect at the same time; and both are well worth while.

One thing not brought out at Syracuse is whether THE Colonel considers that the contributors to his campaign fund got their money's worth.

THE PEOPLE ARE ADVISORY COMMISSION ENOUGH.

Though we are absolutely certain that the plan of creating an advisory commission as a sort of intermediary between the city government and the people is thoroughly well meant, we are equally certain that its formation would be a mistake and that it would prove a failure in practice.

Therefore we do not believe that such an organization should be formed.

In the first place, the commissioners are elected by the people, are responsible to the people, and should deal DIRECTLY with the people. There is no organization or group of organizations comprehensive enough to embody public sentiment or to stand in the place of the people themselves.

The discussions and mental processes and acts of the city commissioners will be clearer if they are dealing directly with the people than they can be if they are confused by the assiduities of an intermediary which is certain to be more or less unrepresentative.

The civic organizations are indispensable vehicles for shaping public sentiment, but they would be of less value, no more, under the advisory commission plan than they are now. They, too, should drop this awkward arrangement as quickly as they can.

More than half the people belong to no civic organization whatever, and would be entirely unrepresented in the membership of this board. Even by taking in all the organizations available, the board could only be partially representative of public opinion, and it might very easily run counter to the majority of the people.

Again, it is a hazardous thing indeed for any organization, whether it is the Rotary club, the Commercial club or the trades assembly, to delegate to any one man the right to speak for it in a quasi-public forum where important public issues are to be discussed. Few organizations would do that; yet whether they did or not the utterances of their representatives would be taken as the voice of the organizations that selected them. That might often prove embarrassing to the organization itself, and confusing to the city government and the public.

No intermediary, no semi-official advisory board, is needed. There isn't the slightest difficulty about having the city commission deal directly with the public that elected it and to which—and to which alone—it is responsible in the last analysis.

Moreover, aside from inevitable confusion, there is even danger in the plan. It is not inconceivable that some of the organizations might get careless in their selections of representatives, that some of the representatives might get careless about putting public interest higher than private interest, and that footless squabbles, if not scandals, might result.

The advisory commission plan is well meant. We are entirely certain about that. But it is a complication, not a simplification, and is much more likely to be a hindrance to the city government than a help. It has no place in the commission plan of city government, is utterly foreign to it, and we do not believe it could ever prove to be of public value.

The commissioners have been polite about the plan, but they must not forget that the whole people elected them, that it is the whole people whose work they are doing, and that it is the whole people for whose approval and applause they must work. The more directly they deal with the people, therefore, and the less they let themselves be bothered by "intermediaries" or self-selected spokesmen for the people, the better off they will be—and the better city government we shall have.

This new verb "to rockisland" isn't so radically different in meaning from the phrase "to rock the boat."

TO HELP BUSINESS, NOT TO HINDER IT.

The purpose of the Federal trade commission, which time will prove to be one of the mightiest achievements of the Wilson administration, is not to hinder business, but to help it—not to shackle business, but to free it.

That was made clear by a speech recently delivered before the Industrial club of Chicago by Joseph E. Davies, chairman of the commission, and the manner in which this statement is being reprinted by trade journals and commented upon by business men of breadth and insight shows that business, big and little, is beginning to see the possibilities in this new government function.

Mr. Davies declared that the government, through the Federal trade commission, is extending help to big and little business throughout the country, and he announced that in foreign trade the commission "is willing to permit American business men and corporations to organize, if it is necessary to meet the competition of other countries."

The fact is that while the apparently accepted policy in this country is to discourage combinations beyond the danger line, in going into foreign markets American industry finds itself confronted by the competition of government-fostered combinations, especially in Germany. A senseless adherence to the narrow doctrine of forbidding combinations of any kind would render American industry impotent to meet this competition.

That the spirit and power of the new trade commission are broad enough to enable it to co-operate with American industry to meet these conditions is mightily encouraging, and Mr. Davies seems to have made this clear at Chicago. Said he:

> Since the war has cut off the supply of dyestuffs, men have come to Washington and asked the government if they would be protected from German competition if they invested their money in factories.
>
> IT WOULD BE A CONFESSION OF WEAKNESS IF THIS COUNTRY COULDN'T MEET SUCH A CONDITION AND STILL BE TRUE TO THE PRINCIPLES OF DEMOCRACY. If we cannot meet this problem we are unfit to hold positions. The Federal trade commission is for the purpose of meeting such problems.

This highly important statement shows that the Federal trade commission and its chairman are on the right track.

The revolution in world trade brought about by war has opened to this country the widest opportunities for trade expansion—opportunities that contain tremendous possibilities of profit to American capital and labor. These opportunities are not to be realized by sitting idly in the hope that they will fall into our laps. They must be reached for, striven for. The conditions that surround the trade we seek must be reckoned with and met. American enterprise is equal to that task if it is to be helped, not hampered, by government authority.

And Mr. Davies makes it clear again, as President Wilson has made it clear time and time again, that it is the purpose of the government to free business, not to shackle it—to help it, not hinder it.

That business men are seeing this, are appreciating it and are getting ready to avail themselves of the co-operation thus freely offered, augurs well indeed for the future prosperity and industrial stability of the country.

When a Mexican announces his intention of trying a shot at Villa, the coroner at once begins filling in blanks for a "suicide" report.

WHAT IS THIS?

> Whether an effort to obtain a rehearing on the Duluth lake and rail cases will be made by the commercial organizations of St. Paul and Minneapolis probably will be decided at a joint conference of committees of the Association of Commerce of St. Paul and the Civic and Commerce association of Minneapolis at Minneapolis at 10 a. m. tomorrow.—St. Paul Dispatch.

What is this? Here the Twin Cities have just won what their newspapers proclaimed to be a tremendous victory over Duluth and the railroads, and already there is talk of asking another trial!

Can it be that the consciences of the Twins are uneasy over getting a greater victory than they were entitled to?

Or wasn't it such a victory for the Twins after all?

Duluth, you know, claimed a victory, too — ONLY DULUTH HASN'T EVEN THOUGHT OF ASKING FOR A REHEARING.

If the Northwest has been confused by these conflicting claims, maybe this little item from the Dispatch will enlighten it.

> "But what good came of it at last?"
> Quoth little Peterkin.
> "Why, that I cannot tell," said he;
> "But 'twas a famous victory."

That war gas stuff will be a real treasure to the sport writers. F'rinstance: "Matty's gas bombs put Jiggs to sleep and not even a shift of the wind came to save the next batter from the same fate."

THE CITIZENS' STAFF.

The name of the Citizens' Staff has come to involve a play on words. It is at once a staff of aides to help the veterans in their Memorial day exercises, and a staff upon which the veterans have come to lean in their declining years.

So it is as much a patriotic duty to belong to and support the Citizens' Staff as it is to honor the veterans and give due solemnity to Memorial day. In fact, it is the same thing.

The Citizens' Staff is appealing to you to help it help the veterans. It wants you as a member, not only to contribute the dollar a year which membership involves, but to take part in its work. That's an appeal that ought not to go unheeded.

This statement, and the fact that J. E. Horak of the Northern National bank is treasurer of the Staff and receives subscriptions toward the $400 needed to provide suitably for the Memorial day observance, should be word enough to the wise and patriotic—both of which, of course, you are.

Those war gases would be uncommonly handy at the time of a primary election.

BIRD HOUSES AND HUMANITY.

On May 15 the prizes offered by the Duluth Humane society for the best bird houses made by school children will be awarded.

It is to be hoped, for many reasons, that the young people are striving mightily for these prizes.

It will be good for them—good because work is good, because this inventive and constructive work is particularly good, and because the humane ultimate object of it is better than all.

It will be good for the community because it means hospitality to the birds, and Duluth needs the birds—for their companionship, for the example of their joy in living, and for their indispensable alliance in the war against the insect plagues of garden and farm.

Then there is the ever-recurrent question whether Mr. Barnes's character would be a real bargain at fifty thousand dollars.

Shall the Daughter Toil?

Elizabeth M. Walker in the Boston Globe.

For the unmarried daughter of the house, who is almost entirely dependent upon her parents for support, as well as for the girl who works and pays whole or partial expenses in actual money, there is always a restless period of vague questioning as to what is right and best for her to do. If she is a thinking girl, these questions become more complex, for no decision can be made by comparison with other cases, as each decision must necessarily depend to a great extent upon existing economic home conditions.

Though it is perhaps a very simple matter for both parents and daughter to decide upon the most pleasing arrangement, they may not agree upon the more vital subject—what is best and most expedient. It is not easy for parents to realize what is exactly best for their children, for the reason that their innate parental desire—to give to and to sacrifice for their own—blinds them to other exigencies.

It has been a generally accepted fact that an able bodied young man who would allow parents of only moderate means to support him after he had finished his schooling and should be at work, was not a type of the highest manhood. With girls, there has been, and probably always will be, in spite of the ever increasing cries for equality of the sexes, a different standard.

Very often girls who really desire to be a help to their parents prove rather a hindrance. This is particularly true in the case of a girl of 18 living in a small town in Central Massachusetts, near Worcester. She had noted that her two brothers, after completing their high school course, went away to the city and found employment. They relieved the father, a fireman, of the burden of their support, but as the proportion of income which had been expended on these boys was then diverted to a younger boy of 8 years and a new baby, there was practically no increase of surplus. This girl, the only daughter in the family, wishing to help, obtained a situation as a local telephone operator. Out of her weekly wage of $7 she paid to her parents $5 a week for her board and room, and kept $2 for her own pocket money, which she expended usually for soda, candy, stamps and little feminine accessories. Her parents continued to purchase, as formerly, the greater part of her clothing.

At first it seemed to both parents and daughter that the $5 paid for board and room was an actual increase of weekly wage, with no corresponding increase of expenditure for food or shelter. Soon, however, the entire family life, to the economic detriment of the home, was reorganized; and simply on account of the daughter's attempt to "help." First the girl discovered that she must have a larger quantity of waists, skirts and other clothing for office wear than was required at home; also that more frequent laundering of garments required a more frequent replenishing of wardrobe. The purchase of suitable clothing was no small item of increased expenditure, and the laundering detracted from the mother's former efficacy of service.

Of course, the daughter did not realize this, or the fact that when she was "too tired to help with the dishes" at night, and unable to "lend a hand at the housework" on Saturday morning, she only added burdens to her mother's already overloaded shoulders.

Finally the father, seeing that his wife could not care for the younger children, do the work formerly shared by the daughter, and still remain in proper physical condition, hired a housework girl to assist her. Although her wages were not the equivalent of the weekly return from the daughter, so that there still appeared to be a gain in actual cash income, the maid's waste of food brought the added expenditure caused by her employment to even more than the added income received from the daughter.

Parents and daughter were all ignorant of this state of affairs for some months, for they had not kept household or other accounts. After a neighbor suggested the reason for the weekly loss, the mother awoke to the fact that the daughter's working had not only broken up the intact family life, but had been a cause of decreased surplus. Not wishing to rob the girl of her feeling of partial independence, however, and with the parental desire to keep the children in the home as long as possible, they said nothing to her on the subject, and she continued her work at the telephone office. Had she known of the financial situation she would probably have tried to become entirely self-supporting and would have gone away from home for the trial. This the parents did not think best for her or for themselves.

There is too much of mutual selfishness of this nature in homes all over the country. Parents and older children, if they only realized their own economic value to one another in the family group, would keep a family account book, discuss all home problems together, and together prevent bodily, mental and economic waste by mutual agreement and decision on the best course of action to take.

The War on Trading Stamps

New York Post: A few days ago Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, announced that in the future they would not sell any merchandise which included profit sharing coupons. Coupons packed with merchandise do not in any way add to the value of such merchandise. The adoption of this policy has called forth expressions from retailers decrying the practice of giving profit sharing coupons, mileage coupons, and in fact, all manner of premiums and trading stamps.

Many retailers as a result of a vast experience, express themselves in no uncertain terms as to what their opinions are regarding all manner of premium and stamp schemes. Among many communications on the subject received, Marshall Field & Co., call attention to the following:

A big concern in Peoria indorses the movement in this manner: "Your attitude toward profit sharing coupons is so favorably received by us that we hasten to commend you in all sincerity, and to express the earnest desire that all manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, etc., will go and do likewise."

From Muncie, Ind., a prominent merchant writes: "In reference to trading stamps, this is nothing more than a curse to the neighborhood or town that they operate in. They increase the cost of living, and do no good to any one, merchant or customer, and help no one but the stamp concerns themselves."

One of Milwaukee's most important concerns is of the opinion that it would be a great blessing if a radical stand could be taken whereby all premiums, gifts, etc., be abolished.

A large enterprise in Quincy, Ill., has written to a number of prominent firms from which they are accustomed to buy, informing them that they would not handle their goods in the future if they engaged in the profit sharing business, and have instructed their buyers not to select goods that come with coupons.

One of the largest department stores in Indianapolis has notified all manufacturers that it will not handle merchandise if profit sharing coupons are contained therein.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

Lifted from Diary:

In the old-fashioned school geographies in use twenty or twenty-five years ago the state of Colorado, as I recall the circumstance, was marked on the map in a sort of greenish brown. And that is precisely the color of Colorado as seen from the train—a greenish brown, the brown being the granite that forms the warp and woof of Colorado and also the mountainous spinal column of the American continent.

As you proceed up one of the main streets of Colorado Springs one of the things you are likely to notice is a pretentious establishment that looks like a fashionable club building—but it isn't. On closer examination you note that the place is an undertaker's plant. Presently you see another undertaking shop de luxe and you wonder if these elaborate places are the leading industries of Colorado Springs.

But this notion is soon dispelled, for you cannot go far without meeting one or more residents of Colorado Springs who will give positive assurance that the climate there is the finest in the world—so advantageous in fact that it is needless and altogether absurd for anybody to die.

Colorado Springs has more millionaires, acre for acre, and population for population, than any place. At least, that is the city's proud boast, and there seems to be no one prepared to stalk up and say it nay. And not only are there more millionaires in Colorado Springs but there are more different kinds of millionaires than you can find elsewhere in a corresponding area of population. You drive out the principal residence streets from one given point to another and you pass the homes of some thirty-seven millionaires, as nearly as I can now remember the statistics. Of that number, many were pronounced millionaires almost simultaneously with the doctor's announcement of their arrival. Others became millionaires by marriage and a few qualified by gradual process. But the great majority of millionaires in Colorado Springs are millionaires because of the circumstance of being brought into sudden contact with a gold mine over Cripple Creek way. You hear of men who became millionaires first and learned to read and write afterward.

Quick wealth is full of whims and temperament, inclined to do funny things and have its own way. A Colorado Springs multi-millionaire took a room at the leading hotel in Denver one night a few years ago, and behaved in a manner that caused him to be ordered away. He went away quietly enough, but he went to a lawyer's office and within half an hour had arranged to buy the hotel. Then he discharged the manager and returned to his room.

Old Gen. Palmer, who built the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, did not make his money as suddenly as a number of the others, but he nevertheless acquired notions of having things just the way he wanted them. When he built a big house on his landed estate near Colorado Springs he desired an old-fashioned tile roof, and, furthermore, he wanted the roof to be a real antique. He went over to England, bought a castle with the kind of tile roof he had in mind, had the tile taken off, and shipped it in boxes to Colorado Springs, where it was placed on his house.

The consequence of so many millionaires of one kind and another in the community is that money counts in Colorado Springs. No one ever frets himself over how a person acquired his fortune. The main question asked by the exclusive set is not how did he get it, but has he got it.

Two different weather theories seem to abound in Colorado Springs. One man told me that it would not warm up until more of the snow had melted off the mountains. Another declared that snow would not melt off the mountain sides until it warmed up.

Cripple Creek, the world famous mining town near Colorado Springs, is still chuckling over the municipal retort it handed to Julian Street. When that writer was doing his series about various American points of interest under the title of "Abroad at Home," he visited Cripple Creek, and as the say is, "wrote it up." Most of his article, however, was devoted to Mason street, the main thoroughfare of the tenderloin section of the city. The populace of the mining town resented Street's article as giving undue emphasis to a feature of the city that they preferred to regard as one of the lesser attractions. So the city council changed the name of Mason street. It is now officially known as Julian street.

The Soused Reporter.

Baltimore American: The chorus last evening was all that it could ever be desirable for grand dramatic and devotional renditions. The trivialities of modern opera do not belong to opera itself. They are in fact parasitical in character and growth, and ought to be remedied by abolition. For the church proper the plain-song of the Gregorian chant is much suitable, and the florid music of the services should be left to the light vaudeville stage as its proper portion in human feeling and expression. Both opera and oratorio are the offspring of the chant, while all forms of sham and burlesque are naturally claimed by the profane world as its peculiar property, apart from a church feeling.

The Wharves of Slumber.

Upon the wharves of Slumber
I watched the Ships of Dreams
Come sailing in through mist and moon,
With glowworm lights and gleams.

Their holds were stuffed with plunder
Of every land and time,
With Ophir gold and gods of Greece,
And scraps of ancient rime.

Pastils of Cretan henbane,
And bales of Yemen silk,
With cassia buds and sandalwood,
And Oman pearls like milk.

And slaves, both men and women,
Most fair to look upon,
Whose chanting made the breeze to blow
That swept the Dream Ships on.

I had the pick and taking
Of every cargo there—
The spice and gold, the gems and slaves,
And myrrh and pearls and vair.

But while I stood debating
What thing to take and choose,
A voice cried, "Lo! the good ship Dawn
Draws in across the dews."

And all the Dream Ships vanished,
And left me wide-awake
To think of many, many things
It had been mine to take.

Northern Minnesota, Land of Opportunity

Too Bad They're Not.

Warroad Pioneer: Those who speak of Northern Minnesota going dry are not always talking drainage.

Fine Dairy Country on Range.

Virginia Virginian: Co-operative creameries have been paying propositions in other parts of the state, but few farms had been started in the range country until the present time.

George P. Grout of Duluth, manager of the Jean Duluth farm, was a visitor in the city recently. He owns the best farm herd in the state and knows dairying from A to Z. He pronounced this country as especially well adapted to dairying. This new move on the part of Embarrass farmers should set an example for the other farmers of the range. Let's watch it and if the farmers of this community are as progressive as we believe they are, they are going to make a record which it will be wise for others to follow. This step will be one of the foremost the range has ever had for agriculture.

Promises to Excel in Dairying.

Bemidji Pioneer: Other parts of the state will have to watch Northern Minnesota as a dairy country, for it promises to take the lead, not only for this state, but for the whole Northwest in dairying. The cut-over country is particularly adapted to dairy farming and each year the farmers are learning more and more the value of the cow. Creameries are springing up in many places, in fact just as fast as the number of cows in a community indicates that sufficient business can be provided. Bemidji is bound to be the center of the dairying industry, and before many more years have passed.

Looks Like Record Year.

Sunbeam Sunbeam: The farmers are taking hold in earnest this spring to make this a record year for Northern Minnesota. The land is in fine condition for seeding, and this fall will see a record breaking crop for Pennington county. Those who lack seed, are being given assistance to obtain it by our local bankers, and they will see to it that any honest man who is financially unable to procure seed grain can obtain it, as the people are united to make this the record breaking year. Don't sit down and talk hard times, but get the grain into the ground, and have something to sell this fall that will bring you the cash.

Northern Minnesota Weather Ideal.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: We are now experiencing typical Northern Minnesota weather, and you would have to travel a long way to meet up with anything that will compare with it. It puts new life into everything that it comes in contact with; it will put a smile on the face of a chronic grouch, when everything else fails. The weather—spring, summer, fall and winter—in Northern Minnesota is a tonic that will add years to the life of everyone.

Especially Up This Way.

North Branch Review: The man who is a possessor of a piece of land has the game in his own hands. There is no promoter or stock gambler who can jeopardize his investment. Where it is purchased with judgment, land is always worth the money paid for it, and it is bound to increase in value. It cannot be destroyed or carried away. It requires only industry to make it profitable and productive. It constitutes a source of independence in any condition of the money market and amid all the mutations of speculative enterprises.

They Will Be Enlightened.

Hutchinson Leader: The entire legislature has been invited to tour Northern Minnesota the first week in June traversing the state twice from East to West, viewing many interesting places and familiarizing themselves with the vast and varied interests of the great empire to the north. There are some members who have not realized that they were at St. Paul to legislate for anything larger than a township. It may enlarge their range of vision to take a trip like this.

The Lord is at hand.—Phil. iv, 5.

The apostle reminds them of this fact—that the Lord is nigh, standing close to them, beholding not only their outward conduct, but their inner disposition—as an incentive to their forbearance. "Let your moderation" or gentleness "be known unto all men." You will be tempted sometimes to assert your rights, to defend your character, to stand up for your reputation. Well, remember you have put all this into the Lord's hands. Leave it there. He is at hand to look after your interests. Both the example and the presence of the Master will help us at such a time.

"The Lord is at hand"—In the sense of presence, not of coming. Cf. Ps. cxix, 151; cxviii, 6, "Thou art near, O Lord," where the Greek is the same. And for the spiritual principle, see Ps. xxxi, 19, 20; cxxi, 5. Not that the deeply calming expectation of the Lord's approaching return is excluded from the thought here, but Ps. cxix decides for the other as the leading truth. (Bishop Moule on Philippians.)

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

PRIVATE CHAUFFEURS AND JITNEY DRIVERS

To the Editor of The Herald:

A hidden angel who signs himself "Chauffeur" plaintively and querulously asks through your columns why Commissioner Merritt does not hurry to the aid of him and his 60-horse power limousine and rush through an anti-jitney ordinance without consideration. The writer takes this occasion contrary to his rule to whisper in his trembling ear that perhaps Mr. Merritt is taking a little pains to perform his public duties in the interests of a large majority of the people of the city as he seems to have been doing in the past. Slow down a little, Mr. Chauffeur, with your sixty, when you drive through the streets with or without your master or mistress, as the case may be, and don't cut in ahead of the humble jitneys at sixty miles an hour as you are wont to do, and you will be safe. It also might be less dangerous for the rest of the people.

For thirty years, at least, the writer has been instructed in season and out of season by the knowing ones, that "competition is the life of trade," that it furnishes incentive, prevents breaking up the home and has really a positive religious influence and he was beginning to believe all that has been told him. He feels now that it is a sad state of affairs to see this budding hope and trust in the knowledge of the wise ones summarily blown out of him by the explosion of a mere jitney bomb on a street car track.

THANKS OF CLUB.

To the Editor of The Herald:

At the last meeting of the Bishop's club, Tuesday evening, May 4, a vote of thanks was extended to the press for the excellent manner in which all notices had been handled during the year. Sincerely yours,

WANTS MAN FROM FORCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What the citizens of Duluth need is protection. We need no toys, we need good and efficient police and a good chief of police and we should be able to select him from the present good and efficient force. This officer should be selected from the present force and they should be granted the privilege of having a choice in the selection of their chief. No one is so competent to fill a position as a man on the job that has had the experience.

A PUBLIC-SPIRITED CITIZEN.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"A Man's A Man for a' That," from Louis D. Kovach of Aurora.

"The Battle of Blenheim" from Ole Asbjeld of Nashwauk.

Requests have been received for the following: "To Mary in Heaven" and "Mary is a Grand Old Name" from "A Constant Reader."

A Man's a Man for a' That and a' That.

Is there, for honest poverty,
That hangs his head, and a' that?
The coward slave, we pass him by,
We dare be poor for a' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Our toil's obscure, and a' that;
The rank is but the guinea stamp,
The man's the gowd for a' that.

What though on hamely fare we dine,
Wear hodden gray, and a' that,
Gie fools, their silks, and knaves their wine,
A man's a man for a' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Their tinsel show, and a' that;
The honest man, though ere sae poor,
Is king o' men for a' that.

Ye see yon birkie, ca'd a lord,
Wha struts, and stares, and a' that;

Valuable Item For Men

Health and strength hitherto unknown will be felt surging in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized as never before if the following special treatment is followed by those men, and women, too, who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams of direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspect it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit forming drugs whatever:

The treatment consists of (3) three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and widely prescribed and dispensed by physicians and well-stocked pharmacists. Full directions for self administration now accompany each tube. It is claimed that these tablets possess the most wonderful tonic-invigorating powers which can soon be experienced after taking them. —Advertisement.

HEALTH TALKS
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Clews

IN a great crime mysery it is considered good practice to go to any expense or trouble in following up a reasonable clew, but it is not considered wise to try every known criminal on the mere chance he might be found guilty. There are too many hundreds of criminals.

In a desperate or obscure illness it is the height of folly and extravagance to "try" every known or unknown remedy or so-called "cure" you hear of. There are too many of these sure cures marketed in this glorious free country where every individual is considered a "sucker" until he proves himself innocent.

But there are plenty of instances which go to show that it is no mistake to spread a sort of diagnostic dragnet in these mysterious, unresponsive cases of chronic illness, for often enough the drag brings to light real clews which enable the physician to solve the riddle and help the patient to recovery or great relief.

For example. The man was about 48 years old, and the last six or eight years had been invalid years. All sorts of hit-and-miss, mostly miss, titles had been applied to the illness by his dozen (successive) doctors, the impressiveness of the title generally varying inversely as the square of ease and comfort with which the doctor had sat in his swivel chair and divined the diagnosis.

Well, finally the poor fellow drifted into the hands of a real young, inexperienced tyro right around the corner, who showed little or no evidence of material prosperity, though unquestionably of a studious type. The young cub suggested a blood examination.

The patient naturally demurred, because it would cost $5, and besides none of the big doctors and specialists who had already "pronounced" upon the case considered the blood at all bad. But the young doctor obstinately and tactlessly insisted—refused to express an opinion without the examination.

So the despairing invalid consented. And here is what the examination showed:

Erythrocytes (that's medical for red blood cells) 3,600,000 (none too many).

Leucocytes (meaning white blood cells), 7,500.

Eosinophiles (which are white ones that take a special red stain under the microscope), 16 per cent (too many).

"You came from Kentucky, didn't you?" asked the doctor. "Well, then I guess you've got the hookworm."

It proved a good guess—a lot better than any high sounding guess that had yet been made about the patient's case, for a thorough treatment with thymol was followed by steady improvement, which went on to full recovery.

Today the former patient is a poorer but healthier man. He is a great believer in working on clews rather than unsupported theories. Good luck, they say, is a product of work and brains.

Questions and Answers.

Gall-Sac Not a Vital Organ: Is it true that one can't live long after removal of the gall-sac? What can one take to keep an inflamed gall-sac flushed?

REPLY.

1. Hundreds of people are living happily ever afterward. 2. Two quarts of water per day; buttermilk; fresh fruit; green vegetables; fresh air and exercise.

If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Though hundreds worship at his word,
He's but a goof for a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
His ribband, star, and a' that,
The man of independent mind,
He looks and laughs at a' that.

A prince can make a belted knight,
A marquis duke, and a' that;
But an honest man's aboon his might,
Guid faith, he maunna fa' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities, and a' that,
The pith o' sense, and pride o' worth,
Are higher rank than a' that.

Then let us pray that come it may,
As come it will for a' that,
That sense and worth, o'er a' the earth,
Shall bear the gree, and a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
It's comin' yet, for a' that,
That man to man the world o'er
Shall brothers be for a' that.

"The Battle of Blenheim."

It was a summer evening
Old Casper's work was done.
And he before his cottage door
Was sitting in the sun.
And by him sported on the green,
His little grandchild Wilhelmine.

She saw her brother Peterkin,
Roll something large and round,
Which he beside the rivulet,
In playing there had found.
He came to ask what he had found
That was so large and smooth and round.

Old Casper took it from the boy,
Who stood expectant by.
And then the old man shook his head
And with a natural sigh
"It is some poor fellow's skull," said he—
"Who fell in that great victory."

"I find them in the garden,
For there are many here about.
And often when I go to plough
The ploughshare turns them out.
For many a thousand men," said he "Were slain in that great victory."

"Now tell us what it was all about,"
Young Peterkin he cries.
And little Wilhemine looked up
With wonder waiting eyes.
"Now tell us all about the war
And what they fought each other for."

"It was the English," Casper said,
"Who put the French to rout.
But what they fought each other for,
I could not well make out.
But everybody said," quoth he,
"It was a famous victory."

"My father lived at Blenheim then,
Cross yonder stream hard by.
They burned his dwelling to the ground,
And he was forced to fly.
So with his wife and child he fled
Nor had he where to rest his head.

"With fire and sword the country round,
Was wasted far and wide.
And many a nursing mother then
And newborn baby died.
But things like that you know must be
At every famous victory.

"They said it was a shocking sight
After the field was won.
For many thousand bodies here,
Lay rotting in the sun.
But things like that you know must be
After a famous victory.

"Great praise the duke of Marlborough won,
And our good Prince Eugene,"
"Why it was a very wicked thing,"
Said little Wilhelmine.
"Nay, nay, my little child," quoth he,
"It was a famous victory.

"And everybody praised the duke,
Who this great fight did win."
"But what good came of it at last?"
Quoth little Peterkin.
"Why that I cannot tell," said he,
"But it was a famous victory."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling of or concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Miss Lucile Buffer, West Duluth—Kindly inform me, the names of the birds protected by law in Minnesota. —All birds except game birds and a few others are protected by the laws of the state of Minnesota. The statutes say: "No person shall catch, take, kill, ship or cause to be shipped to any person within or without the state; purchase, offer or expose for sale, sell to anyone, have in possession with intent to sell, or have in possession or have in control at any time, living or dead, any wild bird other than a game bird. Only the following shall be considered game birds: The natidae, commonly known as swan, geese, brant, river and sea ducks; the limicolae, commonly known as plover, snipe, and woodcock; the gallinae, commonly known as grouse, prairie chicken, pheasant, partridges and quail; provided, that blackbirds, crows, English sparrows, sharp-shinned hawks, Cooper hawks, and great horned owls may be killed and had in possession at any time, but nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the keeping and sale of song birds as domestic pets."

J. L., Duluth—I have seen considerable comment on "symphonies" since it was announced that the Minneapolis orchestra was coming to Duluth. Forgive my ignorance, but what is a symphony, and what is the difference between it and other forms of music?—A symphony is a musical composition scored for a group of instruments, and not merely a piano or a violin. It has a certain set form, generally composed of four so-called movements, originally three. This is called the sonata form. A sonata is composed for only one or two instruments, but the sonata form is also used in trios, quartets and quintets for three, four or five instruments, and when used by an orchestra is called a symphony. The accepted form of the symphony now is of four distinct but closely related "movements," generally an allegro, an adagio, a minuet or scherzo, and the finale. Each movement has a theme, and a study of these themes helps greatly in the understanding of a symphony. The public librarian will be glad to give you books going more into detail.

T. S., West Duluth—What is the champion rowing crew of the United States?—Duluth has a four-oared crew that has never been beaten in a race. Oarsmen generally believe it is the greatest four-oared crew in the world. The question of the greatest eight-oared crew is more in doubt. Duluth has a champion eight-oared crew of rowing clubs of America, but there is much dispute among oarsmen as to whether college crews are as fast as boat club crews or not. This question may be settled at the San Francisco exposition this coming summer.

K. H. S., Duluth—Kindly advise me what part of Russia is inhabited by the Lithuanians and Letts, and what is their religion.—The Lithuanians and Letts, who are closely related racially to the Slavs, live in East and West Prussia and the Baltic provinces of Russia. They number about 4,000,000. The prevailing religion among them is Lutheran, although there is an appreciable number of Greek Catholics.

John Grand—Will you kindly give me the correct place where Thomas Edison was born, where he started his career, and his first invention?—Thomas Edison was born in Milan, Ohio, and began work as a telegraph operator, working in Boston and later in New York as superintendent of the New Gold & Stock Telegraph company. As soon as he was able he set up his own laboratory in Menlo Park, N. J. His first invention was a "repeater" for use in the telegraph.

"BEYOND THE POINT OF ROCKS"

TIME NOT RIPE FOR BRANCH Y. M. C. A.

West End Will Defer Matter; Good Progress in Clean-up Work.

The time is not ripe for taking up the matter of asking for a campaign to build a Young Men's Christian association branch in this end of the city, according to expressions made by members of the West End Commercial club last night. It is proposed to let the matter rest for some time until financial conditions become considerably better according to action taken by the club.

The clean-up contest was the principal subject discussed. Capt. K. A. Franklin reported that the children of the various schools have been well organized into squads and that a lively interest is being taken.

The committee will within a short time be ready to announce just what prizes will be offered to the clean-up squads. These will be given out next fall. The district maintaining the cleanest appearance throughout the summer will be awarded the principal prize while special prizes will also be given for each district or sections of districts.

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

SCREW IN BOY'S LUNG.

Swallowed It Last August, Is Discovered By X-Ray.

Bismarck, N. D., May 7.—Carl Andrew, 2 years and 9 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pierson of this city, is playing around at home with a screw an inch long tucked away in one of his lungs. He will be operated on within the next few days and the piece of hardware will be removed.

Carl Andrew swallowed the screw about the middle of August last year, his parents believe, and has been carrying it around ever since.

About a week ago he caught cold and the doctors examined him and were led to believe that the child was suffering from consumption. An X-ray was brought into use and the photo revealed the screw in the child's lung.

SQUATTERS LOSE CASE.

Judge Roeser Rules in Lake Onamia Shore Litigation.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 7.—Judge Roeser of the district court has ruled in the noted squatters' rights cases in Mille Lacs county adversely to the squatters. As the decision affects the title to considerable acreage of "made" land on the shores of Lake Onamia, it is not improbable that attorneys for the squatters who are endeavoring to establish ownership of the newly constructed shore line will carry the case to the supreme court to establish a ruling for the state.

In the case of C. L. Anderson vs. D. H. McCuaig, the case just decided, the defendant settled upon 120 acres of shore line and the present water line. The court has held that the added land belongs to the original shore owner.

As there are about 500 acres of such "made" land along the shore of Lake Onamia and as several other cases are pending, attorneys for the squatters anticipate an appeal.

MONTANA FARMER KILLED OVER CALF

Bozeman, Mont., May 7.—Joseph Ennis, a farmer renting the S. L. Briggs ranch five miles west of here, was shot and killed by George Lewis, an employe of Briggs, at the farm home of Tom McGinnis, as the result of a quarrel over a calf.

Lewis fired three shots. Two missed but the third struck Ennis in the right temple, passing through his head. He died without regaining consciousness.

The slayer came to town, where his father resides, and was arrested and is now in jail. Ennis leaves a wife and six children.

WONDERFUL REMEDY IN TIME TO SAVE WOMAN

Mrs. Williams Gets on Way to Health After First Dose of Treatment.

Mrs. Peter Williams of 2749 Eighteenth street, south, Minneapolis, was desperately ill with stomach trouble. She faced the probability of an operation.

After taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, discovered for her by a kind friend, she found herself on the way back to health. Mrs. Williams wrote: "I have taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for the fourth time and I am feeling like a new woman. I am entirely out of pain. I had been sick for eighteen months and four of our best doctors could do nothing for me. They all agreed that an operation was the only thing. One day a man told my husband of your remedy and that night he brought it home to me."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

BIRMINGHAM WINDSWEPT

Houses Blown Down and Damaged to Extent of $100,000.

Twenty-One Lives Lost in Thursday's Storm in Louisiana.

Birmingham, Ala., May 7.—A wind storm caused damage estimated at more than $100,000 in Birmingham early today. Several business buildings in the heart of the city were badly damaged and a number of homes in residential sections were blown down. No deaths have been reported.

Twenty-one Lives Lost.

New Orleans, La., May 7.—The death toll of the wind storms which devastated Acadia parish in Southwestern Louisiana and Coahoma county, in Northwestern Mississippi yesterday, today stood at twenty-one. All but one were negroes. Fifteen were killed at Egan and Mermentau, in Acadia parish and six near Clarksdale and Jonestown, Miss.

Forty-five more persons are known to have been injured in Acadia parish, some of them seriously.

Early estimates placed the property loss there at $500,000. Many buildings were demolished at Mermentau, twenty were destroyed at Egan and all farm houses in the path of the storm are reported to have been razed.

The storm which visited Mississippi was accompanied by heavy rain and railway tracks in several sections of the state were inundated. Washouts north of Magnolia delayed traffic on the Illinois Central for several hours.

Reports from the stricken districts were delayed today by damage to telegraph and telephone lines.

BATTLES EAST AND WEST NOT YET IN THEIR FINAL STAGES

holding their line on the river San in Eastern Galicia, especially as their flank would now be covered by Przemysl.

The fighting in Flanders finds the Germans still making use of asphyxiating gases, and there is a noticeable current running through the British press which insists that the allies should adopt counter measures at once on the justification that when one power departs from the precedents of warfare it is manifestly unfair for the others to remain bound by them.

Coincident with the Austro-German claims of victory in Galicia, there has been a marked increase in the rumors of Italian intervention.

French Statement.

Paris, May 7, 2:35 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out the following statement on the progress of hostilities:

"The Germans delivered an attack yesterday at the close of day at Bagatelle in the Argonne. It resulted in a complete failure.

"On the remainder of the front, particularly to the north of Ypres and in the region of Vauquois there have been violent artillery engagements."

MAHARAJAH OF KAPURTHALA IS WITH US ONCE AGAIN

MAHARAJAH OF KAPURTHALA.

The maharajah of Kapurthala, one of the reigning princes of India, has arrived in New York, accompanied by one of his sons and one of his wives. He chose for the journey the youngest and prettiest of his wives. The maharajah has supplied many troops to Great Britain for the present war, and he has a son somewhere at the front.

JAPAN PRESENTS ULTIMATUM TO CHINA

Recent dispatches from the Far East have conveyed the impression that the Chinese cabinet, in event of the presentation of an ultimatum, realizing China's position to be hopeless, would yield to force.

The Chinese minister at Tokio had been informed by Japan that if the demands on China were not accepted before the expiration of the time limit, Minister Hioki would leave Pekin.

No Word at Washington.

Washington, May 7.—After a conference with President Wilson early today, Secretary Bryan said the president had received word that the ultimatum from Japan to China was "under discussion," but "that no notice had been received that the ultimatum had actually been received in Pekin."

Mr. Bryan refused to say whether the news had come from Tokio or from Pekin.

After Secretary Bryan had been to the White House, Ambassador Chinda called at the state department and the two men had another conference. At its close the ambassador reiterated that he could not discuss the subject, but added that a "full statement would be made at the embassy soon." He could not say whether it would be issued today or whether it would be a statement by the embassy or by the Japanese government. Further than that he declined to talk.

Hope Renewed.

Reports that Japan had altered some of the articles in group five of the so-called general set of demands relating to China as a whole renewed hope here today that the negotiations would be concluded peacefully.

Although no word had been received of the actual presentation of the ultimatum, it is known that the efforts of the United States, as well as the other powers interested in China, have been directed toward the modification of group five, which, from the Pekin viewpoint, has seemed to threaten the political and administrative independence of China.

Practically all the other Japanese demands relating to commercial rights and special privileges in specific localities, such as Eastern Mongolia, Southern Manchuria, Shantung and Fukien have practically been accepted by the Chinese plenipotentiaries.

Gravity Realized.

While the gravity of the situation was generally realized here the disposition in official as well as Japanese quarters was to believe that the pending questions were still capable of being settled without abandoning diplomatic means.

There has been a confidence in some quarters, based on press advices from Pekin, that President Yuan Shi Kai intends to accept finally the Japanese demands, but is anxious about the internal situation in China should he yield and probably desires, therefore, to comply only after the presentation of an ultimatum, or even an appeal to the powers should show the Chinese the hopelessness of resistance.

Position of United States.

A statement was given out by Secretary Bryan last night explaining the position of the American government. The text of the statement follows:

"In order that there may be no misunderstanding of the position of the United States in reference to negotiations pending between Japan and China, the following announcement is made:

"At the beginning of negotiations, the Japanese government confidentially informed this government of the matters which were under discussion and accompanied the information by the assurance that Japan had no intention of interfering with either the political independence or territorial integrity of China, and that nothing that she proposed would discriminate against other powers having treaties with China, or interfere with the 'open door' policy to which all the leading powers are committed.

To Surrender No Rights.

"This government has not only had no thought of surrendering any of its treaty rights with China, but it has never been asked by either Japan or China to make any surrender of these rights. There is no abatement of its interest in the welfare and progress of China, and its sole interest in the negotiations is that they may be concluded in a manner satisfactory to both nations, and that the terms of the agreement will not only contribute to the prosperity of both of these great Oriental empires, but maintain that cordial relationship so essential to the future of both, and to the peace of the world."

No remarks accompanied the statement nor was there any further explanation of the purpose of its issuance at this time.

Since the recent exchange of notes between Japan and the United States press reports from Tokio have stated that the United States was in accord with the Japanese policy and that China might expect no moral assistance from the United States. It was intimated in Tokio dispatches published in Pekin and here that the United States was satisfied with the Japanese explanation of the demands.

Officials have declined to reveal what was said in the notes sent to Japan or China, or to comment on the Japanese reply. There still was nothing to indicate that the United States government had lost hope of a friendly settlement.

It would not be surprising to well-informed persons here if President Yuan Shi Kai appealed to the powers before answering the Japanese ultimatum. It was reported here tonight that informal consultations already were in progress between the various powers that are parties to the Hay open door policy, which pledges their support to a maintenance of the territorial integrity of China.

From information available here in Japanese quarters, the impression was gained that so far as the Japanese embassy was concerned, it did not anticipate any armed clash in the Far East.

More Modifications.

Tokio, May 7.—Baron Kato, Japanese foreign minister, is understood to have informed the ambassadors of other powers that the ultimatum to China, which expires at 6 p. m. Sunday, was accompanied by additional modifications of Japan's demands, notably the questions relating to munitions and advisers which interested the United States.

It is the general opinion in diplomatic circles that China will submit. Meanwhile Japan is making extensive preparations for a possible rupture. Warships and transports are held in readiness for instant action.

The impression prevails that the influence of the elder statesmen resulted in further concessions being made to China.

To Concede Everything.

Pekin, May 7.—There is good reason to believe that China is prepared to concede everything demanded by Japan, realizing that the situation is hopeless.

This possible outcome to the present tense situation is not generally comprehended in Pekin; consequently a number of foreign residents, as well as Chinese themselves, are today packing their personal belongings and otherwise preparing for eventualities.

It was ascertained here today that the Japanese government yesterday presented to the Chinese minister at Tokio a note warning him that China must accept the demands of Japan, as otherwise there would be presented to her an ultimatum, the expiration of which would be fixed for 6 p. m. of Sunday, May 9.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON CEMENT PLANT WILL BE RESUMED IMMEDIATELY

ally completed last summer, will have a capacity for storing 300,000 barrels of cement.

When the plant begins operating it will employ more than 400 men. Mr. Huey said that the plant would operate on an average of 310 days of the year. Its daily capacity will be 1,520,000 pounds of cement, or 4,000 barrels.

"The market for the product has picked up wonderfully in the last month," said Mr. Van Doorn last night. "The month of April this year compares very favorably with that of April last year, and May so far promises to break all former sales records. The Northwest is the great consumer of cement. Its more modern ideas in building, the greater use of cement in paving and road making has placed the Northwest in the lead in cement consumption."

The officials of the company together with Fred Robinson, who has been in charge of the plant since early last fall, and Elliott J. Aman, chief clerk for the company, were guests at the Spalding hotel last evening at supper. Following the supper the plans for resuming the work were informally discussed by the officials. The out-of-town officials were guests at the hotel yesterday.

BELIEVE CRIME IS DEED OF MANIAC

Chicago Detectives Making Every Effort to Find Murderer.

Chicago, May 7.—Routine duties of the Chicago detective force were ignored today while every energy was bnt to find the murderer of Mrs. Ella Coppersmith and her 2-year-old son, John, Jr.

The police believe that the crime, which was perpetrated yesterday, was the work of a maniac or a degenerate. Mother and child were attacked in their home, their heads crushed with a hammer and their throats slashed with a butcher knife.

Ten suspects were rounded up overnight, but the police had no definite evidence against any of them.

The clews in the case consist principally of the hammer and the knife, newly sharpened, which the murderer left behind him, a bit of cloth which is believed to have slipped from his finger—assumedly a sore one—and blood stains. The fact that the murderer took $85 from Mrs. Coppersmith's purse has not impaired the police theory that he was a degenerate.

Chief of Police Healey and Herman Schuettler, assistant chief, personally are directing the work of the detectives, one of whom was sent to Elkhart, Ind., to bring back a man arrested there. This man is said to have given his name as John Gordon of Chicago. A report from Elkhart said that the suspect's hands were scratched, and what looked like blood stains were on his clothes. Among the detectives working on the case is James F. Carlin, a brother-in-law of the slain woman.

Mrs. Coppersmith was the wife of a commission merchant.

SITUATION DESPERATE

Thousands in Mining Districts of Western Poland Are Hungry.

Prices of All Commodities Greatly Increased Since War Began.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, May 7, via London.—A detailed report of the desperate situation prevailing today in the mining district of Western Poland, now in possession of the Germans, has been received by the Rockefeller commission, which was organized to assist the suffering population of this region.

A comparison of food prices before the war with those which prevailed in January of this year, show the following contrasts.

Rye flour increased from $40 to $90 per ton; wheat flour from $60 to $102; buckwheat from $60 to $125; and peas from $60 to $250. Before the war a ton of straw cost $210; in January it brought $612, and the price of oats has increased 500 per cent.

Out of a population of 135,000 in the district of Sosnovitz, 12,650 persons are now dependent upon charity.

Many Charity Subjects.

In Bendin there are 5,000 charity subjects out of a population of 50,000, and in Dombrov 5,000 out of a population of 60,000. These figures do not include the unemployed who are receiving assistance from their former employers. The unemployed so situated number about 45,000 or counting their families, about 100,000 persons.

Continuing this report says that during the last five months the population of this region suffered serious epidemics of typhus, scarlet fever, dysentery and cholera. Of cholera there have been thirty-five authenticated cases, and the death rate among non-combatants has increased from 10 per cent to 12 per cent.

Two chief causes of misery in this region have been the cutting off of imports, upon which this part of Poland always has depended, and the closing of the coal mines, which in normal times give employment to 50,000 men.

HEAVY FROST OCCURS; ANOTHER IS COMING.

Heavy frost occurred in this city and vicinity last night, although no damage has been reported, those having plants outdoors and gardens started probably having taken warning from the repeated admonitions from Weather Forecaster Richardson to keep them covered.

Mr. Richardson said this morning that another heavy frost is due tonight, but he does not expect that it will affect the territory along the lake. That further back is likely to suffer, however, he says.

Why "Ready-Made"?

The Lord made man in his own image, nevertheless there are no two men on earth just alike in feature and figure. For thousands of years, therefore, wherever clothes were worn they were made by mothers for their boys and by individual tailors for the men folks. This was true of all apparel from the hat to the shoes and including the stockings. The Nineteenth Century brought a radical change in this field, as it did in many others. It was discovered that men's bodies, their heads and their feet and their hands averaged along certain sizes. The costly individual maker was quickly superseded by the modern system of manufacturing for thousands at a time. Your Stetsons, your Hanans, your Fownes Brothers came to the front. In the suit business the became the dominating factor—all the rest of the work in making clothes became mechanical. The "Ready-Made" Clothing Industry grew to be the second largest in the land.

The Designer of Sincerity Clothes is a Master-Mind among American Clothes-Designers and we end this long introduction to him by inviting you to come in tomorrow and try on a "Sincerity" Suit.

His KENAFORD MODEL fits most people, young as well as the older men, without hardly a touch by our tailors. If you are a man not much out of proportion in size and build, there is the model for you. It's neither extreme nor overly conservative.

His ATHLETIC MODEL is a marvelous success in the fitting of men with fairly large shoulders and very small waist lines—say a man with a 38 chest and a 30 waist.

Prices $14.50, $20 and $25.

'LAND HUNGER' NOW EXISTS

"Back to Land" Cry Appeals to All Parts of Country.

Duluth Land Officer Says Interest Now Greater Than in Years.

The interest in lands is more general now than in years, according to J. L. Travers of the Federal land office at the government building here. Inquiries are coming in from all parts of the country and lands that have hitherto been passed up, are now being taken. Land-hunger is probably the best word to describe the conditions of the present time, Mr. Travers says.

"The Federal land office at Cass Lake, Minn., recently opened up 13,000 acres of land for settlement," said Mr. Travers today, "and it is expected that the date for filing will be about May 15. The remarkable thing in regard to this is that every piece of land in the tract is already in the hands of a 'squatter.' Most of this land has fine soil and is excellent for agricultural purposes."

Mr. Travers ascribes several reasons for the general renewal of interest in lands. One of the chief of these reasons is the cry of "back to the land," which has gone up from all parts of the country for several years, the overcrowding of cities and the general upward trend in the prices of farm produce. Men are beginning to realize that a good farm with pleasant, wholesome surroundings is a better place for rearing a family than the tenement district of a large city and that the farmer, when his property is paid for, is a sort of "king" in a business way, according to Mr. Travers.

For several years people have been willing to take up only the best of lands for homesteads, not caring much whether they took up farming or not. Now, says Mr. Travers, inquiries are coming in regarding the same lands that have been passed up before. There is still a great deal of good government homestead land, and thousands of good farms will be settled up and improved within the next few months.

WILL DISCUSS HOUSING CODE

This evening the meeting of the housing code general committee, to be held at the Commercial club, is likely to bring out some lively discussion. The code in the main is agreed upon, but there is a vast abyss between the committee representing the Commercial club and the rest of the general committee on certain details. These details are considered too important for easy compromise, and both sides have taken positive stands in the matter. The work of the committee as a whole extends over a year and represents painstaking effort and much investigation.

H. F. Greene, city attorney, will meet with the committee this evening to discuss the code. It is hoped that concrete plans may be presented to the city commissioners before long.

FATE OF PLAN UP TO BOARD

School Directors Will Decide Whether Playgrounds Will Be Established.

Will Act on Request for $1,500 to Give System Trial.

Whether or not the playground and recreation system mapped out for Duluth by T. S. Settle of New York shall be given a trial here this year, probably will be decided at the regular meeting of the board of education tonight.

At the last meeting, a request that $1,500 be donated from the general fund to help finance a tryout for the plan was not complied with, board members deciding to defer action for a month.

T. S. Settle, who is field secretary for the Playground and Recreational Association of America, returned from a trip through North Dakota yesterday and will attend the meeting to make arguments in behalf of his proposal.

According to the expert's plans, half of the expense of trying out the system will be borne by the school board and half by the city. If the system develops satisfactorily, it will involve an estimated expenditure of from $12,000 to $15,000 annually.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld has not gone on record as favoring the plan, as he believes that it would not be a success except in the more thickly populated parts of the city.

Interested citizens are expected to be present at tonight's meeting, to speak in favor of the plan outlined.

DULUTH CARPENTER SAYS AKOZ RELIEVED CHRONIC CATAARH

Pains Depart and Appetite Returns After Using Rival of Radium.

Gunner Nelson, a carpenter residing at 307 Fifty-seventh avenue north, Duluth, after trying various remedies for catarrh of the head and stomach during the last five years, has found relief by using Akoz, the new California mineral rival of radium.

"I have suffered for the past five years with chronic catarrh of the head and stomach," said Mr. Nelson. "The pains in my head and stomach were so severe I could not sleep at times. I lost my appetite and was sick at my stomach. I have tried many remedies but never found anything that would relieve me until I tried Akoz.

"Now, after using the wonderful mineral only a short time, I am greatly improved in every way. I have no pains now at all and can eat and sleep better than I have for years. My head is feeling greatly relieved and I do not have that dull feeling any more. I think Akoz is a wonderful remedy and I can and will recommend it to all suffering as I have."

Akoz is not a patent medicine but a natural mineral that has proven very effective in the treatment of rheumatism, stomach, kidney and bladder trouble, catarrh, eczema, piles and other ailments.

Akoz is now being demonstrated at the Lyceum pharmacy at Fifth avenue west and Superior street, Duluth. Visit, phone or write to the Akoz man at this store for further information regarding this advertisement.

Bishop Luccock Satisfied With Achievements at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third annual residential council of the Helena area of the Methodist Episcopal church concluded here this afternoon, Bishop Luccock adjourning the session. The next gathering probably will be held in Montana.

During the concluding session today, plans for the work in the five states included under Bishop Luccock's jurisdiction, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Oregon, were expected.

Bishop Luccock is well satisfied with the success of the council and believes the Methodist church, in the Helena area, will show splendid progress during the coming year.

NORTH DAKOTA LAND VALUES ARE INCREASING

Bismarck, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota land values are advancing and show the result of a steady upward trend, according to Land Commissioner Frank Henry of North Dakota.

In connection with the land leasings during which 600,000 acres of state lands were leased for forage purposes, the state realized the largest average rental per acre that has ever been reported. Several quarter sections were leased for over $400 a year, while one, in Benson county, was leased at $500.

WANT SOO LINE BUILT.

Carrington, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—New efforts are being made to interest the Soo railroad in building from Carrington to Bismarck.

At New Home, southwest of here, a propaganda with that object in view, has been launched.

It has been maintained for some time past that the Soo road would soon construct a Carrington line, but as yet nothing definite has been done. Now business men in the district affected are commencing a campaign with the hope of securing early action.

RIGHT IN THE FIRST PLACE.

Houston Chronicle: Mrs. Mason's negro washerwoman, Martha, was complaining of her husband's health. "Why, is he sick, Martha?" asked Mrs. Mason.

"He's very po'ly, mum, very po'ly," answered the woman. "He's got the exclamatory rheumatism."

"You mean inflammatory, Martha," said the patron. "Exclamatory means to cry out."

"Yes'm," replied Martha with conviction. "Dat's what it is. He hollers all de time."

ON THE IRON RANGES

ALLEGED POISONING MAY BE SENSATION

Itasca County Man Alleged to Have Tried to Kill Stepmother.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some sensational developments are expected in a justice of the peace court here tomorrow when the state presents its accusation against Gust Voight who was arrested late yesterday on the charge of attempting to poison his stepmother, Mrs. Frank Voight, a widow. The accused is in the county jail. As stated briefly in Thursday's Herald, Voight, is one of six brothers who have been having more or less litigation with Mrs. Voight over the estate of their father.

It is said he met one of his little sisters who was making her home with the stepmother and told her that all the difficulty had been settled, and that they would not have any further difficulties, and that his folks would send over a May basket with candy for the little girls and cake for the stepmother, and that the girls must be sure not to eat any of the cake but to leave it for the stepmother who was very fond of cake and that she would want it all for herself.

Girl Refuses Cake.

Accordingly the next day the basket was sent over, and the old lady broke off a small piece for the little girl, who, it is said, spat it out and said she did not like it. The stepmother ate a larger piece, and in a short time became violently ill. A neighbor was dispatched for a doctor and a lawyer, as the old lady thought she was dying. Dr. Hoeper of Grand Rapids went out to the Voight home, and treated Mrs. Voight, and when he learned the circumstances, he took some strychnine and mixed a little with water and let the woman and the little girl taste the mixture, and they stated that it tasted just the same as the cake had tasted. The balance of the cake was taken in charge, and County Attorney Stone took it to St. Paul where he had it analyzed.

In the meantime Gust Voight was arrested, and placed in the county jail.

Sentiment here appears to favor Voight, who has always been a hard working, honest, even tempered young man of exemplary habits, and his friends do not believe him capable of even attempting so dastardly a crime.

He has a nice little herd of Jerseys, headed by a splendidly bred sire, and he looks for a good future with his cattle. M'QUADE TRAGEDY IS STILL MYSTERY

Impelling Motive for Murder and Suicide Is Not Fathomed.

Coleraine, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The motive that prompted Roy M. McQuade, assistant cashier of the First National bank of this place, to kill his young wife and himself at their home here some time Wednesday still remains a mystery despite the efforts of a coroner's jury to fathom the double tragedy. The conventional verdict of the jury given in Thursday's Herald that McQuade killed his wife and himself may be all that the public will ever know of the shocking affair. Speculation is rife here as it is in Duluth and other places where the two were known but the various theories advanced are based largely on gossip. Neighbors of the couple say they always appeared happy although it is claimed they did not mingle as often in the social affairs of the village as others.

Bank Being Examined.

A national bank examiner is here today on a regular trip going over the affairs of the institution. His coming was not prompted by the death of the assistant cashier as he was expected two or three days prior to the tragedy. Cashier Seaton still persists that neither the books nor the cash is not right and the local public accepts this statement as the truth. The examiner, of course, will not talk about the bank's affairs as any finding he makes will be reported to the controller of the currency first. No one here credits any sensational reports about McQuade's affairs at the bank and the institution is just as strongly in the public confidence as ever.

It develops that McQuade carried $6,000 insurance in the Banker's Life Insurance company. One report says the policy is payable to his mother while another has it that the wife was the beneficiary, the presumption being that it was first made payable to his mother and after he married Miss Warner, he had it transferred to the latter.

Mrs. Fred L. Warner, mother of the dead woman, arrived at noon today. Mr. Warner, who was long prominent in Redwood county where he was clerk of the district court, was connected with the land office and about twenty years ago was clerk of the state legislature who is now engaged in the land business at Mahnomen, arrived yesterday. Both are terribly grieved over the affair. McQuade's relatives arrived yesterday from Tower but up to noon today neither family had decided upon the date or place for the funerals. A double funeral may be held.

As Mrs. McQuade's family had a plot in the Redwood cemetery it is natural to suppose she will be buried there but whether her husband's body will be laid beside her cannot be learned until both families reach a decision. Mr. Warner has conferred with Mr. McQuade but no statement has been made.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 7.—Dr. John L. It has been announced through the press that Dr. Shellman would resign and move to St. Paul to engage there in the practice of his profession. When questioned on the subject the doctor replied that he is still a member of the board and had authorized no one to report otherwise.

Rheumatism? Here Are Some Real Facts

How to Overcome the Torture Without Harmful Drugs.

A legion of people have used S. S. S. and have overcome the worst forms of rheumatism.

This disease of the blood is little understood because of its strange symptoms, scarcely two people having it exactly alike. And yet, no matter what its form or how painful and distressing, S. S. S. seems to have almost a divine influence in driving it out, releasing the nerves from pain and clearing the joints and muscles so they work without restraint. The best explanation for this happy result is the fact that in S. S. S. are certain ingredients which act as an antidote. They are nature's providence to man.

Just as the meats, fats, salts and sugars of our daily food provide us with nourishment, so does S. S. S. give to the blood the exact medicinal requirement to clear the stream, drive out impurities and reconstruct the body if destructive germs have gained a foothold. Go to any drug store today and get a bottle of S. S. S. It will do you good. But be sure to refuse any and all substitutes. And if yours is a stubborn case, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 109 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This department is presided over by a physician proud of his name by virtue of his distinguished family and a foremost doctor on his own merits.

Continued Cold

Sometimes one is almost convinced that dreams and weather predictions go by contraries. For three successive days the prediction has been for fair weather; but where, fellow citizens, where is that fair weather? Not here. Still the rain was needed, and the grass and other vegetation show the wisdom of turning on the tap. Not to try to make a permanent break through this morning but was vanquished. Perhaps it will get through before the day is over. There was a heavy frost last night, and it is announced that there will likely be another tonight back from the lake.

A year ago today was cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 4:42 and will set this evening at 7:26, giving four-teen hours and forty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of considerable intensity is centered over Upper Michigan. Widespread and copious to heavy rains have resulted over the Lake region, Central and Southern states, and strong easterly winds have developed on Eastern Lake Superior. The temperature has risen over the greater portion of the Northwest and Eastern states and has fallen throughout the Southwest. Heavy to killing frosts occurred last night in the Dakotas, Northeastern Minnesota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Kansas, Colorado, and the Texas Panhandle."

LAKE COUNTY WILL AID SCHOOL PUPILS

Will Provide Professional Care for Children Having Eye Trouble.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lake county board of county commissioners yesterday received a communication from Mrs. Alice Lawrence, county superintendent of schools, relative to an investigation of the health conditions of the school at Isabel, in School District No. 4. Mrs. Lawrence advised the commissioners some time ago that the children in that district were suffering from eye trouble and that many of the parents were not in a position to aid them. The commissioners instructed Mrs. Lawrence to make a thorough investigation into the matter and her report was received yesterday. The county will take steps at once to remedy the conditions existing there.

The commissioners decided to go over and examine the route of the state road between Cramer and the Cook county road, which road has recently been put through. The trip will be made on Monday.

MIXING GOPHER POISON.

North Dakota People Not Preparing Substances Correctly.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The difficulty in getting the people to use strychnine alkoloid instead of strychnine sulphate in the preparation of the gopher poison is the chief grief of the two experts acting as the representatives of the North Dakota experiment station and the biological survey in this state.

They are going from county to county showing the farmers' clubs and others how to prepare and apply the poison that will eradicate the gophers that destroy hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of grain annually in North Dakota.

The druggists carry strychnine usually in the form of strychnine sulphate instead of strychnine algoloid. The former will not work satisfactorily in the formula developed by Dr. W. B. Bell of the agricultural college. The druggists not having the kind desired frequently sell the strychnine sulphate as "equally as good," and there is disappointment with the experiments.

A NON-ALCOHOLIC TONIC

Many people need a tonic at this time of year, old folks, weak folks, thin people, people who are run-down from too much work—and vacation still many weeks away. Nervous people also need a tonic but cannot safely take alcohol.

A non-alcoholic tonic that will build up the blood and strengthen the nerves is what most people need and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are exactly that.

The one symptom of thin blood that everybody recognizes is pallor. It shows so gradually that other people are liable to notice it before you do. But it is important that you should notice and heed the warning because the thin blood that causes the pallor betrays some drain on the body or some poisoning by its own waste materials that, if not corrected, will result in physical breakdown and ill health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only build up the blood but they have a direct strengthening action on the nerves. As they are free from narcotics and any harmful poisonous drugs they are safe for every member of the family.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood" and, if your stomach troubles you, ask for a diet book also.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

COUNTY MAY SELL LUMBER

Unless Restrained By Court Will Seek to Collect Taxes Claimed.

Beltrami Sheriff Is Ordered to Seize Backus' Lumber at Spooner.

Bemidji, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless prevented by a court order, Sheriff Andrew Johnson for Beltrami county will seize the $50,000 lumber stock of the International Lumber company, a Backus interest, at Spooner, and sell it to the highest bidder in an effort to collect $10,367.29 for personal property taxes.

The sheriff went to Spooner to seize the lumber and would have proceeded, but was stopped by the Backus concern making a plea for a temporary injunction, arguments being heard before Judge C. W. Stanton. Harris Richardson, a St. Paul attorney, appeared for the Backus-Brooks concern and Graham M. Torrance represented the county.

A decision is expected from Judge Stanton in the near future and, if favorable to the county, the sheriff will proceed to collect the taxes from the lumber company by means of confiscation, as is the procedure in all cases where personal property taxes are not paid. In substance the complaint alleges:

What County Contends.

On May 1, 1914, the International Lumber company was owner of a saw mill and stock of lumber at Spooner, and the property was assessed at a valuation of $55,263 by the local assessor. It is alleged that subsequently the assessed valuation was raised through the action of the county board of equalization and the state tax commission, in the sum of $17,628, making the total assessed valuation $72,891, upon which a tax of $9,424.81 was levied, that was not paid by the International Lumber company and that, accordingly, on the 22nd day of April, 1915, a warrant for the collection of this tax was given by the clerk of court, F. W. Rhoda, to the sheriff, Andrew Johnson, commanding him to collect that amount and penalty and costs; that, acting under that warrant, the sheriff made demand upon the International Lumber company on the 23rd day of April and again on the 26th of April for the payment of the tax, which payment was refused, whereupon he made a seizure of the lumber belonging to the company at Spooner and declared his intention of selling the same under the provisions of the law to enforce the collection of the sum of $10,367.29, besides his costs.

Would Enjoin Sheriff.

The International Lumber company then instituted action against Beltrami county and Andrew Johnson, the sheriff, wherein it seeks to restrain the sheriff from selling the stock of lumber on the ground that the tax was illegally levied and that the warrant was illegal and prematurely issued and claiming that the state tax commission had illegally increased the assessed valuation of the property without notice to the lumber company. The lumber company further alleged that, at the time that the warrant for collection of the tax was issued, it had filed an answer with the clerk of the court, setting up its defense to the tax. County Attorney Graham M. Torrance answered this complaint in behalf of the county and denied that an answer had been filed by the lumber company until several days after the issuance of the warrant contending that all proceedings with reference to the assessment of the property and the levy of the tax and leading up to the issuance of the warrant were in strict accordance with the provisions of law.

A request for another day's time, in which to cite authority, asked by the attorney for the company, was granted by Judge Stanton, who will not give his decision on the matter until some time Friday.

HAMILTON SEEKS TO BE RELEASED

Lifer Who Tried to Kill Houghton Sheriff Applies for Writ.

Calumet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—George E. Hamilton, once a prosperous inventor and business man of Calumet, but now serving a term of ten years to life in state prison at Marquette for an alleged assault with intent to murder Former Sheriff August Beck at Houghton in 1903 by expressing him an infernal machine from Virginia, Minn., via Duluth and Iron River, Wis., has applied for a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted by Michigan Supreme Court Justice Flavius B. Brooke. The writ was directed to Warden Russell of the Marquette penitentiary, who will be represented before the supreme court by Attorney General Fellows.

Hamilton was extradited from Minnesota and claims the Michigan courts had no jurisdiction in the case. He has served six and a half years. Hamilton will appear in his own behalf, distrusting lawyers. His wife is seeking a divorce at Duluth.

PREDICTS HEAVY ORE SHIPMENTS

Mesaba Range Mining Man Prophesies While at Negaunee.

Negaunee, Mich., May 7.—A Mesaba range mining man, who was in the city Wednesday, but did not want his name used, predicted that 45,000,000 tons of iron ore will be shipped from Great Lake ports this season. "The movement," he said, "will commence in earnest during the latter part of July and will continue heavy until late in the fall."

According to the figures presented by the mining official, who has recently returned from a trip through the East, on which he visited all of the large steel mills, the shipments from the Marquette county mines will be from 15 to 20 per cent larger than those of last year.

Although the movement of ore will be slack during the early part of the season it is believed that towards the end of the season heavy inroads will be made on many of the larger stockpiles in the Upper Peninsula.

"There is now over 7,000,000 tons of ore on the docks at Cleveland and Ashtabula that will have to be cleaned up before much shipping will be done. The mills in Ohio are being worked well up to capacity, and it is thought some large sales of ore will soon be made."

SPECIAL SESSION IDEA NOT POPULAR

Hardly Believed North Dakota Lawmakers Will Have to Meet.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether there will be a special legislative session depends upon the attitude of Governor Hanna after June 4, the date for the filing of the referendum petitions invoked against fourteen measures passed by the last legislative session. The people of North Dakota are greatly interested in the matter and somewhat divided in sentiment, though the majority apparently opposes a special session.

Both Lieut. Governor Fraine and Speaker Hanson, the presiding officers of the two branches of the last legislature, while they strongly condemn the manner in which the referendum has been misused are both of the opinion that a special session should not be called.

NORTH DAKOTA CROP OUTLOOK VERY FINE

Farmers Generally Feeling Very Optimistic Over Outlook.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a general feeling of optimism among the farmers of North Dakota, especially outside the Red river valley as a result of the splendid conditions following the timely precipitation. The wheat seeding and much of the oat seeding was done west of the valley before the rains of several days ago and these rains were followed by a snowfall that ranged from three to seven inches in depth. The snow is regarded as more beneficial than an equal amount of moisture in any other form because it sank into the ground as it slowly melted. In many counties the conditions are extremely favorable.

In some of the Red river valley counties the moisture is excessive at present and will delay the completion of seeding, but the state as a whole is in fine shape.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

PRAIRIE LAKE ROAD GOING TO BE IMPROVED

Floodwood, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sub-Contractor Lawton has started his dry land machine at the Gowan road, dredging the Klondike creek, which he will follow to the Prairie Lake road, then along the road for a mile south to meet the ditch dug last year. As soon as this portion of the ditching is done, the Prairie Lake road will be put into first-class shape. The ditching operations in that locality put this road out of commission several times last summer when dams broke loose and washed out the road in several places. County Commissioner Kauppi is anxious to put this part of the road in as good a condition as the rest of the main highways. Prairie Lake road connects Cromwell on the Northern Pacific railway with Floodwood and there is a heavy travel over it all the year around.

BIG JIM COFFEY SURE HAS SLEEP-PRODUCING PUNCH

Mike Fitzimorris of Duluth Believes the Harp Can Defeat Willard—Tom Shaw Issues a Defi to Waino Ketonen; The School League—Benny Kauff Leaped too Late.

BY BRUCE.

MIKE FITZMORRIS of Duluth trooped with Jim Coffey over Dublin way. They were both born in one of those little old quaint Irish towns that you can hardly pronounce the name of, much less spell. And Fitzmorris is of the unshakable opinion that Coffey can lick Jess Willard.

Fitzmorris, who is quite some boxer himself, took big Jim Coffey around and showed him in a tent in some of the provincial towns and in halls in places like Dublin and other of the hot bath class of cities.

"Coffey is a great kid," said Fitzmorris the other day, "and one of the most likeable fellows in the world. Jim is a clever boxer, has a kick in either hand and is a lad who takes the best of care of himself. He can take the gaff—and what's more, he can give it.

"Of course Willard is the champion and is one of the largest men in the world; but I think Coffey can hit hard enough to stop any man, and I think he will hit Willard, if the pair ever hook up."

All Right, Tom, You're Next.

TOM SHAW of Hibbing has been declaring for the last three or four months that he would like to wrestle Waino Ketonen. Nothing daunted by the thorough and artistic trimming received by Blacksmith Michaelson, the range wrestler has placed himself on record as willing to risk his own coin as a side bet that he can defeat the wonderful little Finn.

About the last thing Ketonen said before boarding the rattler, was that he would like to get this Shaw person on. Up to the present Shaw has indulged in a lot of conversation and shown little readiness to do business. The little Finn declares he is ready to wrestle the Hibbing man any time the side bet talk of Sir Thomas materializes in anything like real money.

We're All Boosting the Kids.

LAWRENCE DUBY, who sells sporting goods and fusses around with kid baseball players as a diversion, is of the opinion that when the two grade school teams of the city hook up in the city championship game at Athletic park, the attendance will be near the 5,000 mark.

This column hooks along and takes a sleigh ride on the same opinion.

Pull us into the stretch, Lawrence, and we'll go out and root with you.

Those who have not been out to any of the grade school games of this season have no conception of the interest the kids are taking in the games—no idea of the interest other persons are taking in the embryo ball games.

Some of the corner lot contests during the week day are attended by 500 and 600 persons. The rooting of the kids is immense.

Now when it comes to the game that will decide the city grade school championship, it is believed that every school boy and girl in the city will be out to the park—and that all of the teachers and all of the principals and a lot of the business men and other baseball fans will be on hand. This is going to be some day. There will be real festivities—everything will be done in big league style.

Think of this, kids: it will be worth something for you to cop the pennant in your division and play it off for the city title.

The Herald started out to assist the kids and those behind the kid school league. Keep it up, kids, you're doing fine.

The Boys Getting Together.

NOT so very long ago Benny Kauff would have been welcomed into the arms of organized baseball. The magnates of the older organization would have wide-eared grinned at the prospect of grabbing the "Ty Cobb of the Federal league," as the admirers of the fleet little outfielder are wont to refer to Kauff.

But now—no! There is evidently an understanding, implied or expressed, between the magnates of the two leagues. War is expensive. That applies to the grim trouble in Europe or the fuss between organized baseball and that presumptuous upstart, the Federal league.

Simply, here is the idea—if the National league insisted upon holding Kauff reprisals would be in order upon the part of the Feds. The war chests of both leagues have been drained somewhat by the experience of last season. A resumption of open hostilities will mean the raising of salaries because of the resumption of the fight for the services of the stars of the game. Therefore it looks like Kauff made his now rather famous leap just a trifle too late. Let sleeping dogs sleep.

Kauff is one of the greatest players in the game, some say. It's a shame at that that the speed boy is not in the big show. The Feds haven't done much and the players in that league lack class. The Federal league is a good place for the veteran who is slowing up—but it is no place for a youngster like Benny Kauff.

When Those Birds Lose—Ouch!

THERE are a flock of rail birds whose coin strings along with Walter Johnson and Alexander the Great. When those boys drop a game the rail birds groan with anguish.

In our little city but recently one brave bucko has sunk $200 on Johnson and Alexander. Johnson was beaten in a close battle on Tuesday and Alexander bowed to defeat on Wednesday. On each instance the local follower of the dear old game had a century note on the chances of his slab idol.

How could they lose? Ask Sweeney.

Looks Like Cuban.

New York, May 7.—Jose E. Capablanca of Savannah won his game against Hodges in the semi-final round of the chessmasters' tournament here last night, giving the Cuban a total of 11 points which Frank J. Marshall, United States champion, cannot reach except by winning his game in the final round next Sunday while Capablanca is losing.

WINS ROCKAWAY RACE CUP AFTER RETIREMENT OF NINETEEN YEARS

FOXHALL KEENE.

Nineteen years ago Foxhall Keene retired from racing. The year before he had won the Rockaway cup. Recently Keene once more took to the saddle and won the Rockaway cup again at the race meet of the Rockaway Hunt club on Long Island. Since he quit racing, he has devoted some time to polo playing, but he retired from the polo field some years ago. Keene's father, James R. Keene, was once a famous owner of race horses and Foxhall wore his father's old colors when he won the recent race.

New York, May 7.—In the most exciting game played in New York this season, the New York Americans won a 13-inning victory from Boston yesterday. Ruth of Boston pitched well, errors by Wagner and McNally and the inability of the Boston catchers to stop the Yankee base runners, preventing him from winning in nine innings. Warhop was hit fairly hard, but Pich, who pitched the last five innings was invincible. CHUBBY CHARLEY IS BLOCKING PEACE MOVE

CHARLEY MURPHY.

Charley Murphy, the "phantom" owner of the Cubs, is said to be blocking a peace deal between organized baseball and the Federal league. The plan proposed, it is said, was the consolidation of the Chicago Cubs and Federal teams. Murphy owns 53 per cent of the Cub stock and blocks the deal. Murphy has ever been a thorn in the side of the other magnates.

Brooklyn 3; St. Louis 2.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 7.—A triple play by St. Louis, and Doc Marion's active pitching, after the first inning, were features of the Brooklyn Federals' victory here yesterday. After allowing three hits and two runs in the first inning, Marion pitched no-hit, no run ball during the remainder of the game. The triple play came in the sixth inning, with Evans on second and Myers on first. Tobin made a wonderful one-handed catch off Holt's long fly, threw to Bridwell, who relayed to Johnson to Borton.

BALL TEAM AT CENTRAL

"Gym" Class Will Play First Game of Schedule Saturday.

Although it seems rather improbable at present that the Central high school will be represented by a baseball aggregation, a nine has been formed among the students that will probably make a good record during the season. The "gym" class basket ball team proved so successful that the baseball enthusiasts of the "gym" classes have formed a team, and are looking for games with local junior aggregations and also with several high schools at the Head of the Lakes and on the ranges.

The boys have had considerable preliminary practice, and will engage in their first game of the season tomorrow morning. They will meet the Nelson Dewey high school team of Superior at Athletic park, the game being scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock. Manager Farah has been in communication with several range teams and expects that games will be arranged with some of them in the near future. Denfeld and Superior Central will also be played. from the Mechanics-Arts team of St. Paul, the Twin City aggregation wishing to come up for a game. The challengers demanded too much as an expense guarantee, and the "gym" men felt that they could not afford to take on the down-state nine. The local aggregation expressed its willingness, however, to go down to St. Paul to play if the Mechanics-Arts boys would guarantee a reasonable amount for expenses. The trip at present seems quite probable.

The Nelson-Dewey team is a strong one and the "gym" men will certainly be pushed to the limit to win. The game should prove interesting and a large crowd of student and other supporters is expected to journey out to the park to witness the contest. Manager Farah of the local aggregation has announced his lineup as follows: Farah, catcher; Rasmussen, pitcher; Gogins, first base; Rosenberg, second base; Kiron, shortstop; Shaw, third base; Lindsay, left field; Mason, center field; Christoferson, Richards, right field.

ELEVEN SCORELESS INNINGS; TIE GAME

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 7.—Michigan and Syracuse played an eleven-inning scoreless game here yesterday afternoon. Not a man on the Syracuse team reached third base. Michigan opened the sixth and eighth innings with three-baggers, but the succeeding batters failed to hit safely. The game was called on account of darkness.

New Haven, Conn., May 7.—Heavy and timely hitting, aided by daring base running in the early innings, enabled Yale to defeat Lafayette here yesterday 5 to 2.

Cambridge, Mass., May 7.—Baseball yesterday: Harvard, 14; University of Vermont, 2.

Princeton, N. J., May 7.—Penn State college defeated Princeton in a twelve-inning game here 3 to 1 yesterday.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—Wisconsin scored its fourth consecutive baseball victory yesterday when Coach Lewis' men defeated Indiana 5 to 4 at Camp Randall.

COLIE MUNRO IS LOYAL TO P. LAWRENCE BROWN

Chisholm Merchant Still Believes the Range Boy Is a Wonder.

Munro Is Willing to Risk His Roll in 45-Round Contest.

BY BRUCE.

It is difficult to say whether young Pal Brown realizes what a staunch supporter he has in Colie Munro. Pal Brown was here the larger part of yesterday, so was Munro. It was Colie, patient, always loyal, who set the conversational pace.

"Do you still think Pal can beat most of the present-day lightweights?" Colie was asked.

The Chisholm merchant never wavered—he switched into high and started.

"Absolutely," he came back. "Pal is still wearing colored glasses and is still holding his head on one side to relieve the pain in the optical cord, or something like that. It looks like he will not make another start until the fall—but—he's going to beat them all."

For years this Colie Munro has been singing the praises of Pal Brown. Again we say that it is difficult to say whether the little range fighter realizes how loyally Munro has stood behind him. In Munro, Brown sure has one staunch friend.

The Story Munro Tells.

"Don't get me wrong," said Munro, "I'm not alibi-ing Brown. Before the fight with Mandot, Pal fell off a motorcycle. Any fighter who would buy a motorcycle is crazy. But that is past and gone. Brown never said a word to anyone. Suddenly I noticed that he was squinting his eyes. About the day before the fight Pal finally confessed to me that he had been pitched off that motorcycle head first and slammed into a stump of a tree.

"Believe me or not, just as you will, I begged the boy to call off the fight. This he refused to do. There is no use in going over the contest—Pal was beaten and has admitted to me that he was lucky to last out the tenth round. But"—and here Munro grew very earnest—"Brown could see nothing and was out there taking everything, quite helpless.

"I have seen Pal lick 180-pound men in one-arm free style. All of the men he has beaten have had to be assisted to their train the next day. In most cases they couldn't even carry their suitcases. I say Brown is as tough as either Nelson or Wolgast—and they were some tough.

Tried to Advise Pal.

"Repeatedly I have tried to get Brown to go down to Mike Gibbons and work under the Phantom for several weeks. Pal has everything, strength, gameness, endurance—but he lacks some of the finishing qualities. I still say he can beat all of the present crop of lightweights.

"When Brown learns to step in with his punch, to time his punches more and to fight his own battle—well, then he is going to be the daddy of them all; now whether he'll learn is of course something that I can't predict. I tried to get him under some great boxer—maybe some day I'll succeed."

This Colie Munro is one of the squarest and most decent chaps that has ever dabbled in sports. A man with an extensive business to engage his attention, Colie has looked after Brown in many of his fights, has advised the boy in his business affairs, in so far as Pal would heed his advice, and has, in fact, acted as a father to the little range boxer.

Never would Munro accept a cent of remuneration for his services. In many instances he has dug down in his jeans for money to assist Brown. Right down in his heart Colie Munro thinks Pal Brown is the greatest lightweight in the world.

Colie Would Back Brown.

If some promoter were to rise out of the phantom shadows of the night and offer Pal Brown a 45-round contest against, say Freddy Welsh, or Willie Ritchie, or Mandot, or Watson, or White, or in fact any lightweight in the world, Colie Munro would back Pal to win with real coin of the realm.

Munro has money to back all his statements with. He has stated on numerous occasions that he would furnish backing for Brown in a long contest; if the long contest ever looms on Brown's pugilistic horizon, if the irridescent dream ever comes true, the boy who is to fight little Pal will never have to quibble over the size of the side bet.

REAL RACES ON THE CARD

Bantam Fours and Junior Eights Will Row Saturday.

Senior Eight May Row in Northwestern and the National.

The regatta of the Duluth Boat club set for tomorrow promises to be the best series of rowing races as yet arranged this season. The bantam fours, the junior eights, and the scullers will hold the boards and all of the contests should be more than usually interesting.

There is scarcely any difference between the junior eights. One evening one of the eights will finish ahead in a close and exciting contest—and the next evening the other eight is liable to show a dash of speed and pull in ahead. Therefore the contest of tomorrow afternoon should be a real race in every sense of the word.

Also, the bantam fours are evenly matched and there is a large amount of rivalry between the crews. Both of the crews are on trial, so to speak, and this very fact is going to make a regular contest out of the race of tomorrow.

Roy Kent is going to give Gus Grant a handicap of ten strokes in a mile and a quarter and attempt to beat him home.

Also Walter Hoover will give Dave Horak the same handicap in a sculling event of the same distance.

Want Senior Eight Entered.

It now seems that some of the club members and some of the followers of rowing are not taking kindly to the idea of not having a senior eight entered in both the Northwestern and National regattas.

Those opposing the suggestion that the senior material be confined to the senior four and sculling efforts, argue that the senior eight is the big event of every regatta and that it would be like casting a supernumery for the part of Hamlet to leave the senior eight out of the big event, the crowning event of the regatta.

It is possible that Kent, Hoover, Osman, Whitesido and one other veteran may form the nucleus for the organization of a strong senior eight.

Here is the lineup for tomorrow's races:

Bantam fours:

First four—Vincent, bow; Denton, 2; Hafner, 3; Swanson, stroke. Second four—Haley, bow; J. Hagberg, 2; Emerson, 3; Mapp, stroke.

The junior eights:

First eight—Weber, bow; Blystone, 2; Elstad, 3; C. Moore, 4; Porter, 5; Emmons, 6; C. Olson, 7; McQuade, stroke. Second eight—Burnett, bow; Burgess, 2; R. Osman, 3; Arneson, 4; McGraw, 5; Poulsen, 6; Harney, 7; Nelson, stroke.

The regatta will start at 5 o'clock. All of the races will be at a mile and a quarter. The public is asked to attend.

NO REVIVAL OF W.-I. CIRCUIT

Effort to Form Four-Club League Has Fallen Down.

Green Bay, Wis., May 7.—Efforts to organize a four-club league of Northern Wisconsin and Michigan cities has failed and there will be no baseball by teams under the national agreement this year.

Green Bay, Oshkosh, Marinette-Menominee of the W.-I. circuit, were to be in the organization with Escanaba. As the result of this failure Racine will be the only city, except Milwaukee and Superior, in organized ball in the state.

ALL GAMES POSTPONED

Rain Prevents Opening Contests in Northern Being Played.

Rain and snow and a high wind and several other mean streaks of weather necessitated a postponement of all four of the Northern league baseball games that were scheduled for Winnipeg, St. Boniface, Fargo and Grand Forks, yesterday.

If the weather is in a more pacific mood, another start on the schedule will be made today.

Elaborate preparations had been made for the startoff at all of the four towns. While the necessary postponement will put a damper on all of the arrangements, fans around the circuit are hoping that all of the teams will get away from the barrier in clean style.

Kauff Reinstated.

French Lick, Ind., May 7.—Benny Kauff will play with the Brooklyn Federals beginning May 8, according to an announcement made here last night by James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league.

Win Semi-Finals.

Oakland, Cal., May 7.—Heinrich Schmidt of the Claremont club of this city, and M. A. McLaughlin of Los Angeles, won their matches yesterday in the semi-finals of the Panama-Pacific exposition amateur golf handicap tournament. They will meet today in final play.

Shooters to Compete.

There will be a handicap shoot of the members of the Central Gun club tomorrow afternoon at the club grounds on Park Point. The club has donated a number of merchandise prizes that will be competed for.

Mandot Signs Articles.

Signed articles were received yesterday from Joe Mandot, calling for a 10-round no-decision contest with Red Watson on the evening of May 28.

WOMAN FALLS FROM BRIDGE AND IS KILLED

Chicago, May 7.—The body of Miss Marion Farwell was found yesterday at the bottom of a deep ravine which marked the boundary of the Lake Forest estate of her father, Francis Farwell, treasurer of a large dry goods company. The young woman had been in ill health. She was reported recently to be engaged.

Miss Farwell's physician, A. C. Haven, said last night: "Miss Farwell had been sick for three months beginning with an acute attack of jaundice.

"This morning she seemed depressed, but not sufficiently to cause alarm. Her nurse left her in bed to go to another room, but was absent, not to exceed five minutes. On returning she found Miss Farwell gone. Instant search was made and she was quickly found in the ravine. Life was extinct."

A coroner's jury which held an inquest last night returned a verdict that Miss Farwell left her home while depressed, following a serious illness, and fell from a bridge near her home.

Lubricating Troubles —and their cure!

The Standard Oil Company is making a motor oil that has done away with all common lubricating troubles.

Seven years ago their experts placed this new but tested oil on the market. 1,100 gallons were sold the first year. Then motorists found it out.

1909's demand was for 335,000 gallons—1910's was for 1,118,400. In 1914 nearly 7,000,000 gallons were used in the Middle West alone.

Polarine has gained in sales an average of a million gallons yearly simply because its use eliminated the annoyance and delays incident to unsuitable lubricating oils. Hundreds of thousands of good cars have been saved from the scrap heap by its use. Use it in your motor. See what it does.

Polarine maintains the correct lubricating body at every motor speed and temperature.

It is produced by experts, with the help of perfect facilities, in the largest plant of its kind in the world.

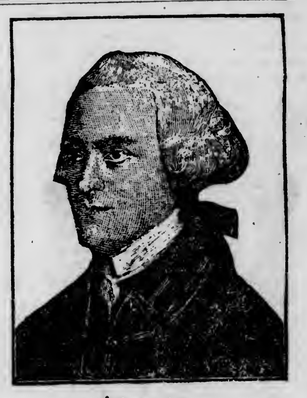
Massachusetts in 1789 Passes Temperance Law.



SIGNER OF DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE SIGNS ACT TO ENCOURAGE BREWING.

John Hancock, statesman and major general in our war for freedom, whose bold signature heads the list of imperishable names on the Declaration of Independence, when governor of Massachusetts for the second time signed the following temperance law.

"An act to encourage the manufacture of strong beer, ale and other Malt liquors.

"Whereas, the manufacture of strong beer, ale and other Malt liquors will promote the purposes of husbandry and commerce, by encouraging the growth of such materials as are peculiarly congenial to our soil and climate.—

"And whereas, the wholesome qualities of malt liquors recommend themselves to general use as important means of preserving the health of the citizens of this commonwealth, and to Prevent the Pernicious effect of Strong Drink:

Be it therefore enacted that—all brew houses—shall be exempted from taxes for a term of five years after the passing of this act."

FITGER NATURAL BEER BY THE KIESELGUHR FILTER.

The purest beer is that beer filtered by the Kieselguhr filter. It is not pasteurized.

The pasteurized bottled beer generally in use cannot be so pure.

Pasteurized beer is heated in the bottles to a temperature that kills the micro organisms, but it is not filtered free from them.

Kieselguhr filtered beer is filtered pure of every yeast cell and micro organism, before the beer enters the bottles. In the scientifically clean bottle, hermetically sealed, it is the purest beer in the world.

The pasteurizing or superheating of beer kills its flavor. The filtering of beer preserves its flavor. Fitger Natural Beer filtered by the Kieselguhr filter (first of its kind in America) is pure and has the full delicious flavor of the natural draught beer as drawn fresh from the wood.

WILL IMPROVE ROAD AT ONCE

Farrell Makes Decision After Making Trip Over Proctor Highway.

Party Unable to Complete Trip Because of Chuck Holes.

Improvements to the road to Proctor will be made immediately, according to a decision arrived at by Commissioner J. A. Farrell after attempting to take a trip yesterday over the heights in an automobile, accompanied by Fred C. Mitchell, cashier of the Proctor State bank and C. Rossitter, assistant general foreman in the Proctor shops.

The officials were unable to get farther yesterday afternoon in their machine than the power house at Bay View Heights. The road from that point was found to be impassable, some of the spots being in such shape that the machine would have gone over its hubs in the mire.

A few men were put to work this morning to make what temporary improvements were possible, and a road grader will be placed at work to build up the road starting next Monday.

Farrell Urged to Act.

The urgent need of having this road improved was impressed upon Mr. Farrell. It was shown that there were 117 residences within the city limits of Duluth and every house occupied, that would be benefited by having the improvement made, and it was further shown the commissioner that this district was not receiving any police or fire protection from the city.

"There is no doubt but that this district is being sadly neglected," said M. J. Fillatrault of West Duluth in speaking of the matter this morning. "Co-operation between the city of Duluth and the village of Proctor in building a good road from the power-house into the heart of the village will be the only remedy.

"The city of Duluth should in a large measure feel the responsibility for building this road. There are 117 houses credited to Proctor, which are located within the city limits of Duluth and are paying taxes to the city. In return for this, they get nothing—no fire protection, no police protection. They are at least entitled to some returns for the money they pay in the shape of a good highway.

Merchants Interested.

"It is not only the residents of this district that are interested in a good road. Every merchant in Duluth should feel a certain amount of responsibility. The pay roll at Proctor amounts to $110,000 each month. A large part of this money is spent in Duluth, and every day a large number of delivery rigs from Duluth have to make the trip over this highway in delivering the purchases made by the Proctor people."

It was stated on good authority that a certain official of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad has promised Commissioner Farrell that a large part of the gravel required for making either a concrete road or for rebuilding the present highway with a substantial material, will be donated by the railroad and hauled free of charge to the nearest point to the roadway.

ORDERS ENOUGH TO RUN ENTIRE YEAR

West Duluth Manufacturer Returns From Successful Selling Trip.

With enough orders in his pockets to guarantee the operating of the Diamond Calk Horseshoe plant, Forty-seventh avenue west and Third street, for nearly a year, Otto Swanstrom, general manager of the plant, has just returned from a trip through the Eastern states. Mr. Swanstrom brings back with him an optimistic view for one of the most prosperous years the country has seen.

"Everything seems to be working full capacity in the East," said Mr. Swanstrom this morning. "The Atlantic coast states have undoubtedly benefited greatly from the war in Europe. This district being close to the shipping point, has been able to readily furnish commodities and quickly get them to the docks.

"Money is considerably easier now than it was a year ago. Bills are paid promptly this year so far, I have found, than last year. It appears that everybody has his share and is willing now to spend it. This makes a healthy condition for the country to be in.

"Every manufacturer and big business man whom I have met on this trip has only an optimistic view to express regarding the future. They all predict that the United States will experience the greatest prosperity in its history.

"Our plant is guaranteed a capacity run for nearly a year by the orders I brought back with me."

DAILY SHIPMENTS OF ORE DOUBLED

Daily shipments of ore received at Proctor from the ranges have already assumed proportions double those of 1914. Trains loaded with the products of the mines are now averaging about twenty-five daily, whereas last year, a dozen trains each day was considered an average number.

In response to inquiry this morning, Supt. J. W. Krietter said that business was picking up rapidly. He said that the road was now hauling from 22 to 24 regular ore trains daily in addition to three locals, which also haul considerable ore.

The crew at the ore docks is fast assuming the number required in banner years. Yesterday it was reported that nearly 300 men had been given employment on the docks. The total crew estimated for operating at capacity is placed at nearly 500 men.

FORMER MAYOR LOST IN THE CITY HALL

M. B. Cullum, former mayor of Duluth, was lost in the city hall this morning.

It happened when he attempted to find the office of Commissioner Farrell and got lost doing so. City Clerk Borgen directed him to the public works division.

"This is the second time I've been in the city hall in two years," said Mr. Cullum, "and things have changed somewhat since I was here."

TWO BIG STEAMERS SENT TO BOTTOM

Candidate and Centurion Torpedoed By Submarines Off Ireland.

London, May 7.—The British steamer Candidate was torpedoed by a German submarine yesterday off Waterford, Ireland. The members of her crew were saved.

The Candidate was outward bound for Jamaica when she encountered the submarine eighteen miles from Waterford.

Members of the crew say the vessel was torpedoed without warning.

Four boats were launched. One of these was swamped but the occupants clambered in the other boats. All of the crew, numbering forty-four, lived at Milfordhaven.

The British steamer Candidate was of 3,826 tons net register. Built in Glasgow in 1906 she was 389 feet long. She was owned in Liverpool, where she arrived April 9 from New Orleans.

The British steamer Centurion was torpedoed by a German submarine off the Irish coast yesterday. Her crew was saved. The Centurion was bound for South Africa.

The Centurion was 339 feet long and her net tonnage was 3,854. She was owned in Liverpool.

MYSTERIOUS BILL PERMITS INCREASE IN SCHOOL LEVY

Passed under a suspension of the rules during the last session of the senate at the recent state legislature and approved by Governor Hammond the following day, an amendment to section 1415, revised laws, provides for an increase of 1¼ mills in the tax that can be levied for school purposes.

The maximum tax levy for school purposes in the Twin Cities and Duluth now is 10¼ mills, instead of 9 mills. The bill, probably introduced by a Ramsey or Hennepin county senator, affects only cities of more than 50,000 population, and will, it is believed, permit of a large increase in the maintenance fund.

"I don't know anything about the bill. Never heard of it," said E. R. Cobb, member of the board of education, when asked about it this morning. Secretary Bronson and other members of the board also expressed surprise when told of the new law, and declared that they knew nothing of its provisions, as they had not heard the proposed law discussed before it was presented for the approval of the legislature.

"I do not recall the bill in question," said Senator C. E. Adams. "It must have been passed under a suspension of the rules on the last day of the session, as it was not brought up for consideration at any of the meetings of the committee on education which I attended. It is undoubtedly designed for the Twin Cities, but of course affects Duluth."

On the interpretation of the word "maintenance" depends the result of the bill. If by "maintenance" is meant up-keep of buildings, teachers' salaries, etc., the new law will permit of a larger tax levy and larger expenditures.

If by "maintenance" is meant upkeep in a broader sense, it will compel a material reduction in the present rate of expenditures. At the present time the board of education of Duluth has three funds, the maintenance, sinking and building funds, each provided for by a separate levy.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

JITNEURS GO FREE.

Two Drivers Emerge From Police Court With Flying Colors.

TWO jitney drivers, or "jitneurs" emerged from a municipal court hearing yesterday with flying colors, after a score of their fellow workers had paid fines for speeding and violations of the traffic rules during the last two months. They were the only two whose cases have been dismissed so far.

John Shosie, arrested on a charge of reckless driving recently, was allowed to depart, and a charge of driving a bus without a license, placed against John Andrews, 61, was dismissed.

Andrews entered headquarters Wednesday night with a woman, who he said, owed him "about a dollar" for fares. After a short quizzing Sergeant Weber arrested the woman for drunkenness and Andrews for violation of the bus ordinance. When court convened, $15 bail was declared forfeited, but later Andrews appeared and the charge was quashed.

"KIDDED" HIMSELF INTO JAIL.

Teamster's Remarks on Street Car Draw Stiff Sentence.

"Kidding" street car conductors is not the best sport in the world, as Frank McDonald, teamster, learned in municipal court this morning to his sorrow.

McDonald, while standing on the back platform of a Duluth-Superior car last night, criticised the speed of the car, said he didn't like the looks of the conductor, praised the jitneurs, and made various other remarks, which could hardly be called polite.

At Garfield avenue the conductor stopped the car and Patrolman Loff gave McDonald a fast ride to the police station. He was sentenced to thirty days in jail, one of the most severe penalties for an offense of this kind ever recorded in the Duluth court.

"Vile language on street cars is not to be tolerated for a minute, and other offenders will be severely punished," declared Judge Smallwood.

SUN QUIT SHINING.

Five Old Timers Get Sixty-Day Sentences in Police Court.

A minute before Judge W. H. Smallwood took the bench in municipal court this morning the sun stopped shining, or at least so it seemed to the men who made up the morning police "grist." Five of the seven received sixty-day sentences.

All five were old-timers, who spend but a few days every two months out of jail. Albert E. Munslow, Peter Mattson, Charles M. Tibbetts, William Linn and August Anderson made up the list.

The sixth man, Frank McDonald, was given a thirty-day sentence, and the seventh, a boy, received a seven-day term for trespass.

RUBBING IT IN.

Laborer Held Up and Had Room Burglarized Within Three Days.

A hold-up and a burglary, with the same man as the victim, within three days, is a little bit too much, in the opinion of Harry Dahl, transient laborer rooming at the Grace hotel, 528 West Michigan street.

Carrying a complete set of burglar tools, guaranteed to unlock almost any door, John Mack, 27, and Andrew Niemiecke, 26, were arrested this morning by Officer Lading, charged with burglarizing Dahl's room and taking $5.

Four silver dollars and one bill, corresponding to the money lost, was found on the two alleged burglars after a thorough search. Part of the money was discovered in the cuff of the trousers worn by Niemiecke when Jailer Louis Johnson made him strip. Both men have records, and have been arrested before in Duluth and Superior.

Dahl is the man who was held up by two negro women recently and slashed with a razor held by one of them when he refused to give up his money.

AGED WOMAN LOST.

Cries in Fear When Police Would Take Her Home in Auto.

Vera Michelina Kuboski, not related to Vera Michaelina of Ziegfeld Follies' fame, but 72, feeble, and unable to speak English, lost herself this morning.

Sobbing and wailing as if her heart would break, she came to police headquarters and told her story—all in Polish. Officers were unable to understand a word of her lamentations, and finally Sergeant Hunter of the West end force, in the police emergency, drove along West Michigan and West Railroad street until she recognized her house.

When Mrs. Kuboski saw the police automobile and heard the exhaust of the motor she shrieked in terror and tried to run away from the policeman who was trying to help her find her way home.

It was the first case of anyone but a child being lost, as every Duluthian, however much a stranger, knows Superior street and can find his way home from it. Mrs. Kuboski lives at 2609 Railroad street.

MARKET BREAKS SHARPLY WITH SERIOUS WAR NEWS

Wheat Slumps Near Close on Reported Torpedoing of Lusitania.

Flaxseed Bulges on Urgent Buying By Crushers and Light Offers.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 7.—The market showed increased weakness around the close on news of the torpedoing of the steamer Lusitania. Heavy selling appeared.

May wheat closed 2c off; July, 2¼c off, and September 1½c off. May durum closed 1c off; July 1c off and September 1c off.

Oats closed ¾c off at 52¾@52¾c for on the track; rye 3c off at $1.14@1.15; barley unchanged at from 67 to 76c and corn 1c off at 73¾c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅝c off at 62⅞c, and July unchanged at 64¼@64⅜c.

Puts on Minneapolis, July wheat closed at $1.45¼, and calls at $1.51½.

The wheat market was easy during today's market session and the volume of trading was comparatively light. Weakness was promoted through the extension of bearish sentiment at Liverpool and continued favorable crop reports from over the winter wheat territory. An expert was out with an estimate of 700,000,000 bu of winter wheat today provided present conditions are maintained. The news from the Northwest regarding the growth being attained by spring wheat was also encouraging.

Argentine shipments for the week were heavy, being reported at 5,000,000 bu for the week against only 1,344,000 bu last year.

American clearances of wheat and flour are being well maintained, being reported at 970,000 bu for the day, and world's clearances for the week were in large proportions, being reported at 8,671,000 bu against 3,777,000 bu last year. Since July 1, wheat clearances have aggregated $10,000,000 bu, against 219,589,000 bu during the corresponding period last year.

Final millers are growing nervous over their wheat supplies between now and the marketing of the new crop is attested in the liberal premiums being paid at Minneapolis for cash grain. Today as high as 6 ¾@7c was paid over May for choice wheat down there.

While there were no reports of any wheat sales having been made at Duluth to Eastern interests today, a considerable tonnage is said to have been sold by exporters at the seaboard on the break yesterday.

Stocks of durum in Duluth elevators are now practically exhausted. While the amount in store is officially given at 106,000 bu the tonnage loaded out into steamers during the last couple of days will, it is estimated, account for nearly the whole of it.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.61⅛, and eased off 1c up to the noon hour. July opened ⅜c off at $1.56⅝ and declined ⅝c more. September weakened ¼c to $1.24.

May durum opened unchanged at $1.66 and dropped 1c. July opened unchanged at $1.65 and held there.

Flaxseed Strong.

While trading in flaxseed was quiet its market was strong today with continued steady inquiry by crushers. The business put through was in small lots only as a result of the tightness with which stocks are held. Oil men are said to be feeling more nervous over the question of flax supplies.

May flax opened unchanged at $2 and closed 2c up at $2.02 bid. July opened unchanged at $2.03 and closed 1c up at $2.04 bid. September opened unchanged at $2.05 and closed 1½c up at $2.06½.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¾c up at $1.82¾ asked and July ⅞o up at $1.85¾.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1¼c up at $1.33¼ and London 2½c up at $1.95¾.

MARKET GOSSIP.

In France country markets are strong with native offers scarce and foreign arrivals being quickly absorbed for actual consumption. It is said that the government has decided to requisition all native wheat.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "There was an easier undertone as affected by the easiness in America and continued favorable American crop accounts. Strength in Buenos Aires and firmness of Plate offers were offset here by liberal American receipts and expectations of a bearish government showing today. Winters were 3d lower, Manitobas easier and Plates firmly held.

"Spot market was inclined lower with Indian offers free at the advance. Corn spot demand was very quiet and this caused pressure while distant offers are very scarce and Plate holders strong."

Argentine advices are unfavorable but America is offering freely. Argentine weather is against the movement of all grain and therefore exporters are competing for loading."

Argentina shipments—Wheat, 5,000,000 bu, against 4,920,000 bu last week and 1,344,000 bu last year; oats, 1,130,000 bu, against 600,000 bu last week and 430,000 bu last year; corn, 425,000 bu, against 655,000 bu last week and 2,057,000 bu last year.

Visible wheat, 9,568,000 bu, against 1,120,000 bu last year; corn, 1,960,000 bu, against 5,100,000 bu last year.

Minneapolis cash market was strong on top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 4@6c over May, with extra choice heavy selling 6½@7c over the future, and velvet chaff at 2@3c over May. Moderate flour sales were reported. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.58 to $1.62 and No. 2 northern at from $1.53½ to $1.59. Stocks of wheat in Minneapolis elevators decreased 625,000 bu in the week.

Indian shipments this week are estimated at 450,000 bu all to the United Kingdom.

Michigan crop report: Wheat condition on May 1 was 92 against 86 per cent last year. Hessian fly damage is 5 per cent. Farm reserves are 2,000,000 bu above home wants. Oats acreage is 102 per cent of last year. Rye condition is 94 against 95 per cent a year ago.

* * *

Reports from the central western part of Illinois shows that oats stocks are about cleaned out. Corn is very scarce in some places and is being brought in from Nebraska about sold out.

* * *

Le Count wired from Chicago: "The winter wheat crop is in splendid condition, in fact almost perfect. The loss from all causes was very small this year and the area seeded is the largest on record. Sufficient moisture has fallen in the Southwest to make the crop, especially in Southern Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Recent rains have relieved the drouth condition in the Ohio valley and wheat is in splendid condition in this territory. The government report will be very bearish. If present conditions could be maintained until harvest the winter wheat crop would easily reach seven hundred millions. There is only one thing that I fear and that is the possibility of too much moisture when the wheat is filling. That might cause black rust."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Eases Off on Predictions of Bearish Crop Report.

Chicago, May 7.—Wheat eased off today, influenced by predictions that the government crop report would be in favor of the bears. Continued liberal receipts tended further to make the market spineless. Trade lacked volume. After opening at the same as last night to 1c lower, prices rallied, but again showed a disposition to sag.

More pronounced weakness developed later, especially after news seemed confirmed that the Lusitania had been sunk. The close was heavy at 1¼ to 2½c under last night.

Corn hardened as a result of a little buying on account of wet weather damage in Argentina. Wheat weakness, however, prevented any material upturn. The opening, which varied from ⅛c to ½c off, was followed by advances to above last night's level.

Afterward selling pressure increased and a material setback took place the same as in wheat. The close was heavy at 1 to 1⅜c net decline.

Big export clearances of oats helped make oats firm. Pit offerings were light. Lower prices for hogs carried down provisions. Pork led the decline.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, May 7.—Hogs fell in value today owing to a large number having been left over last night unsold. Cattle offerings lacked quality. There was no rush for sheep or lambs, but prices went higher, the supply being a scanty one.

SEVERE BREAKS IN THE COPPERS

Market Slumps on Lusitania Report—Recovery at Close.

News of the torpedoing of the steamer Lusitania was the signal for a sharp break in mining stocks at Boston today. Large blocks of securities were thrown overboard, and heavy losses were recorded. Some support appeared around the low spots and closing prices showed moderate rallies.

BETTER DEMAND FOR WOOLEN GOODS

Buying By Foreigners Is Feature; Output on the Gain.

Marked improvement in the demand for woolen goods and increased factory outputs is reported in the East. Buying by foreigners is a factory in the market.

It is estimated, according to Wall Street Journal, that the American Woolen company will make $1,000,000 net on its war orders this first half year, and that these profits will all be in hand by July 1.

With the big impetus to earnings arising from the war orders it is thought that it would not be surprising if the first half year profits totaled $2,500,000, or close to the full year's dividend requirements on the preferred stock. The war has added a safety margin of better than 2 per cent on the company's stock.

The bulk of the war orders has been parcelled out among the smaller woolen mills, Maine being particularly favored in this respect.

The gross business done with allies thus far this year is about $7,500,000 but it is thought that Great Britain will increase this before long as the British government figures on refitting its soldiers about every month and consequently is a tremendous consumer of cloth.

For that reason the English government has been the most anxious for deliveries and all through the year goods have been forwarded to its agents as quickly as manufactured. The Russian government, however, has waited for the cloth to pile up, making its long-distance shipments in huge quantities.

BIG SLUMP IN STOCKS

News of Sinking of Lusitania Followed By Enormous Selling.

Losses Run From Six to Thirty Points and Closing Weak.

New York, May 7.—Price changes at the outset of today's market operations reflected further irregularity and confusion, due in part to London, where Americans were heavy. War specialties were not especially prominent, except Bethlehem Steel, which soon rose 6 points to 164, one point under its record price. Reading was the heaviest of the leading shares, although coppers, particularly Amalgamated and Anaconda, reacted sharply. United States Steel was barely steady, while other prominent issues moved variably. The list steadied later and trading became dull.

Today's morning session of the stock market was almost the dullest of any day for a fortnight, with a continuance of the uncertain undertone. Standard stocks denoted further selling, Reading, Union Pacific and Coppers yielding to mild pressure. Bethlehem Steel lost a very small part of its gain and other specialties of this class rose 1 to 2 points, with similar improvement in motors and oils, Mexican Petroleum rising 4 points. London's gloomy view of the war and conditions in the Far East again were deterrent factors. Bonds were irregular.

Bethlehem Steel mounted to 159 in the early afternoon, an overnight gain of 11¼ points and a new high record. The entire market collapsed soon after noon, however, on the reported torpedoing of the steamer Lusitania.

Confirmation of the sinking of the Lusitania was followed by enormous selling orders and losses ran from 6 to 12 points in standard stocks and 15 to 80 in war specialties, with a few substantial recoveries in the final dealings. The closing was weak.

MARINE NEWS

PROVIDE FOR EXPANSION

Ore Loading Docks Considered Large Enough for Future Growth.

Immense New Dock of Missabe Road Going Into Operation.

Iron ore loading docks on the Great Lakes are considered to have been brought up to a capacity sufficient to cover requirements for some years ahead, even in the event of a substantial expansion in the consumption of the Eastern furnaces.

The extent of the capital expenditure involved in the building of these plants is to be judged in the fact that the cost of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad's new dock here is placed at approximately $2,800,000. The Great Northern's system of docks at Superior entailed an expenditure of several millions of dollars.

With the going into operation this spring of the Missabe road's new steel and concrete dock, the storage capacity of the Duluth docks is brought up to 807,200 tons, according to a complete chart of the ore-loading plants on the upper lakes, prepared by W. A. Clark, chief engineer of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. This latest dock is shown to have a capacity of 134,400 tons, and in that respect and in its length, 2,304 feet, it exceeds any of the others in the list with the exception of the Missabe's No. 2 dock, whose length is given at 2,336 feet, but the latter has a capacity of only 38,400 tons.

At Superior, the capacity of the Great Northern's four ore docks is given at 307,200 tons, of which one is of steel and concrete construction, with a capacity of 90,000 tons and a length of 1,812 feet.

The Northern Pacific's steel and concrete dock there has a capacity of 35,700 tons and the Soo Line's dock at that point has a storage capacity of 90,000 tons. Both these plants were built with a view to handling ore shipments from the Cuyuna range, which are expected to attain large proportions in the near future. The Soo also operates a dock at Ashland, Wis., with a capacity of 21,400 tons.

At Two Harbors the Duluth & Iron Range railroad's six ore docks have an aggregate storage capacity of 191,100 tons. Of these two are steel and concrete and of the most modern type of construction.

The Chicago & Northwestern railroad operates six docks with a rated capacity of 337,800 tons. Of these four are at Escanaba, Mich., and two at Ashland, Wis.

The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic operates a dock at Marquette, Mich., with a capacity of 46,000 tons and the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railroad has a steel and concrete plant at the same point with a capacity of 50,000 tons.

At Escanaba, Mich., the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road has a dock with a capacity of 42,000 tons. To handle ore shipments from its Helen mine, utilized at the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., steel plant, the Algoma Central & Hudson Bay railroad has a dock at Michipicoten, Ont., and the Canadian Northern & Ontario railroad operates a small dock at Key Harbor, Ont.

ALL LAKES SHOW LOWER LEVELS

Higher Stages of Water Predicted for May, However.

The United States lake survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of April, 1915, as follows, recorded as the number of feet above mean sea level:

Superior	601.34
Michigan-Huron	579.48
Erie	571.45
Ontario	245.04

Lake Superior is .36-foot lower than last month, .50-foot lower than a year ago, .50-foot below the average stage of April of the last ten years, 1.35 feet below the high stage of April, 1860, and .80-foot above the low stage of April, 1911. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the May level will be .3-foot higher.

Lakes Michigan-Huron are .09-foot lower than last month, .50-foot lower than a year ago, .91-foot below the average stage of April of the last ten years, 3.75 feet below the high stage of April, 1886, and .36-foot above the low stage of April, 1896. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the May level will be .3-foot higher.

Lake Erie is .08-foot higher than last month, .73-foot lower than a year ago, .97-foot below the average stage of April of the last ten years, 2.73 feet below the high stage of April, 1862, and .19-foot above the low stage of April, 1895. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the May level will be .4-foot higher.

Lake Ontario is .23-foot lower than last month, 1.71 feet lower than a year ago, 1.44 feet below the average stage of April of the last ten years, 3.39 feet below the high stage of April, 1886, and .20 feet above the low stage of April, 1872. Average stages of the last ten years indicate that the May level will be .4-foot higher.

MUCH COAL HAS BEEN LEFT OVER

Heavy Stocks at Upper Lake Ports Will Affect Trade.

Freighters are suffering for want of cargoes up-bound as a result of the larger stocks of coal left on the docks at this end of the Great Lakes, and most of those that come up after ore or grain have to come up light. Not in many seasons has such a condition existed, and as a result a considerable number of boats that would otherwise be in the trade are held at lower lake ports.

Combined with the lack of cargoes coming this way, is the fact that the freight rate on grain is excessively low, some charters recently being made at as low as 1 cent. This has caused a further withholding of boats. The fact that there is really a surplus of vessels for the trade available, is, of course, the cause of the low offerings, for some vesselmen, obligated to pay their licensed officers for the season now that they have started them, will take what they get rather than let the boats lie idle. Some of the vessel-owners, foreseeing just such a condition, appointed their officers only on a tentative basis, and may lay them off at any time that lack of business warrants it.

The unusually large quantity of coal left on the storage docks at this end of the lake is due, in part to the mild winter that has been experienced, and to the further fact that, since the war started, many of the principal users of soft coal have been running their furnaces at only half capacity, while many have been shut down entirely.

While figures are not available, it is claimed that there is almost if not quite enough coal on the docks at the various upper lake points, which includes other places besides Duluth, to supply the demand for the entire coming season. But that does not mean, it is asserted, that there will be no coal receipts up this way from the East. It is reported from below that shipments will become more active about June 1, and that the present supply here and on docks at other upper lake ports will not be permitted to diminish much from then on.

Returning to the grain matter, it is said here that the present week will see a moving eastward of fully 1,000,000 bushels from the Head of the Lakes.

BUFFALO MAY BE ECLIPSED

New Welland Canal Makes Oswego Possibility as Eastern Terminal.

Lack of Municipal Facilities for Independents Would Turn Tide.

Buffalo has long been warned that some day her importance as the eastern terminal of the Great Lakes for traffic from the West would diminish if she does not provide municipal facilities for independent carriers to load and unload their vessels; but the warning, so far, has been passed by unheeded. Independents can get along the best they can.

Now a new and real danger to Buffalo as an eastern terminal is developing and the Marine News, editorially, points out the warning most forcefully. The question will soon be up to Buffalo to do something or see Oswego, N. Y., take the terminal importance away from her, according to the Marine News, for with the building of the new Welland canal, the largest lake steamers will be able to pass through into Lake Ontario; and it is significant that Oswego is 165 miles nearer New York City than Buffalo. The News' editorial follows:

"The existing Welland canal will not pass through its locks vessels over 200 feet in length; the largest lake carriers are well over 600 feet in length. That shuts Lake Ontario off from the bulk of the traffic of the Great Lakes; and while Oswego is one of the lake terminals of the state's canals it has cut but little figure. But the Welland canal is being enlarged by Canada so that anything afloat, or likely to be afloat for a number of years on the Great Lakes can pass into Lake Ontario. That is Oswego's chance. It is Buffalo's danger and may be her undoing as a great port if her present apathy continues. Oswego is 165 miles nearer to New York than Buffalo is by canal. These factors loom large for Oswego and menacing for Buffalo.

"To the extent that either Buffalo or Oswego depends upon the state of New York for terminal facilities and does not provide municipal facilities of its own for independent carriers both by lake and canal, they fail to do their duty and minimize their opportunities. Buffalo's ability to play the dog in the manger policy will soon cease; she must throw off the railroad thralldom which has held back her development. Whatever Buffalo does, Oswego has a great future as a lake and canal port unless it deliberately throws away the advantages which are knocking at its door."

OPENS BIDS FOR HARBOR OF REFUGE

United States Engineer Recommends in Favor of Zenith Dredge Co.

Maj. E. D. Peek, United States engineer in charge of this district, opened bids yesterday on two dredging jobs, and recommended to the war department that they be awarded to the Zenith Dredge company of Duluth. The dredging is to be done in Ontonagon harbor, from the entrance of which about 30,000 cubic yards of shoals are to be removed; at the upper Keweenaw waterway entrance, where about 20,000 yards of shoals are to be taken out; and at the lower entrance of Keweenaw waterway, where about 498,000 cubic yards are to be removed, creating a harbor of refuge.

On the first proposition the successful bidder offered to do the work for $4,275; on the second, $2,850; and on the third, $44,820; total of $51,945. The Northern Dredge & Dock company and the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company were the other bidders.

The order for the work specifies that the successful bidder must be at work within twenty days after being notified of the acceptance of its bid and the work must be completed within six months.

CAPT. N. B. ROACH TAKES INVOLUNTARY BATH

Capt. N. B. Roach of the steamer Shaughnessey, which arrived in Buffalo Tuesday night, took an early bath Wednesday morning at the entrance to the harbor. Capt. Roach was crossing the harbor in a small power boat when he got into line with the tug Cooper, which was towing the City of Erie. The Cooper hit the power boat amidships and sent the captain flying from her deck into the water. A small boat put out from one of the wharves and picked him up.

It is claimed that the captain's pipe never went out. He certainly had it in his mouth when he came up.

Package Freighters Busy.

Business is booming for the package freighters and owners of such carriers are optimistic as to the prospects of the season. It is likely that the pressure will ease up within the next three weeks when the mass of freight which collects on the wharves several weeks before the opening of the season is distributed. An increase over last year will probably be felt during the entire season due to the advance in railroad rates.

FIRST LUMBER BOAT LEAVES

Twelve Others Will Clear Within Next Few Days.

Big Stocks at Tonowanda and Prospects None Too Bright.

The steamer Aztec, which left the harbor last night, loaded with lumber, was the first of the lumber fleet to start down the lakes. She will be followed today by others. Twelve lumber carriers are in the harbor loading or waiting to load, and all will be out within a day or two at most. Nearly all of them came up from Lake Erie loaded with stone or cement.

What the season portends for the lumber fleet is a problem. Just now, it is claimed, the prospects are not bright, but, it is admitted, if the war should end this summer the season may result in a rush year.

Ordinarily lumber buyers begin to show up at this point as early as February, but this year such was not the case. Within the last week there have been two or three buyers here looking over the stocks, but aside from that there has been but little inquiry. It is claimed that there are still large stocks at Tonawanda and that in some cases the piles have not been disturbed since they were built last summer and fall.

"There seems to be a little better inquiry just now," said Capt. C. H. Weeks, lumber vessel broker, today. "That, of course, gives us hope; but not a very great deal. But you never can tell. Most years of late have started out well, giving us hope of a big year, and then would flatten out and there would be very little doing toward the end. This year may reverse the situation. It starts out very poorly, but if the war ends it may develop into one of the biggest years.

"Inquiry now is for box lumber and for Norway and the cheaper grades."

NEW EARLY ORE RECORD

Movement to Furnaces From Conneaut Makes New Mark.

All orders for early iron ore movement from lower lake ports to furnaces, over the Pittsburgh, Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad, were broken this week when an average of 1,000 cars was maintained out of Conneaut harbor. All the railroad's motive power is expected to be in use within ten days, and arrangements have been completed, according to railroad officials, to secure a number of locomotives from the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad.

It is said that when the season is in full swing forty ore trains a day will be handled over that road.

Shipments Much Greater.

This condition was forecasted to some extent by the fact that the ore shipments from this end of the lakes during April were very much greater than in April of a year ago. In fact, it is claimed, few seasons have seen so much ore shipped east before May 1. During April of this year, 396,273 tons of ore were sent forward from Duluth-Superior to Two Harbors docks, as against 56,886 tons a year ago, and the shipments have kept up almost as briskly ever since. Large ore fleets have sailed from this harbor almost daily for Lake Erie ports.

It has been stated in the East that the decision recently rendered by the Interstate commerce commission reducing the freight rate on ore from the Mesaba range from 60 to 55 cents a ton would retard early shipments. However that prediction does not seem to be coming true, for ore has been going out at a lively rate.

Pittsburgh Fleet Early.

It is now claimed more emphatically than ever that the ore shipping will far surpass last year. Some believe that fully 10,000,000 tons more than last year's shipments will go east during the present season. The chief activity just now is in the Pittsburgh fleet, but others are also pretty well occupied.

The reason of the rush in the Pittsburgh fleet is that it is planned to have these boats finish the season before Nov. 5, at which time the new seamen's law goes into effect, necessitating many changes in equipment, in the number of employes and in regulations.

PAID FOR TIMBERS.

Men Who Helped Themselves to Property Have Settled.

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paying triple damages for appropriating timber from lands owned by the Ruth Exploration Mining company has caused two farmers of Morrison county to cease such proceedings and hereafter Crow Wing county timber in Roosevelt township will stay on its stump until the rightful owners or their agents remove it.

The case was ready to be carried into the district court. Fifteen witnesses were on hand. Then the settlement was effected and the damages paid.

HOMESITES
IN GLEN AVON.

We have some of the finest lots in Duluth located in Glen Avon and Hunter's Park, overlooking Waverly Park, Crescent View Park, and within two blocks of Congdon Park. Superb view of the lake and the Wisconsin shore in the distance. These lots are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They are surrounded by splendid homes, close to church and school and street car. Many of these lots have gas, water and sewer. When you buy here you are not buying a new boom addition, where you are a pioneer, as it were, but the improvements are there and the type of houses surrounding you is assured. Think of this: Eleven of these lots have the finest paved street in the city of Duluth, which cost $240 for 50 feet. This is fully paid for and does not add a cent to the price of the lots for you. If you were thinking of building a home, you can make a 20 per cent larger loan on a house built here than on a house built in a new suburb. We can place the loans for you on houses built here.

These lots lie between Victoria street and Hardy street and between Wallace avenue and Vermilion road, one of the choicest locations in Duluth. The lots are 50 by 190 and 50 by 200 feet. Prices vary from $800 to $1,700 per lot on five years' time.

Call us up and make appointments to see these lots. Look them over and compare them with any lots for sale in the city, and then you will be convinced of our low prices and desirability of purchasing here. Investigate these.
